I will give you a homework assignment: Read Rom.-Rev. and find all references to giving and ethics commitment. You will see what I said about it is true (i.e., money is often stated at a book's end, and ethics instruction often follows identity, inheritance and theology sections, after greetings, thanksgivings and prayer). Prove me right or wrong.

Experts estimate that 20 percent (MAXIMUM) of Christians tithe. Percentages are USUALLY much smaller. Does that mean that most Christians are disobeying God, or just their preachers who clamor for such? The BIBLICAL answer is you can't know unless and until you know what God has led them to give! We are NOT Jews, taxed in a religious theocracy, at 10 percent+!

Update #4: Mega Church, Mega Success?

U.S. Christians do SO many activities, and spend SO much money trying to 'attract' lost people to hear the Gospel at church! Church is for Christians, with lost people most welcome! The Gospel is for lost people, so why do we mainly fish for men's souls in fish bowls full of mainly Christians? DUMB strategy! NO wonder so few come forward.

Due to the book, Lifestyle Evangelism, by Aldrich, churches now feel empowered to do ANY activities, if God be glorified and some lost people may get saved! One church I interviewed at LIKED my idea of building a Six Flags on their campus! That book gave theological cover for SLOW, disorganized and NON-thorough evangelism. It's like conservatives accuse liberals of-good intentions. God called NO Christians to good intentions, but good execution of His Great Commission! That type of good intention literally paves the highway to Hell.

There's not one good reason why every human on earth can't hear the Gospel, given our wealth, numbers of believers (as worker), and technologies! Yet, I know of NOT one church who can testify that they have taken the Gospel to every soul within walking distance—MUCH LESS do foreign missions elsewhere!

We are not urgent (Hell is a stove burn, or pin prick, I guess), or thorough (as long as you save a few starfish, it was meaningful to them rationalizing). Here's the case for 100 percent/thorough evangelism: Christ died for ALL people, all people go to Hell without Him, the Great Commission says 'to all creation' (NOT meaning plants or animals), and it's SO doable, if every church and pastor did their part! In Texas we have 'adopt a highway,' where sponsoring organizations get name recognition (i.e., free advertising) on a sign, if they pledge to keep a certain stretch of road clean from litter (don't mess with Texas!). Adopt your own Jerusalem's area of town (Ac. 1:8), pastors!

NO OTHER minister is as responsible before God as you (for those able to walk to your church on Sunday), to get them the Gospel, ASAP!

They could die today; the Rapture could occur today; every day you wait you're signaling to them that they face no serious or imminent danger from some supposed eternal Hell, and that life in Christ is 'NBD' (no BIG deal) that they're missing out on!

The disorganized nature of the global Christian church is astounding! We pat ourselves on the back for dribs and drabs (Interpreted: for letting their majority fall through the eternal cracks to Hell), NEVER documenting our achievements (so we know who needs to hear, and who's heard), we duplicate so many times ("over and over again") in North America, while others haven't heard ONCE, and now, when we undertake such efforts in America, we want a satellite church to come forth from it, so profits funnel to the mother church! FIND ME THAT IN THE BIBLE!

I've said if ONE neighborhood ever got thoroughly evangelized, we ought to broadcast that to the world, to inspire other Christians elsewhere. Well, zip code 76115 HAS been thoroughly threshed by my alma mater, and you hardly get or hear a ho-hum about it! In Heaven, that's the first victory on earth! On earth, most pastors don't even know about it, or care much, if at all.

We view it as great for any pastors in that area of Ft. Worth, as church is a business for pastor salaries (to so many), when bivocational work was acceptable to Jesus and Paul, and 'tain nobody as great as them on this earth, yet pastors ACT like they're better.

I Cor. 9:14 says make a living—NOT a killing. MANY seminarians pursue a D.Min. degree, so they can be considered for a mega church job (to use the title, "doctor")! When I was at Southwestern Seminary, the main course people clamored to get in was the preaching class, headed by a man who lost his career over adultery. I sat in his class for two weeks, and switched to one taught by an exegetical/inductive Bible study-oriented professor!

It's all about a 40 minute speech, once a week (which gets better/refined when you have several showings—or meeting times). Jesus did NOT rely on sermons to grow up His followers, especially the eleven! A pastors job IS 'EDBS'—NOT sermonizing.

When I was interviewed for my first (and only) pastor job, the committee never once asked me one question about elder qualifications. I had prepared for those questions. 'Can he preach?' is all deacons ask, now days; can he draw a crowd?, because crowds are how our budgets get paid.

When BIG church pastors retire, or move up, committees search out the next best preaching person in America, to fill the void; it usually takes 1-2 years, depending on how long the prior one was there (they have statistics on these circumstances!).

The American business model is 'preach and be paid.' Song, silver and sermon for bodies, bucks and buildings. Many BIG church pastors are better as construction superintendents than a disciple-makers or evangelists!

You ought to READ the stats on surveys from George Barna (the Christian's Gallup pollster) on pastors' honest assessments of themselves in these two areas! I believe I've included that data, from his book, on our free spiritual (vs. secular) website. It's like your parents used to say, when you were in trouble... at least he's honest.

There are activities, functions Campus Crusade for Christ, and The Navigators do which are FAR superior to any even Bible-based sermon, yet they suffer LITTLE competition from pastors in those areas of evangelism and discipleship!

The well-known Bill Hybels once told a crowd of preachers that he didn't think he had changed many lives, in the many decades of his long career behind the pulpit. At least he's honest! That's because 1:1 quiet time, relational discipling and thorough evangelism AREN'T on the agenda radar of MOST churches. Lip service vs. servant leadership (Mt. 15:8).

EVERY human has a Christ-earned right to hear the Gospel. NO church has documentation of any type that all within walking distance have heard, and if there are any exception churches, their success is regarded as highly as zip code 76115 having been fully harvested!

God help us, and no wonder revival isn't coming, at present. We DON'T share Christ's concerns. We find it amazing if we dabble in evangelism. We might even give a pastor an award, or exalted status/position if they do. Man's tradition calling that success is celebrating that most people go to Hell, because that type of 'success' misses most of them.

Louie Giglio used to rip up old Bibles on stage. I'd LOVE to have a fire walker wear an asbestos suit on stage, to show what lost people will live like forever, to wake up Christian laymen to evangelism's urgency!

Preachers tell them all the time they are to do so, just like they tell them they are to tithe 10 percent. IT DOES NOT HAPPEN, NOR DOES THAT CHANGE STATUS QUO VERY MUCH, IF AT ALL. Take them evangelizing! I've personally asked mega pastors, pastors, seminary students, and Christian laymen to go evangelize with me, and I can't recall one time I was turned down (until I sought to do so through corporate church)!

Do we ask Christian laymen to do a quiet time Bible study with us for one month, as a guy did to me in college? I eventually complied. People will DO what they're supposed to do if someone in authority, or who they respect (and who shows them love) ASKS!

For many decades, the concept was presented of multiplication (II Tim. 2:2) concerning discipling. Today's pastors poo poo the idea, because "we're too BIG." In three years, a church of 30,000 members can be fully reached, if one person disciples 12 people (like Jesus did), until they're able to do the same, down generations, and accounting for huge numbers of drop-outs. Just do the math!

That's NOT how we do things, or our business model, or ministry plan, or how other pastors do things, or what we were taught in seminary. WHO CARES? You also weren't taught the Bible... just tools for interpreting it the rest of your career, as if we live here forever, and there's no urgency! And trying to fit in with sheep marching off a cliff is a stupid decision/idea, and traditions of men are worth NOTHING if they don't comport with God's word!

Bottom line, it is EASIER to prepare a sermon, once you have experience doing so! Mass manufacture "discipleship" through sermonizing... the American way!; NOT Gods. Quantity over quality, and the statistics show (like Hybels assumed) the abysmal spiritual lack of results.

God wants ALL people saved and disciple (I Tim. 2:4; Col. 1:28). It is by knowing the truth that discipleship takes place, and that's NOT just one drink of the water of life, once a week! (II Pet. 3:9) God wants NO humans to go to Hell, but for them all to come to Jesus! The ONLY people on earth with the ONLY message to get that goal achieved is Christians! (Jn. 14:6; Ac. 2:12)

Paul considered it a privilege and honor to evangelize! (I Th. 2:4; I Cor. 9 (as an ambassador for Christ—II Cor. 5), Rom. 1:16, 15:16. We consider it a hassle... talking to people, assuming they aren't interested (never praying that God would prepare them for our conversation), thinking it the preacher's or evangelist's job, fearing rejection (in my HUNDREDS of 1:1 conversations, I've been rudely rejected ONCE, as with a buddy I was training to evangelize).

I taught him to warn her through the closed screen door, with a little more volume, due to that barrier (Mt. 10:14). READ Eze. 3:18! IF Christians DON'T warn lost people that they're going to Hell without Jesus, God does NOT come down hard on those people for not knowing, but on US for not telling! (Cf.: Ac. 20:26).

Update #5: Evangelism is Job One, Pastors!
(12/9/18)

On this Sunday, people who equate church promotion with evangelism NEED to READ these two passages!: I Cor. 2:2-5; II Cor. 4:1-6 NO Christian in the first century did that, for there were no churches, originally. Paul determined to keep the main thing the main thing when he spoke to lost people about their eternity!

In all our book and seminar conditioning (NOT the Good Book), we believe we are to approach lost people wanting to help them with their problems... we have a marriage counseling department in our church, gym for your kid's entertainment, divorce recovery seminars, et al. They NEED to know of salvation, and any layman who DOESN'T share the Gospel with them, but invites them to church, ISN'T doing evangelism, and is likely sinning by timidity! They're contributing to facilitating the event of evangelism, but pawning their job onto the professional, whose job it is to raise them up to do that work of ministry! (Eph. 4)

Take life from a non-Christian's perspective when you replace evangelism with church promoting. You're inviting them to an often Gothic-styled cold building, where everyone already knows each other (i.e., they'll stick out like a sore thumb), where we segregate into age groups, for Bible study, you're 'gonna get a moral lecture from the guy on top, you may have to sing, often songs written four centuries ago, and if you like it, they want TEN PERCENT of all the money you make (and you can't sleep in anymore on Sunday mornings). DO ANY of these things have to do with their facing Hell, today? ZERO in common!

That's why the passages I listed are so relevant for you to read. MOST importantly, I Cor. 2:14 and II Cor. 4:4 are TRUE! The natural (i.e., unsaved) person CANNOT accept spiritual things. It DOESN'T say he doesn't want to, can't try, won't try... he/she is unable, yet you're trying to get them interested in attending a spiritual gathering place, when they're spiritually dead! (Col. 2:13) Perhaps you'll find Christians skipping church, who may come, but you claimed the mission was evangelism, so STOP the church promotion (i.e., business marketing) substituting for something holier!

And 'sheep stealing' is NEVER any concern for many mega churches, due to our U.S. free market culture, when church is viewed as a business.

I will HOUND this thought one last time (in this book): EVERY pastor is personally responsible for the spiritual condition of EVERY lost person within walking distance of their uncommanded buildings, ASAP! You can't expect any evangelist to cover your neighborhoods, nor the pastor nearby! Group think makes you all excuse your IN-action because the peers DON'T do it, so you fit into the sinful "norm!"

'They know where our church is in the community, as we have a BIG steeple, signs and we advertise' is NO excuse! God NEVER commanded you to do those things, but He DID for you to evangelize ALL, especially in your own Jerusalem.

NO farmer feels as much responsibility for sowing seed in his neighbor's farm. Your farm is right outside your stain-glassed windows! MOST U.S. pastors go to their 'office,' 8-5, M-F, AS IF ministry to lost people (i.e., evangelism), or saved people (i.e., discipleship) occurs then, when every other human is at work those same hours and days.

Draw a rectangle, or circle, on a map of your town, 3 miles MAXIMUM from your church, with an 'X' on your church (for more reasons than one—it may be a target for God's judgment), and LIST every home or apartment address, per door/unit. THAT is your number one 'sphere' of influence with the Gospel, pastor! (II Cor. 10:16; II Tim. 2:6, Ac. 1:8)

MANY pastors fear speaking with neighbors about evangelism may 'turn them off' from becoming church members (i.e., payers and sermon audience). WHERE ARE YOU turning them off to? Hell number two?, to quote a great preacher of our age.

YES, they are your primary 'target market,' but what better to be known for by them as for the Gospel? Their eternity! And if you evangelize BIBLICALLY, you won't be bringing up your church until AFTER you have evangelized, if at all, or if they bring it up, for it is irrelevant to their Heaven vs. Hell problem! IF they turn off, you pray for them, just as you should have prayed God would prepare them to receive your visit.

Once your entire sphere has been reached, you are FREE to do all the secular things churches do today, GUILTILY, because they haven't don't job one, first! Mt. 6:33 teaches that if you prioritize God's values first, all else falls in line. Pastors DIS-believe this, and do so many things to strum up business/money! SHAME!

Let me remind you, before I close for good, Hell is a fiery and real and forever place; your neighbors could all go there today, or the Rapture could come today, and you alone are responsible for their eternity, nearby pastor, using your church members you aren't so great at inspiring, because you either don't evangelize much, or can't disciple well. TRUTH.

I'm NOT judging you, but exhorting you to change your church practice to God's! Eternity is on the line. Your building near them is NOT taking the Polio vaccine to the needy, but letting it sit on the doctor's table, and advertising that it exists. Change your ways!

One more thing: On Judgment Day, when God reviews the video reel of your life, and points out your church's neighbors, being sentenced to Hell, these pastor responses concerning UNDER-evangelism will ring HOLLOW: 'We wanted to reach them, we tried, we intended to, prayed for them, or even committed to do so—we just never did.' ONLY 'we reached them' will pass muster!

Update #6: Evangelism Excuses

(12/13/18)

Beyond what's written at WillYouLiveForever.org, let's anticipate pastor excuses for NOT fully evangelizing their own neck of the woods:

1. They've already heard. PROVE IT! Where does God say one time is all they ever get? Statistics say it takes seven exposures, on average. WHAT IF the only person who spoke with them told them the wrong requirements (i.e., Lordship Salvation), or were judgmental legalists saying 'turn or burn,' or did an appalling job of presenting the case? Is their going forever to Hell O.K. with you, or will you get off your lazy duff and do it right?
2. We have a church right by them. SO WHAT? NOWHERE does God command lost people to find a Christian to tell them the Gospel!
3. It's all over Christian radio and TV. SAME response as immediately prior.
4. That's door knocking, like cults do, and Fuller Brush salesmen died out decades ago. You got that line from concepts in Aldrich's book, Lifestyle Evangelism, but one-on-one human contact is the ONLY way you can be certain that everyone has heard! In California fires, authorities go door-to-door, to a person, to warn of impending fire. Hell is MUCH worse, and you stay in your air conditioned office, ignoring their plight, so you can preach mainly to the proverbial choir!
5. We did that before. GREAT—do it again! Many pastors are practicing atheists! They truly don't believe Hell is real, or imminent. Their DEEDS show this—never their lips. God sees the heart.
6. My church members won't do that. Then you are no leader! I have NEVER been turned down asking anyone to go evangelize with me, and I've gone with a mega church pastor, seminary students, and laymen. ONE exception, I was repeatedly rejected at my family's church, 7-8 times, but we got even greater results than those lazy staffers could do using other methods, over time.
7. They might get mad, or slam the door. That has ONLY happened once, to me, and once to my BFF disciple, at the time. It's VERY rare, especially if you're led, and you pray for God to prepare hearts before you arrive.
8. That's NOT what pastors do. VERY true, for which they should repent!
9. That's the layman's job. Precisely (Eph. 4), and their low numbers who do shows your leadership often a failure.
10. I don't want to. The ONLY excuse that's honest! Sinful, but honest! You should be kicked out of your job!
11. That's the evangelist's job. REALLY? The servants who get paid only after you covet tithes are responsible for 7+ billion folks, and II Tim. 4:5 is an untrue Bible verse, written to pastors?

Do you start to see your excuses are borne in Hell, making you the Devil's dupe? If not, you can't see. I'll pray for you, but beware what I may pray, as I believe you to be unqualified and unfit for your office (position—not church room). George Barna revealed how FEW of you feel adequate in evangelism. You're authorized as Gods ambassadors! DO your job!

Update #7: Is Tithing Required?

Less than 20 percent of Christians tithe, usually way less. Because some pastors view it as their right to claim, to save time, I'm 'gonna rehash now what I've covered many times before, so I can refer people to our book, and not engage religious debates, especially the type that tick off that type pastor so much:

Ten percent tithes are NOT required of Christians. I'm NOT alone in this conclusion (<https://bit.ly/2CcLu2p>), though who or how many agree is irrelevant—only what Bible teaches/God says. Here's an exhaustive/100 percent thorough list of every time that term is used in the New Testament: Mt. 23:23; Lk. 11:42, 18:12; Heb. 7:8-9 Let's analyze what we find!:

The first two passages are in the context of severe rebukes of Jewish Pharisee hypocrites—NOT Christian instruction. Lk. 18:12 is written to people confident in themselves that they were righteous (i.e., the self-righteous, or people believing themselves saved on own merits, v. 9), and references another arrogant one, who happened to be a Jewish Pharisee (vv. 10-12).

So far, the verses are ONLY addressing Pharisees, and self-righteous lost people—NOT Christians. Finally, Hebrews. Its context is a historic recounting of Abraham's relationship to Melchizedek. Abraham was a Jew—a great one at that. Christians are NOT Jews. II Cor. 8-9 is the preeminent section on grace giving. This is NOT rocket science!

But if a pastor fears a tither may quit doing so when he learns the truth, they'll fight tooth-and-nail to keep that knowledge secret—even fight against people who teach the truth, which is exactly why I expect battles against me, by pastors (what's new; see our website), because they covet 10 percent of your income. Often, it's by the same types who agree forbidding drinking of alcohol is not biblically required, but they believe people to be spiritually deficient (or inferior) if they live out that truth.

Grace giving is as the Holy Spirit leads... no set amount or percent is required. There are many great principles of giving in those two chapters, including generosity, but it's NOT from concern that you're not obeying God that some pastors despise people who opposed mandated tithes, but phobias of lost revenues!

I just wanted to note to those LESS knowledgeable of Christianity, ministers who don't adhere to 10 percent tithing, who are WELL-known for their service to God (and NOT theological slouches, but scholars) including John MacArthur, Charles Ryrie, J. I. Packer, B. B. Warfield, Bruce Metzger, C. S. Lewis, C. I. Scofield, Charles Spurgeon, Erasmus, F. F. Bruce, Francis Chan, Frank Viola, G. Campbell Morgan, George Barna, Irenaeus, J. Vernon McGee, James Montgomery Boice, John Bunyan, John Huss, John Milton, John Nelson Darby, John Piper, John Smyth, John Wesley, John Wycliffe, Justin Martyr, Lewis Sperry Chafer, Mark Driscoll, Martin Luther, Matthew Henry, Origen, Ray Stedman, Tertullian, W. E. Vine.

ALL these great ministers did NOT, or do NOT believe in 10 percent tithing, and yesterday you learned, biblically, exactly why they did NOT... because the New Testament doesn't teach it for Christians!
(12/14/18)

BOMBERS & MASS SHOOTERS

(10/28-29/18)

I was watching Andrea Bocelli, and you've got to think that life without killings (i.e., war, murders, terror) should be a life EVERYONE could embrace! You just got to discover the various reasons those evils begin, and make people's lives good enough that they'd never engage such options. Isn't peace more beautiful to all?

I LOVED the Pittsburgh mayor saying 'love will trump hate!' I venture to say family members and close friends are the MOST CULPABLE in letting individuals become terrorists and criminals. You know them best! Who better than you? Work colleagues and neighbors are a little further removed. TURN THEM IN, if in doubt!

I'm not sure I'll EVER understand violent hatred. People do something you don't like. It angers you. You oppose it. You're free to ignore enemies. You walk away and may even feel hatred. But to get a gun is SO irrational! You could have a conversation with people whose deeds you disapprove of.

You can be an activist, to try to get laws passed against such deeds, you can organize, to get more people to your cause. You can even protest them with picket signs. The ONLY time physical violence would be justified is if your nation decided to go to war.

There is NEVER a legitimate reason for individuals to take the law into their own hands. That's irrational evil! NO ONE in their right mind can argue that heated political rhetoric doesn't contribute to an increase in stressed out idiots who kill over politics! Not everyone is as rational as the mainstream majority! It's immoral and irresponsible for politicians to engage extreme political language! Just STOP it!

IF America has more mass shootings, per capita, than other nations that allow guns, what is it about our culture that breeds this nonsense? Stress, hyper-individualism, a poor mental health system? We NEED to start asking these questions, and answering them. Friends and family need closer monitoring of people on edge.

It's IRRATIONAL to blame innocents for any bad apples in their group! HOW is killing 11 worshipping Jews punishing any Jews who may have done something the Pittsburgh shooter was angry about? Anger management classes may need to be required for people who express a problem with it, online or elsewhere!

It seems to me that anyone who is considering being a bomber, or mass shooter, has a desperate life, wants fame, or has anger control problems. These three factors OUGHT to be in all FBI profiles, and the public needs to keep closer scrutiny of people in those categories. Loners also seem to often do evil, more in secret.

BORDERLINE SHOOTING: NOT A BORDERLINE ISSUE!

(11/8/18)

I spoke with a guy from Venezuela, last evening, who said their dictator is very bad, and keeps all the nation's (oil) money for himself and his cronies, that many people get food from the basura/trash, and the people aren't allowed guns for an overthrow. THAT's why the U.S. Constitution allows the second Amendment—for prevention of such situations, or personal harm/dangers!

"Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other." —John Adams You needn't be religious to be moral, but when you abandon morality, all Hell breaks loose! #Borderline Ventura County Mass Shooting

SADLY, bomb and gun detectors (metal, plastic, etc.), or scanning wands, and/or armed, skilled heat-packers are the ONLY solution to such random and senseless violence, because you can NEVER know where evil, crazy jerks will target gathered masses! Thousand Oaks #MassShooting

Guns both allow mass casualties, and can deter them, and both defend our nation from enemies and defend our people from a dictatorial government taking over us (like in Venezuela). They are neutral, and dangerous. #GunControlNow #Californiashooting

Unless and until you can determine which weapon possessor intends its use for evil, as reasonable as some gun restrictions are, they cannot prevent mass shootings! Determined evil people can access the black market, or make their own guns, and you never know their intent until it's too late!

Required gun safety, storage and usage courses are GOOD; background checks are GOOD; no gun show or internet loopholes are GOOD; registered serial numbers are GOOD... but they don't guarantee we would be free of evil people intent on #MassShooting #GunControlNow

QUITE LITERALLY and ironically, it is ONLY the technology which WILL lead to Bible prophecy that can prevent a #MassShooting, when brain scans can detect evil human intention, and shut off held weapons (like cops can remote-control disable fleeing car engines). Revelation 13 #666

If you beef up gathering places with people packing heat, you must ensure that they're trained and licensed for such needs, because evil people can also volunteer to protect such places, then turn on the crowds, and become the person they were protecting them from!

If government took ALL guns, 1. Some would be hidden beforehand; 2. Bombs can still be (home-) made; 3. Guns can be forged, or gotten elsewhere; 4. Dictators could take over, and make America Venezuela! Do you think that could never happen? Our Founders planned against it! Even Chump is the closest thing to that which we have experienced.

THIS will take several posts... You can NEVER stop an intended mass shooter! WHY? They plan at home, garner an arsenal/cache in private, over time, maybe even legally. They don't necessarily tell anyone. They may scope out their target, where they'd look like innocent customers.

Then, on the day of the hit, WHO would see them pack up their gear, if they live alone and do it inside their domicile? And if their weaponry is hidden under their garb, or they go out at night/in the dark and get in their vehicle, WHAT looks suspicious about that? Long trench coat when its hot outside, at night?

So they proceed to the venue, possibly obeying all traffic laws, get out, casually get in position, as if yet another client, then implement all their training and evil intentions. WHERE in that entire scenario could the white hats/good guys have prevented that process? Huh? At the END!

Even friends, family and neighbors can't guarantee they catch them in their wicked plans! NONE of those relations are always 24/7. Evil people are secretive about evil plans, and crafty. They may even come up with excuses/lies, if ever asked about their arsenal, like going hunting a lot, to make it look legitimate to others!

And the target possibilities are ENDless—anywhere more than five people meet. Therefore, wherever public gatherings occur, as many as can be had trained heat packers, undercover, preferably, are needed. Still, that only prevents FURTHER damage, once the evil intention gets exposed by a shooting!

A mental health episode involving cops is in the background of the #CaliforniaShooting. There are laws in many states prohibiting mentally disturbed people from accessing weapons for years following medical incidents. But how, in reality, can police enforce such laws?

I don't want to suggest this (burdening busy people even more), but friends, family and neighbors MUST do a more diligent job of monitoring people with mental illness! They are the ONLY people with any chance of detecting evil plans, such as #CaliforniaShooting. Hyper-individualism allows this violence opportunity!

I'm ONLY speculating, but PTSD IS a mental disorder, and I have watched enough TV shows, like Hunting ISIS, and History channel war documentaries, to know that watching friends die near you, or killing others, is a trauma not easy to get over! #MentalIllness

NO criminal or mentally disturbed person should EVER have access to guns—EVER! Now, go define and identify the same said, and #GunControl laws will be 100 percent in order! (11/10/18)

BUILDING A BETTER BUSINESS

(Including: Consumers, Innovation Campaign, Humor, Money-Saving Tips)

(12/6/18)

Every established business in the world is basically making what they will/can, as with every nation in global trade. It can increase (or decrease), by sales, new products, improving the business, cutting costs, and expanding markets (and new or revised trade deals) but everyone wants to make money off everyone else.

Most any business can be improved, if they do the following: study your competitors to know what they're doing different and/or better, observe societal trends, cut costs with technology and streamlining actions you ask employees to do.

Self service is how many businesses cut out labor helping clients (like websites and dead-end voicemail Hell). If you improve the customer experience, have effective (i.e., interesting or entertaining) advertising, have friendly folk who interact with the public, have competitive prices, never run out of hot inventory, display things attractively, have an appealing storefront, and find new clients, new uses for your products or services, or have price cut sales (to get people in the door to see what else you sell), you can do better!

If your location stinks (i.e., is NOT easy access, or not visible) or you have odd hours, or an aloof (or offensive) name, good luck with that. You'll need it!

If management acts like helicopter parents, looking over people's shoulders, or is arrogantly too good to hob knob with the locals and front liners, expect problems, because when the cat's away the mice will play, and when the cats are sitting on the mice, their motivation gets crushed.

You've got to reward good employees, and money is usually the best way! FEW people are dumb enough to buy into praise and plaques—we all have bills. And employees need to know that your wages have to make or save your employer money, or you can't justify them keeping you employed! For more tips, read our book, Building a Billionaire Business, via AmericanAnswers.org.

Are you creative? For most, the answer is NO. Our two books, Idioms for Innovators and Design Your Future will literally make a snail/slug more innovative. We have more than 4,700 new product ideas to help you think innovatively (in four of our books, for FREE), but it starts by doing things differently! There is NO creativity remaking Coke. Add grape flavor, and it's new/different. We teach you two double digit methods to be innovative.

We have a FREE speech on our website that should inspire anyone to try their hand at being more creative, and a full-blown version of it in our innovation book. You will see nothing else like that anywhere else. If you read both of our websites, and all 11 of our books, there's NOTHING you could do to have a better life! Bold claim, backed up by content—all glory to God.

If you're too lazy, you fulfill 'insanity is doing the same thing, expecting different results.' Motivation is as important as education! You've got to have a reason to change things in your life, to do things different, to read and learn. If you're fully content with your life, or (arrogantly and wrongly) believe you're perfect, you'll feel no need to change anything. We can all improve. #Kaizen should be our motto.

Even in sales, would you rather buy from someone interesting, funny, a clever wordsmith, of one who acts like a vocalizing robot? It's all about getting people's interest, after you get their attention. And what you offer has to be something they like, want or need. It's all about being interesting and creative.

I'll give you one innovation strategy that is understated in our book... SPEED! I just spent two minutes waiting to toast some bread, because the wife says I'm hungry because I need fiber with protein, so I changed by putting peanut butter on it, per her instruction. Invent an instant toaster—NOT a microwave! Time is money!

EVERY product can be sped up. I HATE that I have to type in letters on a keyboard to find select TV shows! I want to speak to my TV, and say 'First 48,' and it shows up—immediately. Speed and speak technology are my futuristic dream!

People got annoyed waiting for hot water in tubs and showers, so inventors came up with a tool that keeps water heater flow right at the tap... SPEED and convenience! People HATE waiting in waiting rooms, for doctors. Speed up that process with technology, so patients are on call to arrive when they're needed! We're all on busy schedules. Doctors want no no-shows. Meet their needs, too, by charging no-shows, or over-booking.

'People who are paralyzed can't drive cars' is a reasonable assumption, right? Yet, it's NOT true, due to technology: <https://bit.ly/2G5apsJ> Innovation, technology, solving problems! That's our future! Status quo is history—LITERALLY! Your future starts with your next thought and breath.

Like I told a homeless guy, last week, your past is the past! (Phil. 3:3) The apostle Paul had MANY achievements to be proud of, but he chose NOT to dwell on his past, good or bad! Forgive yourself, and get on with it.

Innovation and right thinking are the keys to your better future. Get rid of all 'stinkin' thinkin' (Zig Ziglar-ism; RIP, man from my family's church!). Your life LITERALLY has no purpose or meaning if all you're going to do is die, then burn in Hell (Ecc. 1)! NO purpose. You're just buying time before you buy a burial plot. You need to know God, because He has a fulfilling life ready for those who know Him (Jn. 3:16).

Every nation eventually imitates good ideas. You have to be the first to market, or first with the best version, then establish a foothold in the market share. I want America to lead in innovation, as we always have! Nations steal trade secrets, and hack patented work.

You have to constantly have a better mouse trap, and get it to the global market, NOT like the little piggy who stayed home (vs. this little piggy went to market). I've learned that people LOVE emotional images from their childhoods, so I incorporate them into every speech! It makes a connection, be it humor or fond sentiment. It's humanly innate.

If you say something everyone knows well, a little different, people laugh. Mispronounce something, or liken a person's physical trait to someone famous, and call them that celebrity. It makes their day! People used to call me Tom Hanks. Something about the humor cheers people up. You've got to be creative!

If a person is taller than usual, we used to (i.e., childhood) say, 'how's the weather up there?' If short, sadly, we used to ask, 'what are you 'gonna be when you grow up?' (even to adults). Unacceptable in these times, but humor is always in fashion!

If people have large shoes, they called them 'battleships,' or said you remind me of a poet... Longfellow, because you have a good understanding.

Make analogies for humor. One day, N Ruidoso, road construction erected a cement barrier, and a man was walking on the safe side of it. We rolled down our window and said, 'DON'T JUMP!' (as if he was on a bridge). He laughed 'hysterically.' Humor makes dull and troublesome lives go better.

But it requires creativity, and quick wit. You can't do it, absent a gift/natural talent, unless you learn to be creative, and you'll get quicker with practice. Make life a little better for people who interact with you. There are plenty of wall flowers and sheeple; the world doesn't need even more of those... be a better you.

Advertising is usually one of five methods we teach in our business book. My mom (RIP) and I used to rate billboards when visiting Big H and Big D. There are quality differences! Businesses RARELY succeed doing NO advertising. I'm all too happy to help any U.S. business, when I start a political campaign in June, for FREE, on any of the following: motivation, growth, strategy, R&D/innovation (new products), efficiency/streamlining, advertising, architecture or problem-solving. I'd LOVE to spend three hours a day, five minutes per business not going anywhere (i.e., staying in one place), to help businesses as much as humanly possible, before giving stump speeches! If I provide ZERO help to you, you're out NOTHING, but I'd at least make the try!

And for poor people, same methodology. I can make anyone live better for cheaper, unless you are a star on Hoarders TV show (i.e., frugal more than me). I'd LOVE to do that one to two hours a day, again in one place, before giving stump speeches. Dream job 2019!

And IF you are the lone wolf American who thinks U.S. national politics are perfect, I can't help you (you need a shrink), but for all others, we have three political books that solve most U.S. problems, including politics, on issues A to Z, and written for a third grade level, with entertainment, jokes, analogies, idioms and childhood images/

I could read them in public, record them on DVD or CD/iTunes download, Facebook live, what have you. The contents are already DONE, and on a free website, and billboards can steer people to it. Have a better life!

P.S.: When you spend money, adopt this methodology: DIY/can it be done for free? Google search the answer(s). Then know that there's a range of price points for solutions! I HATE going bald, and want to fix it, when I have extra sales. Solutions range from $300 to $15,000. Start cheap, and work up! Price compare!

My son is the first, and likely last Baylor grad to be who got his degree for what we paid. I'm told their rules will change. You can call that creativity, but it's what you don't know that hurts you! Lawyer me simply applied their own rules. No one had done so before, using ALL their rules, and confirming definitions.

A guy once rear-ended me, and wanted to pay for it in cash, to keep his insurance record clean. I price compared at three businesses, then we agreed on lowest bid. I got the cash, replaced my rear door from a junk yard for $75, and had $4,200 to spend on other car repairs. You've got to spend wiser, poor people!

For hundreds of money-saving tips, read our chapter on point at Dumb as a Donkey (book). One month ago I was 'gonna go on a spouse date, for the first time in decades, to see the First Man movie, but I got the matinee time wrong, so we refused to pay $9-12 per head, and we'll see it for $1.50, tomorrow. Bring pillows if want cushier lounge seats.

My BRILLIANT younger son discovered (through advertising), that you can get endless sodas, and 10 chicken nuggets, and fries, for one dollar each (for a limited time), if you go where Burger King, Wendy's and McDonald's are in close proximity. We ate a full meal on a day trip to mountain climb, for $7 for three big men! Buy smart.

Ever gone garage sailing? We own a few items in the house from garage sales, because you've got to know where to buy, and when. Our book educates poor people to live higher on the hog, while being paid pig slop! Hopefully it will be free, in the library, if you can't afford an Amazon download; computers are free there, too!

You don't need handouts, but hand-ups, but not even that until you learn how to shop smart! My ex-neighbor says there's a gadget you can buy to import free TV. Google search it. Everyone wants to be paid more. Businesses want the cheapest labor possible. Learn to spend wiser, and live with less!

CALIFORNIA 'BIBLE BAN?'

(4/23/18)

[Background: Ethics question—I know a claiming Christian family whose teenager claims to be gay, so the parents have cut off most (or all?) friendships, and possibly other punishments (like access to fun things—I'm not sure all the details). Is this a proper way to behave as Christian parents? I say "no."
(4/16/18)]

A dude at church said California is banning the Bible, by law. I DESPISE the IGNORANCE sin among claiming Christians. That's buying into fear-mongering... the Devil's bait.

Freedom of religion is NOT just biblical religions, and in our founding documents' phrase, 'one nation under God,' the word 'God' does NOT specify any particular religion(s). And no one can show me a law that mandates that Bible being in public places, please.

And by the way, freedom of religion is not the right to require a Bible in a court room or class room. It is the right of EVERY religion to PRACTICE (vs. do home decor for public buildings). I have NO problem with Bibles in town halls/squares, but if a state majority doesn't want that, the people have spoken. Don't abandon its morals, though.

That Bible ban claim relates to having zero materials denouncing homosexuality, or related sexual variants. Related to my earlier post, HOW are you going to change a person's sexual identity? Salvation is NOT 'conversion therapy' for gay people, and NO Bible evangelism events EVER even mentions homosexuality in those presentations!

I don't buy into slippery slope fears, as you can always wear cleats. However, I DO buy into the evils of exaggeration. Bible banning is a fear monger tactic. Christians should have the right to teach willing (vs. forced) people their views on a gay lifestyle, and try to convince them, as, equally, with the other side's rights to do the same.

The Bible says homosexuality is an abominable sin, along with about 22 others listed (Levit. 19). I NEVER see any far-right political Christians EVER try to pass laws or change the behavior of anyone on any moral issue equal to their efforts against gays. Jesus loved all; do we/you, Christian activists? And do gays see or feel it?

I'm quite sure gays in California don't want to continually be told their behavior is what God calls sin! No other sin do Christians berate lost people over, as much, to the point of condemnation! That doesn't mean any belief in the Bible needs changing, or banning, but Christians' approach. You do not go to hell over any one sin, but for being a sinner, which we all start out life as.

Quite honestly, any claiming Christian who clamors about anything to do with gay rights I have LITTLE respect for, because I was perhaps the first person in America to wake up pastors to gay marriage going national (vs. state's rights), and to scold them for being so silent all these years. I have the tweets to prove it. Now, it's settled law; get over it!

If there are do-gooder, nose in others' business "Christians" who want to change gay people into being straight, HOW are you going to do that, and why aren't you as avid in trying to stop prostitutes, divorcees, and many other things God writes about? It's a POLITICAL witch hunt, because the GOP is looking like a midterms LOSS is coming!

If you EVER watch the timing of many WASP Christians' concerns about abortion or homosexuality, it's been eerily quiet since the 2016 election. Now that the 2018 midterms are upon us, they feel it time to pull the red meat rabbit out of the hat, to get votes! Amazing inconsistency, which so FEW ever notice!
#Sad

I hear "Christians" always on the case against gays, but RARELY about womanizers. Isn't sexual sin sin? They ought to be at the forefront of the #MeToo movement, and the ONLY GOP on-board against a law against sexual harassment is Ted Cruz. Convenient cherry-picking one's political-moral indignation!

If the law of the land is that gays can marry, and marriage usually involves sex, don't gays have a right to say other people need to stay out of their business concerning what they do behind closed doors? Christians are entitled to their political positions, but that law PASSED, so leave them alone, except to evangelize them, and everyone else!

Should a Christian say homosexuality is morally O.K., before God? Of course not, or they would be abandoning what God says. You are NOT going to get many gays to turn straight, and it's FAR more important that you get them to heaven, if they're not already going! I'll bet FEW political hacks opposing gays ever even try to do that! That is an obvious lack of God's love!

Read the ENTIRE Bible, and tell me if anyone could seriously believe the MAIN summary message it teaches is to hassle gays about their lifestyle. No way, Jose! But that's what WASPs are getting a reputation for doing, politically. As an illustration, at some point, people are going to smoke cigarettes, and want to be left alone!

Because of MANY WASP Christians' LACK of love, but love of political gains, they LITERALLY may be responsible for many unsaved (vs. saved) gays remaining lost, and ending up in hell, because those 'believers' turned them off so much with a non-Gospel political idolatry idiocy! Love people more than politics! #Duh101

If Cali ever infringes on the sales of Bibles (i.e., prompting a free speech and/or freedom of religion lawsuit), it's because of the extreme right's political antics. Californians haven't sought such laws in the entire history of their state's existence! You push too hard, and single people out too long, you incite pushback! That is a DUMB strategy, and NOT Christ-like, WASP Christians!

[Having read on the topic a bit more:] That article on Cali banning the Bible concerned gay rights. I believe any American has every right to believe a gay lifestyle is morally wrong, and to be able to say that publicly. At the same time, it is IRRELEVANT as to our laws, post-Obergefell! The Supreme Court is not going to force 'divorces,' and break up legal relationships if you stack it with conservatives, Christians!

CHARACTER & POLITICIANS (OXY-MORONIC?)

(10/29 & 31/18)

Be discerning! ‘You have what you tolerate,’ and ‘never reward bad behavior’ OUGHT to be two major deciding factors in who you vote for! Since NEITHER party has a monopoly on morality in their positions, one with character will think for themselves, support good policy, and NOT worship their party! Vote for integrity.

A politician’s character also goes to if they’re competent. Because Cruz gets extreme and caustic, I leaned for Beto, but because Beto had 3-4 extreme policies, I went for NEITHER. Because Texas is too conservative, I went for all Dems but 1-2. Texas’ governor is a man of honor (i.e., character), so he got my vote!

One politician was asked by me how to run for office, and because he used a TRICK to enlist free labor, by saying ‘help on my campaign, and you’ll see how,’ I voted against him! A church greeter called me a ‘scoundrel’ for so doing, but the scoundrel is any politician who seeks to manipulate people, no matter their policies!

IF a politician is willing to use tricks, their agenda is an idol to them (i.e., win at all costs), or they’ll change them from lacking character (AKA the courage of their convictions)! In short, character matters! It’s the BEST determinant of what you’re buying into when you vote!

Their track record is important, but discerning their character is number one. And IF you believe party determines character, you have bought the lie that one party is more moral than the other! Christians aren’t supposed to believe lies. Issue-by-issue is the ONLY right way to vote, but since you’re not allowed to, character determines who’ll vote conscience more than being rubber stamps!

Again, NEITHER party has an advantage on morality, unless you don’t see the BIG picture, and are a single issue voter, and with that perspective, you vote for the ones who’ll bring BALANCE, JUSTICE, and be more inclined to work with the other side, vs. my-way-or-the-highway arrogance/lack of character.

The MORE balance comes to politics, the MORE likely GOOD policies will be passed! Vote accordingly. I voted against Dan Patrick, because of one of his TV ads, and for Colin Allred, because I loved ALL of his! Your character is expressed in what you tolerate/allow, even in your political ads.

One more thought (however many posts it takes to explain: Why does balance cause MORE morality in politics? If you think your party is 100 percent moral, you believe lies (that’s not character), you will attack your opponents, full-time (NOT character), you will be for shoving things down throats (NOT character), you will vote for the EVILS of your party (NOT character), you won’t work with the other side (meaning gridlock, and LITTLE getting done—NOT character), and you will have arrogance that you are for the white hats/good guys, when you aren’t (deception and pride, both of which are NOT character).

Also, you will allow tricks to be used to push your agenda, support win-at-all-costs, and likely slander your opponent party to your constituents. ALL three of these actions show lack of character. Character is the preeminent trait in a politician you vote for. They need not qualify as priests, but the better they are (i.e., as humans), the better!

Politicians DON'T have to be priests, in their behavior (especially child molesting type priests), but they run as supposed leaders, and no one is a leader behaving like a scoundrel. There's a legitimate expectation they aren't criminals, serial liars, anti-America, have some intelligence, and are generally nice people!

MOST politically outspoken people demand MUCH MORE than their wallets fund. I'll let that sit out there until it resonates with your soul! We want so much, and want to pay so little. There's NO magic wand for that to happen, and people live in the real world—NOT fantasy land—for any loud conservatives!

CHRIST & CULTURE

(11/8/18)

Somewhat strangely, this is addressed to NON-Christians, to explain how so many Christians voted for tRump. For Christians, the Bible is life's guide, as with our church practice. However, the former doesn't happen automatically, and often, never at all, mainly due to the latter, by which I mean Christians are SUPPOSED to behave Jesus-like, as much as that's humanly possible, over time, and with effort. Getting saved/born again doesn't cause that to happen, in experience, without ingesting the Bible, prayer, and relying on God's power, after meeting with Him daily, as a fully committed "disciple."

"Christian," in fact, is a term outsiders/others labeled us, in the first century, explicitly because of that... those Christians were seen as little Christs (Ac. 11:20-21) People today often abandon that biblical term for a term NOT in the Bible, but whose concept is ("Christ-follower"), because even they notice that not every Christian actively follows Christ; they just ensure they're going to Heaven, and that's about then end of it.

Those types the Bible refers to as "carnal," fleshly/sinful. The predominant trait is they are NOT committed to walking with Jesus (I Cor. 3, etc.) God sternly frowns on that lifestyle, and DOES judge His people (I Pet. 4:17; I Cor. 11:30)

MANY people in America equate Christianity with church-going, when that is but one aspect. However, when we analyze what Jesus taught about what church is, and compare it to modern practice, it comes up woefully short, and we start to see why so many claimers of Christ are carnal (up to 87 percent, by some older statistics).

Let's be clear... these people are not always intentionally rebellious, or ardent sinners in their behavior; they may, in fact, be well-meaning and good-intentioned! I was from age 8-18! But they are NOT pleasing their Lord, NOT living as He instructed, and CANNOT bear good fruit/deeds, for they are not rightly connected to the Source (Jn. 15)

So where does church come into all of this? A believer (a biblical term for a Christian) is to walk with God, 24/7, intimately, and in His power and leading. You don't learn to do that by osmosis, any more than an infant knows how to feed itself milk. You learn it from someone who does it, and knows how to get others doing so. The Bible calls this process 'discipleship,' or mentoring, like a tutor.

The Bible teaches this moral growth process lasts all one's life, never ends in perfection in this life, but also comes to a point where the newer Christian doesn't need that hands-on shepherding, as much, because they are walking on their own two spiritual feet (spiritually self-sustaining via God, vs. an intermediary Christian; Gal. 4:19; Heb. 5:12).

So why is there so often failure in this regard? Many, if not most pastors follow cultural tradition of preaching a sermon as the all-in-all of ministry. Jesus preached to crowds He 'drew,' but He disciplined 12 men, 11 of whom turned the world upside down! His own life example PROVES He did NOT rely on preaching to get that maturing process done!

Yet, every Sunday, because peers do so, you'll find pastors behind pulpits, hoping and praying a mere preached sermon will mature up the body of Christ. Yet, even the great Apostle Paul knew that would never work, when he wrote II Tim. 2:2, and showed by example (I Th. 1-2, espec. 2:8). When the early church begun, and witnesses boldly and accurately proclaimed Jesus (i.e., "evangelism"), that fact impressed outsiders to the fact these untrained people had spent time with Jesus—NOT just listened to sermons (Ac. 4:13).

There is an acronym we use at our website to depict the main priorities of biblical church—EDBS. Most churches fail miserably at all four, sadly, and I believe it's both because seminaries (pastor training schools) don't teach them, and pastors watch their competitors/peers to see what's 'normal' practice, rather than or more than seeing what God has said.

The most important thing a Christian walking with Jesus (i.e., meeting with daily, then walking in His power 24/7) can do is tell others how to go to Heaven. A VAST majority never do, and as few as five percent ever do so successfully—in their entire lifetime!

Since that is the ONLY way to God, and He is the only true source of morality, is it any wonder our World and culture are so out of whack? And even among Christians, discipleship is rarely engaged the way Jesus engaged it, so is it any wonder that the vast majority of Christians are labeled by missiologists as "nominal?... ho hum in their faith/commitment, or what the Bible calls luke-warm? (Rev. 3:16)

It all makes sense, but it doesn't make it alright! That's the E and D of EDBS. The B involves the gathered church. Every Christian has at least one supernatural enabling (called 'spiritual gifts'). They are given and to be used to edify/build up Christians! But where do we find Christians in one place where those gifts could bless them? At church, and NOT the Bible classes that occur after their main gathering.

We even see this example in Jas. 2 and I Cor. 14, where gathered Christians used those gifts in the general assembly. But just drop by your average church, and you see professional sermonizers, experienced singers and the vast majority sitting on pews, as if their duff was their spiritual body part gift; perhaps some singing and giving, but mainly spectating as a listener. Those are NOT spiritual gifts!

And finally, the S of EDBS—social ministry. Every Christian is to have at least one ministry, or way of serving. The church is to impact society, following Jesus' model of service. How better than to have a cause, and LEAD society in solving plaguing problems, just like Jesus did?

But do you often see this in real practice? I'd say, you certainly don't see society looking to Christians as initiators of positive societal change.

So we have a problem, and that problem affects our nation and our world. God's solution is found in II Chr. 7:14, which has four elements—NOT just prayer, and certainly NOT just an occasional one. IF pastors sincerely adopted EDBS priorities, our world would again be turned upside down for the good!

CHRISTIAN CARNALITY & POLITICAL CONSERVATISM

(3/15/18)

This message is NEEDED, especially for people who are NOT Christians: There is such a thing as a "carnal," "fleshly" or uncommitted Christian, in the Bible, and especially in life experience in the U.S.A. I have researched the statistics for 30+ years, and they represent between ~72 and 90 percent of claiming American Christians!

If you listen to talk radio, the symptoms are EVERYWHERE in their values! One talk radio host spoke with GLEE about a sports star making millions, and having life-long first class jet privileges; another kidded a caller over whether he was poor, running through red lights from bad brakes he hadn't replaced?

Predominantly white Christians MOCK poverty, among/between themselves, and have sinful pride over their riches. PLS know, these 'fools' know NOTHING about Christianity, for the Bible tells ANYONE who reads it how Christians are to live life. Worldliness, mocking the poor, and pride in one's wealth are anathema/abhorrent to God! (1 Jn. 2:15-17; Col. 3:1-4; Mt. 6, etc.)

If these people, who have co-opted my personal 'religion,' go to church, ALL they ever seem to know about God, values, or the Bible is what their guru/pastor preaches on. And since the 1980's, with the church growth movement, sermons (speeches/messages they speak to their members) are LESS Bible, LITTLE teaching, much entertainment, and a majority MAN's words—NOT Gods.

So if you ever waste your time to listen to talk radio, hoping for any insight into real Christians, or Christians who understand their religion, DON'T WASTE YOUR TIME! Christians are NO different from you, except Jesus lives within, if He does.

They are supposed to be quite different, but most of them NEVER get disciplined, or grow much in their relation to God (called "daily quiet time"). Hence, we see many people saying to themselves, like Gandhi, 'I like your Christ, I do not like your Christians.'

Jesus would turn the tables over any church that produced such POOR results! He did, two times in history! The era of church history in Bible prophecy we are in is called Laodicean. A specific church was in that city within ~100 years of Jesus' death on the cross, and exhibited luke-warm commitment symptoms (Rev. 3). That's 72-90 percent of U.S. claiming Christians. God says they make Him want to puke! Their hypocrisy probably makes you want to do the same thing.

Politically, they endorse living for this life as number one—money, assets, self—100 percent OPPOSITE of the Jesus they claim to know, and the party who gives a darn about world's problems, or the down and outers/lowly, LIKE THE REAL JESUS DID His entire ministry, are berated as near demons, and if they're atheists, claimers/professors (not necessarily possessors) of Jesus treat them as enemies (vs. Satan's victims), even though their values Christ shared, even though Jesus said love your enemies, and even though Jesus taught Christians are to treat this life like they are sojourners/visitors/just passing through to their eternal/heavenly home!

Instead, we buy mansions on earth, and own outhouses in heaven! We worship the almighty dollar instead of the almighty God, and we live to please ourselves and enjoy life, when Jesus said carry a cross, and put others above yourself, and God even higher than that (Phil. 2, etc.).

The average U.S. Christian can't recite ten Bible verses from memory, and have opinions on everything, with NO Scripture backing most of them! As they say, opinions are like rear ends—everyone has one, and most of them SMELL!

God, Jesus, the Bible—these are in harmony in teaching that Christian "leaders" are to serve as tutors, to grow up Christians in the faith (Eph. 4.; I Cor. 4:15; Gal. 4:19; Lk. 13:8, et al). A Christian NOT new to the faith is to mentor newbies and green/younger Christians in milk/Bible baby food; sermonizing does NOT achieve the maturity results of how Jesus disciplined His eleven men! Speeches from pulpits are forgotten by the crowd before 72 hours expire! That is OPPOSITE Ps. 119:9-11. God says what the solutions are, but churchianity and church-as-a-business deny his word, for what sells, and brings in bodies, bucks and buildings.

So, when you hear far right conservatism wrapping itself in Christianity and the American flag, LAUGH! It's better than crying, for the disconnects are painfully obvious to all but the brain-washed. When Christians are mainly 'carnal' (i.e., spiritually immature), you can't expect ANY good moral values to ensue, or that such people will EVER see that that political theory is essentially worldliness, greed, selfishness, hoarding, money lust and idolatry, living for THIS world, nor will pastors who buy into politics over God, in failing to instruct them in ways that represent God! You CAN'T serve either Caesar or mammon more than God, yet how hard they try!

BOTH our websites detail the Bible's view on matters like politics and money. READ I Tim. 6:6-9. Would ANY honest person conclude it is encouraging Christians to rat race chase money? How about Pv. 23:5 or Heb. 13:5. DO THESE VERSES DESCRIBE political conservative "Christians," to you? There's a reason! It's called 'carnality!'

CHRISTIAN FEAR-MONGERING

(10/23/16)

On a family day trip today I heard a Christian "family" radio show I've never heard before. The word "endorsement" has been SO abused this election season in ministers DENYING doing it!

He spoke of Democrats wanting to ban evangelism and force pastors to conduct gay marriages. That's extremism and fear mongering (LIES) from last minute desperation!

Christians DESPISE the stereotype of being dumb, then have advocates like that host using the most convoluted reasons to be for Trump! Do we deserve and earn that reputation?

Christianity Today reported the FACT that less than half of Christians are for Trump. That's VERY good news for the church's reputation—for intelligence and integrity! GOOD job!

One pastor wrote a blog that concluded that whoever wins the election was God's will. That's like saying que sera sera, or dictators elsewhere are God's will. UN-true!

Neither candidate is God's perfect will, obviously. Something these Christian leaders advocating for Chump and shaming Christians opposing him (like Laura Ingraham, who said #NeverTrump is for partial birth abortion) NEVER do is blame Trump primary supporters! They nominated him!

If the GOP doesn't address THAT lack of integrity and intelligence problem, and Christian hosts lying about 'endorsements' to pressure Christians to vote for Trump, their REPUTATION will be doomed.

You CAN'T be for all he did and said and expect to ever attract many minorities in the near future! That's a VERY short-sighted strategy that bites you in the tail for one's reputation! Have you studied recent demographic changes in the United States?

That Christian radio host wanted to speak of the thousands of government employees that come with an administration, along with a platform.

How about the GOP's reputation, having elected the WORST of the bunch of 17, and how about blaming those who CAUSED that choice out of 16 BETTER alternatives?

GOP voters should have made a BETTER choice, and the platform and down-ticket employees would have been better.

These TrumPundits always TRY to minimize the damage to their own reputation by mouthing, 'he wasn't my 1st, 2nd or 3rd choice,' then go on to be for the WORST GOP nominee in 40+ years! Hypocrisy and compromise.

Finally, these same BLIND Trump advocates NEVER show ANY belief in or knowledge that GOP's in Congress are there to counter any bad HRC policies! She does NOT just get whatever she wants!

If you've learned anything the last eight years, apart from Obamacare, a QE3 stagnant economy, the Iran deal and the Arab Winter, GRIDLOCK was the word of the day!

Trump advocates ACT like HRC will roll over and dominate all the GOP's we'll re-elect soon. STOP BELIEVING DESPERATE LOSING CAUSE VOICES!

And, by the way, Trumpsters liked the entertainment, anger at RINO's, putting U.S.A. first, concern for working class whites, wanting closed borders, and "honesty."

ALL those issues we addressed here FIRST, and WELL BEFORE he began his run. We have the time-dated tweets saved to prove our claims.

We NEVER advised any GOPs' sin to win strategy, and we agreed that 'you can't insult your way to the White House,' as Jeb Bush coined that phrase.

The GOP NEEDS to again establish itself as the party of thinking more than emotions, religion and morals! Democrats have usurped that position this year in the way they conducted surrogate roles, etc.!

As much as any Trumpsters hate #NeverTrump, you've got to admire the FACT that I predicted HRC's win 1.5 years ago, and NEVER wavered, and I'll be proved RIGHT!

The ideal GOP candidate will appeal to the Tea Party and RINO's. You can't, 100 percent, if both sides insist on their ideology 100 percent! Some compromise is required.

CHRISTIAN SOCIAL INACTION?

(9/28/18)

THIS is 'gonna be a barrel full of (monkeys) fun, so bring your popcorn (or No-Doz, depending on your perspective): Moral perfection vs. sinfulness... NO human will ever be morally perfect in this life—PERIOD. And no good works earn anyone Heaven. Does that mean they aren't to try to be better people? NO

There are two realms of morality, for a Christian: One-on-one before God, and you before others, especially Christians. Legalism is taking your unique list of sins, and calling others out based on it (they're always short lists, and NEVER all Bible commands)! Biblical exhortation lets God lead one to instruct another if they ought to have not done or said something.

None of us are perfect, but that's NOT the standard for a Christian rightly walking with Jesus! It's obeying the faith standard you have achieved, to-date! Our sins are ALL forgiven, even future ones. That doesn't mean do as you please, but the burden of obeying all commands, right now, or you're living in sin, is LIFTED! FREEDOM!

Society has its own set of rules, like our disdain for people throwing trash out a car window. These morays change. It was perfectly acceptable, in many circles, to do that in the 1970's. I'm GLAD public activist movements changed that!

SAME with wasting water. MANY Americans (especially conservatives) USED to say, 'I paid for it—I can do what I want.' But LEFT-LEANING activists used methods to convince the public's majority that it's irresponsible ("inappropriate," in P.C. terms) to do so, because clean water isn't abundant, world-wide, and it wastes natural resources.

Christian political activists would be VERY WISE to STUDY the methods left-leaning activist groups used to make homosexuality accepted by the majority, as with water waste and public trash throwing being shunned. Same with using the 'N' word, or thinking 'boys will be boys' means accept males sexually abusing women (#MeToo).

These are moral improvements in American society that DIDN'T come from Christians/the Church, and weren't profited from by private businesses. They are a change (conservatism hates change, and loves historic tradition)—a very positive development! Such causes SHOULD, biblically, have been initiated by Christians!

We are called to be the light for a dark world. Instead we have preachers calling their troops to holiness, so they can infiltrate a dark world, which dark world has OFTEN been LEADing people to a more holy society, ironically enough!

It is NOT Democrats, or non-Christians, who are enemies of morality, nor even GOP's. It is every imperfect human—which is us all—but it is the ones among us who demonize a select group, for political aims, that bear the greatest moral guilt, for societal change to increased goodness has USUALLY come NOT from conservatives!

Political Correctness, with all its bad abuses, was an attempt to prevent discrimination toward gays, abusive free speech, and disrespect for women and minorities (Ex.: multi-culturalism). Slavery's end did NOT come by white slave-owner sympathizers, who often warped their religion for cover, as with voting rights for women, and civil rights.

MLK was a preacher, but NOT of the WASP ilk that ONLY sees abortion and sodomy as society's problems! He saw WELL beyond a FEW Bible verses, as God Himself instructs Christians to do (Ac. 20:27).

WHO was behind accepting persecuted refugees, and who opposes it, now? What about safe working conditions for U.S. employees, mandatory breaks and over-time for over-worked laborers, environmental restraints to endless profiteering at the cost of animals and our environment? What about truth in advertising laws, regulations forbidding dangerous products, and foods? NOT Christians, for the most part.

WE were (and still are) in bed with BIG business, for money idolatry, chasing the world (in the Bible's definition, of idolizing money and things, being temporal focused)! What about stigmas against mental illness? Is it Christians, today, or the mainstream media? The latter.

How about people exposing executives who engage in wrongdoing... whistleblowers? IS IT white preachers leading the way? NO! Don't 'wanna bite the political hand that feeds you. What about racial injustice? BLACK preachers, who can't get a hearing with WASP ones, from arrogance sin! How about opposing politicians on the take, by unlimited funding for policy support? It's NOT white Christians pushing for campaign finance changes!

MORAL issues are to be the purview and concern of Christians, first and foremost, because our Bibles TELL US SO! Are we listening very closely? Not so much. YES there are sins from the political party Christians OFTEN accuse of being anti-God. Having references to Him in a party platform is hogwash window-dressing, when He calls for actions, based on attitudes, based on sincere commitment to following Him!

He is NOT in the dog-and-pony show business! He does NOT lead P.R. stunts, 'image is everything' mantras, or anything but TRUE repentance, with morals following.

How about pollution concerns? Safe water in Flint, MI? Ending bullying in schools. Concern for football concussions? These PRACTICAL moral concerns SHOULD have been headed by concerned Christians, vs. money-obsessed self-focused lives! Conservatism preaches social concern is feminine, at best!

Car air bags, over-population, over-outsourcing, over-immigration harming U.S. worker jobs and wages. WHERE was the Church in leading these public concerns? When your political bias is for the individual, ONLY personal responsibility, and mocking any others as 'do-gooders,' you get what you'd expect (and reap what you have sown).

'Collectivism, Utopians' and 'statists' are what conservatives label ANY concern for all people's gathered concerns, especially globally. They tout rugged individualism and personal responsibility, because that's how idolizing money is never addressed, and the mantra, 'economics is amoral,' retains its potency among dupes.

'Socialism' is another FAVORITE term of theirs! Why do we have any concern for an 'obesity epidemic?' I can tell you it is NOT because of WASP activist preachers! Why is cancer-causing cigarette smoking now demeaned in our society? It's NOT because Christians were at the fore-front! Why are gas-guzzling Hummers no longer being produced? Same answer!

When ALL YOU DO is preach Bible verses to Christians, why would you expect any different NON-results? How about safety guardrails on fast-moving arteries, or ABS car brakes, or catalytic converters, to lessen car emissions from the dark plumes of smoke that regularly bellowed out of car exhaust pipes in the 70's?

What about animal cruelty pushes to ban dog- and cock-fighting? What of concussion-ameliorating football helmets? Sun-resistant clothing (to lessen skin cancer)? SERMONS don't do that! Jesus called us to gather on Sunday, only to scatter Mon-Fri to infiltrate a lost and dying world—NOT for that gathering place to become a business center to profit pastors!

Minimum wage, equal pay for women (i.e., justice, if the for the same quality work)... ALL these societal moral improvements were NOT headed by famous white pastors, but those evil, God-hating leftists, and their organizations, through big, bad governments' PSA initiatives, among other means! How evil!

WHO supports the rich keeping it all for themselves, OPPOSITE Levit. 19:15? WHO supports business profiting off laborers, and executives NEVER suffering when doing so harms the little guy Jesus ACTUALLY 'championed'?

WHO is happy when the economy's O.K., even though the debt skyrockets, yet claims fiscal responsibility is a value they respect? WHO is in bed with worldliness, for political power, with all these named sins, mainly for Roe's overturn? It is NOT most U.S. Christians who aren't white and "conservative!"

OWN UP TO YOUR SINS, white Christian conservatives. You have idolized a golden calf called 'political conservatism' for far too long! REPENT, now!

Was it the Christian Cabal who first alerted us to the opioid epidemic? Are they the ones leading efforts to end gang violence? How about drug lord prosecutions? Human trafficking reduction? The Mafia's influence lessened? The homeless having hope? I mainly hear crickets-like silence from WASP churches on all these public sins!

Public sins are merely mathematical statistics/accumulations of individual sins, and if you don't personally have any such problems, who are you to need to have any concern for the problems of others, except that your claimed Lord said that's one sure sign that you're actually following Him? My sarcasm is biting, right now, so I'm 'outa here!

'CHRISTIAN' POLITICAL ISSUES?

(3/10/17)

The religion, or lack thereof of any politician is NOT a consideration, as opposed to their moral values and policy positions!

Let's be 100 percent honest: There are PUBLIC statements people express, and private feelings we hide. Many Christians want a theocracy, and will vote for one, but NEVER say it.

CHRISTIANITY VS. POLITICAL CONSERVATISM

(Unpublished, 9/18/18)

We have CONSISTENTLY said that there's GOOD in all political perspectives and parties, so why a message against conservatism? ONLY because there are activists trying in every way to equate these two separate concepts! They want white Christians to vote GOP, no matter what, and NOT think independently for themselves. That belief, itself, means that politically moderate, independent and liberal positions are anti-God, if you have ANY logical reasoning capacity—though that explicit implication is NEVER stated, publicly, because it's too ludicrous to face the critical scrutiny of the light of day.

WHERE, exactly, does political conservatism run counter to Christ? Specifically, enshrining (through policies) an idolatry of money (through economic policy), an outright disdain for taxes and government (opposite Rom. 13), a support and even advocacy of selfishness, greed, hoarding, and the love of money, and running completely opposite Levit. 19:15, by teaching that unless and until the rich get blessed even more in life, by government tax and regulation policies, no one else will ever be benefitted much, all supported by catering to the rich for campaign donations of often corrupt, and on-the-take politicians.

These people even promote the concept that economics is an amoral discipline, meaning ethics have no place in how businesses get run. However, not only does Jesus disagree, anyone who knows the evils businesses sometimes engage KNOW that claim to be false!

NO OTHER GROUP so demeans any efforts to curb pollution, animal abuse, or slanders the LGBTQ community, and gets as entrenched in other's personal lives behind bedroom doors!

ANY government assistance of any struggling Americans is considered evil, and all such recipients are labeled mooching lazy ne'er do wells. Nanny state, and Socialism are their more popular phrasing of that belief.

DESPITE all Jesus' (and the Bible in general's) teachings on morality, anyone NOT in their cult camp are slandered (a sin) as sexual deviants, God-haters, lovers of death, money wasters, jealous of the rich from 'class envy' using 'class warfare.' These concepts do NOT come from any other political group, as readily as political conservatives! You have to own up to these facts!

So where SHOULD America place her priorities, NOT as a 'Christian nation,' but as a Christian should view her aspirations? IGNORING the FACT that MANY claiming Christians care little about the answer, if it confronts their political beliefs (due to sin/carnality), these are biblically undeniable values any Christ claimer should embrace, or they suffer from the political idolatry sin! (all the while knowing the kingdom will not be on earth, in full force, until after the 7-year Tribulation).

Being:

- ◆ Active in their civic duties and responsibilities (Ex.: voting, and paying their taxes, among other things)

Being For:

- ◆ Controlled/responsible debt (Pv. 22:7)
- ◆ Favoring peace over war (Mt. 5:9; Ecc. 3:8)
- ◆ Giving their employers an honest day's work (Col. 3:23-24)
- ◆ Healing ministries (Ac. 10:38)

- ◆ Inheritance laws (Pv. 13:22)
- ◆ Israel, but NOT for her sins (or favoring her over moral Arabs; Ps. 122:6)
- ◆ Justice (Mic. 6:8)
- ◆ Law and order (Rom. 13:1-7)
- ◆ Life (vs. death; I Jn. 3:12)
- ◆ National defense (Lk. 11:21)
- ◆ Property rights (Mt. 21:33)
- ◆ Punishment of wrong-doers (Rom. 13:1-7)
- ◆ Responsible stewardship of the environment (Ps. 8:6-8)
- ◆ Safety net (i.e., safety and security; II Cor. 8:14; Ac. 2:32, 44, and Old Testament Israel's safety net from their theocratic tax/tithe, by analogy)
- ◆ The 'down-and-out' (vs. oppositional to them; Mt. 25:31-46; Pv. 31:8-9)

Being Against:

- ◆ Adultery and divorce (with only two exceptions; Heb. 13:4; Mt. 19:9)
- ◆ Animal abuse (Pv. 12:10)
- ◆ Drunkenness and violence (Eph. 5:18; Ps. 11:5)
- ◆ Idolatry in all forms (I Cor. 10:14)
- ◆ Sexual immorality of all kinds (I Cor. 6:18)
- ◆ Selfishness, greed and hoarding (Phil. 2:3-4; Col. 3:5; Ecc. 5:13)
- ◆ Sin in society (and decrying it; Eph. 5:11; Pv. 14:34)
- ◆ Sinning in politics (vs. endorsing or encouraging it; Ex. 18:21)

In short, a "Christian" should actively be for righteousness reigning in our nation, and opposed to sin's ruling. However, what we more often find is political cherry picking of pet peeve issues that favor our political leanings! Repent, brethren!

CHRISTIANS & ABORTION (PART II)

(9/28/16)

"Christians" (I use the term ~loosely): Trump will NOT overturn gay marriage! Your spiritual leaders were asleep at the wheel. OWN IT, and learn/grow from it!

Trump also WON'T overturn Roe v Wade, and even if he could, red states would pay ALL the costs of their women getting one elsewhere!

Abortion was identified as a 'wedge issue' the GOP could use to turn out the church vote, just before the days of Reagan. Rile them up to unite them.

That's one reasons younger and Millennial Christians poll as less interested in only that one issue, but also poverty and the environment, etc.

I've heard Christians say they would politically oppose me over abortion. Single-issue voters are dangerous to America! We face MANY challenges; abortion is only one important one!

I OPPOSE abortion as contraception. It's a heinous sin. It is killing a baby-in-process for selfishness and poor planning—on that we AGREE.

If you want to argue civil disobedience for consciences sake, go physically stop an aborter today! You'll be arrested.

If you believe abortions are murdering a human, you might even think you have a right to shoot the mother or doctor. You DON'T, because you're wrong under the law!

The law does NOT give the same rights to the unborn, because they're not born yet. No citizen is certain yet; they may still be still-born, or miscarried. Grow up and LEARN something!

As to the morality of abortion, and the proffered three exceptions, every abortion is the ending of a human life! Aborting at will or for contraception is a heinous, abominable sin.

However, government does not always pass laws to stop sins in a democracy (or non-theocracy). Sometimes yes, sometimes no.

You're sinning badly and blatantly to abort for sport, and God will judge such; he also forgives if you sincerely ask for it.

What about the three exceptions? Legally vs. morally, government prohibiting women aborting over incest or rape is a matter of legal precedent, public consensus, and the (often denied) politics within the Supreme Court.

No doctor is ever going to say, 'I'll perform the procedure if you swear you were raped and not just frivolous in your sex life!' So the only issue is do we ban them or not?

The Supreme Court has ruled (nearly 40 years ago) that we don't ban them. Public consensus and "changed circumstances" could change Roe, but that takes activism by Christians and others convincing a majority to overturn it. We're FAR from that happening, though on state limitations on abortions there's been progress.

Morally, rape and incest abortions are still sin—still killing an innocent, but less culpable than at-will types, and I'd say less culpable the earlier on! Ideally, the morning after, so that precious innocent never knows or feels a thing. Yes, I do say life begins at inception.

Must a rape victim carry the memory of that abuse all their life or at least nine months? Everyone has a different answer/opinion, but government only has to decide if the abortion is allowed or disallowed.

You can parrot 'adopt,' but red states banning abortions if Roe were reversed would have to treat their pregnant gals equal to blue states', paying for nine months of bills, and the killing act itself. Red states may then decide we don't mind forcing our women to go through none ('inconvenient') months and being reminded of their rape or incest. Blue states certainly wouldn't.

And travel costs of red state women to blue states to get an abortion would be paid by red state taxpayers (i.e., "equal protection under the law").

Government has a duty to protect and keep its citizens safe. Coat hanger red state back alley abortions would be unsafe to the mother, so government could not allow them to occur.

What about the life of the mother? Is it government's role to decide? Let the family decide. The husband loses his partner for an innocent? Who is government to say yes or no in such cases?

So since NO doctor will ever decide to be an investigator on whether a pregnancy was by rape or incest, and the family best makes that decision in the case of the life of the mother, you either keep Roe in place, or let states decide how they handle abortion, in which case red states can't just ban them—they MUST care for such women nine+ months, with associated costs!

Those who DESPISE all abortions, and make it a single-issue vote would be less hypocritical if they spent their efforts convincing society to oppose abortions (especially at-will and for contraception types), and caring for pregnant women considering them to convince them out of it—NOT stacking the Supreme Court to force it!

ANYONE who EVER accuses this view of being "UN-Christian" lives in a dream world of non-reality, and their ignorance of the law and facts dishonors Jesus!

Update: Abortion Anecdotes
(9/5/18)

People do NOT want to become parents, just because they had sex! Christian extremists want the government to FORCE you to! At the same time, there is NO good reason why you wouldn't take Plan B if there was any possibility you could get pregnant! Abortions do NOT have to happen! NO ONE can say they're moral, but evil—necessary or not!

HAVE YOU NOTICED, pastors who will accept ANY sin, ANY stupidity, and break ALL moral laws to elect the dumbest and least moral president in a generation do NOT camp out in front of Planned Parenthood? #HYPOCRISY sin! Practice what you preach. Go STOP abortions, today, activist pastors!

There are up to three days before unsafe sex yields a child. DO SOMETHING in that time-frame, if you never intended to be a parent, when you had sex! I understand if one would consider being a mom, they might wait to see if it had a serious birth defect in the womb (which doesn't justify, but explains it). #SmartSex

WHO defends the right to life of the unborn? Just because they go to Heaven does NOT mean they should be killed without their interests being considered! Extreme liberals have ZERO such concerns, and refuse to watch videos showing what their "choice" does to a human being. WEAKness. Man/woman up and watch!

I am NOT for religious activists showing graphic pictures at public schools, but in areas where adults populate, no problem (if in good taste, if that's possible). Facts vs. incendiary pictures and videos are the goal. People DON'T need to be grossed out, but informed. They often don't want to know the details.

The older a fetus becomes, the more sinful is your choice to kill it (him/her), because the more pain it feels. Its' taking a life, all along, but adding more cruelty is even worse. Do you read these insights anywhere? Why? Read our three political books, as there is SO much more on nearly every issue America faces!

CHRISTIANS & CONSERVATIVE CONUNDRUMS

(10/10/18)

I thought about who my LEAST favorite political people are... Sarah Palin, Ann Coulter, Sean Hannity, Ted Cruz, and MANY talk radio hosts. WHY? What do they have in common? They're ALL CAUSTIC! That's because their belief system has ZERO compassion/humanity! That's dog-eat-dog among Creationists!

The far right LOVES the "bold colors" theory! It HAPPENS to come from the great Ronald Reagan, but they'll do anything to be opposite to anything their rival proposes, even common sense. They WANT fights, opposition and gridlock. They are my-way-or-the-highway. Christians CAN'T be for them 100 percent, and walk with God!

For a conservative, 'freedom means' anytime government does anything, or passes any law, or tax, you automatically become a SLAVE. The far right ONLY sees the 10th Amendment and 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' in the Constitution! They LITERALLY advocate values OPPOSITE the Bible, then claim Christianity. LIARS! That's the most devious trick of the Devil! READ Isa. 5:20, and Jas. 1:16a-b.

'Freedom,' in the bible, means the power to behave responsibly. Elton's Philadelphia Freedom was NOT the Eagles' right for white man's reign <https://bit.ly/2H36b0t> (i.e., do whatever you want, government NEVER do anything, or its treading on me, business can do no wrong, the rich are to be favored as heroes. That's WORLDLINESS (in the Bible)!

One conservative posted that taxes are 'theft.' He TRULY believed this lie. They care about their interpretation of the U.S. constitution more than the RIGHT interpretation of their CLAIMED Bible, and even aspiring to "a more perfect union" is anathema to them.

WHO CARES we're $22 trillion in debt? Taxes as low as humanly possible; let the rich NOT pay their fair share, give them all the perks of life, with ZERO social responsibility; paint government as evil, and Democrats as loving taxes (NOT that they see federal bills have to be paid), hate all regulations. That's conservatism!

In the sovereignty of God, there's probably a reason a con artist and conservative both start with con! Even though I have MANY conservative views, and was a GOP all my life, I DESPISE how Christianity gets dragged into their SIN-full bad beliefs! It happens because MOST WASPs are ignorant of their Bible!

GOD (not me) tells EVERY Christian (of ALL colors) to apply His word in ALL areas of their life! Conservatives DENY Pv. 30:6, Ac. 20:27 and Rev. 22:19 by CHERRY-PICKING abortion and homosexuality as the ONLY sins politics covers! That's because righteousness is NOT their aim, but political power! #SINners

READ II Cor. 8, Ac. 2, 4, and LEARN of the Jewish tax system in the Old Testament! Caring for the suffering (vs. lazy) poor was a corporate responsibility, voluntary in the New Testament, but abhorred by WASPs in our age. That's a CONTRADICTION of your faith, carnal ones!

Your political belief system comes from it MATCHING your carnality, before God! Worldliness is living for this life—things, money, temporary values—NOT ethics and eternal things. MOST WASPS never win one soul to Jesus, read their Bibles often, or get disciplined, much less know their spiritual gift and use it in ministry, or do anything to improve society (excepting votes, taxes paid and making a profit off something to make lifestyles better). THAT is why political conservatism fits so neatly in their comfort zone! I could NEVER be a Tea Partier, because I'm a Christian! They are total opposites, in many respects! I'd be an independent before considering the far right (if RINOs go extinct)!

It's when you compartmentalize your life, or single issue your politics (Ex.: ban all abortions) that you open yourself to Satan for all the sin that comes with being a strange bed fellow (and it's NOT that strange a partnership with carnal Christians)! REPENT.

Freedom, liberty, rights. These three words are ALL the far right extolls. READ your Bibles, moral losers! TELL ME the Apostle Paul would be in your camp! (I Cor. 9:5-18); cons USED to speak of 'personal responsibility' and rugged individualism. NOW they mean NEVER ask them to do anything for others!

DOES Gal. 5:2, 5 teach that, for Christians? NO! It teaches BALANCE: Care for your family and others! Cons may romanticize about Amish barn raisings, but DON'T make them get involved. They tout charity (vs. forced taxes), but LOOK AT THEIR TAX RETURNS! The rhetoric doesn't match reality! ALL (or mainly) talk (Pv. 14:23)

I'm white, rich, WASP and maybe a business owner, says the con, in aspiration or achievement. Now, let me enjoy THIS life, and leave me alone! How I live is none of your business. READ Jas. 4:13-5:7 ASPIRERS and achievers are rebuked, for they were NOT seeking Gods will first (Mt. 6:33)!

Lk. 12:48 teaches that those with the most have the MOST responsibility! Yet cons want the LEAST taxes, and still want to drag Jesus' name into their mix of sinful ideology! ANATHEMA! Jesus NOWHERE said helping others as a society or individuals are mutually exclusive, and one's holy, and the other sinful, conning conservatives!

Do you LIKE panhandlers asking for cash at street corners? Do you LIKE being barraged with TV ads with puppy dog eyes, and sharks and panthers endangered, and all the hundreds of other charities seeking your every last dollar? I don't! But that's what conservatism WANTS, in order to solve all problems, so they can AVOID their God-given responsibility to society, with some of their excess!

Giving Pledge rich people are 100 percent moral OPPOSITES, because they use their riches to improve life and help others, the way your CLAIMED "Jesus" would! You do know there are false Jesus' banded about, don't you? (II Cor. 11:4; Gal. 1:8) It's yours!

The Jesus of political cons says the OPPOSITE of the Statue of liberty, and OPPOSITE of Mt 25:35-40. DO YOU KNOW EXACTLY WHY WASP Christians are primarily political conservatives? IF you observe their behavior, it is NOT because they DO much to stop abortions, but vote. It's because their worldly carnality FITS best there! Greed is good, idolize money, selfishness is manipulated into caring for one's family, etc.!

Black Christians are their political enemies—DIVISION in the family of God! WHY? Because WASPs claim the unborn alone matter, though once you're born, to Hell with any concern for your well-being! With Chump's tax cuts, I'll surely get a BIGger refund check next year. Will anyone complain? NO, because everyone needs more money, excepting elitists. Does that mean I'm being taxed enough? Conservatives ALWAYS use the line, 'send in your contribution!'

My former BFF died, but he and I broke fellowship over my belief that government has a role in improving society and people's lives! That's a BIBLICAL belief! He HATED such "wealth redistribution" ideas, to any extent. Please ask yourself... anyone who fights all wealth redistribution and any and all tax increases, even if taxes are too low or our debt is $22 trillion... DO THEY SHOW ANY PROPENSITY TO GIVE "FREELY" TO CHARITIES? It's a JOKE of a claim, and a sham to believe their "rhetoric" on such matters!

I've been watching Hitler films on the History channel, and he had a ministry of propaganda. That means professional video and ad campaigns to promote LIES! That's what cons do today, in glowing terms!

Freedom, liberty, pursuit of happiness. Their life, liberty and pursuit is biblical worldliness, OPPOSITE of Mt. 6:33, Col. 3:1-4 and many other verses of their CLAIMED Bibles! They do NOT know their Bibles! They ONLY know, for the most part, what preachers preach!

ASK any WASP, today, to recite ten Bible verses from memory. Your request will DUMBFOUND THEM! They'll likely say its "legalism," or academic to ask for such, to cover their rears! IF YOU love God, and spend time with Him, you know His thoughts and concerns, and that does NOT come by ignoring those exact two things (i.e., God's thoughts and concerns), which are in Scripture!

FoxNews USED to have a slogan, 'it's all your money!' B.S.! It's all God's assets, you're a mere steward, and a certain amount is rightly governments! God said it; go argue with Him, conservative. Better, get to know Him first! (Jn. 3:16; I Tim. 2:4) IF you're saved, you haven't come to knowing His truth! (Jn. 8:32)

You SUBSTITUTE the Constitution for your Bible, and political rhetoric for its contents, and daily meeting with God for weekend sermons, once a week! That's OPPOSITE I Jn. 2:27, making a pastor your chaperone (OPPOSITE Eph. 2:18), worshipping gurus (OPPOSITE I Cor. 1-4), and relying on another human for what God will hold you PERSONALLY responsible for. (Rom. 14:12)

If any want to label me a 'Bible beater,' unless you provide chapter and verse for political positions you claim are in line with Jesus, you have NO credibility, or authority to speak! Just sayin' (accurately). Jesus is NOT a political conservative! He is of NO party!

One more thing... FoxNews and talk radio have embraced Bob Jeffress' FALSE view on how Christianity interacts with politics, because of the 81 percent WASP vote for Chump! Like Billy Graham WARNED, it is NOT from their sincere embrace, and it's to spurn the mainstream media for NOT doing so!

This ilk of WASP wants to "Christianize" America, by laws they get Chump to promote! That's NOT how God commanded them to change society, and NOT how a democracy works! That fact doesn't matter to them, because "it works" (the old functionality ethic, just like stacking SCOTUS—it doesn't matter that it's contrary to God's justice, or America's concepts of judges' roles)! It's ALL about winning power, not doing the right thing, for this ilk of claimers of Christ!

In short, political conservatism is anathema to Christianity, except for a FEW issues. Political hacks who DISbelieve Billy Graham, and especially the Bible, have allowed themselves to buy into a sin-to-win strategy! Apostasy!

And, you will CLEARLY notice, I have NEVER said that godly Christians must vote Democrat, either! Politicized pastors ALWAYS insinuate WASPs MUST vote GOP, but they know about the Johnson Amendment, so they do it in NOT SO SUBTLE ways, because they're cowards, vs. having the courage of their convictions!

P.S.: Have you EVER seen "Constitutionalist" on TV cop shows? They USUALLY act like cops have ZERO authority to pull them over for anything. FALSE ideas of what our Constitution teaches exist in America, and the sin of ignorance is NOT a "freedom" anyone should embrace among our citizenry! You aren't that free!

Political conservatism FAVORS the wealthy, CONTRARY to Levit. 19:15. NO Christian can embrace it 100 percent, yet conservative activist preachers readily endorse it, hook, line and sinker, from lack of wisdom or discernment, ALWAYS disparaging Democrats and moderates, dragging Jesus down with their idolatry! (9/13/18)

A faithful Christian can't be a political conservative! They can share many of its positions, but the bad things that come with being one can only please a carnal Christian. This is NOT arrogance, or said for shock value, but to counter the lies Christians are often taught by (some) pastors. (10/9/18)

“CHRISTIANS” & (POLITICAL) CONSERVATISM

(3/15/18)

A MORON (claiming) "Christian" Texas politician, on Twitter, insulted Stephen Hawking, an atheist, now knowing Who created the universe, upon his death. Atheists are the Devils victims—NOT our enemies, do-do! DO NOT BELIEVE everyone who claims to be a Christian IS one, or who at least has ANY idea what one is to live like! OFTEN, they're complete morons. Here are some examples:

A local talk radio fill-in let someone on the radio to claim Bible prophecy teaches that Russia and China will unite as an axes of evil. COMPLETE IDIOTS claiming to represent Christianity! ALL nations will unite under one-world government, during the Tribulation, but God and the kings of the East don't unite, do-do.

A local talk radio host told his audience they can decide if Joy Behar's apology for calling God speaking to Christians a mental illness sincere, with the innuendo he likely doubted it. Christians in America are being manipulated by alt-right politics, taking advantage of the FACT that many of them are completely CLUELESS about their Bible!

If ANY human claims to be a "Christian," and claims to represent the beliefs of Christendom, if they can't cite chapter and verse, rightly interpreted (they usually can't), LAUGH! It's all you can do! Freedom to play the fool is legal in America! I'm SO ashamed of these claiming brethren. They VIOLATE Lk. 10:27!

FoxNews and Christian (and even secular) talk radio are TRYING to appease the WASP vote, as if we're all one little clan who believes what they spout. OFTEN, their beliefs have NOTHING to do with the Bible, and hence, NOTHING to do with God, or Christianity. IMPOSTERS, hijacking the real thing religion! Fake fools.

One of those moronic talk hosts said conservatives are mild-mannered, and they work, unlike liberals, who can protest, and walk out of school to implement gun control politician's agendas. ALWAYS the alt right are holy, and liberals are evil, lazy, and wanting a handout as they sleep on their couch. Sins of #TalkRadio

I even watched a TV murder documentary (Fear Thy Neighbor), where an interviewee said of his neighbor, 'he was a good man and neighbor, law-abiding, and never asked for any handouts.' Political conservatives TRULY believe ALL Welfarers are lazy, raking in the dough, and ne'er do wells! #Deceived

And I read a magazine article about my sister's (mega) church, where, when head pastor sought to address racial divisions, WHITES (their majority) got upset that he would indicate they didn't know how others experienced life. They saw it as blaming them. The IDIOCY in Christ's church is an intolerable SIN—sin from within!

NPR had article about NOT referring to poor areas of town—predominantly NOT white—as 'hoods' or 'ghettos,' but some other term. I simply challenge EVERY white person in America to go stay a day in a hood or barrio! Unless and until you do, you live off stereotypes, and NOT facts; you delude and deceive yourself!

White privilege is NOT identified by a majority of whites, due to living it (i.e., subjectivism: the inability to have perspective, or be objective outside your own experience). Hillary Clinton said white women submissive to their husbands or bosses vote GOP to support those men's financial aspirations. There are racial problems in America we are NOT fixing!

And talk radio OFTEN addresses blacks and extremist representative spokespersons of theirs. Then they claim to be 'color blind.' This racial tension problem will NEVER be fixed if either side hasn't the facts, or can't see any problems!

KKK, skin heads and white supremacists... WHO do you think the super majority of them will vote for in 2020? There's a REASON Chump will clean up with these numbskulls. His personality, "values" and policies SUBTLY attract them. A black gal I spoke with called it 'dog whistling.'" She had to explain that term to me, as I had never heard of it before. Google it!

Let's be PURELY theoretical... If a human has something awesome, naturally they do NOT want to give it up to any degree. Whites have the most assets, as a race in America, on average, and the best jobs, historically. Conservative ones view any other race wanting justice as an attack on their stash, like was the case in Apartheid South Africa.

And they view calls for 'justice' as being 'wealth redistribution.' They could care less if minorities are ever paid less than same-qualified whites. And they blame any such cases on laziness, or lacking education—NOT that birds of a feather often hire their own kind. It's true, even if they deny it!

When what you MAINLY live and work around is your own race, or gender, or income level, you view life by that criteria, and can delude yourself that that's the way the world is, or the way you like things, and believe that you have no need to help change any other areas, as you don't live there.

#WhitePrivilege is selfishness.

And for any "Christian" to support idolatry of money and/or things, or selfishness, SHOWS they are NOT disciples (key traits being selflessness, and denying yourself), so their invoking 'God' in their politics goes beyond their hypocrisy sin—it is an apostasy and abandonment of the faith... all in Jesus' claimed name! #SIN

And with a sheriff STEALING jail inmates food money ($750,000, spent mainly on a beach house), and a drug company CEO scamming people out of millions, Americans REALLY can't understand you can have enough to live on to be content, if you are able to live off conservative interest on your nest egg. We have a money idolatry problem in this nation! #Selfishness

A radio talk jock bemoaned Robin hood funding schemes for public schools, EVEN THOUGH he believed rich areas of town get the best amenities, teachers, equipment and buildings. Justice is NOT desired by political conservatism. It's NOT their concern, as they're benefitting from IN-justice! #Selfishness!

And the ONE issue political conservatives believe covers all their MANY other political sins is being for banning all abortions. Just sign on the bottom line that you're for that, and greed, selfishness, idolatry and hoarding sins are overlooked, all in the claimed name of Jesus. #Heresy and #Hypocrisy SINS!

And we ALL know how their political pied piper champion, Robert Jeffress, claims American Christians are being persecuted. That's a FALSE martyr complex, his media/public anger and whining complaints are OPPOSITE the joy God instructs real believers to have if they ever experience real persecution, like they really did in the Bible book of Acts! (Mt. 5:10-12)

CHRISTIANS & POLITICS

(5/22/15)

An embarrassing GOP-core turncoat Robert Gates said the Boy Scouts must deal with the world “as it is.” He has a WARPED view of the world! The MAJORITY in America claim a Christian belief.

3/4 of America is a SUPER majority! That’s NOT even speaking of moral or religious Americans NOT claiming Christianity!

Moral and religious citizens, it’s TIME for you to stand up and speak up for morality! Religious leaders have taken their public stand recently. Where are you, laymen?

You have feet, you have a mouth and God gave you BOTH to use! Speak, walk, sit in, march, call Congress, run for office; in short, DO SOMETHING, laymen!

The SLEEPING GIANT is the MORAL American MAJORITY! A handful of LOUD activists make dodos like Gates say they are America’s reality. They are NOT!

This does NOT just pertain to gay marriage. God wants morals in our nation. Laws are based on society’s sense of morals and you know them, unlike some. SPEAK!

If JUST the church-goers of America would do ONE thing each, society would realize the IMMORAL MINORITY does NOT rule our nation! ‘One nation under God.’

My home church DID something and voted in at least one city council person to stand for morality. You can too! Anti-Christian values are being advocated and pushed everywhere.

Those devoid of OUR moral values are fighting avidly at the city, state, national levels, and at school, Boy Scouts, in the media and every other venue, and SO SHOULD WE! Are you MUTE?

Whenever a politician advocates a MORAL policy, support that policy. Neither political party has a monopoly on morality, but DEMAND moral policies. It’s time to wake UP!

You are NOT doing your civic duty by JUST voting and keeping your nose to the grindstone for money! Get a little involved. Your nation and its traditions are slipping away.

All that’s needed for evil to prevail is for good people to do NOTHING. Are you doing anything? Again, voting is NOT enough anymore with AVID, active opponents!

Excess debt, law-breaking immigration, waste in government, rewarding sloth in entitlements, traitorous over-outsourcing ALL are MORAL issues!

Robert Gates is factually INACCURATE about America, and if every moral person in Boy Scouts would join Trail Life U.S.A. instead, Boy Scouts would change direction!

I’ve never been in Boy Scouts, nor my sons (I don’t hardly camp or hunt), but consumers must unite and start using their numbers power to bring CHANGE!

Whether over-paid CEO’s (bad), or Walmart increasing wages (good), you need to buy or withhold buying from businesses doing good or evil! Money talks in America! You have POWER.

You can even get better prices if you united. An app is needed to coordinate purchases to leverage public buying power! WHY only make elites rich? Unite!

No unions needed, necessarily. Just stop the over-individuality which makes businesses and executives more rich off you than is needed. Save that money for yourself!

Now when businesses outsource American jobs, refuse to pay above minimum wage, overpay executives, manipulate stock prices, STOP PATRONIZING (i.e., buying from) THEM!

When businesses do GOOD, shop (i.e., spend money) there! They WILL do what the public demands/wants, and the MAJORITY of American consumers are moral people!

Boy Scouts could face bankruptcy or oust Robert Gates immediately if ONLY the Christians in that organization QUIT for an alternative organization!

You can NOT remain quiet or passive! People are actively fighting against your values, and you must fight fire with fire and NOT just go to your church/synagogue/mosque!

Unite! Our businesses and politicians WILL take notice if ONLY the majority of moral Americans insist on moral business and political policies. Just do THAT!

Because IF you don't, you ARE the problem, and NOT part of the solution. There is no reason to become a crazy activist, but you MUST do something to counter-balance bad activism!

You can NO LONGER be a pew-sitter and think God is pleased that you're advancing His kingdom and doing His will, when there is work to be done. Wake UP, America!

CHRISTIANS & TAXES

(2/28/17)

I heard a Christian political conservative say the rich are WISE to keep as much of their money away from government as stewards vs. given to D.C. money-wasters...

That SOUNDS spiritual, but if that money stays in house (vs. helping others by significant charity giving instead of tax waste), it's only a RUSE of holiness!

Government NEEDS to be streamlined, and never waste a dime, but NEVER call selfish hoarding noble righteousness if you're keeping it all for god of Self! (Gal. 6:7a-b)

Also, all Democrats are NOT non-Christian- and God-haters, nor are all GOP's Jesus lovers! Trump supporters PROVED that to you Rev. James Robison.

And to all, STOP cherry picking what virtues and vices politics is to address, especially based on BIASES toward YOUR party! Use the WHOLE council of God!!!

CHRISTIANS & THE GOP
(Defining Secular & Spiritual)
(3/12/17)

The underlying morals can transcend religious difference: Justice (vs. unfairness), non-violence (vs. crime), peace (vs. war), discipline (vs. wasted taxes), honesty (vs. lying politicians)—BEYOND any one religion.

Even the NON-religious adhere to those principles. So when you APPLY your religious beliefs to business or politics, you must convince as many as possible; NOT impose your religious morals on them without any reasoning they hold valuable.

Why do white Christians usually ALWAYS favor the GOP? Abortion and gay marriage opposition? These are NOT the ONLY moral issues politics addresses! NO political party is ideal!

CHRISTIANS & WORLDLINESS

(2/5/17)

I've learned recently, from conversations, that MANY Americans DON'T care what a person's morals are, so long as they accomplish legitimate things. SAD!

That leads me to this argument... A NATION CANNOT AND WILL NOT FOREVER STAND if it is NOT built on a solid foundation of morality. Re-read that!

READ the Old Testament, from Sodom to the Noachic flood, and many massacres later, if mankind hasn't yet learned morals are the foundation to any society—we're DOOMed.

It is NOT how smart, rich, handsome, successful at their craft a person is which we should admire more than their CHARACTER!

Hugh Hefner gave to charity, to assuage any negative PR from some quarters about the nature of his business. Does that mean he's a moral man in his day-to-day operations (though retired now)?

Chump got VERY rich. Does that make him a good man, or role model? How did he achieve it? Ruthlessly, like his rude campaign was? He is NO role model!

There's a STARK difference between how we revere MLK, Lincoln, Mother Teresa and Gandhi VS. Trump. You DON'T 'feel icky' about the first four's success!

Twitter search #Morals Matter. God does NOT long bless a nation where that truth is, at best, treated as a sentimental slogan. Rome fell—we will too.

When idols abound (NOT statues and images of emperors, but over-valuing money, fame, looks, fashion, assets/materialism and self more than God, as a priority), a nation LOSES.

This is ALL to be expected, because it ALL fits RIGHT into prophecy. Sin will increase—but DON'T celebrate it as the American way. Use Ps. 33:12 as U.S.'s goal!

IF revival doesn't arrive (I predict it WON'T), KNOW what you're getting into! READ Rev. 6-20. Have eyes wide open to our future; no ostrich heads in the sand.

As in any business, it ALL starts with the head(s)! CEO's, executives, politicians, pastors, school administrators, authority figures must be people of integrity to actually lead!

Whatever it is, and everything that it is which corrupts D.C. politicians into anything less MUST be eliminated, for morally-corrupt "leaders" lead U.S. to hell in a hand basket.

You would no more follow a blind man up a dangerous mountain path on a cliff. Why would you follow an immoral politician anywhere? You get the SAME results! Reject that option.

People argue that immoral people can make moral policy decisions. AGAINST THEIR INCLINATIONS! WHO wants to follow a poser? Vote for integrity and policy.

Ben Carson had integrity, but lacked personality, or much policy. We DON'T want the Pope as our president, or a wallflower.

But with stress, people's true colors come out. You can fake goodness only so long. We ALL watched Chump's campaign! REMEMBER! <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

That was his true heart! Even the surrogate who called it an act was rebuffed by him for not stating the truth. He never apologized because he's Unashamed.

Advisers, handlers, and pressure from his inner circle and the emaciated blonde can keep him in check, for awhile, but we all know the real Donald!

Don't be fooled. <http://bit.ly/2IbSMYF> GOOD fruit does NOT come from a bad tree. (Mt. 7:18; Lk. 6:45) His true colors shown for 1.5 years!

THAT is exactly why I will NEVER accept a D.T. presidency. I saw, I witnessed, I heard, I observed his 1.5 year campaign. NO apology—TRUE colors.

P.S.: Word to the wise—When you claim to be honest, don't be a serial liar or flip-flopper, and make sure being yourself is something the majority would want!

And the fact that enough people voted for evil shows you EXACTLY where America's headed! It does NOT look good, if you know prophecy! See @ProphecyForYou

No one even mentions the HYPOCRISY of the party of values voters and the religious right voting for the most evil person running in 2016! WHY? Rightly ashamed!

No one even mentions the HYPOCRISY of the party of thinking more than emotions voting for the DUMBEST candidate until the last three months! See our Facebook for examples galore!

No one even mentions the HYPOCRISY of the party that complained Obama used executive fiats now doing LITTLE but watching Trump do SO many more!

It ALL boils down to MORALITY—LACK thereof. Perhaps this Sunday you NEED a sermon on the fact that hypocrisy is a sin. Here it is: READ I Pet. 2:1.

And NEVER goody-goody, legalistic, holier-than-thou, finger pointing fake morality, but genuine, natural, true goodness only God gives. (Ecc. 7:16)

MUCH of what Chump has done is SYMBOLISM, NOT substance (Ex.: Carrier bailout, edicts with NO legislation, etc.). Edicts aren't relationship-building!

CHUMP & CRUZ: CONSERVATIVE COLLUSION

(12/6/17)

With Chumps, as NBC called it, "desperate" attempts to shore up his base, including rallying for Ted Cruz, exactly what our political conservatives seeking to preserve? Selfishness, greed, hoarding, white privilege, religious autocracy and the smallest government humanly possible, all in the 'name' of Constitutionality. Let me explain (and prove) that claim.

Selfishness is keeping everything you have for you and your family, alone. Conservatives HATE helping ANYONE, by force, yet force is often the only way selfish people give up anything of their life, including money! Same with hoarding. Then, political conservatism favors and even idolizes business profits, even at the expense of workers, employees, and even society at large.

WHO benefits most from that? Ownership! Have you ever heard of a poor owner? ONLY as a last resort, by failed businesses, after every other employee gets fired. In short, our Capitalist society is geared toward business owners being the rich in life—even mere investor types, with no hands-on ownership actions! That means everyone else gets hired at the whims of needy owners... If they don't need you, they can still profit off robots (for example).

How about religious autocrats? Do you know anyone else demanding at the cost of their reputations, and all values they ever used to stand for, banning every single abortion, no matter how hard they have to scrape the bottom of the barrel to find an advocate, like Chump?

I argued on Facebook that these types WOULD HAVE voted for Hitler, but that claim gets lost on people who can't think so well, so let me explain further: Hitler did NOT let his severe evil nature be revealed until AFTER he got into power! He deceived the average German. He lied, hid his true self, and was politically wise (in an evil way) enough to NOT let people know who he was until it was too late.

The religious alt-right SAYS they would NEVER have voted for Hitler, and deny to the death that they would have, but the public has watched/observed (the past two years) them defending and excusing and justifying and backing EVERY continual evil of Chump, so they are LIARS, whose IQ's can't see that their river in Egypt denials are only based on Hitler's behavior, once IN office! Yes, it is TRUE, they WOULD have voted for Hitler, as well, if he had promised them to overturn Roe.

Now as to white privilege, WHICH race in U.S. history had the most initial advantages (as well as hard work) at America's inception? We white people. America has been predominantly white, until our present decade (now, NOT so much, due to immigration). When it came to settling this rugged land from the beginning, who was it who most benefitted from immorally, though legally immigrated labor in the form of forced slavery? It certainly wasn't the black, or for that matter, any other race more than we white folk!

And IF you were a betting man or woman, WHO would you predict would benefit most, NOW, as a direct historic link to that past? The people who were here first (as to development; not as to existing in more non-modern ways; i.e., the native American).

It would be those closest tied to the original owners and rich of that original generation, given America laws on inheritance, private property, and the seeming human tendency to bless one's own before anyone else, in the form of hiring those most like yourself.

So when CHUMP, now, after two to three years, has FINALLY found a political viewpoint to embrace (after ONLY being for one main position and slogan: A 50' wall, and make it great slogan, most of his empty campaign), when you see him hypocritically uniting with a caustic man, whose wife and dad he rudely, sinfully insulted, it's all in the name of the preservation of political conservatism!

So, voters of all stripes... DO NOT BE DECEIVED by more moral-sounding platitudes that will surely arise, to disguise this hypocritical compromise of morals as anything more than seeking to preserve rich white male rule, and to any poor, especially any on Welfare, they don't give one damn about you!

And that brings up the second half of this lesson... conservative economics. These same schmucks WILL say they're for the BEST U.S. economy, and that that will best help the poor, including poor minorities, and it's gained by the lowest taxes possible. IS THAT TRUE? NO, in many cases.

It might have been true in the days where most, if not all American businesses were run morally; where executives and owners actually cared about the U.S. worker, and even society at large, to some extent. But WHO IS IT who fights ANY talk of climate change, the environment, ANY government projects that private business can't make a profit from? It certainly is not liberals, or even moderates!

And ever since 1985, when globalization hit, loyalty to and care for workers have given way to maximizing profits at any and all costs (all-or-nothing extremism, sort of like no abortions at any and all costs), from that same political faction!

I know, because I was a Fortune 500 Management Consultant, at the time. We would get most profited devising schemes to cut costs or boost profits (invariably, only the former). Employees were called "FTE's (full-time equivalents), to de-humanize the impact of what our suggestions caused, in ruining people's lives and livelihoods. Everything was metrics and numbers—NOT people.

The political conservative parrots, like a drunk sailor, 'business is in business for profits,' AS IF the Bible itself stated that, as one of the 10 commandments! Same with M.B.A. schools (I know, I have one, also). With that premise, NOWHERE FOUND IN OUR CONSTITUTION, anything goes for profits, and I mean anything! The ONLY limit is the law, and that, only if enforced ('compliance' is the term business people use), unless you can get away with it.

What do I mean? Political conservatives with business interests WELCOMED into America the cheapest labor humanly possible, for the same or similar quality, and where that couldn't be had, they shipped away high-paying 'rust belt' jobs to China, and techie jobs to India, in droves.

Some large corporations opened 'multi-nationals,' or uprooted their company headquarters to countries with cheaper taxes. Cars began to be a conglomerate of parts built almost anywhere. 'Made in America' was no longer a label you'd see on many products, but, instead, 'made in China.'

Automation, streamlining, outsourcing (hiring a job function out to a cheaper third party), robotics, mergers and acquisitions (where two companies became one, overnight, so employees and facilities could be consolidated, for cost savings).

We even devised 'hoteling' (one desk, usable by many employees, when in town), and work-from-home ('telecommuting'), to save operations and facilities expenses. Contract labor arose, so businesses wouldn't have to pay insurance, or full-time salaries. Businesses now days even fight laws requiring them to pay overtime (and businesses work salaried employees more than 40 hours, because that means more bang to the company for their set number of bucks; and laborer loses!).

Political conservatives LOVE the ideas that make U.S. businesses more profitable, at all costs, like fighting paid family leave, even schmucks like Cruz fighting government setting a minimum wage, and Gingrich arguing for ending child labor laws in America (so kids can't be kids, but paid peanuts, as near slaves). EVERYTHING 'public' is demeaned, especially schools where those kids would get an education (if Gingrich didn't have them slaving away), to keep on equal footing with Chinese sweat shops.

Bonuses for all these 'improvements' mainly went to CEO's and executives, and CEO salaries went through the roof, compared to the average worker (i.e., long-term stagnant wages)—because they could! 'What the market can bear' came to mean whatever you can get away with, with your cronies on Boards of Directors being paid handsomely to pay you handsomely.

Then, you hire the ILK like tRump, to return tax money America doesn't possess (being $22 trillion in debt), to mainly bless the rich, who already DON'T have to work, and make money by doing no labor but investing, where their money grows simply by possessing it (unless invested stupidly), and the favoring of the rich continues (CONTRARY to God, Levit. 19:15).

Exactly HOW does such a belief system help the poor, who political conservatives DESPISE helping, if they're on Welfare? Businesses are willing to hire more people if their businesses are growing, but NOT to pay a livable wage, or even a decent one; again, always the least cost possible.

So IF Chump ever got his 50' wall (the ONLY solid and consistent policy idea that ever bounced into his thick head, for two+ years), and NO immigrants ever came here again, especially BIG business would still be looking for cheaper labor than what would be required to pay everyone here, already, who wanted a job! They'd simply ship out more jobs! And since that pads business' bottom line, NO consistent political conservative would oppose that.

Bottom line, political conservatism has MANY problems that endear it to America like a wolf at a sheep's convention, yet the wolf in sheep's clothing, Robert Jeffress, praises political conservatism like it's the best thing since sliced bread, and even has the audacity to clothe the wolf in the disguising sheepskin of naming Jesus as being behind it all... He who said to care for the down-and-out, and whose own Book says do NOT favor the rich. Heretic!

So THIS is why Cruz and Chump will share a love-fest, this Fall... NOTHING else, except for Chump's desire to shore up any remnants of his base, who still haven't developed a conscience, even as he has all but perfectly made the lay-down hand case for a conscience being the main thing he lacks, and the main thing needed in his administration!

One update: A CONSISTENT, loyal, committed, non-compromising political conservative would have NO problem with an elite group of rich business owners, and everyone else be unemployed, if those rich peiople gained their stashes legally! Just think about those "values," from a moral and practical perspective, today!!!

CHUMP'S ISRAELI IDIOCIES

(12/6/17)

I PRAY Trump calling Jerusalem Israel's capital starts the Tribulation, over time! (II Pet. 3:12) He'd be the PERFECT guy to end the violence with a 7-year peace deal, and it would be JUST like him/his ego to start the trouble, then claim to be its "savior"/solution. FAKE Christian with an ego bigger than Manhattan!

WHERE are the great negotiator skills Chump so often bragged about, ANYwhere? North Korea, Israel, D.C. NON-existent in the real world, because they never existed in his skill set—just badger and bully weak business competitors, apparently; GOD WILL JUDGE MR. TRUMP, swiftly.' I'm just typing what I hear. Praise You Lord!

I PRAY tomorrow is one of the BIGgest days in the history of mankind, for triggering resulting prophecy events! When Christians look back on life on earth, 12/6/17 may be a high point—low for others; this DOESN'T mean I believe the Rapture occurs tomorrow, but eventual opposition to Israel that necessitates the Antichrist's revealing.

Maybe if the FAKE "baby" Christian actually understood his feigned religious involvement, he'd understand the severely stupidly seriousness of what he's embarking on. Good luck in Hell, Mr. Chump—if you are unsaved!

The FOOLish Christian Cabal have been chasing fame and fortune SO many decades, they can't even see that they lived 'The Apostasy,' and prompted the need for Dan. 9:27, all in the belief that they were serving Christ. Complete Bible illiteracy! NO discernment!

This is VERY serious... If Arab nations, or Islam extremists revolt against 'Trump's Jerusalem,' prophecy is ON, if it gets intense! The belief that Jerusalem is Israel's historic and future headquarters is a spiritual/religious belief, but doesn't occur in prophecy until the Millennium, in fullness.

[Interjection: Can I believe the accountability waiting for the Christian Cabal? Seriously—NOT! I would NOT want to be them. In their emotional glee at power idolatry, they aided Satan for prophecy. WHAT a weight of guilt they will feel their first days in Heaven, IF they're going! WOW. #NotLeadership Foolishness!

There are righteous ways to hasten the coming of Christ (by FULL evangelism, as I've clamored for), then there are ways to hasten Satan's Antichrist agenda. I know which side of this divide my actions have been on. The Christian Cabal only used my clamorings for UN-commanded political power. (II Pet. 3:12)]

I am CERTAIN those "advising" Chump wanted an act to "prove" he is NOT trying to be the Antichrist, so he was advised to do a NON-peaceful act, as today. However, anyone with any wisdom knows that status quo Israel WON'T cause a peace deal's need without further violence which today will (eventually) inspire! WOW!!!

I ALREADY posted that the Christian Cabal enacted 'The Apostasy' of prophecy, abandoning all morals and common sense to back Trump. Now they've encouraged a decision that will spur the violence—one day—that requires a 7-year peace deal. ALL who watch here now I don't lie, and DO keep past tweets.

I'm not certain today's announcement will immediately cause the violence requiring Dan. 9:27, but give Chump time; he already retweeted anti-Islam videos. We still have three years for his little feet to fit in his BIG mouth, prophetically! Give him enough rope to hang himself, with DUMB Christian advisors!

.@netanyahu Because I SERIOUSLY love you through Jesus, I am warning you NOT to be gleeful about today's announcement. It begins the DOOM of your nation for seven years, after events unfold. Please keep your people safe, and learn Old Testament prophecy passages better! (Ex.: Eze., Dan.). This is NO joke for the Jews!

With today's move, the Christian Cabal has lost ALL moral credibility, or reputation for any Bible understanding! They already proved to the world that they have NO standards, or discernment, "championing" Chump! Still, apostate WASP's will praise them as doing God's work. Hilarious ignorance.

CONGRATS, Christian Cabal! You showed your TRUE spiritual colors today, as on Nov 8, 2016! The world watched. ONLY your duped followers still believe in your "intelligence!" I 100 percent commend ALL U.S. pastors who did NOT buy into that morally-corrupt political effort. There's STILL time to evangelize!

Maybe if the Christian cabal had LEARNED prophecy, instead of FOLLOWING my lead (in writing two books on it), with a sermon series, they'd truly understand it, beyond the obvious six events: Rapture, Tribulation, 666, second coming, millennium, eternal state, et al. Study more, opine and political activist LESS!

[Private account:] Pope Francis on Trump's Jerusalem declaration as the Capital: "I make a heartfelt appeal so that all commit themselves to respecting the status quo of the city, in conformity with the pertinent resolutions of the U.N. I can't keep quiet about my deep concern about the situation."

AMEN, @Pontifex You are wiser than Franklin Graham, Jack Graham, Robert Jeffress, James Dobson and James Robison, and all the WASP's who think they speak for God! Please give counsel to @netanyahu, as this is a dangerous move for His people, Gods chosen people, as you likely DO know.

'Trump's Jerusalem' is ONLY a pandering to WASP votes for 2020! 87 percent of them have so LITTLE knowledge of the Bible, they voted for Hitler #2, and thought they were honoring God! They'll do it AGAIN, because their pastors just want that tithe from dumbed-down sheep who stay ignorant! #TRUTH

[Private account:] Franklin Graham and Jerry Falwell, Jr. are false prophets. They are NOT messengers of Jesus Christ, not the Jesus I know in the Gospels and New Testament....

[Private account:] Lecrae backed out of liberty's WinterFest because of Jerry Falwell's support of Trump hahahahaha

GLAD to see I'm not the only one who sees it, in America!

I like that Christian rapper even more, now!

[Private account:] I'm an #Evangelical theologian from #Mississippi and I OPPOSE #RoyMoore. Jerry Falwell, Tony Perkins, James Dobson and Franklin Graham do not speak for all Evangelicals.

AMEN, sister! Where have the real Christians been, lo these past 1.5 years, in the public arena? SAD! READ Daniel 11:45, folks! 'Trump's Jerusalem.'

1 pm is the time when the Antichrist WILL [likely, or in some form] be revealed! VERY bold statement, but I don't take it back! (II Th. 2:3) [The Antichrist spirit entered the historic scene that day, in my opinion]

June 23, 2016 is THE day when The Apostasy (PUBLICLY) began. (II Th. 2:3) <http://bit.ly/2B08VME> It began, in private, months earlier. #ChristianCabal BOLD statement, but I do NOT take it back!

May, 1948 is when all these events became literally possible! <http://bit.ly/2AG9hFp> #Prophecy

HERE WE GO! @POTUS @realdonaldtrump says U.S. embassy to move to Jerusalem, and recognize Jerusalem as Israel's capital. Hey BOZO—there's NO peace until Jesus returns, [likely] Antichrist!

NICE wordsmithing speech by Chump. I'm SURE experts told him what to say, and not say, which was really NOT MUCH, except moving the embassy. He dodged a YUGE bullet by a teleprompter speech with little substance.

Chump's speech, today, is EXACTLY like his edict ending the Johnson Amendment. MANY words, nothing much, if anything, changes. #Chicken!

With Chump's EMPTY words, without more, I'm NOT sure much violence will ensue! It's hard to get mad when nothing is said, for the most part! (II Tim. 2:16)

Why would any Christian oppose favoring Israel? God is IMPARTIAL, and favors ALL who behave good, and opposite for the opposite. Trump is ahead of prophecy's time-table of events, AS YOU WOULD EXPECT from an uninformed fake, 'baby' Christian! I'll bet he knows nothing about prophecy; literally nothing.

[Interjection: 'Friends in Israel tell me the Jewish people are weeping with joy because of America's support of [Israel],' says @JackNGraham's Instagram. So the Christian Cabal believes favoring one side is progress? Hear how Chump's surrogates spin it, as DJT tries to speak middle-of-the-road!

Franklin Graham's latest tweet says he's praying for Roy Moore and his family. Robert Jeffress posts that the President has demonstrated true leadership today by recognizing Jerusalem as the legitimate capital of Israel. Watch these dupes like a HAWK! Agenda, agenda, agenda—NOT morals!

That group was For more centrist ideas! Now they're for alt-right policies. They just want power! I have all the proof of these flip-flops in our free book. NO compass, no anchor—just power idolatry. It makes it HARD to ever go to church, when your family is members of one of them! #ChristianCabal Hypocrites.]

Netanyahu is praising Chump, while Arab leaders are not. If anyone is a fool enough to think nothing negative happened today, you choose to believe lies... BAD day for the world, today!

CHURCH CONFLICTS

(1/21/17)

THIS "spiritual adviser" said yesterday Trump is "saved." I 100 percent DISagree! Let's analyze it, theologically!... <http://politi.co/29IK2FC>

1st, Chump's OWN pastor hardly knows him. 2nd, as equal and awesome as females are, God does NOT allow them to be spiritual heads! (I Cor. 11:12; I Tim. 2:12)

3rd, Chump said he was a "Christian," then ONE YEAR LATE—when poll numbers were in the tan—he just became a baby Christian when pastors advised him! You can't be born again TWICE!

IF Chump is "saved," he's the MOST sinful Christian I've never met, and should be ex-communicated from any local church, until he REPENTS! He NEVER has! Liar! I'll bet that lady won't advise him THIS biblically!

I want EVERY viewer to know that Christians can act VERY evilly—READ First Corinthians. But Trump's UNrepentant, serial sinning, publicly and unapologetically tells me he is a hell-bound LOST soul!

One can CLAIM to be a Christian, especially if it yields a YUGE voting bloc when you're behind Hillary for the highest office in the land!

It's called fox hole conversion or jail house confessions. DO YOU SEE ANY EVIDENCE he has changed ANY moral traits since becoming a "baby Christian? Where's God in that?

NEVER judge Christ by the behavior of His people, ESPECIALLY imposters, who merely name the name! You would go to a fiery hell forever because of US?

The Today Show @NBC JUST SAID Trump goes to church MAINLY at Christmas and Easter! HOW does that jive with Heb. 10:25, foolish Trump EVANGELICAL COUNCIL?

ONE exception, James McDonald, who was HONEST enough to say he wondered why they still stayed together, as were accomplishing little-to-nothing!

My SON, yesterday, said to me, "why are you so against Trump? What's he done?" HOW QUICKLY AMERICANS FORGET what's in this Facebook post! The DEVIL steals the memory! (Mk. 4:15)

<http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

IF you HAVEN'T noticed, I do NOT 100 percent support any pastor, ESPECIALLY hypocrites being for Chump, who's the MOST sinful President in 50+ years! I'm NOT a sheep.

WHY would there be division between Christians? Morality and priorities! I've said before, QUIT YOUR CHURCH if they haven't committed to evangelize EVERY nearby lost soul!

.@RobertJeffress You are SUCH a suck-up! You can't see why so many oppose Chump, who 'loves everyone?' READ this if your memory's BAD—<http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

PASTOR Robert Jeffress has been a presidential ally 'wanna-be for DECADES! He was with Rick Perry, then reluctantly Romney! He was with Chump from the start. SAD!

I do NOT respect the decision of ANY Christian or pastor to support Trump, EVEN if solely to save the unborn! You FAILED the test of morals vs. power!

I READ one evangelical council member say it's ALL about the issues. With that standard for Christians, HITLER would have been OK if he mouthed good policy!

HOW can ANY pastor pray for revival and support continual, unapologetic EVIL in a nation's "leader?" If anyone can explain that, I'll be a monkey's uncle.

To pastors for Chump only due to issues... HE HAD NONE from May 2015 to July 2016, except the ridiculous wall 'Mexico will pay 4,' until y'all met with him. STOP LYING!

Realizing Revival?

I CAN'T get to sleep until I address this... Revival is NOT getting enough Christians to vote Chump into the White House, or a handful of prayer meetings across the U.S.!

LEARN from the past three great revivals! They IMPACTED society for the moral GOOD! Trump has done the EXACT opposite! Revival is a SOVEREIGN work of God!

We can prepare for an meet the qualifications for revival, but God alone must move to effect it. We are FAR from having met His requirements! (II Chron. 7:14)

If My people (in our generation, that's Christians) humble themselves, pray, seek My face, and turn from their sinful ways. 1. 97 percent of Christians did NOT do the first three requirements!

A handful is NOT representative, or acceptable. 2. Turn from your wicked ways. How about materialism, selfishness, lack of commitment and evangelism?

IF church change starts with pastors, NAME ME ONE church whose pastor has publicly committed to evangelize all nearby lost, ASAP, using laymen!

NAME ME ONE church that's committed to relationally disciple all members they can, ASAP, or has genuine New Testament Body Life, or significant social ministry!

REVIVAL WILL NOT COME TO AMERICA, BUT JUDGMENT WILL. I do NOT have to repeat this. You can re-read it until your THICK skull gets it, U.S. pastors!

I am warning U.S. pastors as soberly as I possibly can—JUDGMENT is upon you! You freely choose to NOT do 'EDBS' priorities, for Churchianity's preach-and-be-paid philosophy! Sin.

READ Revelation 3's Laodicean church description! The business continues; the life is ICHABOD. SUCH is the future of U.S. churches. I warned you. Ichabod!

I WISH physical persecution would come to U.S. Christians! That alone could save us from judgment! I pray for it—NOT revival. It's too late for IT, me fears!

Remember, the business of church can continue thriving, like a chicken with his head cut off keeps clucking for awhile. Jesus is knocking at our doors. Is anyone home?

Finally, Rev. 3:20 is specifically speaking of Jesus knocking on His church's door! Laodicea represents OUR generation. Forget that verse in evangelism—it's US!

Please tell me HOW God would warn all men before the Tribulation starts? CRICKETS. Isn't that His way/pattern/habit/character before full judgment?

The Great Commission is a JOKE, right? Surely Jesus didn't mean it literally! Surely Jesus didn't die for every last and lost soul, right, Christian?

Surely God wouldn't send my lovely neighbors to hell! Surely hell's not a literal flame, or forever. Surely you listen to the Devil, Christians I described.

If God put a gun to your head and said 'evangelize!,' you'd go next door and tell them the Gospel, Christian. THIS IS HIS GUN IN A MESSAGE, that you just read. Bang, bang.

Get off your lazy, sinful duffs, and start evangelizing, U.S. Christian laymen. NOTHING matters as much; even your decaying 401K! You are IDOLATERS! Repent!

I will NEVER choose to be close to any Christian who does NOT accept 'EDBS' priorities once they're explained to them. I'm TIRED of the hypocrisy. It's carnality.

The LOST world is SO on to you voting for Chump! They may be spiritually blind, but they are NOT stupid. Your hypocrisy STINKS; OPPOSITE of II Cor. 2:15!

Charles Spurgeon would be SHOCKED how MOST U.S. pastors do NOT share his evangelism conviction. INSTEAD, come to my religious business and you can hear how to go to heaven!

May God JUDGE every church and pastor who freely allows THREE more months to pass without publicly committing to evangelize ALL nearby lost people!

Knock those buildings down into rubble! The world would suffer NO GREAT LOSS, unless a church is devoted to EDBS priorities. FEW ARE. Explained...

We SAY we're for those things. We give an invitation at our sermons' end and say we evangelized. You evangelized the SAVED, and a handful of lost visitors!

We SAY we disciple by sermonizing, when Jesus Himself did NOT rely on public preaching to the crowds as discipleship! READ the blue print/Owner's manual!

We SAY our churches are a body and family, but we have NO idea what each member's spiritual gift is. HOW is that a body? Professionals only minister?

LAYMEN are to do that work! We SAY we do social ministry. In fact, we vote AGAINST government helping solve problems, and outsource our duty to government!

I pray government TAXES every church run like a business. Again, I'm NOT going to repeat this. You NEED to re-read tonight's message MANY times over!

Trump's ABSOLUTELY right, for once, and he better be shaking in his panties at what God saw, as he is a man under judgment! <https://bit.ly/2NQbEeb>

THIS is why revival will NOT come to America! Pastors seeking power access, fame and fortune vs. fully evangelizing all nearby lost people ASAP! @RobertJeffress

REBUT this, PLEASE, using your Bible, or explain how it's morally OK! <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>
@RobertJeffress I await your reply... (or NON-reply!?)

I've hounded this message For more than 20 years, and three years ago to seven of the largest DFW churches. ONLY ONE that I've heard of took it seriously! MANY of YOU go to hell as result.

DO I NEED TO RETWEET PICTURES of every DFW church I put on notice about this three years ago? I CAN! They're already in this Twitter site's 'Media' section! Go look.

I notice revival prayer meetings have gone by the wayside. God's priorities are NOT fads, or flavors of the month, or year. D. Trump's elected, so all is well?

Were revival crusades ONLY to stir up evangelicals to vote for whichever GOP got the nomination? I DON'T believe so about my two AT & T Stadium buds in the ministry!

WHERE are the pastors who give one dang about lost souls? Just FEEL GOOD with music and a positive, uplifting sermon? SHUT DOWN CHURCH, and go evangelize tomorrow!

For the sake of argument I'll stipulate what's UNtrue—that ALL U.S. pastors are saved. So, you're going to heaven. You WILL look back on today as the day of your SHAME!

You freely, wilfully, consciously, knowingly, blatantly, and with a hard heart decided privately that you would reject and rebel against Gods' call to FULL evangelism.

WILL you go with me, person-to-person to the homes NEAREST your church when you return from D.C., @RobertJeffress? AAorg2020@gmail if you agree. I WON'T let up!

For that matter, what about @EdYoung? WILL you go with me to the homes NEAREST your Grapevine church to tell them the Gospel? AAorg2020@gmail if you will! JUST as I wrote...

Will you publicly hold THIS sign with me to show you're leading members in evangelism? I'll never tell if you DO! @EdYoung (10/31/14)

THREE YEARS LATER! How many people died and went to hell in that time, who live near FBC Dallas, @RobertJeffress? WHY don't you know and won't you go? As I sent three years ago:

Will you publicly hold THIS sign with me to show you're leading members in evangelism? I'll never tell if you DO! @robertjeffress (10/31/14)

For that matter, NONE of these ever responded (after an email invite to them earlier):

WILL you go evangelize person-to-person with me those NEAREST your church, @BishopJakes? AAorg2020@gmail, if so. I'm NOT letting up! THREE years, and counting!

Referencing:

Will you publicly hold THIS sign with me to show you're leading members in evangelism? I'll never tell if you DO! @BishopJakes (10/31/14) And...

Then over to #TDJakes main campus. Parking's a BEAR. After a great hike, I held this sign before four cops. GREAT guys, and a great time! (11/9/14)

As well as:

Will you go with me to evangelize people who live NEAREST your main campus, @PsRobertMorris? HOW many went to hell since you were on notice, THREE years ago?

Referencing:

@PsRobertMorris HOW do you promote your church [i.e., radio ad], but you WON'T 100 percent promote Jesus near your campuses, as I asked last weekend? (11/5/14) Cf.:

Will you publicly hold THIS sign with me to show you're leading members in evangelism? I'll never tell if you DO! @PsRobertMorris (10/31/14)

U.S. Pastors: IF you find this note taped on your church door, consider it the 95 Thesis of American Churchianity. (11/5/14)

Evangelize ALL your church's neighbors, ASAP! @MaxLucado @Benny_Hinn @RealRodParsley @revjamesrobison @RonnieFloyd @DannyAkin @jonathanfalwell @CopelandNetwork @RaviZacharias @RickWarren @louiegiglio @PatRobertson @davidjeremiah @ZolaLevitt @Dr_Tim_LaHaye @JohnCMaxwell @craiggroeschel @JoyceMeyer @evitt @HlindseyReport @johnmacarthur @greggmatte @WinningWalk @JoelOsteen @Ligonier @drmoore @JohnPiper @Franklin_Graham @rcsproul

Last time we sent a group tweet to famous pastors, a few things got done. Let's HOPE and pray it works even better on a more important matter!

Referencing:

.@DrJamesCDobson @JonathanFalwell @PatRobertsonTV @RevJamesRobison: Where are your voices AGAINST national gay marriage? Have you thrown in the towel? And...

RAISE YOUR VOICE so the USSC doesn't think national gay marriage is a slam dunk in May+! (group tweeted to the ministers in that 'evangelize all' group tweet, above)

IMMEDIATELY following the group 'evangelize all' tweet came this:

WILL you use your platform to get U.S. pastors to FULLY evangelize all nearby lost people ASAP, or was Trump the real (LOW priority) end-game? Answer.

.@bellevuepastor Sir: I was told more than five years ago by a NAMB staffer email that the SBC had plans to FULLY evangelize America. Its' been FIVE years. Hell awaits your victims! And...

Referencing:

(APR 2011) Dear NAMB staff: I wrote over three years ago that we SBC's need to have a national plan to ensure every lost person has heard the Gospel in the next three years, and received a politely-worded brush-off. Now, THREE years later, we still have this need. @NAMB_SBC

.@NAMB_SBC WHERE is the plan to evangelize ALL Americans ASAP that I was promised six if not nine years ago? See my website for email copies and replies!

HOW MANY millions of people's lives/blood are already on the hands of the Southern Baptist convention and its pastors who HAVEN'T evangelized them ALL?

I PROBABLY have the email from the NAMB staffer who even named that SBC initiative, and said comedians, magicians and other aspects were part of it. I've had NOT one soul at my door in ten years!

.@Franklin_Graham WILL you lead efforts to get U.S. pastors to commit to LEAD their members to evangelize ALL nearby lost people ASAP? You're the right man!

I mailed your dad YEARS ago, and got the brush-off from his secretary, when ALL I then asked for was an endorsement of that idea (i.e., own a neighborhood).

.@BillyGraham Will you endorse the idea of EVERY pastor LEADing their members to evangelize ALL nearby lost ASAP, as your representative DECLINED 5+ years ago?

[WEBSITE excerpt:] I also sent Billy Graham a letter seeking an endorsement of 'my' 3-mile plan, but his secretary replied that he was too frail to engage (though his organization 3-4 years later did have at least one more national campaign, called My Hope America). @Franklin_Graham See our website!

PLEASE do an expose on churches REFUSING to thoroughly do job one near church, and getting rich by NOT so doing. @NYTimes @NBC @ABC @CBS @FoxNews

.@Pontifex Would you give a hominy on the eternal travails facing people who do NOT pray to receive Jesus for the forgiveness of ALL their sins? (John 3:16)

.@DalaiLama Would you PLESSE expose the hypocrisy of Christian "leaders" who REFUSE to do job number one nearest their own church buildings? It's appalling!

I will go with anyone to any church in Dallas on any Sunday to protest their lack of FULL evangelism, by holding my signs that say JUST that! Any takers?

As I do NOT watch Trump videos, at the National Prayer Service I DOUBT prayer was for revival and for U.S. pastors FULLY evangelizing all nearby lost people ASAP!

I would NOT be concerned about terrorists attacking the White House, but God's judgment falling upon it due to the one who occupies the oval office! This is meant LITERALLY!

'Give Trump a chance' is EXACTLY like saying 'give this freed serial murderer a chance' at babysitting your daughter and mother! Analyze that until it clicks!

'You want Trump to fail?' HE ALREADY DID... for 19 months! There were just enough people who HATE facts and morals to LOSE to Hillary by three million votes! DUMB line!

Plus, the GOP right wing DESPERATELY wanted Obama to FAIL, and did everything in their power to thwart any victories. DON'T try that 'you want Trump to fail' on me!

Even @RobertJeffress [at that moment on TV] TRIES to speak for God in hammering Obama and liberals as attacking Christians. GO evangelize them so they get changed! Email me to go near First Baptist, Dallas!

Am I the ONLY one who sees HYPOCRISY in @RobertJeffress refusing to FULLY evangelize all nearby lost people, but he'll celebrate the MOST immoral president, possibly ever?

Preach holiness, vote sinfulness. Makes sense to me, @RobertJeffress (NOT). DO you teach your grandkids the ends justify the means, if it's for the unborn, Bob?

.@RobertJeffress DO you teach your grandkids win at all costs, sin-to-win, or shouldn't you, like your predecessor (i.e., @OSHawkins), teach that 'you have what you tolerate'?

God CAN use evil men—He does so EVERY day—but NOWHERE does He command Christians to vote for blatant ones who are 100 percent UN-apologetic about it, @RobertJeffress.

I left THREE versions of this note at First Baptist Dallas when an amigo of mine got married there! This man is NOT unaware of our calls for greater than THREE years; he received an email, too!

#ImNotGoingToChurchBecause they SHOULD be coming to you IF they care that everyone goes to hell without Jesus (John 3:16); has anyone dropped by you lately?

Christians will vote for EVIL Trump, but NOT tell one soul how to go to heaven? You CAN'T tell me our priorities are right... and revival tarries. Carnality reigns!

FIVE percent of U.S. Christians have EVER lead one soul to Christ—or ever will—yet WELL more than five percent voted for the most wicked president in our generation. Apostasy and hypocrisy!

Christians will support an EVIL man as president because of the unborn, WHO GO TO HEAVEN, but five percent of them EVER successfully lead BIRTHED humans to Jesus. Ironic.

#ImNotGoingToChurchBecause I BEG you to go to your local church's parking lot today and protest their LACK of concern that ALL people go to hell without Jesus!

CHURCH DIVISION

(4/5/17)

I LOVE how this election year has smoked out WASP's belief that the GOP is the ONLY party option for them, meaning black and brown Christians are sinning, in their (never stated or hardly addressed) view.

WASP's for the GOP are MAINLY such over keeping all their money (and opposing abortions), while Christian minorities are mainly Democrats over money and job struggles. 'Always follow the money trail!'

Is God's body divided? ABSOLUTELY!, despite PR stunts to show otherwise, white Christians are mainly GOP; all others mainly Democrat. SIN caused that, Christians!

DIVISION in the church is at the voting booth. You can collaborate to show spiritual unity, but politics separates brothers, because we're all too selfish!

CHURCHIANITY VS. CHRISTIANITY

(For a full background, please see: WillYouLiveForever.org)

(9/25/18)

This 'message' has been brewing in my brain for 2.5 hours, and its l-o-o-n-g, and ONLY intended for NON-Christians: When you hear claiming Christians trying to tell you how to live, by force of law, by lobbying DJT in exchange for WASP votes, KNOW THESE FACTS about biblical vs. modern Christianity:

MOST pastors (church CEO's, we may jokingly call them) DON'T know the Book their careers are to be modeled on, very well (and are only given "tools" to understand it over the remainder of their lives). Their practice of church is more from traditions of men! (Mk. 7:8; Col 2:8) American history/cultural morays say Christians go to church, sing, hear a sermon, and give money every Sunday. That belief we call "churchianity."

Recently (i.e., 1985 forward), the Church Growth Movement and church-as-a-business philosophy arose, where formerly traditionally financially struggling pastors could be richer, through secular/non-religious methods. MOST pastors still struggle today, despite that emphasis. However, the elite few thrived on these NON-religious tactics to get people through their doors.

"Mega churches" became the goal, and MANY seminaries (i.e., pastor training schools) STILL have young men seeking watered-down NON-PhD degrees (D.Min.), so they can be called "doctor," so they can head up BIG churches, because the salaries are BIGger, and the income more stable! (Mt. 23:4-6)

Biblical ministers were willing, and many of them did secular work, to offset poor pastoral pay (i.e., "bi-vocational ministry"). The GREATEST Christian, Paul, was a tent-maker, but still out-ministered EVERY mega pastor of modern times! But these often Balaam types are in it for the good pay, and would not consider a second job, as it is beneath them (i.e., the pride sin; Jude/II Pet.).

That same Paul started MANY churches, yet NOT ONCE did he EVER consider them a profit center he should franchise, now known as "multi-site" church campuses/venues. HE WAS NOT IN MINISTRY FOR THE MONEY! Even his GREAT partner, Peter, said THIS: Ac. 3:6, and the greatest of all, Jesus, said this: Lk. 9:58.

REMEMBER what I said about seminaries... pastors DON'T know their Bibles well enough to outline what REAL church is, so I'm doing the hard/spade work for them, here. Even so, it has been and will continue to be slandered as arrogance, Bibliolatry, or showing off my knowledge, because the Bible-backed conclusions destroy their image of what church is! But I digress...

Biblical church was for Christians! It was a gathering of believers for encouragement and strengthening, especially amidst persecution (and not the kind that occasionally says 'happy holidays,' instead of 'Merry Christmas!') That's NOT persecution... Read the book of Acts, and Foxes Book of Martyrs!

Physical church buildings are NOWHERE commanded in the Bible! They are demanded by modern Americanized churchianity! And every Christian has at least one supernatural talent they use in ministry, to serve the church as a whole. Today, many if not most Christians don't even know what theirs is, and pastors never teach them how to identify it! MUCH LESS will someone use a talent they don't know much about, or that they possess!

Biblical church was known to outsiders for its prayer effects/impact (Mt. 21:13). DO YOU notice anything happening because the church nearest to you is known to have avidly prayed for it to occur?

Biblical church had concern for the spiritual success of ALL churches! (II Cor. 11:28) Today, they imitate the other, to keep a competitive advantage or keep up with the Jones', so their market share doesn't dwindle, EVEN THOUGH this verse tells REAL pastors they are NOT competitors! (I Cor. 3:9), and biblical church had Christians KNOWN to NON-Christians for their LOVE for one another (Jn. 13:35). DO you notice any above-average love amongst claimers of Jesus? I actually notice race (i.e., the color of your skin), causes complete division and non-concern, which is OPPOSITE of Jesus and biblical church.

Then there is their money-making proposition: "tithing." The idea comes from the Old Testament Jews' theocratic tax, which included money set aside for the poor (even though WASP's HATE our Welfare equivalent, voting politically conservative, as yet another moral contradiction!).

Pastors see rich people as income times 10 percent, and some even chase down famous rich people to get them as church members! MOST mega churches are located in the richest areas of town, for obvious reasons; NOT because God led that establishment, but demographics (i.e., socio-economic concerns for that biblically unrequired 'tithing'). LOOK through the entire New Covenant Testament. NONE of the references to 'tithing' apply to Christians! We are not the Jews, or living in a theocracy.

Then their teaching on how to go to heaven: The Lordship Salvation heresy... you must renounce all sinful ways, fully commit to live good, and not bad, and God may save you. That is works, works, works, OPPOSITE of Ephesians 2 and God's idea called grace!

That's their worst sin, but very close to it is EVERY pastor could have his members tell every person not currently going to Heaven how to go there, within three years, within three miles of their un-commanded buildings, but I've never heard of one of them who has!

With the church-as-a-business theory, they embraced its "attraction" method (vs. biblical go and tell), as how hell-bound people will learn how to avoid Hell. If YOU, reader, happen to be interested in the secular means they use to get you to church (even though that's OPPOSITE your only spiritual nature), YOU get to hear. If you're not "moral" enough to drop by (i.e., works), then you can just go to Hell. So a gathering designed for Christians (Jas. 2:2; I Cor. 14:24) becomes the main avenue for telling non-Christians how to avoid Hell.

Then there's maturing up Christians. Jesus role modeled how to do it, but MOST pastors simply preach sermons, even though Jesus did that, too, and said it's not the way to maturity (Mk. 4:34; II Tim. 2:2; I Th. 2:8; Ac. 4:13; Lk. 10:42). ACTUAL Christian ministries DO this type of maturing up of Christians, but very few churches! Campus Crusade for Christ, and The Navigators, as Exhibit A.

And with those previously-mentioned spiritual gifts/talents, the entire church gets edified/lifted up when all believers, in the main worship service of the week, use them to bless each other. Do you even hear, by rumor, of any church functioning like that? No way, Jose!

And finally, Christians are to imitate Jesus. What did He mainly do? (Ac. 10:38); READ Mt. 25! Jesus cared for the life strugglers... the poor, lame, lonely, widowed, orphan, sick, etc., and His rebukes were firmest against the arrogant rich and powerful elitists. Yet that's the crew WASP's get in bed with, politically! Does anyone see the contradiction there?

Sermons (i.e., religious-moral speeches) are forgotten three days later by MOST Christians, because God told us it's by one-on-one relating to Him, and following Him in His power, 24/7, that one retains His word (Ps. 119:9-11; Josh. 1:8, etc.).

What more can I say (Heb. 11:32a)? When you compare modern Christendom to biblical Christendom, it's easy to see these people have LITTLE-to-no credibility forcing their views on you, or telling you how you should live, when they don't even have their own house in order, biblically, as their career practice (i.e., pastors; Lk. 4:23; Jn. 8:7; Mt. 7:1-3. And as to pastor credentials, to qualify for those jobs, compare any pastor by this standard: Tit. 1:5-9; I Tim. 3:1-7.

So between yesterday's message on where political conservatism SINS (See: Sin City U.S.A.), and today's message on where modern Christian church practice SINS, the credibility of so-called pastors trying to take over U.S. lawmaking, to make it into their own image, loses much luster, for anyone with common sense, or just a modicum of Bible knowledge!

And when you add in the FACT that 81 percent of claiming Christians said THIS was how God anointed a U.S. leader, you see why Bible prophecy predicts a great falling away from the TRUE faith! (II Th. 2:3)... <https://bit.ly/2jlYEOf>

And lest you NEVER step foot in any of these biblically failed businesses, we call 'church,' may you never fail to learn from me that praying this, sincerely, is how you do go to heaven when you die: Jn. 3:16.

And finally, 95+ percent of pastors are NOT mega stars, but serve God faithfully, though often NOT according to His model, as described. Biblical church shared finances among the brethren! (Ac. 4:32; II Cor. 9:8). Do you see that happening anywhere?

And if church is to be the role model to and for the world, HOW ARE WASP Christians vehemently opposed to any Welfare following the biblical church and Old Testament tithe example, or Gal. 6:2, 5? Their politics defies Levit. 19:15. In short, sin reigns among U.S. Christians!

Their politics is for government favoring the rich, so some will eventually trickle down, like the rich peeing on the poor. Private charity is exalted, when it can never be enough, or consistent, and they have NO PROBLEM never rebuking any selfish rich in their political party, but cozy up to them to become paying church members!

And since 1973, MOST pastors ONLY clamored against Roe in the Reagan days. DO YOU SEE how many years have passed where it was NOT a top concern of theirs? It's for political power idolatry that the issue has resurrected, because hating gays has become socially unacceptable, since Obergefell!

Let's DO give credit where credit is due: Many churches now have great music, architecture, and more interesting (if not more biblical) sermons, since the Church Growth Movement emphasized adding poems, lyrics, news stories, illustrations, drama, statistics, and history to one's sermons (along with billboard advertising, church slogans and T-shirts, tele-screens (vs. hymnals), casual dress (vs. all suits or robes), rock concerts, gyms, food trucks, jump houses, petting zoos, face painting, financial advice, marriage counseling, and whatever else might "attract" a non-Christian to drop by, vs. going out to meet them!

CLEAN THE BARN!

(12/6/17)

EVIL GOP intentions. Is there ANY morality left in Washington D.C.? We will upset that apple cart in 2020! Kick a_s and take names! <http://on.msnbc.com/2k926Oc>

Lord, PLEASE drop hailstones and brimstone all over Washington D.C., ASAP. The politician game is full of scoundrels, egoists, self-centered money idolizing pervs, and I pray Rev. 17-18 occurs SOON (i.e. the second half of the Tribulation). Any good politicians, please spare them. Otherwise, destroy the system for Your glory!

Ethics reform has ALWAYS been in our book's top 12 priorities, but it has moved UP the list. NO adulterers, sexual harassment, financial self-dealing, trying to destroy the opponent's party, lying, or you get YUGELY fined, or eventually kicked out. NO spin, NO slandering opponents with rumors. #CleanTheBarn

If any D.C. politician promotes any bill favoring one group or party over another, or isn't for JUSTICE or the best interest of the nation as a whole, THERE WILL BE NEGATIVE CONSEQUENCES for that person. I have ZERO compunction enforcing ethics rules against any politician in D.C.. Please just vote for @Pledgers2020 so it will!

&#@ BOTH parties' politicians who worship party! You will NOT any longer, after 2020. I will personally teach you a new way, or I will be in your face before the public, via the media, in the most polite but factually harsh rebuke with facts that you cannot endure—either side! TRY to stop me. (Acts 5:39).

ZERO favoritism. ZERO blessing only or mainly the rich, or the poor and workers. This CAN happen. It WILL happen. This is NOT a fake Twitter account pushing fantasies. I WILL be running for high, high office, and you will comply and conform to morality, on behalf of your masters—we the people, D.C.!

I'm mad as Hell, and I won't take it anymore. I'm mad too, Eddie. @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin @PledgersARCHIVE Three political books out in 2018 define every policy with logic, morality and common sense. BOTH parties CAN do this, and it could have worked for the GOP—but now it will be via Democrats. "And justice for ALL."

ZERO favoritism of EITHER party! ONLY vote for the good in any group, and solve problems. No more B.S. in D.C. As Ross Perot said, 'time to take a shovel to Washington.' This movement started WELL before Chump; he copied our ideas, through my family's pastor, who watched here to see contract breaches NOT to mention him online.

I even suggested a GOP use third grader language, be entertaining (to get media covering you), and suggested fully controlled borders, destroying ISIS, fixing the economy, improving Obamacare, and being for the middle class.

HE COPIED US. His decent ideas mainly come from us. Our book, Wit and Wisdom, PROVES it, by time-stamped posts!

MOST D.C. politicians already know about this Twitter site. They were here for 1.5 years straight! Over 80 news articles have come from this account, likely many more (I don't read as much as I write). God used this account to change D.C. in 2015-2016, and churches in 2014-2015 I AM running! Filing later on.

JUST LIKE Paul and Jesus, I have WAITED for the timing to reveal this account, publicly. Paul was ~18 years in anonymity (Gal. 1-2). Jesus' hour was NOT until the end of a three year ministry. My time has come. I will be running in 2020, and with God behind me, and good people in America, YOU will win—NOT evil ones, or elitists!

I have 19 days until our books are all final, then I write a publisher packet summary of our three political books, earn my family's keep, via sales, finalize five stump speeches (87 percent done, now), write backers, find a manager, file, start billboards, and when the books get known, I WILL run for highest office; I have prepared for NINE years!

March 17, eight and 3/4ths years ago my books started. I'm bad at math. 2008? It was in Tyler, TX. God told me to write. In March, 2015, He called me to run for highest office. My family's home church's staff know of it well—especially the top dog. Time has come to implement these books! The people have had enough of D.C.!

ONLY because there are deadlines you must meet, for certain acts, am I still speaking in somewhat ambiguous language, but be very clear in your understanding: This movement of best of both worlds, only the good, none of either side's bad IS coming for America in 2020. I've spent NINE years; I DON'T back down.

I'm coming for you, Mr. Chump. We will see whose God is stronger—the one you hardly, if at all, know, or the one I've known since age 8, and served since 1978, 18 years full-time with ZERO pay. Are you up to this challenge, big BOY? David is coming after the man-child, "Goliath." By books are my stone! You are going DOWN!

CLIMATE CLAMORERS

(10/14/18)

Let's address 'climate change'/global warming, once and for all (because I get SICK of hearing about it—an action plan is NEEDED):

1. I do NOT 100 percent buy into the alarmists, who say it's absolutely certain/provably true, and man causes it all; at same time, I DON'T deny there are negative effects of increased carbon hurting our ozone layer, MUCH from man, some from cycles of nature.

2. It makes absolute sense that emissions HARM things—humans and the environment. Want proof? Sit in your garage for five hours, with the garage door down and your car on. You won't even be able to debate me after you do—literally (i.e., you'll be dead).

That crap can't be making our air CLEANER! And its FUMES are not ice steam, so it's HOT, so the sky/atmosphere fills up with MORE heat (dissipated, some, but there), apparently (I'm no scientist), dwarfing that ozone layer, so the sun breaks through more. No one can think that's good, as it's NOT natural.

Forget the doomsayers and deniers (the two D's). Let's deal in REALITY!... MOST Americans are NOT going to bike to work a lot (i.e., dangerous, time-consuming, sweaty or freezing, rain, snow, wrinkled professional attire, etc.).

MOST do NOT take joy rides, so our traveling isn't 'gonna change a lot.

SOME of us can be more efficient in multi-tasking our short journeys around town, but many of us already do, to save gas and car wear-and-tear.

MOST in the South (or red states, or even elsewhere) AREN'T 'gonna take public transportation, if they don't have to (i.e., strangers, impersonal, no control, can have crime, smells, and annoying chatty Kathy's, or proximity to colds and flus, and generally not as sanitary metal handrails and seats as our own cars—which germs we can handle, because they are our own).

MOST people in the U.S. are NOT 'gonna car pool. The likelihood that an employee ONLY has an A-to-B travel destination, and shares it in common with another nearby person, are rare, at the same start and end times, unless they're from the same neighborhood, and going to the same company, or similarly-proximated venue.

We also AREN'T 'gonna abandon our SUV's, trucks and vans, when we have kids, and enjoy the room/size/comfort.

ALL these TRUTHFUL practicalities lead us somewhere: TECHNOLOGY must intervene to capture carbon from every emission point (including businesses). <https://bit.ly/2CKC3sn> Do any of you remember the days before cars had catalytic converters?

And as we continue current levels of oil and gas production (especially as American dependence on Middle East ONLY complicates things, and makes more expensive the energy necessary (NOT a luxury) to our lifestyles; Exhibit A, tensions with the Saudis—the #1 oil producing country in the world—over Khashoggi), we have to develop alternative energy that is competitively priced—NO unfair tax advantage to any energy source, by government!

By analogy, it's NOT either/or but both/and! EVERY green technology needs full developing. Innovators and entrepreneurs NEED to find ways to lower costs, to make these resources ON PAR with buying gas for your car, and infrastructure HAS to be equal to a gas pump on every public street corner (as we have in America, sort of like churches and convenience stores).

Electric cars MUST be similar-priced, go the same distance as fossil fuel, and re-charge as fast as filling up your tank, and vehicles drive at the same speeds as with regular and diesel!

Unfortunately, I'm NOT an engineer or scientist, so I don't know how much work, or how many years away we are from that vision becoming reality, but token gestures of recycling, bike-to-work-days, etc., are just that—TOKENS/symbolic. Carbon capture, and green energy equal to oil and gas HAS to be a two-tiered approach! DUH.

You can guilt Texans into jettisoning Hummers, and scare us with 34 cent/gallon tax threats, but unlike many, we live in a BIG state, with many miles between destinations, and we want to get there fast (scenery can be quite bleak), and we're NOT 'gonna forsake oil, or ask Colorado to forsake tourism to the mountains, or New York their the Statue of Liberty, or California their Highway 101, etc.

And we're NOT the only large land mass state (Ex.: CA, AK, etc.)! We're NOT a hop, skip and a jump away from every desired venue we interact with. So see our asset, oil (and gas), as a national treasure, keeping us from being further mired down in the volatile Middle East, and we'll see your development of green energy as the same!

There is NO NEED to cut off EITHER! Maximize what we have available, but the more we get green resources, the better, over time, because oil is finite, and it pollutes. WHAT things could be powered by geothermal, wind, solar? If you build your casa/house six feet under (NOT a coffin), the temperature is ~60 degrees stable.

I'm 100 percent for all new sources, to minimize ozone depletion, but I'm NOT for becoming Amish-era cart and buggy, to save anyone from any negative effects of 'climate change!' There are better ways!

And in the interim, waves/oceans will rise, average temperatures will, too, and natural disasters may increase in intensity. Science, technology and innovation have to fix this! You could build barrier walls near oceans, but moving to more green energy, and using oil more for plastic and derivatives is the answer, medium-term.

In the short term, bike (or smart car) your way to work, if you choose, but NEVER ask a Texan to. In most cities, it's too hot, or cold, with few days or months in-between, and FEW of us want to bike a marathon to get to work (Ex.: the average daily commute distance, in DFW, is nearly 30 miles).

You can pipe dream that Texas is the east coast, where 'walking distance' means something, but in BIG land mass states, it ONLY means how far to walk to borrow something from a neighbor! We have humidity and distance!

So next time an activist tries to shame anyone over climate change, use that energy to do your part to ensure energy comes from greener sources, and cars can go further on a gallon of gas.

COMMON SENSE MORALS

(10/20/18)

For every human, there is a base level of decency we should all expect. It gets no one into heaven, and no one may praise you for it, for it is a bare-bones minimum!

For instance, you may not love others, and you may even hate them. Better is to tolerate, but never get violent or kill anyone!

It may be hard for you to forgive and forget, but rather keep score and recall wrongs, but certainly get over and move on from events, once you forgive them.

Though greed is not good, you may choose it anyway, but never Scrooge the public or your employees, even if you can!

On being nice or mean, certainly the former is preferred, but even if you're just a stubborn, cranky 'ol coot, give a darn about others, because you yourself are one too.

On lying vs. telling the truth, I understand you don't need to tell every sordid detail, or personal and/or confidential matter, but honesty is indeed the best policy, even if your sin nature tells you otherwise.

Pre-marital sex is not the ideal, as you should save yourself for your one and only, as a life gift, but I understand this is not a popular injunction in the United States.

Concerning law-making, justice, not revenge, is always the standard; the punishment should fit the crime, and not be over-done (like cutting off hands for a thief, etc.).

Men, you may not like working under a female boss, but show her respect, as an equal, because she got the position—not you.

Self-interest and self-defense are fine, but the selfish win-lose attitude will cause even you to lose in the end, as no one will want to do business with you.

Charming your way into other's pocketbooks, or pants, is not a noble trait, disguising your lack of integrity with a smile, a complement, a joke or a feigned concern for the other person.

In short, we will all be imperfect, but we can all strive to be honest, and treat others in a decent manner.

Specific Deeds

Abusing workers. YOU were a worker, sometime in the past! Remember what that felt like, and treat them the way you wish you had been.

Adultery. Would you want someone sleeping around with your spouse? Then don't do that to anyone else!

Anger. It's OK to feel and even express, but not to the point of violence, or cussing (if you can help it).

Authority used for sexual perks. If you can get away with it is NO reason to get away with it. God sees it all, and society is starting to catch on to your perversions!

Cussing. Someone please invent some vocabulary that has the same impact and power, because gosh darn, dad gummit, dang, shoot and golly gee just don't cut it!

Employer decisions. Just because you prefer to work with people of your own kind, is that fair to others? If they're equally-qualified, give them a chance to also feed their family.

Players and womanizers. You may think women are notches on your bed post, but you're just a male whore with no self-respect, and even less respect for your naïve or gullible victims.

Pride. You may have some achievements better than others, that you're proud of, but no one likes an arrogant, self-centered egoist!

Sex and abortion. The thought of your child may haunt you for years; plan your sex better! There's no excuse not to.

Stealing. Go work harder, vs. hurting/harming others because you're lazy.

Torture. Would you wish Khasoggi's demise on anyone, even your worst enemy? If you would, your heart is defective.

Specific Groups

Abandoning fathers: Pay up! You caused those angels to be born, and life costs your baby momma money!

Accountant: Don't cook the books, or embezzle, and never buy the myth that if we don't spend all that's in the budget, we'll get less next year (and bosses—never incentivize such thinking).

Animal abusers: Taking advantage of weaker creatures only makes you a weak human being!

Bullies: Deal with your pride, and/or insecurities a better way, and don't be jealous of people whose character is better than yours!

Business people: Learn the wisdom of win-win, because if clients feel scr_wed by you, over time they will not repeat their business with you.

Car repair people: Don't lie to the customer, just because you tricks and terms to allow you to do so.

Criminals: You're in jail for a reason. Take this time to make a better you, for when you get out (or meet God, if you never do).

Dictators: God sees all you do! You are just a human, equal to all your subjects, and God will judge our evil deeds, if not those subjects/the people, before then!

Drug lords: You're pumping filth and poison into the lives of strangers; go find a more honorable profession!

Drunks: Never drive a vehicle under the influence, and learn when to say when you've had too much!

Gang bangers: Use of threats and violence don't make you a man, but a weak wuss.

High-pressure sales persons: Learn to be better at your craft, and gift of gab, and put the client's interests above yours.

Homeless: Unless you chose the wayward wanderer lifestyle, clean up, dress up, wake up and get employed, and take advantage of the many services society provides for you to do so (including mental health).

Mafia: Your evil enterprise can't earn an honest living, which is a true sign you are a failure!

Military: Never rape or kill innocents, if ever within your choice to make.

Murderers: You caused at least one family severe pain and loss for a long time, when you evilly tried to play God.

Over-paid executives: Use a little self-restraint, and bless your employees a little more with some of your excessive income!

Pedophiles: The children are innocents; you are guilty as sin and as charged. Don't screw up their lives because your life is screwed up.

Pimps: You are a loser, before God, and a user of women for money; you are no hot shot, but you have a great shot at a hot future in Hell.

Politicians: Learn to do right, unbiasedly nonpartisan, prioritizing the good of your nation over party or personal ambitions.

Popular people: You are no better than anyone else. You think you are, but God says you are not.

Prostitutes: God has a better life and future for you! John's DON'T respect you, it's dangerous (with disease and physical dangers), and you can do better! You have more skills than merely spreading your legs!

Races: other nations have some unique peccadillos, but below the skin's surface we're all God's children, who all bleed the same color!

Rapists: Get your jollies elsewhere, and if it's a control/power issue, for you, you aren't tough because you can dominate another! God will dominate you:

Slave masters: The human you control is not a pet or robot without feelings, or a piece of garbage. You have no right to your evil and illicit business enterprise! How would you live being your own slave?

Tax cheats: We all work to pay our bills. We don't always agree on how government spends tax dollars, but do/contribute your part. It's not fair to the rest of us who do ours!

Teachers: Even if a kid is rude to you, always give them the grades they earn, and don't take revenge on their grading, because that is evil (and proves you have no better disciplining skills).

Terrorists: You are vile scum. The world will not forever let you get away with your craft, and God certainly will not Used car sales persons: Tell the truth, good or bad. If you hide problems, or negative information, the buyer is going to discover that, eventually, and hold it against your getting repeat sales from them.

Wife beaters: You are an inferior to your wife, and not a big man but a moral pygmy! May a real man put you in your place, when you get locked up!

Everyone: Love yourself, try to love others, and above all else, love the Lord you God! Be the bigger man/woman, and a better person.

CONSERVATISM CHARACTERIZATION

(12/16/18)

Let's address "get a job poor people" conservative's one-liner: For the conservative, the answer to everything is just a job. For expensive healthcare—get a job. Instead of any Welfare aid—get a job. Struggling to pay bills? Get a job.

For people whose jobs pay enough or more than their bills' total, that parroted one-liner makes perfect sense, and for those same people who are subjective (meaning they have ZERO ability to walk in anyone's moccasins), they imagine every poor person is lazy, doesn't study or work hard, or needs to be working 90 hour weeks with three jobs, but NEVER get one dime from the government! If you told them that's dog-eat-dog, every man for himself-ism, they'd say that's a very negative way of looking at things, and if you call them greedy or lazy, they not only resent it profusely, they'll deny it to the rafters!

They sincerely believe the U.S. Constitution considers any help of any American, using tax dollars, like government sanctioning murder, because they're selfish (and can't deal with or face that fact). It's NOT selfish to know you need much more money than you have, to be able to retire, one day, and it's NOT evil to want to retire.

What's evil is to have ZERO sympathy for people in worse circumstances than you, who aren't gifted with the talents or opportunities you had! That's 100 percent OPPOSITE of Jesus! He had EVERYTHING, but gave up nearly everything to come relate to us! (Phil. 2:6, kenosis/Heb. 4:14-16)

It is that ilk of human/people who say (in word, deed, or attitude) 'to Hell with everyone else in the world... I 'wanna have a good time down here, and live for self and pleasure,' that God opposes, and who are NOT disciples of Jesus, and that is EXACTLY the heart of political conservatism!

The Bible opposes worldliness and materialism (asset idolatry), but conservatism praises and glorifies them, even as they slam Hollywood and Madison Avenue, who create the images of such lifestyles (Ex.: movies and TV ads).

Any moral, or even "religious" person who lives like the American Dream only means own as much money and stuff as you possibly can, with ZERO concern for anyone but your family, or ever giving back much if any, is sinning! Yet, WASPs often embrace this philosophy, so why would anyone wonder about the sad statistics regarding U.S. Christian spirituality?

Slavery was outlawed—we fought a war over it. People who own businesses always want the cheapest expenses, so they make more profit. Child labor laws force them to NOT hire under-aged kids, so a kid can be a kid, as they'll work most of the rest of their life! That's an American value which China doesn't agree with.

Labor camps are things North Korea approves—U.S. would not! Sweatshops and over-worked laborers with no required breaks, overtime pay, or safe working conditions are values America holds, as some nations don't. In a competitive global marketplace, conservative argue we're at an economic disadvantage, as with minimum wage laws, because some competitor nations don't require such.

DO YOU SEE A PATTERN? Race to the bottom of human decency, and concern for humans, made in God's image, is at the heart of political conservatism's economic positions!

The poor should never be able to spend time with their family (family values?), or have time off, or enjoy anything! Poverty is your punishment for being born with less IQ or talent, or in the wrong part of town, or it's because you're lazy, and make bad choices. THIS IS CONSERVATISM, at its core.

Let's drill down on their 'get a job' mantra. I'm ONLY for all people working, unless mentally or physically unable (or no jobs exist). I know system abusers exist, and I oppose them all. But even if the poorest soul got a GED, maybe even attended college, our economy only offers retail and minimum wage jobs for the least-skilled, and if everyone got skills greater than business needs, you'd only have highly-educated or trained people doing menial labor for minimal pay!

Our economy doesn't need all chiefs and no Indians. But the Indians need to feed their families, too! I'm 100 percent convinced that conservatives usually come from being born in families where they've rarely if ever suffered, financially, or seen poverty first-hand. So they use their imaginations to justify NO concern for others—especially others in other countries. God forbid a conservative (which WASPs are in bed with) care about fixing any problem outside the U.S.A., though even their own Jesus' book says we are our brother's keeper, and the Good Samaritan story teaches that your neighbor is everyone.

That statement is evil/demonic 'liberalism,' or 'Socialism' or 'wealth redistribution'—code words for keep your hands off all my money, if any of it ever helps anyone else! This theory makes its adherents FEEL holy, with Political Correctness renaming of evil as good, like 'freedom,' 'property rights,' and 'personal responsibility' (yet they slam liberals for that same re-naming, like garbage workers as recycling engineers, or stay at home moms as domestic engineers).

And they LOVE to argue that free-willed decisions are morally favorable to those which are government forced—because it serves their (political) agenda.

No one is 'gonna ever donate as much as government takes in, to do the many things they do (often wastefully), and no one in their right mind ever sends in an extra tax payment, though conservatives always like to suggest that you can, if you're so concerned about others, 'bleeding heart' liberals!

'Anti-Social' should be the reply to slanderous 'Socialism' allegations, if anyone ever supports any government dime helping anyone! Conservatism IS dog eat dog Darwinism, usually held by professing Creationists! No contradiction there, right?

'Collectivist' is another term they throw around, because if you ever get your mind on systemic/ holistic problems and solutions (as only unemployed people, or paid activists would ever do, in the conservative's mind), the sinfulness and weakness of their theory becomes evident!

The sky's the limit, and you can be whatever you want to be, until you apply that good attitude to all people! Then it becomes worse, as there are only a limited number of great-paying jobs, not everyone's built to start a successful business, and we don't need multiple people in the top jobs!

I've HEARD conservatives ask, 'how would my having self-control (a Bible virtue), and restricting my consumerism (an idol) help anyone else?' It never would if you plan to never give a dime in charity! And therein we expose the root of conservatism... selfish hoarding idolatry; greed with NO compassion; so why would any Christian embrace it? For power idolatry, for things like hating homosexuals, and wanting women to risk harm or death if they ever choose to not carry every pregnancy to term!

It is true that the poor need to get better skills and education, as with better motivation (though living where they do is intrinsically depressing, compared to where most conservatives live—a fact conservatives will NEVER face or address). They also need better buying skills, and to not feel a need to keep up with the Jones' they see on television/in the media (magazines, billboards, etc.).

But conservatives NEVER want to take any 'personal responsibility' (a favorite term of theirs) for any plight of any poor people, like businesses always paying as low as legally allowed, and lower, if the Gingrich types of this world got their way, politically (i.e., no minimum wage, or child labor laws, or estate taxes).

Bigger business has WON in all of the following historic events/changes: Pensions ending, benefits drastically cut, dual income families as a necessity (it WASN'T in the 1950's), outsourced jobs, imported labor (legal or otherwise), mergers and acquisitions (i.e., the big box trend, to shove ma and pa shops into oblivion), streamlining, multi-tasking, unpaid overtime for overworked salary employees, contract labor (i.e., no benefits required to be paid, by business), automation, and union busting.

Business alone is the prime beneficiary—NOT the employees or workers. Yet, conservatives, who support elites getting richer, even if no one else does, vote against government helping anyone their greedy tactics harm! There is an amazing lack of moral character behind their beliefs, in many ways!... A great economy is when the ~half of our population, who are investors, have their portfolios expand! THIS IS CONSERVATISM! Screw the non-elites! Let them eat cake. The arrogance, selfishness, greed and idolatry stinks to the highest Heaven, and its resident King KNOWS of the problem, and will judge its adherents—especially those using His name to justify it all.

Get a better job (even if there aren't any, if business ever shipped them all away). Get better skills, even if they may not be needed, in an economy that will always need minimum wage and retail labor.

Work harder, even if you never see your family, because we who worship business (say money) want it that way, because we never think one iota about what our system does to you, like the "little guy" and "idea looked good on paper" lines in National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation.

Greed, love of money, hoarding, selfishness, idolatry, living for the here-and-now, materialism, and consumerism... these are what 'American Exceptionalism' and the 'American Dream' means to many foreigners, who observe America from afar! 'Ugly Americanism.' God observes from even further afar, and even closer up, and warns Christians that they are living in Laodicea (Rev. 3), by their own free-willed carnality decisions and sin!

Bible scholars generally agree that the LAST church age will be typified by Rev. 3:14-19 traits. In MANY ways, that is modern evangelicalism! Prophecy and judgment are coming, if not already on their way (I Pet. 4:17).

God DOES oppose laziness in poor people (Pv. 6:6, 10:4, 14:23, 19:15, 20:4; II Th. 3:10), but He commends non-lazy poor, and commands others to help them (Pv. 19:17; Ac. 20:35; Gal. 2:10; Heb. 13:16; I Jn. 3:17). Conservatives believe all poor people chose to be so, by bad decisions, and sinful activities.

It's convenient so to believe, as it absolves a hard heart and seared conscience from facing their greed, all in God's name. So poor people of America, keep eating bon bons on your couch, being Welfare queens, and sponges/ne'er-do-well leaches on the system, as conservatives believe you all to be. That's a Godly theory for His people to bear hug?

WHO CARES if it's moral? Economics is amoral, and it's legal by our Constitution, argues the con (i.e., conservative). Economics is only seen as amoral by immoral people, and the Constitution only supports immoral legislation by immoral people, who never read it in its entirety—just the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness clauses!

And if any poor person ever has a heart attack, working that hard to survive, or suffers a stroke, or gets cancer, or similar costly illnesses... DIE, rather than government helping you one iota off my taxes, or hope charities or Go Fund Me will pitch in, because you are in life's jail punishment, being poor, even if you are not lazy, because I enjoy my high lifestyle, and I ignore my claimed God's directives to use my wealth for more than just luxuries (I Tim. 6:17-19).

Any rich person who'd do that is stupid... a self-loather (says con Mark Levin). Giving Pledgers HATE themselves, because love of self pampers self with many gifts and pleasures! (Ecc. 1: II Tim. 3:2, the love of self sin).

The FACT that they use some excess to benefit society—not just spoil their heirs and themselves—is EVIL! They are fools. It doesn't matter that their wealth acquiring skills prove they're smart (i.e., not fools, as claimed, unless acquired evilly). I have a political philosophy to justify. Do so before God, cons!

The hardest venue for motivation to financially succeed has to be the slums of life. Some people hate it so much, they get doggedly determined to escape, by sports, rap, or college. Cons could care less that it's easier to achieve, when you're the sons or daughters of privilege, behind gated communities, and enjoying living in a nation that has historically favored whites.

That institutional system, which has always allowed them more advantages, is preferred, to seeing that justice prevail, which is what the God they claim to know (and even our Constitution... and justice for all) cares about. Just pick yourself up by your own bootstraps, with rugged individualism!

I did, so can you (says the guy living in safe, nice/good neighborhoods and school systems, and a violence and gang-free, undilapidated environment). As with ~everything, there's an exception to every generalization, but this is a fairly accurate description of political conservatism's mindsets, and sins!

CONSERVATISM'S CRAP

(10/3/18)

The WORST word in the English language, to a political conservative, is "liberal." Though conservatives OFTEN deny it, the word references generosity with money—tax dollars! For a Christian, generous giving of money is ENCOURAGED! (II Cor. 9:6-15)

Conservatives argue that's free-willed vs. forced. TRUE. However, taxes for Jews in the Old Testament theocracy (which were also used to help the poor) were compelled/mandatory! And the Constitution doesn't forbid it (discussed later), and the amount of money reasonably needed to end severe suffering (and to do other good things the feds/government does that the people approve of) isn't nearly possible solely relying on charity gifts!

The conservative believes the feds can ONLY do what's listed in the Constitution. The 10th Amendment says that, PLUS, any other things revert to the states, "and to the people."

The document speaks of making a more perfect union and other aims, and the things the feds do—unless wasteful, against the will of the people, illegal, or a function solely for the states—are allowed by that document!

And Christians, OF ALL PEOPLE, are commanded by God to fight for righteousness, which many of them, now, DON'T want to do, because political conservatism wants Uncle Sam mainly just policing and arming our military. They want to CONSERVE all the money they often greedily pursue, OPPOSITE of Pv. 23:4.

That's what is at stake... generosity or frugality with public funds! Conservatives want to just live their personally responsible rugged individualistic lives, and to Hell with anyone else, if taxes are involved.

Liberals, on the other hand, OFTEN waste money, just want to raise taxes, and spend our money like it's water, often to bless politicians and pet projects.

There is a middle ground between these two BAD options with our tax dollars! Not too much, not too little, but just right. The RIGHT answer—NOT the left or right answer! DUH.

Political conservatives are for NO cooperation with any Democrats, independents, or even RINOS! They STUPIDly believe they have a God-given right to cram their extremism on all of America, by judicial activism/court stacking, and ridding the GOP of REASONable members. That's WRONG, evil, and who they are!

The Tea Party, who inspired conservatives' rebellion within the GOP, was so named based on a belief that taxes are too high. EVERYTHING for a political conservative is about money! Provide the LEAST to government (which is us—we the people), and the MOST to self.

The estate tax ends, as with minimum wage, and regulations, and five federal agencies; DO NO GOOD, but only greed and selfishly hoard, "for Jesus." #APOSTASY!

And they believe the lowest taxes and regulations ALWAYS improve an economy (NOT a society).

1. That raises our national debt.
2. Too low doesn't fund things government does.

3. It favors the rich, CONTRARY to God.
4. It can easily turn into funds used to replace human workers, by technology and automation/robotics.
5. Many regulations protect consumers and workers!
6. Too low taxes means the feds have to borrow money, or print funny money until revenues ensue from stimulated increased economic activity (and they have to be successful investments, vs. losses, to protect the rich's tax bill).
7. The rich SHOULD pay a higher percent in taxes, as the pain is to be fairly shared—NOT the amount or percent!
8. If low taxes are the answer, a conservative could argue for zero taxes! In fact, some of them call it 'THEFT' by the feds!
9. Finally, low taxes means government hamstrung from doing anything that is unfunded.

That's because conservative HATE the feds, without rational reasons, in MANY cases! It's because they selfishly want all their money earned for them (OPPOSITE Phil. 2 and Ecc. 5:13), and believe ALL public programs are for people with problems they don't share/have, so why should they fund them? (Ex.: poor, no healthcare, and social problems, like human trafficking, etc.).

Leave me alone is their FAVORITE attitude ("don't tread on me," government). They almost believe there's NO need for government. DOES GOD TEACH THEIR LONE WOLF BELIEFS? No! But who cares? A VAST majority of U.S. Christians are NOT fully committed to Jesus, but "carnal" (i.e., sinful), so WHY would you expect them to not vote for worldliness? It's a natural fit!

And with their churches demanding an UN-commanded 10 percent "tithe" of their gross income, NO WONDER they want no more taken out of their paycheck, by government! Non-church-goers do NOT have this demand. And the MOST amazing thing is that political conservatives ALL aspire to be rich, even though God NEVER promised that for all Christians; He even warns against such aspirations! (I Tim. 6:10)

And the richer one gets, the LESS interested they get in helping others with their excess, via taxes (or charity, statistics say), UNLESS they're the rich slanderously labeled "liberal," like Giving Pledge heroes. It ALL hinges on money! Liberal, conservative... it's ALL about how much money the government takes!

I'll go as far as saying that any Christian who believes political conservatism is 100 percent God's position on politics, is STUPID, which is a sin and a human embarrassment! It DOESN'T matter what color they may be—to so believe proves that they do NOT love God with all their mind. Mindlessly blind. @FHunscripted

Update #1: Conservatism's Clamorings

(12/4/18)

DFW talk jock Chris Salcedo says we DON'T need a reach-across-the-aisle George H. W. Bush type, for president, but a 'warrior,' and blames the Democrats for America's current ill-will and divisiveness (which Juan Williams spoke of), 100 percent forgetting THIS evidence of his IGNORANCE and amnesia: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> #MoralLoser

He also says he's an 'American-loving Latino, NOT like loud-mouths.' Innuendo interpretation: All Latinos who aren't conservative yell, and hate America. To point out any fault needing changing is hatred? I only need two minutes with talk radio folk, and you see their fallacies and biases SO easily!

Can YOU see them?

Salcedo says he said yesterday that America doesn't need another George H. W. Bush or George W. Bush type, then tried to play it off as NOT a disrespectful comment toward the two. Conservatives HATE decent people they label 'RINOs.' That type conservative's morals DON'T represent Christianity! They NEED to be saved. (Jn. 3:16)

Let's address Mr. Salcedo's allegation that you either have a "fighter" or an across-the-aisle politician. What he means is Chump fights Democrats, tooth and nail, and ONLY be for conservative causes. Pledgers are for fighting ALL evils, in BOTH parties, and ONLY being for good policies.

Conservatism has some bad and good in it, as does liberalism and moderatism. He literally is confused, and biasedly wanting conservatism to cram its views on everyone else, or gridlock, or get his way or the highway, then have it be undone later.

He is under the FALSE belief that conservatism is perfect, and the ONLY view for all of America, which needs NO changes, improvements, or openness to stretching to a higher moral standard. And he's WRONG about aisle-crossers NOT being fighters—they just don't arbitrarily choose their target to be the other party, but bad ideas. I know it's a new concept, but he can learn—I HOPE!?

Bullying, demonizing opponents, blaming everything on those evil Democrats. THAT's what he LIKES in Chump, and DIS-liked in the two Bushes. You will NEVER hear him say it that plainly, on the radio, as spin and riling up sheep is how he gets paid, so EVERYTHING is negative regarding Democrats, and good concerning conservatives.

Good vs. evil; GOP vs. Dem. That logical fallacy goes right over the heads of most of his listeners, because public schools don't require debate and logic courses! Even "CHRISTIANS" buy into LIES, because they're so devoid of the Bible they can't discern truth from error, and think God is a conservative.

Salcedo called the Bushes 'statesmen' vs. politicians, and wants a fighter vs. aisle-crosser. Advocates and lobbyists are PAID to have blinders on for their clients' causes! 'Who's bread I eat his song I sing.' NON-objectivity and Injustice! D.C. needs an arbiter, a judge, NOT gridlock fights we waste money paying for.

His paradigm of an aisle-crosser is a spineless moderate or mushy RINO who sides with Democrats. He has NEVER seen nor heard of identifying good policies that solve problems—from any and all sources—and implementing them, no matter who gets the credit, and trying to do so in a way BOTH parties win!

You can't slight him for that uninformedness... it's a new concept we'll be fully promoting in 2019, first through our three political books that detail it on nearly every issue America faces, probably 2,000 total pages between those books.

He's living in the past, with OLD stereotypes. NO WONDER he resists it before it's offered; PLUS, avid conservatives want NONE of their money ever doing anything but paying for cops and the military—not even most politicians and educators, if their kids are in private school.

So when you idolize money, selfishness, hoarding and greed—society's bills be damned—you dig your heels in, and shout 'my way or the highway,' America!

A national politician said the Founders knew most issues needed to be decided locally, due to division on national issues. That's GOOD, when local issues are chosen that are moral, and reflect local traditions and values, but BAD when it reinforces local rules that are BAD!

There's a win-win way for national issues to benefit BOTH! Common sense, and let BOTH sides get a win, alternatively (give or take), so BOTH sides claim victory, and America wins! No president should ever MOUTH that they serve all Americans, then cow-tow and cater mainly to their base, as Chump REPEATEDLY does, for self, number one, vs. USA #1 values.

EVERYONE needs to get a little less selfish, as only insisting on your positions doesn't work, medium- and long-term! Divisions America is experiencing are man-made, mainly by politicians exploiting hatreds and prejudices, using lies, fear and a win-at-all-costs strategy which rejects integrity and intelligence.

I have said this MANY times, referencing Judg. 21:25, but selfishness for party first over America first, or America first over any concern for any other nations FAILS, just as Hannity and Gingrich conceded yesterday, when they used OUR terminology of 'win-win,' from the great Stephen Covey.

READ Judg. 21:25. When there is a leadership vacuum, everyone resorts to selfishness and idiocy.
READ Pv. 29:18. When you have no picture of where you want to go, you're sure to not reach your goals, for you have none. Governing is common sense!; not easy, but common ground is how we move forward! Duh 101. (11/13/17)

Polar opposites do NOT find any agreement anytime, because every issue gets claimed as a core value! (Amos 3:3; Ecc. 4:12) LOOK at all my writings! I've been saying this for nearly five years! Unoriginal folk will copy our ideas, some, but they did NOT come up with these things! Praise the Lord!

(Judg. 17:6, 21:25) Selfishness will ultimately destroy America! Everyone doing their own desires, and lacking moral leadership, guidance, boundaries. #Revival is needed! (8/31/18)

Everyone just do what you want, chase dollars with all ferocity, care nothing about anyone else, and vote accordingly! (Judg. 21:25) This seems to be the current state political attitude in the America! #SAD! (9/6/18)

Secondarily, 'society'... "It takes a village." No man is an island unto himself unless he can afford an island for himself (~joke). (3/24/15)

And the conservative business model, that everything you spend must have quid pro quo, DOESN'T apply with taxes! That's why they're compulsory! You do NOT milk the system to get your money' worth; you live in a land that has afforded you so many opportunities that most others don't—it's your civic duty, and Gods says 'pay up!' (Rom. 13:6)

The audacity of anyone in the top 10 percent in America to gripe about taxes! YES, nonpayers need to do civic service, instead of paying in, when they have none to give, but fair share is essential, and when your life is comfortable, to begrudge others as all lazy mooches, when YOUR companies lay off, ship out jobs, let in foreigners to glut the labor market—that hypocrisy will not stand! Hypocrisy is a sin, Mr. conservative, and how dare you EVER employ the name of Jesus to your sickly, worldly cause of shoving all your beliefs onto everyone else, in His name! America won't stand for it, Mr. Salcedo.

It is EASY to set your radio dial on talk radio, and NEVER have to work to get your news, ever again. But that's the exact same laziness as people only getting Russian TV pumped into their ears—by a mandated one single source; biased, non-objective, and just reinforcing stereotypes about Democrats. That choice is NOT Christian, in substance.

If you can't make a GOOD profit margin on an activity, it ought NEVER be done, except by charities; that's conservatism; NEVER using their tax dollar. That means they don't give a da_n about any of society's conditions, or other people. LOOK at their charity percents on their 1040 forms that they HIDE from you ever seeing.

With our tax dollars, liberals spend too much, and conservatives spend too little. This is simply PURE FACT! The correct answer is Goldilocks government—just right! Your STATE can be as frugal/chinchy, or as undisciplined/generous as it wants to be, but federal dollars should avoid BOTH extremes!

To the conservative NO taxes are ever too small. It doesn't matter America has debt to pay, and services that cost money—especially employee wage expenses. It doesn't matter what they WANT their tax bill to be may NEVER come close to paying down any debt, if we all got the tax bill they want. That's their cherished fiscal responsibility?

Here's talk radio in a nutshell: Bully Chump is a "warrior," American consumer jacking 'Tariff Man' is "winning against China," liar-in-chief is "posturing for better negotiating leverage," and causing our allies to split from us is "making them pay their fair share." Spin ALL negatives positive!

Update #2: Greed, Selfishness & the Love of Money

(12/15/18)

In light of our receiving 77,833 views of a post about healthcare, and most people concluding that Americans are reticent to give money to strangers, for medical care, via taxes, let's address two polar opposite problems... Any time government wastes money, it sins. Any time an individual takes government money when they hadn't done absolutely everything to be self-sufficient and frugal, they sin against society. And every time government is unwise, or not frugal in what they spend, they do wrong to America. And whenever government isn't streamlined for maximum bang for the buck, they do a disservice to all taxpayers.

Those facts being stipulated, political conservatives have ZERO problem with these sins: Selfishness, greed and the love of money. God does... the same God some of them claim to know! our Constitution says to make a better union. It's NOT a better society when the rich elites get favored, and snub their noses at the suffering poor, because they earned it all!

That even violates what God said governments are to do (Levit. 19:15). WHO CARES?, says the conservative in his heart—rarely with his mouth. 'Greed is good.' They can't make distinctions between money being a good thing, but love of it being a bad thing.

All of life is about acquiring as much as humanly possible, then spending it all only on self and family. But that selfishness, and even hoarding—which God says is sin—they say is righteousness! (Ecc. 5:13)

HOW do they justify people with well over enough to make it to the grave, financially, giving NOTHING, and no one ever finding out, from privacy laws regarding their IRS 1040s' charitable contributions? Sinful hardened hearts, encouraged by a society which allows Capitalism to be run amok, and glamorizes and glorifies materialism!

I've said so many things on this subject in our books, I'll leave you with these Bible verses to look up, because we ALL face an accounting to God, one day, for how we lived our lives, and for every action in our lives.

If you still believe conservatism's view that helping anyone is self-loathing, or not teaching self-sufficient independence, after reading these verses, you skim read them!: Phil. 2:3-4; Gal. 6:2, 5; II Cor. 8:14; Ac. 2:44; Jas. 2:15-17; II Jn. 2:15-17; Mt. 6:33, 19:21, 25:31-46; Pv. 3:27, 11:25; Eph. 4:19; Rom. 2:8; I Tim. 6:10; Heb. 13:5-6.

As we are approaching this holiday season, where the roads and malls are a frantic mad house of people clamoring for things, and who seem to forget all the rules of the road, remember two verses: Lk. 12:15, 23 Money is a good thing (Ecc. 10:19). Don't warp it into something bad, by idolizing it!

If a conservative calls it 'Socialism,' or 'wealth redistribution,' for society to collectively care for its own, that's just terms they use to delude themselves to their own money idolatry sin, because they don't give a da_n about others, if money is involved, and they have NO PROBLEM with people buying multiple mansions, yachts, Mercedes, when some of it could help our world, like Giving pledgers realize, all because it's legal vs. moral.

There's NO concept of giving back in conservatism's rhetoric. ONLY by charity, if you feel like it. The Jesus they often claim to follow does not share those values. See our three political books for more (at AmericanAnswers.org). God teaches give back, when you have abundance (Lk. 12:48; I Tim. 6:17-19) WHO CARES WHAT HE THINKS? (Heb. 9:27; Rom. 14:12)

CONSERVATISM'S CREDITS

(11/17/18)

We slam political conservatism here, a lot, but believe there's GOOD in all views. Here's where conservatism is GOOD... as a check to liberalism's spending! It USED to be for fiscal responsibility—which is a GOOD thing!

$ 22 trillion in debt, over-spending and borrowing from China are how we have QE3 and China lending. With that much debt, and the debt ceiling constantly increased, on threats of government shutdowns, smaller government IS needed—just not as small as conservatives idealize.

Usually, government closer to home/the people is more responsive to local needs, but that's NO guarantee. Both the feds and states can be less responsive, when you get bureaucrats and career politicians involved.

Conservatism is for low taxes and business regulations. We need not one thin dime of taxes that we don't need, and no regulations we don't need, but not as few as conservatives desire. We NEED a strong national defense, but NOT so strong that we are hawks, or pay $600,000 for fighter jet toilet seats, or any extravagant expenditures to the vast military industrial complex! Not too much or too little, but just right, Goldilocks!

Personal responsibility is a GREAT thing, but NOT when it's code words for selfishness that never cares for anyone else outside the family! Be the best you can be, the sky's the limit, and maximize your God-given potential are GREAT things, but NOT when they get warped into selfish greed and hoarding, worldly materialism, and money idolatry!

Hating fetuses being killed is a GOOD value. Forcing that by a ban of all, with ZERO consideration of the woman, or what women will do if such a law were passed, nation-wide, is NOT a good thing!

Calling sodomy a sin is a conservative's free speech and religious liberty right, but DON'T be too quick to make public policy over one sin, when we all suffer from many sins we would NOT want to be made into public policy bans! There are NOT just two sins listed in the Bible—abortion and sodomy, conservatives! READ it, to prove me right!

A GOOD economy is a GOOD thing! Defining it as mainly the elite rich getting richer, or people in the stock market growing their portfolio is NOT a good thing, even though it FEELS good to those with stocks (selfishness sin, again, vs. what's in the best interests of America as a whole)!

Private schools may be a way for you to avoid teaching evolution, or for pushing political conservatism, but God NOWHERE says raise your kids in a bubble, fearing the real world and failing to deal with the real, or to know the TRUTH, which sets us free!

Inheritance laws are O.K., as they're biblical, but they're BAD when used to raise spoiled brats who never have to work or contribute to society, and to fight for them never to be taxed, so others in society benefit any, is also EVIL!

The U.S. Constitution is a GREAT document—the best one made by man, absent God's direct involvement (like the Bible), but it is NOT the Bible, and when people use it for evil ends, knowing NO amendments could be ratified in our divided culture, that's EVIL, and opposite 'a more perfect union' and 'and justice for all!' Note: Those terms are in your worshipped document, cons!

Government does many stupid things, and wastes much money, but it is NOT evil, conservatives! God instituted it (Rom. 13), as with taxes! Taxes are NOT stealing! Rid government of all its evils, and you will be doing good, but brain-washing conservative laymen that government is your enemy is EVIL! NO ONE is to do evil, especially people who wrap themselves in values and religion, conservatives!

Capitalism is a GREAT thing, when NOT used to dominate trade partners, or rip off the people, because you can! Free markets are great, when executive and CEO salaries are not jury rigged/manipulated to over-pay, or reward people for ruining others' lives! Businesses DO have a social obligation to the societies they exist within, conservatives!

Democracy is a GREAT thing, when elections are legal, run justly, ballots get counted, there's no fraud, and gerrymandering isn't used to secure turf! It's certainly better than dictatorships, or Communism.

Religion is a GREAT thing, when it advocates only for morally GOOD public policies! Free speech is GOOD, but bad and irresponsible speech, though legal, should be pressured out of the public square by all means possible! That's NOT promoting a good society!

Business is good, and profits are NOT evil; however, business can act bad, and when they scr_w the little guy, they are being used for evil.

Freedom is a GOOD thing, but freedom to do whatever you want is NOT the freedom our Founders meant/intended! The pursuit of happiness is GOOD, when it doesn't turn 100 percent selfish, or idolatrous! There are responsibilities of citizenship—NOT just rights, far-right conservatives! Even God teaches that!

Patriotism/love of country is GREAT! America's the greatest nation ever known to man, but she is NOT perfect, and it is NOT an 'apology tour' to admit our faults! Again, God says to confess your sins, conservatives! The ugly American stereotype (i.e., arrogant pride over wealth) is NOT a good look, internationally!

The rule of law/law and order is GOOD! Chaos, violence and crime are BAD things. But abuse of the law is also bad, like over-aggressive cops, or inhumanity or over-punishment in our criminal justice system!

Rugged individualism is a GREAT thing, but caring not one iota that poorer people can't afford to care for their physical ailments, because healthcare is too expensive, is NOT good, nor is segregation by education by over-priced colleges, to keep the rich separated from the others, by the dollar bill sent in as tuition, and football support! You know sports are over-hyped in America! Money-maker!

Property rights are great, but when government NEEDS (vs. wants) something for the common good, those rights of yours are secondary!

AS you CAN see, we shoot holes in the bad of EVERY party, and praise their good! We even slam moderates as wishy-washy, not intense, going along to get along.

Quite honestly, I ONLY like the beliefs I've described as positive/good, and if it, one day, takes a viable centrist third party that unites everyone who's not extreme, I'll work to that end! Take the GOOD in extremes, appreciate the emphases they're trying to push, but polar extremes ONLY lead to gridlock or domination, then un-doing all their achievements when they're pushed out of office.

MANY Americans CAN'T see how STUPID our FAILED political system is, because their lives and identity is tied to a political party. ONLY be for good principles. Stop the FOOLish party idolatry and worship, people!

Because if you DON'T, our polar extreme opposites will destroy our nation into two nations, by secession, or Civil War! Hard red and hard blue are a hard row to hoe. Learn to see the good in your opponent, and go share an experience with them, before judging—they're human, too. Extremes destroy America, even if well-intentioned. Thank you.

CONSERVATISM'S CRUD

(10/7/18)

Addressing this topic again is pulling teeth, and Jack Nicholson's needle in the eye (Terms of Endearment), but since the GOP has succumbed to CHUMPs convenient two years late whole-hearted adoption of political conservatism, HERE are their MANY sins/evils/problems/things that must change, or Christians must oppose these things:

ANY government money used to help ANYONE, or to fix ANY problem in society is labeled 'Socialism.' That means, conservatives WANT problems to remain, unless they personally contribute significant amounts to charities that fix them—which MOST do not (only token ones). To Hell with any people with problems!

They idolize money and business, CONTRARY to morals and God! 'Business is ONLY for profits' is THEIR phrase, and that literally means destroy the environment if you can profit from it, work and pay people like slaves, even children, if you can profit! Defraud consumers, injure them with unsafe food and dangerous products IF you can profit.

Hire illegals so you can pay less, then complain that the feds are letting in illegals. Their HYPOCRISY sin is glaring! And people with WELL more than they'd ever need to make it to the grave are deemed heroes, who tax policy is to favor, EVEN THOUGH they alone don't suffer, financially. This is OPPOSITE of their CLAIMED "Jesus!"

Business, cops and the military can do NO WRONG! LITERALLY, these people simply act as Ostriches to any evils in those three groups. That's a denial of reality—OPPOSITE to TRUTH, and the Jesus they clamor about. They LOVE that poor people have NO healthcare, so long as taxes never help them!

They CLAIM that the Constitution is on their side, but it is NOT! "To the states and to the people" MEANS the people have a stake and a say in what programs their tax dollars fund! There are MANY things our society needs to tackle that charities alone can't, and therefore WON'T fix. Cons don't care, and always vote against their being solved!

$3,000 per poor family, per year is NOT too much, or going to make them able to retire, but a con will ALWAYS vote against that, saying that it empowers Democrat votes! Tax cuts for the rich empower GOP votes, HYPOCRITES! And that even increases our debt, which you USED to care about.

NO moral person thinks that an unbalanced budget is GOOD, but cons DO, so long as government doesn't tread on them for any more taxes—especially from the richest, who they cater to and coddle, OPPOSITE of Jesus!

The rich are the ones who outsourced U.S. jobs, imported cheap labor, automate, layoff, benefit themselves, avoid taxes via lawyers and accountants, yet CONS want to bless and be like them (excepting generous ones, who are likely their MINORITY).

Everything costs money! WHO BEST to tax at a higher rate than those who it doesn't harm? And CONS LOVE to claim they are for God, even as their positions are OFTEN OPPOSITE from His. Why doesn't anyone ever point this out?

Taxes MUST be very low, because the feds are evil, and we don't want to live fiscally responsible, and pay our debts. THIS IS political conservatism!

The military have NEVER raped women, killed civilians knowingly (vs. as collateral damage), and cops have NEVER killed unarmed black men, cons ACT like, even though it's UN-true. TRUTH, as their key hero, Chump, proves every day, is NOT their concern, even though it WAS for the Jesus they claim—the MYTHICAL version of Him as white and 100 percent conservative—NOT the Jesus of the Bible and history! That mischaracterization is possible! (II Cor. 11:4)

And business is god. WHO GIVES ONE DAMN ABOUT EMPLOYEES AND WORKERS—only profits. This IS political conservatism! Have a society where the 10 percent, alone, enjoy life amazingly, and to Hell with the rest... just fend for yourself, as government ensures that the rich keep that lifestyle with NO obligatory social responsibilities! SIN!

Their TRICK is to preach that anything but this belief system is evil, and everyone NOT falling in line is a "liberal." I assure you I am NOT a liberal, nor am I in the con's camp! NOR IS GOD! But Bible-ignorant "Christians" have been LIED TO, by innuendo, that conservatism means Christianity! That's often a pastor SIN.

Do I get JOY pointing out conservatism's sins? NO, but I refuse to let God's Church be beguiled by Satan, via political conservatives!

One more aspect which I forgot... White privilege is imbedded in their system, historically! The BEST jobs, businesses and power positions are usually held by whites, percentage-wise. That's NOT an accident or random.

It started by white people starting America (as we know it). That's a head start on everyone else, except black slaves, who could NEVER be said to be privileged by that condition, though in America at the time. And MOST blacks here today, whose families have been here for hundreds of years trace back to slavery.

Their ancestors were NOT FREE, in most cases! That means whites got to develop a nation (and did a GREAT job at it!... Rockefeller, Edison, Ford, Lincoln, Washington, etc.), but NO ONE can honestly believe there was not advantage/privilege for their heirs, when blacks got freed centuries later! You'd be a fool to so argue!

But, if a con simply lumps every non-con into some IMAGINARY "liberal" camp, their idiot followers believe conservatism is 100 percent holy, and everyone else is evil. That belief should be illegal, because it's so hilariously ignorant! Yet FoxNews and talk radio plays on that lie 24/7... GOP perfect; all others demonic!

And CONTRARY to the GREAT Billy Graham (RIP), the far right has corrupted and taken control of the WASP church in America! He feared, and spoke AGAINST that temptation. 81 percent of white claimers of Jesus defied Billy, and brought Jesus' name into the mud they already lived in! Sorry, brethren, but it's TRUE!

"I don't want to see religious bigotry in any form. It would disturb me if there was a wedding between the religious fundamentalists and the political right. The hard right has no interest in religion except to manipulate it. --The GREAT Billy Graham (RIP)

HEED Jesus through HIM, WASPs, because you CERTAINLY don't care what God/the Bible says, except for select, cherry-picked political issues, AGAIN contrary to God (Ac. 20:27; Rev. 22:18) MAYBE you'll STILL respect Billy Graham, still speaking though now in heaven!? (Heb. 11:4) The Bible is LESS influential on Christians in politics than the Constitution!

CONSERVATISM'S UGLINESS

(2/24/17)

You're Seeing the UGLY Side of Conservatism This year...

- ◆ Church 'leaders' ABANDON morality for political power! APOSTASY!!!
- ◆ Return to 1950! Any good progress must be un-done.
- ◆ Rich white males rule, in Jesus' name?
- ◆ CLAIM you oppose judicial activism, then stack the Supreme Court in your favor.
- ◆ Deny Levit. 19:15, as a "Christian."
- ◆ CLAIM you want a smaller federal budget, then lie that Mexico will pay for a costly wall taxpayers WILL pay for!
- ◆ Force back alley (unsafe) coat hanger abortions, dog-eat-dog selfish greed is "good," etc.
- ◆ Uneducated whites want their jobs back that smarter and more industrious immigrants have "stolen."
- ◆ Dang the consumer; end regulations to bless rich business owners; threaten nuclear warhead build-up.
- ◆ END healthcare for the poor, minorities be danged; every man for himself; white reign, all in the name of Jesus!?
- ◆ ALL politicians are evil, so the swamp must be drained; the rich deserve MORE perks, though they have them all, already.
- ◆ Claim illegals have ruined the U.S. economy, all Muslims are terrorists, business is god, and to hell with workers.
- ◆ Women are supposed to obey their man, never work, just birth babies; gays and trans are NOT equals.

CONSERVATIVES & WELFARE

(10/1/16)

Conservatives' HUGE beef is with money, specifically being forced to help others through tax dollars! They'll hide that fact in code language like 'freedom' and 'wealth redistribution.'

WHO do you see working to solve society problems? Conservatives? They work to make money, and fight taxes at every turn. They DESPISE Welfare, and rarely speak of the Giving Pledge.

It's ALL about money, for their political theory, and one can NEVER have enough, or need to feel any need for give back, as that's 'government controlling and telling you what to do!'

They even touted Ben Carson as their theory's ideal—a black man who rose to be a doctor. Pull yourself up by your own bootstraps, personal responsibility mantra.

Opportunity is ALL you get in America, and if I have an inherited advantage, bad on you; work harder. NEVER tax my inheritance.

And economically, Reagan is always the prototype: 'lower taxes always boost the economy.' WE HAD 70 percent TAX RATES THEN and DIDN'T HAVE $20 TRILLION DEBT THEN, cons (or con artists?)!

If YOU speak with a conservative, they'd convince you ZERO taxes would make U.S. rich beyond your wildest imaginations. The smallest government humanly possible is their ideal.

And they ACTUALLY believe this is the ONLY option our founding fathers left us in our sacred Constitution!

In fact, anyone who opposes their dogma is pushing "Socialism!"—that dirty word. Bottom line, conservatives LOVE their riches, want to keep it that way, and to he_1 with anyone else—it's the American way.

What conservatives FAIL to see is how selfish, greedy and idolatrous that mindset is, even though many conservatives are religious.

YES, Welfare often gives too much, has fraud, abuse and waste, and can keep people dependent or make them lazy when it pays more than minimum wage or is permanent. ALL THOSE ARE WRONG!

But the idea that your sacred almighty dollar is more valued than the teachings of the Almighty God is where the U.S. majority REJECTS your theory!

If you'd take an HONEST assessment of your positions, it ALL focuses on money! 'I earned it and government's stealing it,' right? That's NOT what God says.

Church: QUIT being in the pockets of the world for political power! You're sleeping with a spiritual enemy, and you wonder why revival never happens. It starts with us! Money idolatry and Mt. 6:24!

'They're NOT my family members. They're lazy and won't work hard enough.' GO TO THE 'HOOD, conservatives! I've never gotten one of you to agree to go there with me.

Bring Ben Carson with you! If you don't want a South African uprising to occur here, you better start applying the Bible to your political views more (as you do so rarely).

YES it's WRONG that Democrats secure votes with handouts. Give the poor and many among minorities better offers! Mentor them into success and education.

Fix the 'no daddy' syndrome by being a surrogate in the inner city, and QUIT touting a theory antithetical to any help with their struggle, GOP!

Look at the life of Jesus, your hero. He HELPED peoples' lives get better. His constituents were the down-and-outers and society's outcasts!

The well-to-do and celebrities of life usually received the brunt of His criticism! READ it, and prove me wrong!

And churches chasing edifices and income through tithes that often compete for limited resources available to help others. No one speaks to this, but Jewish tithes helped the poor. Today's church donations are usually for buildings and salaries!

Get God's view on poverty and its solutions. Realize that you're part of the problem or part of the solution, and STOP worshipping a theory centered in selfishness.

I've said it before, if you want to consider centrist GOP's as "Socialists," I'll consider you anti-social. Before God, I'd rather be accused of trying to help; he sees all!

Any conservative who says they'd rather give through charity than being forced to pay for Welfare is usually misleading you. They want that money back for themselves give the poor a dime.

Even conservative policies of ending five federal agencies is so taxpayers pay less, as hundreds of thousands go on unemployment, or worse!

Even ending minimum wage is so rich business owners get richer. They're NOT going to pay you more unless forced to by a market they've glutted with workers from outsourced jobs and over immigration.

They want to pay you peanuts, or they would have paid more now, as they legally CAN! It's all for me, me, me!

Flat tax? Same thing! Let the lower classes suffer much to pay taxes but cause it to be easy on me who has excess! When your interpretation of the Constitution is greater than the Bible to you, you have a moral problem.

Yet, on nearly every other subject I'm conservative. Welfare reform is desperately needed, with NO FREEBIES without token repayment by compulsory civic service.

People get enough to not die or starve, but it's not with no strings attached. This comports with the Bible, uses tax dollars, and doesn't instill dependency!

Along with a mentoring program, fixing poor schools' results, making 'hoods safer, curbing gang violence, and giving REAL opportunity to those communities.

How could a conservative reject that? Only if the heart of many of them were exposed that they just want 'mo money by less taxes. DO YOU CARE ABOUT ANYONE BUT YOURSELF, Christians and conservatives?

We tell you what you NEED to hear, not always what you want to hear, because God wants you to know what He WOULD HAVE told you if you ever read His word!

Your wages and job opportunities by illegals who will work for less. This needs to be fixed! Get used to a lower standard of living until then, and learn to buy on the cheap.

The poor (often minorities) and non-college educated WILL suffer MOST in a global economy! If they can't be helped to keep up, educationally, we'll keep importing the best talent, and pressuring

CONSTITUTIONAL EXTREMES

(7/6/18)

A report says Democrat's future is Socialism. If that's true, if far right Trumpsterism ends, I'll return to the GOP at such 'future' date, or remain independent, and work to start a Centrist party, to compete against BOTH extremes! No one owes anyone life subsidies, except minimum healthcare, with token civic service repayment!

I've said before, by 2028-2032, two-state secession MAY be America's future, if divisions continue between libs and cons! Maybe a few centrist states, as well? People can be SO stupid demanding their extreme(s) (in a land where we all have to get along), and always having people wanting the OPPOSITE extremes! Grow a damn brain, for once!

This article is SO ridiculous on SO many levels! We REALLY need lawyers, vs. emotional opinions, when we discuss public policy. Please permit me to explain... the three things evangelicals really want in a Supreme Court justice <https://fxn.ws/2MRB8Hx>

Religious liberty CAN be, and sometimes IS used as code word for hating gays and aborters, and wanting to discriminate against gays, and NOT treat them as Jesus would (the definition of religious liberty!). And for this buffoon to say Roe and Obergefell were 100 percent unconstitutional shows he doesn't understand VALID law concepts!

Artificial intelligence, cars, cyber breaches, et al WEREN'T in the Founder's minds, nor gay marriage or abortion, or many other modern things our country faces. It is the foundational principles that last—not claiming that it's unconstitutional to address modern things consistent with sound, even old-fashioned values!

I don't like SCOTUS having nationalized gay marriage, or abortions for birth control, but that DOESN'T mean these decisions were far left political victories. In many matters, laws need to be consistent across the country! Things as important as taking a fetus' life, and 'marriage' seem to be quite serious and important matters, where states can't vary in exact opposites, well (where conflicts of laws apply) and all Americans be being treated equally thereby (i.e., the equal protection clause).

If we're going to take the Constitution as only able to address explicit things within it, instead of applying its principles to modern life which the Founders never envisioned, you wouldn't believe how badly things could go. Get a law degree before you opine so stupidly, please! #WOW

Divided States of America could become America's name in 2032. Blue vs. red states, legally separate as to their laws. Reds WON'T subsidize blues, or vice versa. If you love government assisting your life, move to a blue state; if not, stay in a red one. United as a country, but two separate sets of law. #2032

Self-proclaimed Christian "leaders" telling 45 they want SCOTUS picks to overturn Roe and Obergefell are a SAD joke, having done NOTHING the past 25 years to evangelize (then disciple up) ALL within culture (or penetrate it with salt and light), but chased money and fame as culture shifted—a factor SCOTUS considers. I had to wake them up in February 2015. Water well under the bridge, now!

And for any religious "authority" to mock stariu decisis, AS IF they had even heard of that term before last week, is to argue that every law can be overturned. We don't have to be certain this is a free country, or a democracy based on Capitalism, as even these foundational things aren't set in stone, to them! #Ludicrous!

"Unconstitutional" is SCOTUS decisions patently obvious (prima facie) wrong, compared to its clear and unequivocally explicit teachings, like deeming all men are NOT created equal, and have no inalienable rights, and the like. STICK to what you're not that good at, as pastors who DON'T do God's EDDBS priorities very well!

Hearing religious talking heads discuss Constitutional law concepts is like having a child on the old Cosby Show try to talk about adult topics. Better stick to Pudding Pops and Jell-O, because people earn law degrees for a reason, and aren't legally allowed to practice law without a license—having passed the bar exam!

We USED to have blacks as 3/5ths human, with ZERO rights, and they and women USED to NOT be able to vote. You could easily justify those determinations if SCOTUS took political conservatives' view of the Constitution! It's NOT liberal activism for responsible judges to do the right thing, from their learned perches!

And I'm NOT saying Roe or Obergefell were the morally right thing, but within their legal authority, and right in the sense that consistent standards being applied nationally did make more sense for such fundamental issues of life as life and 'marriage.' You were asleep at the wheel, pastors! Fess up!

Here's the Christian Cabal's "thinking" (IF you can call it that): We screwed up chasing fame and fortune. If we can barter with this very unpopular man, and label him a baby Christian, we'll deliver the sheeple vote if he promises to stack SCOTUS in our favor, in ways we ream liberals for doing. Hilariously WRONG and hypocritical!

And political conservatives KNOW the Constitution's standard for amending its contents is all but impossible in our politicized day, so they deny SCOTUS's right to do their job, claiming amendments are required, because they LOVE how their interpretation favors white privilege status quo. We tell the TRUTH, here!

The political conservative bemoaning the gay marriage and abortion decisions, basically is denying the Founding Fathers, who, though authoring the Constitution, included in I the needed role of SCOTUS justices, and their decisions!

P.S.: To my moron Christian lawyer wanna-be's... Plessy vs. Ferguson, Marbury vs. Madison, Brown vs. Board of Education, Dred Scot case... are you 'gonna straight-faced tell me those decisions weren't needed from SCOTUS, because we have a U.S. Constitution? Politicians DON'T interpret your sermons! Stay in your own lane!

Christian Cabal types are like armchair quarterbacks deciding well after a sports event has been decided, that some referee calls were inappropriately made, and now—well after all the jocks have showered and gone home—they're going to pull out the rule book, and make appeals to the NBA to overturn game results.

CONVERSATION WITH A FELLOW CHURCH MEMBER

(10/18-/19/18)

I had an AMAZING conversation with a real-life conservative, tonight. She ACTUALLY believes TURKEY may be holding Khashoggi, or killed him. I asked what her news sources were, and it was a website I'd never heard of. She attends my family's church.

She said 'I like freedoms, and don't want Texas restricted like California.' I asked what Cali citizens can't do that we can, and she couldn't name ONE! I told her I take the good from any position, right, left or middle, and it seemed to blow her mind.

I told her that, before God, you're responsible for supporting evil, by backing Chump, and though I listed so many examples, she brain-washedly denied it (even though our church heard a sermon, 'you have what you tolerate, and she did much more than tolerate tRump)! WOW.

We agreed on several policies. It got QUITE heated, and her standard response was the memorized, 'that's your opinion, that's a straw man, you're putting words in my mouth,' and 'I have a right to my beliefs, and you're not 'gonna change my mind.' SO cult-like! SCARY, but a nice woman! #WOW From the same church?

Update: Church & Conservatism

Continuing with last night's conversation, she hated Obamacare (I told her it had many problems, so we ~agreed), she wanted to keep her gun(s) (and I said, 'what's wrong with that?'), she wanted smaller government (and I agreed, but NOT ending five federal agencies, as Cruz wants—she had NO problem with ending them!), she said she didn't want her daughter going into a bathroom with a man (and I agreed, her NOT knowing I was very likely the first person to bring this issue up after Obergefell, as the next related issue Texas would face; a heavier church staffer who OFTEN wears paisley can testify I told him and others, SOON after--and on Twitter), she loves her freedoms, and hates government telling people what they ought to do (and used the light bulb as her example, when I asked her what in her life makes her feel BIG Brother is in her house, demanding she changes her life a lot—apparently, buying new-fangled light bulbs, eventually, is oppressive).

I didn't even get to address with her that anarchy freedom is NOT what our Founders prescribed! She wanted our borders closed, to which I told her we have every right to 100 percent control them, as to who we let in (so some agreement there), and she wanted low taxes--said she pays too many.

THIS is where it got even more interesting! I asked her (after a break) if she was mainly angry that ~50 percent pay in nothing, and have no skin in the game, and she said 'yes,' because I also reminded her that she just got an irresponsible tax rebate from Chump, when we have $22 trillion in debt!

I literally told her that INCREASES our debt, because you can't grow your way into an economy that will pay it down, as most nations have mature/modern economies, and there's NOT some huge untapped market for expansion, and someone has got to pay for the debt.

Her answer was, she didn't think it could be fixed, and BOTH parties are to blame. I agreed that BOTH take blame, but asked her if she knew what will happen in the future if China cuts us off (as I've asked their 'president' to do many times, on Twitter)... war, or our credit rate failing upon our default, or that plus them turning to another default currency, along with Russia, et al, will RUIN the U.S. economy, and her literal answers was, 'I know what's going to happen in the future (i.e., Bible prophecy), implying she'll be raptured out of here.

My EXACT response was, 'I will be, too, but prophecy is NO basis upon which to make any public policy, and it's irresponsible to do so when we never know when it will occur!

Finally, on her wanting lower taxes, I told her no one shouldn't have skin in the game, so those for whom paying in would cause inability to pay their bills do compulsory civic service as token repayment, and she was agreeable to that idea (I doubt she'd ever heard of it, as it's mine).

I also told her, 'you conservatives ALWAYS want lower taxes, but government (i.e., we the people) has BILLS to pay,' and anyone who buys a car has to know they have to repay the loan.

She literally said she didn't know anything good about Democrats, so I told her they see no problem with charities, businesses and government all working together to solve problems, and, to a small extent, helping people who suffer the most, JUST LIKE JESUS healed people, is for visiting the jail bird, caring for the lowly, down-and-outers, orphans, widows, etc., to which she THOUGHT she had me when she asked do I think government's job is to heal the sick?

I said I was referring to Jesus' values, and it's like Him to care that these matters get addressed, and un-Jesus like to be selfish.

The MOST fun was when I argued my Facebook speech: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> When I told her that, before God, she's responsible for supporting sin, and empowering a person who NEVER repents, apologizes, or admits fault, and who did all those things I list there (and then some,) she denied any guilt, and said, 'are you calling me an immoral person?,' to which I answered, 'NO, but your decision was!'

I told her, do you teach your kids to win at all costs, that the ends justify the means, or to reward bad behavior? She got a little quiet.

At one point she said, 'I'm not electing anyone to be a role model, a religious holy person, or even a standard bearer for my country,' so I asked her why she would tolerate a man whose intelligence and integrity were FAR below any president in our lifetime?

I also told her her band of folks NOW use their voting bloc threat to leverage tRump to their causes, but WHERE were those threats to withhold the 81 percent WASP vote when you could have chosen ANY of the OTHER 16 GOP candidates, ALL of whom were MORE moral and intelligent?

She said Hillary would have been worse than Chump, on policies, and I told her the ONLY moral decision for a Christian was to vote ALL GOP's but Chump, as I did (not meaning it arrogantly, I told her), as they could check her if she went extreme.

I never got the chance to educate her that IF you believe God is sovereign, and can do anything, you know He can overcome even politicians you think to be evil or immoral, but you NEVER vote to support evil politicians, as she had.

A Christian does NOT fully trust God if they believe they have to break their conscience to hope good policy will ensue, and, after all, you certainly don't go to the bottom of the barrel, with 16 better choices. Needless to say, there were several stunned silence moments, not often from my yackaholic side.

Amazingly, she never said ‘let’s stop talking politics,’ but she got REAL close, when we had a welcome interruption.

CONVERSATIONS are how you get people to think and consider, even if they’ll never open to facts or truth or morality! I can’t say it was enjoyable, but needed and necessary, and I had found her to be a somewhat jovial gal (prior to that conversation). People AVOID political discussions, for fear of fights, but how else can we ever seek common ground if we avoid each other full-time?

One final note, my kids, afterwards, asked how we got into that conversation. Thinking back on it, I asked her if she had heard any latest scoop on #Khashoggi, as I had had a busy day. That is, perhaps, one way you can “ease” into such conversations. Ask a person to inform you of the latest news events you may have missed out on.

One more conversation element which I recall: I told her Christians who voted for Chump dragged Jesus through the mud in the minds of lost people—the very same people I evangelize. I told her the world notices, and many articles have been written on how that decision harmed Christianity. As common, NO response!

I probably should wear a shirt that says, "WARNING: Speaking with me subjects you to possibly having our conversation entered into a book!" I believe that's why we RARELY get any debaters, here [i.e., on Twitter]. It’s probably why my former BFF told me about Ac. 5:13, many years ago (Houston; near ~2000).

One more thing: She bragged about how smart the pundits she listed to on a podcast and Michigan website were. NOTE TO EVERYONE: ANY time you give up your independent critical thinking, bowing to people with more education, you subject yourself to being manipulated, and intellectually abused!

I MUST add two more from last evening: Both she and her amiga mentioned to each other, "deep state." These terms clue you into what you’re getting into, like code words you’re dealing with people who may or may not buy into conspiracy theories. I told her, ‘you know, "conservatism" isn’t perfect, and doesn’t mean “holy!”’ as she had said we have to get rid of people who say they’re conservative, but aren’t.

I told her my two favorite politicians were Reagan and Romney, then told her how I changed parties the day Chump won, as I would have NOTHING to do with that scoundrel, for consciences’ sake, as a Christian. That may have baffled her.

She also joked about a child’s book called ‘Donald tRump Drains the Swamp,’ having NO IDEA (i.e., ignorance) that I promoted throw out all bums WELL BEFORE him, and he has connections to this Twitter site, through his first spokesperson to ABC news, when the Evangelical Council was first revealed. #ChristianCabal

That reminds me of how a local talk radio dude, this week, on Salem Communications (which she mentioned) said ‘Democrats want to kill you,’ and ‘want global jihad!’ I am NOT lying! A self-proclaimed Christian, and member of Fellowship Church, Grapevine, @MarkDavis "Responsible" "Christian" rhetoric?

And as her friend walked away, she said, ‘well, at least my 401(K) is doing well, to which I should have retorted, ‘me, me, me, money, money, money—just like Jesus taught, right?’ For conservatives, if anything government does costs money, their answer is ‘NO.’ (Unpublished)

Two weeks ago, on a Wednesday night, the church's TV screens were broadcasting FoxNews Sean Hannity show. Talk about political indoctrination! (Unpublished, 12/1/18)

CONVERSATIONS WITH A CALL GIRL & A DANCER

(12/29-30/17)

#QuestionsForAProstitute Would you open your mind up enough to hear out another option for making money, so you don't have to sell your soul, your body, and your dignity/self-worth, and risk death or disease for men who care NOTHING about you? You are property to your pimp, and are being USED!

[Private account:] ...I'm cool with abbreviation. What I'm not cool with is sweeping assumptions and condescension.

I did NONE of that! I suggested that any and all prostitutes can have a better life, even if not as good pay. Please tell me any assumptions or condescending in my tweet, as I never accept false characterizations. I want your proof, in specificity, please.

[Private account:] Well let's start with these: that we sell our "dignity and self-worth," that our clients don't care about us, and that we all have pimps. Is that specific enough for you?

Any man who pays you for sex doesn't care about yourself or your dignity. I never said all prostitutes have pimps, but that prostitutes are pimp's property, in pimps' minds. There is NO dignity in selling your body, and low self-esteem or poverty/desperation are often the causes. Nice try, though.

[I can just imagine how political critics in the future would depict that conversation. The guy made contact with a prostitute, in public (as if I were Jimmy Swaggart, or something). The Devil can spin almost anything evil! Jesus, friend of sinners, did NOT avoid any type of people, with love! Duh 101 Be like Him! ONLY on Twitter could our thoughts reach at least two claiming prostitutes! I wouldn't even know what area of town, or which streets to see one in real life. Who says it's not a platform for meeting people anywhere in the world, to seek to influence thoughts for the good? Amazing social media platform! #Grateful]

[Private account:] So you assume to know the operation of their minds? I didn't realize you were a clairvoyant. My bad. And if we're all pimps' property, how does that work for those of us who don't have pimps?

1. You haven't refuted what I've said as untrue. 2. You are still the property of any 'ol paying John—a sex object. THAT is a sad use of yourself you were NOT born for. Quite defensive, too, with all the replies, but glad to engage the conversation! Sad as well you can't see my interest is in your betterment!

[Private account:] 1. Yeah, I have refuted what you've said. My clients do in fact care about me. They're lovely human beings. 2. If you've never been a SW or a client, you are doing nothing but assuming and judging when you make blanket statements like that.

NO man cares about you in that "business," unless you put out, for pay. I have NEVER judged you—only suggested there are better ways for yourself to make a living. YOU are the one reading in and assuming things. In fact, I have yet to tell you that better way, and probably won't. You're not open.

Also, lovely human beings don't abuse or use vulnerable or even naive women, and you are saying I can't know anything about your business unless I become a John. HORRIBLE logic. You really should try college, if you haven't, already! (and that's NOT the better way I recommended).

[Private account:] 3. Of course I'm defensive. I don't come to your job and make outlandish, uninformed assumptions about you and your patrons. 4. We are no one's property, as we are not things. We are human beings with the same autonomy afforded to anyone else.

My job doesn't require me to forsake my self-worth and dignity, and all I did was reply to a hashtag. I never contacted you. Your delusion/deception is saying you are no one's property or thing. You are a living sex toy one can't buy and keep at home, buy pay, then leave for home. Think harder about your situation.

[Private account:] By assuming that we need someone like you in order to "better" ourselves is incredibly condescending, judgmental and self-righteous. Your tone has been nothing but dismissive, presumptuous and disdainful. Not very Christ-like if you ask me.

You 100 percent blew the understanding. You do not need me, because I never even insinuated that you do. I never said I was better than you. Your profession is not the way you were made to earn a living. I said that many tweets back. You DID hit on the answer—Christ. I haven't even dismissed, but engaged you!

I do like her spunk/feistiness to defend her position. If she used that for something socially redeeming, she'd have a great life! More energy than many people. I'm assuming there's a LOT of repressed guilt that makes one that defensive, as if she were justifying her choices to her dad(?).

I'm quite sure she'd go ballistic if I said her job is immoral. That would be being judgmental, when one has ZERO interest in facing the truth, and possibly admitting they had made some wrong choices.

[Private account:] ...but I hope that this little debate has at least given you some insight into our side of the coin, even if just for the sake of interesting subject matter.

Not at all, but maybe if you answer these FEW questions: Why and how did you get into the business, and why do you stay in it (and what do your parents think)?

[Private account:] Thank you for the genuine questions. I got into it to pay my way through school while having the flexibility to study hard, stay healthy and have enough spare time to continue my extracurricular activities and volunteer efforts...

1. EVERYthing I ever type is genuine. 2. I'm retweeting so others learn of your plight/situation, as well (and offering prayers that you graduate sooner, and trick less). God truly has better ways for you to earn that valued diploma! There are extremes no one has to go through for such a worthy ideal!

[Private account:] (Cont.) My mom doesn't know. My dad isn't bothered by it. He was concerned for my safety at first (understandably) until I showed him how thoroughly I screen and what measures I take to ensure my well-being. My stepmom is very supportive.

Good mom; questionable dad, at best. Please consider your future husband and kids! Also, diseases. Your safety and health are more a concern to me than obeying daddy. In your case, I'd tell mom, and obey her more. It seems you know how she'd RIGHTLY respond. Your sexuality is a gift to one man, for life. Don't degenerate.

P.S.: I have four college degrees, and about 60 post-grad hours in two subjects. I KNOW how expensive college is (I even oppose it's expense, politically). Taking out a loan, or working for a business that matches or offers tuition payments takes longer to pay off, but you can retain your good feeling about yourself [Private account:] Whoops, I forgot to answer the "how!" The "how" is pretty boring, actually. I basically researched online until I was confident enough to place an ad. Not very exciting, I know.

I like your energy. You could REALLY go FAR using it in a better way! Most people are lazier than to forsake some tricks to tweet this much. Also, from your replies, you DO seem like college material. Just try the loan route, and God will give you the ability to repay it when you land the job you were made for! ...And, that work experience you CAN put on the 'ol resume.

[Private account:] Well how about that, we agree on something! Do you think higher education should be funded by the government or by individual employers? Or perhaps a combination of both?

By students and/or their parents, but also I'm all for community colleges. Parents need to boycott universities that over-charge, and government may need to use all its leverage to rein them in! I can teach you how to get an excellent degree for about 1/3rd the cost, as my son is, but I won't until he's through.

[Private account:] The loan route is a viable option, but our student loan debt system in this country is what makes me want to stay as far away from that as possible. Though considering how long it took me to figure out what you meant by "NRG," perhaps I'm not as sharp as I thought!

Phonics. Sound it out! Loans are far superior to prostitution, as a financing mechanism. I don't know about the financial aid system, but if you find an expert on college loans, they don't have to indebt you for life. Tell me if your phonics skill, learned or not, gets my 'NRG' abbreviation—first quiz.

[Private account:] Fair enough. My stance on the matter is quite a bit more socialist but that's a whole other can of worms. I have a friend who went to Baylor. It wouldn't be my choice based on some issues of inclusion, but from what I know it's a good school.

So what does "NRG" mean, college girl?

[Private account:] Ha ha, yes, it took me a solid 40 seconds but I was able to finally read it as "energy!"

You have your first "A!" You're well on your way. I would try the loan method. ...God loves you—I do in Christ. Bye.

I've never, nor would I ever evangelize at a bar, or a row of prostitutes, or at a gay bar. It's NOT a sin to drink (vs. be drunk, or tipsy), and no one sin causes anyone to be facing Hell! (Jn. 3:16) The one sin that does that is rejecting God's FREE offer of Heaven. Doing any one sin makes us accountable.

If I were ever allowed another Jn. 4-like conversation, I'd add, do you have a little sister? Would you advise her to follow in your footsteps? And, of course, that conversation was NOT evangelism. I didn't feel led that was the need of the person at the moment (not receptive). Evangelism is telling the Gospel to lost people.

ODDly, that conversation caused only one response—I am offering to speak at any church in a way that WILL get your lazy laymen evangelizing. If you are in DFW, I'll do it for free. Anywhere else, ONLY for my frugal costs the day of. I am TIRED of unevangelistic Christians, and want to wring their necks with my words!

If you are a Christian, and you do not regularly evangelize, you are backslidden. NOTHING LESS that speaking the Gospel to a lost soul (and inviting a faith response) is evangelism. You may not know that, and your pastor may never have told you. They don't want to offend you, and lose paying customers!

I know of ZERO pastors who are willing to lovingly reprove their church members, by telling them the statistics (five percent ever win one soul to Jesus), asking them to raise their hands, with eyes closed, to indicate the percent in their church who evangelize much, then calling on them all to follow him out the door (instead of the worship service) to evangelize nearby.

Update: Profiting from Prostitutes

(1/1/18)

I'm off on a tangent, today, because my book proposal has two weeks and one day left, and I'm enjoying a day off, the way I enjoy holidays—writing. Exposing your body to strangers for money is evil, strippers. God never wanted such a sacred gift revealed to the masses for filthy lucre in your G-strings!

[Private account:] I haven't even found the words to respond to this ignorance yet.

I'll await your mind catching up with your body, and will expect your reasonings never to come from the book God wrote, so it should be interesting! I support your legal right to do what you do, but suggest it is not the right thing for you to be doing. Awaiting reply...

[Private account:] I'm waiting to see you point the blame on those who put my job in business, and continue the need for us to be around. Remember that body autonomy is a thing, although it's not found in your good book... it exists.

I wasn't DM'd [direct message'd] by your sinful owners, but had I been, I would! Your body is yours—no one else's, but it is also a temple for God—NOT the Devil, which is the way you are using it. You will regret that use decades from now. I'm sure you're young. Also, your looks will fade, so it is NO career plan! (Pv. 31:30)

No conversation, but at least the stripper retweeted my post. Her decision [not to continue relies].

CREATIONISM & CONSERVATISM?

(8/29/18)

Some believe there's no God, because you can't show or prove 'him' to them. Therefore humans are in charge of all decisions, and making the world how they want it to be, and all claimed "holy" books from God aren't, and can be disregarded. And there are no moral absolutes, but what's right is whatever you want.

And even holy books differ, further proving inconsistency, from lack of a god's existence, and any similarities in values are mere random happenstance, because all things in life are ultimately random—the result of an evolving chaos, with no planned order by any planning source. Man is the ultimate boss.

Because you know, nothing is true unless it can be proved (sarcasm). If a tree falls in the forest where no humans are, we can't know if a sound was made (even though trees falling always make noise), says these believers, as no natural law, or laws of nature, science/physics exist, to them.

And all things eternally existed, or started by random chance, say they. There is no point or purpose in life but to make as much money as humanly possible, any way you can under (or skirting) the law, or to also do good, so you can feel good about yourself, then die. There is no other reason to do good, and no limits to money-making.

And in this mental construct, everyone has their own ideas of how things ought to work, based on selfish wants. There is no real reason to care what others need or want, unless it prevents wars. Every man for himself. We are all here struggling for survival, and just happen to see others doing the same thing.

So we organize designers/organizers, to bring order/rules, to keep the conflicts down. We label it government. Every nation has its own set of rules, often in conflict, and people do or don't obey them. Police forces strive to ensure compliance, if there are enough of them, but not too many, and we punish violators with monetary fines, or jail time.

The people the collective hires to make those laws have to make rules which (enough of) the people accept, or there's mutiny on the bounty. Yet, give the people free reign for their desires, and there's disorder/chaos, and everyman for himself, cut-throat, dog-eat-dog-ism, we they say is behind all this system anyway.

Just vote and pay taxes, and you're good. Work your job and enjoy your time off, then you die. Nothing further needed. No civic duty, no need to self-improve—just comply with the system. The military, ultimately, will ensure you do. And when nations clash over limited or desired resources, they'll also ensure our nation gets its way, or forever takes the lives of those of other nations wanting what we want.

So, we humans design agencies (Ex.: the U.N., etc.) to broker international disputes. A referee, to facilitate differing desires in conflict, and keep global order. But then self-absorbed nations all seek to sway and corrupt it to their own pleasures and favoriting, known as 'politics,' because, after all, there are no moral absolutes—only what I want vs. what you want. Justice is a term we like, but life's not fair. So wars, eventually break out.

After a time, one wins, or we tire of killing humans, so we agree to go our separate ways, and deal with our conflict more peacefully, through government diplomats, and pretty much ignore the referee, unless he/she is for our causes and agendas.

We work separate deals, one nation to another, but limited resources and competition ensure alliances will have rivalries, so the U.S./E.U./NATO vs. BRIC and Communists arises. All over limited assets, ineffective global rules or enforcement, failure to agree on rules, and selfishness (a sin, but not if there are no morals, other than what I want).

Lying, hacking, deceiving, secret nuclear warhead tests, and bribes... all are O.K., because there are no morals, and all those things advance our nation alliances' causes, though conflicting with our opponents'. The ONLY concern in life is money and peace, money representing assets. And every nation for itself means trade deals and peace treaties must advance our interests.

Money, me and my/mine are the standard, and I set the standard, because I am boss/god. Whatever is good for my lifestyle is good, or moral. Your job is to decide that for yourself, as I do myself, and never the twain shall meet.

So we devise political theories to make this system more coherent and palatable. We label it 'personal responsibility,' because that sounds honorable. Our standard is self and silver/money, so anything we do that advances our nest egg is moral. It doesn't matter how we acquire it, or use it, and make gosh darn sure that government thing gets as little of it as humanly possible, because that would distract from my happiness, and even our U.S. constitution enshrined the concept I'm here for my pursuit of the same!

That organization we devised to set bounds and rules is even evil, because it steals my money, in the form of evil taxes, and even more evil are these critters in society who understand that entity has costs which have to be paid by someone.

They're always clamoring to steal more of mine, because they hate me having money, and want a bad economy. They have to be the worst lot of us all! Because, after all, money and me are life's ultimate purpose, and those critters want to control me like a slave, from cradle to grave, and take my guns and gold! And I have to own a militia, to ensure they never succeed at those aims.

And they want our world to be one, so there are no borders, so everyone in the world can come here and ruin my country. They even hate me making money off oil, by claiming the sky is falling, or at least darkening, because it's all about them wanting in my wallet.

That evil government, again, always wanting to control me, and steal my money. So we back a sub-human named tRump, because he alone will defend us against their horrific forces ruining life in America, for evil ends. He is our god!

CRITIQUE OF THE CHRISTIAN CABAL

(9/11/18)

Updating our free book, Christians For Trump, with the latest Christian Cabal antics. EVEN if such a group changed ('repented'), to be for moral principles and politicians, their track-record of honorable actions, words and advocacy/support of SIN has tarnished the Church in America, for a long time.

Let's deal with their position: The Christian Cabal NEVER admits to having done anything wrong, in backing CHUMP. They believe Hillary was worse, on policy, and policy was all that mattered, due to Roe. Even voting for no one would have been voting for her, so you support the most evil and ignorant of all candidates running, say they.

And even though they have NEVER rebuked that nut, publicly, or used the power they believe they have, to sway WASPs, to withhold votes if he doesn't change (like John the Baptist and Nathan would have...putting MORALS over power), they STILL maintain they are serving God by advising tRump!

One of them said, 'you can't be heard if you're not at the table.' That's a LIE, as public opinion and clamoring voters without paid lobbyists get heard! They are an unregistered lobbying group!

Also, this bunch NEVER cares about justice, though God does, and the fact that they warp that man's puny brain to only hear what they claim is Christian viewpoints is sinful bias, favoring (even establishing, in practice!?) one religion, but that doesn't bother them.

One of them, on two occasions, has defended the group using Scripture, but his verses (as I pointed out to him) are not specifically relevant: Paul spoke with politicians, and Daniel served a king, but the Christian Cabal SAID 45 was saved, so they're either NOT discipling him, or they're horrible at it, or they know, but won't admit he's likely not a Christian, so they're still trying to evangelize him. Either way, their results are seen by no one.

They'll blame that on God, just as preachers OFTEN claim they preached biblical sermons, but the growth results are in His hands, when they NEVER go BEYOND sermonizing, to relationally disciple. Campus Crusade and The Navigators have RESULTS to show, both in numbers saved, and the maturity of those they work with—not just preach to!

One poo-poo'd a critic as "elitist," for noting a FACT... that MANY, if not most Trump voters were NOT college-educated. Blue collar is a FACT (physical more than mental labor), and does NOT mean people don't have common sense, or are stupid, though more people without college would be less cerebral than graduates, as they couldn't qualify to get in.

They're usually thought of as Democrats, but Trump voters have shown us even the GOP has a host of non-college grads (and you'd expect that, as only ~1/3 of Americans go to college). And the GREAT thing is, college doesn't guarantee anyone success! Many who don't go do just fine (Bill Gates did alright for himself!). My point is it is NOT 'elitist' to identify distinctions between groups.

Elitist is arrogance that you're better, or have superior assets to another. Money is usually the topic, not brains. You can be a complete nerd, and a good 'ol boy will out hustle you, and do better, as book knowledge alone doesn't trump street knowledge! But I digress...

This bunch NEVER admits it sinned. You sin by APPROVING and rewarding THIS:
<https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> You sin by worshipping a party that's NOT perfect, as if it is perfect! You sin by flip-flopping from centrism to conservatism, and claiming the 'conservative' word is God's position on all policies, though they haven't the intellectual honesty to say it that explicitly in public.

You sin to NEVER rebuke the most needy of it person in government, because you made a deal with the Devil to deliver WASP votes in exchange for support, IF anti-Roe SCOTUS picks get had! You sin by lying that one is a 'baby Christian,' so Christians will vote for them!

You sin when one of them lies by saying some Christians don't pray for the president, so they need to read their Bibles more, when we pray for him, as led, but our prayers are likely NOT the same as the Cabal's!

I would NEVER pray for God to bless his bad policies or character, but for justice, and the judgment the Cabal's rebukes will NEVER bring, because they never happen, because he has them by the "wherever," because they are in cahoots, and foisted him on the American people, for power idolatry over overturning Roe.

They MAY have rebuked him, in private (I doubt it); their apologies for and defending him lend to that being unlikely, as does his adamant disdain for any criticism; but even if they ever have, it didn't work, so the Bible teaches that you shun such obstinate unrepentance... not continue to coddle and praise!

But you CAN'T, when you pacted with evil, because he may flip, and start opposing your agenda, slaves! If they EVER reproved him, I'm certain it was NOT often, and in very subtle, weak ways.

One of them even stated that 'we spoke love to him' at the White House dinner. The Bible says speaking the truth in love; not just speaking love alone! #WOW

One I referenced earlier said Paul spoke with politicians. He did when he was unjustly on trial, and it wasn't to advise policy, and he even rebukingly corrected a politician! (Ac. 26:25) That same Cabal member from Israel TRIED to use Daniel as applicable, serving a king, and mentioned their spiritual influence ministry, until I reminded him THEY called him a 'baby Christian')so why the need to try to evangelize him, or where are the discipleship results the public sees), and he went silent, and went on to laymen who have less ability to refute!

They even used their Southern Baptist leverage to get @drmoore to partly apologize for speaking TRUTH with moral conviction (regarding Chump), claiming his views may have even been in the small SBC minority. One plus God is a majority, Russell/@drmoore. The Cabal tried to get you fired. Do you think that's a godly bunch that you have to submit to? Re-read that Bible I know you love, if you believe you have to buck up to worldly pressures. You did an honorable job for our nation, and for God, sir!

This group has found ONE article that says they're doing good work... ONE. Christian leaders from other nations have expressed serious concerns about Jesus' reputation, with their schemes, and the majority in America thinks lowly of them, and their "champion!" (a word one of them expressly used, June, 2016, to ABC News).

'It's ALL about policy,' they say. EXACTLY what does that lie of a belief teach the world? That Christians don't care about morality! That couldn't be more opposite the Bible than if the Devil himself mouthed such stupidity!

And one of them FLIP-FLOPPED from Jeb, to Cruz, to Chump. Any child could see the downward spiral of those hypocritical departures from the faith! I'm sure, reading this, those members will say I'm biblically unloving, here, because these people, being ~'famous,' NEVER hear reproving truth, by yes men they surround themselves with! #TRUTH

And on policy, let's see how well they've done (IF you believe, like their chief buffoon, that America IS a Christian nation/theocracy—a lie some of them have publicly denied, which is in their favor):

FAVORING Israel at the expense of Arabs and Islamists who aren't terrorists (terrorists, another matter entirely) is NOT good public policy, nor necessary to obey Gen. 12:3, or Ps. 33:12. Declaring Jerusalem their capital, moving the U.S. embassy there, and yesterday shutting down Palestinian offices in D.C. are STUPID, incendiary, and these immoral and idiotic acts very well may lead to Bible prophecy, inciting Israel's enemies. II Pet. 3:12 is NOT obeyed by doing evil, but evangelism, for the Christian.

How about life-or-death acts of theirs, to overturn Roe? If any state banned every abortion, that group will have blood on their hands for any who die by self-help! Get raped? Live with it, even the 2-3 days after, say they. Incest? SAME thing! Mother's life? You must die, mom, and your family, kids and hubby have NO SAY—just fall on the sword, say this "Christian" bunch.

And what of the women bound-and-determined NOT to be moms, after unplanned or unsafe sex? NO medical care available to them, on threat of fine, jail or 'the sword,' to this bunch. Coat hanger or black market drugs, and if it harms your health or physical safety, they don't care (even though government has to care, by law).

Christian laymen are NOT, statistically, discipled to maturity, often... just attend and hear sermons, sing and give. The result is five percent of them EVER win one soul to Christ—in their lifetime! FAILURE! Only ten percent of them are fully committed to Him, even though their FALSE doctrine'd version of the Gospel requires life-long full commitment, or one can't be saved. FAILURE, again.

And only thirteen percent of them regularly read the Bible, so their ability to discern truth and morality falls on hearing sermons, which leads to the I Cor. 1-4 pastor worship sin, and is OPPOSITE I Jn. 2:27. What's the result? Self-appointed "leaders" God had me organize for good/morality, warped that aim to support the dumbest and most sinful of all living presidents, and the Cabal is STILL in the tank for his ilk.

And they fancy themselves 'king makers,' and basque in the glow of media attention (one, especially—FBC Dallas). HAVE I SAID ANYTHING UN-TRUE, OR SINFUL, HERE? No, simply things they do everything in their power to keep hush-hush, or to spin holy. Your actions are NOT holy, Christian Cabal guys! Period. Bye.

Update: Tricks of the Trade

Does anyone guess what I'll be doing the next three hours? Yes, that stern correction/rebuke/reproof WILL be in Christians for Trump book. One more... Their pied piper says 45 has kept all his promises, and is the most pro-life president, ever. I just detailed how that's NOT such a great thing! Re-read it.

"Pro-life." IF that term/phrase ONLY meant you value life over death, it would be harmless. But it has been co-opted/corrupted/warped into code words for voting GOP! The Christian Cabal acts (it IS an act, before God... NOT 100 percent sincere) like Democrats are Satanic, and have NO moral positions. I guess minority pastors NOT at WASP churches are apostates? But I digress...

It is a slogan to rile up NON-thinking Christian voters. You're either for us or against us, all determined by asking if you're "pro-life." I am as opposed to killing babies in the womb as the most ardent Christian Cabal member, but they want to force the issue, by government.

NONE of them care that their "conservative" political beliefs ALWAYS preach that government force is contrary to "freedom," judicial activism of the liberals is evil (like stacking SCOTUS with anti-Roe justices, via 45), and that you have to be self-sufficient, and NOT rely on the government, which relying on government they are EXACTLY doing, to get Roe overturned.

HYPOCRISY IS A SIN, in the Bible/before God, but when you adopts a sin-to-win strategy, sin is no issue, for a "Christian," no less! I even heard a sermon called 'The end justifies the means,' and though that phrase is morally repugnant and wrong and sinful, the sermon WARPED its meaning to teach that you focus on the end reward to endure the present trial(s)—which is true. Warping truth is NOT moral, and I've used the word 'warp' several times in this morning's detailing of the Christian Cabal's antics. SIN isn't acknowledged, however, but claims of the opposite.

One more TRICK (something Christ would NEVER do) is they tout "unity" amidst real division within their denomination! They had one of two black pastors open their 2018 Convention, in Dallas, preaching such. Unity is NOT uniformity or conformity, and differing opinions are NOT divisive, as @drmoore in 2017 wrote (you can still be united to the cause of evangelism, while differing on politics).

That GREAT man got pressured to back off/walk back from his prior statements and articles we recite in that book. That type pressure is EVIL/sin. For any Christian to have supported THIS is an abomination—PERIOD!: <https://bit.ly/2jIYEOf>

May I recite YET ANOTHER hypocrisy sin? These people PREACH that God is in control of everything, and we can trust Him. Their ACTIONS toward becoming lobbyists, supposedly for God, does NOT show faith in Gods ability to sovereignly reign, even were Hitler in power, but taking matters in their own hands, JUST LIKE "leaning on your own understanding" (Pv. 3:5-7).

IF they had done the RIGHT thing, they would have NOT voted for 45 or HRC, and the YUGE GOP Congress wins would have kept any evil or any dumb policies of hers in check! I DID vote this way, by the way.

They demonstrated ZERO faith in their GOP Congress persons, ZERO faith in God to work, even with Hillary as president, ZERO trust in the intelligence of Christian voters (manipulating them by tricks I detail; perhaps 20 in total), and ZERO commitment to morality, supporting a man who stood for the exact opposite!

Need I say more? (Heb. 11:32) I would LOVE a poll to be conducted by the media: Do you believe the actions of Trump's "Evangelical Council" represented Christianity, Jesus and God morally well, or not so well? @ABC @CNN @CBS @NBC @FoxNews The majority will say, 'NO.' Please conduct such a poll!

Biblical reproof, upon continual resistance, shuns/withholds socialization! (Mt. 18; I Cor. 5) Can any U.S. citizen say they have noticed any moral improvement in DJT? Please conduct a poll on that question, as well! @ABC @CNN @CBS @NBC @FoxNews "Policy only matters," the Christian Cabal will claim!

IF policy alone mattered, and morals are NOT the foundation of life, it would have been moral to be for Hitler, if he promised Roes overturn (to this bunch). This sentence appears to be hard for some to grasp. If Hitler were American, the Christian Cabal would have been all for him, if he promised two conservative SCOTUS justices.

One more: If policy alone matters, besides my having shot holes in DJT's top two "Christian"-inspired policies, you better start teaching your kids that morals either don't matter, or not as much as what government does, even though your political belief system considers government evil, and a freedom-stealer which you should disdain.

I will NEVER agree with the Christian Cabal's actions, attitudes, claimed (warped use of) Bible verses, or priorities (i.e., policy trumps morality)! You sinned, and you are as unrepentant about it as your hero/"champion." Birds of a feather? You're NOT political experts, as the policies you pushed for have also proven.

I once wrote, had I been a pastor when Roe was passed, I would have done something to stop it. Sanctioning aborting at will, to make up for poor planning, is NOT good public policy! The procedure was a necessary evil, to prevent self-help, but opening it up to 'abort-like-a-sport' was a mistake!

IF the Christian Cabal EVER grew a backbone, and threatened to walk, if the CHUMP didn't clean up his act (and intelligence), they'd have some credibility! They already have Kavanaugh. Now, TWO YEARS LATER, doing the right thing is better late than never! They fear 46-1 will turn on them, as he's FLAKY.

And when you ally and align your soul with a deal with the Devil, that SLAVERY ALWAYS bites you in the butt! You don't have the freedom to choose righteousness, lest you lose the 'gains' you think you've achieved. That's why God NEVER instructs believers to make deals of trade with evil politicians! NO Bible verse says to!

This is SO beyond Roe. The Christian Cabal will NEVER (or at best, rarely) tell you they wouldn't be for Democrats under any circumstances, so they buy all the EVIL that comes with a 100 percent GOP vote, for two main issues... Roe and homosexuals. Politics ONLY is to address those two matters, and the Bible ONLY addresses them?

REST ASSURED, in their hearts (vs. mouths), many if not most Christian Cabal members want gay marriages overturned. They WON'T fight for that for years, if not decades... 'gotta get Kavanaugh and his type in there, first!

Let's address the ONLY valid issue the Christian Cabal has... the Constitution's 10th Amendment. The powers not delegated to the feds by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people. The legal claim is that Roe (i.e., aborting) is NOT delegated to the feds, so Roe was an unconstitutional ruling.

There are clear actions the feds can and can't do. The states do all that remains from what the feds are bound to do, or not do. Case law and words within that document, and legal principles consistent with that document have allowed SCOTUS to rule on federal actions that aren't explicitly written in words in that document, but are consistent with its words and intentions!

Local laws that conflict, in ways detrimental to America, have to be consistent, and hence, nationalized. Important matters (like life) have to be, too. Welfare is NOT detailed in that document, but isn't contrary to the "general welfare" duty of government to preserve, stated in that document (like health and safety applies to protection against self-help abortions).

If cases, lawyers and SCOTUS weren't needed, to interpret and apply what the document says, we've wasted much money and manpower these past 200+ years, conservatives. THIS is the origin of political conservatism's disdain for the feds! They even claim their freedoms are 'stolen,' like they live lives as slaved of Uncle Sam.

I had one guy claim, using the Bible, that the income tax is theft! #WOW Not only is America NOT Old Testament Israel, nor the Church, the claim is laughable. But these LAYMEN learn these notions from talk radio, and radicalized activist pastors (rarely verifying things for themselves, with their Bibles, or even logic)!

So if any American has learned anything, the past three years, #MoralsMatter, and good public policies matter! May the people with the best ideas win office, from either party, and may we #NeverAgain vote in people with NO moral compass, but aspire to elect people we can respect, who live honorably! Thank you.

The publication one Christian Cabal member cited as praising their work (i.e., Christianity Today), sure doesn't praise them often!: <https://bit.ly/2MI8FcG> <https://bit.ly/2MiZ6e8> <https://bit.ly/2Nx4j6W> Only cite them when they praise you, like DJT does the media. That's NOT objectivity! Peas in a pod/birds of a feather?

Please READ: <https://bit.ly/2x5Vg2n> <https://bit.ly/2NBKafM> <https://bit.ly/2OaFV7Y> A positive, godly influence?

I'll NEVER be corrupted by the so-called moral standards we all saw, from the Christian Cabal, who behave like spineless chameleons! IF they are ever for intelligence and integrity, what they do will matter. If they continue worshipping power access, fame/ego, money, and biased politics, I'll continue to hammer them!

One 'mo before I go: One Christian Cabal member adamantly denied that their group of 40 existed after the campaign, and claimed it 'disbanded.' Yet, he and others defend their 'speaking into the life,' of 45, even now. You CAN'T engage double-speak, and have it both ways! (Lk. 7:32)

That's the B.S. of lawyers! He says ~700 pastors are now involved, so 40 vs. 700, campaign vs. administrating, title vs. function/acts... These are technicalities only lawyers could appreciate. There's NO public accountability of anything said or done by these lobbyists, or of DJT by such Cabal members.

I only know of two stellar examples of men of principles, character and conviction, among the Christian Cabal, who LEFT that group, citing conscience... One I had never heard of; the other, pastor @JamesMacDonald, of Chicago. @drmoore HAD been right there on convictions, until his job got threatened by them!

Dr. Charles Swindoll is the moral Billy Graham of our time! @chuckswindoll The mantle of moral clarity and conviction has been passed, for as long as he's with us! And @RickWarren will inherit it, after that, just like @_GregLaurie_ did Billy's evangelism mantle. Time for the younger pastors to step up, on BOTH fronts, to pass the torch/baton, on after those men leave or retire!!!

My decision on where to place my church membership ALL goes back to this morning's lesson... ESPECIALLY as a "Christian," you do NOT practice what you preach when you embrace and defend a person of THIS demonstrated lack of character (<https://bit.ly/2jIYEOf>), NO MATTER WHAT good policies others teach him, when he had only two main policies before the election.

Forgive and forget those old claims? They were NEVER acknowledged as wrong, or 'repented of,' and though they're old, now, ALL that happened is time passed! Conservatives slam Bill Clinton for 'Move On'/brushing things under the rug, but the Christian Cabal did the EXACT same thing with those listed sins.

If you are a person whose conscience WORKS, there are boundaries, beyond which you choose NOT to support a person, especially when they KEEP stretching them, unrepentantly, and are boastful about them, NEVER apologizing, from pride sin. You say 'enough's enough' (like Rev. MacDonald), and put your foot down, even if your party loses as a result!

Anything less is free-willedly choosing to value power over principles/morals/values, and God NEVER teaches any Christian to do that, even for the life of the unborn, sacred as it is. If morals aren't foundational to Christianity, you've built your house on sinking sand, Cabal members! Hard TRUTH.

And NOT moral perfection! I coined the phrase, 'we aren't electing a pope.' But ALL 16 other GOP candidates in 2016 had more intelligence and integrity than 45, yet you advocated for him before "Christians!" NO MORE the party of thought over emotion, family values, God and the religious right, but the religious WRONG!

P.S.: For "pastors" who embraced evil, so good might come (CONTRARY to Rom 6:1), their criticism of their critics of their morals rings hollow, and falls on deaf ears. Such is the loss you suffer when you sacrifice morals for power idolatry; the credibility of your platform DWINDLES! (Unpublished)

Update: Southern Baptist Autonomy?

And one Christian Cabal organizer claimed people were wrong to criticize @jdgreear (Southern Baptist president) for being at the White House dinner. The event was for ginning up midterm WASP votes, in private, so EVERYONE there was complicit, though the good man, J.D., is TRYING to "decouple politics from religion," probably AFTER that election!?

With your presence, you do NOT show lack of support for immorality and ignorance! You protest with your mouth and feet! I have probably physically protested a certain church eight times in the last three years, when those traits occurred, and will, forevermore, do so, as that's how you show righteous indignation and displeasure.

But NOT if you're in the Christian Cabal! The furthest any of them ever got was to say 'we're all sinners,' or "we didn't vote for him to be pastor in chief "(MY other coined phrase). Their MOST incriminating statement was "we knew what we were getting." Then you KNOWINGLY embraced it!

SCOTUS picks to overturn Roe, and later Obergefell were ALL that bunch aspired to! Any and all costs be da_ned... Morals, reputation, impact on lost observers, Jesus' credibility in the market place of ideas—NONE of that mattered; overturn it, come hell or high water, to these old men! #TRUTH

Forget the people, the majority, laws, lobbying laws, other religions... Just foist the least moral or intelligent GOP candidate onto America, to force your religious beliefs you can't defend free-willedly in the court of public opinion, as if the U.S. is a theocracy, which Rev. Jeffress WRONGLY believes it is; there are other Cabal members don't.

It's, apparently, the crowning achievement of a mega pastor activist to get on FoxNews and preach to the choir, his alt-fact opinions! #EMBARRASSING One HONEST dude, @AndyRowell, wondered why their more educated and wealthy parishioners support these antics. They are done off-hours, so only the diligent track them!

Even Joel Rosenberg tried to sway @jdgrear that what the Christian Cabal continues to do is moral, based on Daniel, to which I told him they claimed 45 was a Christian, so why their need to keep trying to evangelize, or where's the fruit of their discipling labors? J.D.'s caught in the middle.

HERE's a Bible lesson for the Christian Cabal, today: Rom. 3:8, 6:1. Paul is being sarcastic/mockingly/facetious that you should pursue evil, so good (or more grace) might come! This is BASIC hermeneutics! CONTEXT is three chapters exhorting why Christians should NOT continue living sinfully. A seminary degree is needed for that conclusion?

If The Christian Cabal has been 'speaking into Chump's life,' Johnny Moore is a liar, that their work ended after the campaign, and MUCH worse, no one would accuse them of being successful, or listened to. They even bought him an engraved Bible, when he said it's his favorite book, and it's on his bedside table.

There was no need for another one (where they bragged his greatness toward America will be seen, in history). They are cowards, suck-ups, kiss-ups, brown-nosers, and freely duped pawns, for votes, yet they spin and market their work as holy and "ministry." WHAT A CROCK, and a joke! They seared their consciences two years ago, in June, 2016.

Even the NON-religious know and respect the phrase, 'speak truth to power,' but they WARPed it to 'speak love to power.' And we Christians are supposed to consider them 'leaders,' and doing a great service for God in D.C.? No way, Jose. Anathema and Ichabod! I would love others' input/opinions, if you're a Christian, especially.

tRump has them by the kahunas, EVEN THOUGH the Bible tells Christians to be slaves to no man (I Cor. 7:23). If they (or anyone in the White House) confront 45, or don't sing his praises, he axes them, then there goes any chance of their unregistered Christian lobbyist organization working the next two years—so they WON'T confront him, as has been so needed for so long!

HERE'S how @jdgrear is "decoupling politics from religion:" Pence speaks at #SBC18, and brags on CHUMP 18+ times, 100 dupes go to the White House, for a dinner seeking WASP votes, and the Cabal praises and prays for their SCOTUS stacker for Roe's overturn's confirmation! Sounds QUITE coupled, if you ask me, J.D.!

And throughout ALL these events, there is but one ring leader, behind the scenes, and it is NOT the face of the organization who cherishes the limelight on Fox! ALL the people I ever specifically name are his friends, including the First Baptist Houston's good lady, Beth Moore, who has been brought into the fold. (JNG)

The SAME person who threatened to withhold $1 million from the SBC Cooperative Program, and agreed with the initial calls for @drmoore to be fired. These are Christ-like behaviors? Which Bible are you finding that in? The inscribed one the Cabal gave 45, apparently with MANY verses ripped out?

Let's reiterate: I'm a Christian, then a year later, he's a baby Christian. My favorite Bible verse Jesus denied being operative today (i.e., an eye for an eye). I'm a Christian, but I've never asked God's forgiveness for anything. I refer to Second Corinthians as Two Corinthians, from LACK of Bible familiarity. WHAT ORDAINED MINISTER WOULD FALL FOR SUCH BULL-HONKY? Members of the Christian Cabal, mainly! Sad apostasy, and heresy!

But, as @AndyRowell ACCURATELY/factually noted, MOST of the more "prominent" (before men—NOT God) Christian Cabal members DON'T have seminary degrees, to which one of them called that observation "elitist." Arrogance at taking the trouble to actually study the Bible in depth for three to four years? That's the Devil's argument!

I think I'm through, now. You might have gleaned that I'm NOT a big fan of the Christian Cabal, or their tactics of sin-to-win. I simply BEG the U.S. public to NOT associate that group with our shared Jesus! Anytime any of His people sin, they are NOT representing Him, and we all do sin, and are imperfect. 45 has mastered it!

"I don't want to see religious bigotry in any form. It would disturb me if there was a wedding between the religious fundamentalists and the political right. The hard right has no interest in religion except to manipulate it." —Billy Graham That's EXACTLY what happened in 2016, sadly, great hero!

[RE: Billy's son...] It was NOT a better way, because he is not as good a man, sadly (and sorry to say; we tell the truth, even if it hurts us to say): <https://nyti.ms/2Ocvvoj>

Though I respect the ministry work of Christian Cabal members, BEFORE 2016, and may in the future, no one in their right mind can approve of double standard hypocrisy, like this totally opposite position than with Chump's likely much more prolific and serious deeds: <https://bit.ly/2OfMnuI> Hypocrisy is a sin!

Either that or murder! CNN Host to Jerry Falwell: What Would it Take for You to Condemn Trump? Rape? <https://bit.ly/2p0aK15>

DON'T worry that the source is liberal, or opposes what Christians are for, which is Christian values in politics/public life... Ask if these quotes are true, and the Christian Cabal's acts since 2016 conform to Moral Majority standards, or a far more wayward bias and extremism and warping?: <https://bit.ly/2NyqSIk>

(Tit. 1:12) Paul did NOT shy away from finding truth among evil people, and he rebuked it among believers. THAT is what's lacking in the Christian Cabal! Anytime a non-conservative source quotes truth, they slander them as demonic Dems, vs. accept what's truthfully observed, and repent of identified sins!

Why can't our political leaders stop moral corruption in America? @BillyGraham's answer: <https://bit.ly/2x4LkHj> What we can learn from Billy Graham about navigating church and state. <https://bit.ly/2p1Bj9u> Christian Group Calls Out Fellow Evangelicals Who Have Embraced Trump: <https://wbur.fm/2Mtp67V> Taking the Measure of Trump Country: <https://bit.ly/2CKIcpe> 44 percent of U.S. adults say that God plays no role whatsoever in their life. <https://bit.ly/2Qqi7if>

I'm NOT the only one who sees the problem!: <https://bit.ly/2x4H6yB> <https://wapo.st/2x51Qai> <https://bit.ly/2oYBP87> <https://bit.ly/2NyqwS0> #ChristianCabal HURTING Jesus, "for Jesus."

Answer: NO! <https://bit.ly/2Oaj3Wi> (II Cor. 6:17) <https://bit.ly/2Nxqrhv> The leading Christian statistician/pollster: <https://bit.ly/2fSerFB>

Lest I forget Jeffress, who complained about a moral man, Romney, because of his faith, yet fully embraced a man with NO faith and NOT a moral man, always kisses up to potential presidents (Gov. Perry, for example), envisioned bringing his mega church back to the glory days of W.A. Criswell (though NOTHING like him, in integrity), was WRONGLY told by his predecessor, 'one day all this will be yours' (concerning First Baptist, Dallas' campus, JUST like Mt. 4:9), and said the following: <https://bit.ly/2CLIJXT> <https://bit.ly/2N6fiVm> <https://bit.ly/2QlsDHf> Have you EVER heard any major Christian Cabal members admit to ANY wrongdoing, vs. Jeffress' general, 'we're all sinners?' #Crickets Leaders? Not by Bible standards, sorry! (Mt. 12:37)

CURRENCY & CONSERVATISM

(4/7/17)

Jas. 5:1-6 sticks a dagger through political conservatism's lust for wealth! READ it. Un-prioritized before God (v. 2), unaware of prophecy (v. 3), judged for mistreating laborers on wages, for selfish gain (v. 4), SELF-luxury was their focus (v. 5), seeking to please SELF was their idol/god, and as they sought the good life of fun and frolic/frivolity, they were being ripened for slaughter (v. 5), they, here, were evil to their workers, which is NOT usually what political conservatives do, but the lack of justice toward employees in favor of almighty dollar prophets IS similar (v. 6).

So WHEN (not IF) you hear a conservative tout their PHILOSOPHY as moral, realize you have to be deluded to believe that's 100 percent true. It is NOT always!

It's AMAZING how "religious" people buy-in, hook, line and sinker, to the mantra that conservatism is where God is. ONLY on a HANDFUL of issues!

CURRENT EVENTS & BIBLE PROPHECY

(10/6/18)

[Post Kavanaugh debacle: I'm SO ready to be used of the Lord as an instrument to clean house in the evil Washington D.C.!]...

I've said before, another 9-11 IS EXPECTED. I'd guess D.C. would be their target. I simply watch from home, thousands of miles away, and await God's judgment on evil politicians, using human agents, evil as they are to do such violence. I have NO IDEA their operations' date; I'm just an observer!

Another 9-11? <https://bit.ly/2y3ANfU> <https://nym.ag/2zVpyY8> WE only think of re-do's, like hijacked airplanes. There are so many other ways, and we're focused on planes; NO creativity! Be anal in your thinking, to your own destruction! Planes, buses, cars, helicopters, drones, cars, motorcycles ALL exist, do-dos!

HOW could U.S.'s enemies destroy America, temporarily? Bomb Congress and the White House from air or land or underground. Even our electrical grid wouldn't be that impactful. How about bomb a nuclear facility? There are NO skyscrapers that would have the impact of the twin towers—they'd hit the heart of U.S.A.!

Drones so high up that the White House or Congress radar couldn't stop them in time would work. Space satellites and GPS could easily do the job. How small a bomb could destroy those institutions, and fit on a small drone? What country can manufacture things that small, like China did pencil tip microchips?

Drones or helicopters NOT in restricted air space, with laser-guided missile bombs, via drones, coming from many angles, could work. Does such technology exist? <https://bit.ly/2E1HO6l> WHO would do this, with ISIS on the run? It only takes a few, and a few of them still exist!

It WOULDN'T require 20 people, and sleeper cells exist, here and elsewhere, as do MANY enemy nations to America... Russia, China, Iran, Syria, et al. I would be expecting such technology to be being manufactured, at present! Ten drones from multiple levels and angles, likely NOT aimed at the White House, but the Capital building!

Even GPS-guided mini missiles with such bombs aboard could be manufactured to launch out the windows of vehicles, or topless cars. I'd guess the technology already exists. Nations know what Google searches can't teach us. If China has microchips the size of pencil heads, micro bombs do too?

And ISIS has members NOT just where America has backed them up/boxed them in! ISIS is only one organization that hates us; one of MANY! I'll bet groups have been planning such an attack for months, if not years. The Capital building, while in session, would have the MOST psychological impact! NOT even the White House, as much.

Could lasers be used to do much damage? Could they be coordinated to crush that building to its foundations? We saw in the Winter Olympics, computer-coordinated drones, for art; Why couldn't some group be planning such to take out structural supports to crush the dome and rock its foundations? I'm curious.

Engineers know what stress points ruin loads in buildings! THESE drawings exist, for FREE, on Google (Search Images: capitol building blueprints). I know from graduate architecture studies about load-bearing walls. Surely terrorists do! They proved that on 9-11! Engineers are everywhere, in rogue nations.

And if an evil group wants to harm America, but not take on the U.S. military, they attack Israel. The Wailing Wall is one thing. The most sacred place would be very impactful—the temple mound, or government offices. You would be a FOOL to not believe people exist in the world who aren't planning such attacks!

I doubt Israel has as many defenses as D.C. does, though they're quite armed/fortified. There are drones you can control from thousands of miles away! Let's see the smallest drone existing: <https://bit.ly/2PgrLCZ> Add stealth technology (i.e., radar deflecting), and make them as silent as electric cars.

What about bomb size? If the Chinese can shrink all technology, and steals our trade secrets, EXPECT a mini bomb, soon! <https://bit.ly/2E2iRb6> Same goes for stronger drones, though smaller; more lifting power. Even mini missiles.

Russia in on it, too? Iran? EXPECT IT! North Korea? What about missile sizes, remote controlled? Underground, and from the sea seem much less likely! <https://bit.ly/2Qx2Efu> I'd expect space, air, and land, even thousands of miles away, initially. How far can drones fly, without a re-charge? <https://bit.ly/2E3R5uV>

How would a building implode with the least number of drone bombs needed/used? ALL this science is FREELY avail on the internet! Do you think enemies of America don't know this, and haven't for YEARS? We better have defensive capabilities! <https://bit.ly/2Qzy98n> You have to out-think evil people. If you don't, you lose the battle! Wake up, America! Evil exists, and hates us! Duh 101

Isn't there radar-jamming technology, too? I JUST saw two black crows swoop onto my fence. If they had embedded remote-control bombs, and were trained where to fly, a no-fly zone would be meaningless (or drones that looked like them).

The radio just said that Carfentanil is 100 times stronger than Heroin, and is deadly; Why wouldn't our enemies seek to get just one mole inside Congress as a waiter? Oil centers (like Pasadena, TX) would shut down America, if taken out of commission.

There are air-borne chemicals that could be released, with the right winds, to engulf the Capital from legal venues, NOT detected! Chemical and biological weapons of mass destruction can go to the Capital via UPS, USPS, delivery services, etc. <https://bit.ly/2RtvheG> Even buried bombs might shake a city block, like an earthquake, set off around the Capital building. Toppling skyscrapers would ruin business in major business centers.

Has Congress envisioned all these scenarios? They think there's anger at them within the U.S.A. How about Chump ticking off nearly every nation but Israel? Even Britain, the E.U., and NATO allies are turned off by the fool! Much less China, Russia, Iran and Arab nations (his having favored Israel). I can think of FEW who love us, now!

And Putin REGULARLY has enemies drugged and/or killed. WHO believes he's incapable of infiltrating D.C.? Not I! And the Congressional baseball shooting is just one creative way enemies can attack law-makers in non-traditional gathering places! WHO KNOWS if D.C. is prepared?

tRump's engendering MOST of this ill-will, including the HORRIFIC Kavanaugh process that wasn't thorough, and never used lie detectors. That's just 45 angering ~half within the U.S.A. Tariffs and STUPID words and actions (Ex.: U.N. laughter, as Exhibit A, where he touts 'America first') are just the beginning of how he has set our globe aflame!

Iran sent a missile into Syria ~three days ago. North Korea has said they won't disarm with sanctions continuing. China has infiltrated ~30 big U.S. companies, with microchips, to learn our trade and technology secrets.

Russia and China are trying to sway our elections. Arab nations despise Chump favoring the Jews! Is there any good news, globally? Blame it ALL on DJT! And nations rightly blame all who voted for him, and blame America as a whole, for allowing such nonsense. You better be ready, people.

READ!: Syria has chemical weapons. <https://bit.ly/2QAA9xr> Biological weapons exist! <https://bit.ly/2C016q4> The Houston ship channel has behemoth ships pass by our oil refineries, every day. Easy target to cripple the U.S. economy! Ricin-like powder arrived within walking distance of D.C. politicians, last week. Anthrax exists. It wouldn't even take a full gathered Congress! Just some major players in smaller meetings.

Politicians eat at restaurants! The president's daily schedule is publicly published! A major committee meeting, somewhere, would have the psychological effect, off campus. Sheila Jackson Lee's assistant doxxed three politician's home addresses, last week. Even Syria gasses the masses, with not a huge footprint of weaponry.

People have climbed over the White House fence. A parachuter could be fully loaded with deadly weapons, and though shot down, his chemicals could fall down to the White House or Capital lawn as he (or they) plummeted to earth.

A stealth Russian jet could do a fly-by, and release gasses, before being shot down at those venues. DO YOU KNOW ANY NATION NOT MAD AT AMERICA, TODAY (besides Israel)? The horrific possibilities are endless! I could go on... I'm creative. Are D.C. politicians and their safety strategists as creative? Evil people STUDY life habits of people they stalk. Politicians have routines. Are they safe, in our Trump world?

Buses, trains, remote control ignitions. ALL these delivery systems already exist! IED's. The Capital building doesn't even have the wrought iron fence the White House has, if I recall correctly. You think metal detectors can stop what's available to evil-intentioned groups? There are PLASTIC explosives! Remember the airline shoe bomber?

People illegally enter America, having ingested drug pills. Metal detectors will not stop ingested, remote control explosives for suicide bombers! And the Kavanaugh hearings had seats filled by some from among the public, I think.

You REALLY have to start thinking better, to be better prepared! America has guns that shoot over a mile away! <https://bit.ly/2E0eM7a> #AmericanSniper If ten foreign snipers had hotel rooms near the Capital, JUST LIKE Vegas, one year ago, great trouble could come to the U.S.A. by a coordinated attack. Toppleable skyscrapers exist near there, too, I would think. Are we prepared?

Elevator and escalator repair men could infiltrate the Capital, with destructive add-ons. Food service companies, as well. Delivery services, visitors to the White House and Capital, having swallowed WMD's, or remote-control explosives. Body scans are NOT done on all visitors, that I know of. Be ready!

We USED to hear about sleeper cells. They're either dead asleep, never existed, or are currently making plans! People don't just abandon their hate because they enjoy America's lifestyle! Criminals can have ill-will toward the U.S. justice system, captured or released. They and gangs can be recruited.

Here's a short list of disease weaponry: <https://bit.ly/2pnwIN4> One KGB-type, visiting the U.N. in NYC (where spies were en masse, two weeks ago) is all it would take! Did any of them bug their hotels? Did they plant/imbed anything? DO WE KNOW? Do we have all their names? Did we track them?

The public water system in D.C. could be tainted to kill, and it wouldn't require the entire town—just the pipes leading to politicians! I'm sure HVAC people could put things in the vents at the Capital, to spread deadly powders via air/conditioning, or heat! Has D.C. thought of all these contingencies? I DOUBT IT!

Campaign trails often find several politicians in one setting. Those events are OFTEN publicized, like Chump pep rallies. Politicians attend awards ceremonies, media appearances (i.e., making the media rounds on Sundays). DO YOU THINK I'M THE ONLY ONE WHO CAN THINK UP WHAT COULD GO WRONG, and not our enemies? Think again!

If everyone in line for the presidency were targeted, it would only take ~five deaths to send America into panic and chaos! 9-11 killed thousands. It only takes ~five select people to inflict a national epidemic of fear!

I would guess even secret bomb shelters D.C. politicians are whisked off to in times of emergencies can be known online!? <https://bit.ly/2Ns9104> <https://wapo.st/2zVx85g> <https://bit.ly/2E3H4ha> And anyone can learn where Air Force One is, most any time! <https://bit.ly/2C2RcUW> Are we prepared?

Enemies HATE us—an increasing number, via CHUMP. Be ready, America! (and #Pray) He has HARMED America, and engendered hate!

I'm sure this article can reveal even more strategies warring against America, even as I write: <https://bit.ly/2BX910R> Here's a list of terror organizations (NOT JUST ISIL!): <https://bit.ly/2NsiXIk> They can coordinate, or merge, and ISIS' end doesn't end the threat! Be ready, America!

Even distractions can lure people to destructive venues! A staged, or even real car wreck, small bomb, small protest with violence; enemies of America could use those to lure people to the event, with planted bombs, to cause mass casualties. Any large public gathering would cause panic in America!

Update #1: America In prophecy?

America is NOT in Bible prophecy, directly, as she didn't exist when it was written. But all nations gathering forces against her sure leads to a rational belief that she may very well play a decent-sized role, when it hits! Some scholars historically tie the U.S. to the revised Roman empire!

Ezekiel 37 lists many nations which have modern equivalents, who will attack Israel. Those nations are already forming alliances! MANY Arabs equate America with Israel, so why would America think anger toward Israel would remain overseas? We are the 'Great Satan' in many people's minds. Are we ready for what's coming? #Prophecy

Even G-8 or U.N. meetings would be prime targets for that coming Antichrist to usurp three E.U. heads of state (using methods I've described above). Daniel 7:8. I suppose E.U. heads of state meetings/gatherings would also be targeted. If you don't know prophecy, you will go through prophecy! (John 3:16)

I've spoken to a Middle East guy who was asked why they don't organize, militarily. The U.S. stops them, via money military threats, was his answer. Does anyone believe these groups are not engaging covert organizing, possibly with Iran as the head? People don't just heed U.S. warnings, when they're angry... They go covert! DUH!

In my opinion, America is ALREADY in all-out covert war with Russia, China, and soon, Iran. THANK YOU Donald J. Trump! (SARCASM). I don't believe any of these nations will give up on their pursuits, or back down. They can't trust us anymore, and see no way/room for us to get along, long-term! I HOPE I'm wrong!

BUT, Americans, PLEASE just keep focused on your jobs, chores, family and fun. You play RIGHT into THEIR HANDS, remaining IGNORANT of what's going on outside the U.S.'s borders, or your own little worlds! #Embarrassing #Prophecy

Because of CHUMP's favoring Israel, per the Christian Cabal's IDIOCIES, and his angering Russia, China and Iran, EXPECT Arab groups who hate Israel to now organize against her, and us, with those BIG three's backing, so the organizing I've wondered why it's not happening will soon occur. This is mere pattern extrapolating!

Even Kim Jong Un has the capacity to kill people with rags to their faces, chemical-laced. He's NOT 'gonna abandon ties to China, so despite any appearances, expect his cooperation in this ploy! He'll play along with American P.R. stunts, and minor dismantlings, but always stays tied at the hip to our enemies!

"And many nations with him" can EASILY include Cuba, Venezuela, even Brazil (unwittingly, via BRIC); Eze. 37:22 Even the E.U., especially Germany, are developing ties with Russia, I hear. U.S. world economic dominance is fraying, and our allies are becoming more independent, as we're too selfish and untrustworthy!

And an attack on Israel will surely bring Chump into that fray, as he NEEDS the biased WASP vote! THEY DUMBLY started him on this course! #ChristianCabal Israel is a much easier target than D.C.! WATCH news headlines to see if trends go this direction. I EXPECT it. DUMB "Christian" decisions! #WOW

Israel's "peace?" <https://bit.ly/2E2b1NI> The MORE intense these skirmishes become, the more Trump will have to get involved, since he started all the angst with his Jerusalem as capital announcement, and U.S. Embassy moved there. Broker 7-year peace, as the "great negotiator" he claimed to be!

.@POTUS READ my message from this morning. "YOU MADE THAT!"

YOU started ALL the present ill-will, @POTUS! SECOND SAMUEL 12:7, in the Old Testament (first half, from left to right, "sir")... Read the Table of Contents to get the page number in your favorite DUSTY book on your bedside table! <https://yhoo.it/2QwLApH>

YEA! College football today, then NFL tomorrow. Then we can return to our mundane jobs, and COMPLETELY forget what's going on in the world, watch FoxNews, hear talk radio, and NEVER listen to public radio or PBS and the BBC, which informs people of what happens OUTSIDE the USA!

#Brilliant! (SARCASM)

Go to movies, watch TV, exercise, watch a sports event, go buy some big boy toys. Do anything to get your mind OFF what's really going on in the world! Distraction, deflection, delusion and escape. Enjoy life, before it ends. Prophecy will destroy so many people, who will have NO IDEA it was coming!

P.S.: Drug lords are VERY creative in the ways they get their cr-p to America! Submarines, tunnels, secret car compartments, mules who threaten patsys' families' death if they won't deliver, etc. DONT think there aren't MANY people with creative means to do evil to the U.S.A., if government only thinks inside the box!

Update #2: Despondent Despair
(12/17/18)

Due to the BIG nature of what will happen Christmas day (i.e., our website release), serious enemy attack of doubts, today. When you speak of the miraculous four years, just past, most people do think you nutty, and you can't blame them, as ~no one lives miraculous lives anymore! Maybe I'll never talk of them!
#Sadness

Here's the BIG problem in D.C.: No one has any money to use for anything, as we're in debt! A 100 percent honest politician would say we need more taxes, and can't do anything new, but do with less. That doesn't keep them employed! No one wants to go to D.C. for two or 4 years only! The system is 100 percent shot and shoddy! FAILED and corrupt!

Why should the rich help the poor, a LITTLE, to avoid severe poverty? Because they can/are able. No one else is. Plus, they control the jobs, which pay what they do, which keep some people poor, and outsource jobs so labor competition is so high that wages go low.

No one can ever tell me it's fair one multi-millionaire can make millions simply making a phone call to sell a hot stock, or inherit bookooos simply by luckily being born in a rich family! The rich get all the benefits of life (best loans, streets, security, luxuries, contacts). I'm NOT for punishing any rich, but there MUST be more justice.

It really is easier to not give one damn about the poor in the world! Insulate yourself from reality, and just enjoy your own self-made reality. If you allow yourself to believe God doesn't exist, and won't right all wrongs, just live for money! Why not? And keep it all for yourself. Never care one iota about poor people.

Label them losers, so you blame their condition all on them, so you have no responsibility, and thus guilt feelings. I'm REALLY wishing I lived in a more just society, today. America has become F yourself if you can't get rich, and if you can, more power to you! Forgive my French, but I'm in a very bad mood, this evening. It will pass; always does.

Should we despise or be jealous of the rich? Absolutely not. It's NOT innately evil to be rich, but many if not most people achieve it through idolatry, over serving God! If He wasn't 'gonna exact justice on Judgment Day, there are many reasons to be despondent over the injustices in America!

Why can't I just think like the normal majority, and not give one damn about the plight of poor people? Why can't I return to the way I've always thought of them, because of the political party I was in since birth? It is a CURSE to care! It's ruining my own day to think anyone could fix things to be better, when conservatives want status quo.

I have grown to HATE political conservatism, despite their quasi-religious social issues. HATE! You must get along with them, but they are the epitome of what Christ came to solve/fix: sin! EVERY genuine conservative is either going to Hell, or 'gonna have a rude awakening on Judgment Day!

Why don't I sell my soul to Satan's system of greed and money idolatry, like so many sheep have? Why did I have to be called to a different path? Why must I look like the dotard who hasn't yet figured out life is all about money? Why am I being punished and cursed for following what God said?

Why didn't I just leave that Good book ALONE? Everybody else seems to, concerning money! I have wasted decades, financially. All in the pursuit of the Lord, and today I feel I have really gotten out on a limb there is no recovery from! Why hast Thou abandoned me, today? It feels like a dead end I've been led to. #Sadness and despair.

Why don't I rip every verse out of my Bible, but the ONLY two Christian political conservatives cling to in the hopes they're interpreting them right (which they are not): I Tim. 6:17; Ecc. 10:19. If only I could be beamed up/Raptured today! Like I said, this is a horrible day of attack, with the website online, soon.

Why couldn't I ever just be happy doing any other career I've been a part of? Why did I have to write? It's the cursed career of mankind! I never even made one dime off it. My family has suffered, because I thought it God's will. Did I miss something along the way?

God won't let the righteous beg bread, so must I beg water, instead? I am despising my past decade, today. Obviously, it's the enemy's attack, as he doesn't want my website to go public! It will, as he will NOT get the victory. I understand why he'd not want it seeing the light of day! His day will come to an end, and what we've been led to write hastens that demise, in some mysterious way I may never understand.

What he intends for evil, God will use for good, as that website I'm even more determined to get online, come Hell or high water (or enemy attacks, like the past two hours). A breach in the hedge, today. My MBA must have taught me nothing, for my religion has all but reversed all I learned, like teaching contentment, God's priorities first (Mt. 6:33), not chasing money (Pv. 23:5).

I wish I had never read it so often, as political conservatism is the easily sinful way to live, if Christians ignore God's thoughts!

I have completely wasted my adult life, writing for God. These are the words of Job-like despair, and NOT what's true. READ his book! That dude was so close to God, he endured hard times because the Devil told God he only does so because there are benefits. I'm asking where are the benefits, today? And to ask the question is to forget the entire last 40 years! It comes from comparing your life with people who do little-to-nothing for God!

Update #3: Conversation with God

Why try to compete with them? They are useless workers, who will be destitute poor in Heaven! Is that what you want to be? If your mind falls to an earthly perspective, you'll live like them! Dry bones!

Your mind is NEVER to pay attention to others' lifestyles! We compete against ourselves, in this life (II Cor. 10:12) You're weak in faith, today. That happens. Your telling one lady about the past four years made you realize common lives have ZERO idea of the miraculous. Never tell your story again! THEY can't handle it!

Bible stories are myths and legends and delusional hypotheticals and fantasies—NOT reality—to people in the secular the majority. Even Christians live by sight. They preach about miracles, but NEVER expect to ever experience them, because they live just like everyone else who never experiences any miracles. DULL lives!

Why were you willing to tell your wife you must have really 'lost it' the last 10 years, apologize, and tell her you'll give up the calling, today? HOW can you so quickly act as if 'I didn't do all I've done for you, evident to all who saw? I still am. Why? Why? Do you 'wanna go be a dopey-type salesman until you never retire? HELL no! Were you 'gonna just delete all 11 book files, and act like they don't exist, and were never written? No, I just wanted to forget about them. Why? Because they brought so many problems to our family! You don't think better things are ahead? I'm just tired of the rough times. Sick and tired! Wanting to throw in the towel! But they're all done! What work is left to do? Addressing the impact of the time it took to write them! I can't bridge that gap. I never asked you to. Then You fix it, soon, please! #Prayer

So HOW can I ever explain my past four years? You don't have to. You've done so in the latest book. If people think you're lying, take lie detectors. Just remember they will likely NEVER see or experience any miracle. HOW can you explain a miracle to people who deny My abilities or existence? That REALLY takes a miracle. Just pity them! They have mundane lives that never see My power. What a waste of what could have been, for them! I agree. But 99.99 percent of people can't relate to miracles. SO WHAT? Show them the LOGIC of your books. They can relate to logic! They don't need to know how you got those ideas! Let them learn just before I sentence them to Hell, anyway. #Wow, what a perspective! Just wow!

I feel the need to explain the background to my books, as it's the only reason I'd do what You called me to do! Haven't I told you exactly how to do it? Push the books' great content, namely Wit and Wisdom. It sells itself. No one needs to know how you got those ideas. How do I get them to read it? I'm NO marketer! Study marketing. What words said in what ways makes you want to buy something? Nothing! I only buy what I need. Well study it anyway, to see what works for people who fall for such marketing.

Research the best ads, and why they're great. See what moves people to buy. And remember, not everyone cares about politics as you do. They just want better lives, and 'mo money! And they generally hate politicians, because of the way D.C. is run. Tell them you have quick, practical fixes for every challenge from A to Z, excepting any they can think of that you missed. Challenge them to prove you wrong! It's NOT bragging, but FACT!

Give them some analogies and examples! Make them relevant to the NON-intellectual's life! They care about kitchen table issues—NOT all things the U.S. faces! Money, fun, job security, how to pay for doctor visits, daycare, college, how to get a raise or promotion, how to work less hours, or with less stress, or how to make their job easier.

Jobs. That's about it. Idealized good-paying jobs that won't happen, in many cases. You have to un-sell them on fantasy, and talk reality, even though they vote for liars, whose promises are empty. They actually believe D.C. takes action to fix things. They're NOT the sharpest knife in the drawer, when they fall into this category! But they can vote, and they're immature or evil enough to fire good men and women in D.C. for not being Santa Claus for their own personal failures, economically!

You have to explain to them that government has no fairy dust for their problems with living within their means! It's NOT politicians' duty to make up for low skills, little talent, little creativity or ambition, poor buying or budgeting skills! That's on those voters, who should be disallowed from punishing politicians who don't do everything on their wish lists! Give them the hard truths; tough love. Give them a reality check! The U.S. has $22 trillion in debt!

It doesn't matter that that doesn't sell; they may respect your honesty. Delusion is a house of cards! Bill collectors NEVER accept excuses. Voters have NO excuses expecting politicians to work miracles.

Every person has to sustain their own family, or get fixed (i.e., plumbing tubes tied). If you can't afford a legacy, keep your zipper zipped. This especially applies in poor nations. Get a dog! Kids are an expense. We only have a finite quantity of resources. DON'T be so hatefully cruel to kids by birthing them into misery, if you're destitute poor! That's NOT parental love.

You can't expect rich people NOT related to you to feel any obligation for your bills! You chose your career; you worked as hard or sluggardly in school; you spend what you choose, and spending too much isn't their problem! YOU have those kids; No rich person forced you to have stupid (unsafe) sex! Bail yourself out of the hole you dig by such STUPID decisions.

QUIT thinking politicians are your backup plan... that's NOT their job. You can vote them all out, but I hope NONE that you vote in their place ever agree to supervise your life! That's your job! You're an adult. Live on less, cut back, belt-tighten, do without, fix things yourself, don't keep up with the Jones; learn contentment!

Christian radio, today, said "God made us to always want the bigger office, better job, corner office." LIARS who shouldn't have a job if they haven't attended seminary! That's your FLESH/sin nature. It follows the lusts of the eyes (1 Jn. 2:15-17) Whatever I see I want. God DIDN'T make that!

He said learn contentment. The DJ only moralized that we should be grateful for the ladder we seek to climb. Be glad the U.S. provides opportunities to move up, but that DJ has ZERO business opining on God, saying He made us lustful. Do any pastors supervise Christian radio? It was Air1! False doctrine spreading!

Money... it's all life is about, to sinful fools. It's important for doing what you are to do in this life, but it's NOT why we're here!

Christianity is NOT works, and you gain no favor by serving God, but if you're NOT doing great things for God and society, your life is a waste! Attending Christian events, like you're there to be served, as a customer, is NOT what God called any believer to live to do. I'll be quiet; frustrating day!

No, I'll be 100 percent point blank to every Christian: ALL that matters in life is paying your bills and how many people you evangelize and disciple (coming from a daily quiet time). I'll let that sink in, because it's NOT what you've ever been taught. God has a cause YOU are to help fix in society! You're not here to please yourself. Many Christians are-carnal, sinful ones.

Any person just sitting around waiting to die deserves to do so, in my opinion, unless mentally or physically incapable of any contributions to God or society. Even retirees... your golden years OUGHT to be when you make up for all the NOTHINGNESS you've offered God and society, all your working years, getting yourself able to retire. Retirement is NOT even in the Bible, that I've ever found!

I'm starting to believe U.S. Christians have NO idea what God thinks about almost anything! Their god is culture—NOT Christ. Whatever everyone else does is 'Gods will.' Bull honky! STUPID for Jesus; now that's oxy moronic.

Get off your fat and lazy duff, and do some ministry, and change the world for the better! Yes, you. Every one of you. If we all did something, things would get fixed.

Update #4: Church 'Chew Out?'

JUDGMENT DAY. If we remembered it is coming, more often, we'd act much better (i.e., fear God)! You will never endure it, unforgiven of your sins (Jn. 3:16), but it's better to face it having lived as well as you could, than otherwise. There MAY be levels in Hell, though fire is fire, and eternity is forever, either way.

What an exasperating day. I'll 'rant' more, because I can, and Twitter is free... You work 40 hours or more a week, then play and do chores. WHO's supposed to do ministry, and fix society's problems? You! God says LAYMEN are to do the work of ministry! (Eph. 4) Clergy are to raise them up to do so. Who has time? You, if you didn't worship THIS world.

You, Christian layman, are to have evangelized between ~43-112 people, to have done your part! Most of us haven't reached five! Inviting people to church is a WEAK crutch, and sinful timidity so-called evangelism "method." You're scared! You're disobedient. You don't care that most people will burn in Hell, forever, as much as you care for what else you do instead.

You're going to Heaven, so to Hell with them is what your inaction speaks! You are pew-sitters, bench-warmers. Serve me, pastor! Preach me a good sermon, don't get long-winded with it, and make sure the music is just right. I DESPISE status quo Christianity, because it's NOT real Christianity!

You're lazy bums, dare I say? Everything revolves around what you can get out of attending church. What amenities does this church offer us? Cheap gym membership? Entertainment? Baby sitters, via Sunday School? I'm SICK of the 'normal' Christian life in America.

There are poor people, homeless, prostitutes abused by Johns and pimps, drug dealers, criminals, wars; there's pollution, greedy rich, lazy system abusers—FIX something, Christian layman! God called the church to be a LIGHT to the world—NOT a tanning booth bed light inside stained-glass buildings. Spousal abuse, rape, womanizing, divorce, drunkenness, adultery—problems are all around you, like icebergs near the Titanic! Yet you dress up and smile on Sundays.

Why does God keep you here? So you can accumulate more things that rot or rust or wear out, with time? (Mt. 6:19) You got a new car—who cares? You wear the latest fashion—who cares? You are so ignorant of your Bibles, it almost ought to be a law that government can confiscate it if you have no better use for it than as a church accessory!

You got saved only to live for the Devil, and the here and now!? That's NOT why God saved you! There are law-breakers crossing into America illegally, widows suffering loneliness, orphans wondering if anyone loves them, and foster kids wondering why were they abandoned by their parents; people in white-walled jail cells 24/7, risking rape from their own gender, or being beat up.

There are breadwinners who work their butts off for peanuts wages. There are people working hard to vote for politicians to keep the poor struggling! There are single women/baby mammas having to make up for FAILED male players. There are gays who get treated like trash, behind their backs.

There are hungry kids, elderly left to stare at other grey hairs all day long, who family has shackled up to get them out of their lives. There are cancer stricken people, limbless and paralyzed people, people with AIDS, ALS, dementia, suffering strokes, having heart attacks, mental stresses, Downs Syndrome; people scammed, hacker victims, identity thieves, abusive con artists, thieves, murderers, bank robbers, school shooters, sleeper cells, people on the take in D.C., bribing lobbyists, liar politicians, biased party dupes.

WHAT are you doing about any cause in life, to make life better, Christian layman? Just having fun chasing money and fun? There are people dying, living in huts and slums, in third world nations, corrupt dictators, money launderers, tax cheats, white collar criminals, bosses who flirt with unsoliciting women (abusing their power), tyrant bosses, businesses that lie about their products, people who gate themselves off from ever seeing anyone else's reality, over-paid executives, bullies, school cheaters, fraudulent pastors fleecing the sheep, scum who derive pride from how many women they sleep with (i.e., male whores), men who believe women are inferior (and deny them education, or make them walk behind them, all covered up with and hidden by clothes), people who never forgive enemies (like in the Middle East crisis), a nut case trying to get nukes (Kim Jung Un), continually devious Putin, and Iran authorities wanting Israel wiped off the map.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING about any of this, lights of the world, salt of the earth laymen Christians? Just voting? HILARIOUS! You are NOT society's leaders. Fix it!

Update #5: Sin & Your Future

There are drug lords and drug cartels, the Mafia probably still has some members, some gang members are violent (Ex.: MS-13), there are marriage on the rocks, cheaters, swingers, polygamists. STOP turning a blind eye to reality, or washing your hands of concern, because you aren't engaged in these things!

There are high school cliques, frat rat cliques, networking scoundrels who schmooze their way into jobs they don't deserve, nepotistic ne'er do wells, spoiled brats, workaholic dads, aloof parents, dysfunctional families, lying salesmen (and lawyers)—there are SO many things needing fixing in America! These are NOT American exceptional behaviors!

Sluts, and loose women (with no self-respect), teens with low self-esteem, arrogant type A's, suicidal people, racists, white supremacists, people who steal $200 in tips from waitresses (as at my eldest son's job, last evening). SIN is everywhere, if you know what it is, and don't foolishly deny its existence. (Mt. 24:12; II Tim. 3:1)

And then the Church RETREATS into safe 'holy huddles,' blaming lost people for committing sins (as is expected of their only spiritual nature), expecting they might come by their church if they advertise or have appealing enough secular things to offer them. Bible prophecy signs are everywhere!

We've had serial murderers, people burn others' homes down, Middle East beheadings, and burning people alive, torture, invasions (Ex.: Kuwait and Ukraine), Hitler, Son of Sam, Manson, Koresh. In the past 30 years, sin has significantly risen, despite P.C. efforts to the contrary!

There are trophy hunters who let PRIDE let them cause animals to suffer, shark fin slicers, whale oil murderers, RINO horn slicers, poachers (watch Northwest Law and Lone Star Law TV shows!), people run over others in Charlottesville; there cross burnings, white hooded people and lynchings, cops shot in Dallas, a judge murdered in a nearby Dallas suburb, athletes on illegal steroids (Ex.: Lance Armstrong); we've had Payola, Watergate, 911, arsonists, NFL slapping criminals on the wrist, womanizers, upskirters, an NFL reporter filmed in her hotel room, sex tapes, porn on call, smut shops, DUI's, jail breaks, El Chapo, child labor, slavery, black markets, overdoses, Jerry Springer fights, parents punching referees at high school games, people throw shoes at George W. Bush, Reagan shot, JFK killed, MLK assassinated. Like Billy Joel's We didn't start the fire, the world has gone stir crazy, in many ways. Why? Increased sin is a prophecy sign!

We've seen the killing fields, genocide, hoarding dictators, date rape drugs, peeping Toms, glory holes, centerfolds, nudist beaches, Kim Jung Un's bro killed by facial chemicals, death camps, hard labor Gulag detention, indoctrination schools in China, persecution of the religious, Kremlin critics killed, daycare workers beat infants (on hidden camera), needles in candy at Halloween, people earning millions for spilling their own Coffee at McDonald's, job discrimination via NOT telling people the truth about their decisions, people opposed to equal pay for equal work, people sitting in the dung dungeon of outhouses to look up at toilets women sit on (that has actually happened!), ding dong door ditchers, people who flee the cops, death by cops destitute people, cops beating suspects without cause, people drowned with weights on their ankles, ENRON, people trying to force themselves into America, en masse, priest pedophiles, Khashoggi dismembered, other journalists killed, frivolous lawsuits, people dying to look perfect (getting plastic surgery south of the border), a news reporter shot dead (WDBJ), envelopes full of Anthrax, the Unibomber.

If you just live your life, and never put 2 and 2 together, this is NORMAL. If you compare these events to life from 1900-1050, statistics prove prophecy is coming, from mere trend analysis!

Egoist pervert narcissist president wins off Christian votes (apostasy), false doctrine in the church, preachers in ministry for fame and fortune, Lear jets, mansions, and Osteen's home, kids locked up for months by abductors, little Caylee Anthony killed, as with Jon Benet Ramsey, 'little people' thrown as sports balls at parties, gang rapes, the Vegas shooter, the two Boston Marathon killers, women's faces disfigured by acid thrown on them. Prophecy signs are all around... ignore them and just have fun!?

Sin, evil, doing wrong. No one can say, on balance, 1985 forward is on moral par with 1900-1950! 1985 was a milestone year! Sin will be INcreased before prophecy starts. What do those two prior-referenced Bible verses mean to you? All is O.K.? The calm before the storm is NOT peace, but an illusion.

Have you ever read what's coming? READ the seals, trumpets and bowl judgments in Revelation. We have the exact numbers of how many get killed, and what those 21 events mean, in our two prophecy books, with a chart to explain the timing of all events, ordered by analysis and logic, in fitting puzzle pieces together (i.e., synthesis of Bible verses).

Hell is only the worst part of your future without Christ! Much horror precedes it, if you don't die, first, then go straight there. Its fire, as painful punishment, is NOT a joke or myth! Can you endure sitting in a scalding bath tub? I can't! Pass your palm over a lighted candle. You want that pain felt even more intensely, every day, forever? You're mentally ill if you answer 'yes.' Instead, you laugh that it won't happen. I dare you to risk life on the edge of a skyscraper roof, and tell me you're certain you're O.K. if you slipped and fell!

You know there's no Hell? What if you're wrong (as you are). There are NO exit doors, no sprinkler systems, no flood lights to brighten your day. No drips of water. Gnashing of teeth. Bodies that WON'T die, for death would be a relief. I'm NOT 'gonna explain the theology of why you are there, but if you've never received Jesus, you WILL be there. I can't say this more clearly. I warn you most urgently!

Your name could be on an obituary tomorrow. Your body could be six feet under by this weekend. Your funeral could occur next week. You could face your Maker at any time.

You believe it won't happen to you. So did everyone else who died suddenly, or prematurely! What makes you different from them? You deceive yourself.

Worms will gnaw at your cadaver torso, after the embalming fluid ekes out, after the coroner examines your nude birthday suit. You get a toe tag and a body bag. To ashes you will return, as a body, not a soul!

To God your soul will return in judgment... all men. What you did with Jesus is the ONLY difference between who goes north vs. south! Did you receive a free gift, or not? It doesn't matter your religion or culture, or where you were born or raised.

This doesn't mean you have to join any church, give ten percent, come every Sunday. You have to fix the crisis in front of your face... Hell, any day, anytime, and forever. Will you?

Instantly you go to Heaven or Hell, upon death. There are no inbetween holding places. There is no coming back to earth in a new flesh suit. There is no ceasing to the life of the soul. There is no destruction of you... only punishment of you, forever, with NO end to it, if you never let God save you from this fate. Why would anyone ever let that happen?

Update #6: Signs of the Times

Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die (Lk. 12:19) Live and let live; Party hearty; Peace and safety; peace, peace. THESE are prophecy signs, and slogans of our age—the Laodicean era, and possibly last generation. They are words and attitudes of people who don't take Hell seriously. Ignore it, and have fun! (Mt. 24:38)

(Dan. 12:4) Knowledge will be increased. The total body of knowledge of man doubles about every 2.3 years, now! People will go to and fro. Compared to horse and camel pace of the days of Daniel, how would he view our jets, SpaceX rockets, 85 mph speed limits near Austin, the Autobahn? Fast-paced, multi-tasked lives!

And if 666 technology is a minimum 3.5 years way, how close could we be? I was in a bank, today, and it took ONE HOUR to open a basic checking account (for politics). I told her we need thumb print ID, where all my data appears, because it never changes, from one business transaction to the next!

Even today, if you have no license, or Social Security number, or credit card, you're 'SOL' in buying anything. Banks already know if you can't afford to use a debit card, as it gets declined as 'insufficient funds.' We're already centralized in our commerce! 666 CAN'T be that far off! Try to do anything without money. You CAN'T do much.

And if BIG brother government disallows non-system members from buying or selling (Rev. 13), you'll either be killed, or be forced to be a survivalist. I can't even camp out overnight, without bribing my boys with food and movies after 10:30 pm (did so before). There are SO many indications that prophecy is coming soon!

LOOK at I Tim. 3:1-14. Christians will abandon the true faith, to follow demons, via hypocrites, liars and men with NO conscience left, preaching behind pulpits. These men of the cloth restrict marriages and foods that parishioners can imbibe/engage. Sound, biblical teaching will NOT occur in church (II Tim. 4:1-5).

LAYMEN will summons preachers who say what they want to hear, and who entertain them! They turn away from truth. Truth-tellers will be banished, as undesirables for being behind pulpits. Do you see any precursors, today, of churchgoers allowing liars and hypocrites to rule over them (Ex.: DJT)?

READ II Tim. 3, to see how non-Christian/secular society will be. People will be lovers of self (me, me, me generation; me, myself and I), lovers of money (U.S.A. as Exhibit A), boastful, arrogant, abusive, disobedient to parents, ungrateful, unholy, without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God—having a form of godliness but denying its power. Does this sound like My Three Sons and Beaver Cleaver days, or OUR days? OUR days. Wake up, world! John 3:16, the Bible.

Update #7: Prophecy's Parts

Let's detail for you exactly how prophecy transpires, and I DON'T care, at this moment, if you believe it. Just listen, and I'll tell God you were warned, and chose to deny it. If nothing else, it's entertaining, until you go through it:

A sudden loss of millions of people will occur, called the Rapture (I Cor. 15:51; I Th. 4:17). Then a mystery politician arises, likely in the E.U., by usurping the power of three heads of state, who brokers seven years of peace tween Israel and her enemies (i.e., The Antichrist).

Seven years of Hell on earth occurs, as God's judgment (worse than Noah's flood), culminating in Armageddon. In those seven years, seven seal and trumpet judgments befall those left on earth, until that man becomes a one-world ruler, after being fatally wounded, yet brought back to life, somehow.

He breaks his seven-year peace treaty (Dan. 9:27), and ravages the Jews. He has a religious partner (Rev. 13), and has acquired power by conquest and bribery the first three years. Mid-term, he does miraculous things that delude the entire world, and all follow after him.

He kills people bucking his system, which requires all business to be conducted by receiving a mark on the forehead or wrist. His 'image' kills nonworshippers. There are so many details I've left out, so you'll buy my two books as late Christmas presents.

THINK what happens when millions of Christians disappear. The Amber alerts, crashed airplanes and trains and cars. Families missing their breadwinners. Is that chaos what propels the Beast to power? If you have ZERO interest in these questions, just do nothing, and possibly experience them first-hand.

Your only other option is to die before it occurs, in which case you go immediately to Hell, to be raised to judgment when the Great White Throne judgment occurs, at the end of the seven years, or to go through those seven years... or to be saved; do so today (Jn. 3:16; II Cor. 6:2).

This is no pressure tactic or fear tactic. DO WHATEVER YOU WANT! I'm just warning you of TRUTH! You can laugh it off, delay thinking about it, or ignore it and have a good time. NO good person would let you do so, uninformed. I'm simply informing you, tonight. Do with it as you will.

WHERE else could I teach these thoughts to potentially anyone, anywhere in the world, but on Twitter, and then in a book, available online? People don't give you the time of day these days. They'd NEVER engage a conversation on such subjects of such length, and Christian pastors don't teach lost people what their future looks like!

If you can imagine what God sees among Christians: Worldliness, and doing little evangelism, discipling, and leadership of fixing society's problems. Corrupt pastors have set up a system where if you come hear me preach, and give me 10 percent of your income, you are good with God, when you're really bad with Him. #AmazingApostasy

Did you know, when prophecy comes, apostasy will have been happening, and a spirit of delusion will engulf the world, where people believe lies? Even NOW, U.S. Christians apostatize, and believe lies, via Chump, while the world of NON-Christians DON'T fall for such things. It's a WEIRD time before prophecy! Oppositesville!

Update #8: Prophecy Speculation (12/18/18)

Want to know yet another prophecy sign? Ministers in ministry for the money. Until ~1985, that would have sounded impossible, as FEW pastors made a lot. Then arose the Church Growth Movement, and church became a business. READ the New Testament. NO church promoted itself; all were unified.

Breaking News: Rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem is underway <https://youtu.be/iJQ-XtB1PJg>

Prophecy COULDN'T have occurred if Jews were still dispersed abroad, as they were from 70 AD until 1948, as they get peace for 3.5 years, then severe persecution the second half of The Tribulation.

There will be some form of a 10 nation federation in Europe, in those times. The E.U. could either shrink in number, or have alliances forming 10 segments—we don't know for sure. It's amazing, as you read the book of Revelation, to think how its human author, John, would describe things from his experience, which he had never seen before. For example, scorpions with tails (Rev. 9:10) could be scorpions, or weaponry on vehicles.

Apart from writing words no reader at the time could understand, and John would find as gibberish, like 'nuclear bomb' language in first century Greek, he used analogous descriptors to show what he saw in his vision.

The image of the Beast is a prime example (Rev. 13). Who knows what it will be? Verses 14-15 say it causes worship-rejecters to be killed. It's the image/likeness of Antichrist; probably like a modern, life-like statue or body double, but it is given 'life,' so it's likely a robot that can detect lack of worship posture or gesture, like scanners and motion sensors.

It possibly lasers zap nonconformists. There appear to be many of them, as people get slain the world over. Verses 16-17 detail a mark/branding that allows commerce, or prohibition thereof. You have numbers associated with your identity, in bar code form, aback your plastic. Could those be imbedded in your skin, or tattooed on your body?

We already have Atlanta Airport check in kiosks facially recognizing customers, and index finger unlocking smart phones, for security measures. How far off could forehead and wrist marks be, as required for anyone to do any business transactions. If all money becomes e-commerce, or paperless, no coin or paper money would help you.

Electronic transfers exist; accounting ledgers adjust for bulk buy/institutional stock transactions, even automatically made upon trigger movements (strike prices), for power players. Automated commerce, via numbers.

Finally, what men worship today—money—especially in our finest cities, all comes crashing down in Rev 18 (Commercial Babylon). Note that there are still worker jobs, and rich, fancy kings, so Socialism and Communism don't appear to be required by the Antichrist, though 100 percent control of business is implemented.

Not everyone gets paid the same, but business is booming, perhaps because so many people die before the second half of the Tribulation. Extrapolate as you interpret imagery.

It's easy to poo poo apocalyptic literature, because of the extreme and visually radical descriptions, but this was written a by a man seeing 2,000+ years into the future, using language of the first century, plus the events are horrifically dramatic.

The numbers killed are staggering, as are the means of their destruction. The article I retweeted addresses a revised Jewish temple, because Mt. 24 and I Th. speak of the arrogant boastful blasphemer declaring himself 'god' in the temple, mid-Tribulation. HOW could he pull that deception off? False signs and wonders, as described in II Th. 2:9.

If you saw a human be able to defy logic and science/physics laws, you might think him supernatural, as well. Plus, there's a spirit of delusion making people believe lies (II Th. 2:11), God's Holy Spirit having been withdrawn in His full effect of today, at the Rapture (II Th. 2:6). That is NOT government restraint, as one-world government occurs 3.5 years after Rapture.

There are prophecy scholars/experts who you can read, to learn more. We have summarized the best ones, along with our own findings, in our advanced prophecy book. The basics, and explanations of more general items (i.e., less detail) can be found in our first prophecy book, at AmericanAnswers.org.

DEMOCRAT STRATEGY FOR 2016 TO 2020

(11/27/16)

Dr. Haynes (@friendshipwest): In your political planning, use what worked with WASP churches this time (that was done 100 percent behind my back); here's a summary:

A 'cabal' handful of pastors united for a HUGE evangelism event (which I prompted behind the scenes). Then they must have talked privately about the election.

The results was they gathered with Dr. Jeffress (who was already connected with Chump), used name recognition of UN-known university president (Falwell) for name recognition.

They had to have emailed or conference called many famous white pastors (two black pastors, maximum) to unite in a cause to turn out the "Christian vote" by... church video of Pence, North Texas Presidential Forum, National Day of Prayer D.C. meetings, gathering with ~53 Christian Congress persons in a D.C. prayer event, Billy Graham's son's 50-state wake up America tour, having Huckabee (and Carson?) do the rounds in churches, and PRIVATELY telling audience members 'we lose our nation if Chump doesn't win,' sermons at Fellowship Church Grapevine, TX on the GOP platform and the Bible, Dr. James Dobson's family radio network extolling single issue voting against abortion, talk radio hosts coordinating with them (Christian and secular) to fear monger this as the most important election of our lifetime, and sermons CLAIMING not to endorse or be for any one political party, then sprinkled with issues ONLY the GOP is for.

THAT is the model from June 23 forward that worked for them, and I had NOTHING to do with it! I ceased attending my 10-year attended church the day I learned of it, ONLY to return to hear my kids sing (and one famous pastor I like).

HOW did I learn of it? My home pastor was the lead spokesperson to the media after the cabal met with Chump, two weeks after he'd called that campaign 'non-sense' in a Saturday evening service!

Trump specifically targeted for their meeting the past two churches God used me to try to change (listed at our website), according to FoxNews.com.

One pastor was WISE enough NOT to attend or to get involved. Also the Southern Baptist Convention was used to denounce the Confederate flag, to try to appeal for black votes for Chump!

This ALL started when I contacted 40+ famous pastors to speak out against gay marriage going national (vs. a state's rights matter), four months before SCOTUS ruled.

I suggest Dr. Haynes use a similar organizing of black churches, as with Mosques, Synagogues, and every non-rich white group for 2020 (and earlier)! I'll help you!

Catholics, Hispanics, blacks, women, youth, Chinese, Muslim, Jews; it HAS to extend beyond religious circles, Please email me for more advice!

.@TheRevAl @RevJJackson @LouisFarrakhan You need to unite, settle or ignore differences in strategy, and get RESULTS! Bernie has got an in with the youth, @DNC.

That cabal may have started in 2016, but its roots were Rev. James Robison touting Ben Carson the past two years at home school conferences, and with radio spots ("Run Ben run" was their slogan).

Dr. Jeffress ALWAYS courts politicians, though he hypocritically opposed Mitt Romney, due to his being a Mormon—then complied later.

It's a VERY tenuously legal mixing of church and state for power ends. Even Dr. Haynes (and the NYT) noted that they abandoned morals for power, by backing Chump!

BTW, you spoke of 'spies.' I've never had one conversation with any people in that cabal, and I exposed and ram-rodged the IMMORALITY of their group here MANY times! I'm no spy.

I learned of my own ex-pastors involvement in the media, when he was the lead spokesperson for Chump's 'evangelical council's' initial meeting!

THAT DAY I quit attending (~June 23, 2016). I've detailed every encounter with that person behind the scenes here MANY times, and can retweet, as needed.

USE THEIR MODEL as a START! Also, the Tea Party started around when talk radio had a meeting to organize; I won a free ticket, but thought better of going!

That Dallas meeting planned issues, candidates, elections to target for wins, how to take over the GOP, etc. DFW people were there, and know the details!

HOW they picked Trump to lead them I'll NEVER understand, as I told Pastor White yesterday. He's the WORST representative for any group's reputation and credibility! DUMB move.

So IF you'll copy that cabal, and the Tea Party model, victory is JUST near your grasp (if electoral college and state rules are strategized against better)!

I've changed political parties (the day Chump won), and will help you in any way possible. Do a lie detector, and interview me first before trusting me. It's sincere.

I was possibly the first #NeverTrump in U.S.A., and I have NEVER changed! I have a tweet archive to prove I have not once not opposed him, and always will.

Please email me at AAorg2020@gmail.com so I can aid your efforts, Dr. Haynes. @friendshipwest America is too important to have Chump lead her long!

P.S.: I don't know the famous U.S. Hispanic and black churches and mega pastors. You do. Contact them, and do community organizing, starting with parishioners!

P.S.S.: I am NOT for either party 100 percent. I'm for the GOOD in every party, and opposed to their bad! I voted for GOP's but NOT Chump. Now I'm a Democrat, due to him!

.@Pledgers2020 works if BOTH parties have good candidates more committed to common sense solutions to fix problems than party loyalty; it CAN happen!

.@fhunscripted Please read my speech tweeted this morning, and let's talk in private about how to WIN in 2020. It will be 100 percent confidential. I met you in person yesterday.

As I've said before, the black and white churches are politically DIVIDED over taxes and Welfare. I called for unity two+ years ago. 2016 shows that NO such (good) thing occurred!

P.S.S.S.: IF I recall right, the Tea Party Email had three topics: Fund raising, rallies, and one other I can't recall. I would add recruiting volunteers! @fhunscripted

Also, FoxNews' Todd Starnes was often the cabal's media entre, as with Mark Davis on talk radio, and another Christian radio station; Democrats have celebrities who can get media/press.

BOTH parties NEED to start organizing and inspiring NOW! Get people interested and giving, and target candidates for school boards, city councils, and state and national elections!

The @DNC should be registering everyone in America willing to do so EVEN NOW! Never wait until it's too late. Prepare and plan. Study the electoral college laws, and state voting rules.

You have the GREATEST strategic opening with Chump as the GOP's representative head! @DNC His past comments KILL him with minorities, independents, and ex-GOP's, @SenateDems @HouseDemocrats

Please read today's tweet speech to a great pastor on Democrat victory strategy! @HouseDemocrats @SenateDems @DNC It worked for The Chump. BEAT him, ASAP!

This site is NOT against any good politicians of either party! We are objective. We do, however, 100 percent oppose Chump, as he has HURT U.S.A. by his MANY evils!

This site will NO LONGER post anything that might help Chump succeed. That MAY mean it dies out; who knows. We DON'T contribute to evil or Trump.

NEW religious revival emphasis on morals from Chump <http://on.msnbc.com/2itGNbi> Were you a part of this? @fhunscripted I HOPE your plans are succeeding! (12/31/16)

EDUCATION EXTREMISM

(10/4/18)

Often, Indians and Chinese immigrating to America FAR out-hustle (and, therefore inspire) the average American in public schools, and OFTEN are their best, academically (vs. sending us their dummies).

You have to compete with this, native American citizens! SUCH is the result of globalism, that WON'T ever change. Be glad smarties come here!

EVERY few years, academic standards for required courses per grade move DOWN the age scale! That means kids are required to learn things older kids didn't learn until a later school year. This is global competition, to get America world-class in our public education. It's hard, but there is NO other choice.

I believe public education in America NEEDS to employ ALL private sector helps to make education more fun and enjoyable, understandable and rememberable, as we throw even more requirements on young people. Even more breaks and fun/sports time in-between. There is MUCH stress, needing counseling, too! DUH.

I've WATCHED extremists among Indian and Chinese immigrants, studying until midnight, every night, NO extra curriculars or sports, or fun in their off hours. Purely cerebral people, with less social skills. Everything hinging on grades! Humorously, they burnt out, and abandoned their parents' aspirations for them!

EXTREMES IN 2020

(9/4/18)

NBC just reported that 2020 may shape up to being intensely right vs. left. Here are the issues, problems and solutions... IF people who CAN'T think very well, can't improve on/fix that problem, they're ONLY left with three alternatives: Gridlock, win and rule, then lose it all when you later lose, or literal secession!...

There are SO MANY better solutions! ONLY an idiot would accept those three ideas! BOTH extremes hate the other, and hold positions polar opposite to the other. In a UNITED (States) nation, that can't continue forever, in policy (vs. in hearts). Violence, boycotts (that hurt our economy), and general increased evil can only ensue!

Let's demonstrate how BOTH sides can get the most for their causes: Short of dividing our nation into two separate nations (i.e., red vs. blue), or violence and hatred (i.e., sin), you take the GOOD from every side, and you morally decide that your way or the highway is selfish, and untenable!

Examples: Red states want NO abortions; blue ones want as many as people want. IF Roe were overturned, so long as red states had to pay expenses for their women to get one elsewhere, their women would still have access, and red states could be free of any guilt for allowing them in their jurisdiction.

Even if Roe weren't overturned, public and private campaigns to get women to plan sex better, use immediate termination technology after unsafe sex, and even to reconsider aborting could ensue, to lessen their number.

100 percent prohibitionists would need to accept and realize that they themselves are incapable of getting everything they want, because others' choices are involved (i.e., no forced selfishness of my way or the highway).

Try green energy... Red states are free to pursue oil, but DON'T expect the feds to fund things your pursuit causes, like sea barriers to protect oil refineries. Blue states are free to pursue green energy, and let the market decide who does best. Feds can still enhance anti-pollution standards on polluters, but technology and innovation can make that regulation not so much a financial punishment, but an economic opportunity. And states can have two separate tracks of regulations' severity (if Constitutional).

Try taxes... Red states NEED educating on budgeting realities—$22 trillion in debt. Strong politicians can inform them of each citizen's obligation for it, and why the rich (and successful businesses) have the greatest excess with which to help pay off some of our debt, and blue states can get that same education, that when you ask government to do things, a price tag is always attached.

Extremes are RARELY good—can you name me one? You pick the GOOD in both extremes, but you do NOT rule our nation off extremes—as loud or energized as they may get! Intelligence trumps emotion, and you please them only where they have legitimate causes and complaints!

The vast majority of Americans are somewhere in the middle, and for common sense and solving problems! Extremists, though their excess can spur change, truly suffer myopic self-absorption in their NARROW causes, and the smarter and more balanced level heads have to temper their enthusiasm, for wisdom and pragmatism.

In short, when you read our three political books, you will CLEARLY see what's needed, and how to get it into real political practice. The Civil War was real and bad and a mess/mistake. That IS our future, if extremists continue to be funded and encouraged by evil people. Get the &%$@ out of this country if you can't think better than that!

Update: Extremist Errors
(9/5/18)

I'm AMAZED how STUPID so many (in number—not percentage) Americans are! If one extreme wins power, it will lose all (or nearly all) its gains when it invariably LOSES! Your gains are not permanent! I have NOTHING more to say to make this statement understandable. You need to work on your brain power, if it confuses you!

You can NOT have national laws that favor any extreme! A large portion of the country will resist or rebel! Politicians make a LIVING off stirring up DUMB people's EMOTIONS by extreme claims, promises and proposals. They can't excite votes by logic, practicality and intelligence! FAILures!

EXTREMISTS long for BAD things, most of the time! EX: Clean energy, at the expense of business success; or business success at the expense of our environment. NAME ME ONE GOOD EXTREME... crickets! To get inertia, sometimes you need extreme intensity, but NOT once momentum has been established! Duh 101

There is NO policy in political conservatism or liberalism that is flawed, and our opposite extreme is full of evil, stupid, anti-American enemies. THIS is the so-called "thinking" of extremists. It is NOT thinking at all, but brain-washed emotionalism, and stupidity. Inaccurate and immoral.

There is NO WAY federal law can be extreme! Civil War or secession are the ONLY ends to such stupidity! The RIGHT thing to do is almost always in the middle! The ONLY exception I know is any GOOD policies extremists advocate for, or to get inertia started, but ONLY in the short-term/run. Get a brain.

Here are extreme categories: Oil vs. environment, business vs. employees, rich vs. poor, black vs. white, abortion vs. religion, gays vs. religion, northeast vs. south, red vs. blue, native-born vs. immigrants, big vs. small government, high vs. low taxes, hawk vs. dove, pro-cop vs. pro criminal rights, business vs. animals, charity vs. government.

IF the Democrat party is PERFECT, all Republicans are evil (and vice versa). SAVOR, meditate, muse on this statement, until it (hopefully) hits you that this is true, and the problem with D.C.). It doesn't matter if it takes you fifteen times of re-reading, but only that you finally get it!

Obama wrote of 'shared power.' It could and would NEVER be 50/50, as election winners would set the boundaries, and control the agenda, more, but cooperation, compromise, getting along NOT to get along but to get things done and fix problems, tackle priorities, and be paid for a REASON, called productivity.

Life in America has become polarized to political extremes. In case you just awakened from beneath a rock, or flew in from Mars, here are the extremes: Gun-grabbers vs. NO restrictions on gun ownership, taxes so low our increasing debt funds our budget vs. tax to the max, etc. EXTREMES are often evil!

Black Lives Matter starts, so GOP's claim it's insulting to all others, especially cops. Every faction wants equal attention, and hates their opponent. ALL this B.S. began coming out of the woodworks by the CHUMP campaign! That is NOT an accomplishment, or success. U.S. culture has been harmed.

FAITH & FAVORITISM

(6/9-10/17)

Don't demand #TrumpMustTestify but #IHopeThereAreTapesOf the Comey-Chump conversation, and they need to be subpoena'd. The honor system doesn't work with dishonorables.

BAD on Bernie Sanders! I just signed the petition. Politically, all religions are equal, and we're NOT in an American theocracy. <http://fxn.ws/2sczKJr>

Bernie Sanders DOES raise one good point about the role of religion in politics: The minority view is as equally protected under our laws as the majority, meaning we don't want anyone from any religion appointing political personnel to influence our laws by their religion, apart from the law and the voice of the people.

For instance, Obama appointing Muslims to implement Sharia laws through such judges, when that's NOT the law of the land, or the Christian cabal wanting Christians appointed to push their religious agenda, like overturning Roe, when that's NOT how we are supposed to change laws in America (i.e., 'judicial activism')!

I've said before, but some Christian cabal pastors DISagree in their actions (vs. words), that I, personally, don't want Christianity exalted in the U.S. government or laws, any more or less than any other religion!

That means, I'm TIRED of sinfully-biased pastors seeking to get Chump to pass executive edicts in their favor, to any detriment of any other religion, even though I'm of that faith! And I'm damn tired of any politician, especially Chump, governing to his base, in order to TRY to get re-elected!

A real president is supposed to govern ALL Americans, and do what's in the best interest of the nation as a whole. ALL I've seen from The Chump is policies that cater to the alt-right!:

Severely reduce climate change regulations, bless the rich with more tax breaks and ending the estate tax, trying to sway SCOTUS with a conservative vs. centrist justice, the Muslim ban (catering to Christian cabal types, who assume all Muslims criminals, or their religious business is hurt when Islamists immigrate here), lowering business regulations (randomly/arbitrarily) by two-thirds, even on too big to fail banks, beefing up the military off the backs of the poor, disabled and elderly (i.e., entitlement cuts), etc.

Now as to Bernie's concern that a Christian candidate for a government position believes everyone without Jesus in their heart goes to Hell... I would HOPE that Bernie believes that everyone who does not obey the Law and ten commandments is not walking rightly with God, as that's his Jewish faith's beliefs.

And I would HOPE that every religion that believes anyone is going to Hell, if not of their belief, would do all in their power (not violence—obviously) to ensure no one ends up there.

But the FOOLish thing the guy Bernie was criticizing DIDN'T say was that religion has NOTHING to do with following vs. influencing our laws!

ALL religions have to obey established laws, unless it violates a deeply-held religious tenet, and SCOTUS has made an exception, like opposing the draft, or Jehovah's Witnesses opposing blood transfusions (at the cost of a life is a government interest (life and safety) more than that private religious belief), but politicians who pass laws and SCOTUS who determines their Constitutionality decide that matter—NOT any religious appointees of any particular faith.

So, religion influences voters voting for politicians, and politicians' personal convictions on values can influence their policy priorities, but can NEVER be the test for what policies they vote for, but following established law, and not making up their own laws by nominating enough people from their own religion to force their RELIGIOUS views on to the nation!

Even if the Christian cabal stirred up enough Christian voters to want Roe or Obergefell overturned, the U.S. majority does NOT rule the roost, absent judicial and legislative process! And precedent means something, even to the most religiously-biased SCOTUS justice!

The nearly complete ignorance of some Christian cabal pastors as to how laws get passed, and what role religion plays in politics is astounding, given most of them are over age 70, and should know civics better!

By the way, Chump is doing all in his power to appease that constituency, as he KNOWS he really has little—to-NO influence or involvement in Christian matters in his long-lived life!

And finally, as to Bernie's fear that a belief that people NOT holding your religious views ensures a politician would disrespect people of other faiths, that's a 100 percent BOGUS concern!

I don't know or care what religion any politician or justice is of, so long as they pass morally good laws, and, more importantly, obey the existing laws—unless those laws are faulty, or bad!

And in that RARE case, there's a process for overturning bad laws, and it is NEVER to be by stacking judge seats with people of your belief system, political or religious!

YES, liberals have done that, but what sinful hypocrisy it would be for the Christian cabal to now try to do the same evil for their biases!

God is not biased, so any claiming follower of Him cannot believe the ends justify the means, like electing the least moral GOP because he promises Christian cabal pastors things they, biasedly/selfishly want! You are to govern ALL Americans—a concept that thus far seems to have eluded Chump, and that cabal.

I BEG you sir, to read this morning's message about your concern regarding Christian candidates for government positions! Shalom. @BernieSanders Forgive Christian activists.

FAITH VS. HOPE

(9/7/16)

Regarding political polls, a reporter said people believe what they want. Polls ebb and flow, and they DIFFER, so they aren't real important until near election time.

However, let's think of the HARM of a person believing whatever they want, absent evidence and facts... You'll look stupid, be disappointed and make bad decisions by doing so.

Examples: If NASA had based their moon landing projections on what they wanted vs. what was true, we wouldn't have landed there, and people could have been killed.

If an adult still believed in the tooth fairy or Easter bunny or Santa Claus, they'd RIGHTfully be socially shunned if not locked away in a loony bin.

If, like on the Bachelor TV show, you believed a partner was REALLY into you, but found out later they weren't, you'd suffer heart-break disappointment and loss.

It doesn't matter what you want (though you can still maintain your wants); what matters is what's true. In politics, one party wins, the other loses, and our wants don't change that!

“FAKE” NEWS PEWS?

(6/25-26/18)

Pastors believe they have to give a great sermon, to mainly Christians, and coordinate the worship service with the musicians. It's a show, for an audience. That template does SO little for the Great Commission!

Pastor: If you learned everyone near your church was saved, or everyone was lost, how would that knowledge change what you do every week? If you refuse to tell your sheep the negative news about their lack of evangelism, to spare losing members, you do NOT believe Mt. 6:33! Walking by sight, vs. faith, if so.

From a purely logistical standpoint, the people nearest a given church are the most likely future church members. So why would a pastor blow that opportunity taking the Gospel to them, soon? This is sarcasm, but it IS how we think, AS IF the Gospel is BAD news that builds walls and turns people off/away from church!

WHAT IF a pastor adopted their neighborhood for Jesus, and let them all know they consider them their responsibility before God, to care for, meet the needs of, and be a resource to help their lives in any way possible? HOW could that turn anyone off? But will you find any U.S. pastor ever do such an initiative?

SERVANT leadership pastors would NOT unstatedly expect lost neighbors to come/drop by (Jas. 2:2; I Cor. 14:24), join, give and serve (i.e., free business employees). That's church acting as the one to be served, vs. Mt. 20:28. HOW are modern churches serving lost neighbors, if they happen to never get "attracted?"

Continued

We Christians CLAIM we love God and His word, the Bible, but if you examine our lives, and especially our church practices, you have EVERY reason to call us liars, and to doubt that claim.

The church is to be founded on Christ (Mt. 16:18); it's to be known by NON-Christians for our praying (Mt. 21:13). Do you notice any effects from the praying in the church near you? QUITE honestly, churches usually spend two minutes, MAX, in prayer. Jesus spent entire evenings, at times (Lk. 6:12).

God's/biblical church has laymen using their supernatural gifts to minister to/serve each other, in/at their gatherings (i.e., "Body Life"), to IMPLEMENT the "one anothers" of Scripture. Do you find any church doing that? Or merely songs and a sermon?

Biblical church has church discipline, and even shunning, for serious sin among its members (Mt. 18). Modern church will do anything to keep annuity customers—NEVER saying any true thing that could scare them off/away.

Biblical church is powerful, and influences society for morality. After the Chump election, you can see why the statistics are that 70-90 percent of American Christians are NOT disciples of Jesus! (Mt. 16:17-19)

And let's look at the pastors. The Bible says they are to be servants, and NEVER deem themselves "leaders." (Mt. 23:10) If you hang in their circles, they speak TONS on leadership and management skills, and how to grow their BUSINESS, OPPOSITE of Mt. 6:33 and 21:12.

Jesus tells them they are to do the evangelist's work, but they CLING to man's tradition of preach-and-be-paid (II Tim. 4:5).

They are to preach (AND teach, I Tim. 5:17) the Bible, which they are pretty decent at, but they OFTEN love hearing their own ideas expressed, where the sheep go home with little memory of any Bible verses. In a lifetime, with topical sermonizing, a layman could NEVER have heard of even 1/20th of the Bible.

And pastors OFTEN don't encourage daily quiet times, because EVERYTHING gets controlled by them when it happens at their religious retail establishments—including throwing all functions into that sermon (discipleship, evangelism, counseling, etc.), even though Jesus said go and tell (vs. 'attract' lost people to church), and discipled people in a way DIFFERENT from how He preached to the crowds (more intensely and intimately, which worked FAR better, Mk. 4:34; II Tim. 2:2).

Church buildings are NOT biblically mandatory (Ac. 26:46), nor 10 percent 'tithes' (II Cor. 8-9), nor full-time pastor salaries (Ac. 18:3; I Cor. 9:14).

And there are moral requirements for pastors, in order to get, then keep their jobs! (Tit. 1:6-9; I Tim. 3:1-7; I Pet. 5:1-4) When I was interviewed for my only church staff job, the deacon committee asked not one question related to that list; I had prepared for such questions.

In seminary, the 'stars' were the boys who could "draw a crowd" by their preaching skills. People would actually earn a watered-down "doctorate" (D.Min.) so they could be considered for a mega church pastorate. That is, by definition, a heart intention to be rich, OPPOSITE the warning of I Tim. 6:10; and preachers must be absent a love of money! (I Tim. 6:9-10)

Have you ever hears pastors who believe they must visit church members in hospitals, or counsel them? The Bible delegates those duties to lesser positions! (Ac. 6:2) Pastors' top functions are having a quiet time! (Ac. 6:4) The LACK of such is why we are so powerless in society (I Cor. 4:19).

Biblical church shared resources between poor and rich churches (II Cor. 8; Ac 2, 4); They did NOT view other churches as competitors (I Cor. 3:9), like trying to keep up with the Jones', with TV ads, music groups, celebrity speakers, fancy buildings, attraction events, and all the GIMMICKS the Church Growth Movement brought, to increase paychecks (and apostasy).

And do you ever hear preachers teach that every Christian is guaranteed to never be sick, and to be rich? FALSE doctrine! As Bible prophecy approaches, we are to EXPECT these wolf types to rise (Jude; II Pet). And rise they have.

So when Christians claim the Good Book is their life guide, and going to church is sacred to them, realize it is a pittance of the image of what we are to be aspiring for it to be, in practice! and for me to say these things incurs pastor's critical wrath, because they do NOT want to change their mainly preaching!

Oh, I didn't even mention the church as a lead source for social ministry to society (i.e., as servants, Mt. 25), or that LOST souls/non-Christians should know that we are Christians by our love for one another—NOT by a fish on our car, or saying 'have a blessed day,' or Merry Christ-mas; NO such tricks of cowardice (Jn. 13:35).

But if you think revival will come, to change this tradition called 'Churchianity,' think again! (II Chron. 7:14). Christians LOVE it! Pastors get to do one main task (the sermon), and laymen get to do one main thing (attend church). One hour a week box-checking, vs. 24/7 walking w/Jesus! (Lk. 9:23)

And millionaire ministers? That's unheard of in the Bible! But it's the goal, in modern Christendom. READ I Tim., II Tim. and Tit., today, and you will see we give lip service to our love of God's Bible, in how church gets practiced! And I'm HATED for pointing this out! (Gal. 4:16).

And finally, if you think this modern practice of church doesn't pay off, and therefore will ever be abandoned, think again: <https://bit.ly/2twlxpK> <https://bit.ly/2K9a7SV>

You have EVERY reason to have ZERO interest in this "fake church" tradition! (Mk. 7:8) Just DONT blame Jesus for His people's many sins!

P.S.: MANY U.S. pastors, in 2014, heard that message, LOUDLY, here. Our latest book details over 25 accusations PASTORS raised about me, for saying so. NEVER did they respond to the concepts I raised, or used Bible verses to defend their practice—ALWAYS personal attacks on one they've never met!

Forgive me one more P.S.: When you READ the PASTORal epistle of Titus, LOOK how many times the author extols PASTORS to get their church members to do good, and not bad, both personally, and unto their society! ARE THEY? (Hardly): Tit. 2:14, 3:1, 8, 14. Pretty obvious job description, PASTORS!

Instead we have this:

Pastor's Bible (on church practice and their job description): II Tim. 4:2; I Cor. 9:14; Eph. 5:19;

Churchianity's Bible: Mal. 3:10; Heb. 10:25;

Liberals' Bible: Jn. 13:34; Mt. 7:1; Jn. 8:7; instead of,

God's Bible: Gen. 1:1 to Rev. 22:21. ACCEPT NOTHING LESS than Biblical church!

Black Church's Bible: Gal. 2:10; Pv. 19:17

White Church's Bible: Jer. 1:5; Levit. 20:13

FAR RIGHT FAR FROM GOD

(10/2/18)

I don't want to see religious bigotry in any form. It would disturb me if there was a wedding between the religious fundamentalists and the political right.

The hard right has no interest in religion except to manipulate it. –Billy Graham

I didn't catch the name, but a local talk radio dude, today, blamed Jeff Flake following his conscience on trying to curry favor with the liberal left media, who hates him—NOT that he actually stands for moral values.

The guy said let every RINO leave the party, and let conservatism reign. Here is EXACTLY the problem with that position... The GOP has ALWAYS had two sides, and now the tRumpians want one side GONE. Basically, every GOP who's been their presidential nominee the past 20+ years, and their kind.

It doesn't matter the less radically right side has been the majority, and is still, now, the silent minority, to go along and get along to spare their jobs under Chump. It doesn't matter their silence doesn't mean support.

It doesn't even consider longer-term consequences, as rich white males who don't care about society, using any tax dollars, are a dying minority. It doesn't matter that the minute Chump is ousted, the battle between those two sides reignites!

Democrats have that exact same rupture, between more radical leftists, and the middle grounders. But they have, historically, been smart enough to unite, for power, and debate and fight, but be in lock step when push comes to shove.

This far right pundit was touting Robert Jeffress and others doing a campaign speaking tour to rally up GOP votes for the midterms (and Jeffress' church advertised on talk radio). For the umpteenth time, let me explain why political conservatism is both good and bad, since this guy mouthed, 'get rid of all RINOs' (as they label anyone but staunch conservatives of their ilk):

Political conservatism claims to be pro-Constitution. That would be a good thing, if not narrowly interpreted to christen all their views as the only way that document can be interpreted.

It's for a strong national defense and economy. SO AM I. It's for U.S. businesses doing well. SO AM I. It's for U.S. control of who we let into this nation. SO AM I. It's for taxes as low as possible, and government not wasting tax money. SO AM I.

It's pro-religion, especially Christianity. SO AM I regarding religion, but the U.S. Constitution itself is AGAINST government establishing, prohibiting or favoring any one religion. It's for self-reliance, personal responsibility and hard work. SO AM I. It's for inheritance and property rights. SO AM I.

So why would MY type of "traditional conservative" (as Jeff Flake was labeled, yesterday) be pushed out by this hostile takeover (as John Kerry rightly labeled it) of my former party, the GOP? Arrogance and power idolatry have gone to conservatives' heads!

They HATED being the second-class, red-headed step-children of the party, and believed that both Romney and McCain's losses proved THEY alone had the winning formula.

Of ALL people on earth, people who CLAIM to be "Christians" should NEVER have 100 percent embraced their ilk, starting with the Tea Party, because of the following evils/sins of their belief system, that Jesus would have NOTHING to do with, because God is independent of political party, and ONLY supports morally good public policies.

The sins of political conservatism are as follows:

It favors (or is mainly for) whites. It favors business owners over employees and workers. It favors taxes so low that Uncle Sam can't pay his bills/debts. It favors the poor being ignored, except by the occasional charity gift you may toss at the street corner (or Goodwill center).

It favors America at the expense of the goodwill of other nations, if we can get away with it (i.e., in trade deals). It favors the rich getting richer, even by no actual work (i.e., money making money off itself), and believes no one else can do very well, financially, unless the rich get coddled, by politicians and their laws.

It favors treating gays as second-class citizens, and every woman facing a crisis pregnancy as a criminal, unless she goes to term. It favors ending five federal agencies, Welfare, the poor having zero health insurance (if any gets subsidized), private schools (even if it harms public ones), ending the IRS and estate tax, and instituting child labor.

It hates the minimum wage, and any business regulations, and any and all taxes (AS IF the government can run on nothing). In short, it is reliant upon mainly selfish and/or greedy white males (vs. other types of white males), naïve Christians, and blue collar good 'ol boys whom history has passed by, if they don't re-train/re-educate (like Rust Belt workers, whose jobs exist elsewhere, for much cheaper than any American would ever accept).

Now, you may remember, I started this message listing its positives. That is NOT what this right-wing hack did. He ONLY said be for conservatism, and be gone from R party if you aren't party to that program/agenda.

Any claiming "Christian" who follows that advice is SINNING, but don't expect that problem to be much of a concern for any who are habitually used to such a lifestyle of sin! It's ONLY those whose consciences and brains work, like Senator Flake, and others.

I venture to say, in the quite near future, that GOP's who do NOT agree with this far-right extremism will again regain their voices, once the dread of enduring Chump has passed. And I venture to say political conservatism will have a BIG black eye reputation within the party, when that freeing/releasing change (or return to normalcy) occurs.

I was one of the first to call out the GOP, and D.C. in general, for their many problems. The solution was NOT to rid our government of all experienced politicians, but to provide them workable ways to get things done, without continual fighting and gridlock.

Chump chose the 'drain the swamp mantra,' adapted from my much earlier 'throw the bums out' phrase (borrowed from Clayton Williams, if memory serves me correctly, or perhaps Ross Perot). This far right turn had me change political parties, and let me describe for you EXACTLY how they think and/or speak:

EVERY human NOT in their band of merry extremists is EVIL, and to be opposed, tooth-and-nail. Slander them, attribute wrong motives that depict them as evil, and get ignorant and naïve talk radio and FoxNews listeners and viewers to agree with this B.S., hook, line and sinker, 24/7.

My concern about the need for sanity and conscience is NOT for the non-religious far righters, whose jobs have been shipped away to foreign lands, for they have legitimate gripes, and we share no common moral source for exhorting them to abandon extremism.

But for people who name the Name of Jesus, if you continue down this extremist bent, wishy-washily following whichever side of the GOP is up for nomination, NEVER be surprised that you bring Christianity down to where your deeds and words RIGHTLY brought it... into the moral gutter. YOU own that!

One more trick associated with these cons (and I mean that term in BOTH ways you can interpret it): A true con ONLY sees two groups... his con peers, and everyone else. No one is moderate; just all left-wingers, and the synonym for generous (i.e., 'liberal') is ALWAYS to be mocked.

And if their life experience ever has them meet a Jeff Flake type, or a Democrat who is NOT as they stereotype them all, they'll refer to them as compromisers with the other side... exactly what this do-do claimed of Jeff.

They WANT confrontation, fights, animosity and hatred. No compromise; no middle (or common) ground. My-way-or-the-highway arrogance is valued by these types. Yet another reason why NO real Christian should ever wrap him or herself in the cloak of political conservatism, yet they do so all the time, just because banning all abortions is a position only the far right accepts, to gain their votes.

I have said enough. It is now your job to re-read all I said, because if you can't understand it, or see that it is true, you really need to have a one-on-one talk with God and your conscience, to learn just exactly when and where you ceased following Jesus in the right way! Thank you. Bye.

Political conservatism is a religion, and any "Christian" who touts "conservatism" as what Christians should be for has abandoned the faith! Your religion is supposed to influence your politics, NOT the other way around, and NOT be subservient to it. People who are NOT Christians are claiming to be, for political reasons!

FORGIVE & FORGET?

(11/8/18)

SIMPLE subject made more complex, of necessity: When someone wrongs you, what do you do? Do you forgive and forget, forgive and remember track records, or not forgive? To forgive is the easy and right answer, but Bible scholars differ on the remembering part! Plus, there's forgiveness of a person before God vs. before them, and it must be sincere.

Yet, even then, people can repeat offenses against you! God says forgive 70 times 7 times, when one repents. That means, they ask for forgiveness, presumably sincerely! Why? God won't forgive you if you don't, plus He has forgiven you much more than you ever forgive others, as one sin means you are guilty of all sins.

The Bible also says as much as is in your power, be at peace with all men, and how can two walk together unless they be agreed? Then you add in whether any history-based expectation of repeating offenses will harm you, emotionally or physically. The Bible does speak of excommunicating people who don't stop, when warned.

So where does this lead us? Forgive them before God. If they become your enemy, do good to them, to let God heap coals on their head, and let Him handle the punishment meted out. Bitterness hurts YOU, and stifles your growth! Anger turns to resentment, and can lead to depression. NEVER give anyone that much power over your life, but God alone!

Finally, psychology speaks of erecting boundaries. That seems consistent with God's wisdom, but I know of no verse on point. As well, if boundaries repeatedly get crossed, psychologists suggest separation, or ending the relationship. We've covered separation, and the Bible DOES speak of letting them be unto you as anathema and dead.

General forgiveness is always in order. Forgetting to the point you let yourself get harmed, over and over again, does NOT seem wise! Above all, retain humility, and always ask for forgiveness if you harm someone, or they inform you that you have!

I have, perhaps, muddied the waters more than need be, but when you cumulate the verses on the topic, beyond sincere forgiveness from your heart (vs. bitterness), it seems to depend on the severity, repetitiveness/frequency, and how being a victim negatively affects your life. God can heal anything (in His timing).

Now for any doubters, here's my proof of claims: Rom. 12:18-19; Mt. 6:15, 18:17-22; I Pet, 4:8; Pv. 25:22; Lk. 7:47, 17:3; I Cor. 5:5; Jas. 2:10. Lk. 17:3 says, 1. IF he repents, and 2. Reprove him. We OFTEN run too quickly to the forgive part, and are too scared to notice those other two facets! If one does NOT repent, before God you forgive, but between you two there's a barrier in the relationship—big or small! If I punch my wife in the nose, and never sincerely apologize, she harms her relationship with God to NOT forgive me in her heart, but she has a VALID beef with me until I repent!

You never seek revenge, but forgetting the past can lead to you naively and stupidly subjecting yourself to repeated abuse, or victimization! I would NEVER suggest any abused spouse (usually wives) stay in that situation for one day! Forgiveness doesn't mean you don't protect yourself, and even get the law involved.

And some people never change, even if they repeatedly ask for your forgiveness. Must you return to them, and let them violate you again? I see zero Bible evidence for that decision, but, again, scholars differ. Some even say divorce is in order, in such cases (which I would agree with, if the abuse is intolerable).

Biblically, there are only two moral bases for divorce, and even those aren't God's ideal! (Mt. 19:1-12; I Cor. 7:15) NO human is EVER commanded by God to be a doormat! That is NOT what biblical submission EVER is, or EVER has been. God wants all people safe, healthy and not harmed. Men/males... obey that! Love your wives!

Is putting your foot down, and insisting you will never (let yourself) be harmed again, by any who have done so in the past, UN-forgiveness? NO! I say it's wise. Self-protection/self-defense is NOT contrary to God's word! (Mk. 3:27) There's a time for many things (Ecc. 3:1-8), and not all of them are roll over and play dead!

GLOBAL VISION
(10/11/18)

It's a global FAILURE that we don't have effective institutions to enforce reasonable laws against rogue nations' major crimes, like the likely murder of the WAPO reporter by the Saudis! Individual and allied nations sanctionings should be that organization punishing them (U.N., World court, etc.)

Make a list of all crimes the world won't tolerate, and make punishment a deterrent. Ex: Drug distribution, starting wars, taking lands, genocide, slavery, denying females education, murders, labor camps, silencing opposition. All we have is boycotts/sanctions, WEAK diplomacy and military options.

And nations are GOING TO keep violating these norms, so an international military would be helpful, because many regimes won't stop their evil unless someone more powerful forces them to. This ISN'T one-world government, but all moral nations demanding the rebel ones comply to reasonable rules, or pay the price!

It wouldn't even require their agreeing to the rules, if they ultimately won't, because many dictators are entrenched in their evil ways. Their people will appreciate this move, and I believe God wants all nations living up to certain goodness standards, whether their "leaders" will, or are forced.

It SHOULDN'T be that heads of states must ruffle foreign relations with a nation over each and every wrong done! There are PRIORITIES! A jailed pastor, vs. Russia invading a neighbor, are NOT the same importance to nations, and lower level communications and resolutions with enforcement are needed, globally.

Basically, diplomats need more power, or a partner with power, if the positive doesn't work, but globally tied to U.N. or World Court, without nations losing their sovereignty. NO entity is over your nation, but international laws DO bind you to what's impermissible. All nations committed to good need to unite!

It may require an alternative to the semi-corrupted U.N., if it doesn't reform itself, having allowed bad nations to unite, and thwart good things (and veto power allowing rogue nations to allow their own evils to continue). It's MOST efficient to clean it up, and least costly, but will it do so?

Heads of state DO have a YUGE role in trying to convince more evil heads of state that it's in their best interest to do good things vs. evil ones. Economic and military power are levers to influence them, but business partnerships and showing goodwill first, are a much better way to start. Charisma helps, as with prayer.

EVERY reasonable citizen in the world can list intolerable acts they wished NO nation would engage in! The aims are NOT hard to list. Getting dictators to abandon evil, and blessing them with the power and money they crave is the challenge. The people SHOULD be the world's number one concern—NOT their "leaders."

For instance, and relatedly, EVERY nation NEEDS clean water, electricity, roads, housing, food, healthcare, jobs and education, law and order, NO terrorism, cops, military, natural disaster response teams and other BASICS. How can we ALL ensure ALL nations get ALL these things? Selflessness!

I'm going to assume there's the West, then there's Russia/China/Iran and some of their allies, and these two groups will be sparring for decades. HOW do you un-do the animosity? Economic partnerships, talking, getting their people involved and educated, enough resources for all, rewarding good behavior, and sometimes, regime change!

Here's a beginning list of acts EVERYONE who's not overtly evil can agree are wrong, and MUST stop, globally: Torture, rape, incest, murder, theft, the sins I already listed and <https://bit.ly/2NBPQTd> We ALL know evils Russia and North Korea engage in, which MUST be stopped. List them, and pass global laws.

A global military of people from all nations would help all nations have skin in the game in enforcing reasonable global laws, and fairly shared costs! <https://bit.ly/2Ee0gsD> It CAN'T just single out rogue nations, but give them something, too, or they won't cooperate! You've got to convince them to good.

Abductions for ransom, poisoning rivals, sham elections, threatening their people, withholding food, favoring inner circles, brutal secret police, stealing your nation's treasures, profiting greatly from office, denying females education and equal rights, not letting people vote—ALL these are EVIL.

Cutting off hands for theft (i.e., abusive punishment), or killing gays for being gay, ALL mysterious disappearances by government action, requiring four male witnesses for rape claims to be taken seriously, forcing women to walk behind men, or be fully covered (vs. modest), discrimination, stealing trade secrets and intellectual property, etc. ALL are evil!

Propaganda, denying access to the internet, one party rule, hacking, imbedding small computer chips in products you don't own, unfair tariffs, huge trade imbalances... the list goes on. Any reasonable person can agree these actions should NEVER occur in an enlightened world. It will be resisted!

And EVERY time you speak of needed global laws, you have to address UN-informed Christians, who think every such move is the prophesied one-world government! That ONLY happens in the Tribulation, 3.5 years after a 7-year Israel peace deal. It happens by bribery and conquest by the Antichrist for 3.5 years! Learn, brethren!

Update: Relationships (10/17/18)

Relationships: The way people get along. They range from self to God, self to self, self to spouse, self to BFF, friends and family, associates and acquaintances/neighbors, strangers, enemies and even mortal/fatal rivals. They happen on an individual and collective level: One-on-one, and nation to nation. They are IMPORTANT!

Relationships are fragile, because people are fragile. You think you have a close bond, until a crisis arises (like Khashoggi and the Saudis). The source of all relationships, God, has MUCH to say on how to maintain good relations, because, just like the Married At First Sight TV show pastor said last evening, problems WILL arise.

Chemistry/attraction, enjoyment and benefit from relating weld that bond, from mutuality of benefit, interest, common ground or enjoyment—even need/necessity. We humans TRY to get along with most everyone, and those we clearly don't like we try to avoid. If that's physically impossible, we shut down, or go into our shells, even erecting walls, at least until they (or we) leave that situation.

Relationships are unavoidable. FEW-to-none live on a self-sustaining island, with no contact with the outside world. So, like Rodney King asked, 'can't we all just get along?' The answers are yes and no. We can try, but it's hard to do when people do bad things.

Forgiveness plays a role, but people also remember. Quite honestly, you have to have priorities, and a common commitment. The Bible asks, how can two walk together unless they be agreed? (Amos 3:3). Ecc. 4:9-12 speaks of the commonality aspect, and strength in numbers.

Perhaps the entire word of God is most centered on relationships, so heeding its tenets is the absolute best way to have good relationships! Lk. 6:31 comes to mind (i.e., the Golden Rule). Things get awkward, if not testy, when offenses arise. The relationship gets tested for its strength. You must address the problem/rift between you, which, if BIG enough, causes both sides to wonder if keeping the association together is worth it.

In the case of national alliances and the Saudis, the nation, the country, its people, and many of its leaders are LONG, long-established friends and allies of the U.S.A., and significantly important to us both! But when they allow a rogue "leader" to allow murder on his watch, those NOT supporting such an act must rally and unite in a single voice to say our relationship with the U.S. and the world exceeds the career of a handful of people, for the good of our country.

America certainly values its relation strongly! And I believe MOST people in their great nation and in their government feel the same. You do not get a divorce over every bad thing the other 'spouse' does, but you also don't brush things under the rug, and act like they never occurred. You confront and address problems, talk them out, agree not to re-engage evil deeds, forgive, and move on.

For relationships are of such high value, you can't go it alone, as an individual or a nation. In short, we need each other, but at the same time, there are rules of behavior that make relationships work. Make sure you never cross those obvious lines. Please do the world that favor!

Update: Israel & Arab Nations
(10/26-28/18)

MOST people believe the Israeli-Arab and Hatfield-McCoy conflicts went on WAY too long, like today's politics. It takes someone being the bigger man, initiating reconciliation through forgiveness, and NOT seeking revenge (i.e., over-kill), but justice. SERIOUSLY, is this concept too high and foreign to our minds? (10/13/18)

I had an INTERESTING chat with Muslim buddy, who distinguished Arabs as non-religious. He believed ISIS was created by the U.S., to enter Syria, as Russia wouldn't allow us there. He said ISIS fighters have nowhere to go, as their home nations would oppose them, as they brought down their religion.

He says the Arab Spring uprising WILL happen again, as MOST Arab nation leaders are oppressive, and the people want freedom, and will use the internet to organize, and they have technology to get around its shut-down, if their governments do so. They'll just set a date, and, en masse, storm city halls, and confiscate the money and weapons they lack; their numbers will demand it happening!

He says they resent leaders living high on the hog, as they suffer, often off money from America, which gets funneled to the military and politicians first, before the people, and all it will take is people agreeing on a date to do this in unison. This has NOTHING to do with conservatives' feared global jihad, but their desire for democracy!

I'm REALLY concerned about what my Muslim friend told me, that MOST Arab politicians keep the majority of their nation's wealth for themselves and their military. This is EVIL, and I HOPE all freedom-seeking citizens will end this abuse and injustice—SOON! God deplores such selfish abuse of power. Judge them, Lord!

The interesting thing is he said their holy books tell them Israel won't exist in the future, as they'll all destroy her. The MINUTE that attempt is made, Bible prophecy will break forth (and it WON'T be good for Israel's enemies!). It makes TOTAL sense to want to depose all dictators, who hoard nation's wealth! It's FOOLISH to want Israel gone. She's done MANY wrong things, but both sides have, and there are solutions.

Be it Dems vs. GOPs, or Arabs vs. Jews, reconciliation comes by acknowledging our sins, asking forgiveness, forgiving, finding common ground, and deciding it's better to get along than to be dead, or be made dead by your (former) enemies. Reconciliation is the need on God's green earth! (II Cor. 5:20; Jn. 3:16)

Jews, Arabs; liberals, conservatives; whites, blacks—NO ONE should EVER be ANYONE's mortal enemy, except when in an actual war, or a murderer is on the loose! The pen may be mightier than the sword, but NOT when someone drops the pen for a bomb or AK-47! Wise up, people! Be kind.

Update: Are You Evil?

THIS life is NOT all there is (there's Heaven or Hell at the end, which end date you never know), but for now, this life all you've got, so why not make it as good as it can be for EVERYONE? That means treating women equally in every nation. Letting citizens be free to live their lives to their fullest potential, so long as they're not a physical threat to their good governments.

Why NOT let them worship any religion they choose? How does that ruin any politician's lifestyle, except to demand morally good decisions from them? Why not let them vote? Because you're selfish, and want to hoard power, for luxuries for yourself. You are a sinner!

Why NOT let people associate and gather with whoever they want, unless, again, they're plotting a coup against the government, or terror? Why NOT let people say whatever they please? WORDS DON'T KILL, and dictators who are insecure and therefore insufficient/deficient can't handle criticism. You are NOT God, or perfect, so people pointing your flaws out is NOT evil!

Why not allow human rights in EVERY nation? May God Himself force you to, soon, through uprisings, because, again, this life is all we have, for now, and your "subjects" are people—HUMANS. You may not be, very much, but God will judge you severely, in that coming life down under!

When the people "on top" live in luxury, while their kingdom personnel suffer oppression, the fish is rotten from the head/top! Any and all dictators are egotistical, insecure people!; Raised wrong; Embracers of evil to desire such control, and you are NO better than any of your nation's citizens! NO better!

I pray EVERY oppressive regime gets toppled and politician deposed, ASAP. I pray it's peaceful, but it may not be, because some vile persons don't give up evil ruling easily. If they agree to change, keep them in power. If they don't, use the MASS safety in numbers, and power of the people to demand your life be bettered. It's the ONLY one you will ever have.

You have what you tolerate! Why allow poverty, joblessness, no education for women, women treated as second rate, gays treated as not human equals, other religions prohibited in your nation, favoring politicians' buddies, family and military, to keep their power they use for evil? If they rule righteously, let them keep their job!

END all labor camps, poisoning opponents, lying, jailing people without due process and a fair hearing/day in court. You are NOT the law, Mr. dictator. Moral rules of right and wrong exist outside yourself! The people DESERVE respect and freedom. It is NOT an assault on you—unless you are evil. Are you?

You try to control the media, as your personal mouthpiece? Then you are trying to play God, in what citizens know! You are NOT Him! You have laws to stone gays, and cut hands off thieves? That deters, but it is overkill, and EVIL. God judges evil people! Justice is His standard, no matter what religion you may or may not follow!

You allow slaves, or work laborers like robots? Then you are evil! You require everyone bow to or salute, or live in fear of your administration, or secret police? Then you are evil! God sees all--you won't escape His judgment.

You disallow citizens owning things? You are evil! Prohibit marriage? You are evil! You allow torture, even to get intel in war? You are evil! You start wars, or steal others' land? You are evil! You want to enter anyone's home at any time for any reason? You are evil!

You broad brushed hate any group of people in a violent way (like the Jews)—you are evil! You use cruelty to punish proven guilty people? You are evil. You hoard your nation's wealth? You are evil.

The entirety of what God has told mankind is that evil gets punished. You may be living in the lap of luxury, now, but enjoy it now, because God is on to you, and the people made in His image will be, soon. Your reign of terror, from pride sin, will soon be over. May it be so SOON!

You disallow citizens weaponry? You are insecure and evil/non-trusting. You deem citizens guilty without a trial, or attorney? You are evil. You over-tax your people? You are evil. You waste tax money? You are evil. You put your career above the good of your nation? You are evil. You do sinful things to get into or stay in power? You are evil. Are you evil?

You DISallow women driving? You are evil. You require four male witnesses to a rape, or no crime was committed? You are evil. NO rapist does his evil deed in public! Four witnesses would mean gang rape or complicity, by NOT stopping it! You require women to walk behind men, in public? You are evil.

You treat children like throw-away garbage, until they are of age/mature? You are evil. You abandon kids because they aren't male? You are evil! You show favoritism, and reward cronies? You are evil. There are MANY ways, in government, to prove who is evil. THE PEOPLE deserve better than to live under any evil government official(s). FIX IT, people world-wide!

Finally, you deny evil exists? You are deceived, or evil. Either way, that error will lead to evil! Hell is REAL. NO dictator can prove he will be in power, tomorrow, vs. rotting and burning in Hell, tomorrow. Change your evil ways, or quit, and either way, let the people have legitimately lives, free from tyrannical rule and oppression!

This is NOT my personal opinion, or a "Western" worldview/mindset. God has natural law rules in operation that any rational human knows! Punch your wife in the face, hard, and tell me that's NOT evil. NO written rule has to tell anyone evil exists, and what obvious deeds are evil, dictators!

Even NON-dictators can and do do evil! They are held by God to the SAME standard of doing right! They tend to lie, be greedy and partial, engage adultery, favor donors, worship party, have egos, ignore the people until they need their votes. ALL evils must be rooted out N every nation, ASAP! —"God"

Being lenient to criminals is evil. Over-punishing is also. Slaps on the wrist because someone is rich or famous is evil! Bribes are evil! Drug lords, pimps, violent gang members, mafia murderers, rapists, robbers... all are evil. Evil is all around us. It's your duty, and your government's, to curb evil.

Bullies are evil. School test cheaters are evil. Powerful bosses who sexually harass are evil. Whistleblowers are NOT evil. Suppressing voting, and voting more than once, or as an illegal, or for a dead person is EVIL! Evil is all around us. Root it out. Bombers and shooters this week are the tip of an iceberg!

Update: Dictate to Dictators
(11/9/18)

A word to all dictators, Communists, and many ruling politicians in general: God sees EVERYTHING you do! He sees you hoard your nations wealth (which belongs to the people), as some of them struggle just to survive, under your regime; He sees your greedy lavish lifestyles, and how you deny His existence, so you can continue these ways with no cares, but a fiery, eternal Hell awaits you, and your lifestyle and abuses won't last forever!

Even your people know you need to be dethroned, and may they organize and rise up, securing your military's pay to keep them safe, but securing weapons to ensure your ouster, ASAP, for the people are God's concern—NOT evil rulers—He judges those types! Many are the sources for acquiring weapons, and if you won't change your wicked ways, and agree to stay on, for reasonable pay, may Gaddafi's and Hussein's fate be yours, ASAP!

It's ALL up to you whether you have a future in politics, because unless you get right with God, you have ZERO positive/hopeful future after your miserable life on earth ends. KEEP justifying your evil ways, in the belief the land is yours alone, and you are a god, and there's NO accountability for your choices, because that delusion will burn you forever! Fear God, and turn from your evil ways!

GOD & GOVERNMENT

(1/27/18)

Robert Jeffress' favorite article uses FAULTY reasoning to conclude that America is a "Christian nation." He accepts his premise as the conclusion, with NO proof. U.S.A. is not a legal theocracy! WOW! It's an illogical conclusion, proven by concepts that don't lead to such conclusion. <http://po.st/TnwAiK> Word to the wise—don't get your theology from sports magazines!

I am EXTREMELY glad to read that @JerryFalwellJr says a Christian can be rightly following God and vote liberal or conservative (though NEITHER, 100 percent, he left out!). I suggest, independent is the MOST consistent!

And as to Jeffress agreeing that government's job is JUSTICE, not mercy, the people decide, in a democracy, and if they have chosen a safety net, and the Supreme Court never deemed it UN-constitutional, Jeffress would do better agreeing with his partner-in-crime (Jerry Falwell, Jr.), that God never said government can't tax the rich to help the poor!

By Robert Jeffress' way of "thinking" through the Bible and politics, Jews have EVERY right to shove/force ALL Palestinians off "their land" that God promised to the Jews. The HYPOCRISY (a sin) is Jeffress will NEVER call for Trump to aid the Jews to do that, because it is the WRONG thing to do!

Jeffress NEEDs to stick to what he's good at: Raising money for un-commanded church buildings, through the un-commanded tithe, so Christians can come and hear him preach (as with lost people, for his evangelism invitation, which was NEVER commanded of them by God), and continue to NOT commit to implement 'EDBS' priorities.

And as to Fall-not-so-Well saying Jesus never told Caesar how to run Rome, isn't it the self-appointed Christian Cabal who are trying to do just that? Where's their concern that what they've done 4for over a year Jesus never did? No one ever catches their own hypocrisy; others have to point it out to them.

[As an act of goodwill, for Jeffress covering for these omissions with evangelism and discipleship emphases in Jan., 2018, I was going to attend First Baptist Dallas, tomorrow, but will instead listen online. Too far a drive. His tweets, of late, are VERY Bible-prioritized, so I wanted to reward that by attending. Quotes: You'll never be able to fix the symptom until you address the root problem. Carefully guard and cultivate your heart. A transformed heart is the heart of what it means to be a disciple. @RobertJeffress (Pv. 4:23). I'm in labor, until Christ is morphed in you, like an egg planted in a mother's womb. Gal 4:19. Potentiality for growth, experiencing closeness, prayer answers, the miraculous life of Jesus, and His peace. @RobertJeffress (I Pet. 1:23; Rom. 8:29, 12:1-2; II Cor. 3:18) Discipleship is spiritual transformation].

Update #1: Render To Caesar

(1/27/18)

Jerry Fall-NOT-so-Well said Jesus never told Caesar how to run Rome. His MISSION on earth was THIS: Lk. 19:10; Jn. 18:36. Pandering patsies say such things, even though the PROPHET John the (REAL) Baptist even reproved a ruler's personal sins (Mk. 6:18).

And Jesus told EVERYONE morals that Christian SHOULD apply to ALL areas of their lives, including their political views; even Christians in government. And if Christians are to be salt and light in our world, all the more reason, Jerry.

Finally, on abortion, that's EXACTLY what your Cabals is trying to do: Tell Caesar how to run Rome. Hypocrisy sin STINKS, but all credit for refining your ignorant statement with Christians can be good if they vote liberal or conservative, and, the other side of the coin is that God never said Caesar can't take from the rich to help the poor! Commendable! Jews had a safety net, by tithes (NOT like Christians), and it wasn't funded by the recipients!

And the book claiming that God made Chump president (i.e., God and Donald Trump) uses the same DEBUNKED rationale that the Jewish Pharisees believed... riches prove God's blessing. The apostles were mainly broke, because their minds were on another kingdom. ONCE AGAIN, BAD theology from Charismatics, who often say seminary is cemetery.

Update #2: Jesus is a Conservative?

(2/1/18)

Chump bragged that the healthcare individual mandate is gone. I hated it, at first, but it was a personal blessing (I saw a doctor, and caught a cancer), but it's the ONLY way to have the system pay for itself. The poor can't afford premiums.

Hannity says get health savings accounts—a fancy term for saying save up money for when you get sick. WOW; I'm sure poor people never thought about if they only had more money they could pay for healthcare, Sean.

NO, conservatism is ALL about greed and selfishness, marketed as good for our economy, and teaching responsibility. In reality, it's every man for himself, and if you're not a 'winner,' like the (usually white male), conservative THINKS he is, so be it.

I'll NEVER let con-artists like Limbaugh sing the praises of conservatism, unrebuted, or a religious man—Robert Jeffress—act like God's for selfish greed.

That article stated that individuals are to show mercy—NOT government. In America, the people rule, and if our nation, like Christ, chooses to be compassionate, even toward the immigrant (which Jeffress also demeaned), who is Jeffress to try to invoke God in decrying making our NOT 'Christian nation' more like Jesus?

You're not going to convince conservatives their theory is good for America, or morally. Everything is about money-making, to them; NO place for anything else, or the U.S. will lose, economically. That is heartless political conservatism. And it's Jesus' policy? HAH!

By the way, isn't it AMAZING that in the richest nation on earth, conservatives fond no place for 'mercy' in our federal budget, even though most other nations which are LESS wealthy have found such place? That's 'American Exceptionalism?' Exceptionally selfish, in Jeffress' so-called 'Christian nation?' Bah, humbug!

Related Tweets (2/8/18)

Reading posts about the 'National Prayer Breakfast,' I apologize on behalf of the MANY dumb Christians, who think Trump represents Jesus, or God! Your stereotype of ignorant church-goers is reinforced by such lunacy! Instead of clinging to their Bibles, they ought to read and apply them! (Gal. 6:7)

LIAR, and saying it's so doesn't make it so. America is NOT a theocracy. The percent of believers is the percent of believers. He's touting a CULTURAL CHRISTIANITY! #FakeChristian, and FAKE Christian Cabal behind it all! #Heretics <http://fxn.ws/2nLXkc6>

The Christian Cabal LOVES WORDS! Say pretty and poetic things, and we can shirk our duty, as PASTORS, to evangelize every nearby lost soul. GUILTY AS SIN! National Prayer Breakfast (Jer. 23:21)

Chump speaking about "religious liberty" is like Bob Guccione speaking on sexual purity. Lip service and mental assent. National Prayer Breakfast [Private account:] Donald Trump speaking at the National Prayer Breakfast is like Harvey Weinstein speaking at the Women's March.

[Private account:] Severe Weather Warning: Frequent lightning expected at the National Prayer Breakfast

[Private account:] Trump keeps saying "Jesus" at the National Prayer Breakfast like he's not the exact opposite of Jesus in every way

[Private account:] A greedy racist sexual assaulter who cheated on his 3rd wife with a porn star & spends his presidency trying to make himself rich and immigrants homeless will be speaking at the National Prayer Breakfast. He says Merry Christmas so it's all good with Jesus.

GOD IN GOVERNMENT

(3/1/18)

I've got much work to do, but this is IMPORTANT: a local talk jock wants to "bring God back into our public schools." News Flash: God never left, for He is everywhere, and can't be contained in any box, or rectangle (Ac. 7:48)! And which God? Buddha, YHWH, Jesus, Allah, Vishnu? What about the rights of people having NO religion?

So public prayers will be generic... just getting students to think of God's existence? Which holy book will be read from? The Old Testament only? The Quran? The New Testament only? Who will give the prayer? What will its contents be? I don't want my kids hearing false teaching(s).

What moral code will schools adopt? Stone gays? Slavery is OK? Polygamy? Women as second-class citizens? No blood transfusions? No tattoos? Will Creationism be nationally taught in science class (I have NO problem with intelligent design, if a state wants it, along with evolution, as theories).

Will ten commandments plaques hang on the walls? What about separation of church and state? Is this done only at the state level, or tried nationally? America is NOT a theocracy! And this proposal is likely just another ploy to rile up evangelicals to vote GOP, even though God NEVER commands such actions!

He DOES command Christians to evangelize and disciple, but since most of us WON'T, including pastors, fools look to the state to do their dirty work, though it's a secular and religion-neutral/unbiased/non-favoring entity, under our Constitution and God's Bible (excepting the Jewish nation).

Once again, lack of Bible knowledge allows politicians to DUPE and LURE ignorant religious people to get emotional and stupid about policies that are irrational, and keep them DISobedient to God, in not affecting their nation the way God commanded them to, as salt and light! Better to teach morality derived from religion(s), as Civics!

I guess the guy wants the Lord's Prayer recited after the Pledge of Allegiance? That would be biasedly favoring Christianity, as it's NOT in the Jews' Bible, or that of any other religion. The proposal is a red herring to stir up votes, and reinforces the 'DUMB Christian' stereotype, well earned.

Any Christian is 100 percent free to pray the way God taught us to, in public schools, presently (Mt. 6:6), as with any Muslim, Hindu, Buddhist, Sikh, Jew or otherwise. You do NOT convert lost people to Jesus by force of government, but freely, in the way you were commanded, and so rebelliously IGNORE!

I will reiterate, God NOWHERE commands that government/public schools have mandatory prayer or Bible reading, or even voluntary expressions thereof which force others to participate. Christians are SUPPOSED to tell you how to go to Heaven vs. Hell, and then live holy, but most are scared of you—a sin!

Take this issue to the Supreme Court: Is America a theocracy? I KNOW the answer, but politically-minded deceivers use that concept (NOT the word) to stir up votes, and I'm calling their hand/bluff, and exposing their sin, as they ALWAYS engage #SinToWin strategies vs. morals, logic, and law!

I'm certain such fools will claim I'm anti-religion, by this message. That is a 100 percent, bald-faced LIE (a sin, again), but that's how they politicize vs. think. America is a DEM-ocracy, and if you want America to be like the nation of Israel, in the Old Testament (i.e., a THE-ocracy), start your own country! But God said infiltrate vs. separate. And even a Satanic prayer might get equal standing to be in public schools, if Satanism is deemed a religion!

You want a public school motto/code of conduct that ALL real religions will accept? Hurt no one, be kind, mind your own business, work hard, be smart, hate no one, treat all equally/be fair, do the right thing, care about others, and just get along/peacefully co-exist/tolerate differences. There you have it...the ten commandments of logic.

And when you face God on judgment day, He is not going to ask whether your nation, your government, your business, your school, or even your family honored or was right with Him, but you. A relationship with God is always personal and individual.

Update: Government As God
(9/5/18)

HERE is one of those hated things, called a FACT: If every credible cause got funded by government, there would be no rich people, and the middle class would NOT live at the standard of living they're accustomed to. Re-read that until it sinks through your skull.

The emperor has no clothes. The federal government HAS NO MONEY! They create NO profits! They're $22 trillion in debt. Uncle Sams' credit cards are maxxed out. QUIT looking to government to solve problems you raise a stink about! Learn to convince people and businesses and charities to care about your cause. The feds are broke, except for printed, FAKE money!

If everyone swept their own porch, the city would be clean. Live within your means. THESE idioms are common sense for our public policy! It's when people want more than they can afford (or need), that they look to others, via government. Sometimes, you just can't pay for all you incur (Ex.: serious medical expenses), but TRY!

GOD WILL JUDGE HIS PEOPLE

(12/12/18)

On Monday, or Tuesday, Mormon Glenn Beck said we're hard-wired to be selfish. This from a claiming religious person, excusing sin as the way things must be, when I'm sure their Book of Moroni says selfishness is a sin we must not engage! I'm certain Romney disagrees with this political conservative!

I've seen more abuse of religion in the past two years as ever in my life. When it is warped to the sin nature's crass desires, it is the opiate of dumb people, and a danger to our society! ONLY when it is used for good is it good! Suicide bombers use it for evil. You're NOT free to abuse it, Constitutionally.

A recent sermon said prophets usually got rejected. Did he fail to mention they also go out with a bang, destroying people who didn't heed their advice? That's EXACTLY what's coming to Christians whose sin natures have warped Christianity for evil ends. Our books will FULLY obey Eph. 5:11 TRUTH is always a defense to slander!

There's a common thread you'll read concerning pastors in the Christian Cabal, as I've written about them since 2005, for events starting in 1985: They DON'T understand the Gospel well, grace giving, or their Bibles very in depth (just one sermon at a time), and greed and fame aspirations dominate their 'spiritual' deeds!

APART from sex sins I DON'T believe they're engaged in, some U.S. pastors are Balaam false prophets (Jude; II Pet.), JUST AS God said they'd arise! We ACCEPT false doctrine as just another pastor's opinion, so it's much more rampant than you think! Health and Wealth Gospel as Exhibit A, and ten percent tithing.

And Lordship salvation, church as a business, relational evangelism, servant evangelism, come and hear evangelism (so pastors control results within their business, namely coming money), attraction evangelism, sermon discipling, may I pray for you evangelism, dumbing-down sheep by relying on gurus, etc.

Church growth methods, mega church and multi-site mania, pastor unwillingness to work bivocationally. ALL these fads are signs of prophetic apostasy. Yet, if you point that fact out, you're a critical negative spirit. In other words, let us continue in our sin, as Glenn Beck argues concerning selfishness.

SINCE prophet types (I've NEVER said I was one, though the gift still exists!) usually get rejected, let's give them good reason to be ticked off: MOST pastors will NEVER ensure everyone within walking distance of their UN-commanded buildings hears the Gospel, because they're NOT leaders.

They're lazy, they DON'T care you're going to Hell, and perhaps most importantly, they want you to come to their turf so they can control the ten percent income money they'll tell you you owe if you join up! They're afraid to tell you how to go to Heaven, lest that turn you off, and they lose a potential nearby PAYING customer! #FACT

They will NEVER implement Body Life in the Sunday service (laymen using spiritual gifts to edify the gathered family), NEVER engage church-wide relational discipling, NEVER ensure every lost person near their church hears the Gospel, as there's NO urgency. 'GO TO HELL' is their message!

Preach and be paid is the EASY and lazy way to do their careers, and when they hoist the false doctrine of Lordship Salvation on members, ALL maturing is up to you, as you had to fulfill a vow they made you make, in order to go to Heaven. Plus, you owe them ten percent of your income for running church UN-biblically! #Farce

But to appease people who care, they'll mention the word 'revival,' occasionally—a phenomena which will NEVER happen in America, mainly from this described sin condition among pastors! (II Chr. 7:14) Christians are now God's people, and pastors head them up, and are to lead (Eph. 4). They are NOT. Sin WILL increase in America.

It would have, anyway (II Tim. 3:1), but all hopes for revival intervening are dashed, when Balaam prophets are in ministry for profits. Every local church a business unit competing with their most similar church in the city. Watch what your competitor does, and keep up, so you don't lose paying members! #Balaam

They have a professional choir that hits Christian airwaves, so we must too. They remodel their campus building for $25-80M, so we must too. They advertise, so we must too. EVERYTHING is about building up the body—NOT in maturity or evangelism, but in numbers of bodies and bucks. Church IS a business in America! Anathema!

LOOK at how Paul viewed churches and contributions: II Cor. 8:14, 11:28; Ac. 11:30 KISS THOSE DAYS GOODBYE! Those were the sincere Christians! Those were the godly men and women. Those were pre-church-as-a-business Balaam/Laodicea era. The Apostasy IS here! (II Th. 2:3) NO revival hopes for the American church!

When UN-commanded salary-paid pastors DON'T evangelize all nearby lost people, 35 years into ministry, or fully church-wide disciple their members—just throw out sermons to do all those functions, God's power LEAVES those businesses, like ICHABOD of old! They go on as if nothing happened.

A church can function without God, but NOT a biblical one. That statement alone ought to tell you what this mere author thinks of much of our modern church practice. The machine is on autopilot, and Jesus ISN'T taking the wheel! Just imitate what the next dupe does... Bible be damned! Apostasy!

And if you EVER get a nagging Christian who believes this is NOT the way things should be done, do one or two public events, with media P.R., and it will shut them up—you HOPE! And milk that temporary initiative to make yourself appear as a great WASP leader, because no one else did it, as they're even worse! #TRUTH

I had a pastor I knew as a college friend, tell me in his office, 'you don't know what it's like being a pastor!' We have a modern mega church built down the road, and we struggle to keep our bills paid, and you're 'gonna tell me we need to do ministry by God's EDBS model of ministry? AMAZING confession!

Mt. 6:33 is a LIE to that pastor! RIP or burn it out of your Bible, and certainly never preach on it! He DID have a salary, of course! Paul and Jesus worked bivocationally, as have I for many years. You're better than those two? You would say 'NO,' but your deeds say 'YES.' Balaam mentality, and his church suffers.

I met one wise dude in Dallas Seminary studies—a pastor—who told me, 'people give more the more committed they are to God.' I don't know if tithing and Joash Box pressure works better, but at least he was for growing up church members! He was also money-concerned, as bivocational is anathema to modern preachers, as it's NOT a calling, but a career, now, and you succeed, financially, by mastering the preaching course and earning a watered-down Ph.D. called a D.Min., so you can land a mega church job. PLEASE TELL ME WHERE YOU READ THESE FACTS ANYWHERE ELSE! We're airing dirty laundry SECRETS!

You are DIS-qualified from ministry if you suffer a love of money! But if U do, and you can draw a paying crowd, laymen and deacons will overlook your being DIS-qualified! It's entirely corrupt!

Laymen remain dumbed-down to what God says, and ALL that matters is UN-commanded buildings, and budgets met to pay for, and UN-commanded staff salaries. Business!; EXACTLY why Jesus TWICE turned the tables in the temple, at the beginning and end of His three-year ministry on earth! God's house used for profit, as they Scrooge society with tax exempt status, and preach an UN-commanded ten percent tithe. Are you awake, now, this early morning?

In 50 years of church attending, you won't learn 1/100th of the Bible, or even hear that much! Sermons are the product of Churchianity, so they have to wow the crowd to return as residual income. Spruce them up from being exegetical, because how God wrote His book is deficient! The pastor is your UN-needed intermediary to God, just as Catholic priests were in Calvin's day, with indulgences, and God's truth ONLY known by them, or any Latin readers. Mind control propaganda and manipulation of stupidity, to steer them to believe as you want them to, that you biblically deserve ten percent and a salary, and we have to have buildings!

And all my ministry gets thrown into one sermon a week. I meet needs, counsel, pray, disciple, evangelize, get to know my members all by one sermon on a stage! Preach-and-be-paid theory will NEVER be abandoned in America, because it's too damn EASY to earn a paycheck that way! Sinners be damned! Discipleship as well, OPPOSITE the great Charles Spurgeon:

'If sinners be damned, at least let them leap to Hell over our dead bodies. And if they perish, let them perish with our arms wrapped about their knees, imploring them to stay. If Hell must be filled, let it be filled in the teeth of our exertions, and let not one go unwarned and unprayed for.' Jonathan Edwards' 'Sinners in the Hands of an Angry God?' You'd NEVER hear that warning message to lost people, from Balaam ~~profits~~ prophets, because we cater to 'seekers,' even though God says NO ONE seeks God (Rom. 3:11)!

Dr. R. G. Lee's 'Payday Someday' sermon? Pay day TODAY, to Laodicean liars! W. A. Criswell sermons? Couldn't cut it in our apostate era! He told the sober truth! "In Acts, one man preached, and 5,000 were converted; today, 5,000 preach, and one gets converted." (paraphrased).

You want revival, and aren't lying with your lip service answer? STUDY the thinking patterns of John Wimber and Chuck Smith (founders of The Jesus Movement)! READ their quotes!

Smith...

Wisdom is knowing what to do with what you know.

Where God guides, God provides.

~Prayer does not change the purpose of God. But prayer does change the action of God.

The more we experience God's love, the more He Himself becomes the primary desire and focus of our life.

Jesus' life is the only standard of righteousness.

We think of a martyr as one who dies for his faith; however, it is really one whose life is so totally committed to his faith that nothing will dissuade him from it, not even the threat of death. His death does not make him a martyr; it only confirms that he was truly a martyr.

Wimber...

The Church is not meant to be an organization but rather a company of people willing to lay down their lives for others.

We have to move from something other than an institutional form of Christianity... parading in and out of buildings to be entertained, week after week, is not the ultimate goal of the church of Jesus Christ.

~Has the church been doing the works of God all week? If the church has been doing well, Sunday worship rides on the crest of a wave.

Intimacy with God... the highest and most fulfilling calling men and women may know.

As we interact with God, we'll find ourselves more satisfied in Him, and less satisfied with things that have attracted or enticed us.

We can learn to be content with what we have, living modestly... that we may give... to the work of the kingdom, and to meet the needs of others.

Revivals have tended to come in two stages. The first stage is internal—affecting the church; the second is external—affecting the community.

We DON'T want revival, because business is good, and you don't upset the apple cart, unless you're like Jesus, who would overturn our apple carts in a heartbeat—as He did TWICE before! So AS you willfully REJECT a more prophetic message, remember... our sin causes the rubble, NOT vice versa!

<https://bit.ly/1fwstWh>

God WILL judge His people (Heb. 10:30; I Pet. 4:17). God usually if not always starts with the 'leadership!' Your big box church machines are on autopilot, but your judgment is too. You were warned.

Update: EDBS vs. Preach-&-Be-Paid

There's only two reasons/explanations for why so many U.S. pastors DON'T do EDBS priorities (defined following)—ignorance (i.e., not seeing what's plainly there in God's word), or worse—willful disobedience, for money (meaning it's easier to earn a paycheck by preach-and-be-paid theory. NO professional minister can say they didn't know those four values are in the book they preach from, so tradition/doing what everyone else is doing is more often the reason they DON'T do EDBS.

So what is EDBS? The 'E' is full/thorough evangelism of ALL nearby lost people. It's NOT that pastors don't do any evangelism, but the biblical type is 100 percent, and that can NEVER happen staying indoors in their office and on a church stage, because 100 percent of nearby lost people will NEVER step foot in your church doors, no matter how you advertise, or try to attract them. And even that attempt is UN-biblical! We are to carry the Gospel to them, where they are. It's NOT their nature, job or duty to search out the message of eternal life!

'D' is discipleship, and again, that doesn't mean pastors don't do any discipling, but FEW-to-none do it Jesus' way (as He did with the 12), nor do they ensure EVERY church member gets reached! Usually, they rely on sermons to do that job, or Sunday School, though not ALL members go there, and though Jesus preached to the crowds, but He spent time with the 12—time that made their lives noticeably different to all, UNLIKE what mere sermons did to curious crowds.

The ‘B’ is for Body Life, meaning the church using spiritual gifts in the main worship service, to edify the family of God/body, implementing the one another’s of Scripture. You’ll NEVER see that done then, as it requires laymen actually participating, vs. being bench warmers and mainly spectators who give and may sing. When else is the family together—all ages, races, genders, and maturity levels, like a real family reunion (or body, with all the parts present)? ONLY then!

And finally, the ‘S’ stands for social ministry. People who know little about Jesus do know He went around doing good (and teaching and doing miracles). They know His work to help others, and Christians are to emulate Him. It was so prominent in His life and ministry, I’d say His church should lead society in such pursuits!

But we usually don’t, because what pays the bills is getting returning members who donate, and EDBS would require them to change their ways, vs. just church attending, and that might scare them away, which is why I return to my original allegation... it’s NOT so much ignorance that EDBS is all throughout pastor’s Bibles, but they want to do what pleases the paying members, which is status quo... let me sit on my duff, and I’ll pay you what you need. This is the corruption of the U.S. church practice!

I can imagine pastors devising MANY theological excuses to reject what we just said, to explain how they do those things, or don’t need to, but it’s all a matter of they like doing things the way they’ve always been done, so long as we’re NOT speaking about the way they were done in the Bible.

And if these EDBS ideas for ministry are new to you, so must reading the Bible be! (I Tim. 2:4) Just sayin’! The lost are going to Hell, any day now; you have the solution! HOW can you lock yourself in an office doing sermon prep, and driving past their homes, when they face an eternal fire? HARD HEARTS is why! Repent.

Update: High, Medium or Low Church?
(12/13/18)

Let’s talk high, medium and low church, and let’s start with clothing. (I Sam. 16:7) HuMANs look on outer appearance—God looks at the heart! You can dress casual and be as serious as a heart attack! I’ve practiced LAW in my PJ’s, from home! Attitude, NOT attire!

The Jesus Movement—perhaps the last true revival our world will ever see, involved predominantly Cali HIPPIES (including the greatest Christian singer, ever, Keith Green). Bearded (as am I, now), long-haired, and I’m sure somewhat disheveled attire in its early days.

People actually cared about connecting with God, and NOT pleasing men, or following their norms. Jas. 2:2 is the clearest New Testament reference to church attire. NO discrimination is to be had of poor vs. rich, and their CLOTHES are how Christians would distinguish the two!

Theologians speak of eminence and transcendence (balancing forces of God’s other worldly and down to earthiness), but you’ll NEVER find such terms (vs. concepts) in His word, or on the lips of laymen! ONLY seminarians concern themselves with such matters, as it relates to church clothes, as some did in Calvin’s era of the size of an angel compared to a pen head. Pen-headed speculations! Your ATTITUDE is what God seeks to be right (Jn. 4:24).

I met a man in a medical office the other day who was Dapper Dan in dress, and well over 75. I asked him if his generation was raised to dress like that, as he was retired, and it was 7am, and he was going nowhere special—it was actually a lab clinic to draw blood; NO doctors were ever there. He said in the 40's and 50's NYC had such matching clothes and formal tie and suit and shoes and hat as the epitome of making it, and class, and being a New Yorker. It was fine for him, but only myself at a funeral or wedding! I asked him why I know some men his age who would mow a lawn in Khakis or Dockers. It WAS generational!

There are churches that cater to the blue haired crowd (a term I learned at FBC Katy, when my friend intentionally went to older-aged Bible classes, as they were more serious, and better-connected, economically). Robes, hymns, set structure of order of service. Quiet audience.

On the other extreme, I've attended several Charismatic churches—especially in college, when I dated a Word of Faith gal, and her dad was heavily into that denomination. VERY spontaneous church services. People might yell 'PTL' (praise the Lord), or in some even lower church full gospel churches dance, or roll in aisles or handle snakes, or drink poison, to prove they believe two verses scholars debate as being original to the autographa... John 16's final verses.

I haven't frequented many high churches, and only one Catholic mass, but the range from high to low seems to be more historic and geographic than theological!

What do I mean? In this order range comes formal to informal, all things being equal, and exceptions being taken into account: Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Methodist, Bible church and Baptist, and Charismatic.

Churches themselves separate services by age group preferences: Rock concert like music vs. Middle Ages choired hymns with robes, and thee's and thou's of the King James era. So who's right? The one with the right heart—ONLY!

If you only knew the history of the church, post first century days, formality crept in with needed creeds, to counter false doctrines. Somewhere along the way the Roman Catholic church branched out of the true New Testament church, and eventually brought mankind such atrocities as this PARTIAL list from Tim LaHaye's original Revelation book: Indulgences, veneration of saints, immaculate conception of Mary, and these other items: <https://bit.ly/2zY38W6>

From ~300-1517, that branch of Christendom dominated the world stage, with a pope as claimed head of Christ's church, and having supposed lineage ties back to Peter. Other groups DID have a more Protestant presence, pre-Luther (Moravians, et al), but not so much until the Protestant Reformation. All this happened mainly in Europe, and especially Germany.

If you see where denominations came from, and how they spread, lots of what we see today stems from way back when! My wife was raised Anglican, as he parents were from England and Scotland, respectively (RIP). Tradition, habits, how you were raised, your heritage and family legacy/name and your upbringing.

My mom's parents were JW's. My dad's, Episcopal. They both turned Baptist when I was a wee lad, if not before I was born. Many times I have called denominations DEMONinations, as they separate Christian brethren!

You dunk, we sprinkle. You use liturgy, we don't. You wear robes, Rick Warren used to wear flowered Hawaii shirts. You use hymns, we use songs off Christian radio. You have Gothic buildings, we do NOT. You do church in Latin, we use the language of the people. DIFFERENCES!

Many a church has split over such minor things as carpet color, when God never even commanded church buildings! Older folk usually get relegated the early time slot on Sundays, because the "main" service has to have a broader appeal. We even cater our song choices to age groups. My kids HATE attending meetings where the average age is near 70! Boring is their number one complaint. So why would I join a church that caters to older folk?

EVERY pastor will tell you the future of the church is with the youth. Robert Jeffress even recently bragged he needs a new $50+ million building, because of the kid's ministry bursting at the seams. Did God NOT foresee all these differences over age, clothes, ritual, architecture and music? Yes He did, and if the heart is right, biblical church occurs despite them, together and unified. If FLESH creeps in, so does division, enmity and strife, and a desire to separate and segregate into them vs. us, though we all claim the same faith.

Charismatics NEED no more formality, as that's how they best worship God! Highly rigid churches definitely need to ensure they haven't replaced deity with dogma, but how do you best serve and worship God, and does your church offering make life for a would-be visitor a pleasant if not miraculous experience? (I Cor. 14:24)

THAT is the question you need to ask yourself... NOT how have things been done in the past! The KJV Bible started in the era where 'thee' and 'thou' were commonly said! In Luther's day, his Bible was for the people. People do NOT speak like that in 2018! Modernizing is not, per se, evil! It seems the older you get, the more sentimental ties to an earlier era become important to you, as with history, but church isn't about you, but your heart before God.

I have no conclusions to offer on this topic, but to consider what church is supposed to be, vs. what man has made it, in all our splintered forms. NOWHERE does God's word mention a black vs. white church! READ Gal. and Eph... Unity—NOT uniformity in all doctrine, if people's opinions are wrong, but unity in the essentials, majoring on majors, vs. minors.

Revival would only come to the American church if Christians did God's priorities, and abandoned UN-biblical traditions (Mk. 7:8; Col. 2:8). It's high time high-, medium- and low churches started figuring out what biblical church looks like, and jettison all practices which don't conform! Coaches speak of returning to the fundamentals. I say, team, go back to the basics!

When an old white man in a tuxedo can interact with an 8-year old in holey (vs. holy) jeans, on Sunday, you know some pastor has started to understand what family is, a body is, body life is. And it's NOT shaking hands with immediate pew sitters, any more than you'd call that getting to know people, or meeting needs! There is ZERO spiritual gift of standing, sitting or hand shaking! NO layman needs any spiritual gift, in most worship services!

How do I know gifts were used in that main assembly? I Cor. 14, mainly, despite my NOT agreeing with tongues as what people often say they are for today. Visitors were expected to be convicted by the miraculous!

Outsiders are supposed to identify Christians by their LOVE (Jn. 13:35)—NOT crosses or fish symbols/emblems on our bodies or car bodies! Jews wear yamakas; Muslims wear burkas. NOTHING Christians wear is required to identify us!

The fish symbol arose from Roman-persecuted Christians needing a way to identify who's on my side, so, on the ground, if one made a partial circle (arc), and another did the same, they formed the IXTHUS symbol, and they knew their confidante wasn't 'gonna kill them, or proverbially send them to the wolves (or not so proverbially be sent to the lion's den, as violent theater for pagans).

Christians have DIED for the faith, over the centuries. Many do, today, you just don't hear of much. Are our differences so important that we separate, when people DIE for being believers? READ the book, Foxes book of Martyrs! I LOVE what Chuck Smith said:

'We think of a martyr as one who dies for his faith; however, it is really one whose life is so totally committed to his faith that nothing will dissuade him from it, not even the threat of death. His death does not make him a martyr; it only confirms that he was truly a martyr.

Do we live like that? I'm convinced MOST U.S. Christians live exactly like everyone else, except they add in church on the weekends! One foot in the world; NOT radically changed by salvation, in its external repercussions! Carnal, natural, dare I say normal—but also SIN-full.

We dress up for Sunday, because someone told us when we were young that that's how you act when you're holy. Hogwash! You are to worship God 24/7, because worship is NOT a synonym for singing hymns in church, just as praise is not only music! READ Rom. 12:1-2 and Heb. 13:15.

It's ALL your attitude, and the altitude of your commitment to Jesus, 24/7. Preachers have made it what happens in a "church" building, two hours a week! NOT God!

I have NEVER asked any lost person to go to a church service (except when I was 8, to win a picture Bible), as they need the Gospel, and church isn't their immediate need! HOW would I know the type they'd like? I'm to assume mine is their style? It's IRRELEVANT to their most-pressing need... to know Jesus, as they face Hell, today!

Church is NOT what Christians are to be promoting, but Jesus and His salvation! Yes, they MAY hear of that at a church they'd visit (MANY have jettisoned any worship service invitations), but that's NOT what God said to do! He said tell them the life-giving message.

So as I wrap this wandering journey through church history up, let's focus on unity, what church is really to be all about, and understanding that worship is a lifestyle of following 24/7 as a disciple. No matter your denomination, those are true religion! (Jas. 1:27) Not the clothes brand.

If every church returned to God's EDBS priorities, and every priest, elder, pastor and bishop worked hard and preaching and teaching, our denominations would NOT be so different, unity would be easier, and the world may know we are Christians by our love. <https://bit.ly/2C9AjYj> We are one in the Spirit, and in the Lord!

'The Church is not meant to be an organization but rather a company of people willing to lay down their lives for others.' --John Wimber (RIP) COULD a second Jesus Movement ever occur, with the church-as-a-business mentality prevalent today? I SERIOUSLY doubt it! We have sold our souls to the almighty dollar!

GOP'S EXTREME WING

(10/9/18)

MOST people believe that you are Dem or GOP, but that's a LIE—you are the positions you are for, and you should NEVER accept the bad in the party you vote for. To fully accept either party is like having a fine dining five course meal with a smattering of urp tossed in for good measure! WHO would accept that? Demand better!

Many or most U.S. Christians believe the GOP has more Christian beliefs than the Dems. That is ZERO biblical reason for full/avid support of the GOP, in any of their several sinful positions! We are NOT given perfect options, but fight for better ones, and vocally oppose sin in both parties, or you are sinning!

A Christian being for the GOP, due to abortion, is UNbiblical for these reasons:

1. You are also embracing MANY sins.
2. Banning all abortions won't stop them all.
3. You will be responsible before God for any injured or killed moms, if all are banned.
4. You are a hypocrite (which is a sin) to so vote, if you RARELY work to stop abortions!

WHITE U.S. Christians are TAUGHT that Democrats enjoy killing fetuses, and celebrate homosexuality. The SAME could be slanderously alleged, that Republicans enjoy selfishness and celebrate greed and hoarding. Please tell me which of these lies God approves? God requires Christians to see all God has spoken of (Ac. 20:27)!

If it WEREN'T for abortion, many white Christians would have to consider conservative Democrats, as many GOP positions are opposite to Jesus. The Bible does NOT just teach only two sins exist—abortion and homosexuality! That is cherry-picking your religion in the political arena. It's a SIN to do so.

Politics makes strange bedfellows. You have to ally with people different from you, for power. But the day ANY Christian remains silent about sin, because they are allied with sinful causes, is the day they have idolized political power over the God they claim to serve!

GUN CONTROL & HEALTHCARE

(10/14/18)

Let's first talk of our right to bear arms, and private militias... are private citizens allowed a nuclear bomb, if their fear is that evil people may take over the government, one day? Everything the U.S. army has citizens can have? Is that what's needed, if the citizens ever had to conduct a coup against the feds?

And where would they park all those assets, because the feds would certainly learn of it, and/or want to know where those items were. Bunkers, to hide them? Is this phobia or reasonable? I say phobia, but I have confidence such evil people won't take over our government, but how do I know for sure? Good politicians and good citizens?

And as to private citizens, AK-47's should be allowed to everyone, for self-defense, to match heat with heat, because you never know what criminals are packing? Bump stocks? Do you need AK's for hunting, and would that ever be a fair fight for the animal(s)?

More specifically, let's address REASONABLE "restrictions" to easy access to anything—no barriers at all: Background checks help us FEEL like criminals won't get their hands on guns, but they don't follow the law, anyway (hence, they're criminals/law-breakers), so black market, home grown and theft can always circumvent that restriction.

So why do it? Is it BIG brother knowing your personal business? In GENERAL, it's an INITIAL step to keep law-abiders getting guns, but it's imperfect. Why wouldn't you want criminals to have a hurdle to buying, like failing a background check? That could, potentially, allow gun shops to inform the government of background check failers, so they can keep an eye on them getting guns in other ways.

You says it's inconvenient? It's a MINOR price of freedom. Serial numbered guns? Law abiders/gun-toters LOVE to say that's an infringement on their rights, but wouldn't you want government to be able to track down crime weapons, if yours were ever stolen?

You can say yours are always safely stored away, but NO gun case or locker is perfectly secure, and, like ALL these things, laws are passed for law-breakers—NOT good citizens! (~I Tim. 1:9) Forget that that verse is concerning spiritual laws, for the moment... God says laws/rules are written NOT for the good people. But He writes them anyway, as good people don't need them, because they're not 'gonna break them.

A law-abider doesn't need these inconvenient restrictions, but laws are applied to ALL—not just criminals—because you can't know a criminal, on face value. My point is that a little inconvenience, so cops can trace guns used in crimes, for a better chance to catch the culprits.

How about required safety and training courses? OF COURSE, people with experience at shooting don't need them, but certify yourself/prove that skill, officially, like driving a car gets you a license. Again, it DOESN'T help us identify criminals, as they aren't 'gonna do any of these things. But if you require NOTHING of anyone, a proliferation of criminals getting their hands on handguns would ensue, as they could just go to any gun store to buy (vs. having to work harder, underground).

And, finally, gun show and online exceptions are COMPLETELY irresponsible! Perhaps 99 percent of attendees are honest citizens and/or good 'ol boys, but such a loophole makes the other three restrictions meaningless. What I'm round about saying is that if you make commercial gun sales a bit restrictive, you scare off criminals afraid they'll be identified by such tests!

And the honest heat-holder should appreciate any minor inconveniences which can keep them from being lumped with the law-breakers, in public sentiment, or worse—any chances to rid America of all guns (which could NEVER happen, because of the black market, online international sales, and home-made capabilities, as well as stashed caches the feds would never find).

In short, though I believe good citizens should have full access to weaponry, like any other free market product, because they're dangerous, by nature, especially in the wrong hands, I have NO problem with the MINOR restrictions I have detailed. If government ever made it impossible, or severely difficult for a good person to get guns, that's well beyond the pale, Constitutionally.

And as to criminals disobeying every restriction, that's their nature, so these regulations are forcing them to get their arms elsewhere (i.e., NOT retail), so the harder the better, for their aims. You can't stop them from stealing, the black market, or home foundries, etc., but at least force those venues to be few, so cops can focus on finding them.

Now for healthcare: Anyone who can afford whatever quality care they want should be able to. Those who need affordable care should get it, too. And full competition for health insurance, even, possibly, internationally, would be good.

This debate ONLY goes to the people who can't afford care. SHOULD THEY DIE of preventable disease, or severely suffer sickness, because they're broke? I propose a three-tier system of these three categories, with the poorest required to do compulsory civic service, in token return for any subsidized insurance, so tax payers get something for their money, vs. freebies/handouts.

At a minimum, very poor people need catastrophic coverage, and to visit charities and clinics, for nearly everything else. And we all know even the NON-poor can incur medical bills that can nearly bankrupt them. We're NOT trying to cover every aspect of this topic, here, but this is a start.

And Hannity's "health savings accounts" are a JOKE! ALL that term means is, pay your own bills by saving up money years before! Hey Sean, THAT'S THE PROBLEM! They don't make enough to have savings, to any serious extent (if any), or they wouldn't be our needy poor. It's SUCH A STUPID PROPOSAL, for that exact reason! #WOW

P.S.: Even if you could confiscate all U.S. guns, criminals could get them illegally (Ex.: internationally, through the internet and shipped to their homes), or make them, and law-abiding citizens could no longer hunt, or defend themselves or their families, when needed! (Unpublished)

Since Beto and Pete Sessions are discussing it, let's address 'universal healthcare.' No one who can afford medical insurance wants to be on a public program for such (excepting Medicare, for seniors). No one thinks the government will make the U.S. medical industry BETTER, less costly or more efficient! (10/18/18)

And we all know if you get something free, especially something expensive (like healthcare), people use and abuse it to the max, because it's a great value! That means costs of the four (over-paid) players will be paid by someone. That someone WON'T be the poorest, and FEW people want to pay others' bills, or they would have done so already, through charities! (10/18/18)

No one wants long wait times to be seen by a doctor, among many other bad things that would likely come with federalizing the entire industry! There are solutions-several of them, but universal Medicaid/healthcare is NOT one of them! Well-intentioned, though. (10/18/18)

Update: Healthcare & Hucksters

(10/24/18)

OVER-PAID players! Doctors, hospitals, drug companies and insurance companies, in a virtual monopoly (i.e., rates are standardized by insurance industries, and NO doctor will discount rates, to speak of), and for a service that's NOT optional, like free market product purchases with competition, as your body's care is often mandatory. (10/14/18)

THIS is human nature... Those with little want more (i.e., the poorer and youth), so they vote Dem, and those with much are older, and vote GOP (i.e., low taxes, to keep it for their own. Be it healthcare, college debt, what have you, people believe they have a right to their interests, via government. Government has to decide what's just!

Healthcare is FAR too expensive! The four players are greedy, and competition and unstandardized insurance rates would help. U.S. healthcare is FAR more expensive than other G7 nations, and it's NOT because care is far superior. A government task force is needed to assess ways to cut costs! It has become a rich man's luxury!

Let's address universal healthcare (which I'm AGAINST): The idea and intentions are excellent! Every American covered for any ailment. That would be IDEAL! However, the cost and quality is where things go awry! The rich would primarily pay for most others, and government would be in charge of services/quality. Plus, when Plus, when you are offered something 'for free,' human nature is to abuse/maximize it! That means the poor and middle incomes will get everything checked out, every year, and all tax payers would be hit with exorbitant costs for things they benefitted little from, and our national debt would skyrocket, as with waiting lines outside waiting rooms!

Once the rich pay a tax fair share, with ZERO loopholes, or ways to pay less than their tax bracket percent, leave them the heck alone, save for charity donation requests! They DIDNT work that hard to pay for others than their own family! EVERYONE does the same, so it is NOT evil to hold that attitude!

SINCE America's hunger for government services is much larger than their wallets, compulsory civic service for ALL but those already in government service or first responders, should be the way we bridge the gap between paying down our debt. It also encourages having patriotic skin in the game. The emperor has no clothes/money!

Here's the problem in American politics: IF a politician were HONEST, they'd say we have to charge you more, and give you less. Said more artfully, 'Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for your country.' NO politician takes this tack; they mainly promise lies to advance their careers! #Corruption

HARMONY OR ENMITY?

(10/25/18)

HOW can you get harmony with polar opposites? MANY ways! The U.S. could split into two separate countries (a RIDICULOUS and unnecessary idea), politicians could agree to make very few national laws, and just let states be red or blue (another RIDICULOUS suggestion), BOTH of which ideas assume everyone in a given state is their states color (which is inaccurate).

The BEST way is humility... realizing your political beliefs are NOT perfect (i.e., idolatry sin), and to learn to compromise NON-core values, and recognize NOT every issue is a core value! America is NEVER 'gonna be red or blue, and every time pundits envision one side dominating the other, there's ALWAYS a market correction, where the losing side gets revenge, and evens the score, usually by undoing all the deeds of their opponents! THIS IS ASININE!

The EASY and fair and best answers are found in our three political books, and four Twitter accounts. Win-win is the ONLY way!

Please read the likes and posts at: @Pledgers2020 @PledgersARCHIVE @2020Victory @ImMadTooEdwin, and read Dumb as a Donkey, Fat as an Elephant: Common Ground Through Common Sense for the Common Good, Wit and Wisdom: You Can't Speak About Politics or Religion!, and The Way Things Ought to Be: A Global Vision for a Better World.

Let's agree on one thing, to start: ANYONE willing to engage violence is public enemy number one in America! You can debate, argue, insult, criticize, even hate a fellow American, but even kindergartners know, 'violence is not the answer.' SEPARATE and ignore, if that's as little "evolved" as you've become.

NO red state is 100 percent red! And with people moving and immigrating, all the time, colors shift! I don't want red states to act blue, or vice versa. Just everyone improve, morally. See the good in the opponent, stop your arrogant belief that your political views are God-sent, and re-earn the civility you once knew—even if just as a kid.

Our UN-sociable society (despite social media), where there's no real face-to-face interactions, is a BIG part of the problem, plus people PAID to stir up trouble (and I'm NOT speaking of paid protesters so much as talk radio). If you want a second Civil War, keep right on your foolish path!

Liberals want problems solved, and that costs money! Voluntary charity donations will never do the job. Conservatives DON'T want them solved very badly, if money's involved.

Conservatives also RARELY suffer from those social problems! Name/list them. Most cons don't have any need of government helping them one iota. Therein lies the great divide. If ALL you care about is yourself, and to Hell with society as a whole (i.e., they just need to be more like me... responsible), or all you want to do is punish achievers, as if working smart and hard is evil, we're always 'gonna be at each other's throats! It's BOTH/AND! Be responsible, and care about others! #Balance Government leave me the heck alone vs. government care for my every need. GOVERNMENT IS YOU and ME! I don't ever ask any neighbor for help (excepting lifting one really heavy desk, when my BIG son was at college), and people HATE being imposed on! Learn to live off what you make—PERIOD!

At the same exact time, if you're 'gonna gripe that some people should get $3K/year from government, temporarily, to help them get more fiscally established, you REALLY need to go visit the poorest part of your town or city, to see that they're NOT all Welfare queens, lazily eating bon bons on the couch; NOT EVERYONE's life is like yours, conservatives!

NOT everyone was raised like myself... all needs met, good schools, vacays, luxuries, no real financial pains. That is NOT everyone's experience, and it's NOT because all others are lazy! If you can't consider another's plight, apart from your own experience, you are a failed human being, especially if you CALL yourself a "Christian!"

$57K is the average U.S. salary. I couldn't survive on that, with my family, as we're in the top 10 percent, even though we live pay check to pay check, because I've been writing (full-time) for 10 years.

WHAT ABOUT THE OTHER 90 percent? If I claim Jesus, and read HIS Bible, I must care about them, too! And I HATE giving one dime to a street corner beggar, because I see them there, like a career, likely using it for a beer or drugs.

The answer is everyone doing something to make poverty non-existent! Mentor someone; Educate them; Take them under your wing, for awhile, but don't get stolen from in the process.

My contribution/skill is educating! I live in the richest county in Texas, and can't complain about our lifestyle, because I know how to spend wisely. TEACH poor people how to become self-sustaining. Jobs are a pyramid, with best-paying ones at top. MOST people are never 'gonna be rich. LEARN to live accordingly!

And one more thing... Go do a sport, take a hike, or share a meal with someone you know to be polar opposite you, politically! It's easy to hate people you never actually interact with in real life! Straw men burn fast, but human relating is much more powerful! (Amos 3:3; Ecc. 4:9-12) There are MANY answers to this problem!

One final word... Morality/ethics/goodness/integrity is how people get along, be it your spouse, your enemy, or even nations! You can't easily get along with someone hitting you, hating and insulting you, trying to steal from you, or harming your economic interests. Be committed to being a good person! (Mt. 7:12)

Because secession is the only long-term answer, if the greatest nation doesn't return to dependence on a moral constituency, as our Founding Fathers envisioned! Democracy FAILS when everyone embraces selfishness, and loses their moral foundations/compasses! (Judg. 17:6) LEARN FROM HISTORY, America!

HANDLING HOMELESSNESS

(11/19/18)

How is homelessness fixed? IF they are deemed mentally fit, and choose that lifestyle, do NOTHING. Charity can assist, as needed. If they want out of that lifestyle, they've got to have a job, and it takes a certain dollar amount to get on your feet: One month apartment rent, transportation to work, food, clothes, electricity deposit, water; gasoline and car?, etc.

WHERE does that money come from? Food and housing often comes from shelters, but the homeless have to work a month or more, to save up for those essentials. SHOULD government offer TEMPORARY housing and funds, until they're on their feet, and if so, how are we sure they won't recidivize (and some may ask why taxpayers owe them that)?

Charities are best, but they usually don't have that stored up money to get shelter dwellers on their feet. Perhaps related businesses could withhold the first month's charges, until later? Existing, empty government buildings would be a possibility, if equipped with electricity.

If government or charities offer them housing, up-front, they should be paid back, over time, especially government (as that wasn't free-willed given/volunteered). If a person has the skills and motivation, and is mentally with it, that up-front cost is worth the investment, for later repayment... just deciding who will pay it, at the start!

Update #1: Give a Fish or Give a Job?

(11/21/18)

We're feeding homeless, tomorrow [Thanksgiving], at a soup kitchen, and why I don't really like engaging such things is I'm a solutions thinker. I HATE giving people a fish when they need to learn how to fish! It's NOT a problem feeding them, but it's not a solution! I think about systemic solutions all the time—not stop-gap Band-Aids!

Feeling good that you helped a homeless person for one meal out of, hopefully three, on one day out of 365, is NOT what satisfies me. That's exactly why I wrote the above brief bit on ending homelessness. One big meal, tomorrow, gets digested hours later! Their struggles simply continue. Nice gesture; no solution.

The homeless don't NEED efficiency apartments. They could live in a dorm-like building, until they can afford that. Cities often have abandoned or under- or unused structures, and if they got cleaned up, the homeless could work at fast food shops, for a start, to pay for those living quarter expenses.

MANY government programs exist, as with charities, to help them, so it's NOT a great idea to help street corner beggars make $8 an hour, or more! You're encouraging that continuing! Why work a real job when that can occur (and often also be spent on beer or drugs)?

Again, you may FEEL like a 'good person' helping out in that way, but in many cases you are hurting them. And don't bring a dog or baby to the street corners to garner mercy! It's cruel to them! Get your life in order, with some societal assistance, or if you choose that lifestyle, we NON-homeless need to quit funding it on street corners!

If you need mental health treatment, I can't say I know of any free or cheap solutions, but homeless shelters you may stay at should. In short, America should NOT have a homelessness problem, unless one is sane, and wants to live a transient lifestyle. In such cases, we citizens DON'T have to give them coin/change to subsidize that choice! Wish them well.

For the ones wanting out, learn what skills they possess, and help them find a willing employer. The Pope even gave them a shave and a bathe! Goodwills and Salvation Armys provider clothes, maybe for free, to them(?). Cities need to rent out abandoned buildings for cheap, or for free, until they're back on their feet!

Seattle has experimented with building the homeless homes they may repay when they're doing well (but that takes up-front money from somewhere): <https://bit.ly/2DIhyvY> Habitat for Humanity builds them homes, apparently with no token repayment requirements(?). If they have family, they SHOULD be very actively involved, no matter any ill-will!

I walked to the mall, the other day, as my car got aligned, and wondered where I would sleep if I was homeless. Nature isn't a great blanket in cold weather! Be grateful charity shelters exist, and some people in America donate to them, even though our majority are not rich. Kindness to strangers, because Americans are 'good people.'

Tent cities are usually an eyesore blithe, but existing buildings are already there! If you got the homeless motivated, and trained for a society-contributing lifestyle, without recidivism, the invested money wouldn't be wasted, and repayment, in some percent, could be possible.

Why must taxpayers contribute, if they allowed themselves to be homeless, conservatives may ask? That's an easy question to ask when you're wealthy, or even middle class, but better is to explore how they came to that state, and reverse the bread crumbs to get them productive again. Charities are the better funding choice, as no one is forced to ask such questions about how their taxes are being spent.

One more thing... Single mothers NOT getting child support is a wrong and injustice that ought to be fixed! If you helped conceive a baby, as the father, you owe! Pay up! I'm not for any 'player' having any money their child is legally owed, no matter how Spartan that makes the dad live! Free legal services may be needed here, it would seem.

Update #2: Feeding the Homeless
(11/22/18)

Where we fed the homeless [on Thanksgiving day], the place, allegedly, 'crammed religion' down their throats, and every day prayed saying they were not deserving of anything, two homeless men told me. God NOWHERE teaches Christians to shove anything down throat! He says to offer it in the right way, and if they reject, you move on, but you surely don't condemn them for that, but pray and love them.

I told them IF anyone ever said that to them, they do NOT represent God or Jesus, as they're as valuable as BOTH of my sons, and anyone—ugly, fat, broke, old, bald, whatever, is deserving of human dignity, and to be treated accordingly, as God doesn't say much complementary of those with abundance, but says to help the lowly.

Three of them confirmed that homelessness is a TRAP, because you DO need about $1,000 to get out, but there weren't any nearby jobs, transportation's $6 a trip, minimum, and what you earn at $9 an hour only pays for a place to live, even if you split it with several homeless. I told them it would be easier for a criminal to get three squares and a roof over their head, and they said that's absolutely true. Sad!

I asked them, isn't it true, your family won't help. YES. And isn't it true for you to have a room, electricity, water, food, transportation and clothes requires at least $1,000 no one will give you, and even if you get a job, you can't get there, and be ready until you have that $1,000. YES, again. That's the trap/dead-end cycle.

I asked one guy, isn't it true, as harsh a truth as it is, there's literally NO human on earth who really actively cares that you need $1,000 to get back on your feet? He agreed. I told him God cares, and when I go into politics, I'm doing so ONLY to fix problems. NO other reason to waste such time and energy!

You should have seen the eyes of two homeless men when I told them God NOWHERE says they are undeserving of help, from Gen.-Rev. I then asked them, if I told my two sons, every day, you are ugly and dumb, what do you think they'd most likely become in three years? They had the correct answer. I told them simply because they're alive, they are made in God's image, with value and worth. The situation LITERALLY felt like plugging a broken dam with your index finger!

Today has galvanized my belief that I don't give one da_n what conservatives want, regarding lower taxes. They ALWAYS want government to NOT spend money. Make a law that all conservatives MUST visit a homeless shelter for 3 hours! I truly will NEVER care one ounce when they parrot 'taxes are too high.' No—you are too sinfully selfish!

Conservatives say get a job, homeless. Here's what they don't give one da_n about: To start a job, you show up bathed and dressed and fed, because you have a tub in a room with electricity, and transportation. HELLO—they're dead broke... How can they earn money with none to get them to the job, fools? #Frustration today.

Two really great homeless dudes said they earn $250/week, and the cheapest rent is $210/week, and even splitting it in half with a roommate, transportation and food kills any overage, plus some. I looked them in the eyes, and said, 'you could be my son, and I could be you.' There's NO difference between us! They appreciated it.

Allegedly, one homeless shelter CHARGES the homeless to use it, NONE of them offer services to get day labor, like "The Bunk" used to, until the rich didn't want it in existence (as unsightly), and the one we were at wouldn't let them sleep safely there, with a fence, but druggies threaten them at night, just for sport/fun.

I did not have any special eureka moment, today, but to firm up my belief that people who always fight government doing anything to help anyone are enemies of this nation!

WHO's 'gonna give a homeless person $1,000 to get on their financial feet? Their own family isn't. Most Americans can't afford a spare $1,000 to hand out! Conservatives don't want government to, because they DON'T want a caring society—just to enjoy worldliness, with no needed condemnation! I'm angry today!

NEVER let ANY political conservative say they're a Christian! "Are not" MUST be your sassy reply! In Mt. 25 Jesus aligned with the hungry, but the conservative's Bible verse is Jas. 2:16 and I Jn. 3:17. YOU CANNOT SOLELY DEPEND ON CHARITIES to do all the work! They are failures as the only answer! Plus, almost EVERY restaurant has food they throw out every night, that someone could eat, if we got organized! That's STUPID.

I DUMBLY asked if they would watch the Cowboys game. It is NOT a concern for you concerning NFL entertainment of millionaires when you don't know where your next meal is coming from, or where you'll safely sleep tonight. DUMMY ME. Experience teaches you things.

There are MANY people in America (in number vs. percent) who can easily spare $1,000 for a homeless person to get on their feet (pay it back later). Any frugally philanthropic rich person is the enemy of God! Go visit a 'hood, barrio or homeless shelter! It OUGHT to be a required civic activity for every American, one time, vs. being a see no evil ostrich.

One more thing... out of sight, out of mind. That's EXACTLY why most of us don't give one da_n about the condition of the homeless! One guy said he sometimes uses public transportation to get to day labor, but if you get caught, riding for free, your fine ruins all such aspirations, and can't afford it daily!

Note to self: NEVER let yourself ever become homeless! "There, but by the grace of God, go I" was the refrain in my head, our entire stay! They are humans, people; they just had some tough knocks. Why treat them like wild dogs? If charities can't do it all, TAX US ALL! It's ONLY right to do so!

One more... I asked one homeless dude how he slept at night SURE that no one would attack him, without a dog. He said he's confident he can hear footsteps approaching. IMAGINE that's your security blanket, and home alarm system. I'm nearly in tears thinking what Jesus thinks about this STUPID, inhumane situation.

WHERE do you get a bath, and soap, a rag and towel to dry off when you're homeless? When shelters reach capacity, YOYO—you're on your own. Where do you wash your few clothes to change into? When the weather goes south, how are you going to stay warm between 2-6 am? Leaves and grass and cardboard? #Suffering

HEALTHY HEALTHCARE?

(12/15-16/18)

Most-viewed tweet, ever (82, 417, to-date): Translated... Screw poor people's need for healthcare; we rich want to be richer! But don't call us greedy or selfish, but freedom lovers (because the truth hurts our feeling too bad, so we change it to sound holier)

<https://cnn.it/2QZFIsU>

I wasn't for Obamacare, but government has a BIG role in getting costs down, by more competition. ALL four players are a monopoly of high prices: Hospitals, drug companies, doctors and insurance companies. NO one will self-restrain that, absent government forcing more competition!

Why don't we increase competition, have NO restrictions on number of docs graduated, open up global insurance, subsidize the poor with required civic service token repayment, require catastrophic insurance (as Hannity said), and have pricing menus (like Fiorina said)?

The medical industry is a monopoly, because competition in pricing is controlled by insurance companies, and consumers have no choice... when you need an operation, it's NOT like buying McDonald's vs. Wendy's. You can't choose to forego treating cancer, like choosing to eat at home vs. fast food!

Here's why the medical industry rightly receives government intervention... Sick people have no choice to not get sick, and the four players (doctors, insurance companies, drug companies and hospitals) do not expand, like any other business would if a competitor was profiting enough. There are restricted entry barriers.

There is no free market on medical costs! If any doctor lowers his rates, he loses monetary reimbursement from insurance companies or Medicare. Drugs manufactured out of country are OFTEN much cheaper, and insurance rates are nowhere near as low as they'd be if we had global competition!

Medical treatment is expensive by nature—not only due to greed! M.D. degrees cost a bunch, medical equipment, too, and surgery is done by the limited few able to do such a task. We're asking poor people to be able to engage a service best suited for the rich, by nature of its nature! They never can.

A poor person will NEVER need a Mercedes, so who cares that they're expensive? Every living human will have their body give way to life, meaning they will need medical services. When the poor have to engage a rich man's business, they can never afford to be in the game which life forces on them.

I'd like government to specifically identify when medical care is necessary, or a person could die or get sick with illnesses that are quite costly. Those instances are when healthcare MUST be made available for all, at a reasonable if not subsidized rate. Anything more, you're on your own! I NEVER use my insurance!

Why would any doctor decide to cut services rates, or live a modest lifestyle? Why would drug companies not jack up prices, like Epipen did, if government doesn't force restrictions? Why would insurance companies have reasonable rates, when they can make a killing, legally? Why have a nonprofit hospital, when it can profit for doing the same functions?

The government STOPPED public interest-harming monopolies, in the Rockefeller era (i.e., Big oil), and later, Ma Bell. The medical industry is a monopoly, for reasons I've already elucidated. Can you choose not to get cancer, or to fix it yourself, by DIY (do it yourself) surgery? Are there competitive rates you can choose? Hardly.

Whenever you offer something for free, someone pays for it, and those getting it at no sacrifice abuse it. That system can't sustain itself; funds will never be enough. There have to be restrictions on healthcare abuse.

I don't like ever paying for any other person's anything, because I have my own struggles with my own family, and we're in the top 10 percent. CAN YOU IMAGINE people in the lower 90 percent trying to get healthcare they can afford? I waste money on insurance, in case I get really sick. I've been to three doctors in 25 years! It's too expensive.

Fair subsidies HAVE to be part of the solution! The rich bailing out the poor, for no benefit, isn't fair, nor is letting people die, or get expensively sick, because they can't access the medical industry isn't right.

WHO would offer cut-rate services, like the Wal-Mart (or Dollar store) of medical care, when they spend ten years, post-college, to earn an M.D.? The proposal is irrational: Lower costs for expensive services. BMW's will NEVER cost $18,000. Healthcare is a BMW. What doctor will give cut-rate service, or half a-s quality surgeries (under threat of lawsuits)? And it's dangerous to leave America for cheaper medical care!

Analogies help: Sickness is a gun to your head; NOT a free choice of buying a product or service. The medical industry is like funeral homes—they're 'gonna get the business. But funeral homes can vary their costs, due to competition, and no insurance companies setting/fixing prices! End the monopoly!

In free market businesses, price fixing and collusion are illegal. Health insurance rates and ranges are set in stone. Doctors can charge more, but the overage will be paid by rich patients—NOT reimbursed by insurance. Charge lower, and a doctor becomes a charity, and they didn't go to medical school for that!

Even if all four players got fully streamlined, by people who did things like we did as F2K business consultants, at the end of the day, medical services are expensive! Politicians can say to lower costs, and they can be lowered, in some cases, but a Lamborghini will never cost a Toyota price tag.

Why are other nations' health outlays so much cheaper than America? In some cases, inferior quality, but in many cases, NOT (Ex.: Canada, Britain)! When you can weed through the wheat from the chaff of political rhetoric, America needs the quality of those two nations, let the rich have even better care on their dime, and the poor guaranteed a minimum quality care, tokenly repaid by required civic service to the America, so tax payers aren't giving handouts, but benefitting from subsidizing people who can't afford an innately expensive industry.

Competition brings down prices... Opening up products to more buyers. Flying motorcycles cost ~$150,000. In 10 years, they'll be ~$50,000 (i.e., economies of scale economics term). Doctors can only work so many hours in a day, and they can delegate/farm out certain functions, but the scaling up comes by having MORE doctors in America! Many more!

Their lobby will fight this, as their incomes will lower (i.e., supply and demand, economics term). If we had as many doctors as lawyers (because attorneys aren't restricted in their numbers licensed each year), prices would LOWER! I'm certain medical lobbyists give huge bucks to D.C. (a hunch; I've never researched its statistics). Prove me wrong.

The Barrister industry self-limits, now, as you've got to really want to be one if you don't graduate in the top 15 percent of your class. Competition weeds out the money-hungry, and lessens total numbers! Medical schools a little different, because entering the field takes longer, given the residency!

I don't want doctors living in the middle class, but you'd be shocked what lifestyle they demand maintaining, by the ADA restricting their number! So sick poor people and the middle class OWE them a high lifestyle, because they got sick? That's irrational! You're supposed to care to heal the sick—not line your wallet.

Drug companies are competing for the one wonder drug. MUCH investment costs, and if you aren't first to patent, all wasted on a losing investment. That is IRrational! Combine research, and eliminate the huge sunk costs of many businesses seeking only one winner! Even Coke, Pepsi, Dr. Pepper and Sprite get market shares; drug companies often are winner take all. That's DUMB.

Hospitals were OFTEN founded by RELIGIOUS groups, in history. Now they're a business (as with 'Christian' universities). Equipment is costly. If you have too few hospitals, costs are too high; too many, and they're not profitable enough to keep them open. The answer is balance.

Insurance companies NEED to profit, to remain open to provide their service, but NOT make a killing, when they control medical prices. At the same time, they have to have enough money to settle huge outbreaks (like the Cali fires, in the home insurance version). Their lobbyists will always argue for profits, and never care that people can't afford their services, to get needed medical care.

The ONLY way a Ferrari will ever cost $20,000 is lower quality parts from a knock-off business! Nurse Practitioners are a huge need, as they do doctor duties, without the M.D. license. Government may need to decide what acts ONLY doctors can do, different from today, so doctors' hourly rates aren't as needed!?

Healthcare is expensive, and most poor people can barely pay life's essentials, excluding healthcare. Society as a whole has a moral obligation to ensure no severe suffering, and when we also require civic service as token repayment, the rich aren't giving anyone freebies.

Whether you want to call it insurance, or a government expense, or out-of-pocket individual payments, the total cost of what all Americans need to stay healthy is MUCH more than is sustainable. We want fine wine/champagne lives on a beer budget. I'm for any private solutions that don't screw the little guy.

I have NEVER argued that any poor people should get a livelihood off the government! I was for Welfare reform WAY before Chump! Some people's maximized skills will never get them over $30-50K/year. Healthcare is expensive. If states only cared for their own, New Mexico would go bankrupt, while Texas would have no problem.

If EVERY poor person maximized their (God-given) potential, our economy does NOT need, nor can it sustain, all chiefs and no Indians. No employer is 'gonna over-pay anyone, if they're good at their jobs. Jobs for many Americans can't pay all their bills, when you add healthcare costs!

The BEST any non-rich American can expect (vs. want) is to get through life with no huge medical bill they can't afford to pay off! I've been sick for five days, and wouldn't consider going to a doctor (though married to a nurse). I sleep it off, and suck it up, and take OTC (over the counter), when the spouse requires it.

And I've NEVER argued for single payer, but two or more levels of care. The rich get whatever they want to pay for, as with the middle class. The poor get minimal treatment, and compulsory civic service token repayment for anything subsidized. The rich can most afford a little more in taxes, suffering NO noticeable harm!

If anyone opts out of insurance, they get nothing from the system (II Th. 3:10)! I've argued that same logic concerning motorcycle helmets. If you want that freedom, you pay all the freight when you wreck. If you don't pay into a system, you deserve no benefits from a system.

Universal healthcare, Medicare for all, or single payer ALL mean the rich and middle class who have private insurance get LESSER quality care in order for all to have some care, and make government in charge of the industry. It's naïve, and will NEVER be accepted by them—probably a revolt, and a Democrat LOSS, if so!

Universal healthcare, Medicare for all or single payer ALL mean the rich and middle class who have private insurance get LESSER quality care, in order for all to have some care, and make government in charge of the industry. It's naïve, and will NEVER be accepted by them; probably would lead to a revolt, and a Democrat LOSS, if so!

Probably all problems are solvable. You list all problems, then find ways to solve them (we do it daily, here). This formula applies to EVERY problem in the world! You first have to identify them; then use innovation (and experience/wisdom) to solve them. It's an easy formula; the problem is that many people (in numbers vs. percent) LIKE problems, because they profit from them, or they stay richer not helping to fix them.

Here's the easy to say, harder to do agenda for politics: Identify all problems, and fix them. Welfare kings are evil, as is the fend for yourself conservatism attitude. Fix the problems, within budget, as on time as possible, and prioritized. Those are the challenges for ethical government.

Interjection on the Japanese System

[Private account:] Asked about the Japanese system... I read it's a hybrid of government/private mix. There are subsidies and cost controls; in exchange, they leave industry with room to operate freely, within limits. It's not the best, but no one has ever come up with one that is.

Costs are 45 percent what they are in the U.S. Government/physician committees strictly oversee prices of drugs, etc. Companies accept reduced profits, as it's in the national interest. U.S. companies bleed everyone white.

Hospitals by law are non-profit, run by doctors. Fees are approved by committees. No one is denied care. Japan tightly regulates cost increases to remain within affordable limits. Companies make profit, but are not allowed to RUN the market.

Malpractice exists but awards are limited. Fair but regulated. I'm no expert. I'm sure it has many issues, but Japanese lawmakers cannot take money from the healthcare's industry, either. Japan also severely limits immigration, and has strict guidelines, which greatly reduce the demand on the healthcare system from immigrants.

HOW CHRISTIANS INFLUENCE SOCIETY

(10/8/18)

NOT everyone will get saved; the majority won't (Mt. 7:13). That's why God made government (Rom. 13:1-14)! We live in a fallen world, and pipe dreams of Utopia on earth are a waste of time. Therefore, HOW could people be motivated/incentivized to do right and not wrong? EVERY law that is good, and has no flaws, needs enforcing! It is a very fine art to craft laws accurately!

HERE's how God designed society to be morally improved: Christians FULLY evangelized all lost people, then disciplined to maturity all who got saved, even as we are to pray for those who reject our message, show them love, and re-evangelize them, as led. This is NOT the model the Christian Cabal is following, or has in 30+ years!

And godly people clamored for moral laws, and prayerfully sought national revival (II Chr. 7:14). The PROBLEM is that a majority of Christians DON'T do that (i.e., the 5/10/13 problem, defined at our website), and DON'T do all four steps of that verse, which includes fully doing EDBS priorities (also defined at our website). So the U.S. goes to Hell in a hand basket (plus, prophecy expects an increase in sin, as it approaches; II Tim. 3:1-7, etc.)

Governments were designed by God to punish evil and encourage good. Any law that doesn't serve those dual purposes, and any lack of enforcing good laws (vs. civil disobedience of rare bad ones) ensures people with ill-intent will try to skirt our good laws! If you only rely on prayer, you DON'T know God's plan. America requires revival, or judgment is CERTAIN!

And just like revival, everything starts with you, Christian. If we are not avidly following Christ, but instead, are in the vast majority of nominally-committed believers, HOW can we expect society's norms to become better, when we ourselves are not living what we want to see society become? (Unpublished)

Update: America is a Christian Nation?

(Unpublished, 10/9/18)

You might have heard pastors saying America is a 'Christian nation' (in other words, a theocracy). God does teach Christians to seek to bring about His will on earth, as it is in Heaven, but things on earth will NEVER be like the Millennium, until those 1,000 years begin.

Jesus will rule the nations with a rod of iron, in those days, so let's explore exactly what that might look like, as to laws and daily practice. Whether from fear, or an imaginary "law," the following activities will not happen in anyone, without judgment severe enough to curb these actions:

Cussing, adultery, pornography, prostitution, human trafficking, pride, selfishness, greed, hoarding, divorce (we allow, but discourage, like Roe), speeding, rape, murder, gays, abortion, fornication/pre-marital sex, drinking, smoking, obesity, lust, anxiety, prayerlessness, ungratefulness, unrighteous anger, hatred, abortions, homosexuality, poverty, pollution, racism, discrimination, injustice, prejudice, gossip, slander, fear (not fear of God), disobedience, lying, favoritism, bias, idolatry, bribery, rebellion, blasphemy, robbery, theft/stealing, wastefulness, etc.

In many ways, the absence of these evils does seem to be a much better world, and we ought to continually be aspiring to their eradication, but our efforts in that regard must be engaged using legal and moral/social means, given opportunities afforded us under our various governmental systems.

HOW TO HAVE A GOOD ECONOMY

(9/4/18)

How do you make the best economy in the world happen in these United States?

First, please permit me to define what a good economy is and is not. To me, at least, a good economy is one that is stable, if not growing—certainly not going backwards, where people have jobs (if they want them), good-paying jobs, at that, and, above all, American businesses are doing well—growing and profiting. A good economy is good for all Americans, to some extent and varying capacities, as we all, certainly, do not want her economy to tank, or crash, as that hurts us all. So how do we achieve that?

Before I answer that all-important question, permit me to define what a bad economy is. An economy with high unemployment, only a select few doing great, while most others suffer, or an economy where U.S. businesses do well, but do so off employees and workers who don't live here! MOST average Americans are not going to move to China, India, or anywhere else where an economy may be humming, when their family historic ties are here, and they don't speak the language, or fit in easily to the culture. Therefore, our economy has to work for everyone we expect to remain here, long-term!

So how do we, specifically, achieve such an economy? In our books, Building a Billionaire Business and Wit and Wisdom, I detail the economic specifics of avoiding the two extremes of far right conservatism, and far left liberalism, and argue for answers usually somewhere in-between.

I will not rehash those books, but the following factors are essential to a great-performing economy:

1. The Best Equipped Labor Pool in the World (skills- and education-wise). Why would an American company want to hire elsewhere if the talent pool was best at home? This is the educational component.
2. Taxes as Low as is Reasonably Possible. The more money businesses fork out to the Treasury, in corporate taxes, the less they have to spend on activities that grow their business.
3. Unburdensome Regulations, & Streamlined Compliance. No one wants unsafe products or work places, but anytime any regulation goes beyond that common sense mandate, it hinders business' progress.
4. Debt Under Control. When a family is constrained by many maxxed out credit cards, their fiscal health is endangered. The same applies to our national economy.
5. Innovation. Innovation and risk-taking are the heartbeat of the American economy, as well as the liveliness of small business. Despite our competitor, and even adversary nations sometimes stealing our ideas, it remains true that it is usually first to market who wins, and American innovation—dating back to such heroes as Edison and Ford—needs to remain at the forefront of American economic policy.
6. Efficiency & Productivity. Be it infrastructure, or reimagining business process and operations, disruptive change and smart leadership gets a business more bang for the buck, and American businesses need to always be striving for world-class standards, and improvement.
7. Supply Chain Value. The more American businesses can get the same or better quality (depending on the level their client base demands) for the same or less price, the more efficient they will be with limited resources.
8. Good Trade Deals. Be it Trump's attempts at renegotiating existing deals and treaties (usually by bluster and bullying vs. actual negotiating win-win), but especially entering into new arrangements, the more markets Americans businesses can enter into, the better.

Other, lesser issues come into play, but these are the essentials, and the more government sees itself as a facilitator of, vs. impediment to, moral business's success, the better we all will be. However, note that I referenced moral businesses. Businesses that favor elites, especially at the cost of the little guy, do not fit that definition.

Update #1: Voters & Economics
(9/5/18)

EVERYONE wants a “good-paying job,” and an economy with good job opportunities! Do you know anyone who doesn’t? Here’s the PROBLEM... Business isn’t wanting, or capable of providing that! Sweeping the floor isn’t worth $15 an hour. The function doesn’t pay for itself in profits received for doing so. You’ve got to earn what you’re worth.

So, voters clamor to daddy government, to make up for their lack in pay-negotiating skills, or unions (more so in the past). Unscrupulous employers WOULD abuse you, in pay, if they could (i.e., get away with it), so you have every right to clamor for minimum wage, and union pressure, to level the bargaining table!

But, at the same time, we are in a global economy. Business can and will get labor from any source—best quality for least cost. That’s NOT innately evil. It’s unpatriotic, but not immoral, in every case, and it’s not illegal.

U.S. citizens have to be the best job candidates, to deserve the best-paying jobs! And with labor from China and India and the E.U., even good ‘ol boys who clamor to tRump to save their dying industries have to see that businesses can move out of the U.S.A. if the deals are significantly better elsewhere.

In short, if you want a decent lifestyle, work smarter, harder, buy smarter and have more skills and get more education.

U.S. scientists NEED to study how to make dumb-tending students think and remember and understand better, by drugs, technology, motivation, teaching techniques, or whatever will bring our lowest rung into global competitive status for world-class jobs, HERE in these United States! #JustDoIt

Update #2: tRump’s Economy
(9/19/18)

To the extent our economy is humming, it’s from over-favoring the rich, and increasing our debt. MANY in America believe the economy has always got to do great, or we have a problem. GOOD is the standard—NOT exciting, but sustainable! Downturns are inevitable, especially with bubbles, from over-enthusiasm.

I had argued for corporate tax at 25 percent, $3,000 middle class tax cut, and lower regulations, where they were at a minimum, but NOT harmful to consumers or workers. It was OBVIOUS to anyone with any economics knowledge, that thwarting Obamacare would help our economy grow, as it was a constraint on business!

GOP far righters advocate ‘pro-business.’ They ALWAYS leave off balancing that with ‘pro-worker,’ though with slight tilt to business, as there are no jobs if business isn’t doing well. Pro-business can mean much unemployment, as everything gets automated. You want to know how to really jump start economic growth? INNOVATE, with successful products (among other things).

HOW TO OBEY GOD

(9/10/18)

A Christian can live one of three ways, only one of which is right, and works: Law, license or liberty. Law comes in two forms: Legalism or law. Law living is obeying commands, absent the Holy Spirit's guidance and power; trying in the flesh; pure will power with Bible verses; the standard is perfection.

Legalism is slightly different, where one chooses a set list of commands, to determine if they're "doing good" at obeying/following Christ, typified, usually, by imposing their imperfect standard on others. Perhaps worse is having NO standards for following Christ, and not even trying—just doing whatever you please: License/carnality.

Trust, don't try; let go, let God are excellent slogans associated with liberty, if you understand them correctly. You do try, there is effort, but it's after you're fully surrendered ('let go'), so the effort is in cooperation/conjunction with the Spirit's initiating, empowering and leading/guidance.

It's developed, over time, with experience at knowing what conviction is. As you pray and meditate, you start to realize when God's leading you to apply given verses. Your attitude is willingness to do whatever He wants (i.e., His will), but you leave the specifics and timing to Him. And if you sense nothing, you do what you know to be right. Victory can alone come from this way of living, for 'apart from Me you can do nothing.'

Here are some corresponding verses on these matters: Josh. 1:8; Ps. 119:9-11; Mt. 11:30; Jn. 15:5, Rom. 6:14, 7:7-25, 14:4, 23; I Cor. 2, 10:13, 15:10; II Cor. 3:5, 4:18, 5:7; Gal. 2:20; Jude 24, Jn. 6:63, Heb. 4 (faith rest) and 11, and 5:14; I Pet. 2:1-2; I Jn. 5:4, etc. #FaithWalking

There are THOUSANDS of moral commands in the Bible. To try to obey them all, right now, would not only be impossible, it's works vs. a relationship based on grace and faith. Learn how to live fully forgiven!

Gal. 5 and Eph. 4 are also EXCELLENT works describing walking by the Spirit (vs. flesh), and the law (i.e., the Bible, absent the Spirit, or the first five Old Testament books, depending on context) KILLS you, though it's good and holy, but you are not, in your old man/on your own. Reckon yourself dead to him and alive to God, as His child (your identity 'in Christ').

Update: Faith vs. Sight

(12/3/18)

Here's the dilemma for the Lordship Salvationist: WHY would you speak about sanctification with a lost person before they have a renewed spirit? It would ONLY sound negative to their only sin nature, and you give the devil opportunity to turn them away from missing Hell by getting saved!

HERE are the VERY FEW instances where sanctification was discussed with lost people in an evangelism conversation: Ac. 3:26 (spoken to people already in covenant relation with God... Jews), Jn. 8:11 (spoken RIGHT as she was saved, and only referencing her career sin as a prostitute—not all the sins He will deal with until she died), Jn. 7:37-39 and 11:25-26 (generalized in positive terms only). A dead human spirit CAN'T receive the things of the Lord (I Cor. 2:14), and is blinded by Satan, until God sovereignly opens their eyes, and lifts the veil (II Cor. 4:4).

Evangelizers speaking of things that happen AFTER one is saved risk them being valued as negative, in which case their rejection of the Gospel is blood on that evangelist's hands, for venturing into information they couldn't comprehend or appreciate anyway, until they had the Spirit within!

Now is as good a time as any to tell believers, there are only two realms of living—sight and faith (II Cor. 5:7); If you don't walk by faith, you CAN'T please God (Heb. 11:6)! And when you do, you won't be in the majority among Christians, and you may be considered crazy (Mk. 3:21; Ac. 26:25), but if you're trying to fit in, you can only fit into the world, or with Christ (Gal. 1:10); NO Christian is an active soldier if they get bogged down in the mundanity of temporal existence (II Tim. 2:4)! That verse does NOT just refer to pastors, though it is in a pastoral epistle!

Mt. 6:33 and Col. 3:1-4 show you that God is to be number one in your thought life, if you are to walk as a disciple (Lk. 9:23). And EXPECT suffering, if not persecution, IF you walk by faith (I Th. 3:3; I Pet. 2:21).

The ONLY place I've EVER heard much teaching on faith-walking is in Charismatic churches (where the demographic used to be lower middle, at best). If any Christian does NOT walk by faith (i.e., a life based on the Bible, vs. what you see), they're experiential enemies of God (Jas. 4:1-4). That decision is available to Christians, or it wouldn't be warned against. The Lordship Salvation heresy says you made that choice in order to be saved, but you make that choice daily, but you are only born again only once!

Let's look at why faith-walking can appear to others as crazed. Rom. 4:19-24 Abraham's wife was well past child-birthing years (i.e., menopause). By all scientific reasoning, she was too old to birth a kid!

And honest Abe was too old to get her pregnant! But God had promised him something! It wasn't a promise available to everyone, but God specifically called him to be the father of many nations, through his heirs, though he had none. A miracle would have to happen, and though Abraham acknowledged his frail biological condition, he thought even more about God's abilities. THAT is faith!

You ask for something within His will (i.e., NOT contrary to the Bible, and/or consistent with a promise therein), and you believe that you have/possess it (in the spiritual realm/heavenly places) the minute you finish your prayer, because you trust God to deliver the answer (Mk. 11:22-24).

It often aids you, when you speak from faith, or verbalize your confession that you have that prayer answer! That's where the accusations of being loco come in (II Cor. 4:13). If you're living a life just like everyone else, yet add in church attending, you AREN'T walking by faith, or living as a disciple (same thing... the latter describes, and the former educates as to how).

I attended church (three times a week) from age zero to 18, and wasn't a disciple, though I was saved at age 8. If you never, or rarely read the Bible, you aren't walking and can't walk by faith, because faith comes from hearing it (Rom. 10:17) Why do most Christians live such humdrum lives, with no miracles, and few great achievements for God? They DON'T walk by faith!

Be it literal or figurative, mountains can move, if God promised you it would, and you speak to that obstacle accordingly (Mk. 11:23) When you SPEAK thusly, others see that as insane! But just LOOK at the heroes of our faith, and how they spoke and acted, when they had faith (Heb. 11, espec. vv. 13-15).

Their words didn't magically cause miracles, but allowed God to do them, as evidence to others of their faith in Him. Are you doing anything that requires a miracle for it to occur? Then you don't require faith to do what you do. God delights in doing miracles, for His glory shines through them, as how else could it have happened, and others see that, and rightly give Him the credit.

Faith-walking can be as basic as praying for a parking spot. I used to go to a busy dentist, where parking was either 75 cents, or $6. The cheap slots were always most fought over. I can't recall but one time I didn't get a space, or but one time I didn't pray for it beforehand.

If you are walking/living in your own strength/power, or understanding, you are living in the flesh/carnal/sin nature! You are to 100 percent rely 100 percent of the time on God living through you (Gal. 2:20).

Let's go over why any Christian would choose this lifestyle, negative and positive. On the negative side, you are sinning, your choices will be judged, and you can't please God otherwise! EXTRA trials unnecessary suffering (i.e., bad consequences), sickness, and even premature death can result from living on your own, vs. in submission to Jesus (I Cor. 10:5-11, 11:30; Heb. 3:11). MANY negative consequences are listed in chapter 10 (of I Cor.) from Old Testament saints who wouldn't walk with God on His terms of faith!

In Heb. 3 is described faith rest. God rested from creating on the seventh day, but the effects of His creating lasted/continued. You can be on near auto-pilot (NOT sinless perfection, but an easy vs. heavy burden) if you learn to faith walk, and enter that rest (Mt. 11:30; I Jn. 5:4) Obeying laws and rules is HARD and heavy. Obeying Christ through His word, by His Spirit, is much easier, as it's natural to your new man and new nature—it's your identity in Christ!

If you want to learn more about how a Christian is to live, once they're saved, please read WillYouLiveForever.org. It's NOT fancy, but it's the best of the Bible!

HUMAN RIGHTS (& WRONGS)

(10/3/18)

Let's discuss human rights and repressive regimes. Communists don't accept religion, but common sense, logic and natural law right vs. wrong itself teach that citizens NEED to be free from government oppression. NOT free to do wrong, or crimes, or to be a threat to GOOD politicians—I said GOOD ones!

Governments NEED to make lives better, safe, healthy, prosperous and peaceful for their people. If they do NOT, they are FAILures. And they NEED to do so with the least amount of force necessary. Politicians who DON'T trust their people show such distrust by trying to control citizens by fearful tactics.

Of course, groups organized to overthrow GOOD leaders are BAD, but BAD leaders should NOT stand! You have to understand good from bad. It's GOOD to be for human rights, and BAD to treat people as slaves, inferiors, or objects for state oppression. Governments are only as good as the deeds of government agents!

Here's a list of "human rights" <https://bit.ly/2zPvAd8> Humans have a right to live lives where they can be and do what fulfills them, within the bounds of GOOD vs. bad laws. If any people are controlled by evil rulers, those rulers NEED to be thrown out, as peacefully as possible! It ALL starts with political leaders doing GOOD, not bad.

Making your life amazing, as your people suffer, is NOT good. Robbing public treasuries, or keeping the people dumbed-down is NOT good. Citizens fearful of government is NOT good. Over-punishment is NOT, either. Favoring certain people, by government, is NOT good.

Lying to the people is NOT good. Forbidding their travel (except to organize evil ends, like terrorism, or overthrows of good governments) is NOT good. Forbidding people marrying, or speaking their minds, or being friends with whomever they choose is NOT good.

One entity as judge and jury, accuser and punisher, is NOT good! People have a right to be treated right by their government. Labor camps for political dissenters are NOT good! Killing gays for being gay is NOT good. Forbidding citizens owning things is NOT good. Forcing political leaders on the people, without any say by them, is NOT good! ONLY do good!

Abusive working conditions, or forcing kids to work (vs. get educated) is NOT good! Treating people differently, vs. equally, is NOT good. Killing political dissenters, or enemies, is EVIL! Torturing people, or making them slaves, is EVIL. Controlling who enters your country is NOT evil.

Allowing people to vote, have fair trials in court, and NOT be unlawfully detained, or arrested are good things! Government officials hoarding natural resources and national treasuries is EVIL! Living like a king, when your people suffer in poverty, is EVIL.

Good vs. evil is NOT a hard distinction to make—they are 100 percent OPPOSITE! Starving people is NOT good. Unemployed people is NOT good. Uneducated people is NOT good. People lacking food, housing and basic healthcare is NOT good. People unable to travel, by government edict, is BAD.

State documents making rulers empowered, indefinitely, or for a long time, is BAD, because they have to deserve to rule; it's NOT a right, unrelated to their behaviors! These premises have mentioned NOTHING concerning religion. They are universally understood by people who can think, have life experience, and know history. It's mere common sense, though not always common practice. If so, CHANGE YOUR WAYS!

Treating any politician as a god to be worshipped, or a father of people NOT his biological offspring, is well-intentioned, but NOT good. NO nation's leader is any better or superior to any 'common' citizen. You are just another human; nothing more, nothing less. Humbly SERVE your people!

Background to that brief message is watching the Michael Palin in North Korea documentary, and Inside North Korea: Then and Now. EVERY nation has EVERY right and need to seek to get EVERY other nation to abide by these common sense principles!; NOT to overthrow anyone, but to give them even longer careers, because they do good! Duh 101.

The everyday people of Russia, China, North Korea, Cuba, Iran, Venezuela, and any nation ruled by dictators, no matter how benevolent they may be, at times, NEED to peacefully rise up to demand good leadership. Even repressive regimes in Arab lands... anywhere the people aren't free to be free, and good!

Forbidding citizens leaning the truth, or accessing information from outside state run media sources is NOT good. Propaganda is BAD. Brain-washing people, educating students to believe lies concerning history... ALL these things are evil. Hiring minders to lie and spin in what they tell outsiders is EVIL/BAD.

Training citizens to group-think sheep-ism, forbidding criticism, policing private associations, jailing dissenters... these are EVIL things! Promoting any one human, by statues, images, billboards, etc., are an evil idolizing of one 'leader.' It may benefit that leader, but that's NOT leadership, but forcing people to value you highly, vs. their coming to that evaluation based on honest assessments of your words and deeds.

Citizens deserve to vote for who leads them! Childbirth from a leader with her spouse is NOT a qualifying trait for generational regimes! Ability to lead and qualifications are NEEDED!

Laws passed NEED to be just, or you can expect them to be violated, or your having riots or rebellions on your hand, dictator or not. You do not have a right to rule for life, or your family, or to dip your hand into the public dole/treasury, just because you have power!

This even applies in Britain, logically. By that I mean there's NO logical reason for dynasties. Legally can be different, but laws NEED to be fair, logical and moral. Even the royal family HAS to live up to moral standards, or their people will reject a monarchy, over time. EVERY government has to run fairly and morally, with logic, from experience.

EVEN America needs to have just leaders. Partiality, favoritism, bias and prejudice are EVIL, in ALL our political shenanigans. NO nation is above these prescriptions, democracies or otherwise. If yours is NOT just to the people, do everything in your power to oppose them, violence as a last resort.

When does evil become a legal prohibition? Cultures differ, but when society decides certain acts are crimes—small or great. Murder and rape seem to be universally great evils, prohibited, as with armed robberies. There are many other evils laws DON'T forbid, like cussing, greed and arrogance.

But just because laws don't forbid acts doesn't mean they should be engaged in. Everyone should be trying to be better, every day, and relying on government laws to determine your right from wrong is a very wrong way of thinking and living! You have a conscience, and know how you like to be treated. Obey those guidelines!

I AM
(9/9/18)

I just did a two-a-day jog! I'm SO happy with my old, fat self. On the way, this 'message' hit me (because I saw several political yard signs)... the two words, "I am" are, psychologically and metaphysically, two of the most powerful word combinations in our language, because what comes next is usually permanent, or innate.

I am a Texan, tall, heavy, male, creative (you get the picture). God's name Himself is I am (YHWH), and every good attribute follows, permanently. So when you say I am a Republican (or Democrat), that third word has weight, though it should not have the weight we give it, being associated with the two key words.

Many moons ago, I had lunch with a Democrat U.S. House candidate, who asked me which party I was going to run for? I answered, "that's the point!" I was undecided, at the time, because party doesn't matter, if party stands for GOOD principles!

He had been a pastor, and a GOP, until he challenged Mr. Barton, but when he lost, Joe invited him to a cushy dinner event in D.C., and got him back in the boat (guess his opponent was no longer a 'womanizing drunkard?').

It's EMBARRASSING, the last time I spoke with him, how he could so praise the GOP, and say he's a Robert Jeffress type GOP, when at my first political chat with him, he couldn't agree with coat hanger abortions, and knew we needed to love gays. His loyalty was NOT to principles, or even to party, but to career. That's NOT something I respect!

So when I read yard signs, "Conservative," you've got to know where you're running! To say "liberal," in Texas, would kill your chances, but one GOP's sign just said "Republican." Smart. Even the local Democrat pol I recently advised had to cater to our living in a rich area. I told him, in Texas, oil reigns, government is bad, and few care about renewable energy, or programs for the poor, or things he could say in a poorer area of town. He agreed.

But where this gets to 'I am' is when pastors DRAG Jesus' reputation (and name) in the mud, to brag they're "conservative." On the negative side of the ledger, here's what that means Jesus is supposedly/allegedly (and inaccurately/wrongly) for: Greed, selfishness, the poor remaining so (because the poor you have with you always), NO entitlements, always lower taxes (even with government's bills totalling $22 trillion), ending five federal agencies, including the IRS (so NO ONE can administer the funds we mail in for taxes), commercial animal abuse, polluting at will (if profit comes from doing so), and banning child labor law prohibitions.

On the other extreme, 'I AM a progressive/liberal' means climate change is 100 percent proven, and as bad as a Nazi invasion, animals get court room legal rights, snail darters can hold up construction/development, public access water needs to be so good that it competes with bottled water, taxes can fund any good cause, and are rarely too high, the rich are society's enemies, the poor are champions (for being poor), killing a baby in the womb is considered moral, aberrant sexuality is O.K., if not celebrated, and whites brought all the ills of U.S. society.

WHAT IF YOU ARE NONE-OF-THE-ABOVE "I am's?" You could default for 'I am an independent,' but what does that mean, and how can your group ever win power, with that approach? Saying 'I am a moderate' usually means I have no set positions, and just go along with majority votes, to keep a lucrative career. HOW ARE ANY OF THESE OPTIONS ACCEPTABLE TO ANYONE? They should NOT be!

Take the good, and reject the bad! There's good and bad in every interest group. But, worst of all negatives are "CHRISTIANS" acting like God is a "conservative." They don't even have the intelligence, or honesty, to differentiate social, political or theological conservative! That's NOT like God, "pastors."

The dictionary defines 'conservative' as 'holding to traditional attitudes and values, and cautious about change or innovation, typically in relation to politics or religion.' That means status quo. Status quo is GREAT, if conditions are perfect. News flash: They AREN'T. Please get these concepts in your head!

I am a principled centrist, open to good ideas from any source. If you can't memorize that small phrase, when anyone asks what political party you're of, you have no backbone. You DO have to be part of a party, to run, and often to vote, but NEVER be a company man who buys all the rhetoric, hook, line and sinker—a sheep, rubber stamp, dupe, slave. Think for yourself.

There are MANY good things of the GOP and Dem party. Moderates are great at finding consensus, and independents are smart enough to be aloof from the heated fights between the two main parties. There's GOOD everywhere you look, so LOOK!!!

One more: That's called being OBJECTIVE, honest, truthful, accurate, factual. Benjamin Franklin made decisions with a 'T' bar you learn in accounting: Assets and liabilities. Being objective means you list each party's positives and negatives, then decide which candidate and positions have more positives you are for. DUH.

And bad compromise is where both sides lose important things, just to get a bill passed. Good compromise is win-win, or where both gain something important, but lose getting their ideal, and America as a whole wins. Never let any conservative demean the term "compromise," as there are two types!

IDENTITY POLITICS & MILLENNIALS

(Unpublished; 9/4/18)

DO YOU KNOW which political faction bemoans and demeans what they refer to as “identity politics?” It is the far right conservative. They and their pundits suggest singling out any particular group, with common needs and interests, means one is dividing up our supposedly completely united nation.

But let’s look at that, for a moment. Certainly, many issues we all share in common... having a good economy and jobs, quality education, safe communities, a strong national defense, lower national debt, efficient streets and healthy water to drink and air to breath.

But every “demographic” (a fancy word that also segregates clumps of similarly-situated citizens) has unique needs, or at least more intense degrees of needs and wants, than others. After all, that’s what local and regional politics are all about!

You wouldn’t expect New York or California to vote exactly like Texas, nor would Houston vote just like Austin. We have different need and interests. So just because political pundits can throw shade on the term, identifying needs and wants of unofficially organized interests groups (‘constituencies’) does not mean a person is doing evil, but actually serving the public interest in that specific zone/area/venue. Take, for instance, the stereotypical black vs. white, rich vs. poor, female (and non-religious) vs. abortion-hating religious, blue vs. white collar, youth vs. elderly, and what have you. We sometimes differ in our aspirations for government policies!

The elderly, often, are on fixed income, with fewer hopes or opportunities to continue working, as many are retired. Their concerns would not be exactly shared by Millennials, who are just starting out in the job market! They want Social security stable, not cut back, prices, overall, to remain constant, to be safe, have healthcare, taxes not to encroach even more to their limited monthly checks and nest eggs, and their life circumstances bear little resemblance to that of their polar opposite citizens.

For Millennials, they desire affordable college (and housing/apartments), reasonable student loan interest rates, and especially good job opportunities for good-paying jobs. They probably are wise enough to be able to read the tea leaves and see the handwringing on the wall that their retirement is going to much more be in their own hands, and may even begrudge paying into Social security, to immediately fund retirees, not necessarily their grandparents.

The rich person often wants low taxes, and they want to benefit from the fruits of their labors, and often consider themselves better at efficiently and effectively spending money in their businesses than Uncle Sam seems to be able to do at any government level. The poor, on the other hand, haven’t the resources to seek protection of, by government, and may, at times, even seek redress from government of the conditions some business practices may have visited upon them.

My point is that politicians receiving votes from these differently-situated voters must address good policies which solve problems, for the people in their community. And for anyone to act like America doesn’t have these competing interests, and that we are all simply focused on national matters we all share in common, is an urban legend myth.

'I'M A CONSERVATIVE'
(Christian, & on the right political issues)
(9/12/18)

Combing through talk radio, their DJ's CAN'T understand why everyone hates CHUMP, and is mad at those who voted for him. DO THEY SUFFER AMNESIA? READ this, in its entirety, and grow a memory concerning who started all the ill-will, do-dos!: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> AS IF he never did or said it, and is a saint and scholar. Relatedly...

Confessions of a life-long Republican: I've been a GOP "since birth." I voted for Reagan, both Bushes, Romney and McCain, probably even Dole, at some point (but also Perot). I have NEVER pulled a lever for a Democrat, until CHUMP's win made me change parties.

Let me address "conservatives," as I was a talk radio listener from the late 1980s until 2016. I STILL maintain a good economy, strong defense, low debt and as low taxes as are needed are BEST for America. I'm for USA #1/patriotism, love people to be self-sufficient, and listened to Rush Limbaugh MOST of his career.

So why am I SO hard on them, now? Have I changed? NO! Their embrace of Chump's ignorance and immorality is a BETRAYAL of GOP as the claimed party of thought over emotion, values, the religious right (which I'm still avidly Nin, and have been since the Reagan days, as I have been a Christian since 1967), and consistent principles 'we' once believed in.

The only two (or so) major matters I disagree with for conservative policy are wanting to end all entitlements, especially Welfare, and wanting to ban all abortions, so not even in the three exception cases would medical expertise exist.

But those two matters aren't enough to have made me move away from the party that first moved away from me! It is THESE specific things that I will NEVER let myself or my kids get away with—MUCH LESS, the formerly respected and dignified holder of the highest position in our great land: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> YOU made that!

I criticized Obama whenever I thought he made bad policy decisions, but I will NEVER entertain any consideration of Chump as a real president, because of that list! EVERYONE has their toleration limits! Our laws do, too. You and your wife have limits on how much abuse you'd take (like from an employer, or rowdy neighbors, or bullies to your kids, or even out of control kids).

You Trump voters had no bottom, so you scraped the bottom of the barrel of 17! 16 others with MORE morals and mental acuity (look that definition up, if Chump never uses such terms). YOU sold your soul for power, and look what it has done to our great nation!

For any good he has done, I was for policies he enacted WELL before he even thought of them, so NO credit, to me, for his doing the obvious things, like defeating ISIS, controlling our borders, lower business taxes, middle class tax cuts, and ending any regulations harmful to business, that didn't endanger consumers or workers.

The man had ONE main policy agenda, before he won: Build a 50' wall Mexico would pay for. That is outright STUPIDITY, and MANY conservatives threw all claimed values and principles out the window, to elect a disgrace.

I did NOT vote for Hillary (AKA, HRC), but all GOP's but tRump. SCOTUS picks by HRC could have been steered by that vast majority GOP wins, had NOT voting for Chump made her president. Under NO circumstances does a "Christian" sacrifice morals for power, even for saving babies in the womb, and even at the expense of HRC going completely crazy with radical policies.

IF we truly believe God's in control, He can fix any situation, often through human instrumentality. But He NEVER says sacrifice morals to achieve morally good ends. So I changed parties.

My main point is that I don't have policy objections to any good conservative policies, or moderate, or liberal. 'Good' is NOT hard to define, if you're objective. It's ONLY when you get bias/partial/blinded, and worship power and parties, that you can't identify good public policy when you see it. Are you blind, voter?

HOWEVER, if you voted for Chump, not because 'the establishment' was doing little-to-nothing (something I clamored against WELL before tRump—documented!), because you SUPPORT, and are willing to reward a philanderer, serial adulterer, fondler, serial liar, and the many sinful traits exhibited in our prior-referenced Facebook argument, you aren't Republican!

NO OTHER candidate for president will EVER—anytime soon—be allowed to get away with the things YOU let Chump do and say. The SHAME, guilt before God, and accountability falls in your lap, alone! I'm NOT saying HRC was a strong candidate who had stellar ideas, but she was FAR more moral, and that is foundational!

And you're WELCOME to raise Bills affair(s), White Water, Benghazi, email servers, 'deplorables,' not home baking cookies, pants suits, and all your other gripes, but NO human running for president will equal my Facebook list of blatant offenses, yet YOU chose to reward and empower the beast in the White House! #OwnIt #OwnUpToIt And, repent!

IMMIGRATION IDIOCIES?

(10/30-31/18)

Birthright citizenship applies to people under U.S. Constitutional jurisdiction, legally. You are not a U.S. citizen by coming across the border illegally. Come legally, and enjoy all the benefits! Dismantling a fake argument against birthright citizenship <https://bloom.bg/2qjk7N7>

At the very same time, immigration laws need to be changed to make the process easier and cheaper, for any poorer people our nation and its economy needs (like refugees, skills for jobs Americans won't do). We can't support all who want in, yet the rich should have no easier U.S. access!

It's a privilege, not a right, to become a U.S. citizen. Americans don't force their way into other nations to become citizens. Every nation has policies for admission and control who immigrates. That's every nation's right, as is their nation. That's not evil, it's rational! #Sovereignty

It's as WRONG to seek votes via illegal immigration as seeking to delay whites becoming minority by wanting Norway immigrants! Immigration should ONLY relate to what skills our economy needs, or persecuted refugees we can absorb.

U.S. has taken on MANY newcomers the past 20 years, and it takes time for culture to assimilate them all! Immigration without assimilation is an invasion! —Gov. Bobby Jindal The Bible DOES speak of how to treat the "foreigner," but the wisdom it also teaches wouldn't say open our borders to all who want in, as that could end our nation; we're very popular!

WHY are there ZERO caravans from America to any other nations? Because our ancestors built an amazing nation most anyone would love to live in! Rather than try to force your way in here (Lk. 16:16), make your own nation good, and depose all politicians who don't achieve that end!

And DACA should be the law of the land, because birthed (vs. unbirthed birthright babies) Dreamers were innocent in their parents' illegality, being under age, and after awhile (three years?) people get established, and it's wrong to uproot them for the sins of their parents' years back. #Immigration

My second "Middle East" friend just asked me if the U.S. military is 'gonna shoot people on the border. The obvious answer is NO, but you show a physical presence, physically force them not to trespass, even if tasers get threatened (or, God forbid, used)! He agreed, as it took him much effort to come here, in money, time, and paperwork

Pure LOGIC says if a person illegally trespasses/breaks into your nation, to birth a baby so it can become an American, you are rewarding and encouraging law-breaking! I look forward to a SCOTUS debate on the original intent of the 14th Amendment! NO laws are written to encourage their breaking!

People who DON'T oppose the caravan seeking to force their way into our land: Would you if they were 100K in number? One million? Three billion? There IS a limit to what our economy NEEDS, and we, like EVERY other nation, have a RIGHT to determine who gets to enter. LEGALLY immigrate, or there's no room in the inn!

IF Americans want to stop the illegal immigration pressures, STOP sending foreign aid UN-tied to making economic improvements to such nations, and letting it get funneled to politicians and their military cronies. If they don't use it for good causes, for the people's good, CUT IT OFF!

Update #1: Immigration Standards

(11/27/18)

In immigration, you HAVE to have standards. We cannot let everyone in who wants in, and you don't reward people trying to force themselves in (trespassing)! As well, you can't block everyone from entering! The standard is if our economy needs them, and they don't take jobs Americans want! Refugees deserve mercy, but can't be a drain on the system.

Our economy NEEDS immigrants with skills U.S. businesses need, and can't find in America, or hire elsewhere! We even need poor people, who work, where there are labor shortages! It's NOT about race, nationality, or wealth, but does America need your skills! Past immigrants came here to make a better life, by hard work!

IF people the world over had a paid trip to America, and America allowed in everyone who wanted in, even liars who claimed to be religious or violence or discrimination refugees, ALL Americans' jobs would pay less, as would be our opportunities! Labor excess trickles up the wage decline, so U.S.A. loses.

People born in America OUGHT to have an advantage in their own nation, over people coming to America! Most Americans are NOT 'gonna leave the motherland for a career, and it's unpatriotic to our own citizens to favor people who were born in another nation, which nations' economies need improving by their politicians!

If nationality ever had anything to do with immigration (it shouldn't—only if our economy needs you), it would need to be balanced, with no favoring, or over-acceptance of any specific type of people groups! America is welcoming to newcomers, but we can't over-flood our workforce, or only businesses win—NOT the people!

Update #2: American Assimilation

(11/30/18)

Citizenship classes surely teach new immigrants the basics of U.S. civics, the Constitution and our government, but assimilation goes beyond academic understanding. IF first generation Americans were to 'get' the U.S.A., they'd learn first come first served, left lane is for faster cars, Protestant work ethic, English is the language we historically speak, obey the laws, respect cops, pay your taxes, vote, our heroes are the military (who sacrifice more than the rest of us), public education is free (K-12), to succeed, get an education.

They'd learn pride that they're in the greatest nation known to man; they'd learn about Edison, Ford, Carnegie, Rockefeller, MLK, Washington, Lincoln, Elvis, Babe Ruth, civil rights, Civil War, put in an honest day's work, enjoy your freedoms (as government serves 'we the people'), you can be anything you set your mind to be, freedom of religion, mow your lawn, clean your car occasionally, and keep it maintained, Hollywood entertainment is world-class.

They'd know the landmarks of the country (like the Statue of Liberty, Mt. Rushmore, the Hoover Dam and Grand Canyon, etc.); they may learn of Route 66 (of old), how you're allowed a gun (for self-defense and hunting); they'd appreciate our road systems, the Pilgrims (Nina, Pinta and Santa Maria), and hear of Davy Crockett, 'remember the Alamo,' Vietnam, World War 1 and 2, Silicon Valley, and ours being the most innovative nation in history; a no caste social structure, nor dowrys, keep PDA to a minimum (i.e., public displays of affection), Ivy League and the value of college, holidays (like the fourth of July, Halloween, Christmas, Easter, Memorial Day, etc.), the Star Spangled Banner, the pledge of allegiance, our pride in breaking from the Brits (at our founding), 1776, George Washington Carver, Dolly madison, Wall Street, Bill Gates, Warren Buffett and Steve Jobs, the assembly line, dot com bubble, S and L crisis, 2008 bailouts, 9-11, school shootings, the Iraq War, Nixon's fall, JFK's assassination; McDonalds, KFC, the merger and acquisition Big Box craze (Wal-Mart, Lowes, CVS, etc.), small town parades, flag waving (and proper use protocol), Arlington cemetery, the five branches of our military, overtime, work safety rules and breaks, minimum wage, our safety net, man landing on the moon (Neil Armstrong, et al), Coke, baseball, apple pie, NFL, NBA, MLB, Super Bowl, Mardi Gras, Las Vegas, famous American rock bands, bathe (or shower) most every day (and use deodorant), and a few other basics of Americana.

Update #3: Mexico-Paid Border Wall?

(12/20/18)

I have ALWAYS been for 100 percent control of our U.S. border, but by a virtual wall, vs. a scenery-blocking, unneeded and archaic physical one people can fly or bounce over, scale (with the right technology), or burrow under. Sensors, lasers, drones with GPS, helicopters; electric fence (if necessary—not preferred).

Even with a wall Mexico was to pay for (always a lie!), you have to have our paid border patrol to monitor breaches. Why not beef them up with the highest tech cameras, rapid response vehicles, and binoculars and satellite images that detect attempted break-ins well before they happen (like the recent caravan). Don't ruin the scenery, as it's NOT necessary!

If Chump got his wall, boats can float around it, you can go to Canada and drop (or break-) in from the north, you could scale it with a rope ladder shot with catching hooks (at the wall's top), tunnel under, fly over (by powered parachute), smuggle in through legal access points, and invent bouncy trampoline technology, to get over it, if no border patrol is used.

Even illegal planes can let parachuters exit right over Chump's border, at night. NO wall ends U.S.'s need for paid personnel, so why waste the money on a physical wall that ruins the scenery, when virtual technology exists to keep them out, without ruining the sites? That's a draconian solution to a modern problem; dumb as a duck!

You'd expect more creative human smuggling hidden compartments in cars and 18-wheelers at U.S. border entries, with Chump's wall. Maybe even a rush of hundreds, as, without shooting, our ports of entry couldn't stop them all! The answer is better laws on who we let in, strictly enforced.

At night, illegal U.S. trespassers could drill into a metal border wall, to insert foot/hand pegs to climb over! Drug cartels could invent powerful suction cups for hands and feet, to scale the wall. And Mexico isn't paying for it, even as we have a $22 trillion debt that conservatives USED to care about ('fiscal responsibility').

A virtual wall would be monitored at central command, for any human breaches, by live cameras, and heat-sensing imagery, at night (we have all this technology already, including night vision). Drones could be flown, to warn in Spanish, then helicopters arrive to seize violators, once trucks later arrive. DUH.

If a YUGE band crossed, use many drones, multiple helicopters, and perhaps arm the drones with Tasers, to incapacitate them (NOT harm them, as Ben Carson said to 'ARM' drones!), until trucks and personnel arrived. Nets can be shot to capture fleeing folk, via drones. Technology can do that, already, with African wild life! DUH

The actual legal entry ways would become the center of illegal activity, if a rock solid virtual wall were built. Fresh air, food and water-accessible compartments would be made to house single violators, especially for drug running. Anyone can rent a flying motorcycle, and one of the two persons jump over the wall.

We even have jet pack mockups. Mules can rent them, teach illegal immigrants to use them, and have them brought back south of the border by legal transport, for the next violator. Tunnels would pop up in the hundreds, with silencers placed on their drilling equipment. Border patrol is ALWAYS needed!

Trampolines of people in Zorbs may be possible, with refinements to modern technology, to go around Chump's wall. Propel people high enough, and the Zorb absorbs the fall, if cushioned much more (vs. hollow on the inside), more like an air bag. Determined people succeed, without Border Patrol forces to keep them out.

And the poor, whose skills we (i.e., USA) need, have to have a much faster and cheaper legal immigration process. Same with refugees, in conjunction with the U.N., so all nations do their fair share—NOT overburdening select nations. And NO social services for free! You didn't pay in, and no moochers are welcome in the U.S.A!

IMMIGRATION OR INFILTRATION?

(10/17/18)

You send them back to wait elsewhere, for available processing! You NEVER let ANYONE in, unauthorized. #EnforceTheLaw ICE forced to release illegal immigrants 'out of the front door' in Arizona amid space crunch, migrant surge <https://fxn.ws/2pX07ja>

If ICE has to, they use a bullhorn, in a language understood, and tell flooding immigrants there is no room in the inn, for now, and you'll have to go elsewhere, until you can be seen. Armed border patrols should be physically protecting these entry points from floods of trespassers!

Was I EVER for a border wall? NO. Was I for 100 percent U.S. control of U.S. borders? YES, so only legal immigrants and those our economy needs come in. How are these reconciled? I suggested using lasers, cameras, sensors, drones, AWACS and helicopters, but NOT a literal, but virtual wall Mexico would never pay for (as I noted, way back when)!

Forget stifling incentives to come to America. You have to streamline immigration proceedings, and make it cheaper for poorer people we want in! Then, all others aren't allowed in, until our economy ever needs them. Bring in too many, and you harm Americans. I've said this for about four years; one of the first to say so, provable by past tweet date-stamps!

I mocked Ben Carson speaking of armed drones. But you do use drones to know where border breaks occur, and you have to have a quick response team. You don't kill people, but you can shoot your weapons in the air, and forcibly remove trespassers, if people resist U.S. laws, as rebels, vs. being patient for processing! Duh 101.

Democrats NEED to realize that over-immigration HURTS Americans, and they can WIN elections without encouraging law-breaking! Better ideas rule the day, not stooping to supporting crimes, to get voters! You RIGHTLY lose when you don't put Americans first, in America, and mercy as a secondary value. These have been MY ideas, WAY BEFORE Chump (tweet date-stamp provable)!

EVERYONE wants a better life. America doesn't owe the world admittance! Get your own country working right. Don't bring us down to lift others up! Refugees and the persecuted, America helps (i.e., aid) but if our economy doesn't need them here, that may be the sum of it. The U.S. government is for U.S. citizens.

I'm ALL for immigrants, if you enter legally, and your services are needed. I'm against any American making less, or losing a job because someone wanted a better life, at his/her expense. That is NOT what it means to be a government of, by and for the people of America! I'm also for America aiding other nations! It's a balance.

If U.S. foreign policy saw the value of future ally expansion, by advising other poorer nations on how to improve their economies, America would NOT have this flood of immigrants problem on their hands and doorsteps. Everyone likes a free ride to the Emerald City, but our border is NOT the yellow brick road! There are rules!

There is infrared technology to identify border breaches. Walls ruin the scenery, in many cases. GPS and satellites show illegal movements. Equip drones with bullhorns, and threaten continued violators that armed personnel are coming (and use helicopters to do so).

When I was in Big Bend, a drone flew overhead, and our tour guide noted its facial recognition technology and camera, about 20 feet above us. I even saw a ~13 foot drone (missile-shaped) in my back yard, about a year ago.

If manpower has the speed to get to border breaks, you can stop trespassers. Tasers, an electric fence, or moles with alligators would be too drastic (though some have suggested such)!

Penalize law-breakers! If someone tries to break into America, illegally, fine or jail them, then deport them! If they come legally, welcome aboard! If that's too costly or complex, make it easier for the ones we need.

I had a nanny who didn't see her husband, much, for FIVE years, because it costs time and money to come to America!

WHO in their right mind can say someone swimming across the Rio Grande (as me and my two sons did in Big Bend, where one year in jail and an up to $20,000 fine could have been imposed by Mexico, if we had gotten caught, I was told) DESERVES to be treated the same as my sweet nanny? ONLY a fool!
LOGICAL #Immigration

IS GOD A CONSERVATIVE?

(9/28/16)

Christians are supposed to care about morals, in every arena of life, including politics and economic theory. Sadly, I can't say we're always consistent often!

In a year where Christians are divided over supporting Mr. Trump, mainly for the conservative Supreme Court (SCOTUS) justices he might pick if elected, let's address whether conservatism itself is a theory Christians are to be 100 percent beholden to...

God doesn't approve of Christians being ignorant or believing lies (Pv. 1:22, 2:1-5, 3:13-15, 4:7-8, 20-23, 5:1; I Tim. 4:7 Jas. 1:16), so let's dispel the MYTH that God is a political conservative!

Who has ever claimed that? It's explicit when WASP pastors imply to church members if they're 'GOOD' people they'll always vote GOP.

Conversely, the same rebuke is deserved by any black church pastors who say the opposite. God is for all good and against all bad policies!

Here's something to consider if you're a Christian and a political conservative. You may exalt the Constitution higher than God's word!

Conservatives love to claim that the Constitution's based 100 percent on Judeo-Christian values, so being for it is being a good Jew or Christian.

But let's examine that claim in detail. When you consider that the Jewish nation in the Old Testament was God's model for mankind (if and when they followed His commandments; and only then), they are analogized in the New Testament by the church (if and when they follow His commandments; and only then).

In the coming Millennium (the 1,000 year literal reign of Jesus on earth), things will be more 'Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven' than now! (Mt. 6:10)

However, even though sin will increase before its arrival (Mt. 24:12), it's believers (above all others) who should be tirelessly working to make society more like Paradise than Paradise lost!

In that vein, and knowing the Bible trumps the Constitution in a believer's personal life, and knowing that, as citizens, we have a right and duty to not only obey our nations laws, but also to work to make our nation better, including our laws (though not living in a theocracy), what does the Bible teach on a more ideal culture, or as our Constitution calls it, "a more perfect union?"

Only within the bounds of our laws, it's HARD to say God is ONLY for conservative political theories, even though many white Christians adhere to conservatism like it were their god.

Where exactly might there be some discrepancies with that view? First, wherever moderates or liberals have any policies that conform to godliness, like achieving worthy ends vs. only gridlock, not polluting at will for profit, not abusing animals for profit, humane safety nets (if never over-helping or creating dependence), not favoring the rich by government policies (Levit. 19:15), and a host of other positions we detail in our three political books.

So where exactly does a Christian go wrong believing he's holy unto God being a political conservative? We've already addressed the abortion issue (see our message dated 9/28/16).

What about Welfare—the key hot spot? Does God teach it's evil to force taxpayers to help the poor? Jews' (by analogy) Levitical "tithes" included support for the poor.

Church donations in America do NOT nearly as often, as we have outsourced that function to government and charities.

So to argue against Welfare (which few conservatives have the courage to say, but often mean) is hypocritical, unless you believe charities alone can solve the problem.

Would charitable donations be stable enough or in amounts enough to ensure no American dies or suffers severe poverty with no TEMPORARY help? It's possible, but it's also possible the answer may be 'NO,' at times.

Even if conservatives find NO Welfare potentiality in the Constitution's 'health' and 'general welfare' clause(s), SCOTUS has not deemed Welfare UN-constitutional.

And on what bases can committed (vs. selfishly sinful) Christians agree with that conclusion? Consider the following...

It was the sinful (vs. holy) attitude of Cain who asked, 'am I my brother's keeper?' (Gen. 4:9)

The parable of the Good Samaritan teaches us that all men are our brothers and sisters. (Lk. 10:25-27)

II Cor. 8:14 teaches that with the church as a model entity, the excess of some should help alleviate the suffering of others.

Gal. 6:2 and 5 also teach a balance of helping others and personal responsibility—NOT one without the other.

Phil. 2 exemplifies the disciple mindset of denying self, and exalting others as more important than yourself.

Even the mega church in Ac. 2:44 exemplified a people who didn't let anyone fall through the cracks, though a voluntary unity.

And on the rich paying a higher percent in taxes, part of which help pay for Welfare, look at Lk. 12:48. Jesus' entire ministry was focused on the down-and-outs; it's the haves and the elites that usually bore were the brunt of His scorn, and if you're honest in your Bible evaluation, there are more verses warning the rich of its dangers than any WASP sermon usually lets on!

These verses alone indicate a society which cares for all, not in an all-inclusive "nanny state" way, but with a minimum safety net (be it unemployment insurance, Social Security, workers' rights, Medicare, etc.) that is NOT evil, even if conservatives despise such as "unconstitutional."

Snap-on (vs. twist on) bottles of condiments/spices. Space Needle of San An, Seattle and Toronto to Six Flags (panoramic scenery). Speak-to computer (tell commands vs. use mouse or keyboard, or option to do both, geared for speed). Sprinkler systems designed to keep a structure soaked, when under attack of a wildfire. Storm-resistant umbrellas. Stretchable, retractable easy-access male underwear (for non-zippered, easy access in public rest rooms). Pray to receive Jesus for the forgiveness of ALL your sins (John 3:16). Swizzle ride at theme parks (roller coaster ascends, then twists wildly several times, on the way down). Synthetic marijuana that doesn't harm brain cells, but gets one a safe high. Tarp set-up and plastic rain run-off barriers for construction sites (to prevent lost work days, especially when at the ground/mud level). Technology to inform drivers how long until a stale green light will turn yellow. Television sets should be able to blot out chosen faces and voices (Ex.: offensive politicians interviews) inputted by the viewer. Temperature-adjusting bed. Temperature-adjusting tub. Tub and shower scrubber, spray, or pool-like skimmer, to clean scum. Twitter having live chat capacity with people you are interesting in speaking with).

Twitter having two (or customizable number of) pinned tweets. Underground ride at theme parks (Ex.: roller coaster through a dark/black tunnel). Water container de-molding technology (dries it out, or keeps it cool). With our society's ecology emphasis, I never understood why home trash compactors went out of style (perhaps a resurgence?). Why not an X-Games bike race on a glacier, or down a snow-packed ski mountain (if they don't already do so)? Why not one-time resurrect US world's fair showcasing best tech & home of future? Wild Mouse ride resurrected for theme parks (radical right turns).

Where else does political conservatism VARY from God, where we can't accuse Him of being 100 percent a conservative? Promoting acquiring wealth with little-to-no emphasis on give back! The Giving Pledge MIRRORS an attitude Jesus said depicted one who was saved! (Lk. 19:8-9)

A morally better society, with less problems and more opportunities for all costs money! Who best to pay more than those who have more than they'll ever need to surely make it to the end?

For that matter, conservatives' 'flat tax' proposals do NOT equally share the pain of taxation! Ten percent of not having enough to get by is NOT the same sacrifice as ten percent of a billionaire's largess!

And in many ways conservatism is often about the same as promoting worldliness and materialism—sins God does NOT approve Christians pursuing or condoning.

We've addressed the negatives of all political groups elsewhere many times, but I'm seeking here to get Christians to understand they often vote and take political action more from tradition, their flesh or their personal and selfish desires, than from seeking to glorify God in all decisions and all aspects of life.

Thanks for reading this with an open mind! And please remember, Christians, you are the only living testimony to the world of what Jesus is like.

Trashing His reputation is sometimes why lost people choose to go to Hell, as they see our hypocrisy on open display, and Jesus tears up in heaven, as His bride disappoints with the confidence they're being good political stewards of their sacred vote.

Am I saying to vote Democrat? No. I'm saying vote for godly positions and candidates, and if there aren't enough, become or recruit one, and demand the others to support morally and pragmatically 'good' policies. (Rom. 13:1-7) Vote for PRINCIPLES and good policies, and take a STAND for God, believers! It's your DUTY!

ChumpPastors brag that the GOP platform is the 'most conservative' EVER, AS IF the word conservative is a synonym for HOLY! It is NOT! How can you be SO deluded and biased? (11/3/16)

JUDGMENT

(12/12/16)

Sorry to be the bearer of bad news, but pastors are NOT going to deliver you from impending judgment, America! Let me fully explain, and explain why:

I've run into many who outright REJECT implementing Gods top priorities—they choose to refuse—a willful, knowing decision! I've had one who didn't, mainly on the number one priority.

One knew I was visiting his church that Sunday, and opened his sermon with, "we don't want anyone coming here to change our church; we're imperfect, but..."

Another knew I was visiting that Sunday (I USED to tell that here), and bragged he had a TV show, and sacrificed to have a big church, yet REFUSED to evangelize all nearby lost people.

Preach and be paid, church-as-a-business Churchianity is PREFERRED to doing 'EDBS' priorities, and they STILL give lip service prayers for 'revival.'

Some even backed Trump in the name of Jesus! Apostasy, and possibly wolves in sheep's clothing of Jude and II Peter false prophets to reject what God clearly teaches as top priorities! Judgment is CERTAIN! I don't know when, but it will NOT shock me when it comes!

THE method Jesus used to turn the world upside down with a handful of men is REJECTED by U.S. pastors, as with II Tim. 2:2 multiplication of the same!

Mt. 28:18-20 is taking the Gospel to ALL men, yet these famous ministers CHOOSE to have ZERO idea who's lost or saved nearest their church! Anathema.

I Cor. 12-14, Eph. 4, et al say that church is a family and a body, yet these men CHOOSE to be the main ~entertainment on the stage, as laymen are spectators and bench warmers.

No need for a spiritual gift to edify your fellow Christian in the one and only service a week where the family reunion occurs; WE will speak and sing; you listen and give and maybe sing. Anathema!

Then on social ministry, it all becomes scheduling your life and week around being at their religious retail shop—NOT 1:1.

Maybe sing. Anathema! Then on social ministry, it all becomes scheduling your life and week around being at their religious retail shop—NOT a 1:1, 24/7 walk with Jesus, founded upon daily meeting with Him.

TELL me how the church is impacting society for the good? Dents, drips and dribbles—USUALLY ignored. Token gestures. THIS is churchianity: Come to church an hour a week and your Christian life is good; don't come and it's bad.

Jesus didn't die for churchianity; nor did He found it. Man did, as a biz model of come and hear one hour a week; preach-and-be-paid. Anathema!

I will NOT be liked or supported by people who idolize that business model, and choose NOT to change it because their colleagues never do either, but it IS the truth, and God judges our choices.

I DON'T plan on warning much anymore; just proverbially sitting back and waiting for it to hit. They know, and have for nearly three years now. You were warned!

Biblically, judgment STARTS with God's people, before the nation. I'd expect that at any time. [Note: 'EDBS' is defined at our website and described in the Bible].

Pray for revival ALL you want; it's NOT going to happen! You're almost wasting your time to do so. You CHOOSE to reject God's ways for fame, numbers and money!

Bodies, bucks and buildings promoting songs, sermons and silver. Churchianity HAS NO POWER! CHRIST of Christianity DOES. Mt. 6:33 vs. your ways.

I gain ZERO money or fame saying that judgment is coming; I actually LOSE fellowship with some brethren. I DON'T CARE; it's going to happen no matter what I do or say.

A religious business/church can be VERY successful by MAN's standards, and a FAILURE by God's. (Rev. 3:17) That's our generation/church era described there, many scholars believe!

Amos preached judgment to Israel when she was fat and happy, and ripe for the picking, said Rev. Fred Haynes. Pride can blind you to sin's reality.

You see money and members and material buildings, and feel that's God's blessing you. It can be the Devil deceiving you if you're practicing churchianity and church-as-a-business.

I'll say again, HOPEFULLY for the LAST time—FIRE your pastor if he WON'T lead you to reach ALL nearby lost people in the next three years, or sooner, Christian laymen!

I also battled with one out-of-state pastor who LOVES the "tithing" doctrine applied to the church. That and Heb. 10:25 are their two key Churchianity proof texts. (Mal. 3:10)

READ II Cor. 8-9. DO YOU SEE "tithing"/ten percent in there? Get a Concordance and research that word in the New Testament. The three-to-five references total are historic or reproving evil Jewish leaders!

Grace and the Holy Spirit are Christ's standard for the church, yet churchianity pastors act like we are Jews in a theocratic government.

DON'T give one dime to any church whose pastor has NOT led his members to evangelize ALL nearby lost people ASAP! You're all but wasting your money and empowering evil.

SHUT DOWN your church services this weekend, and LEAD (physically start a march) your laymen to go evangelize neighbors, U.S. pastors! Will ONE? I have my doubts.

IF you need help, email me. If you need how-to's, preach 'On Hell' (at our website). If you fear turning off tithers, repent. If you don't want to lead, QUIT!

Twitter search "fire pastor evangelize asap" and "shut down church evangelize." We are no newbies to this call, and THOUSANDS of pastors saw it, mainly in 2014.

Linked-In said a stadium full inquired, and Twitter allowed us to see who came by with glitch if you followed no one. They got the message!

How long can a well-oiled machine run on fumes? The business of church can retain the appearance of success for a LONG time—members and money; NO power.

Why does this morning's message matter? You will live forever in hell or heaven. The ONLY people with the way to avoid hell usually won't tell you how!

And their "leaders" don't succeed at getting them to do so (Eph. 4; I Pet. 5, etc.). Good luck after you die! Charles Spurgeon would WARN you! READ John 3:16 today!

The grim reaper never schedules an appointment. Read the obituaries today, or visit a morgue. It's NOT all 90+ year olds! When's your day? Are you prepared for hell?

Fire, pain, weeping, wailing, suffering, no let-up, judgment, punishment, sadness, sorrow, confinement forever. DO YOU WANT THAT?

READ 'On Heaven' at our website. No rational person would reject that. If you don't believe the two places exist, READ more. Start with the book of John in the Bible!

Jesus physically walked our earth nearly 2,000 years ago. The NON-Bible evidence is astounding!
READ Josh McDowell's Evidence That demands a Verdict.

He lived perfect, spoke perfect, did miracles and perfectly fulfilled centuries old prophecies, and claimed to be God. What are you going to decide about Him?

He's coming back soon, but when He arrives it will be too late to save you from hell! You'll endure seven years of near hell on earth when the one-world dictator arrives on the scene.

That starts with his stealthily usurping three heads of state, most likely in the E.U., then brokers/negotiates a 7-year peace deal with Israel; then, watch out! Revelation 6-19 describe it all. THINK about it!

KAVANAUGH & THE EVANGELICAL WHITE HOUSE DINNER

(5/28/18)

Heretics CONTINUE to apostatize, and praise Chump! News Article: Why the Trump White House Is Hosting a Huge Dinner for Evangelicals Tonight

We've ALREADY exhausted political, logical and theological heresies and errors of Robert Jeffress' thinking about CHUMP coddling fake Christian votes! No need to re-hash. Just read every detail in our upcoming FREE book, Christians For Trump, at <http://AmericanAnswers.org>. Jeffress gets SKEWERED!

Update #1: Christian Cabal's Biblical Justification?

Let's, after all, address Jeffress' FOOLishness... To his ilk, "conservative" is a synonym for godly, and "moderate" means compromises with the Devil. He LITERALLY praises CHUMP for 100 percent of that term's policies, and says his support would wane if tRump ever moderated. The man is a FALSE PROPHET!

At the same time, I 100 percent understand the predicament certain compromises have put certain people in! With the temperament of their host, tonight, they're stuck between the proverbial rock and hard place. However, that's ALL from their own immoral decision of #SinToWin, and their 'the ends justify the means' support of the same!

Their Cyrus and Daniel Old Testament examples have NOTHING to do with modern Christendom. Jews NEVER voted for Pharaoh, nor any prophets rallied the/their troops to do so! Daniel was raised by God to be in political power influencing—NOT self-initiated and appointed schemes to stir up right-wing media, and layman votes! PERIOD. PERIOD. PERIOD!

Let's FURTHER analyze Jeffress' FOOLish post: Forsaking ALL morals, his ILK will support the DUMBest and LEAST moral president, because the man USES/manipulates them for votes (like a rapist), promising willingness to overturn Ro; that is, FORCE every pregnant woman to birth the kid, because they have NO convincing power with pregnant women!

If the condom breaks, FORCE NINE MONTH PREGNANCY! If birth control fails, FORCE NINE MONTH PREGNANCY. If one is raped, or the victim of incest, FORCE NINE MONTH PREGNANCY. This is the Christian Cabal's attitude. Shoving religious beliefs onto everyone, in a NON-theocracy, via sinning CHUMP! #Sin2Win

The Christian Cabal is IN-capable of getting majority public support, or influencing society to any immorality of abortions, so they cozy up to the WORST president ever, promising WASP votes in exchange for overturning Roe. Morals in the process or president be damned, to them! @FHUnscripted (my default, NON- "Christian Cabal" pastor, whenever fighting the Christian Cabal) #SinToWin

DID YOU KNOW the ONLY important political issue in life is abortion? The greatest challenge America faces is abortion? Politicians exist only to overturn or support Roe. This is the attitude of the Christian Cabal. And if you have to sin to get this goal achieved, so be it. @FHUnscripted

Political conservatives mouth hatred of "judicial activism," but judicial activism is ALL the Christian Cabal desires, through stacking the courts. ANYONE who would support all of this is carnally sinning, if they are saved: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> @FHUnscripted (who stays beliefs-CONSISTENT!)

The sinful HYPOCRISY of the Christian Cabal is if they REALLY wanted all abortions stopped, they'd tackle women at Planned Parenthoods, counsel entrants every day, defund it, hassle its workers until they quit, and support killing their doctors, to 'save lives.' DO THEY? He_k no. #Hypocrisy sin!

Sinfully aborted-at-will fetuses GO to Heaven. Unsaved BORN people ALL go to Hell without successful evangelism. Yet, the Christian Cabal has likely never, nor has any pastor likely evangelized fully JUST the lost people within walking distance of their edifices. This is the Christian Cabal's Achilles heel!

I am SO willing to forsake ANY support from ANY Christians, in politics, if they choose sinful methods to aspire to otherwise good policies. I will debate and refute each and every one of them, to a person, publicly, based on the message I'll receive around 11pm. I'm TIRED of their #Sin2Win behaviors and "values!"

Kavanaugh... He, or anyone Chump proposes would be nominated to overturn Roe, per the Christian Cabal, in exchange for promised votes! He strikes me as a decent, honest man. However, abortion law should NOT rely on any one person.

It should be settled law, based on what's right to do, what the people want, what the Constitution says, and precedent—NOT court stacking! There's MUCH incentive for him to lie about letting personal beliefs decide cases!

Here's the answer on abortion: IF the U.S. majority wants Roe overturned, SCOTUS should consider that. BUT, if they did unsettle that ruling, red states would need to be banned from banning all abortions, in the case of three exceptions! Many, if not all of them have ZERO concern for the cost, pain or impact of carrying a baby to term, on the woman! They just want abortion criminalized!

I've even read them say 'if you want to "kill your kid," you pay the freight to do it in another state.' That's unrealistic and irrational! NOT all red states abut blue states. Black market coat hanger back alley self-help would be INEVITABLE, and government is charged with the safety of their citizens! That is NOT doing so.

Targeted Interjection

I despise, and REFUSE political support from any Christian who so wants Roe overturned, that they support THIS: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> Period; No ifs, ands or buts. I DON'T WANT YOUR VOTE! You advocated for sin! You forsook Christianity. You showcased hypocrisy.

Sin-to-win is an attitude God would NEVER support, so I NEVER want your support! I will NOT be party to your corrupt deeds. Go re-vote for Chump!

You are the men, Christian Cabal, who came up with the 'baby Christian' LIE ("narrative"—a word you use to salve sinful consciences).

The whole world knows tRump is an evil man, yet you NEVER take any stand with the man (even on arguably his morally worst week). REAL prophets would tell him off, in the Lord, and have red lines drawn in the sand, yet you men chum up to chump, and enjoy sweet "fellowship" in the White House, presently, and believe that good comes by evil, OPPOSITE of Rom. 6:1.

I am taking a stand, making a red line in the sand, and saying don't ever come near me with any desired political support. You made your sinful decision in 2016. Fence-sitters with no convictions are NOT welcome in our coming campaign! Trump continues to act as he always ha, because you empower him, sinFULLY! No discipling or reproof—EVER! What “mentors” y’all are... are NOT!

You coddle him, and close your eyes like the ‘see, hear, speak no evil’ monkeys. You defend him. You stir up FOOLs to vote for him. You sully and stain Jesus’ name for the Devil’s man. You are apostates, and may you rot in Hades [if that were possible] for abandoning principles. I don’t care that this word will lose me votes. Values are more important! But NOT to you, obviously!

Continuing

Roe is the number one issue of life, say your political scheming words. Your deeds OFTEN say otherwise. That is called hypocrisy SIN!

You want political power, equally with ending abortions, often, if not more! You want media exposure, and fame for your church’s “ministry,” to get more visitors (say eventual paying members). Balaam priorities! Heresy.

Targeted Interjection

God NEVER leads Christians to crave power, or to be two-faced, or to lie, or use trickery, coddling polar opposite moral causes, Dr. (D.Min. vs. Ph.D.) Graham. Let’s re-address Roe...

Continuing

The Christian Cabal wants it ended, so red states can criminalize every woman who gets pregnant, even before the baby has a heartbeat, or feeling, or thoughts, NO MATTER how or why they got pregnant. That’s why Pence is V.P. He took legal measures to oppose gay marriage, and is in their camp. It’s why the last SCOTUS Justice (i.e., Gorsuch) got picked. NO ABORTIONS!

Killing a baby is evil, a sin, horrific. But UN-like King Solomon’s baby-splitting decision, there are TWO people in the decision--a fetus and a mom! You can’t argue one is superior to the other, despite innocence, as we are all sinners from birth, or even inception, via Adam!

Coat hanger self-help deaths will be blood on the hands of Christian Cabal members, NONE of which have ensured all lost people within three miles of their church have heard an accurate Gospel message in the past five years! Prove me wrong; you can NOT! You value people going to Hell over political power for fetuses going to heaven! WRONG priorities.

It should NOT be up to Kavanaugh, Chump or the Christian Cabal to decide the abortion issue, but we the people! The term ‘abortion’ is NOT in the U.S. Constitution, so you can’t argue it is or isn’t Constitutional!

IF Christians so abhor abortions, WHY do they only care so much around election time? Lies and politics!

It would logically be "moral" to kill an abortion doctor if abortion is murder. Frankie Graham called it ‘murder!’ Babies get legal status upon BIRTH. Fetuses haven’t been birthed yet. Pastors are NOT lawyers. QUIT trying to be, or I’ll ask the feds to charge you for practicing law without a license!

LESS abortions would be GREAT! None would be ideal. We don’t live in a fantasy world, and those ‘cons’ (conservatives and con artists—BOTH) who HATE government sure love it when it comes to forcing no abortions, or if their farms suffer droughts! HYPOCRISY!

Abortion is OFTEN a RUSE for many WASPs, and sincere for some. If any Christian REALLY hates abortions, talk pregnant women out of them! You have NO power to convince! #FAILURES! Hypocrites.

EVERY day, full-time, such one-trick ponies should be outside Planned Parenthood, shaming women, saying "killer!" If you truly believe they are murdering, why won't our government sentence them to life, like every other murder? Because you use rhetoric vs. facts, and God honors truth—not ruses!

Targeted Interjection

I am sick and tired of associating with men who are James 1--tossed by every wind and wave, depending on who's doing good or bad in the polls, or kisses up to them on abortion! HERETICS! America should be INCENSED that CHUMP doesn't meet with Jewish, Islamist, Hindu, and all other religions, as he is with WASPs, tonight!

WHERE ARE THE VOICES OF OUTRAGE? The Christian Cabal have NO courage to threaten withholding support of the stupidest and most evil president, ever, because they fear he'll not pursue "Christian" policies. You chumps are dependent! You sold your soul. You are in bondage to the Devil's man. I pity you for your many sins!

One more thing... when that Evangelical Council fails to take a stand for morality, because they fear CHUMP will abandon policies WASPs want, you all have made a deal with the Devil—LITERALLY. You fancy yourself clever strategists. I consider you moral reprobates and idolaters (a sin; Duh 101). I won't associate with you.

Continuing

Red states want at-will abortions banned. Some of them will make exceptions, in number between one and three (as they should). But let's address at-will for contraception abortions. It IS a sin, but is it government's job to ban it? TELL ME where in the Constitution it says yes or no!

'Life, liberty' applies to people/citizens who HAVE life. Government can't give rights to fetuses who may not make it to birth—they haven't proven to have life that lasts outside the woman—yet. And women have legal rights to their bodies, too! You can't rape a woman without legal consequences, and the fetus is ultimately hers—NOT the sperm donor's! He can't force them to make any decision.

So should the gal, government or her family (or sex partner) make the decision? The gal! Government can ensure they're medically safe, and as 'humane' as possible, given the situation, and women, before God, should NOT abort for birth control.

Those tRump advisors support sin, "in Jesus' name," to force all red state women not to have abortions. If their daughters get pregnant, or raped, I'd love to be a fly on that wall. Vote for DJT, sinners!

Continuing

IF a U.S. government agency was slaughtering born babies, Christians would be in a righteous, justified tizzy. Uncle Sam is NOT. And Christians DON'T act in that sort of tizzy concerning abortions, like they would if born babies were slaughtered, because they're NOT the exact same thing!

If a mass shooter was actively killing people, a gun-toter would be legally justified killing that thug. NOT the same concerning abortion doctors, as they are NOT exactly the same! If a hubby killed his wife, it's murder, and he would go to jail for life, or at least for a long time; abortion is NOT legal murder, and NOT the exact same thing as that that hubby's misdeed!

But Christian Cabal types DON'T CARE about such distinctions! They just want to 'champion' unborn babies. HOW do they go to work every day, and do home chores, when ladies are aborting today? If it's SO important for the babies, (vs. political red meat, for power), they'd be at Planned Parenthood full-time.

And why can't they legally tackle the entrants there, to do unto them what those men want Uncle Sam to do to them? Due to cowardice and no courage of their convictions! Are we going to have pregnancy test police breaking into homes, to see if women get pregnant, if abortions are banned, Christian Cabal? Answer me!

You 'gotta wonder if these old men are just bitter that the 'sexual revolution' happened on their watch!? You cannot tell me ending a two-day old insemination is as evil as slaughtering a 8.5 month old fetus! They are NOT the exact same, but the Cabal doesn't care one iota. Just ban any fetus killing.

Rape, incest, mother's life, fun frolic... the baby is innocent in every case, from any sin that caused it to be conceived! So there's NO rational reason why their 100 percent ban wouldn't be pushed for in red states! And this IS theocratic autocracy! NON-religious U.S. citizens have a say in the issue—NOT just the Christian Cabal!

They are forcing their belief that life begins at inception (which I share) on every American. WHERE does God teach Christians to force their views down anyone's throats? Chapter and verse, please! Crickets.

Update #2: Life of the Unborn, Liberty & the Pursuit of Happiness?

So Kavanaugh is NOT confirmed yet. That will be the Christian Cabal's main focus. The guy clearly wants Roe overturned, personally, but how will Senators know if he'll let that desire fuel his decisions? No one would be a fool, and miss out on the job by telling the truth (but me), if he'll do so!

Once he's confirmed, there's nothing people can do, if he lied. Congress needs a law that anyone who lies to Congress, in confirmation hearings, is subject to recall, no questions asked! and I'm NOT for Kavanaugh being for or against Roe's overturn, legally—just being 100 percent honest about his attorney views compared to his personal feelings.

The decision from the 1970's is established law... precedent. That means something, to people smart enough to pass bar exams; maybe not the Christian Cabal! SCOTUS can ONLY change it one last time, if at all, or they lose ALL credibility, and become a flavor-of-the-month, index finger to the wind focus group.

SHOW ME "abortion" in the Constitution. Show me "ban abortions" in there, as well. They're non-existent! Justices have to decide modern issues in the spirit of the document, so-called 'pastors' who AREN'T lawyers! Learn something before opining! You're embarrassments!!!

If you want zero abortions: 1. Convince every pregnant woman to go to terms nine months! 2. Make perfect contraception that is fool-proof, and can't get one pregnant (or use Preventeza), but can get them so when they want to be! 3. Scare every couple enthralled in passion that they'll go to jail if they get lucky that evening!

That's what some Christians want to do, by force of law. And let's be 100 percent clear: IF any red state banned any or all abortions, PEOPLE DISOBEY LAWS! It happens all the time! Women would punch their guts when the baby was large enough, and claim miscarriage. Is that good for the baby, Christian Cabal?

And if they bled out/to death by coat hanging, you Christian zealots mainly for Roe's overturn would be guilty before God for their deaths! Have you considered ANY of these legitimate considerations, or are you tunnel-visioned, with blinders on, with the mantra, 'save the babies?' Jeffress is clearly that type! NO thinking—self brain washed.

And a lie detector would CLEARLY show if it's mainly an act to stir up Bible-stupid Christian laymen, for GOP votes! I can't wait to publicly debate that fool of a claimed 'leader.' He even wrote a book using my family's pastors terms ("extraordinary life"), to show sympathy this political cause; two-faced!

Some men see limelight and dollar signs. These are NOT God's priorities! They love the media (if you call FoxNews credible, in the CHUMP era). It's for free advertising of their religious retail stores they call mega churches! I tell the truth, no matter whose ox get gored, even Christian votes!

It's ALL about Kavanaugh. If I were a Senator, I'd be inclined to reject him, but I'd never make that decision without more information. Bottom line, he's 'gonna tell the panel he respects precedent, and can set aside personal feelings to follow the law! We lawyers tell laymen they have to do that to be jurors, so why would we violate our own standards? Do you believe him when he says that answer?

IF the Christian Cabal, or CHUMP, secretly devised a scheme to get him in to overturn Roe, which media outlet will find out about those correspondences, before he's confirmed? I see red flags everywhere!

And I'm O.K. with Roe's overturn, IF the majority wants it, and red states have standards imposed to make them pay for travel expenses, and not ban the three exceptions. That will likely NEVER happen, as these types are instinctual "thinkers;" better, feelers. Necessary nuances and distinctions elude their I.Q.'s! #Sad.

Let's rebut Jeffress on Christians needing to be political conservatives. The belief system is OPPOSITE Jesus in many ways! At its core, it vehemently says, 'let me keep all my money for myself.' That selfishness is not "Christian!"

Its belief teaches poor people just need to buck up and buy a Band-Aid if they get cancer they can't afford to treat! It teaches them their peers can outsource jobs and over-immigrate, to make the rich richer, and Jesus supposedly condones their 'just get a better job' or 'grin and bear it' attitude toward poverty!

It enshrines white privilege, historically, and has incited already existing white supremacy—OPPOSITE of Jesus. It advocates 'personal responsibility,' but zero corporate responsibility, OPPOSITE of Gal. 6:2, 5 (i.e., hyper individuality).

It idolizes money, as its practice enshrines 'greed is good' attitudes and actions, OPPOSITE of Jesus! Animals and plants (i.e., the environment) be damned, if we can make money off oil! NOT Jesus' teaching.

Abortion is their red herring, to stir up Christian laymen, MOST of whom couldn't cite you 10 Bible verses from memory, and even less of whom ever lift one finger to get anyone out of Hell, and into Heaven! #TruthBomb

Big, bad government is evil—unless they'll do our bidding, via the most corrupt human ever to be in the White House! Judicial activism is sinful, unless it's for our cause. Bias favoring the rich is OPPOSITE of Jesus, yet they tout tax rebates mainly to those already pampered in life (Levit. 19:15). I'm just beginning!

Gingrich was for child labor laws being ended! Because competitor nations use them, they get an economic advantage, so let's get in the cesspool with them, because America has NO moral standards besides greed, says his political belief system!

Ted ~~Cruz~~, I mean Cruz, said end five federal agencies. Unemployment and people's lives/livelihoods are clearly NOT a concern for conservatives, because money can be made—even though their 'Jesus' said love of money is a sin, and you get rewards in heaven for giving it away.

There are SO MANY other things wrong with this system of belief, yet heretic Jeffress says it's Jesus' 10 Commandments of politics.

Continuing on abortion... The "seed" seeks out a fertilized egg. The second they unite, life begins. This means, before God, any cutting short of what follows is a killing of that life, and potential birth. Does that "religious" belief control secular law in America? No. We are NOT a theocracy.

One's religious beliefs are free to be publicly shared, and if you can convince enough people to have it made into law, more power to you. It's the convincing the majority part the Christian Cabal is too lazy to undertake! Laziness is a sin. Haven't I proven, tonight, that theirs is a sin-to-win strategy from Satan?

You'd think Auschwitz gassing factories existed at Planned Parenthood, when these Christian activists get in hearts (vs. minds), for votes! Yet, the procedure IS horrible and horrific. Before God, every woman will be accountable for taking the life of their innocent child, if for birth control.

Plan your sex, and be responsible. Do not abort for sinful reasons, like it's an inconvenience, or too expensive: <https://bit.ly/2HpFuXe> You knew that well before you freely engaged intercourse/hopped into bed! Is it that hard to be on 'the pill?' There's NO good reason for any abortions, unless condoms break, birth control fails, or you get raped! None.

And can the Christian Cabal imagine the danger of a woman using a coat hanger? There are SO many ways to err in what they target, and get cut, and bleed out. That is the decision they want to force on you, for their own religion's reasons—not yours, necessarily, under fear of criminal penalties!
#TruthBombCity

Let me ask, point blank, to any females... IF you didn't plan to become a mom at this time in your life, WHY wouldn't you use the plan B pill immediately upon unsafe sex, or failing a pregnancy test? WHY wait until a time your decision is felt by your child inside—the pain, blood, crushing, and separating limbs?

Here's the obstacle the Christian Cabal is up against: Nine months of stomach upset, cramps, doctor visits, Sonogram costs, extra ice cream and pickles, and general restriction of a normal active life. You can't convince many females to go full term, so you suck up to Satan's man, to force them to! Who's weak?

Put it to a vote! If 50.1 percent of Americans want Roe overturned, REQUIRE red states to allow three exceptions, and to pay travel costs, and maybe doctor expenses, to have any abortions performed in their nearest blue state. This "problem" is SO easy to decide. SCOTUS will have followed the will of the people.

Because if you're looking to the U.S. Constitution to solve it, you'll be on a never-ending quest! Fetuses are not citizens—yet. They are humans, in process, but their birth, and life outside the womb is NOT yet guaranteed! Miscarriages happen. The law can't give rights to such a transient, unsettled entity!

In the 1950's, Roe didn't exist. Anyone over age 46 experienced those days, but only as a one year olds. Really, it's people who are in their late 60's, who fondly reminisce of the good old days when abortions +were outlawed—a dying breed. Forty-five years of precedent is pretty established law! Ask any lawyer!

One YUGE problem with "Christians" using abortion to gen up GOP votes is all the other rubbish that comes with supporting any one party that much, for both parties have problems, as neither is perfect. Taxes are always too high, to a conservative, as they care ZERO about anyone but their family, cops and G.I. Joe!

Why not a little more? AT ALL COSTS, we will throw our bodies on a train track to stop every abortion; nothing is too great a sacrifice. SUCH is the Christian Cabal's attitude. Yet, life-as-normal commences every day, when they're not in front of politically-minded people, or the alt-right media, as if abortions stop in-between!

Related Tweets

#FullTransparency should be the ONLY acceptable standard for SCOTUS Justices; ALL cases they've ever decided; Hide NOTHING! #Kavanaugh The public has a right to know everything. Hiders are deceptive LIARS! (7/30/18)

I can't figure out how to link to the video, but FoxNews reports three GOP senators refuse to back Kavanaugh. EXPECT them to make demands to cater favoritistically to their constituents, or political careers, UNLESS they're people of character, like John McCain. It's OFTEN a ploy to get something! (9/1/18)

I would REJECT Kavanaugh merely from this omission! People don't withhold unless damaging information exists! #FULLtransparency is the ONLY right standard! Trump administration withholds 100K Kavanaugh pages—ABC News—<https://abcn.ws/2MF8kq5> via @ABC (9/1/18)

FoxNews, yesterday, headlined with cover-up witch hunt phobias regarding Chuck Schumer's concern thousands of pages of Kavanaugh papers were being withheld. THAT IS SINFUL BIAS SPIN! Trying to get your dumber readers to think ill of a man concerned that legitimate info we need to know is being hidden from the public. (9/2/18)

TELL THE PEOPLE THE TRUTH, GOOD OR BAD! The fact that politicians RARELY do is why Congress is distrusted, and held in such LOW regard. Everything is spin and favoring party, vs. morality and truth. You deserve the disdain! <https://nbcnews.to/2NJjZke> #PoliticsProblems (9/3/18)

I would NOT put is past GOP, and especially the far right and Christian activists, to be hiding the fact that Kavanaugh has every intention of overturning Roe, and will lie about it, and the hidden 1,000+ pages rove that suspicion! @TheDemocrats @DNC AT LEAST let the people know their lies and tricks. (9/2/18)

Yesterday, LAMEbaugh said SCOTUS has been politicized for years, to justify the Christian Cabal doing so even more, now. NEVER believe these types want revival, when they are FOLLOWERS vs. moral leaders who say enough's enough with sin in our politics! Revival is lip service, to them; sin-to-win!

(Judg. 21:25; 9/20/18)

KAVANAUGH VS. FORD HEARING

(9/27/18)

Political conservatives honestly believe SCOTUS can ONLY rule on matters explicitly listed in the U.S. Constitution, and since gay marriage, abortion and Welfare are NOT mentioned therein, they are illegal, based on the 10th Amendment.

MOST conservatives have NEVER taken a law school course on the Constitution, but I've been combing back through my bar exam review book by Bar-Bri, and those Christians' ignorance and naiveté is very sad, though seemingly innocent, and well-intentioned.

"States' rights" is a term they pull out from all of its words, though they truly are uninformed and ignorant of case law, past SCOTUS rulings (appeals of lower federal court rulings), precedent, Constitutional law and definitions.

WHEN a state law becomes a federal case/matter, and WHEN conflicts of laws is too problematic to make it 'necessary and proper' for SCOTUS to take jurisdiction is NOT something conservatives care about.

I'd be HAPPY to lend that review document/book to any trustworthy conservative, temporarily, as I already learned and know the law on the subject, and it is NOT me who needs to clarify I have the right view.

You can argue the exact words aren't in the document, but Justices use case law precedent and standards 4 when a matter cannot stand having opposite lower court rulings. 'Substantive' comes to mind, from 28 years ago's class.

Whether Texas allows dog catchers to noose a loose mutt, or tranquilize them in Cali is NOT on the sliding scale rising to the level of federal jurisdiction to resolve. I'm USING words 99.9 percent of conservatives can't define, legally, much less understand and use. Only hearsay rumors of what rules lawyers learn on such matters.

DON'T PLAY LAWYER, and we won't play your profession—AMATEURS! It's actually a crime to practice law without a license. You listen to Hillsdale College speeches, IF you even have the tenacity to take your academics that far on this matter.

Probably MUCH more often, you simply listen to Mark Levin (a lawyer), or much less credibly, non-college graduates Limbaugh or Hannity (and NON-lawyers). You MOCK Obama (a Constitutional law professor), when 90+ percent of you couldn't be accepted into any law school!

This does NOT mean applying our greatest document is only for lawyers, or those with high IQ's, but it DOES mean we have over 200 years of case law history defining and applying that great old (and non-living) document, that are relevant to modern day!

In court, no one without standing can simply assert 'I don't feel SCOTUS has a right to rule on that matter,' even as a friend of the court! You have NO basis to be before any court if you are not aggrieved/injured, and the court of public opinion, or worse, your own little world of opinion, have ZERO place in actual law courts, so study more and opine less, O.K.?

READ the book, Black Mondays. It details the FEW SCOTUS cases where many people believe they got it wrong. LEARN the history of all case types SCOTUS handles every year, and you will see there are principles and precedents and standards by which SCOTUS determines they have jurisdiction in a matter. I've been QUITE patiently kind to give you legal terms you can look up to define—specific lawyer terms.

I'm NOT treating you as a moron, but understanding that you didn't go to law school, and that gap in knowledge can't be fully bridged by a mere dictionary, but I'm trying to bridge it as well as can be had!

The angry layman will say this is elitist, and academic rigmarole, avoiding the plain and clear words of the Constitution. You live in a free land, where you're free to believe that, but take it to any U.S. court, and you'll be laughed out of court, because opinion is NOT evidence, and courts apply and interpret LAWS—not opinions.

And, by the way, it is NOT a judge's role to change laws legislators enacted (i.e., judicial activism). However, SCOTUS does have the right to settle national law, based on certain criteria, among which includes changed circumstances, and the voice of the people, and consistency of precedents.

Regarding Roe, SCOTUS's majority saw it unjust (Equal Protection, Due Process clauses) for women in one state to have medical access to terminate a pregnancy, when not available to others (I presume... I haven't read it in decades, so you can correct me if I'm in error), and an undue burden on those without access.

Again, I'm LITERALLY using all legal terms you can look up in any dictionary! I'm TRYING to help you get a crash Constitutional law course, but fear your understanding may just crash, if this is all you learn!

SCOTUS had the legal right to decide Roe and Obergefell, though I didn't personally like everything associated with either of them. SCOTUS does NOT have to please every citizen! That's not even a consideration of theirs! You can't always get what you want, but if you try sometime, you get what you need. But I digress, with rock 'n roll...

SCOTUS can also un-do Roe, based on a changed environment of public opinion, or by illegal or immoral court stacking (as the Christian Cabal is sinfully pushing for), but it could NEVER AGAIN be changed, or SCOTUS would forever rightfully earn the reputation of being politicized (the EXACT sin Christians want them to engage in, and CONTRARY to its purpose of being neutral).

It AMAZES me that religious activists AREN'T seeking gay marriage's overturn, right now. They WILL, likely, decades from now, because their IGNORANT layman (uneducated non-lawyers) opinion is any law can be changed! I heard a female on talk radio allege that.

PRECEDENT... LOOK UP its definition. You drive the speed limit, and would rightly go irate, and take it to court if a cop gave you a speeding ticket because you were obeying the law! That's because of PRECEDENT! U.S. laws are NOT randomly or 'arbitrarily' changed, as there is predictability and stability in the citizenry knowing expectations of them!

And NO case law decisions (or higher up ones) can be overturned for whimsical or insignificant reasons (those are layman paraphrase terms—NOT legal ones, for the first time in this lesson). A brain-washed single issue voter could care less about all I've said! Forget the law, and logic... I'm hell-bent on changing federal law by my one vote, by becoming the community organizer I ridiculed Obama for being!

THIS is the NON-lawyer Christian Cabal's attitude and commitment, and is what has led us up to the hearings, today, on Kavanaugh. Thanks, religious extremists! (SARCASM). Enjoy.

Update #1: Christian Cabal—Constitutional Scholars or Pundit Followers?

Have you EVER heard complaints about 'judicial activists?' That phrase belongs to political conservatives. Yet they now find it moral to stack SCOTUS! Hypocrisy sin. Same goes for James Dobson bemoaning the sex sins of Bill Clinton, but accepting all tRumps many more sins, because he's a Republican. HYPOCRISY!

Quoting my review brief, "'Necessary and proper' includes anything that is appropriate to achieve a legitimate end." (McCulloch v Maryland, 17 US 316, 1819). And DON'T let the old date fool you... laws remain on the books, unless overturned or remanded, and it's still active law, political conservatives.

My Constitutional law review document is 112 pages long, 8.5 X 14 long, vintage 1990, so I WON'T review it all, but I'll check in, here, as I find relevant data laymen could benefit from.

For a Christian political conservative, the Constitution is more valuable/important to them than their Bibles. YET, they TRY to impose their Bible on U.S. citizens. Wanting it BOTH ways, but ONLY to their cherry picked verses, and only by their own interpretation of the U.S. Constitution. #TRUTH

For IDIOT Christian activists, Roe could be overturned by Kavanaugh, then if another president nominates all liberal SCOTUS Justices, it could again be reenacted; and on and on, throughout America's future history, and these IDIOTS would think that perfectly fine, because they are perfectly STUPID about the law!

Interjection: Lie detectors are generally inadmissible in court, as 'evidence,' but the #KavanaughHearings Kavanaugh-Ford are NOT a courthouse, @chucktodd It would have been a PERFECT thing to use—for BOTH participants! Even Bill Clinton lied under oath, so that guarantees NOTHING regarding TRUTH.

Continuing: Some powers are exclusively federal because of express constitutional limitation on or prohibition of the states exercise thereof... Others are exclusively federal in view of their nature... Any state exercise of these powers would basically subvert the federal system. (Part I, p. 18, Bar-Bri)

Business regulation ...is now invariably sustained as reasonable state action under the Due Process Clause. The Court will no longer second-guess the legislature's wisdom or policy choice in this field of regulation; many earlier invalidations of state legislation in the economic field have, in fact, been expressly overruled. (p. 50) Conservatives ALWAYS whine about business regulations!

The right of privacy has been invoked to hold invalid state interference with the decision of a woman and her physician to abort a nonviable fetus (i.e., one that could not, even with artificial aid, survive outside the mother) ...A state law restricting the freedom of an adult woman to have an abortion must be narrowly tailored (necessary) to promote a compelling interest.

Protecting the life and health of a pregnant woman and protecting a viable fetus are both compelling interests... If an abortion regulation is a reasonable means of protecting the health of the pregnant woman, it will be deemed narrowly tailored to a compelling interest and be upheld.

If a medical regulation is not truly related to protecting the woman, and is simply a means of deterring abortions, the law will violate due process. (p. 59)

A state may prohibit the abortion of a viable fetus except when the abortion is necessary to protect the life or health of a pregnant woman, and any state regulation designed to protect a viable fetus must provide for this exception. Viability is determined by the woman's physician, but a state may require a doctor to perform tests [to aid with that determination].

Spousal Consent. The government may not give to a father of a fetus the right to block the decision of a woman to abort the pregnancy.

Parental Consent. The state may not give parents the right to veto the decision of their minor daughter to have an abortion. However, the state can require a minor pregnant female to receive the consent of the parent for the abortion, or, in the alternative, the consent of a juvenile court judge. (p. 59)

Financing Abortions. Neither federal nor local governments are required to grant medical benefit payments for abortions to indigent women, even if they grant benefits to indigent women for childbirth services. (p. 60)

SINCE this is an old review, it doesn't include Obergefell, and states: Sodomy. The right of privacy does not include the right of consenting adults to engage in sodomy [Bowers v Hardwick]...

Use of Contraceptives. A state cannot prohibit distribution of nonmedical contraceptives to adults except through licensed pharmacists, nor prohibit sales of such contraceptives to persons under 16 who do not have approval of a licensed physician. (p. 60)

Marriage. Again, pre-Obergefell... The right of a male and female to enter into (and probably to dissolve) a marriage relationship is a fundamental right. Although not all cases examining marriage regulations clearly use the compelling interest standard, a law prohibiting a class of adults from marrying is likely to be invalidated unless the government can demonstrate that the law is narrowly tailored to promote a compelling or overriding or, at least, important interest. (p. 60)

Freedom of Religion [First Amendment]. The Free Exercise Clause prohibits punishing people for their religious beliefs... Thus, it cannot be made a crime to hold a certain religious belief. To invoke the protections of the Clause, an individual must show that following the terms of law would interfere with his ability to follow sincerely held religious belief.

If it would, the Court will balance the following factors to determine whether the government must grant the individual an exemption: Severity of the burden, strength of the state interest (i.e., compelling), and alternative means. This is a balancing test; the Supreme Court has not been more specific regarding how to evaluate such problems.

Examples: Polygamy illegal (Reynolds v U.S.); Conscientious objectors (Wisconsin v U.S.)... Sunday closing law. A Sunday closing law was upheld as applied to an orthodox Jew whose religion forbade him working on Saturday (Braunfield v Brown), (p. 93)

ESTABLISHMENT. If a law or government program includes a preference for some religious sects over others, the law will be invalid unless it was narrowly tailored to promote a compelling interest... A state cannot grant all employees of private businesses an absolute right to refrain from working on a day of his or her 'Sabbath.' (Estate of Thornton v Caldor, Inc.).

Prayer and Bible Reading. These practices in public schools are invalid as an establishment of religion (Engel v Vitale; Abington v Schempp). Voluntariness of program is irrelevant (Engel v Vitale). Posting 10 Commandments in classrooms is invalid (Stone v. Graham).

Public school period of silent prayer is invalid (Wallace v Jaffree). Curriculum controls. A government statute or regulation that modifies a public school curriculum will violate the Establishment Clause if it fails the secular purpose test, primary effect test, or excessive government entanglement test. (p 98).

The ONLY remaining research I'll engage is the State's Rights test. I HOPE this brief overview of just a small smidgen of Constitutional law will EDUCATE Christian and other conservatives about how their values and opinions are NOT legally binding on courts. Lk. 10:27... KNOW!

There are principles applicable to modern issues not at issue when the U.S. Constitution was effected. There's also case law precedent SCOTUS has upheld that defines (in their law interpretation function) terms and concepts enumerated therein. READ this article: <https://bit.ly/2DBJmUB>

The list was not intended to be finite, or all-inclusive. For example, WHAT will the U.S. Constitution say about sex between robots, in the future? They are NOT human (and probably don't have sex organs). What about robberies committed by drones, once they become self-determining? It's NOT in the document's explicit language!

This is where issues from the 1700's were NOT all that the U.S. would face, but principles therein still apply, because it's such a great and forward-looking document! Roe was a 7-2 decision; NOT a politicized near miss 5-4 decision! <https://bit.ly/2zzKJPv>

A baby in the womb is NOT deemed a U.S. citizen until they're BIRTHED. Their living on their own, apart from their mom, is NOT guaranteed until then (viability). A GREAT example of one reason SCOTUS might change precedent is substantial changed circumstances, like America's attitude toward certain things once acceptable, now despised by well more than a majority.

This review does NOT detail the Roe decision, but many of us know the third trimester issue, viability, and other considerations. These concepts are NOT explicitly in the Constitution, but their being consistent with its principles of reasonableness DON'T violate that document.

And the 'compelling interest' standard (thrice mentioned, today) means SCOTUS will NOT take up cases like can one state ban throwing trash out of a car, while another not (as was common practice in the 1970's).

Issues between states have to rise to a level of a substantial nature, and things like life and marriage are fundamental rights (as was cited). Even concerning gay marriage, SCOTUS did NOT violate the Constitution to apply the Equal Protection and Due Process clauses to conclude it unjustly discriminatory to disallow gays from entering such marital arrangements.

Again, we Christians may NOT like the decisions, or agree with them, and in moral arenas and religious arenas, we can always argue that both acts are sinful, the law and courts do NOT ban every sin, or adopt anyone's religions precepts as their standard for what's legal or Constitutional!

America is NOT a theocracy, nor a 'Christian nation,' by which I define that as a nation legally obligated to that religion regarding the laws it passes. The Establishment Clause clearly makes that evident to all.

One issue I didn't address, Constitutionally, is whether the Christian Cabal's influence on Trump is a violation of that Establishment Clause. They're clearly an unregulated lobbying group, who MUST abide by all regulations related to formal or informal lobbyists, and no one will accuse Trump of fairly considering the values of other religious interest groups, like Jews, Muslims, Hindus, Buddhists, and other religions in America.

My ONLY point is SCOTUS did NOT decide Roe or Obergefell on zero legal grounds! And voters are free to associate and organize their voter bloc to oppose laws they oppose, but voters are NOT lawmakers, or SCOTUS Justices, or presidents, and threatening votes to get your way are LESS than 'Christian' methods!

Roe restrictions on state levels have become politicized, as claiming to be medical vs. political (which you learned, is the legal test), because activists desire to lessen abortions at all costs... make it hard to access, hassle workers and doctors to quit Planned Parenthood, de-fund it, etc. That's illegal, if medically unrelated.

These activists not only want America to return to 1930, they want no one to have sex, unless they want to be parents as a result, or use safe contraception (though some of them even oppose that). They want in your private home to regulate your sex life, if a baby ever results!

It's absolutely great that Christians want few-to-no abortions! I 100 percent agree with them. HOW you get there is by preventing sex not intended for family growth/procreation. Perfect contraception, perfect sex planning/safe sex, Plan B within three days, if you screw up (forgive the pun), and public opinion to shun and dissuade people having unsafe sex!

The solution is NOT to ban all abortions. And that does NOT mean anyone is for abortions (certainly not me), holding this view. They are abhorrent! They kill a living human! If a law could force every woman to be on contraception when they engage sex, or every male to use condoms, and was enforceable, that would be good.

In short (after a long-winded dissertation), if any conservative tries to convince anyone else that Roe and Obergefell were illegal, or 'bogus' (as Markie Davis claimed), they simply do not know the law! They are ignorant, stupid, lying. You can't follow people who spew lies, for their political power idolatry sin!

WILL the feds, in 2050, un-do legally labeled gay marriages? If that's a possibility, settle it NOW, Christian Cabal! WHY do you WIMPILY (a sin—II Tim. 1:7) wait? Because you know the power of public opinion, which has NOTHING to do with legal arguments you often pretend are your concern, regarding Roe!

Polls DIFFER on what percent of Americans are for overturning Roe! Even if it were near 50/50, the people DON'T rule, in a republic, but their voices ultimately rule, via votes of bums out of office! It's NOT like if you organize enough people, laws must be passed to obey you! That's pure democracy.

We elect REPRESENTATIVES to do the people's business on behalf of the people, and even the majority can be wrong, sometimes! A majority in America once felt women shouldn't vote and blacks should be slaves. Public opinion is public opinion alone, even in a majority!

And yes, Constitutional amendments are the right legal avenue to change its precepts, but modern calamitous politics is why that avenue is usually going to be a dead-end for both sides!

NOT every judge who overrules lower court rulings is an activist justice, if they have valid legal reasonings, and either case law precedent, or valid and reasonable legal theory, and the majority of her judge peers on SCOTUS concur.

I guarantee you, most, if not all Justices thereon are NOT activist hacks! They love the law; gave their life's career for it, and their reputation as an honest jurist is important to them. They rarely if ever bow to any political party, as they have little to gain from that.

One more, and I'm through; I'm 100 percent positive that most Christian right activists will care not one iota what I've said, today, as they are close-minded to facts—a sin Jesus never condoned. Narrow-minded, blinders-on obsession to their one aim, AS IF politicians are only in office to address Roe. One-trick pony, single issue voters!

MSNBC WRONGLY asserts that consensus is dead. On Kavanaugh, yes, but ONLY that, and that's because there IS no common ground when one side is trying to have the one swing vote be right-biased (which is sinfully incorrect), while the other seeks a centrist (which is morally correct). It's right vs. wrong! (9/28/18)

Update #2: Constitutional Concerns
(10/4/18)

This is a follow-up to my recitation of Constitutional law (active case law summary related to detailing meanings of words found in said document). A far right political activist believes being "conservative" on the Constitution's interpretation means every issue not in that document by clear words listing/ enumerating federal powers belongs to states alone.

Specifically, from a law perspective, that's why they hate Welfare, Obamacare (even revised), five federal agencies they want destroyed (EPA, NEA, IRS among them—but NOT Homeland Security, amazingly enough), Roe, Obergefell, etc. NOT knowing history, the law on the subject, or any active case law, they hold such NAIVE views.

SCOTUS is the ultimate arbiter! Lower federal courts' rulings that contradict CAN be ruled on by SCOTUS, and any important issues facing our nation that can't be left contradicting. That's the concept—NOT the legal term (I didn't want to confuse people on the far right with legal jargon). NO OTHER court exists for settling matters of national import, or dispute.

The Constitution clearly disallows the feds meddling in clear state issues, but in the past 250+ years, lawsuits have ensued to flesh out details of who does what, and far right views do NOT comport with those active SCOTUS conclusions.

Obergefell used the Equal Protection clause and (likely) changed circumstances among the population/ society, as its legal basis. The 10th Amendment allows SCOTUS to consider the people in their rulings. On Welfare and Obamacare, the health and welfare clause doesn't preclude those programs (and SCOTUS so agreed).

There's also the language of a 'more perfect union,' which a far righter would say DO NOT SEEK to achieve—just fund cops and the military—not even politicians or public education! Christians, of all citizens, should SUPPORT government doing things to make our society more just and holy, but I digress...

On Roe, the issue was the life of the fetus vs. the private "property" right of self-determination for one's own body. The feds found abortion important enough of an issue (like marriage for gays) to NOT allow it to have contradictory rulings in different states ('fundamental rights,' to use legal jargon).

Judicial activism, which many people and conservatives (and I) oppose is judges concluding cases for no Constitutionally principled reasons--just interspersing their own desires or political opinions, because they don't like what the Constitution mandates. THAT is evil, and to be opposed!

The 10th Amendment is the far right's MAIN paragraph of that entire document that they believe, but the document is a whole (and even it states 'and to the people'). You can NOT seek a 'more perfect union' treating current state 1776 as already perfect; that makes NO sense in honoring the framers' intention!

And if you want to argue new Constitutional amendments are how you improve government, and therefore, society, EVERYONE knows how modern politics would preclude ANY agreeing between both sides on any new amendments!

Finally, I WISH far righters would READ the cases I referenced previously, and take a Constitutional law course! That may be too cerebral an aspiration to expect their doing(?), but at least know that your view of 'conservative' is NOT God's Bible on the matter (which document should be even more relevant to you concerning national policies, than even the Constitution), and the ONLY definition of "conservative" that correctly applies to Constitutional interpretation is the framer's intent, if expressed.

If NOT clearly expressed, Justices use legal principles (time-established and solid) to decide if cases are rightly taken on by SCOTUS, and how they get decided. Personal politics are to have NO bearing on any SCOTUS Justices rulings! Their job (as with any judge) is to interpret and apply the laws legislators and Congress pass; NOT re-write laws they don't agree with! ONLY evil people have sought to stack SCOTUS to their political bents, and it has EVILLY happened on BOTH sides of the aisle. #Sinners!

One more thing... The health and safety clause MEANS that government/the feds are ultimately charged with the health of U.S. citizens—NOT harming their health. Women using self-help in aborting risk harm to their lives and health, but also, abortion clearly risks the life of the fetuses! SCOTUS has NOT deemed the unborn to have legal standing until they're birthed! It actually makes some sense... they aren't certain to be birthed. However, Roe delicately balanced these two competing interests (i.e., two lives), as with the mom's health and safety, and though some hated the ruling, it was NOT a judicial activism decision.

In short, the Court only retains its revered status by making legally sound decisions, consistent with precedents, and sound Constitutional law principles. The day it becomes (or became?) a political branch of our government is the day it LOSES all such deserved reverence, and its Justices KNOW this!

I URGE ALL political conservatives to sit through a Constitutional law course from any U.S. law school, and bypass the likely skewed mini recitations you will find from Hillsdale College, for they have a severe right-wing political bent I'm SURE impacts what's taught in their online courses.

By the way, the greediest, meanest, least principled and most ruthless business person I ever met graduated cum laude from that school, because if you take political conservatism to its logical conclusion, greed IS good, as is idolizing money, though he claimed to be a Christian (and I quit on him after less than a week)!

Finally, NO judge in America is going to IGNORE prior case law, because you have an opinion about the U.S. Constitution's 10th Amendment, conservatives! Even if they're liberals, or far right, or anything inbetween, they won't sacrifice their law license (or careers) for the FEELINGS of a litigant, or casual observer, or even a friend of the court.

IF the U.S. Constitution is as simple, clear and detailed as conservatives let on, WHY did the Founders create a Supreme Court to handle issues that might arise? For that matter, LOOK at the cases they review every year, and tell me all the Justices need to know is the 10th Amendment, conservatives! (10/5/18)

Related Tweets

[Jack Graham tweet:] Well said, and a reminder as to why so many of us chose to support @realDonaldTrump. He is delivering on promises made to people of faith. Sarah SandersVerified account @PressSec: Congratulations Judge Kavanaugh! Instead of a 6-3 liberal Supreme Court under Hillary Clinton, we now have a 5-4 conservative Supreme Court under President @realDonaldTrump, cementing a tremendous legacy for the President and a better future for America. (10/6/18)

Comment: It is from NOT trusting God, that people believe they have to take matters in their own hands, by supporting EVIL, that good may come, CONTRARY to God's word! Such actions show/demonstrate/prove that some claiming Christians do NOT believe God can do and work through anything, if we remain true to His moral values.

[Jack Graham tweet:] It was an historic evening. Ralph ReedVerified account @ralphreed: With two great friends @Franklin_Graham and @jackngraham at the investiture ceremony of #JusticeBrettKavanaugh tonight at the White House. #gratitude (10/8/18)

LABOR DAY LESSONS: HE WITH THE MOST TOYS WINS?

(9/3/18)

This Labor Day, what are you laboring for? I've seen two Republicans, this week, one of which encouraged my son to invest his overage, to get rich, after using the core he's going to buy a car with, to buy a 'Mustang.' He's from India, where I'm SURE Hinduism doesn't teach materialism, but now he's Americanized.

Teaching a SIXTEEN year old with not enough banked to live on his own many months, to buy luxury! #EMBARRASSING adult!

Talk with others, and the conversation never leaves these subjects: Entertainment (travel, TV, sports, etc.), products, fun activities, business/money, one's health, family, or clothes and looks. This Isn't exclusively the purview of Republicans. Americans, in general, do not understand life, from God's perspective! Even many 'Christians.'

Life is NOT about you! It amazes me how many Christians I know who live EXACTLY like the world. They must never have read (or better, heard a sermon on, because they DON'T read the Bible, often) these verses: I Jn. 2:15-17; Mt. 6; Phil. 3:17-21; Col. 3:1-4, etc.

The natural human (i.e., unsaved) views life as this is all there is. Therefore, you either live a boring, struggling life getting by, or you live it up now, because now is all there will be (JUST like Lk. 12:19... A sign that end times prophecy is arriving soon). Party hearty, and live like there's no tomorrow.

I drove through a mansion-infested area of town, last evening, and wondered how many of them EVER think of others, so wrapped up in the material. SURE, a handful sign the Giving Pledge, and may give to charity, but statistics prove the rich give about 2 percent, while most others give about 3 percent!

You start to enjoy the creature comforts, and pampering your walking dead selves! Life revolves around you, and making you feel happy! IF you know any Bible verse, it's Ecc. 10:19 (DESPITE the fact that that book's author OFTEN uses biting sarcasm, and at best is describing life from a worldly viewpoint.

Even chapters 1-3 defy your interpretation, as he had tried it all, and found all things lacking, in life, without God and morality (Ecc. 7:8-14). No, life does NOT consist of riches!

Some in our great nation have succumb to the lie that a financially successful person proves they are successes as people, even heroes, to be put on the pedestal of a White House chair! Is there any SANE American who can call that man a success as a human being? If so, you are a failure in how you assess life! Case closed!

As an aside, I'm positive most people living in that rich abode were GOP, because these beliefs are reinforced by the party of keep all you get, vs. the party of get all you can from others, via the government! Money: The American Dream (and idol).

I heard a radio DJ, yesterday, bemoaning being given cruddy seats to a rock concert, and he was nose bleeding, and unable to sit where "the important people" did (apparently, being on air means pride and ego tell you you deserve better, though the tickets were a gift)!

The important people in our world are NOT the rich, folks! See who God says are! Look at Lk. 10:38-42. When one spends time with God, ministry work is automatic, but work by itself, absent that time with Him, is just busywork! Think of life from Gods perspective: WHAT is He getting from your being down here, roaming the earth? NOT MUCH, IN MOST cases! So why would He keep you here?

You live for yourself, and that sacred cow we call family. Never a thought of other human beings, and never so much as a lifted finger for others. We work 50-60 hours a week, then what's the main thing we race home to do? Enjoy ourselves (and do chores, catering to our lifestyles, of self-catering).

Self is the god of our lives—NOT God! Period. We live the EXACT OPPOSITE of Lk. 9:23. That can ONLY mean that all our 80 years, or so, on this blue planet are WASTED, chasing money (OPPOSITE of Pv. 23:5), and storing it up for that promised good life of retirement, EVEN THOUGH God promises no one another day! Our priorities are wrong, people.

You may never step foot in any church, synagogue or mosque, or even if you did, you may never hear these things taught, because even in many spiritually-backwards houses of worship, false Balaam tares/wolves/false prophets are teaching parishioners that God wants them rich, because they demand 10 percent, so they can be, too!

No, America is NOT on God's path, as a whole, but the W-I-D-E road to destruction (Mt. 7:13-14). The love of money sin (I Tim. 6:10) is rampant (some call it greed), and our society encourages it! 'Who are you wearing,' asks Hollywood award shows? IF you were wearing someone, you'd have the person draped on your shoulder!

I asked a gentleman in the mall for the time, yesterday (yes, some of us don't want a smart phone, as they engage real people conversations), and he pulled out his phone! I asked if his (fancy) watch worked, and he said, 'no, It was for dress'/show/looks; an accessory.

WHO ARE WE TRYING TO IMPRESS, America? Certainly NOT God! I LOVE this quote: "We buy things we don't need with money we don't have to impress people we don't like." Always trying to look good; image is everything.

With my family, last evening, I told them if teenagers, and even adults, worked less hours trying to look good (washboard abs, etc.), and worked on their hearts and personalities, they'd find the friends and lovers they seek, or seek acceptance/approval from.

People are generally myopic. The very rich neighborhood I drove through, last evening, likely ALL consider their lifestyles normal, and hang with/around people of the same socio-eco circle. That social inbreeding, where you never leave your comfort zone, can BLIND you to reality of how good you have it, or how out of the norm you are, where you cease to care about others, the word "cease" assuming that you ever did.

If you're brought up in it, spoiledness can start at an early age. That's why Giving Pledgers are so amazing! Most people slave away all their lives to get rich. Why would anyone give away that which they've worked so long to acquire? Because they realize it's not given to them by God, simply to live a pampered and privileged lifestyle!

I warn every rich person... God will hold you accountable for how you spent your riches. Soak that up for awhile. Money is a wonderful slave, but makes a horrible master! You CAN have enough of it! Happy #LaborDay to all the hard-working Americans who put in an honest day's work, who deserve an honest day's pay!!!

LIBERALISM'S LIABILITIES

(11/17/18)

JUST LIKE conservatism says 'NO' to almost anything, and everything that costs money, liberalism costs money—LOTS of TAXPAYER money! The middle class pays taxes; the lower class rarely does. The middle class RARELY retires early, or as rich/millionaires, or they wouldn't be in the middle class! They do NOT need or deserve MORE taxes, because a liberal likes being generous with others' money, to buy off voters/buy elections for themselves!

Yes, the rich OFTEN don't pay their fair share, especially if they pay less than the tax bracket percents they are assigned, but even they ought never pay more! Hello, people... America is $22 trillion in debt, already! You, individually—no matter who you are—already OWE $400,000. Credit can only be extended so far, before China cuts us off, as a BAD investment! Our economy would crater if are debts all got called in—a run on the banks, and massive bankruptcies.

Anyone who reads my stuff knows I am NOT fond of political conservatism, in many ways, but neither do I like liberalism, in many ways! They both have some good aspects, but liberalism is essentially saying 'YES' to everything that costs money, by stealing from taxpayers to give it to non-taxpayers! "FREE" college, healthcare, etc.

NOTHING is free, but the air you breathe! Someone has to pay for "free" things. And conservatives have a VERY valid point that it is NOT fair that people who pay NOTHING in taxes get the right to vote for how and what taxes are spent on! Compulsory civic service as token repayment of tax non-payment should be required-up to 30 hours a year, of ALL who don't pay taxes, unless physically or mentally unable (for causes of their own choosing and liking, and in their own time-frame).

Liberalism loves "universal healthcare." WHY should the rich have to accept lower-quality care, when they can afford better, and NOT having government (lack of) quality, or to wait in lines, because everyone milks the "free" system? Even the middle class needs not stoop to such lesser quality, if they choose to pay for better quality, with less lines!

Liberalism is for things that harm businesses. IF a business is run morally, there is NO reason anyone should oppose U.S. businesses doing great! If they shaft their employees, only the elites get all the perks and bonuses, there's NO profit-sharing, they over-outsource, automate and robotize their jobs away, or hire illegals, or immigrate in people to steal equally-qualified Americans' jobs, they are NOT businesses worthy of Americans' patronage! NOT all businesses are created (or run) equally! Oppose the bad ones, and be for the good ones!

Liberalism wants "free" college. ALL that term means is college students want other families to pay for them! It's HARD enough to pay for my own! Don't you DARE—any of you—EVER ask for one dime from me for someone else's child to go to college, by forcing my taxes to help them with that, or I will oppose your political stunts and personnel, EVERY time! Go get a job, a better one, or have your parents both work, and spend less! IF any American wants to help others' kids with college costs, do so, but leave taxpayers out of it!

Word is Beto may run. I liked him as a person, because he used many concepts we've written about for years, but I didn't vote for him, because of these four liberal ideas: Cops equated with Jim Crow, Universal healthcare, opposing Texas' oil and gas industry, and saying NFL kneelings are one of the best ways to show patriotism. Let's begin there, to show the problems with liberalism:

Some cops are rogue, and bad—the majority are not. You live safe and peaceful because cops are willing to do their jobs, which they don't get rich off of! The thin blue line is thin because most people WON'T risk death to earn a pay check. YES a handful shoot unarmed black men, and NONE ever should, unless their lives are in danger from an unarmed person's threats of fatal attack!

YES the prison system is NOT always just, and I'm 100 percent for justice in every area of public life. The punishment must always match the crime. YES, I believe white supremacy exists, and that MOST conservatives would just as soon ignore many blacks' plight in life, so long as they get to enjoy life.

Liberalism is RIGHT to be for minority rights, but equality and justice are always the goal—NOT revenge, over-doing things, or making enemies of people who need to accept more justice, even at the expense of some of their lifestyles.

Jim Crow laws have NOTHING in common with the handful of bad cops, and I resent the fine men and women in blue being equated with such horrific laws! Root out ALL the bad apples, better train every cop to opt for Tasers, if at all possible, and NEVER treat a person as an innocent angel if they resist or run from a cop who has detailed them! Those are NOT heroes! Enough on the Jim Crow stupid and offensive comments (we need politicians with verbal self-control!).

Universal healthcare I've already addressed, but just to add, the poor NEED minimum coverage and catastrophic insurance, subsidized, as must be the case (they have NO coverage, which is why they're poor), with token civic service repayment required, so it's NOT a freebie/handout—no free lunches—and ONLY for those maxxed out in their work efforts! Laziness should never be rewarded (II Th. 3:10).

Now, concerning oil and gas... It is NOT innately evil! Technology NEEDS to be developed to make it pollute less, and vehicles stretch a gallon of gas for many miles further, but oil and gas will NEVER go unneeded, until it all dries up, or technology exists to replace it! Too many derivatives come from it, like asphalt, plastics, etc.! Don't bite the hand that feeds you—find other sources of food!

Green energy is NOT where it needs to be, so get it where it needs to be, ASAP! This is NOT either or but both and! There is ZERO need to hate or punish the oil and gas industry. It is THE reason the U.S. is a first-world country, since Ford's Model T days! Embrace BOTH types of power, and push for weaning off oil as the primary vehicle power source, as technology improves, so oil can be more used for derivatives, and we don't have to risk oil spills, danger and death, drilling in deep open seas, or be even more tied into Middle East feuds, and historic violence from dependence on oil elsewhere.

Finally, NFL kneelers. I was for them, for quite awhile, until they lost their value! After a time of bringing public attention to social injustices, millionaire football players have done their job to garner a spotlight on that issue needing to be addressed, and they need to get back to playing, and working for such causes on their off hours, because, as I've said many times, ACTION is now needed—NOT attention!

And action by society—NOT more from NFL'ers. The greatest way to show patriotism is NOT to oppose things, but to support good things, by changing what's bad in America, social injustice as but one! MOST of us are NOT 'gonna join the military—a great patriotic act—but we can all do our part to make America a better nation, and it's NOT just by voting, paying taxes and being law-abiding! It's by choosing a cause, and doing something to change it for the better! There are so many causes.

I'm for compulsory civic service for all Americans who aren't first responders, or in the military, or unable, mentally or physically! We ALL want change and improvement. The emperor has no clothes! 10-15 hours a year is NOT too much of a stretch to show your patriotism, and most people do NOT have extra time, or have interest in volunteering, when they could be making money, or having fun! Pick a cause.

I would go to a 'hood or barrio, and educate them how to spend money wiser, and get better jobs and skills, knowing what I know. But, JUST LIKE conservatives always joke that you can send in your extra tax contribution, if I'm NOT forced to do it, I rarely will, because I'm busy, need 'mo money, and enjoy my time off.

My wife had to 'force' our family of five to go feed the homeless next week at Thanksgiving. I'm GLAD she did, as I wouldn't have... the NFL is on TV, and turkey with dressing and gravy is available. CONTRARY to conservatism, force is NOT always evil, especially when you know volunteerism will never happen, as with taxes.

Let's address some other ills/evils of liberalism, even if they are well-intentioned (the MAIN problem is how you fund these ambitions): Affirmative action. Historic discrimination against blacks in America MUST be overcome! A slavery beginning can NEVER be caught up by all, with a white race head start of 200+ years!

Instead of advancing less-qualified people, based on color, make poor schools get the same or better academic results as even white private schools, whatever the costs! And use lie detectors to detect EEOC-violating hiring discrimination! Employers can, and often do say LIES about why they chose NOT to hire someone! That's easier than facing lawsuits.

We can NOT allow the good 'ol boy system of networking and schmoozing your friends and family to continue, unabated, by no laws regulating their results, which are usually that you hire people like yourself, who you share commonalities with, and know and like, job qualifications all being equal. HOW can an educated black man from a resume address NOT in an upscale zip code expect equal consideration as a frat brother of the H.R. hiring manager? That's discrimination!

Reparations? That's just another angle on getting more money from taxpayers, which I started out saying is liberalism's main problem. MOST whites in America didn't own slaves, and the ones who did have been dead for years and generations!

I'm NOT saying poorer blacks traced to slavery descendants don't suffer any undue hindrances from being relegated to government- or economically-assigned bad areas of town, as in Los Angeles, many decades back (i.e., wards, projects, other side of the tracks, how the other half lives), but reparations are NOT the answer, as they UNfairly punish white slave-owner descendants who had NOTHING to do with it, but especially the vast majority whose relatives had no slaves. The BETTER answer is what I already advocated for... equally-skilled public school graduates, with non-discriminatory hiring practices that use lie detectors!

What about liberalism on abortion, globalism, open borders, sanctuary cities, anchor babies, death penalty, vouchers, the economy, global warming, gun control, BIG government, same sex marriage, The U.N., war and Welfare? I'll address each of these, in order, with answers that are NOT 100 percent liberal or conservative, but with common sense REASONING!

To prevent unsafe, back alley abortions (government functions of health and safety), the feds allow them, and even if states were ever able to ban them, it would be unfair to make women pay to get them done elsewhere (i.e., the Equal Protection clause), and the three exceptions always exist (i.e., rape, incest and the mother's life).

What we should ALL be able to agree on is that it is NOT ideal to have unplanned sex that ends in a pregnancy, and if you never intended to get pregnant, use Plan B within three days, so you kill NO ONE, from your dumb mistake! We should ALL be able to watch and learn what abortions do to babies in the womb, and agree that it's abhorrent, even if it's one's legal right! Anyone who finds pleasure or joy in killing fetuses is warped and sick—a menace to society!

Globalism. America should NEVER consider itself as equally to be considered, in its public policy, as every other nation, because every government is ultimately responsible for its own people. At the same time, putting America first, by U.S. government policy, does NOT work well when we dominate and abuse other nations in trade or military muscle flexing!

No one wants to do business with someone, long-term, who is a jerk, and selfishly wants all the cookies for themselves! In fact, nations band together to oppose such practices! Win-win is the ONLY right answer—NOT dominating and gloating, as 'ugly Americans!'

Open borders is a RIDICULOUS idea (like O'Rourke being for ending ICE), as is protecting lawbreakers, vs. punishing them. The vast majority of people in the world are poor, so if they could find a free way to cross U.S. borders, we'd have the world at our feet, but parking lots for traffic, and job pressures where we'd all be paid peanuts, and a bankrupt safety net, and country!

It's SMART for all first-world nations to ally with poor nations, to get their economies in order, via foreign aid that doesn't pay off evil politicians, and dictators—even for some profit/payback once that's achieved, but throwing money down a rat hole, or not controlling the purse strings is RIDICULOUS!

I'm against giving up any U.S. sovereignty, or one-world laws (i.e., "globalism"), but also against nationalistic, protectionistic entrenchment to only caring about the U.S.! It's a balance, as are most things!

Anchor babies, born to illegals, rewards law-breaking, which is ALWAYS a bad idea, if lawmakers make GOOD laws ('civil disobedience')! Death penalty? If your state's majority is so opposed to it, don't implement it, but you could be making your state a target for deranged mass murderers, because it deters some people, and in heinous situation, is deserved, and God calls it moral, in such cases.

Vouchers SOUND like a way for poor students to get a better education, but they can't always pay the extra amount needed for private school tuition! The conservative rich ALWAYS want something for their tax payments, but that's NOT how taxes always work, so just because a rich person pays taxes for public schools their kids DON'T utilize, doesn't mean taxes shouldn't go to fund public schools!

They label that 'double taxation' (i.e., private school tuition, and unused public school taxes), but attending there was their choice, and society has determined that public schools are a good idea and investment!

The economy. Higher taxes are a business and individual expense, which makes those buyers/consumers less likely (or able) to spend, because they incurred that expense. Yet, government has bills to pay!

A talk radio caller, yesterday, said lower taxes increase government coffers. That is absolute NONSENSE, at a certain point! Has he never heard of the Laffer Curve? Liberal economic theory says invest in infrastructure, raise taxes, increase regulations on business, bailout failing businesses, and get people on the public dole, if they are unemployed.

ONLY as infrastructure repairs are needed, or they improve productivity, and pay for themselves, over time! Too high taxes are a problem, as are too low taxes! Fair and the right amount is the ONLY wise answer!

More or less regulations all depends on the issue. If regulations burden business, by protecting consumers, so be it. If they burden business, just to please government compliance, and paperwork requirements, they're BAD.

They should be the least in number needed! We want successful businesses, so our people are employed! We DON'T want government hiring people for functions not needed to be paid for by taxes, when businesses can use them, and profit off their labors!

Bailouts are rarely, if ever, good public policy! If you can't succeed at business, that's NOT America's problem! If the military, or energy "industries" ever needed some sort of bailout, those functions are essential to America's proper functioning.

Global warming? MOST people are NOT 'gonna ride a bike to work, or carpool with strangers, unless to the same destination, every day! Technology improvements are the answer, to lessen pollution/carbon footprint! Serious business polluters are the worst culprits, as most individuals RARELY drive around for no reason, just because they can afford to pollute the air!

Gun control sounds like a smart idea (i.e., control the use of guns), but let's explore that further! Gun-grabbing means you punish law-abiding gun owners, to try to stop gun violence. Law-abiders are NOT the problem! Controlling guns only makes sense when you speak of murderers and criminals, terrorists and mentally unstable people who wrongly use guns! Find a way to keep those types from accessing weapons, and I'm all onboard for that!

BIG government wastes money, and over-taxes. Those are NOT good traits! Same sex marriage is the law of the land. The feds are NOT 'gonna break up families, or tear up marriage licenses, no matter how often cons try to stack SCOTUS! Live with it! You don't have to agree with their lifestyle, but they, likely, don't agree with several things about a conservative's lifestyle, like greed and selfishness. No one agrees with everyone on everything, all the time!

You lost the Obergefell case! You can teach and influence others NOT to adopt a gay orientation, based on religion, or other reasons, but gay marriages are now legal, and you can't un-do them. And you should NEVER treat anyone as inferior, in hiring or housing practices, just because you hate decisions they make, such as homosexuality!

The U.N. is OFTEN corrupted by allied small rogue nations disrupting good policies! Fix that, or start a new organization! The U.N. could be used for so many good things, but it's very often neutralized by bad procedures, and sectarian biases. America should de-fund it or abandon it, if it can't self-reform, and start being a source of good in the world! I'm ALL for it, in principle, but often against it, in practice. FIX THAT problem!

War is sometimes necessary! (Ecc. 3:8) It's ALWAYS hell, and the last resort! Appeasing evil is evil, but diplomacy is great, unless it breaks down. These answers I give are common sense, and only politically-motivated or stupidly biased people can disagree with clear solutions that avoid extremes!

Finally, Welfare. I was for "workfare" WELL before Chump (as on MANY ideas he loves to 'lift'/steal from us). I'm NOT against $3,000 a year, maximum, to temporarily help a family through tough times! I know how life is in the poorest of areas, as I go see it with my own eyes.

I don't just live in a rich area of own, and stick my ostrich head in the sand, to ignore others' plight! Compulsory civic service as token repayment is, again, my solution, as people ought not, medium- to long-term, get anything for free, except via charities. Help people on Welfare buy smarter, live within their budget, and get better job skills!

Government, businesses, individuals, charities and churches ALL have a part to play, because severe poverty CAN and must be eliminated in the U.S.A., and NO ONE ought to have to starve, or miss a meal, or die because they're poor, and can't access basic healthcare needs. This is common sense politics—NOT status quo!

So now that I've addressed nearly all major "liberal" issues (excepting the fact that animals are NOT humans, with legal standing in court, though they should ALL be protected, and treated right, by businesses and individuals), DON'T YOU LIKE centrist views, that avoid the bad in liberalism and conservatism?

It's the extremists who make the headlines (the squeaky wheel gets the grease), as do the bullies. Conservatives say 'NO' to all that costs more money; liberals say government isn't spending enough, when we're at $22 trillion in debt. BOTH extremes are WRONG in both these positions! I've showed you what is RIGHT! #JustDoIt

By the way, DID YOU KNOW, for a rabid political conservative, EVERYONE who doesn't agree with them on nearly every issue, is a "liberal," and that word, to them, is a synonym for satanic devil! Talk radio will confirm this observation every day. To them, conservatives are all angels and gods. Amazing!

If you're a liberal, literally send in your extra tax contribution, or give away all those freebies in your own state, but NEVER come stealing from other states, using the feds to subsidize that unwise, though good-intentioned initiative! People HAVE to learn to live within their means, and have no hands out!

Poor people should NEVER have kids they can't afford! I didn't say have no kids, but BUDGET! Kids are an expense! They are NOT society's burden—YOU birthed them! It may take a village to set boundaries for their rearing/upbringing, but NOT their costs. YOU made that! Make the baby daddy pay up, too!

MINORITY MATTERS

(11/7/18)

Last night, a female NBC pundit said liberalism is how you get out the minority vote. Let's ANALYZE that! That claim MEANS minorities are INCAPABLE of economic success, apart from government! It MEANS whites (the TEMPORARY majority) can economically succeed without government aid.

Do minorities REALLY believe that, and feel inferior in their skills and abilities, or that the system is stacked against them? There IS white privilege, but it is NOT overcome by asking for handouts, because that's EXACTLY what liberalism IS! Ask the tax payers to give something to people who don't pay in as much, if at all!

EVERYONE likes getting free stuff, but do you want to depend on politicians for your livelihood, and don't you feel GUILTY asking the white majority for a handout, vs. a hand-up? There are MANY minorities who succeed in America! They do NOT ask Uncle Sam for anything free! Free college, free healthcare, etc.

That is PROOF that your skin color has NOTHING to do with your ability to succeed! INSTEAD of asking for our national debt to increase even more irresponsibly, be for ALL politicians who are for THESE solutions to poor people of ALL colors:

Equal funding of all schools, no matter their economic plight; laws enforced concerning equal opportunity (NO subtle discrimination by NOT revealing why minorities were REALLY not hired—EEOC); minorities banding together for buying leverage in their own communities; minority neighborhoods banding together to make urban development profitable for businesses; learning how to buy smart; opposing all racial hatred and demeaning, especially in public, and verbally—never violently; mentor program for people in 'hoods and barrios, to be able to see role models; bus tours of rich neighborhoods, by poorer youth, so they can dream of a better future; high police presence, so murders and robberies (often from gangs and drugs), CEASE; single mothers forced by law to be paid by the baby momma's dad, by wage levies and garnishment (i.e., child support); charity reinvestment in rundown areas of town, by lawn maintenance, painting homes, fixing appliances, and generally giving them hope, and pride in ownership; teaching youth in public schools that sports and rap are NOT their only way out (they can excel in STEM careers, if tutors are engaged, and made available to them), and their rundown schools get cleaned up (i.e., infrastructure and repairs); special teaching methods applied to any students who don't learn the traditional way; black male heroes stepping up to fill a father's role in single parent families; KEEPING cultural traditions (where Hispanics, for example, don't feel pressured to abandon any good habits from their homeland); opposing all white supremacy and white privilege; and paying teachers in distressed areas enough to make qualified ones want to be there, despite the despair and dangers.

I am for EVERY one of these initiatives! I'm NOT for handouts, excepting $3,000 maximum Welfare, temporarily, but I'm for subsidized minimal healthcare, repaid by compulsory token civic service repayment.

THESE solutions FIX minority challenges, while not punishing innocents in the majority, who are NOT anti-minority (anti-minority types DESERVE punishing)! The answer is not handouts, or asking government to solve your economic challenges by government programs, but making you as capable of self-sufficiency as humanly possible, with government help (less financial than educational and motivational).

Conservatism IS an attack on you (i.e., just fend for yourself in a free market)! Liberalism IS an over-helping of you! The ONLY reasonable solution to any plight you experience is what I just detailed to and for you. VOTE for it, when given the opportunity! Be smart for yourself and your future's opportunities!

MORAL MUSINGS REGARDING GOVERNMENT

(10/30/18)

Red states begrudge federal dollars used for blue state policies, while blue states resent subsidizing poorer red states. BOTH sides can learn, respectively, less selfishness (red), and more frugality (blue). They may say, we don't want to, but DON'T push your values on the other color states!

The BIGgest MYTH about taxes is you are to get your money's worth, AS IF it's a business transaction. There are MANY things government does that you may not like, or want them to, but if they're needed, or good/important, taxes are a duty, NOT a consumer purchase! Hyper individualism HATES corporate actions of the feds!

Where non-essential government services can be done by business or charities, it should be. The catch is when those two can't get the job done, because of not enough donations (charities), or too little profit (business). People clamor for government to do things, as force is often faster and easier than nagging/begging for good causes to be funded.

IF every good cause got solved, we would have NO rich people. If NO problems got solved, we would have more rich people, or at least many more richer middle class folks. Charity and compulsory civic service are great answers to allow the most people to retire in comfort, without neglecting significant curbing of problems.

If EVERY billionaire implemented the Giving Pledge, plus government got streamlined, everyone paid N a fair share (like civic service, vs. taxes, for our the poorest), and charities streamlined, churches, businesses and individuals stepped up, we would all be as wealthy as needed, many much more, and problems addressed.

It's ALWAYS easy to clamor and vote for spending Other People's Money for good causes, but it's NOT right! At the same time, it's NOT right to be able to help cure causes in society, and choose to do little-to-nothing. If non-tax paying citizens engaged compulsory civic service, spending OPM would be less offensive.

If government prioritized, never wasted money, and efficiently and effectively did its job, like a business does (though not for profit), people would begrudge taxes less. However, there will ALWAYS be conservatives who say no, and oppose EVERYTHING but keeping all their money, and wanting lower taxes, even after tax cuts!

The two BEST case studies appear to be Texas vs. California, for small vs. bigger government, at least according to conservatives. New York comes in there, too. Independent research needs to be conducted to disprove myths, like Cali restricts their people all the time, is always near bankrupt, and hates business. Texas politicians tout this a lot!

This will sound preposterous, but when you're living in a venue with very little scenery, toy seem to care less about the environment! I know, because I've lived in flat areas with few eye candy sites! Unless and until you live in a beautiful place, God-made vs. man-made, you may never relate. DFW's beauty is man-made.

If you pushed a true political conservative, proving their theory is selfish, they'll say I don't care—I like it! This is where religion and conscience kicks into the equation, for any so inclined, as God opposes that attitude. However, cons who care nothing about morals aren't convinced by that truth.

The number one reason liberals are accused of being poor with budgeting is because they are willing to spend other people's money, also—NOT just OPM. Cons LOVE to act like libs pay zero taxes, and spend tax dollars like they're water, but many libs pay into the Treasury. Those who don't NEED skin in the game of government!

Conservatives usually claim the Constitution requires the smallest government possible. This is the ONLY moral basis they cling to, because their Bible doesn't teach such chinchiness. SCOTUS and the people have a say in what the feds spend, as a Constitutional conservative always opposes most all government spending.

I guess the reason conservatives always ask for taxes too low to pay our nation's bills is they blame our debt on liberals, so why would they bail them out? They NEVER agree they're selfish, just responsible, but we, as a nation, owe our debt, whether we agreed to it being spent, or vigorously opposed it!

I've listened to a MONTH of midterms TV political ads. EVERY appeal of the far right is taxes are too damn high, and need to be lower, and everyone NOT in their cult, or camp, is a "liberal," meaning they LOVE throwing money down a drain/rat hole, apparently only conservatives' money! It's HILARIOUS to watch!

Liberals and moderates NEED to see the reality that the rich DO pay higher tax percentages (if they don't weasel out, by loopholes), and do have BIG tax bills, and they get LEGITIMATELY enraged that anyone can vote for the feds spending money, when they pay in NOTHING in taxes! That's a 100 percent legitimate gripe that MUST be fixed!

The Giving Pledge rich UNDERSTAND how some of their excess can be used for the good of society. Same with generous philanthropists. A public revealing of 1040's would SILENCE rich conservatives claiming they want to give freely, vs. compulsedly! Conveniently, they hide behind privacy laws. #Hypocrisy

If government NEVER wasted tax dollars, and ALWAYS got good deals and the best bang for the buck, they would get more buy-in from some conservatives, for their many endeavors, and if NO citizen lacked skin in the game, some conservative rich would NOT begrudge their taxes as much. Just Do It!

EVERY time ANY politician proposes or promises anything, the media or citizen constituents NEED to ask, publicly, 'HOW ARE YOU GOING TO PAY FOR IT?' With a $22 trillion debt, it is NOT like there's some hidden money bag, or money growing on government trees! We've got to learn to do more with less, as a nation! Businesses do so.

Priorities are how you streamline government. Understand that there will ALWAYS be loud mouths clamoring for the rights of snail darters, but if D.C. addressed priorities, well, no one would have any legitimate basis for complaint! Tweaking more minor issues is always a matter of not having enough money to work with!

DID YOU KNOW, some people view charities as a compassionate way to be selfishly greedy? The kindness is mainly a ruse for personal gain. Payouts to recipients, and total compensation of 501C-3 executives ought ALWAYS guide your giving! Legitimate ones are in "business" to help OTHERS, vs. themselves first! Donate accordingly.

The GREATEST initiative America could engage, for American citizens, would be for business, government, charities, churches and individuals to "adopt a poor person" for mentoring! I believe severe poverty can be eliminated, if they receive the education and motivation, skills and contacts to pull themselves out!

If conservatives adopted poor people for mentoring, they would lose a major target on their backs! If liberals never wasted a dollar on government programs, they would do the same. I'm NOT trying to get red states to become blue, or vice versa, but encourage us all to behave better. To do so, you're less of a target!

Let me clue you into something... The feds should NEVER be passing policies to mainly make the rich richer (Levit. 19:15)! THEY HAVE IT MADE! It is NOT they who need "help," even if they legally bribe sinful politicians! If you're rich, go experience the daily life of the non-rich, to see the majority's daily reality.

And NO lazy poor person deserves one dime from our government! ONLY when you're maxxed out, and still struggling, should a LITTLE be offered you, temporarily, and only to bridge the gap, to keep you from bankruptcy. Voting won't fix your economic problem; getting better job and buying skills WILL, and for the long haul! Wise up.

Here's the TRICK of the political conservative: Anytime a good idea is suggested, that they claim is NOT in the Constitution, they parrot that document's existence, because they KNOW in our divisive political climate, NO amendments to that great document could ever be possible. It's a way to keep status quo!

Things which make states unique, that aren't immoral, ought to be maintained. The things which make them unique, from non-moral values, need to be changed. This is how states' rights ought to be practiced, in real life! You have no God-given right to traditions that aren't good for America, red or blue!

With so many people moving to Texas, its red status will be in jeopardy, one day. If high tax states learned to do more with less, perhaps they would not lose as many businesses, or people, to places like the Lone Star state. We don't want tons of traffic, though business opportunities are great, but the internet could do about the same.

Finances are how we legally discriminate, in America. If you don't want as many people flocking to my state, you raise taxes high. If you don't want to live near poor people, you raise property taxes high. If you want to keep your country club exclusive, make membership fees high. Thus, the rich socialize in tight circles.

If you NEVER want to see poor people living their lives, it's easy to do, living in richer areas of town. That can also blind you to their problems and concerns, and even make you arrogant that everyone in your social circles live life everyone should be able to achieve, because everyone you know (i.e., subjective experience) was able to. That's idiotic delusion.

I suggest EVERY American poor person take a bus tour to a very rich area of town, to start dreaming of how your life could possibly be, given the right circumstances and effort! You NEED to see, beyond what TV shows you, that there are people who can afford to help you out of poverty, and should mentor you!

I met a dude in the voting line who mentored a poorer African-American (noble!), by his own testimony, to get him off the Welfare rolls! He helped him with engineering tests, and bragged he owned a ranch he escaped to. He said everything boils down to incentivizing—as if all poor people can be rich.

Everyone cannot be rich. Everyone capable of being rich can be, but the global and U.S. economy are a pyramid, with the best-paying jobs on the top. It will NEVER become an upside down pyramid, or a box with all rich people. Romney said he wished everyone were rich. That's a Pinocchio pipe dream that will NEVER happen!

Here's EXACTLY why everyone can't be rich: Business owners will never pay every employee handsomely, or they'd go bankrupt (and it's not fair, if undeserved), and not every business will be highly successful, and our economies cannot sustain a business for every U.S. citizen! The poor NEED education for how to live higher paying lower, as I've done for ten years!

IF you meet politicians who advocate such common sense, workable solutions concerning life, vote for them! If you don't, challenge them to be better thinkers, and hence, better leaders. Please vote for every "Pledged Politician" in 2020, from ANY party! @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin @2020Victory @PledgersArchive

Update: Extremes & Being Yourself

(11/1/18)

EXTREMISTS buy into the notion that to draw contrasts between yourself and your opponents, your views must be intensely diametrically opposed and polar opposite. I 100 percent DISagree! You need to state your case, have a great, laydown hand case, and let the chips fall on the merits of your offer(s)!

That last post means it's O.K. to have some positions in common with your political opponent, because the ONLY issue is having RIGHT positions, and it's statistically impossible that your opponent won't sometimes see what's right, also! No one can be wrong all the time, but strive to be right as often as possible!

Red vs. blue only leads to figurative blood red. It's O.K. for some states to lean one way or the other, but national policy NEEDS to bridge the gap, and centristically find common ground, and ONLY favor one side or the other ONLY when that side is clearly morally right, and the other clearly morally wrong.

Example: Goldilocks government... Not too small or too big. Red states want small, blue ones want big. Federally, it should be inbetween, or "just right." State-wise, they're free to be as big or small as their citizens demand. Are these concepts that hard to understand? They're #CommonSense, hopefully to you!

At the very same time, red states NEED to learn to empathize with the most vulnerable in their state, while encouraging them to be self-sustaining, and blue states need budgeting discipline, and empathy for the tax payer's plight, paying for it all. Moral improvement is a never ending pursuit! #Kaizen!

State colors are not always forever, with shifting populations. The MOST consistent color should be purple—states open to new ideas that are good, but also holding to traditions which are good. Goodness must be the standard, over either tradition, or disdain for tradition! Continual improvement should be the U.S. motto!

And INDIVIDUALLY, you ought to be continually assessing the morality of your belief system's political views, because NEITHER party is perfect! The day you buy into the lies that yours IS, you cease having credibility not only as a critical thinker, but as a thinker at all—only a duped feeler! #Voters

And evil politicians LOVE gullible sheep! I'm tempted to say no more... just let that marinate in your head. Becoming smarter is NOT that hard when you hang with the learned, and ingest their good ideas! NO need to reinvent the wheel, and U.S.A. needs the smartest workers on the planet. THAT is how you do it! Duh 101

The time for debating and thinking up good policy is ended; time for its implementation!

One more issue, on extremism and extremists: They serve a noble purpose, to draw attention to under-served purposes, but usually not for public policy! Sometimes it takes major/maximum thrust to get a rocket ship off the ground, but once gravity is transcended, and critical mass has been achieved, you mellow out some, and let momentum carry you!

The Bible teaches balance! Pv. 20:23, but it does approve of one "extreme"—commitment to Jesus (Rev. 3:15), yet even it tempers that intensity with boundaries (Ecc. 7:16), and God extolls believers to be reasonable; dare I say rational? (Mt. 22:37; Jas. 3:17)

I know of ZERO political extremes which are helpful to America as federal policy! You always have two parties' interests to consider, as a broker, and unless one side advocates evil, you must "split the baby" (I Ki. 3) in the right way. Both and, vs. either/or!...

We ALL must be for cleaner air and successful U.S. businesses!

We must ALL be for a nation able to defend itself, but not dominate others.

We must ALL be for no waste in government, but no severe needy, either.

We must ALL decry violence, but not deny good people's right to self-defend.

We must ALL put our country first, and ourselves second. It isn't easy to do.

Extreme is NOT in the eye of the beholder, though it will be in the eyes of biased beholders; extremes selfishly neglect the other party to transactions, even if for good causes. IF America goes down the path of my-way-or-the-highway, we will be at a dead end, and two ships passing in the night, vs. the UNITED states!

Political TV ads have become so much touting the evils of the opponent, I'm to the point I am skeptical of all politician's claims concerning their opponent. Campaign strategists NEED to invent TV ads that, with positivity, rebut lies and false allegations, and turn it into a character problem with the lying opponent.

Unless and until every citizen has skin in the game, by some form of contribution, any and all government actions are an attack on the wealthy, and others who pay our government's bills! This is NOT fair, and IS a legitimate gripe of the right. NO MORE ~50 percent voting for things only others pay for! Token repayment compulsory civic service!

It's natural and fair for earlier generations to NOT want to fund programs they didn't have access to in earlier days! It's natural for people to vote for government to give them things for free, but it's NOT responsible, and often not fair to taxpayers, or those who didn't have access to such things earlier on. Think about it.

OPERATION (CIA) CYA

(1/27/18)

Robert Jeffress had the audacity of questioning the Christian worldview of leaders who disagreed with him on three issues. Here's a Christian rebuttal of all three, and a LOT more. That man was personally exhorted to publicly commit to LEAD his church to evangelize all people going to Hell near that building FOUR years ago. NOTHING.

He KNOWS we have and will ever more publicly expose that neglect, so now he COPIES sermon themes of our family's pastor, who I nagged for five+ years, behind the scenes, to do BIBLICAL priorities, and that man DID change some things. FBC Dallas, today, has a sermon series on discipleship, and literally imitated two such topics: How to go to Heaven, and how to live an extraordinary life.

He now has TV ads to counter all the bad press, and moral-theological hassles of being CHUMP's diligent lap dog (JUST like Falwell had to for his university), from the likes of Dr. Russell Moore and Erick Erickson, among others!

This is CYA. He's desperately—NOW, four years later—trying to say he's doing top priorities, because he knows the heat of public outing is coming...

So let's cover Bob Jeffress' FALSE allegations (or fake claims): Opponents are embarrassed we predicted DJTs win, wrongly. I'm absolutely elated I got it wrong, for I would have stayed in the political fold with a shepherd like him, had Hillary won, and now I see what a false world it was, politically.

Now, as to substance: Christian opponents don't share a Christian worldview? A Christian worldview is 'EDBS,' Bobby, and you rebel against implementation. A Christian worldview is NOT so stupid that it thinks the Jews, in THIS dispensation, have a legal, moral or political right to all the land of Israel! After all, since 70 A.D., when they were dispersed, others took over the land, and you 100 percent FAIL to address any legal rights those later inhabitants have to retain that stake.

Jeffress claims our type Christians consider Arabs equal with Jews. ALL men are equal, Bobby. Jews are specially chosen of God, and in the Millennium they'll get all the land, but the Tribulation hasn't occurred, yet, and YOUR man [Chump] started the dominoes falling for its transpiring!

ONLY an IDIOT would believe cutting off Arab funding from America, changing the capital's venues, and declaring Israel as the Jews' land was 'progress' in peace dealings. You fit that description, Bob. Sorry.

As one critic said of your ilk, you're WAY out of your league, advising politicians! NO broker favors one side, and expects to remain the broker, or to get a deal! The only response I see your type engage is to discredit all media sources that don't parrot your mantras on this issue!

THANKS, Trump and Jeffress, for this progress in world peace, and prophecy transpiring (sarcasm). We don't protect the unborn, over dreamers (said a tweet of his)? Forget dreamers in this discussion, as unrelated and tangential (get a dictionary for that word, Bob).

The fact that we BOTH want NO abortions, but you want to force a minority view on America, and I want it voluntary is our ONLY difference, but you have NEVER thought through your position.

You just rile up people you keep dumbed-down (another term used by your hated critics) for GOP votes! This has NOTHING to do with Christian worldview, but political power, Bobby.

Finally, you assert that your Christian critics want Colorado bakers to make cakes for gays. Wrong again, Robbie. If there are other businesses in the area, they shouldn't be forced to violate their religious conscience, and if not, they can hire a worker for one hour to spread the icing and place the ornaments atop.

It won't matter one iota (a Bible term) that we have 100 percent rebutted and shut down the bogus claims of Mr. Jeffress. He will continue spouting his non-sense, and supporting a non-sense president! He's NOT open to the truth, but spewing propaganda, all 'in Jesus name.' God sees all.

And throw Falwell and Franklin (Graham) into that exact same mix. These Christian Cabal members will do the future following: Praise and support Chump, continue TV ads and public Christian events, to APPEAR like leaders of Christian voters, keep their buddies like Roger Williams and Louie Gohmert on the talk radio and church speaking circuit, as with three other heroes of the faith I've admired, here (so I won't name them), but they're from Cali, South America and Tennessee.

They'll continue advising Chump on biblically flawed policy, ruining peace prospects in the Middle East, ginning up alt-right support of white privilege and NO safety net (like Frank Graham), doing public political P.R. events, NEVER debating critics, never repenting or apologizing or admitting faults, never fully evangelizing their neighbors or discipling their members, and claim they hold the mantle of Jesus in their hands.

One exception to this prediction: They monitor this Twitter file, so anytime I predict anything about, specifically, they'll continue to organize public shows of the exact opposite, to make my predictions look wrong. If that's the only way to get God's so-called 'leaders' to do the right thing, I'm glad to have been used in the process (and the predictions served their purpose).

Update #1: Christian Political Positions
(1/27/18)

[Hannity's Twitter account is temporarily shut down] Speaking of Hannity, the alt-right (who I've monitored on the radio for two weeks) is OBCESED with the mainstream media. They are SO jealous, even though Franklin Graham says Fox is the top dog in the ratings.

Limbaugh noted mainstream's power, and Salem Communication's talk host sided with a lawsuit of a hate speech suit being banned by Google.

NewsMax had a radio and of the "best conservative minds," as they must be capitalizing on Breitbart's hurt since Bannon's demise, and can one honestly say a mind is needed by people who parrot conservative talking points, positively, all day? I've listened for 25 years. They are NEVER open to any other ideas—just rote memory mantras!

The number one strategy is to discredit the mainstream media in the minds of people inclined to vote for DJT, on radio, at churches, and likely on Christian TV and radio (I hardly tune in, so I'm guessing on that one).

And keep it POSITIVE! Make them think CHUMP is killing it, because the rich are getting richer—no one else, anytime soon.

ISIS is pushed back (something I suggested WAY BEFORE Chump even entered the race), regulations are relaxed (though that can harm consumers; no one knows which ones were ended, hardly), and Jerusalem is deemed by ONE NATION as Israel's capital and embassy venue—which WILL lead to Bible prophecy. Success? Ha! Jesus is a Republican, guns are awesome, gays are to be hated, and we need coat hangers for abortions.

For any new to talk radio (Christian or secular), here are their topics: DJT is secular Jesus, conservatism means perfection, whites rule, money is God, safety nets are evil, business does NO wrong, all immigrants are evil, and all Democrats and the mainstream media and government are enemies.

Private property and the Constitution are absolute laws from God, the poor are all lazy, the military is the only correct federal expenditure, America can dominate other nations, NO problems exist with Capitalism, RINO's are evil, talk radio ONLY spews truth, and all others are inferior, and unenlightened.

In contrast, here are Christian political positions: Be opposed to abortion for contraception; be against discriminating against gays (while maintaining that homosexuality is a sin); be for the poor being helped, to be self-sustaining; be for non-violent Jews and Arabs; be for top-notch education; be for a growing economy that leaves no one out; be for America leading in treatment of other nations; be for war as a last resort, and for peace-making; be against severe pollution and environmental ruin, and all animal cruelty; be for law and order, and a just judicial system; be against covertly bribed politicians, through lobbyists; be for the people, and overall, support all efforts at justice and peace. These are NOT white church vs. black church positions, but Christian positions, @RobertJeffress @Franklin_Graham @JerryfalwellJr Your "worldview" is GOP-centric! (1/27/18)

Related Tweets

[Private account:] Robert Jeffress says that evangelical faith leaders that criticize Trump don't actually adhere to the evangelical worldview <http://bit.ly/2EcEnp7>

IDIOTIC analysis, and defending dumbed-down parishioners HE keeps dumbed down! He's WRONG on EVERY allegation, and I'll debate him on this or anything else, ANYTIME! @RobertJeffress

Summary: "Leaders" FOLLOW the whims and idiocies of those they "lead." HE leads from behind!

Summary: Jesus only matters in church—NOT real life. <http://bit.ly/2BPEf1k>

[ANOTHER sell-out of morality! Franklin Graham Praises Trump As Staunch Defender Of Christianity <https://yhoo.it/2nPmx5g>]

Tweets from Robert Jeffress' Twitter account (1/27-30/18):

Significant people understand you commit your life to things that will outlast it. Extraordinary life sermon series. (January, 2018)

God's power is not limited to a particular person. (1/16/18)

Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age.—Matthew 28:19-20

Join me this morning at First Baptist Dallas for worship and to hear my brand-new message, "Discipleship is Transforming!".

What is the definition of faith?

The righteous will live by his faith.—Habakkuk 2:4

A disciple has a growing relationship with Christ.

The kingdom of Heaven is like a treasure hidden in the field, which a man found and hid; and from joy over it he goes and sells at that he has, and buys that field.—Matthew 13:44

President @realDonaldTrump is fulfilling his belief that religious liberty is not a gift from government but a gift from God. Watch my interview from @LouDobbs Tonight on @FoxBusiness. —Robert Jeffress (7/27/18)

Update #2: Future Cabal CYA's
(2/5/18)

The sad, but hilarious thing about the Christian Cabal's reputation CYA mission (ex.: FBC Dallas, and ~ATT stadium, Revival 2018, et al) is they take our posts PERSONALLY, when I've said it's for all OTHER pastors, and their (two men's) acts NEVER cover for their ministry peers!

Even if these actions are done to prove my predictions "wrong," Phil. 1:18 applies, we as the but-for cause. EMBARRASSING!

The Christian Cabal is doing everything in their power to make my criticisms of U.S. pastors' failures at top priorities SEEM untrue, as they do major events on those topics at a handful of prominent churches, to make my complaints seem false.

They FAIL to reconcile that with the fact that we've been calling for 'EDBS' priorities for more than nine years (in DFW, then across America, and their motive is so they appear holy in still supporting Chump in 2020. It DOESN'T matter that support is still evil, and they represent only two or three men, out of the THOUSANDS of U.S. pastors! That fact escapes them!

They'll likely claim that many pastors hosted watch parties, or preached on discipleship. ANYthing to lessen the negative impact of our TRUTHful criticisms, when this thing goes more public! The public already knows their hypocrisy, and NO stand for morality of Chump-backing pastors, so they AREN'T fooled.

Two years from now, they could claim I was whistling in the wind, and point to this months+ efforts as "proof" I didn't know what I was talking about. But they waited three+ years to do it, after our behind-the-scenes pressure and promptings.

And the funniest part, for me, is that the two lead dogs who are doing major evangelism already did their part, as we already tweeted. It's the OTHER U.S. pastors who STILL can't comprehend their need to evangelize every lost soul near their un-commanded church buildings! They're STILL accountable for this!

This Cabal LOVED our ideas. They begged me to run. Now they're sell-outs to LESSER ideas. That's a backboneless flip-flop. They KNOW good ideas and character don't matter to THEM (NOT I), and it's mainly because Chump is SO weak that he'll seek Roe's overturn, where that is the wrong way, to me, unless the majority in America want it decided on a state level.

They not only WON'T get their dream, they have ruined reputations, and Christ's name, backing Satan, who tries to do their bidding enough to win Christian votes—his ONLY interest!

I MUST repeat: This Cabal LOVED our ideas. They KNOW they're superior to the one who had FEW, and stole perhaps five (documented in our Wit and Wisdom book—namely, USA #1, controlled borders, defeat ISIS, improve the economy, and help the middle class, from over-outsourcing and over-immigration).

Yet, for all our policies that are biblical, wanting abortions lessened by convincing majority opinion (vs. law repeals) is unacceptable to a bunch of OLD men.

The Cabal is DESPERATE, before death, to un-do what they let pass on their watch—Roe. Culture shifts, and government must protect citizen safety! These OLD pastors have NO skill, apparently, at convincing women not to abort, so they buddy up to Hitler number two.

I can't help laughing out loud, this morning, as the Lord keeps showing me how they operate! Some among them TRY to fake nice to us, but they're 100 percent down with the plan (crafted between March 2015 and June 23, 2016), that policy is everything for a Roe overturn, and nothing in the world matters but that, including morals!

Just watch the ACTS (NOT words, necessarily) of the evangelical council the next two years. They are in the tank for DJT, and HE forces loyalty, even at the cost of men's consciences!

I Cor. 9:17 is my word to the Christian Cabal. Meaning? When you get pressured/forced/compelled to do the right thing, from YEARS of pushing in private, and do so because you know the media will expose it when it is disclosed, that motive is NOT rewarded, but a stewardship is entrusted to you!

Very strange "coincidence," the Duck Commander account just (briefly) dropped by. That was another Cabal antic: Get the handful of famous Christians in the media/Hollywood to boost their profile in backing Chump as being God's will for all Christians (implied).

MANY Christians didn't agree. It's all "image"... project the appearance that they lead the church, that Christians are behind them and are united, that DJT is a Christian, that the GOP has a monopoly of Christian policies (title it "conservative"), and get famous last-named boys to step in their dads' shoes, because sheep are too stupid not to let the greatest generation's reputations transfer to that next generation.

AS IF Billy is Franklin, Jerry is Jerry Jr. It doesn't matter they're OPPOSITE in MANY ways! Dumbed-down parishioners (from watered-down sermons, or better: Not ensuring daily quiet times, or relationally discipling) will notice name recognition, and that (plus some PR stunt events that get televised/media) will rile up votes! EVERY other detail about how they execute(d) this plan is in this book.

PARTIAL BIRTH, PARTIAL TRUTHS

(10/21/16)

.@SeanHannity You may not have heard him well (in the last debate), but Trump is ONLY offended if partial birth abortions happen 4-5 days before the due date, HYPOCRITE!

Trumpundits tout Chump as an anti-abortion hero, when ALL he ever does is adopt new positions to please the crowd! He's been pro-life VERY shortly!

My abortion stance has been stable for decades. Trump insincerely flip-flops. He's so uninformed, he didn't even know how to appeal to Christians before recently!

Let's reiterate for the last time what MANY Christians seem too deluded to acknowledge: ALL at-will abortions for contraception are sinful.

Partial birth abortions are too—except possibly to save a mother's life (a family decision alone). Rape and incest reasonings are still the killing a baby-in-process, but theirs to decide.

It's HYPOCRITICAL to stack the Supreme Court (SCOTUS) to the right or left and say your opponent politicizes the court with activist judges!

And saying abortion rights are NOT in the Constitution or are in it are BOTH wrong statements. Specifically it is not there, but that's why we have SCOTUS—to decide what is consistent with its prescriptions (Ex.: Social Security's not there either) specifically, though the phrase/concept "general welfare" can include it.

If you FORCED a Roe overturn by stacking the court (against conservative principles; i.e., politicizing), some states would outlaw all abortions, and unsafe, back alley coat hanger abortions may occur, and if those mothers died as a result they could sue the state, whose job it is to ensure the safety of its citizens.

It is from GUILT of older pastors who FAILED when Roe passed in the late 1970's, and from an UNwillingness to do the HARD work of changing public opinion that has shifted and convince women out of an abortion that many Christians become ignorant in being single-issue voters on abortion, when America faces SO many other issues, as well!

If you are so for life, GO EVANGELIZE, Christians! Birthed humans lose life forever without Jesus, while sinfully murdered unborn babies go to heaven!

And if you cared that much, you would try to counsel women out of them, and get abortion videos in front of as many unbelievers as possible! Have you? Society shifted because the church got introspectively chasing fame and fortune.

We lost the culture wars, and now people want legal precedent and the law of the land to be changed. Even activist SCOTUS justices are not that fickle, or they (and especially their decisions) would lose our respect!

Go look up the word 'precedent,' and after you do, go have a conversation with a stranger to start the long process of changing society attitudes.

I am MORE pro-life than many pro-life Republicans, because I understand that ALL people NEED to be evangelized, and I've done something about it for 20+ years!

Even the Bible distinguishes between a person who has exited his mother's womb, and those who have not yet (John 3).

If Republican voters REALLY want to end all abortions:

1. You are delusional—it will NEVER happen;
2. Have relationships with lost people, like Jesus did, so you can speak into their lives;
3. Teach contraception and abstinence (though the former is more thorough, and covers any failure of the latter);
4. Educate the public about abortion procedures (pastors—DO IT!);
5. Pray;
6. Pass any Constitutional laws to restrict abortions; and
7. Pay all costs and be emotional support for women you convince to take to term their unborn child/ pregnancy! DO IT.

You want it easy—one vote to stack SCOTUS. You have YET to think through your view, but is that surprising? Emotional knee jerk is easy—it doesn't require thought!

Any and every woman ever reading this: IF you're considering aborting, decide SOON! The longer your embryo baby grows, the more evil your killing of it is (and is felt by him or her)!

Any and every woman ever reading this: IF you're considering aborting, WATCH YOUR SONOGRAM, and pray. Use that conscience you've had before! Eyes wide open!

Any and every woman ever reading this: IF you're considering aborting, film the procedure so you can see what you're choosing to do to your progeny! It's FACTual.

Life begins at inception, and fertilization takes up to two days. The BEST decision for an unwanted pregnancy is Plan B—NOT waiting until the child has heartbeat, or worse.

The phrase 'unviable tissue mass' is only half true—it's not viable till later, but EXAMINE that mass... It has a HUMAN figure, shape and PARTS (both internal and external) for a reason! And you know it. #TRUTH.

I don't conveniently fit into any easy label category, but I REJECT being called pro-abortion, and I'm for life! READ our argument, as it's moral and rational.

Hypocrisy watch: America's gay marriage law HASN'T made homosexuality any more moral or less heinous a sin, yet Trumpster Christians don't speak on overturning it!

Why? Because they KNOW there will be public backlash in numbers from its freshness as a law, proving again that public sentiment is often KEY to SCOTUS decisions being passed or accepted!

PROOF positive that Laura @IngrahamAngle made a MORONIC statement that #NeverTrump GOP's are for partial birth abortions. You are demonstrated to be a liar! Proved... (10/21/16)

[Retweeted] HOW, as a Methodist, could you EVER support this? <http://bit.ly/2dvsnAN> @HillaryClinton It's Ghoulis, cruel, killing a life. You NEED to reconsider! (10/5/16)

ANY response or retraction, or is red meat rhetoric more valuable to you than truth, in a heated election? @IngrahamAngle I expect no reply—immoral! (10/21/16)

POLARIZED POLITICS & WEALTH REDISTRIBUTION

(9/12/16)

Polarized politics exposes deep-rooted beliefs, values, priorities and differences! Because the rules are few, it also shows sin in all its NON-glory!

Relatedly, I APOLOGIZE to all Americans for any and claiming Christians who express hatred for @HillaryClinton. God does NOT allow such, but the Devil DOES!

I've heard PASTORS confess God is independent (which is TRUE), then everything they do implies that the GOP is His party 100 percent. SIN and hypocrisy—repent!

We humans often really hate when others differ from our values and beliefs, as we believe we're right, and anything else is harmful to America. It's called having closed minds.

I'm embarrassed, ashamed and I renounce and separate (temporarily) from any so-called Christian avidly for Trump! They forsake God for power idolatry—obviously!

Almost every act and word out of Trump's mouth for 7/8ths of his campaign were fully sinful and evil, so any Christian avidly for him is carnal in that choice.

Jeb Bush said 'you can't insult your way to the White House' (which is TRUE). It AMAZES me a few "Christians" are OK with you sinning your way there. Apostasy in the making!

Religion (including Christianity) is more than almost everything else, a belief in a commitment to living morally good. Hypocrisy is NOT that, Trump Christians!

Especially Christianity, where we claim and own a direct relation to Jesus, morals should affect our politics! God doesn't give you a pass in election years.

But Jim, those Supreme Court (SCOTUS) picks—we want SCOTUS stacked to force God's values. America is NOT a theocracy, and what specific policies, less-than-intelligent ones?

We want SCOTUS to end gay marriage and Roe. OFTEN people use these moral-sounding ideals to MASK that they simply HATE government taking their money through taxes!

You lost. You were asleep at the wheel, chasing money and fame (i.e., the mega church trend), and LET culture shift, so gay marriage passed! You were changing FEW minds.

You certainly WEREN'T engaging culture on reasons to oppose gay marriage; mainly preaching to the choir and stirring up hatred of homosexuals for votes.

And abortion has been the law of the land for a generation. You have NOT convinced the public majority to ban them entirely. Again, more preaching to the choir.

You've made some progress on restricting them, but single-issue voters (as with these two issues) are naive on the MANY major problems the U.S. faces!

If you want LESS abortions, converse with women considering them, and not so much at the last minute when they're walking into a clinic (with your protest signs)! Relationships!

Make your case in the public arena OUTSIDE your church, with REASONS (not just Bible verses—this is NOT a theocracy).

And you MUST deal with the three exceptions of rape, incest and the mother's life, and deal with the consequences of UN-safe, back alley coat hanger abortions! YOU MUST deal with this intellectually!

Government's job, above many other things, is to keep citizens safe. Do private things better and more intensely if this issue bothers you so.

I'm not so convinced it's your primary motive, in many cases. ONLY a lie detector could prove it. You've found issues to stir up the religious right vote; what's the hidden agenda, if any?

Taxes too high, government too big? Hatred of Welfare? Only you know in your heart, as with God. There NEEDS to be ethics laws in politics—SOON!

We glory in saying it's war, and wars have no rules. ADULTS, and the emotionally mature, realize polarized politics is out of control, and it looks bad on America, and divides us!

Bottom line, there are Christian Democrats and Republicans. The myth that God's a Republican MUST be shattered, and actions MUST be in accordance with that truth.

God's also NOT a Democrat. ISSUES are only where you can find God coming into politics clearly. Moral-based positions. Not selfish, worldly, or sin-filled!

I APOLOGIZE TO EVERY AMERICAN FOR ANY PERCEPTION THAT JESUS IS 100 percent A REPUBLICAN—a notion MANY pastors have promulgated! God is party neutral!

I AGREE WITH YOU AND APOLOGIZE FOR EVERY "CHRISTIAN" WHO EXPRESSES SUPPORT FOR THE SIN-FULL PRIMARY DONALD TRUMP un-Christianly ran! It IS hypocrisy (as you know and have clearly seen)!

Jesus has NOTHING to do with insulting one's peers or the disabled, discriminating against all Muslims, promoting violence, public cussing, sexual vulgarity.

You NEED to know that for 30 years statistics show that 90 percent of claiming "Christians" are NOT fully committed to Jesus. THAT's why they act hypocritically, as you see/witness.

It is NOT what God supports; they are under His severe discipline, and you will see that executed relatively soon!

FEW of them EVER tell you how to go to Heaven and avoid Hell. For that alone, EXPECT God's judgment to fall on His people.

Please forgive Christians engaged in politics acting like Jesus is dead or irrelevant, especially being FOR the MOST immoral GOP candidate in more than 40 years. You are right when you point out that that's hypocrisy—a SIN! Pray for us.

[Interjecting Tweeter:] God may not be a Republican but Democrats don't believe in God, and that shouldn't be shattered.

[Reply:] You're making an UN-factual generalization. Tell every black Democrat who is church-going that they DON'T believe in Jesus!

[Interjecting Tweeter:] I watched the Democrat primaries, and they booed every time God was mentioned. If they really believed in God, they wouldn't be Democrats.

[Reply:] Retweeting you to show beliefs Americans have... So all church-going blacks should be Republicans? It boils down to money redistribution, right?

Assuming Interjecting Tweeter is honest (as I do), Democrats would boo 'God' because they're angry that people opposed gay marriage. They equate God only with the church's too few political acts.

I will say again, Democrats would vote for Jesus if He were running. There's a GAP between how His people act for the same values as He, and how He did!

[Interjecting Tweeter:] Please list all Christian issues politics impacts. It will be interesting to analyze what percent Democrats and Republicans stand for. Feel free to reply in more than just one tweet.

[Trump says Hillary's health is a real issue in the campaign]... Mental health is too, Donny, as with IQ, and moral health. Touché. TRUE Christians reject how you ran your primary, fake Republican!

Trump's MAJORITY 14 of 16 months of his campaign were FAR more evil than any Republican running for President in the past 40 years further back, Christians!

God wants Christians to act morally, but to support IM-morality when it comes to their political heroes? No hypocrisy here (if your conscience is seared for power idolatry)!

#PoliticalTricks: Claim a higher moral motive for a less higher motivated act. The examples are endless, if you think about it very much!

[Interjecting Tweeter:] Wealth redistribution is not Christian at all. Conservative black Christians do not believe in money redistribution. That's why they're Republicans.

[Reply:] Aha! We get at the heart of the matter—MONEY! God wants a society where some can suffer severely, and all others are “free” to not help?

[Interjecting Tweeter:] Please indulge me the next few tweets for you to read for a biblical and logical response to your assertion. Bring that open mind with you—and a Bible...

IF we take the Jews (Old Testament), or Christian church (New Testament) in the way they are SUPPOSED to act as a model for the best society to aspire to, let's look at what that might look like (i.e., in the Millennium):

READ II Cor. 8:14 (richer churches are to care for the poorer ones, temporarily); Ac. 4:32 (VOLUNTARY vs. compelled); Phil. 2 (consider others as more important than you); Gal. 6:2, 5 (care for yourself, and care for others).

Now logic: There ARE abuses in Welfare—fraud, excess and waste. Jesus would oppose all that! On the validity of Welfare, SCOTUS has NEVER ruled it un-Constitutional. And if America ONLY relied on charities to help the poor, it would be unstable, random, and insufficient in amount. The REAL reason conservatives hate Welfare ISN'T because they miss writing charity checks!

IF we stacked SCOTUS, they could deem Welfare un-Constitutional? Only if you believe in politicizing courts, just like you accuse liberals of being evil for doing!

But the Constitution teaches small government? Obey your Bible more than that document (and I already told you that SCOTUS has NEVER deemed Welfare contrary to it). Next?

Then you send in your OWN contribution for Welfare. I do—I pay my taxes. Go beyond that? I can't and am not so inclined. Taxes are high enough already.

I simply don't begrudge if some of my fellow citizens don't starve or severely suffer if some of it's used to address that, within what they already take from me.

They take too much? In many cases, I agree. Government MUST be streamlined, but thanks for proving my point that it's all about money, selfishness, and caring for your fellow man.

[Interjecting Tweeter update:] Its' one thing to have an emotional positive feeling about God at the Republican (vs. Democrat) convention. It's QUITE another to support behavior AND policies that honor

Him in our politics!

P.S.: The Jewish theocratic tax (i.e., the 'tithe') was used to help the poor; NOT just to pay for Levite salaries and temples (religious retail business units). That's wealth redistribution in the Bible, Intervening Tweeter! LEARN, and think!

POLITICS & ECONOMICS

(9/6/18)

People LOVE money. We'd NEVER let a politician hand us cash, or outright bribe us/buy our vote, but BOTH party's constituents see nothing wrong with tax rebates (to the richer half), or Welfare/entitlements to the poorer half.

They're the SAME THING! How is it funded, in BOTH cases? Borrowed money and printed money, BOTH of which increase our debt, and de-value our dollars!

What's the end-game with national debt? China cuts us off (which I've asked them to do), so we borrow from elsewhere at higher rates, or we default (so our national credit rating sinks, as does the value of our dollars), or we go to war with China (they're already beefing up), or status quo decisional DELAY.

DO lower taxes stimulate an economy? MORE SO than higher ones! But how low is too low? If debt means nothing to you, I guess zero would be fantastic, but government has bills. And do lower taxes provably increase Treasury revenues equal or greater than the cost of tax rebates, and in how many payback years? And in-between, what gives?

MOST people's nest eggs are NOT big enough to live off interest the rest of their lives. So a super majority NEED 'mo money, to surely make it to the end. So, no one likes forking out money in taxes! There's a disconnect between paying, and what you get for it, and it's NEVER quid pro quo (i.e., equal); You WILL hate some of what government spends money on!

Is it EVIL, illegal or un-Constitutional for taxes to help poor people, a little, in the form of Welfare? If the majority wanted it, or laws passed allowing it, and especially if the Supreme Court said it's O.K., who are you or I to say it needs to end? Certainly, all abuse, over-helping, fraud and permanence or laziness need to!

Is it EVIL, illegal or un-Constitutional for taxes to help poor people have health insurance? We see the slippery slope questions arise, in people clamoring for free college, daycare, maternity leave, increased minimum wage, etc. The Christmas wish list is ENDLESS; compulsory civic service for any government assistance is needed!

People who are 'have nots' ALWAYS want what others have. If they can't secure it through labor, they 'lobby' Congress by who they vote in. NOWHERE in life is there a rule that you deserve a certain standard of living. Unless you are mentally or physically disabled, so you can't work, your job skills sustain your family—NOT votes for more of OPM (i.e., other people's money)!

And if the $2,000-3,000 from Welfare keeps you afloat, you REALLY do need a better job, or better job skills, or better budgeting and buying skills! Taxpayers do NOT owe you a security blanket. I have NO problem TEMPORARILY getting people through hard times, by Welfare, with token compulsory civic service repayment, but you must be self-sustaining/sufficient.

And when business scr_ws you, their executives should equally suffer! It's easy to lay off workers, or drive their wages down (by over-importing labor or over-outsourcing jobs), to save costs, but a law should require them to also feel that pain! Government favoring the rich is an injustice, and NO laws should allow elites to Scrooge the little guy, for profit!

OF COURSE an economy would be doing better if Obamacare were ended. It's an expense to business, like higher taxes are. It was done the wrong way! When you require compulsory civic service token repayment, recipients have skin in the game, vs. freebies. And why businesses, vs. government subsidizing it?

There NEED to be laws on what business can and can't do, in hurting people's lives, for profits! IF a company's sales have dwindled, employees get laid off, but why do the executives not suffer for that failure on their watch? Because they have the power? Government should limit that abuse of power! #Justice is always the standard our laws should be aimed at.

Here's a scenario America will face in the near future: More recent immigrants have a national home to return to, and many may be so willing, but MOST people 'born in the U.S.A.' (Bruce Springsteen) will NOT leave for a permanent job and home, elsewhere! As least-skilled jobs get automated with robots, GOVERNMENT will have to step in!

No business owner feels it's his/her moral duty to hire people, just to be a good person! They ALWAYS say that collective concern belongs to government; they simply have to care for their own business' needs (which is true).

But as more people are 'coming to America' (Neil Diamond), and more jobs get automated, a YUGE problem of unemployment is coming!

And businesses can wash their hands of concern, if they've hired all they need; even self-servingly vote for smaller government, or leave the country. Conservatives will parrot, 'start your own business,' because their political theory NEVER cares for the whole—only the part. They'll parrot 'nanny state' if any 'bleeding heart do-gooder' cares!

It's coming! Right now, it's the frog in boiling water, as is our crippling debt! Kick the can down the road is Congress' response. Irresponsibly ignore it. But these two major problems HURT Americans, and Average Joe has absolutely NO IDEA how less valuable his dollar will be if we keep borrowing and printing money! And borrowing and printing money (i.e., QE3) are HOW our government avoids shut-down, and how tRump's economy is sustained! Making your grandkids pay for our good times! The GOOD NEWS is that Millennials are waking up! They may NEVER be taught these truths in public schools, but polls show they have distrust in our system and politicians!

And WHY SHOULDN'T THEY? You/we older folks (i.e., over age 35) have RUINED Social Security, shipped jobs away, glutted the market for jobs (and NEVER deceive yourself, every least-skilled job taken by a non-citizen, or lower wage immigrant trickles up even to the highest levels of employment, over time).

You've caused higher college costs, by allowing in a glut of smart students from elsewhere, charged higher student loan interest rates (as a result of that increased demand), given them LESS decent-paying jobs in America (than before you shipped so many away), told them their retirement is up to them, but still work, so they can fund older people's retirement, through Social Security they won't access, and nearly every politician lies, as a professional skill, so WHY would they trust them, the older generation, or the system they didn't help create?

It makes NO sense for them to do so, and they're smarter than we were at their age, because school academic requirements keep being pushed down to lower grade levels, so they HAVE to be smarter than we were! What I learned in college, my high schoolers have as required classes! That's global competition!

We boomers have a YUGE guilt on our hands, and responsibility to UN-selfishly clean up our acts, in public policy! JUST like me going on a crash diet and workout program, American public policy needs an overhaul to get fit for the next century!

Let's also address the truths and lies about lower taxes (to bribe the taxpayer vote for the GOP) actually improving our economy...

1. Any business expense that gets lowered is GOOD for business!
2. Any lower taxes for individuals is GOOD for their family... more money to spend, or invest.
3. Lower taxes are NOT good for our federal government's ability to pay its bills!

Conservatives say a better economy will increase tax revenues; more transactions that are taxed. Let me take you into the weeds to explain that claim...

Joe Blow and his employer's business get 'X' dollars returned by tRump tax rebates. The treasury has to borrow X amount, at interest, or print money in that X amount, making ALL dollars worth less, and buy less, by diluting the market (as they're backed by only a promise).

WILL Joe repay that X amount in one year, by higher taxes paid in from more taxable activities, due to more choices caused by Joe receiving X amount from the IRS/feds? That's VERY unlikely, the first year! If he's a great investor, possibly.

So for however many more years it takes government to recoup X, plus interest, they ADD to that total every year he hasn't repaid that X plus interest amount (business call this the payback period). That means Joe has to have economic gains that yield taxes paid in (every year) EXCEEDING that X amount every year his taxes remain at that lower rate/percent.

And his employer's business? The same thing! If a business is so inept that a relatively small tax rebate can significantly explode their sales, they aren't run very well! Do you know any big business that has tremendous growth opportunities, but they're relying on the government to find funding to make it happen? I know of NONE! By definition, that's NOT a good business!

Private sector banking can supply the needed funds! But anyone will take a handout, a freebie. No one turns down finding free money! And that's EXACTLY what CHUMP did, to bribe votes from taxpayers, by squelching Obamacare's expense to businesses, which HARMED non taxpayers (~43 percent of the population) so the rich could get richer!

Let me make this as plain as plain Jane and as plain as plain vanilla: The rich are not hurting; the poor are. That's the very nature and definition of being rich vs. being poor! Government has NO business trying to help people who need no help, except corrupt politicians who hate our country, and selfishly want in the rich's pockets! #TRUTH

So lower taxes can spur economic growth, but too low is fiscally irresponsible, and lower taxes are always relative!... lower than what? Government has bills to pay, and if your tax rebates don't HELP her pay them, by INCREASING our debt, you have HURT America to selfishly help yourself, or corrupt politician's careers! Duh 101.

Update #1: Conservative Economic THEORY

Conservative economic THEORY is premised on this adage: Unless and until the rich get more blessed by government, no one else will be enriched. No one ever says that, but I'll now prove it:

The belief is the rich, and successful businesses, have the excess money—no one else (which is true). And they invest it; VERY few hoard it, and stash it under a mattress. If they haven't incentives to risk-take, or invest differently, or more, they're conservative, and will minimize their exposure to losses (which is also true). And unless great, new investment opportunities arise, or are created, this is status quo.

What can jump start their spending? Most of them aren't going to go on a buying spree for more luxuries, so it's mainly how they invest. The theory goes, government has to give them more money to spend, by tax rebates (a theory that always assumes they're the best investors, and rarely have losses).

So conservatives get their politicians to push for tax rebates, mainly to the rich. The THEORY is that if they invest more, and invest in their businesses to cause growth, they'll hire more people. IF they invest in any businesses other than theirs, those executives will hire more people, as their businesses grow (which investors will profit from).

But is this TRUE? If a business wants to expand growth, and its ONLY barrier is money to spend/invest, "free" money from Uncle Sam gives them more to spend. Otherwise, it's waiting on more sales profits, or borrowing, privately.

And IF a business can expand, does that always mean more jobs? NO! Minimum wage, and low-paying jobs can ensue, as with automating such skills, if such are needed for that expansion.

Have you seen any trends toward robotizing the least-skilled jobs (cutting out the lowest rung workers)? I have! Anytime a business replaces a worker with technology, there are LESS jobs in our economy, and someone gets laid off, which means more unemployment.

So conservatives push for pro-business policies, that favor the rich, though being pro-business is a good thing, when businesses are run ETHICALLY! That's the key difference! When identifiable evils are not engaged, even on threat of laws and regulations, anyone in America should be pro-business. When they favor elites, no one but elites should favor that.

Liberal economic policy is that government makes up for what business takes away from workers. That's NOT ideal, but if businesses are run to harm citizens, someone has to right that injustice. I'm for centrist economic policies, and it starts with people committed to working ethically, and running their businesses ETHICALLY. Where that DOESN'T happen, government has some interest in resolving that problem!

Update #2: "I Want Good-Paying American Jobs"

If a foreign company doing business in America treated their employees more ethically than an American company, I'd wish that foreign business to do BETTER than the American one! American business executives are loyal to the bottom line—NOT America or American workers, so what's good for the goose is good for the gander.

We are now in a GLOBAL economy. Let's break that down for the least intelligent U.S. citizen: You are competing for your job with people from virtually any and all other nations! EVERYONE in America clamors for good jobs, from politicians. HOW can a politician give you a great-paying job, and are you qualified for that pay? Think!

Every business, not just American, pays the least they can for the best skilled, just like every good consumer pays the least for the best quality. Wouldn't you? If you are not world-class in your profession, you do not get, nor deserve, the best-paying jobs.

And any job any 'od person could learn quickly will NEVER pay well! It's unfair to business to make them pay minimum wage for some cr_ppy jobs! I'm for minimum wage increasing, because executives and investors alone have mainly profited from the economic turnaround, and the goods (i.e., national economic benefits) should be spread to all! But you've got to DESERVE minimum wage, or expect to be fired!

America used to be isolated and insulated from much foreign trade and immigration, so rust belt jobs paid WAY more than they should have, due to unions' power. Globalization CRUSHED their power, and now you have to be a better job candidate than people from other nations! Your GPA in college is usually how entry level graduates prove their worth to employers, and, rest assured, employers alone have the jobs, and therefore, the power.

Unless your daddy owns one, or has connections with employers, where weak sissy snobs coattail their dad's or mom's achievements to give weakling a step up on the competition, you have to stand out! And being green (i.e., young and inexperienced), you can't do it easily! A natural talent would help, or specialized training. Internships, as well.

Pure fact: MOST Americans are going to work for puny wages. That's just the way things are when you are no better a worker than what business can hire for cheaper, elsewhere. WHAT CAN ANY POLITICIAN DO ABOUT THAT? Unless they hire you as an intern, NOTHING!

If you are willing to move to India or China, maybe you can get a job that paid well, here, 20 years ago, in manufacturing or tech support, but MOST of you will NOT move from home!; different language and culture, and some restrictions on how high outsiders can climb, especially in caste/class-based cultures. Good paying jobs are a MIRAGE, for many people, and subjectively defined. For blue collars, $40K may sound "good." And value of a job depends on the market of available job candidates!

If one job has 40 candidates applying, the salary can be lowered, but must be near the average for that job in that area. NYC wages differ from TX wages, so the same job will pay more, because of its cost of living. If a job has few takers, employers will have to pay more to fill it. Basic economics.

Update #3: Be The Best You Can Be!

Blue collar Trumpsters argue for less immigrants, and bring back good jobs to the U.S.A. In other words, help U.S. workers first. Great sentiment, but businesses hire where labor or taxes are cheap. Protectionism ONLY breeds other nations doing the exact same thing... retreating from international trade!

And if CHUMP's wall were fool-proof, U.S. businesses can partner with Central American businesses (called 'multi-nationals') to hire the people who'd otherwise be illegally crossing our borders! And if U.S. taxes get too high, because politicians spend too much, they can move entire businesses overseas, for lower business taxes.

If you want a good-paying job, it WON'T come from politicians, or protectionism, or repatriating U.S. jobs to the homeland! Be a doctor, lawyer, or engineer. You can't, in most cases, so you've got to live at a lower level than your heart's desires!

NO business (to speak of) pays good wages because they're generous, but the market demands it! Why would they pay you high wages? Unique skills, in demand, few others offer, or you do such a great job at your work, or the job is hard, dirty, or few others want to do it, or it's risky, or caters to the rich.

When you are paid a salary, if your income isn't a dollar figure your work either saves or creates for the company in increased sales, they can't justify your pay, unless that function is absolutely required, like an accountant! Plus, it's often who you know, not what you know (i.e., connections)!

The best paying jobs in our services economy, in an information age, are in 'STEM' jobs. Are you good at science, technology, engineering or math? Not I, said the frog. That's the market place, and it's NOT going to change anytime soon.

You better brush up on ways to master those topics, and psyche yourself, hypnotize, or hold your nose and learn them well, if you don't naturally like them, like myself. Or go into business, or have a unique talent someone will pay you for, like a rapper or actor.

Americans dream of 'the good life,' being rich. They need to be focused on contentment, being the best they can be, and finding a higher purpose for life than merely chasing dollar bills on a rat race treadmill, but most WON'T! Dupes of the system!

How does an economy "grow?" Magically? Mere public statements of confidence and positivity from the White House or Stock Market? Consumer confidence rising for no apparent reason? NO! It grows when more businesses get more sales, from more customers in more places—period.

How do they do that? Better offers, new or better offerings (i.e., products and innovation), new means of getting cheaper suppliers for the same quality (so profit margins expand), new trade deals, finding new uses for their inventory, or beating the competition and stealing away market share.

WHICH of those business strategies does government have anything to do with? Virtually NONE. Rich people invest in businesses their research informs them will rise in popularity, from sound business decisions, statistics, good, solid financial backing, good offerings, good management, good financial ratios, good growth trend lines, and NOT having potential problems, like events that lower stock value.

Their investments allow the cash flow for expansion in businesses whose stocks they buy. But those businesses have to have growth potential. Sewing machines have NONE. Robots and AI have seemingly endless sales and application potential.

You've got to have a feel for where business is going, both in investing and your job skills development! If you're a typewriter repairman, good luck having a good future! It WON'T happen. Futurism is a subject you may want to study, because where trend lines aim is where society is going, more likely than not.

Do you think America is going to abandon gadgets and technology? Think again. We're addicted. So invent something new, or learn robotics repair. And despite what some Millennials hear, a college degree—if nothing else—separates you from the pack.

About one third of Americans earn college degrees. You've got to understand that businesses will always have jobs for them (called 'job security'), over people not as educated—unless they're terrible workers.

And with college students from other nations coming here to get that tassel and sheepskin, more and more smart people are in our country, even if only temporarily.

You can't afford to be slow of thought in modern America! Life will run you over. Education and modern workplace skills are must-haves, unless you're good at living off the land, as a survivalist.

So when a politician promises you 'good jobs,' and you're DUMB enough to believe and vote for him or her, WHEN disappointment inevitably ensures, I TOLD YOU SO! Any business, today, can hire anyone from any nation, at the cheapest cost the global market place allows them to. Why would they hire you for more? Crickets! Sad, perhaps, but true! The 'good 'ol days' are gone for good. Don't let tomorrow pass you by!

POLITICS & PROPHECY

(11/19/18)

"The Way It Ends:" Yesterday, we spoke of ideal state... (See: Downing Dictators, p. 859) Dictators change, or get deposed; Arab Spring and all citizens of all nations are free, and adequately cared for by their governments, with the aid of the free world, and all but selfish, greedy, cruel and sinful tyrants.

We've already written about all nations 'just getting along,' as Rodney King would put it (See: Global Vision, Poverty Problem and Downing Dictators). So though this is entirely possible, doable and achievable, what really is 'gonna happen? No one knows for sure, but a very possible/likely scenario, if you know anything about pre-written history, is that world revival does NOT come, but Bible prophecy, instead.

That's partly in man's control, but ultimately not. We can and should work toward better societies, and nations, and the mutual peaceful cooperation of all men living on this single planet (even if NOT Kumbaya unity, or John Lennon's 'Imagine' scenario), but the Bible does say that sin will INcrease, and all roads lead to The Tribulation.

Whether God allows—as we all, collectively pray—a temporary reprieve from His final Judgment on earth, or whether all signs are moving us exactly there, we cannot know until it breaks forth, but let's hope (and pray) that our efforts at peaceful coexistence, and good vs. evil rulerships (the world over), will buy mankind some time, if God, in His sovereignty, so sees and so allows.

It is ALWAYS right to put that as your aim. At the same time, we know the nature of man, and of evil parties—they tend not to change (past behavior being the best indicator of future actions, as some say, without divine intervention, or whatever else makes a person choose to change and do right).

So let's now explain a VERY likely short- to medium-term future for our world, all efforts at righteousness having failed... There are nation states who, historically, have been seen as, or deemed, rivals of Israel. They WILL increase their hatred and violence against her, justified or not!

When it gets bad enough, God will see to it that a certain man arises, through stealthy political maneuvering in the E.U., to take down three prominent heads of state, and declare himself the rightful world peace-maker of said dispute.

He will, in fact, succeed at negotiating seven years of peace between Israel and her neighbors, but it will NOT be as advertised, for half-way through he will break his own brokered deal, and turn on Israel. Then all hell breaks loose.

I will NOT detail or explain all the factors, reasons or scenarios for this seamlessly linking to today's world events, as I already have in our two prophecy books, but because I wish a temporary reprieve from this inevitable fate, let's deal with the real problem between those two groups:

Animosity between historic cousins, dating back three+ millennia back! Gal. 4; Gen. 16:21.

It's a story about as old as time, and much back-dated to the American Hatfields and McCoys, and much more serious! That little piece of land, in times of "late," has been disputed since the Jews were expelled by the Romans (Nero, 70 A.D.), all the way up until the post World War II resurrection of Israelis living there as a majority, by the world powers' decision in 1948!

One side sometimes dispute whether the Jews left voluntarily, or by force (though history makes it clear!), but that really isn't pertinent. Both sides see 1948 from an opposite perspective: Good vs. evil. Even that is water under the bridge.

The Jews were wrongly expelled from a land God had promised them eons ago ('The Diaspora'), but adapted, and eventually spread the world over, and certainly they were severely wronged by the Hitler regime in Germany, and its invaded territory nations! Even that isn't relevant to today.

When all is said and done, ALL that matters is NOT old news, or future news headlines of prophecy, but HOW can these two spitting (vs. kissing) cousins get along well enough to NOT trigger global jihad, or especially Bible prophecy—if at all possible?

At the outset, let us acknowledge that peace in the Middle East is an ultimate Pinnocchio pipe dream. It will NEVER happen until Jesus returns. However, something less than that IS possible, if the right steps are taken. We know that, because for 70 years, so far, Bible prophecy has not yet started!

1967 is yet another sticking point with the Palestinians, and their often Arab-based sympathizers/brethren. Even more land was seized/taken, by winning the Six Day's War. I'm trying to focus on fairly recent history, as ancient history can be rather irrelevant, excepting as sources of the dispute's origination.

Both Jews and Christians KNOW God's promises to His chosen people regarding the land, but even that spiritual, and ultimately physical reality is, again, a bit irrelevant to a political discussion of the region, for unless Israel chooses to 100 percent literally implement that right before God, and control and dominate all the space God detailed (Gen. 15:18-21; Ex. 23:31), and sees it as a proper consideration for a coming age (known as 'The Millennium'), we, living today must only deal with how we living today can peacefully coexist there; peaceful, within reason (i.e., there will be NO permanent peace until Jesus returns, just before that 1,000 year reign—NOT Reich—on earth).

I'll say, at the outset, that if anyone comes to you, promising seven years of settled peace treaties, run to the hills, and fight it tooth-and-nail, though it WILL happen, 'someday'/one day.

But until that event occurs, temporary peace and solutions exist. We detail them all in two prophecy books.

Personally, as a Christian, I can't wait until those groups decide peace is NOT in their interest, for then the Rapture occurs, and, sadly for you, God will destroy you, physically, then your souls in Hell. You NEED to repent! (Jn. 3:16)

I've always been intrigued with how the Antichrist pulls off his dastardly deed of usurping three E.U. heads of state. My reasoned speculations are all stated in our political and prophecy books, three and two in number, respectively. I can't wait for the Rapture, in God's timing!

Let's address II Pet. 3:12. It is SIN to want or take actions you know would likely trigger prophetic events. At the same time, it is always right to do right. That verse mainly means fully evangelize! It certainly DOESN'T mean favor Israel, as the peace broker, by an embassy move, and Jerusalem capital announcing!

If activist Christians WANT to sinfully propel prophecy, NOT by full evangelism, but STUPID political stunts, anger Israel's enemies enough for them to attack her all-out! Do everything you can to get world leaders to favor Israel, and subject Arabs and Muslims, and the Tribulation would likely be on!

I could see a cornered, unstable world leader, fearing loss of near dictatorial control, 'losing it,' and doing something radical/rash, which could be part of prophecy precursors. Does anyone know anyone who might fit that description? 'Near perfect victory,' as an actual YUGE loss, could be the first signs.

What trends would more likely than not occur, pre-Rapture? Acceptance of more global unity laws (i.e., eventual one-world government starts 3.5 years afterwards), weakness in security among three E.U. heads of state, a political operative strategizes how to take down three E.U. 'presidents,' sin increased, clamoring for peace, technology to identify every human, by scan of forehead or wrist (like fingerprints in specificity, via imbedded bar code numbers, even if by laser vs. surgery, even invisible, iris-reading, and index finger security on smart phones, as initial stages), enemies of Israel rising in anger, and violent hatred against them, likely more paperless business transactions, (Dan. 12:4) faster and more prevalent transportation (like Elon Musk's underground speedways and rocket trips?), churches LESS into God's 'EDBS' priorities ('The Apostasy'—I Th. 2:3), positivity worship (like Chump's lies always sold and spun superlatively—II Th. 2:11—Positive Mental Attitude and Political Correctness), rumored and real wars, the rise of Russia/Putin (Eze. 38-39), and Eastern kings, like Xi Jinping (Rev. 16:12), centralized e-banking systems (Rev. 13:17), and people just living their daily lives like there are no impending dangerous storm clouds on the horizon (Mt. 24:38). This sounds like us.

Update #1: Prophecy Practicalities
(11/20/18)

Prophecy updates: <https://bit.ly/2qTvcVy> <https://bit.ly/2OR8TeN> <https://bit.ly/2FAFaFt> <https://bit.ly/2QbSfJo> Let's address Antichrist's rise scenarios: He gains world-wide notoriety after stealthily defrocking three E.U. rulers (Dan. 7:24).

This could either be by secretly allying with nuclear-armed enemies of Israel, so his 7-year deal is intended to be broken, midstream, or by working his way up the E.U. political ladders, to access three heads of state he either kills, or overtakes, politically (like current Brexit talks), or he simply uses modern technology (Ex.: drones) to take three out, either at a G-8 meeting/summit, or at a U.N. function/gathering.

The Bible says he does so stealthily, so, even now, he could be planning his deed. That would make him 22 or older, and in some way related to E.U. governments or governance. Of course, in a less likely option, he could originate from any nation state tied to the Roman Empire of old, as Bible authors described events they saw, but couldn't always fully relate to, as things hadn't happened in their lifetime to adequately describe in detail, like America's founding.

Either way, his causing three E.U. 'presidents' (presumably France, Italy and Germany, but possibly Britain, but maybe not since Brexit) to be incapacitated in power, either by political or physical means, somehow gives him global leader clout to negotiate Israeli-Palestinian peace!

That very well could mean America's world power influence lessens severely, especially with Chump ticking everyone off, even to the point that E.U. states, THIS YEAR, are creating their own defense, so NATO is less relied on! Add to that, a growing nationalism, and the E.U. could lessen to the 10 nations most scholars believe are represented in Rev. 13:1.

They could be 10 main ones, united, or only 10, and there's still at least 3.5 years left until that group of 10 is formally united, as the first half of the Tribulation the Beast accumulates power by war violence and bribery from lands stolen in global conquest, after the peace deal is signed.

I, personally, believe he secretly sides with the Arab and Muslim nations to fake a 7-year deal, always intending it to be half that length, but it could also be that Israel does things in the first half of his term as world ruler that makes him want to break it off (Dan. 9:27).

What necessitates the deal? Muslims will tell you their Koran (and possibly other, secular traditions?) envisions a coming Last/Final Imam, who will wipe the Jews off the map. They literally believe, one day, the land of Israel will be in Arab, Palestinian and Muslim control, by prophecies Muhammad wrote of, if I recall correctly.

Some more radical religionists feel it their duty to spark a global jihad, to usher him in! Certainly Iran (Persian, which is NOT Arab, said my Jordanian amigo) wants Israel wiped off the face of the earth, and Chump's dealings with them (negating Obama's 10-year, or so, no nuclear weapons build-up treaty), as with Chump relying nearly entirely on the corrupt, evil and imbalanced Saudi prince for Middle East peace (Arabia, historically, being the motherland of Arabs, and owning the lion's share of pure Middle East oil, again, according to my Jordanian amigo), and including Chump's DUMB decision to RUIN America as an impartial peace broker, with his announcement concerning Jerusalem as Israel's capital, and moving the U.S. embassy there, ALL contribute to Arab (and Iranian) resentment against Israel, even more (and tie America, even more, as terrorist targets—thanks tRump!).

I've envisioned a second Arab Spring scenario as desired, but it's just as likely, if not more so that Arab ties with BRIC (especially Gog and China) allow them the weaponry America has, thus far, disallowed, which could wipe Israel off the map. My friend said many Arab nations could destroy Israel, if America wasn't their big defenders.

He also said many Arab nations don't have many if any armed civilians. When I asked him why the Arabs haven't already united forces against Israel, to overcome American ties to her, he said they will, when they set a date.

All this is to say that current-state violence against Israel doesn't seem so intense that the world clamors for a resolution. Chump's efforts, via two bumbling Israeli decisions, a failed partner in Khashoggi's murder and dismemberment, and breaching Obama's deal with Iran ALL argue for increased Middle East tensions that could bring on that more intense violence, necessitating a 7-year peace deal between Israel and her enemies.

Chump himself may announce some breakthrough, in a desperate attempt to resurrect a second term's possibility, presumably using Jared Kushner, if he still has any clout, post-Khashoggi(?). My amigo said there's severe rivalry for leadership/dominance of the Middle East, especially between Saudi Arabia, Iran, and to a seemingly lesser extent, Turkey, and we see with Russia, and even China in Syria, other NON-Arab nations seek to set their stakes in the area of the silk road of old.

The Bible even says Russia will seek Israel's assets, after the Tribulation begins, which occurs when that peace deal gets inked. I asked my buddy why Palestinian sympathizer groups often engaged in terrorism don't unite, if they're all already united against Israel, and 'the great Satan,' and he acted like they wouldn't, but, as prophecy approaches, I say they will!

Egos of leaders will one day give way to greater agendas, and the people will demand it, especially if they're NOT freed from oppression (i.e., our desired second Arab Spring), and blame most if not all of it on the Jews' 1948 re-entering of their homeland (which presence had been absent, for nearly 2,000 years, 70 A.D. to 1948).

My buddy said terrorism, as we know it today, began in earnest after that event, culminating in 9-11 (and even ISIS, to some extent, and in a religion-warping way). He says they fought so crazily, as they had nowhere else to go, as they had so misrepresented Islam, Muslim nations didn't want them back!

I've said many words and NOT made any conclusions on which posited scenarios will actually begin the Tribulation, or when, but they are all quite reasonable, they make news happenings even more exciting, and one more disclaimer... NONE of these scenarios may be right, as prophecy is always something no man knows for sure when it will occur.

It is hoped and prayed for that the world experiences at least one more great awakening type revival, and TEMPORARILY abandons its collision course with death and destruction, but we humans seem always capable of making such irrational choices, like mass shootings!

I've even posited a scenario where Chump fills the role of the Anti-Christ. He certainly matches the evil and rich traits, but NOT the wisdom. He's dictatorial, egotistical, he rose like a meteor from political obscurity, and with the midterm losses, and increasing opposition to his second term, caged animals backed in a corner lash out.

He has already done so many unstable and random things, with increased anger over the world's rejection of his presidency, who knows what could happen in the next two years, and he does have his index finger on the nuclear codes.

North Korea, as one of the kings of the east (Rev. 16:12), could play a significant role, as Chump was played by him, duplicitously claiming to end his nukes, while avoiding sanctions' full impact by ties to China (who Trump's foolish tariffs have angered), and selling valued artwork for cash.

You can't expect eastern kings to rise only in the second half of the 7-year Tribulation, but just as we've seen Gog's and Magog's rise (Putin, who was even recent years' Time magazine's man of the year, or at least one of the two most powerful people), we see China seeking world leader status, economically, with alliances (BRIC), and on the seaways, building man-made islands, and skirmishing with American Navy vessels in open water trade route disputes.

When they seek our dollar to NOT be the world's reserve currency, especially if they can leverage any rift between America and the Saudis (if clown prince remains in power), world oil purchases could be stipulated as NOT being paid for by the dollar, but the Yuan or Euro, which would almost immediately destroy the U.S. economy, and push us out as world leader status (just as the U.S. wasn't specifically mentioned in Bible prophecy).

As you can see, Bible prophecy is no longer some remote fantasy of Christians, but roads leading to it appear most every day in our news headlines! Are you ready? (Jn. 3:16)

Here's yet another prophecy sign <https://bit.ly/2TrFsBn> <https://bit.ly/2KqisyR> <https://bit.ly/2ToD0vs> If the Antichrist will proclaim himself to be God (II Th. 2:4), 3.5 years after securing Israel 'peace,' it's logical to think him doing so in the temple of the Lord would indicate such temple existed! Bible prophecy scholars, for years, have said committed Jews could rebuild it in 2.5 years, if the money and commitment were there. Those articles show recent movement in that direction.

Here's latest on violence levels in Israel: <https://wapo.st/2ADS2Va> And finally, here are scenarios for any coming Palestinian problem resolution: <https://bit.ly/2FuRlnj> <https://bit.ly/2Bn2Gld> <https://bit.ly/2DyzadJ> Today's news affecting prophecy! Always watch Israel.

I've said before, I believe the Antichrist secretly coordinates Israel's Arab nation rivals to FEIGN unity to agreeing to a 7-year peace deal, knowing all along hell break that half way through. Maybe having them as allies is how he usurps three E.U. heads of state, stealthily (especially if they have nukes?).

And a 7-year peace deal presupposes major violence against Israel, as such is not necessitated at current-state animosity levels. If the Christian Cabal pushes for the Bible being literally applied, Jews will take over all of Palestine (and beyond), and that WILL trigger it. This is NOT what God means by II Pet. 3:12, but FULL evangelism.

Update #2: Apology Tour?

And as to that hoped for world renewal, it helps, if not starts, with people acknowledging past wrongdoings (i.e., honesty/being on the same page). Conservatives LOVED to rib Obama going on an "apology tour," but if you want other nations to know your goodwill intentions, arrogance is NOT the way!

I was USA #1 YEARS before Chump (proved by tweets I can tie to his knowledge through one of his Christian spokespersons). That does NOT mean ONLY U.S.A., or ugly Americanism, as his tone has ALWAYS conveyed (recall him bursting through a G-20 group, to ensure he was front and center?).

It is NOT weakness to admit America started (as did many nations, the conservative will remind us) by stealing land from the American Indian, to grow an economy often off the backs of black slaves; THAT WAS morally WRONG. And we have NOT been morally flawless meddling in other nations, or using our immense power to turn situations our way ('national interest').

We haven't always done right, but our desired ends and intentions have usually been not only to advance our economy, but to see all peoples (meaning NON-politicians) FREE like us; NOT adopting our culture, in its sinful ways (like Arab women in bikinis, though that's NOT sinful, to us).

More, it's like I described the other day... EVERY human free to be able to have a decent life, devoid of corrupt and criminal so-called 'leaders.' I've even detailed how that can occur, and how all nations could get along, IF we find ways to increase natural resources.

This WILL sound Lennon-like dreamy ('Imagine'), but there IS no rational reason why we must go to wars. I am 100 percent for doing so, when it's needed, but if we learned to resolve conflict, and win-win methodology, where NO nation feels intolerable slighted, you would think (even among Darwinist types) we could "evolve" or develop/mature enough to understand that war is Hell, so why go through Hell?

The WORST sin mankind can engage is killing others, because they NEVER return to life on earth (any false religious beliefs notwithstanding, like reincarnation). You sentence them to either Heaven or Hell by that evil decision (Jn. 3:16, the Bible).

My bird's eye point is I believe God has blessed America, she SHOULD be the world's leader, but ONLY when she behaves morally, and we have not always. I believe America is the greatest nation, due to our generosity, the products and inventions we have given the world, the records we have set, the world wars won, the medical advances, legal system (despite justice system injustices still needed for "a more perfect union"), our foreign aid, our usually being the first nation the world turns to in crises, at least in the past!

LISTEN to this more accurate and detailed historic recounting: <https://bit.ly/2KimnO5> That being said, our CIA and government operatives have, on occasion, wrongly meddled, internationally, or at least in the minds of people who didn't want such actions.

We DO, and likely will continue to intervene to see that the people get governed by politicians who are good to them. Sometimes, we did so mainly to get regime change favorable to us! That's both smart, but sometimes selfish, if only for our interests. That type of colonializing engenders ill-will, which now has emboldened many nations to want to usurp our global lead: Russia, China, etc.

We own that, and UN-like Chump (who is incapable of acknowledging wrongdoing, faults, or apologizing), even though a claiming Christian, this nation based on Judeo-Christian principles CAN admit our failings, for we are stronger thereby! (I Jn. 1:9; Jas. 5:16 principles) USA #1, forever and for everybody—NOT just US!

So while talk radio seeks to ally together to re-elect tRump (Limbaugh/Levin/Hannity—acronym H(e)LL), bemoaning "globalism," putting U.S. interests first (MY idea WAY before Chump—provably shown in our books), win-win necessitates us NOT being such at the detrimental expense of any other nations! That's common sense! Referent: Ratings be danged, national talk radio is desperate to unite for power more than competition, via DJT! Limbaugh gushes on Levin, Levin airs it, then calls Hannity one of the greatest friends one can have, then thanks the audience. It's all a self-congratulatory club, with any other media as their enemy, seeking to keep conservatism relevant. (11/19/18)

Remember, in every dispute, you have only a few choices: Kill them (always wrong, except in justified wars), separate, ignore/tolerate, forgive and remember, forgive and forget, get along, or become allies/friends and trade partners. (11/20/18)

Update #3: Status Quo, Status NO!
(11/20/18)

Status quo, and even escalated tensions are the more likely scenarios in China and Russia, with MORE spies, more hacking trade secrets, more political swaying attempts from Putin, more poisoning of his detractors, more island building and North Sea skirmishes with China, NO full nuclear disarmament in North Korea, a majority of Arab peoples still living in somewhat oppressive states, the Venezuelan head hoards oil revenues at the people's expense (financially and otherwise), the Castro appointee maintains lots of control in Cuba, Kim Jung Un isn't ousted, the Saudi 'clown prince' MAY be deposed by wiser Royal Court personnel-if courageous and strategic, China remains a one-party dictatorship (not much different from the China Square tank man days, as to the people's freedoms), Putin, or his type, remain in Russian power, giving the people just enough to not rise up in rebellion, North Koreans remain hungry, in camps (if violate anything the regime opposes, and poor, and basically in the dark concerning the world around them).

In short, BAD status quo remains, in the short-term, unless individuals are changed out in power positions (or systems change, in the case of China).

WHAT could cause discontent among those citizens? What could cause change among the leadership? The people NEED to learn of better ways life can be for them, and the leaders need their gripes addressed (though the people's angst rising is much easier).

Dictator types don't loosen their grips on power often, or lightly! Life is too good for them, as individuals! That MUST change! The military and their inner circles MUST help the people make that change, though they're OFTEN paid off to enjoy a lifestyle good enough to not want anything less, under a risky move to get a better ruler for their people in place.

In short, sinful selfishness, in the form of pampered lifestyles which are addictive, and consciences become broken, as with compassion for one's fellow man that they are in charge of. Inhumanity takes over in the greedy lust for power, prestige and privilege!

TOUGH circumstances can change that perspective! Trials, in many forms. Pray that occurs! People in government with promise for replacing them MUST ally and organize.

The vast masses MUST rise up and determine it to be unacceptable that any of them live in squalor, or live in fear of arrest for doing valid activities, or holding or expressing legitimate positions not in line with slave-like loyalty to being abused! I'm literally NOT saying democracy must break out in these places—just change of leader behaviors, or leaders, period!

Why should other nations care? To ask the question means you have little-to-no working conscience, from sinful selfishness, if you can live in glee knowing other fellow humans suffer severely, but thinking it's NOT your problem, because you're O.K.!

A global revival to morality is the great need, and to any who believe man inevitably evolves to maturer states, or is innately good (vs. being sinners), your challenge will be to show proof of such beliefs in these situations! Evil persists when decent people do nothing, as co-conspirator accomplices.

And one more thing... China and Russia will continue to be ever more powerful on the world stage, and control of the Middle East will be quite a competition, only starting in Syria, but expanding. Chump HURTING U.S. ally ties, especially the E.U. and NATO, was about the worst thing and worst timing—ever! #BumblingFool!

Update #4: Status Quo Prophecy Scenarios

(11/21/18)

If virtually everything remained status quo/the same, how could prophecy occur soon? In God's sovereignty, the sudden rise of an unknown political operative, to usurp to E.U. heads of state, then negotiate a 7-year Israeli conflict resolution. For all we know, his scheme is already underway.

Why would downing three rulers give him such clout? I'm guessing it's very strategic nations he deposes 'kings' of, which is why I surmise France, Italy, Germany (or maybe Britain, as one of the three).

If any of those nations lost their clout, and their 'heads' (as the Bible often references leaders), the world would notice, and pay attention to the one who did so! Wouldn't he need the military's support, for physical protection? Maybe not, as he is supernaturally empowered by Satan (II Th. 2:9). Scholars debate these miracles being genuine—more like the charmers in Elijah's miracles competition (I Ki. 18)—but they are persuasive, nonetheless.

His miracle working partner-in-crime doesn't come on the scene until later! (Rev. 13:12, 19:20) A spirit of delusion will also be on the earth, at that time, for people to believe what's false (people buying Chump's massively numerous lies, as a vivid precursor!; II Th. 2:3, 11) And EXPECT even more Christians to abandon right doctrine, despite the possibility of any temporary 'revivals!'

Why do I believe the Antichrist secretly allies with Arabs to negotiate a feigned seven years of peace, and maybe even to uproot three E.U. kings? Hes an ex-religionist, he mercilessly attacks Jews half way through his reign, he's able to convince Arab nations to go along with a peace settlement, and he kills 'Christians' (Tribulation saints). (12/1/18)

Everyone speaks of one-world government, and the Antichrist controlling the earth. He starts his evil regime by negotiating peace for Israel for seven years, three and a half years BEFORE he gets full control! READ our two books on prophecy (and their prophecy chart), so you are NOT in the dark about such coming dark events! (12/1/18)

And if you want any more insight about Bible prophecy, you'll have to get it from our two books on the subject. I can't give away the farm, here. They are available through AmericanAnswers.org by Christmas, and on Amazon.

Update #5: Prophecy Scenarios

Since Israel is virtually getting her way entirely under CHUMP doctrine, there's NO reason for her to negotiate, as she could only LOSE! That's why their female government higher up said their differences are too wide to bridge! EXPECT Arab nations to cause enough commotion to necessitate it!

My JO-rdanian friend, named MO (AKA, 'Mojo') said anytime Arabs respond to being attacked by Israel, via the U.S., they're called 'terrorists,' but when those two entities start and do it, it's called defending Israel and American national interests. Jews do NOT, in this dispensation, have a moral or legal right to all the land!

That's spiritual right, in the Millennium! For 1,822 years the Jews were mainly NOT in their land, by outside force, initially (70 A.D.). Even Palestinians didn't immediately occupy the land, but Romans. But once they did, and got established, unless they confiscated someone's homes occupied homes, taking them away from their domiciles was an offense that's rational (even though I'm glad the Jews got to return, as the major prophecy sign of our age, brought about by the major world powers in 1948).

You can't expect anyone to just take their culture and property being infiltrated by virtual strangers not like them sitting down, or rolling over, especially when there's STILL (70 years later) outcast-like 300,000+ refugees in permanently temporary living quarters status!

And to add insult to injury, Israel builds on disputed lands to rub it in their face, instead of building high rises and skyscrapers (or underground?), to overcome virtual land lock! Plus, the U.S. aiding in the Six Day's War engenders anger toward them both, as the U.S. is forcing her agenda on the outcome.

Add to this that Chump biasedly favoring Israel with two acts last year, why would anyone NOT expect them to find ways to not just lash out, but organize for an attempted victory against America and Israel?

#Mojo says you go to jail possessing any firearms in many Arab lands, because the U.S. won't allow them to, but don't you think these nations' politicians will soon ally and get supplied by China and Russia, both of whom CHUMP doctrines have further angered and alienated?

That uniting could easily result in a credible attack on Israel, that the U.S. can't fend off (especially if Iran joined in), which WOULD necessitate the rise of the Antichrist to solve! At the same time, it's possible CHUMP would seek to end what he started, then take credit, as has been his pattern on several occasions.

The U.N., Pope, or a E.U. or U.S. leader COULD intervene, and cause this situation to be lessened, but will they? I doubt it! So long as America allows Israel to run roughshod over Arabs in the region, no peace settlement talks are expected, and any which could occur would be feigned/insincere.

THIS is why I've said for YEARS that I believe the Beast secretly colludes with Arab nations to FEIGN peace with Israel for seven years, knowing all along he'd break that deal, and attack Israel thereafter, 3.5 years after Dan. 9:27 and the Rapture's occurrence. DO YOU HEAR THESE TYPE ARTICLES ANYWHERE ELSE? There's a reason!

Mojo said America says it wants democracy spread, but nearly every time it does, in Arab lands, we undo it (as in Egypt), to which I said we always will when a terrorist organization gets voted in by the people! If they, instead, would elect people NOT for terrorism, but for the good of the people, We'd support that! But that won't be likely until you solve their legitimate gripes concerning the repercussions of Israel being in the land, and how that has negatively affected their people.

These are LEGITIMATE gripes and concerns! Put the shoe on the other foot, if you think otherwise! Like I wrote weeks ago, they get women, children and the elderly, and entire villages wiped out by F-16's they can't defend against, but when they do any token retaliatory actions, it's labeled 'terrorism,' and these events mainly started AFTER 1948! The world MUST address the Israeli-Palestinian conflict!

You will never have peace, there, until Jesus returns! You'll have a fake peace when the Antichrist arrives. Even when he brokers a seven-year deal, almost immediately violence breaks out! (Rev. 6-7).

How, exactly, could things improve in Israel's relations with Arabs, Muslims and Iran? Start by ceasing builds in occupied/disputed territories. Start by the U.S.A. NOT favoring either side! Start by addressing the living conditions, wants and needs of the 300,000+ displaced Palestinian refugees. Start by all Arab leaders deciding to cooperate to control their people long enough to consider solutions this side of Christ's return in the air. Start by ALL parties and nations admitting there's a YUGE problem that MUST be addressed, and that both sides are at some fault, but that the blame game gets us nowhere.

Why would any reasonable Jew NOT be skeptical of Muslims entering their gates? ID badges don't prevent IED's or other devices, so access MUST, of necessity, be a procedural hassle, vs. free access—for security purposes!

You can't certify specific Muslim individuals as terror-free frequent flyers, because people's decisions can change. Easier access systems, for people to timely get to work, are needed... like instant body scanners and vehicle X-rays would help!

Mutual or restricted access to the holy places could occur among people committed to no fist fights (having been disarmed of all weaponry at the gates, if they had any such items). Even Sarin or what killed Kim Jong Un's brother by two women could be snuck in, to make holy places fatal places, if the technology is not sophisticated enough at Jerusalem entry places.

Fix that with technology, and some Arabs and/or Muslims could peacefully coexist at such sites, heavily police and/or military patrolled, or give them set times or places they can visit without Jews there, if trouble significantly arises. Shared use of said space would be the goal, but an earned right earned in the sense that you don't lose it if you don't abuse it by violence, or government overthrow assemblies (monitored by Israeli ease-dropping, and videotapes with zoom-in features).

IF the Jewish government were pressured by the U.S.A., and most other nations, to adequately and fairly treat Muslims and/or Arabs in their midst, as to jobs, security, safe living quarters, with a capital on the east side, and disarming all threats, the need for Arab and/or Muslim voting power wouldn't be required, as Jews RIGHTLY fear what often happens at the U.N... rules being misused, or voting blocs increasing to the point that you lose control of your own land (or good ideas, in the case of the U.N.).

But that assumes that it's your land to begin with—a stipulation many Islamists+ disagree with. In this scenario, let's deal with current state reality—not hoped-for fantasies, or ancient feuds! Jews are in the land, like it or not. The world order allowed it. Palestinians lost out severely, in that decision, and their injustices MUST be addressed. Land is finite, so people MUST build taller, NOT wider!

That ruins the historic facade/look, but you can make modern tall living quarters to fit with the ambiance! You can also adjust to change, to avoid severe further violence! Trade-offs and compromises! But such things aren't readily agreed upon when you're already getting it all your way! That must change, for justice and fairness!

Jesus and the Great Tribulation will settle those disputes, in opposite directions, but today's politicians have NOTHING to do with either of those outcomes! People the world over are simply supposed to do the right thing. Bias and favoritism are always NOT the right thing, except you don't treat violent people equally with peaceful ones!

The 1,000 year reign of Christ will bring the land peace, but for seven years, especially the latter half, the Jews will suffer severe violent losses at hands of the coming world dictator. General violence begins nearly as soon as a seven-year peace deal is brokered.

Jews would do right to agree to treat Palestinians RIGHT, in this era, if they have any chances or hopes of those terrors befalling them in God's sovereign timing! America favoring Israel, via CHUMP's repeated stupidity and unjust immorality only exacerbates the situation, and makes prophecy's set-up more likely than doing rightly! DUH.

PLEASE TELL ME WHERE YOU SEE THESE TYPE THOUGHTS ANYWHERE ELSE! It's NOT arrogance, but gratitude toward God, who brings them to mind! I just 'gotta figure out ways to spread these thoughts, through books and advertising, and media interviews, because a horrible future is at risk if we don't do right (and prophecy is at risk, no matter what)!

I have NO idea the relation of Iran's Israel opposition to that of Arab states, in the near future, but they certainly have an advantage in attacking, by proximity and denied/lied about secret nuclear weapons development!

Bottom line, many people if not nations are NOT happy Jews are in the land of Israel! That's NOT 'gonna change! Even the last book of the Bible shows that Jews will get persecuted, but be in their spiritual and historic land!

When people pray for and clamor to see the Last Imam come wipe Israel off the face/map of the earth, those are religious dreams, but also pipe dreams as to what will actually happen! The Antichrist, to some extent, will serve the role of their envisioned Last Imam, as many, if not a majority of Jews will be killed or captured the second half of that coming seven-year period of (falsely) promised peace. Our two prophecy books give exact details as to numbers.

And the Beast will war with Russia, in competition for Israel, just before he declares himself God, and takes over the entire world, 3.5 years after that peace is negotiated. The E.U. and U.S.A. are already having skirmishes with Gog, though CHUMP's STUPID alienation of U.S. and NATO allies is also causing some warming up of relations between some E.U. nations and Russia.

Whichever nation the Antichrist arises from is prophesied to rival with Russia! (Dan. 11) Then he'll establish his headquarters in Israel. Russia will lose, and all nations will temporarily bow to his reign for 3.5 years of hell on earth, then all people and nations will bow to the true King of Kings and Lord of Lords, though not all by free-will (Phil. 2:10-11).

You can do so freely, and end up in Heaven, but you will do so, and if coersedly, you do not end up in Heaven. In this era, you are allowed to go to Heaven, by faith, but that opportunity is closing! People will still get saved, in the Tribulation, but it will severely cost you!

We watched Jimmy Fallon, last evening, for more minutes than ever before, and he featured odd robots. Can you imagine when evil people control the economic systems of the world, and an "image" of the beast can kill non-worshippers? (Rev. 13)

I told my wife, they can be used for good, but they're creepy, and just imagine when evil people arm them with weapons, and program them to kill; how would humans defend against that? <https://bit.ly/2zowX1E> It's ALL coming, for seven years on earth! Disbelieve it to your sad demise. Jn. 3:16 the Bible.

Image of the beast (<https://bit.ly/2FEYwcG>)... Robots, AI (artificial intelligence), computers, maybe lasers, in my humble opinion! I'm QUITE sure bar codes will be able to be laser inscribed deep in the skin, or with invisible ink-like substance/burns, so our exteriors aren't aesthetically harmed, but the numbers functionality will work to specifically and uniquely identify each and every individual (like a fingerprint, or iris eye scan), and most people will opt for the forehead insertion, as robbers and identity thieves could still cut off wrists to access bank accounts, if technology isn't developed to ensure wrists are attached as you scan your goods at stores (or hand held device, for online purchases).

Armless people will have to opt for forehead insertion. I believe the 666 mark doesn't have to be visible to the naked eye, though it may be, like numbers on Jews' arms, in Hitler's concentration camps. You won't be able to earn a living or do business without it, and some mechanical/ technological invention will kill people who don't worship that global dictator (Rev. 13).

Presumably, Big Brother cameras are everywhere, and detect non-worshippers, like Nazis who didn't salute by hand/arm gestures upon the 'heil Hitler' command! I believe lasers could zap the bar codes strong enough to kill, and specific enough to only hit the right targets, using GPS and those imbedded bar codes.

PLEASE TELL ME WHERE YOU READ THIS TYPE CONTENT ANYWHERE ELSE! If I knew how to get this Twitter account more widely known, I'd do it, but I'm a techno dinosaur, and marketing amateur. <https://bit.ly/2QffFOi> Advertisings is needed!

HOW would Arab nations' citizens get enough weaponry to rush on Israel, since America prohibits such dangers? Mojo said it can't happen, but I told him the masses can rush their main government building, and numbers force change, even if some died, to which he agreed. I want it for Arab Spring number two—NOT to attack Israel.

The weaker the U.S. gets, the more isolated she is by Chump's alienating allies, the more incensed Muslim nations get over Chump's favoring of Israel, and the more powerful Russia and China get, the more I suspect an evil uprising to occur—not a peaceful and good one! #BibleProphecy

Let's address CHUMP's STUPID plan to use the evil Saudi Arabian clown prince to broker Israeli peace. WHAT Arab nation would enter peace negotiations with someone who cut off their funding, significantly, and favored their enemies, by his Jerusalem capital announcement, and U.S. embassy relocation?

MUCH more likely is they would ally with U.S. rivals, like China and Russia! And WHAT Arab land is 'gonna listen to a crazed Saudi prince, when he hoards Arab oil for a few cronies, and kills opponents, even mild critics like Khashoggi? It's a RIDICULOUS assumption that some stupid Kushner plan could work! Stupidity reigns in this administration!

Iranian people are, in great numbers, decent people, as with many, if not most nations. It's their leaders who are often the problem! You don't concoct some cockamamie plan to force peace negotiations via the Saudis, but militarily prevent Iran from threatening Israel, when such capabilities are fully operational! Jews or Americans can do the job.

You try to halt, and slow down their race and pace to such ends, as Obama tried, but you always know some in their regime will lie, and stop at nothing less. Trust but verify, and when you have intel that they're succeeding, you give an ultimatum, then bomb like hell, though minimizing civilian casualties by that warning ultimatum, because it's NOT the people who you oppose, but evil politicians, and/or clerics determined to destroy Israel, vs. negotiate temporary better arrangements, until prophecy hits, as just described! Duh 101.

Could all terror groups unite, to take on Israel, even including Iran's leadership? I don't see it happening, from egos, and differing agendas, but if the ill-will toward America and Israel escalates, nothing is off the table! CHUMP has ONLY increased the likelihood of such an outcome, you big dummy!

What's the Christian Cabal's culpability in all of this? LOTS! And if Robert Jeffress were to continue his ignorant ways, he'd have Israel take over ALL the lands promised to Abraham, which would SURELY bring out the Antichrist he said Obama's election would usher in! Is anyone listening?

From what I read, Turkey and the Saudis have feuded for quite awhile for Middle East influence, as with Iran. Why such interest in control of areas not your own? Ultimately it's a spiritual battle of Satan's hatred of Israel, and God's millennia-old written plans for Bible prophecy's transpiring, people! Wake UP!

Here's further evidence for my theory that the Antichrist colludes with Arabs to get power to knock off three E.U. heads of state... People born again in the Tribulation get persecuted and killed for their faith, but especially Jews are persecuted the second half. Such hatred of God's people through history doesn't grow overnight!

So be watching for a person seeking to unite Arabs to counter the U.S. and Israel, possibly with China and/or Russia's help (especially with weapons). If he seeks to usurp three E.U. 'kings,' perhaps they'll soon offer their own peace plan, or why wouldn't he simply seek to take out the U.S. (vs. three E.U. nations), if we are that broker at the time?

Is it to cause division between the E.U. and U.S., or has the U.S. already lost clout, or separated from them via NATO's end? The office of the Pope sure seems to be in prophecy, but NOT in the peacebrokering capacity (city of seven hills; Rev. 17:9). Read our two prophecy books to see what a horrific future awaits our world, in God's timing!

To me, besides it being the ultimate spiritual battle, humanly, the man of sin has something against Judeo-Christian religion! He also wars with Russia, who is seeking Israel's wealth. He bribes nations to support him, by conquered territory rewards, and violent brute force. He has had some past involvement with religion of some sort.

He's rich, wise (our eleven books and two websites could do that for anyone), stealthy, arrogant, he curses, is an ex-religious person, etc. ALL traits of his, and those of his partner in crime, and all their evil deeds are detailed in our two books. EVERYthing I just wrote has a Bible verse associated with it. It's coming; are you ready?

If the heads of France, Germany and Italy were in the same place, a mere armed drone could decapitate their power, but the drone pilot wouldn't be deemed a world leader, thereby! It takes much more than that. It's more likely that he usurps them by political power in the E.U., to me!; Suddenly and unexpectedly.

Perhaps he rallies all other E.U. member states, or especially the Muslims in those countries, to give him political power. Yet, somehow, he seems to NOT be opposed by militaries, perhaps from his miraculous powers, if not also charm. The world unquestioningly accepts his leadership to broker peace for Israel!

He's a sort of Superman, who the people don't reject for usurping three E.U. 'kings.' They're uprooted, but that doesn't require death, unless that Hebrew word teaches so (i.e., the power to uproot to the point they don't make a comeback?). Why would anyone accept a secret person in the role of world peacemaker for Israel?

Perhaps he has a wonderful plan, UN-like Kushners, which will certainly be rejected by Arabs! CHUMP has tried his bullying M.O. against them, by two DUMB Jerusalem decisions, defunding foreign aid, and shutting down one of their offices. He thinks he can force them to bargain, by strong-arming them!

Let me ask you a simple question: Are you inclined to negotiate with a jerk? Even if his military could force you to, "a man convinced against his will, is of the same opinion still." That type tactic COULD trigger later rebellion, and violent attacks against Israel, necessitating a seven-year peace deal by the Beast.

Or, as one scenario has it, Chump can be both the cause and cure of anti-Semitic animosity! He has done that on at least three prior occasions, and some dummies believe you can cause a problem, then deserve praise for curing it, like a rapist becoming a marriage counselor. Common sense lacks in an age of delusion.

Let's go a step further... Let's say smart Jared concocts an amazing plan for both sides, using the Saudi's influence (i.e., money and oil) to thwart Iran's top-dog influence, and leverage Arab states to go along with the plan, or be cut off from U.S. aid, and Middle East oil revenues.

They, for the most part, are NOT going to accept CHUMP having anything to do with affecting their lives, even for the better, were that possible! His credibility is SHOT, even through a son-in-law, and especially since the Saudi clown prince killed Khashoggi.

A female Israel executive said the Kushner deal is dead in the water. Even if the 'great negotiator'

CHUMP lessened his Israel bias, Arabs (and most humans) have decent memories; they especially recall the millennia of ill-will with Israel; they're NOT 'gonna, more recently, forget Chump's biased treatment pro-Jews!

And they can get support (emotional/morale-wise, if not militarily) from others CHUMP has ticked off, namely China and/or Russia (though some cooperation toward a balanced negotiation could come from some in the E.U., who are now, somewhat separating from America, under CHUMP). Perhaps those movements inspire the Beast to be at the forefront of such negotiation moves, whereby he stealthily uproots three E.U. 'kings?'

I KNOW these thoughts baffle many minds, and to some seem dream-state ridiculous, because your presuppositions are that the Bible is fantasy. I have but one word for those types... wait and see. You will not only be proven wrong, it's very likely you'll be proved so by your own experience of those events, sadly (Jn. 3:16).

The Jews are NOT 'gonna be wiped off the face of the world map, literally or figuratively! They're in their land in Bible prophecy (i.e., pre-written history, yet to come). The closest thing to that is 'gonna be more than half of them killed in the second half of the Tribulation, and the closest thing to her enemy nations wiping her off the map is their attacks, necessitating (in the world's mind) a peace negotiation to end the violence.

The problem is, it's brokered by a liar, who hates Jews and Christians, and who fakes a commitment to seven years of peace, when he completely breaches his own agreement, half way through. Wait and see, skeptics!

In mere theoretical terms, HOW could two polar opposite peoples peacefully co-exist in the same venue? Outside nations, or the U.N., could monitor the region to keep weapons free from endangering the Jews, while disallowing Jewish cops and their military from abusing Arabs in the land of Israel!

That animosity will NEVER go away, long-term, as those nations attack her, or significantly are thorns in her side enough to necessitate a peace agreement! So only in the short-term could there be any semblance of harmony, which is the best any politician of today could hope for. I'm hopeful but also realistic.

You do not wish this on your worst enemies, even though it benefits Christians, personally, but putting Bible prophecy evidence together, you've got to believe the Arabs will rise up against any and all oppressors, including their own, but for what end? A peaceful, prosperous Arab Spring number two, or war with Israel?

If you EVER hear this type of information anywhere else, before or at the time we write it here (vs. later COPIED), please tell me your sources, because that fact alone OUGHT to tell you something—IF your brain has working functions. Hint: These are unique insights!

Interjection for All Religions

My son asked me on our day trip, 'how do you "prove" religions true or false?' Court room proof standards don't apply to an all-powerful God you can't see, or people would present Him in court, to give testimony, and be cross-examined, but here's what I told him:

Read our Facebook and website arguments for Christ's historical existence, and deity claims. Then do the same concerning the Bible (on our website). With that background information in your head, ask yourself, are there good reasons to accept what He said about Heaven and Hell, or are any other people more qualified to speak on those subjects?

From a man who raised from the dead (i.e., is alive), was born of a virgin (i.e., was supernaturally conceived), worked miracles (calmed seas, walked on water, made wine outa water, etc.), never sinned or lied, told perfect truth, and claimed to have always existed, wouldn't it be reasonable that what He said about the afterlife would hold more water, and be trustworthy more than anyone else?

And He said there's only one way to God (Jn. 14:6; Ac. 4:12). EVERY religion is sincere, wants morality, seeks God, does good in the world, and believes you can get to Heaven if you're good enough (except Christ's belief system). What standard is good enough?

The Bible says one sin means you're guilty of all sins. How can you ever work all sins off? That doesn't mean you don't do good deeds, but they never merit/earn anyone Heaven, which is a free gift! It also doesn't mean Christians or churches deserve your respect, but Jesus does, and He died because He loves you (Jn. 3:16).

If you could work your way to Heaven, God would owe you, and He's no man's debtor. You'd have reason to be proud, and that pride sin doesn't enter into Heaven. Christ would have died in vain, to pay your sin penalty, when you could pay it yourself. In short, works don't work. Keep your cultural traditions, but get saved!

Continuing

Let's go over one more scenario, in which prophecy comes way later, though that's unlikely (and as we have spoken of how it might be temporarily delayed, with world revival). If that played out, you'd expect status quo trends to continue. What trends? BRIC and anti-American bands of allies, especially Russia, but also China; wars, selfishness, greed, America idolizing money, polar opposite political extremes, world problems continuing, and hardly being addressed, hatred of Israel by many neighboring countries, Jews over-using their rights in the land, etc. If anyone thinks this is a great future, and path to take, good luck.

And that's EXACTLY where our three political books come in, because until prophecy transpires (sovereignly, apart from our actions), the only right thing to do is the right thing, which is what we describe in detail, using common sense, or, stated another way, intelligence and integrity. Get them at AmericanAnswers.org, soon!

Update #6: #FreePalestine (11/29-30/18)

Peace and prosperity for BOTH sides is the ONLY right answer! Here are THE answers for #FreePalestine... Separate, designate lands and two capitals, prohibit terrorist weaponry (bombs, IEDs, missiles), build upward vs. outward, and provide safe/restricted/controlled access to holy sites. This conflict has gone on long enough-the root of many conflicts.

IF Arab-Muslim governments had the ability to control their people from violence, and Jewish leaders committed to justice/fairness, vs. domination, you could have a semblance of 'peace.' Israel is NOT incentivized to do so, as most of the cards are in their favor. This is an unjust balance!

And EVERY Muslim and/or Arab in the region MUST commit to peaceful coexistence, IF the Jews agree to do right by them. What would make Israel do justly? Returning to their religious faith! #Revival God never says take advantage of people you are able to take advantage of! Justice is His standard.

THINK of Palestinians, Arabs and Muslims from wearing THEIR shoes, for once. Outside nations forced them to accept Jews' repatriation, in 1948, and displaced now ~300,000 of them out of their abodes. Then more land was taken in the Six Days War, with America's help. HOW WOULD YOU TAKE THIS WHERE YOU LIVE?

America favoring Israel is UN-just. As a Christian, I'm FULLY for Israel, but FULLY against any of their sins! Support is not a synonym for empowerment! I support many people, but NEVER their sins. Any Christian who supports injustice is living in rebellion to Jesus!

Read the irrationality of this: Some Jews want ALL the land promised to Abraham (WAY beyond modern Israel). Some Arabs want all the land, too. NEITHER of you is going to get what you want and be satisfied! All-out war, with no survivors on the other side, is the ONLY way you could get that pipe dream! Yet, you still strive for it; that's DUMB!

There's LITTLE extra man-made island lands Israel could manufacture (like China), and it would have ZERO historic significance. You have to share the land. You can wall off sides, and build multiple skyscrapers, or underground communities, but sincere desires for genocide will NEVER work, or be achieved!

For a Christian, to support Israel and be pro-Israel is to work for her peace and safety, and never to support her sins! Peace, itself, is NOT the end goal, but toleration of an enemy—for both sides! No violence or war doesn't mean you tolerate the rival. It's essential, but you've got to accept that the opponent is there, isn't going anywhere, wants peace and prosperity—just like you—and is human vs. a devil.

You never teach youth to hate. You share experiences, to get to know each other based on common experiences and aspirations; maybe be business partners. You are free NOT to change religions in the process!

The STUPIDEST event in U.S. history was the Civil War (and Hatfield's and McCoy's). Palestine-Israeli is THAT, for even longer. Neutral, intelligent and moral negotiators MUST consider all valid gripes of both parties, and implement win-win solutions which all benefit from.

No one is going to 100 percent get all they want! You must learn how permanent and evil and horrific loss of life is. If any 'religious' belief ever teaches anyone that killing enemies pleases God, the devil has warped your religion! You can kill Jews, and think you're following Allah—and vice versa—but THIS verse applies in such delusion: Jn. 16:2 You're sinning! God NEVER commands people to sin, so it's impossible for you to be doing His will, thereby.

How Arab leaders control all followers is a sticking point! Even if leaders agree to peace, not all followers will buy-in, but public education and convincing (even incentivizing?) would be needed, to restrain such people.

A BIG, public apology—on BOTH sides—would go far, if sincere! Ask for forgiveness for taking disputed lands, Israel! Ask for forgiveness for reacting to injustices with violence, Arabs. You have to learn to live near each other. Jews won't wear burkas, nor Arabs yamakas. WHO CARES? You do you, and don't hurt others—period!

The two-state solution STILL requires access to common places, like holy sites! It's like a two building apartment complex, with a common dining hall in-between. You could set certain days or hours for each side to visit, or allow both at the same time, if all were shaken down, to remove all weapons.

Even the Temple mound could be shared. Virtual temple mount technology could also be used, for virtual reality visitations, or a replica created that both sides could alternately use. People have been murdered on both sides. Usually, one you know wasn't murdered by anyone you meet, so don't take it out on their entire race/nationality.

The U.N. could police this situation, if they weren't biasedly corrupted by abuse of voting rules. Israel's government could fix this situation by applying justice and common sense, and exercising some self-restraint, vs. egos, abusing privileges world powers afforded them! YHWH demands that of them!

How would you like, or react to living in a permanent outcast tent-like existence, even if they're solid structures? Displaced people DON'T get over it, or take it on the chin! They understandably and rightly resent, and after 70 years of little improvement, protests would be expected, if not more!

And most every Arab nation feels camaraderie with the dispossessed Palestinians! They're blood brothers—it's family being abused. It is WRONG to kill or injure, but they aren't given many options—just dismissed and ignored, and told to move past it.

Someone must step up and take the lead in addressing BOTH sides' issues, with impartiality! A Christian who shows favoritism is sinning, even as they obey God being pro-Israel! Pro-Israel is doing what's in their best interests, MORALLY—the way God leads! Domination and injustice are NOT God's ways!

There are people I really don't like (maybe two), but I never scheme ways to harm or touch them! You ignore, you separate, you may even talk with them, and try to air out your differences. I lost a job over being pro-Israel (a biased, short doofus of an arrogant white owner), so NO ONE can say I'm biased for either side. I'm opposed to sins on both sides, and both have sins.

Pointing fingers of blame, and proffering evidence of the same gets you nowhere, because four fingers point back at you, and the log in your own eye prevents you from seeing clearly! Two separate nations, or one nation with two sets of laws and venues. These are the ONLY rational solutions.

I often tell you there will be no permanent peace until Jesus comes. Forget, for the moment, religion. You can't have permanent peace when you want all-or-nothing, my way or the highway, for one piece of land! You've got to re-learn Kindergarten lessons of 'sharing' the land! If you can't get along, separate physically! (Rom. 12:18)

Ignore your enemy, if you can't get along, and/or tolerate them (Am. 3:3); I'd tell you to love your enemy, as a form of revenge, by heaping guilt coals on their heads (Rom. 12:20), but I'm SURE that's the last thing you want to do—to love—even if it stirs up guilt within them, because you're angry, bitter and hurt.

You can only get past that with 'time heals all' thinking, founded upon forgiveness; NOT because they deserve it, but because you offer it, because you want to please God, and don't want to live with the burden of that bitterness (Heb. 12:15).

You don't forgive because it's deserved. You do so because you know you're a sinner, too! If you won't forgive others, God won't forgive you (Mt. 6:15). COMPLETELY ignore that my rationales come from a Judeo- or even Christian source! THINK about what those verses teach. It's truth, even if you found the same in some other source. All truth is God's truth; don't squabble over religion! #Peace!

All the people that live in the West Bank are Israelis. They are not Palestinians. This is Israeli land.

-Rick Santorum

IDIOTIC religious bias! Spiritual realities from Abraham's promise DON'T apply until the Millennium. Santorum doesn't know a thing about the Bible, on point, or prophecy, yet he blabs to garner votes. That is sin and evil, by a claiming Catholic—just like Hannity! The Pope should rebuke your ignorance.

Have you EVER suffered the pain of a deceased love one? Why would you put that on another family? DID YOU KNOW that when you kill an enemy—Arab and/or Muslim, or Jew—if NOT in self-defense, in many cases you are sending them straight to Hell, forever? You are playing God. That's the arrogance sin, to try to be Him! Live in peace.

To have conflict in Israel, from 1948 and 1967, to present, and in the future, ad infinitum, is ASININE! Nuke each other if you're so stupid that you can't see the rationale of today's message! I know, Arabs-Muslims don't have nukes, like the Jews do, but that would settle things the way extremists want; DUMB!

When anyone makes an assumption, they make an a_s out of you and me. For any Jew, or Arab and/or Muslim, to hate Jews they've never interacted with is stereotyping prejudice sin! Maybe if they have specifically wronged you, greatly, you'd hold such severe hate. You are NOT acting rationally! DO so; be at peace.

Palestinians deserve their OWN state, and enforceably peaceful vs. violent against the Jews, by international forces. In the Tribulation, Jews (in the land) will be persecuted, and more than half will be killed, the second 3.5 years. Peace, for them, will only last in the first 3.5 years. NOTHING we do today will ever change those facts!

Jews WILL be on their historic land. If you REALLY want to wipe them off the map, REALIZE what happens to you in Bible prophecy, as it's NOT a pretty picture, or pretty eternity! If you want to overtake Israel, be ready for all Hell to fall from Heaven, onto YOU! It's history, already recorded.

Facial recognition technology at Atlanta's airport is simply one step closer to 666! We only need a unique number on foreheads, like a tattoo. This DOESN'T mean that that efficient technology is evil, but it will soon be used for evil, once seven years of peace is brokered for the Jews. Bible prophecy signs are all around; ignore this to your peril.

READ the seal judgments (Rev. 6). You will LITERALLY live through this, if it happens before you die, and you have never prayed to receive Jesus for the forgiveness of all your sins (Jn. 3:16). Then read the trumpet judgments, and eventually the bowl judgments. Are you man enough to endure them, then endure Hell?

What's done is done. You can't undo 1948, even if it was unjust! You can still have justice. Justice is God's standard—not abusing people, because you can, ignoring their plight, or continued future injustices. The 300,000 Palestinian refugees DESERVE a permanent place where they can live secure!

America can ONLY expect more enmity from MANY nations, by favoring Israel! One day, armed, BIG nations will get smart enough to unite with each other, ignore their differences, and attack BOTH of us (i.e., the Great Satan and little Satan, as they reference us)! We'd be STUPID to continue to support any injustice!

ANYTIME a politician (Ex.: Santorum) or talk radio pundit (Hannity) speaks on the Bible, LET ME DEBATE THEM, and have the media ask their qualifications to speak for God and His Bible! Just because you attend a church DOESN'T mean you understand one thing about these matters! SUCH idiocy! #WOW!

If ANY "religious" person believes Abraham's land promise applies fully, in this dispensation/era, wipe out all Muslims, Arabs and Palestinians in the land confines he was promised. NO religious person will call for that, because they're sinful, IGNORANT HYPOCRITES!

From 70 A.D. (by violent Roman force) to 1948, OTHER PEOPLE lived in Israel! An injustice that far in the past is NOT the punishment matching the crime, as the criminals have been dead nearly two millennia! You can't expect to uproot people, and have them accept it like no BIG deal! #Stupidity

Hitler's evils against the Jews didn't mean they had a right to uproot people living in their historic land. They needed somewhere to go, and I'm GRATEFUL they got to start a nation in their historic homeland (Bible prophecy, Mt. 24:32-33), but God DOESN'T enact things using sinful means. FIX the injustices!

ANY claiming Christian who pushes for U.S. public policy, based on trying to execute Bible prophecy, is a HERETIC! God alone starts prophecy, in circumstances HE alone orchestrates. We are only to do RIGHT, and we hasten prophecy only by evangelizing and doing right, foolish ones! (II Pet. 3:12)... Jeffress!

If a sinning Christian wanted to TRY to start Bible prophecy, announce that Abraham's promise literally applies in our dispensation, and push for Jews to occupy all that land. You will certainly engender violence the Antichrist must fix. <https://bit.ly/2BISrI8> Why are you silent on this, cowards? Religion is supposed to be for morality! Is common sense that rare in these days of delusion?

The Jews are IN Israel, the second half of the seven-year Tribulation, so NO nation is going to wipe them off the map, Iran! Deal with reality! Evil pipe dreams are held by fools, hoping what they want will actually happen. Reality always overcomes fantasy, so deal w/the real from the start!

The IDIOCY of biased, selfish, ignorant and immoral people cause so many problems in our world! The answer is intelligence and integrity ('ii'). Whenever any religion is ever used for evil, it is being AB-used. Religion is supposed to be for morality! Is common sense that rare, in these days of delusion?

There may be land in Israel where a second Jerusalem could be built, fully mirroring the original, for Palestinians, though also allowing them access to the real deal. Both sides need to get over emotional attachments to history, when it blinds you to reality of how to live today, in peace. DON'T be a fool, forever!

Use China's island-building skills to develop a second Jerusalem, if too landlocked. The temporary answers are so many more than blinders-on idiots insisting on only their way (on BOTH sides)! I'm about sick of the feuding of fools, when answers are so obvious. Ignorance is bliss; and so are lies?

With the backing and support of all peace-loving nations, the U.N. or Pope should make BOTH sides sit down and talk, even under threat of economic sanctions against either side which pulls a no-show! I'm SO tired of stupidity reigning, that I can't wait for the Rapture to occur! World of wisdom? NO!

Seriously, if U.S. policy FAVORS Israel, to the Arabs' detriment, WHO cannot expect America to be attacked again, like 9-11? You can't debate the gripes against us are valid, though violence is never the right answer, even Kindergarten taught some of us. Others of us have HORRIBLE memories about such childhood lessons.

Any human who desires any Jew to be killed, or any human who desires any Arab to be killed, all over a land dispute, is acting sub-human, and DIS-pleasing God, and disobeying common human decency and humanity! Short of violence, I've detailed many answers, until Christ's return. Will we do them? I doubt it!

The MINUTE Iran would try to wipe Israel off the map, with armed missiles that could actually do that, I believe Bible prophecy would occur. Israel or America would NEED to prevent that, NOT to stop prophecy, but because it is EVIL, and public policy should always be based on doing good.

Does tRump, ANYWHERE, speak or write ANYTHING like today's message? Enough said about the moron. And to any technical legalists, I did NOT say to his face, 'you fool.' I spoke TRUTH about his brain power, especially in the context of the Palestinian crisis, so DON'T email me with Mt. 5:22. Instead, READ more Bible!

You ONLY have air or land to build to, if landlocked. Skyscrapers or underground cities; or you invent new islands, like China. These are the ONLY options, when the land of Israel gets congested. Skyscrapers ruin historic morays of two to three stories in height, so go underground, or the islands route!

In dangerous 'hoods, with continued gang murders, do you EVER see one gang eradicated? No, they just rebuild and recruit people to replace the dead! SUCH is the idiocy of believing that all Jews or Arabs will be taken out of the land of Israel. All that violence does is make it unsafer for all to live there!

The Jews have a VALID concern that if Arabs in Israel got full voting rights, their numbers and population growth could cause them to lose control of the land they have controlled since 1948, as well as millennia ago. That's why the two-state solution only makes sense, until prophecy starts.

The U.N., and all peace-loving nations should monitor arms and attacks between the two states, thereafter. Bibi was RIGHT to say you do NOT invite your enemy to have a pocket for missile launching, right in your own backyard. Peace forces and systems would be required. Maybe that's what 666 will be about? Robot lasers?

And that does NOT mean that 666 is mainly for peacekeeping, as it's economic, and to control non-worshippers, the second 3.5 years of the seven-year peace deal, but the sales spiel may be to that end. Something positive can be changed into it being used for evil, just as NO gun lifts itself off a table and shoots humans! #CommonSense

Update #7: 'Clown Prince' & the Christian Cabal

Because I HATE when anyone tries to steal "MY" ideas, anytime I refer to Saudi Arabia's immoral moron as the 'clown prince,' I have borrowed that term, and would rightly credit the person who originated it, if I had written down their name. All apologies for it being anonymous, creative one!

(Mk. 6:18) DID the evangelical council which met with the clown prince say it is NOT RIGHT for you to have authorized Khashoggi's murder? John the REAL Baptist would not have timidly said, 'may we pray for you?' That's WEAKNESS! I'm 'gonna find out who met with him!

An IDIOT, who I usually respect, otherwise, yesterday, said there's 'no smoking gun' that the clown prince killed Khashoggi. NO human with an IQ would let there be evidence of ordering such a hit! Why would 12-14 thugs go to Turkey, on their own initiative and own dime, risking ticking off their boss if they erred?

Report: U.S. evangelical delegation meets with crown prince of Saudi Arabia <https://bit.ly/2DUuqzt> "Evangelicals" meeting w/the clown prince, and NOT reproving him publicly, is EXACTLY like when many of them went to the White House, excusing it as many varied positions held, and NOT a political endorsement. YOUR PRESENCE EMPOWERS and SUPPORTS, VS. OSTRACIZING, BIBLICALLY, foolish ones!

I absolutely can't wait for CHUMP's Middle East peace plan, done by a son-in-law, because the 'greatest brain' couldn't be the 'great negotiator,' as lyingly advertised! I pray and hope he brokers a seven-year peace deal, because if he reads our books, he'll match ALL criteria for the Antichrist! Read, Donnie!

Unfortunately, the evidence more favors a person with a vendetta against Christianity and Judaism. Chump has NOTHING to do with those two religions, in sincerity (vs. lying words), so it's still a possibility. He CERTAINLY is of the I Jn. antichrist spirit, as a precursor, at the least! FAKE Christian!

Christians are to influence, and speak truth to power, and they were RIGHT to accept an invite to meet with the clown prince, for evangelism, but NOT after Khashoggi. No one in the press will EVER print the fact that this is CHUMP's desperate attempt to woo carnal Christian votes in 2020, who have been a majority. Print it!

Chump's evangelical council have an uncanny—call it God's sovereignty—record of BAD timing! Their invitation to the White House happened the week the Stormy Daniels reports came out, YET THEY ATTENDED, and the clown prince's invitation after Khashoggi. GOD'S TELLING YOU SOMETHING YOU AREN'T LISTENING TO, from egos and sin!

These are the SAME claimers of Christ who employed a sin-to-win strategy to elect CHUMP... the least intelligent and least moral of all 17 GOP candidates, stooping to the bottom of the barrel, "for Jesus," because He wants women harmed or dead in back alley abortions? Got it. False doctrine!

[Private account:] What in the world is going on? Which Evangelical will denounce this???

<https://bit.ly/2U1CkMP> Reply: I DO!!! WillYouLiveForever.org

[Private account:] American evangelical group takes the side of murderous Saudi prince—#JoelRosenberg @CBNNews [says] that while he understands why some might criticize the decision to keep the meeting, he believes it was the right course of action. Reply: It WASN'T, man who spoke at our church three times in the past four years! 'Judge not' doesn't mean never call a sin a sin, but no judgmental holier-than-thou attitude, and we are commanded to judge with righteous judgment! Rebukes offend? Jesus offended over morals, vs. emotions. Joel R., the kiss-up for power idolatry, and book sales.

[Private account:] This makes me physically ill!: U.S. Evangelicals ask Americans to pray for Saudi Arabia's murderous Crown Prince. The man who ordered the murder and dismemberment of U.S...

[Khashoggi] Reply: AMEN, and Christ weeps at His claimed people's MANY sins!

[Private account:] The last grain of credibility. Gone. Reply: AMEN! WHO in their right mind would listen to ANY message they would proffer on behalf of 'God?' #TheApostasy

I want NOTHING to do with ANY claiming Christian who is avidly for Trump, or thinks following through with clown prince meeting was a wise decision! I have NOTHING in common with that ilk of claimers—period. I pray God judges between them and I! I won't worry if fire falls! #Wolves Relatedly, IF a 'pastor' could get paid well, and put all moral effort obligation on others, they'd preach tithing and Lordship Salvation! Wait—that's EXACTLY what many of them do! 'How convenient,' the church lady would say.

Update #8: Israeli-Palestinian Conflict Solutions

Virtual access to the holy sites of Israel would be yet another solution, where cameras streamed live video to 3-D holographed virtual reality goggles of people taking a religious trek in a remote holding room, to pray, observe, or do whatever else they do in real life, or even making all people who visit the sites wear head-to-toe garb that wouldn't distinguish their religious faith garb underneath (though their language would likely give them away).

If holy sites were sectioned off for both groups, on different days or times, where one could access it all, after given visits, that's yet another possibility (though not a great one), but high police security presence is yet another good solution, where all visitors were searched to ensure they have no weapons, and the worst thing that could occur would be fist fights.

Let's talk Iran vs. Saudi Arabia, given CHUMP's son-in-law's Middle East plan... Iran is a fairly unique entity in the region, as Persia had been an empire, and they distinguish that from being Arab, says my friend, 'Mojo.' He also informs me that many Arab nations resent the Saudis, as they give away 'Arab oil,' and related money to the U.S., when Arabia used to care for all fellow Arab peoples.

Turkey, with Khashoggi, is a prime example that many Arab nations don't see the Saudis as their Saviors, but their sell-outs. It's about control of merchant lanes and trade routes, as well as for oil and other assets/natural resources, and BIG outside players have severe interests, like in Syria, with America, Russia and China, and even Israel.

I thought Obama's 10-year Iran deal was not great, maybe the best thing one could negotiate, at the time, but you do NOT break/breach treaties/contracts, unless and until they expire, or you will be legitimately seen as untrustworthy. Chump has done that with NAFTA, tariffs, and Iran!

There are usually provisions for contract violations, and I tweeted, at the time, 'trust but verify,' concerning Iran, and that I did NOT think their leadership would fully comply, but some would do covert violations.

I even emailed Bibi Netanyahu, through the state of Israel's website, to BOMB Iran's facilities, in 2012 (See below):

Jordan and Egypt are speaking against radical Islam, with their bombs. MANY stay silent. I've tweeted more bold condemnations than most Muslims! (2/18/15)

STOP Iran's nuclear abilities, at ALL costs! <http://fxn.ws/18cFG7t> I emailed Bibi to bomb facilities, many years ago, when I was kicked out of Sunday School. (2/21/15)

Your OBLIGATION is to see what's in there, @BarackObama at the U.N.! <http://fxn.ws/1vvUKXH> Your OBLIGATION is to bomb, it if so, @netanyahu I told you three years ago, in an email! (2/24/15)

@netanyahu As I emailed you three years ago, if enriching uranium, bomb facilities, and track EVERY new attempt! Don't be a wimp, but SAFE. #Iran #Peace! (2/26/15)

I also called for defeating ISIS, way before CHUMP!!! (proven by dates on these retweets)... @BarackObama Mr. President: Here's a plan... Bomb the He_1 out of EVERY terrorist, and any who fill their void until none DARE to do it again! Duh 101. (8/29/14)

#ISIS: As we bomb you off the map, DO NOT BE DECEIVED! There are NO virgins awaiting you in Hell, and you are NOT going to Heaven. Receive Jesus, before you're GONE! (9/23/14)

If #ISIS ever bombed Mt. Rushmore—God forbid!—even #Obama would stop his less-than-full destruction of ISIS policy! It's SO sacred, and took such hard work. (10/28/14)

P.S.: I don't deny America bombs #ISIS. I DO deny that we are actively engaged in decimating them. Even George Bush added a surge when policy was FAILing! Learn, 'O!' (2/5/15)

#KingAbdullah: You lack a Twitter account, but I'm volunteering to help you in any way you can use me against #ISIS. PLEASE forward this message to him! @JordanGov (2/5/15)

Galagher @RadioTalkMike suggested carpet bombing the area into a parking lot, as with Hiroshima. Something to consider, NO-bomb-a! Deter vs. appease. (2/5/15)

IF confirmed, VERY UNFORTUNATE—and NO Political Correctness excuses, now, #Obama. Bomb them to smithereens! "Shock & awe!," vs. underwhelm. <http://atfp.co/1zZ0BVX> (2/6/15)

Bomb the HELL outa them! WHO CARES if the U.S. does it? Protocol is NOTHING! Protect our men and women, #Obama! <http://fxn.ws/17d14YM> U.S. Military #1! (2/15/15)

Sincerest THANKS for bombing ISIS! @RHCJO @khalifa_alnhian @MohamedMorsi_Ar Keep up the great work! —The American people (2/17/15)

You can't bomb your way out of the ISIS threat? The heck you can't; HIROSHIMA taught 'US' what you are young to have yet learned, Obama aide. Peace through strength! (2/17/15)

And regarding Gog's rise, via Putin...

Could #Putin be Gog's prophesied leader of upcoming Tribulation? If these words are Greek to you, God's Greek New Testament (with Hebrew Old Testament) is too. (8/7/13)

#Putin is NO ONE to tell America (and #Obama) about morality! Quit trying to resurrect the Cold War, with bluster and bombast, and HELP YOUR PEOPLE! (9/12/13)

Post-Olympics Gog in [takes] the Ukraine, militant Islam radicals in many Middle East countries, U.S. peace talks with Israel, China rising for decades. LEARN prophecy, church. (3/3/14)

I posed the question whether Putin is Magog of the Battle of Gog, at least 2-3 months ago. Check my Twitter record. Is anyone else seeing any prophecy potential? (3/24/14)

Gog is rising against the U.S., and the U.S. is NOT supporting Israel against terrorism. Prophecy players are heating up, and the U.S. NOT siding rightly. Do you know prophecy? (7/30/14)

What will he do next? He NEVER backs down, like a dog in a corner attacks. Could this fit into the Gog of prophecy, "soon?" One-sided ~dictator Putin. (1/14/15)

NEVER trust @PutinRF_Eng 100 percent! "Trust but verify." #Reagan Talk is cheap; actions speak LOUDer than words! #Gog #Magog <http://t.co/EGVIsNgnhk> (1/22/15)

#Gog, you BAD boy. Can't be trusted, since Gorby's days! God sees, and is greater than U.N. power and wisdom! <http://t.co/fw5ALswWtH> #Magog #Russia #Putin (1/31/15)

More potentially bad news for the Middle East. <http://t.co/ce6Ot2iIMT> Gog is STILL misbehaving—What's new? <http://t.co/ixojn1fEz3> #Magog #Prophecy (2/1/15)

The Bible's a myth, especially regarding prophecy? Gog and Israel's enemies are the MAIN topics of today's news, dumber ones! #WakeUp Lk. 21:28; Jn. 3:16 <http://t.co/eVy3z4HdDF> (2/6/15)

ALL past land grabs are HISTORY. Boundaries are set. DO NOT INVADE. You're a THIEF. If I'm stronger than a neighbor, can I steal his home's title, #Magog? [No] (2/9/15)

Not good news for #Poland, if she wins! DON'T vote on physical aesthetics, but policies! Gog alliances are heating up. <http://t.co/ETzExSq6Wc> #Russia (2/14/15)

Continuing

I even ripped a bumper sticker off my car, before George Bush issued a surge in Iraq, as we were losing personnel from not a strong enough campaign to win. You obey contracts, enforce them, and if Iran or North Korea are ABLE to arm missiles with nukes, you take out that capability, contract or no contract!

National defense, and the peace and safety of the world! So many Arab nations aren't inclined to follow a Saudi lead regarding Israel! Many HATE 1948 and 1967, and may even side with some Iran leaders' desire to wipe Israel off the map, though they have cultural and/or religious differences (as do Arabs, tween Sunni and Shia).

Keeping Israel safe—a valid U.S., and even Christian concern (Ps. 122:6)—does NOT come by zero punishment of a murdering crown prince, in the name of our allied nation (vs. its prince) keeping Iran in check, absent our [American] intervention, or that of Israel!

If Iran develops nuclear weapon capability to harm Israel, take those abilities out... America, or Western allied forces. If Israel did (and they have the ability), it would engender further hatred, but you do have to defend yourself, if no one else will.

Khashoggi's dismembering murder REALLY showed us why Saudi Arabia, under that clown prince, is NOT the right partner, until he is GONE! The people of Saudi Arabia are, generally, great, as with some on the royal court; same goes for the people of Iran! It's the extremists in government who must be contained at all costs, if and when they make workable plans for actionable violence... be it against Israel, Khashoggi, or their own people.

Chump fancied himself non-involved in foreign affairs, but America nationalistic. NOW you see how naive such policy was, just as appeasement and weakness crippled Obama's foreign policy! I tweeted as much, if anyone would listen, and ever find this Twitter account! Lead from behind is following!

You may get followers, and you may get detractors, but nonetheless, LEAD. The ONLY ones "leading from behind" are followers! L-E-A-D (a #JohnMcCain-ism). (1/28/15)

"Leading from behind" is political spin for FOLLOWING! Allowing others to join your lead (i.e., coalition-building) is different. #CommonSense (1/22/15)

Obama is TRYING to lessen our leadership role by 'lead from behind.' In any other venue that phrase describes a "FOLLOWER!" USA#1 forever! GO USA. (1/15/15)

No leading from behind, or MORE international disfavor. No winning at all costs, then flaunting it against other countries. No unpatriotism. IDEALS! (1/8/15)

Lead from behind? You are NOT leading if you see others' butts, but you are toilet paper. The U.S. is to LEAD the world, #Obama! Dominate and gloat—NO! Humility. (11/7/14)

"Leading from behind" is herding sheep—NOT being a shepherd! It's the SAME as an index finger in the air following opinion polls or focus groups. LEAD! (9/9/14)

Obama: Don't run foreign policy from behind—that's following, NOT being a leader. No wonder Russia is rising, the E.U. is drifting from us, and the U.S. is seen as WEAK. (5/15/14)

"Lead" from behind is NOT working, @BarackObama! Other nations CAN'T do what the U.S. CAN, militarily, to preserve peace! <http://on.msnbc.com/1LcMn5m> (2/18/15)

Prophecy is heating UP! <http://fxn.ws/1vzZAhx> I told #Obama that 'lead from behind' is being a FOLLOWER! READ our past tweets! Come soon, Lord Jesus! (2/16/15)

It's GREAT to be a Rand Paul isolationist on foreign intervention, IF the U.N. acted as intended, to secure world peace, but it's often corrupted, so the U.S. has to lead, or others try to fill our void, as Russia and China are now emboldened to do, and won't retract from so being. That's international policy FAILURE!

As I said well before...

The @UN NEEDS an international force to fight terrorists. We LET Rwanda genocide happen, now this? KILL ALL terrorists, NOW! <http://fxn.ws/1tcEmKF> (1/25/15)

I don't give one da_n if few people saw my posts, when tweeted! We had the good ideas well before others, and now my FREE book will prove it, by Twitter date stamps!

People of Iran need the ability to be ruled by clerics, or even secularists, who don't intend violent harm on their neighbor, Israel, for that's the only way their country won't be seen as a global pariah, which negatively interrupts their pursuit of prosperity, freedom and peace! Rise up, Iranian majority!

Do you NOW see how detrimental it is to have a bumbling fool, controlled by politically ignorant clerics (i.e., the Christian Cabal, and CHUMP) conducting U.S. foreign policy? They get a LITTLE knowledge of prophecy, and think they're smarter than the Department Of Defense, FBI and CIA, That's arrogant ignorance, and dangerous!

There will NEVER be peace for Israel until Jesus returns, or a fake seven-year deal is brokered, so until then the U.S. and the West must keep her safe, and behaving rightly—not one without the other! You do NOT favor her over peaceful Arabs, and you don't empower either side's sins against the other.

There is NO peace without doing right by your neighbor, and no one is to ever reward the bad behavior of either side! I'm done. IF you find BETTER political insights, vote for them. If you don't, please vote for our ideas, in 2020! @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin @PledgersARCHIVE @2020Victory @ProphecyForYou @BuildBetterBiz and at AmericanAnswers.org and WillYouLiveForever.org

Update #9: Khashoggi as Sacrificial Lamb for WASP Votes!?

General Mattis (?) was right that you don't have perfect allies, and sometimes it's the lesser of two evils. That does NOT mean you don't punish killing Khashoggi, with penalties that fit/matching the crime! You don't cut off our ally relationship, but CHUMP is doing NOTHING, in order to secure carnal WASP's votes in 2020!

That means, specifically, that CHUMP is desperate to do anything for the Christian Cabal's support, basing U.S. foreign policy on their uninformed, ignorant and WRONG opinions, based on bad theology regarding prophecy, and a complete non-understanding of political reality, or Middle East relations! I pity America, with such stupid influences on stupid 'leadership!'

DOA (dead on arrival). Israel's U.N. envoy says Trump to release peace plan in early 2019
<https://bit.ly/2E69giu> READ that last article, BLAMING Palestinians for not being open to 45's plan!

WHO in their right mind would listen to one such as he, or an administration which is NOT a fair broker, having favored Israel with the embassy move, Jerusalem capital declaration, lessening/defunding Arab nations' foreign aid, and closing one of their offices? IGNORANT administration!

Idiocy and immorality REIGN in the Chump era of U.S. history! Come Lord Jesus! May the Rapture happen soon! Chaos, stupidity, sin and selfishness reign, with irrational and immoral people in charge!

Update #10: Russian-Saudi 'High Five' Handshake (11/30/18)

Two peas in a pod. Report: Saudi crown prince and Putin get chummy in front of world's media
<https://nbcnews.to/2zxQtsO>

As we know, Russia is ALWAYS seeking to cause distance between American and her allies, to fill the void. If Chump can't maintain America's historic relations with Saudi Arabia, it could spur America becoming the world leader in green energy development (as oil access could be lessened). It's a BAD time for Chump to tick off NATO allies, and always a bad thing to do, to separate from (vs. grow closer to) allies.

HOW can evil dictators be changed for the good? It would take a miracle, in many cases, but apart from that sovereign act, there are a FEW options: Meet any of their legitimate interests or needs, get their people to turn against them, unite the world against their evils, economic sanctions, and military pressure.

The U.S. would be WISE to not be needy or dependent upon any nation iffy about being our ally (Ex.: Chinese labor). When you need something another nation has, you tend to compromise human rights demands, and overlook evils, like Khashoggi's death. THIS is the time for an American charm offensive, to build up and expand allies—NOT the opposite!

Nations with more seriously evil people in their government's leadership are uniting, and even good nations are being turned off to (relatively) good America, due to a bad president. This is a VERY risky and dangerous time for us, with that circumstance! If the U.S. dollar were no longer the world's reserve currency, or all nations go to gold, our economy would be SUNK, folks!

Related Tweets

I PRAY for my country, but also fear for her. EVEN Putin disregards our historic exceptionalism. DO WE STILL HAVE IT? We're now mocked, internationally! (1/27/14)

Big money, bribes, deception by charm offensive and stern-faced near dictatorship. PBS Putin show lists character traits relevant for prophecy buffs. (1/13/15)

Putin is one of richest men in world. WHEN will ALL people with $15M or more use MUCH of it for OTHERS? You don't NEED more, and better uses exist, selfish sinners! (1/13/15)

Is the U.S. naive? Putin is NOT Gorbys or Yeltsins! Putin's type NEVER parastroyka'd (Ex-KGB). #KnowThyEnemy, even if civil, more than ISIS <http://for.tn/1yYyQeb> (1/25/15)

#Putin: God sees what you're doing, and you'll be destroyed when you invade Israel! (Eze. 38) QUIT while you're only BEHIND! <http://fxn.ws/1zgxLe9> @PutinRF_Eng (2/6/15)

You think Putin's "rise" one year ago was accidental? The Battle of Gog WILL happen (Russia vs. Israel, Eze. 38), 2.5-3.5 years later. Rumbblings even NOW! (2/20/15)

Mr. #Putin: Tear down this wall of aggression, violence and invasion (in the spirit of the great Ronald Reagan). @Putin @PutinRF_Eng #Ukraine! (2/21/15)

Putin STILL up to ally expansion. WHEN are you 'gonna counter it, @NATO? DON'T expect him to let up! <http://bit.ly/1FsRf4q> #Russia #NATO #Ukraine (2/25/15)

Could Putin's return to power be connected to the upcoming Battle of Gog? Have no idea what I'm talking about? KNOW your Bible—Christians. (5/10/12)

Are we REALLY surprised that Russia is keeping Snowden? MANY in Russia's leadership have NEVER changed from the Cold War days, likely including Putin! (8/4/13)

Update #11: MOST Important Message (12/1/18)

THIS will be the MOST important message I've ever written: In light of George H. W. Bush's death, where will you be when you die—Heaven or Hell, and how do you know, or how can one know? He made it to 94. The Bible, generally, speaks of humans maxxing out at 70 years, or more with strength (Ps. 90:10).

Yet, you have ZERO proof or certainty you will be here tomorrow. Someone's 'gonna die tonight—MANY persons. How do we know we won't be one of them? It's IMPORTANT to know where you'll be, afterwards, as it directly affects how you live today!

If there's no rewards or punishments, and God doesn't exist, and you merely cease, or even get a second chance in a next life, or a half-way house to reform, then go to Heaven, you risk LITTLE to2 nothing. But if—as the Bible teaches—there IS an eternal fiery Hell of punishment, every day you risk going there if you aren't sure you're not going there.

That IS the case for EVERY human! Why? Because we're born sinners, guaranteed by nature to commit at least one sin in our life, and one sin makes us NOT in a relationship with God, so guilty as if we had committed all sins known to man, because when a human isn't in relation with God, they are estranged, separated, distant, lost!

The evidence for the Bible's historic and accurate transmission is well documented by unbiased historians who weren't even Christians (See our website and Facebook references). Its truthfulness concerning science, archaeology, geography, history, medicine, astronomy, human nature, and any topics it covers is beyond dispute, and as it reveals the historic person of Jesus, just as accurately, what He says about Heaven and Hell have weight and merit, and He said Hell is real, and everyone faces it in this life, if they don't accept His solution for getting out of that deserved afterlife.

What was His solution? His life, death and raising from the dead! He hung on a cross to pay the punishment we all deserve. You can pay your indebtedness to God for your own sins in Hell, OR you can let Jesus have already done that for you—in a sense it's your choice! In another sense this message has to be united with faith on your part, and God's sovereign conviction on His part.

You WILL die! Your body WILL be buried, and decay in the ground, embalming fluids only hindering that natural process. 'The only things certain in life are death and taxes.' We just never know when! We ALL expect to live to 85, or beyond, especially with modern medicine, and knowledge on healthy living, but even if you do, every day you don't live in relationship to God is a day you miss out, risk Hell, and miss eternal rewards, and blessings in this life.

I am NOT speaking of joining a religion! Religion usually conjured up images of rituals, beliefs, practices, do's and don'ts, buildings, donations, and accepting all the packaged things that come with it. I am NOT saying to join a church, or give one dime to anything or anyone. I am saying you are adrift in life without God, for even if you are financially successful, you are facing an eternity in Hell.

So, JUST AS we know George H. W. Bush met Jesus face-to-face last evening, and will be with Barbara forever, more like angels than as spouses, you can know that same fact concerning yourself, today, even if you don't experience Heaven for many years in the future! Just pray and ask God to forgive all your sins, based on what Jesus did for you on the cross (Jn. 3:16)

You do NOT work your way to Heaven, or work to stay out of Hell; Heaven is too perfect to be earned, and Hell's too easy to go to than to work to avoid it... everyone goes there without Jesus in their heart! There's not one good reason for anyone to reject God's offer, yet MOST do, because the Devil is ever working to bring the majority down with him to Hell, forever! He hates you. God loves you. God has a wonderful life waiting for you, then an even more wonderful afterlife, but like every other Christ-mas gift, you have to receive it. Do so today, as that's Gods way! (II Cor. 6:2; Heb. 3:7)

I'm LITERALLY NOT asking anyone of any other 'religion' to change religions, per se, but to be saved/receive salvation. How you navigate those differences, afterwards, is NOT your concern at this moment, as ALL people—regardless of religions—face Hell, today, absent Christ in their heart! Again, I have not spoken one word about joining any church, denomination, organization or even giving myself one dime.

Your eternity is too precious a thing to risk for those topics to even be a consideration for you, as ALL that matters is that you end up in Heaven, as NO person who loves others would LET others go to Hell not knowing they CAN avoid it! That's the ultimate form of hatred—NOT telling everyone the good news/Gospel of Jesus!

This is NO scare tactic. I'm NOT using Hell to tell you to clean up your act—or else, I'm factually telling you the truth God reveals, that Hell is the future for every soul, without Jesus. ONLY He was perfect, and God in the flesh. ONLY He can forever save. ONLY He can get any and everyone to Heaven (Jn. 14:6; Ac. 4:12).

ALL the very moral and good deeds anyone does are just that—very good deeds—beneficial, profitable, commendable, and honorable, but NONE of them will ever get anyone into Heaven, just like NO particular sin ever sends any human to Hell! The ONLY thing that makes you going to Heaven impossible is rejecting God's offer of free salvation!

God forces no one to avoid Hell, if they so choose! But know what you're choosing, and go in with your eyes wide open! It's a ridiculous choice (fire every day, without end). WHO in their right mind would choose that future for themselves? No one, yet MOST people do. DONT let the literal Devil delude and deceive you that you have time to wait, Hell is no risk, this is all mythical fantasy, or you can get there another way! Be saved today.

If you want to know more about salvation—how to receive it, and how to use it once you do, see WillYouLiveForever.org, and The Gospel According To God (book), on AmericanAnswers.org, appropriately online by Christ-mas day. I pray you see, as the Devil will keep you blind, absent a miracle from God!

Update #12: World Religions

I do NOT speak much about Heaven, or its greatness, for a reason: Some people will think it too good to be true, mythical fantasy, an escape or a crutch, or irrelevant to everyday life, but I DO speak of the evils of Hell, because everyone could experience it today! And I can't wish that on my worst enemy.

Let's address what my website stops at... We are NOT anti- other religions! We are glad they exist, if they do good! We support freedom of religion. The horrific thing would be is for anyone to follow any religion, believing they'll end up in Heaven, but they end up in Hell! WHAT a tragedy, forever!

Sincere, well-meaning, moral people, desiring to please God, but they still go to Hell. HOW could I, in good conscience, ever let that happen to anyone? NOWHERE in any of my writings have I slandered any religion, or specifically compared religions, as those details are irrelevant, as ALL are based on works, and works don't work.

How tragic it would be to put in so much effort, have such great hope for an afterlife, and sacrifice so greatly to be with God forever, only to awaken on the other side of death to realize you went to Hell! It's NOT about lies, deception, or fraud, but even well-intentioned people simply don't teach or you what God has said about His entry requirements for Heaven.

It's irrational to believe you can work for it, and receive it as a free gift. A business is not a charity. No one goes to their job, for money, if their boss would gift them their paycheck. Works and gifts are qualifiedly different... one is earned, worked for and deserved, and one is NOT worked for, deserved or earned by merit.

It's so valuable that you could never deserve it—you and I deserve the exact opposite. That's where God's mercy comes in, that He would allow us into Heaven, being deserving of Hell, for merely one sin, as it separates us from Him. (Jn. 3:16)

If you NEVER attend any church building, or meeting, and never give one penny to any Christian or church organization, you STILL face Hell, today, if (God forbid) you met your Maker today! It IS an experience... being born again, spiritually. God comes and lives within you, if you ask Him in for all sins to be forgiven. Do so today. (II Cor. 6:2)

Lk. 8:5-15 shows ALL people (in four categories). People who know the Gospel are to share it with all people (MOST of them DON'T). And when it's sown, four results can occur, only one of which is good. The devil can take that message from the hearer, so they DON'T get saved. For those who DO get saved, two types of them can be not very holy, due to tough times (with shallow commitment), or worries, riches and luxuries. This life's pleasures delude people they don't need to deal with eternity, or not urgently. They are distractions and deflections, to get your mind off death and its aftermath!

WHO buys a burial plot until age 50, or so? We avoid the reality of death. WHO goes to funerals for the fun of it? No one. It's NOT fun, because there's a finality to it, for it is the end of the road for that person! WHO doesn't buy life insurance, except the poor, because we all KNOW we all will die, and be survived by others. WHO plans their funeral, until after retirement/golden years? Unless and until you know where you're going, after your body is six feet under, you have ZERO basis for living this life correctly! But once you know where you go, you live in light of that hope and certain positive future!

That's why I LOVED a quote I learned yesterday: 'It's better to be a lion for a day than a sheep all your life. Life can only be understood backwards; but it must be lived forwards.' When you KNOW you go to Heaven, what can mere man do to you?

When you don't know if you may go to Hell, uncertainty rules your life, like a house built on sand by the sea! How can you have confidence, worrying that you could die, and burn forever? You'd always have such a concern. You may block it out, by prior-referenced distractions, or by booze, money-chasing, drugs, or depression, but nothing you ever do will give the peace you lack, because you have a LEGITIMATE reason for not being at peace! (Rom. 5:1)

Peace with God; NO fear that Hell can ever befall you (I Th. 5:9). NO wrath of God held up for you in the future. (Jn. 3:36) ALL people who DON'T have Jesus in their heart HAVE God's wrath abiding upon them! That's NOT peaceful living! That's living in dread and fear, rightfully and rationally so!

You should fear Hell—rather more, fear God. God's judgment and wrathful anger will be unleashed on unforgiven people. His love and forgiveness are freely available now, but if one rejects that offer, they have chosen to pay their own punishment for their own sins! Instead, let your sins be as far from you as the east is from the west! (Ps. 103:12; Jn. 3:16)

If you FEEL this subject offends you, gets under your skin, is annoying, or is too ethereal for your tastes, KNOW that the Devil is succeeding in your life! (II Cor. 4:4) He so longs for you to live with him forever, in a fiery Hell, because he's smart enough to know that that's his future, right after Armageddon! (Rev. 20:10)

Mt. 7:13-14 is why I can say MOST people go to Hell. Ps. 14:1 says one would be a FOOL to say there's NO God, and Rom. 1:20-22 says that creation and conscience give everyone enough proof, that they're guilty before God for rejecting that revelation/evidence!

When you punch your wife in the nose, you KNOW it's wrong, even if you don't believe God exists, because you were made in God's image, to have a conscience—even if you've learned to ignore or stifle it.

Even MOST rich people go to Hell, because people put faith in their riches, vs. God, or those assets distract you from confronting the life hereafter, enjoying TEMPORARY pleasures. (Mt. 19:24; Jas. 2:5). In one sense, your ONLY purpose in life is to get saved—as many years as that takes, before you die. NOTHING else matters, like what you do in life, if you burn in Hell forever! Futility—all is vanity with such a life. Eternity vs. 80 years... prioritize based on numbers! Invest your energies accordingly.

Mt. 6:33 even says that seeking God and His values is to be number one in your life, and material assets follow, as He provides! No one lives like this, to speak of, because it takes faith to believe it's true! You CAN'T serve God and money, equally (Mt. 6:24) We TRY to balance these two values, but they CAN'T (i.e., inability) be equal; one will rule your life!

Col. 4:1-3 teaches saved people to set their minds on Heaven—NOT down here; treasure above, NOT laid up here (Cf.: Mt 6). DO YOU SEE ANY "Christian" living like this? If not, they're either not a Christian, or they're a carnal one. A majority in America are carnal. You CAN'T be a disciple of Jesus with anything as number one above Him; that's idolatry.

Christians DON'T teach this to people who get saved. Older Christians are to teach these things to babes in Christ (i.e., 'discipleship'). The Great Commission has three aspects—evangelism, baptism and discipling. One is instantaneous, one takes enough time to dunk someone in water, and the other one takes time!

Instead, a majority of U.S. Christians live with a back-up plan, in case the Bible's wrong! One foot in the world (I Jn. 2:15-17), NOT doing God's will, or walking by faith, to do so (Heb. 11:1, 6; II Cor. 5:7). We just attend church and hear sermons, AS IF that's Christianity! It's only a SMALL part... two hours of 168 in a week. That's 1/84th of your time!

Walking with God is a 24/7 joyful experience, where He leads, answers prayers, empowers for holiness, does miracles, and rewards you forever for every second you spend "in the Spirit." MANY U.S. Christians will be very POOR in heaven; golden outhouses! An IGNORANT choice!

I was NOT astute enough to record the most recent statistics from my church the past three weeks, but you would be AMAZED how FEW Christians read their Bibles, or Millennial Christians who DON'T believe basic things the Bible teaches! IF those sermons were still on Vimeo, I'd gather up those statistics and insert them here! It was SHOCKING.

A Christian can NOT grow much, if at all, without nourishment from God's word (II Pet. 2:2; Ps. 119:9-11; Josh 1:8). An IGNORANT decision, again!

Our website gives any beginner the basics, and the BEST verses and chapters to initially read! Our New Testament Color Charts (book) help you understand that covenant's contents, VERY fast and easily, with color, icons, text and structural diagrams. It will be at AmericanAnswers.org as my Christmas present to the world.

I've studied the Bible since 1978, read it maybe 45 times, and the New Testament maybe 150 times. I wrote a 5,000-paged commentary on the New Testament, and have a seminary degree, and 28 hours at Dallas Seminary (and have taught New Testament and evangelism at a Christian college, and been a youth pastor). ALL that is to say I KNOW for certain that you are missing out NOT reading that book daily!

A man from Africa, last Friday, atop a mountain, asked me how I got into the Bible. A GREAT guy at Baylor lovingly nagged me for one+ months, every day (a hall manager, or 'R.A.') in a dorm. He prayed for me, invited me to a Bible study, asked about my life and classes (despite my seven Playboy centerfolds on the wall), and eventually I relented, to get him off my back!

For the last three years of college, I averaged 3-7 hours a day reading God's word! The Navigators and Campus Crusade and the B.S.U. helped, as with Highland Baptist church, but it was me and God, one-on-one, verse-by-verse, that grew my excitement, and NOTHING less works as well. Now, please read my website for more. Thanks.

Update #13: Christian Cabal 'Diplomacy'
(12/2/18)

Old Testament prophets usually were rejected, and some were killed. Does that mean they strategized wrong? Didn't they know, 'you can catch more bees with honey than vinegar?' EVERY time they were rejected, it was because of SIN in the rejecters—NO exceptions—all based on idols valued greater God, in their priorities.

There are Christians with the gift of prophecy, though Old Testament prophets are all gone. My spiritual gift is teaching, though MOST of our predictions were right 97+ percent of the time, and only one BIG one was wrong, for a very good and BIG reason—for me to do something I would never have done otherwise. Biblical prophets had to be 100 percent right, or they were false prophets.

Let's cover the Christian Cabal's achievements: Two biased decisions which KILL U.S. as broker for peace in the Middle East (embassy move and Jerusalem capital), supported THIS <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> (thus KILLING Christ's reputation in culture), meeting in the White House to empower Chump (despite Stormy Daniels payoff revelations, and grab a woman by the P), and met with the infantile Saudi 'killer king-to-be.'

They have alleged that America is a Christian nation (i.e., theocracy), God ordained Chump (He must have ordained Hitler, because he won, too), they sacrificed all morals to get access for media exposure and more members/money, exhibited power idolatry and hypocrisy, tried to unjustly stack and politicize SCOTUS, and they teach the false Gospel of Lordship Salvation and false teaching of mandatory ten percent tithing for Christians.

Are there any good achievements? They organized Christians to be more politically active; that's about it. Poll lost people and Christians who know the Bible, to see if they think that Cabal has helped or hurt Christ's cause. It's results would be an eye-opener to that bunch.

Let's, again, discuss the Lordship Salvation HERESY. No one who holds this belief will EVER say it as plainly as I will now, but they believe a lost person MUST commit fully to live for holiness and against sinfulness, all their life, or God will NOT save them. That's a "gift" in no one's mind! It's the SAME initial decision every religions faithful make!

They LOVE to say that means the biblical Gospel teaches people to live in sin. LIE. They call it a two-step salvation. LIE. Do you know who the father of lies is? To receive a gift of a motorcycle for Christmas isn't exactly the same thing as riding/using it (though you would expect they would). They teach that a true Christian will do good deeds, even though MANY Bible verses show very sinful Christians, and some falling away.

They teach that 'repent' means a 'U-turn,' when it means a changed mind, or decision (meta noeo, in the Greek).

They believe salvation is a synonym for sanctification, and a believer is an experiential disciple, when their requirements are NOT the same (faith alone, vs. three-steps, Lk. 9:23), and discipleship being DAILY (for life; i.e., a linear process), vs. on one day certain (i.e., an experience with eternal effects).

They often CONFUSE hearers by mixing these two messages, AS IF there can be two different Gospels, and both be true (contrary to Gal. 1:8). And WHO is behind confusing? (I Cor. 14:33) LOOK at what godly Christians did to people trying to be subtle in explaining the Gospel less than clearly, or accurately... Gal. 2:14

Lordshippers DENY carnal Christians exist, when the evidence is all around them (and statistics prove it), and even God's word teaches us so.

Any recommitment/re-dedication would HAVE to be a re-salvation (or second salvation), as commitment is for life, and if you don't do it to the end, you didn't meet the requirement for Heaven which Lordshippers (vs. Christ) require.

Isn't it odd that Lordship Salvationist preachers NEVER present BOTH sides, or encourage their parishioners to study the word of God for themselves, to decide between the two, like the Bereans (Ac. 17:11) and II Tim. 2:15? What are they hiding? Unable to sway opinions when believers go directly to the Source/horse's mouth?

If you want to understand more of this problem, which divides God's Church, read our book, The Gospel According to God, at , and NOT to be confused with The Gospel According to Jesus (or the Disciples—a subtitle of Faith Works). YES, our title was purposely chosen, as we OPPOSE the Lordship Salvation teaching in those two books, though we like its author greatly.

Finally, many Lordshippers also hold to ten percent tithing, for Christians. EVERY New Testament reference to the 'tithing' refers to Jews—Abraham, the Pharisees, etc. It is NEVER commanded of Christians. I have WAY more than tithed, with my lost income writing for no pay for 17 years, but it was NEVER because any man told me I owed him ten percent. The Holy Spirit LEADS, by grace—not by non-existent percentage rules!

I LITERALLY lost a pastor job over Lordship Salvation! The details are at our website, WillYouLiveForever.org. These are no small matters, as they effect what a lost soul is told regarding how to get to Heaven. It's either by faith, or by faith plus the U-turn and surrender. One is not three, except in the Godhead/Trinity!

Saviorhood Salvationists/Free Grace believers do NOT teach lost people to remain sinful, but they get them saved first. ANY distraction from avoiding Hell risks them going there, and that's NOT, as Lordships slanderously claim, 'eternal fire insurance—it's the biblical Gospel!

The thief on the cross did NO good deeds, but he was saved! MOST of the New Testament addresses Christians, assures them of salvation, teaches identity, inheritance and theology, and THEN pivots to sanctification and application in doing good deeds, and being committed to so doing. READ it for yourself!

When another person was teleported (as I was, in 1981), he did NOT sin by NOT discipling the Ethiopian Eunuch! Lordshippers would call that hit-and-run/Rambo evangelism. The man got saved! REJOICE in that, and trust that God can disciple him by others, elsewhere, later (Ac. 8:40).

To tell lost people 'you must be fully committed to live holy the rest of your life, and be fully committed to not living sinfully the rest of your life,' is WORKS! Works begin with a decision to do them, and not to do evil ones. That's pure logic! What people do with their salvation is not at issue when they face Hell, nor a prerequisites to receiving a free gift offer.

Our view is NOT the majority view, but numbers don't determine truth... interpretive accuracy of whole counsel of God does!

I would be VERY happy to publicly debate any pastor on tithing and Lordship Salvation, once I start a political campaign, maybe only on Sundays, to keep the subjects separate. More importantly, if I ever get to speak at any church, I'm going to speak our On Hell sermon, at our website, which SHOULD keep invites from happening, because the statistics on evangelism, discipleship, Bible ingestion and carnality, even if updated from our 15-year old website, are still embarrassingly abysmal, and I'd ask the crowd to follow me out the doors to go evangelize, as I did at First Baptist, Katy, TX. Any invitations? I'm available in 2019!

Here are those updated statistics: Of 8,917 born again American Millennial believers (ages 18-40) polled, only 35 percent of them believe all these basics: Absolute morals exist, the Bible is 100 percent accurate, an all-powerful God exists, Jesus lived a sinless on earth, Satan is real, and you can't earn your way to salvation by good works. —Probe Ministries

And over half of all Americans have read little or none of the Bible; and of those, 57 percent only read it four times a year, or less, and only 19 percent of church goers say they read it every day. —Third Angel of the Church of North Dallas

And YES this message gets added to Christians for Trump (book), tomorrow. Why wouldn't it? I've been saying it for four years, and in other ways since 1985, when I lost that youth pastor job. Why would I change, or revert now? Do you think the dude the Christian Cabal supported would speak on such priorities?

So HOW, biblically, does a new Christian become committed? Discipleship. Ingestion of the Bible, daily, and an older mentor training them up in the faith, exactly as Jesus did to the eleven, who turned the world upside down. NOT by front-loading the Gospel with unbiblical requirements. WHO was it who came up with the 'baby Christian' phrase? The Christian Cabal! They had to SELL/market the stupidest and least moral of all 17 GOP's to Christian white voters! HOW can a person be a Christian, then be a baby/new one a year later? Two salvations? Reversion to the spiritual mother's womb?

HOW can anyone be a Christian, if they have never asked God to forgive any sins? That's the essence of salvation! No, the Christian Cabal has only been successful at getting media access, and warping Christianity in the minds of any who paid any attention to their antics and words, being for Chump. I'd grade them a D or D-!

SO anxious for power access, they abandoned morals and conscience. Power idolatry! Sin-to-win strategy, whose many tactics are fully explained in our 1,330 paged book (longer after tonight), Christians for Trump: Is God a Democrat or a Republican? Answer: NEITHER—He's only for good policies. Duh 101.

The Christian Cabal supported evil, used evil means to get duped laymen to support evil, all in the name of stacking SCOTUS for one issue that, even if passed, still isn't 'gonna be banned in all states, and government still has Constitutional duty to protect the safety of women (vs. injury or death, from aborting), NOT to mention the judiciary is to be neutral, detached, non-partisan and non-political.

That is NOT what the Christian Cabal sought! That's UN-American! Plus, freedom of religion is NOT a president favoring white WASP Christians, to the unfair exclusion of all other religious people. There are sins ALL over their actions!

Is the Christian Cabal forever tainted? NO. People can change. If they ever stood for morality and intelligent, unbiased public policy, and admitted that obsession with Roe's overturn was why they abandoned all Christianity to back Chump, they'd gain some credibility back. Chump doesn't admit sins—will they be like him? What Would Trump Do?

And IF the Christian Cabal HAD been successful at their God-defined job(s), Chump would be saved, and be being disciplined, which no one would accuse him of, on either counts. And IF they want to be a lobbying group, they have to follow the rules, register, etc. And they break the Johnson Amendment a lot!

WHY would I risk NO support from any of them? Telling the TRUTH is preeminent, positive or negative, and IF they follow the Bible, they know what they should do. However, in 2016, they gave NO indication that it held sway over their political decisions, so who knows if they've morally changed?

Interjection

[I had 1 response to my Ac. 8:40 testimony. I'll take any credible lie detector test, as many times as someone funds them. HOW can you prove it, otherwise, when no one else was in the car? There were no video recorders on cell phones, back then, and I didn't have a phone anyway (still don't). Plus, I don't lie. I've already detailed that experience here, three times, once in very fine detail. I'm NOT 'gonna bore myself doing that again. It was offset—to keep me humble—by one statement I said, that was NOT true, but was embarrassing to feel forced to say, to get people to back off so I could write so much (without objections).

Continuing

MOST people would NOT say negative things about people very positive toward them in the past month. We ALWAYS tell the TRUTH, and they react to us, as we do to them, and I was negative about the Christian Cabal's meeting with the clown prince, so they likely tried to catch me in one missed prediction, but I know why God led me to it... to change from my lifelong party.

One more example... my last (and free) book has NEVER changed content, positive or negative, depending on if people cited were pro or con. We simply, stably tell the truth, and are NOT swayed by positive or negative support, as the truth is what matters. There are NO grudges on my side, but we are always objective and independent.

I'll NEVER back off criticizing tithing, and Lordship Salvation, even if people offered me a million dollars to do so, or all the support the Christian Cabal gave Chump. Money and power are very inferior values to telling the truth. If more people believed that (especially Christians), our world would be a much better place!

Update #14: Middle East Realities

The SNL (Saturday Night Live) opening was hilarious (<https://bit.ly/2rgQvk1>), but after starting to sleep, I awakened trying my darnedest to understand the Christian Cabal... how a group of 8-12 older men/pastors find consensus to do such DUMB things?

Here's my assessment of why they would ever have done what they did in Israel and Saudi Arabia... Iran is a threat to Israel's Peace, and Saudi Arabia has been a very good/close U.S. ally for decades. They're also rich, and have the glut of world oil. Conservatives (Ex.: Hannity) ALWAYS brag that America is energy independent, and we're now exporters, due to fracking, so we supposedly don't need Middle East oil (which we do, medium- to long-term!).

I guess Chump and his ilk believed the Saudis would protect Israel from Iran, as Israel's Iron Dome protects the Saudis? Who's protecting whom in that scenario? News reports are the Saudis just 'recently' are onboard with recognizing Israel's legitimate existence as a nation.

So, somehow, the Saudis would defend Israel against all Arab-intensive nearby neighboring states, many of whom also hate Israel for the Palestinian conflict? You think the Saudis were 'gonna use the weapons Chump is selling them to protect the Jews, so we wouldn't have to engage any military incursions, to help her defend against Iran?

I'm winging this on the fly, as I haven't understood ONE decision the Christian Cabal has ever made, except their rabid desire to oppose abortion, though by immoral means. So having an ally in the Middle East who's O.K. with Israel makes her safer, so we ALLOW Khashoggi to be murdered, with NO consequences?

What the heck was ever wrong with bombing Iran's nuclear facilities if they developed full weaponized missile capacity, by the U.S. or Israel? Sure, that would ignite the region, but it would be self-defense. How does Saudi Arabia help Israel's cause? They aren't 'gonna embrace Jews, though they do oppose Iran, and their Arab neighbors aren't 'gonna oppose Iran's potential attacks on Israel (i.e., shared goals, in some cases).

I just DON'T get the Cabal's "thinking!" America has protected the Saudis for decades, and gotten good oil deals as a result. Conservatives brag we don't need their oil, so why aren't they consistent in not worrying if we lose out on it to Russia, and others, if we don't need it?

Hannity has always said we need 100 percent energy independence from OPEC oil (which I have never agree with, as our influence there is stabilizing for the region, and protects our and Israel's interests).

Why in the heck would the Christian Cabal be for America doing anything to upset Middle East relations by favoring Israel with the embassy move and Jerusalem capital announcement?

I REALLY question the intelligence of these pastors, trying to pretend to be political strategists, and/or lawyers! I am NOT trying to be mean, and I HOPE they know I love them when they stay in the lane they're good at. In all this typing, I still don't see their points—anywhere!

The Saudi's are NOT 'gonna abandon Arab nations for America and Israel, and even though the Sunni vs. Shia conflict/rift keeps that "race" of people divided, they're still Arab, and mostly Muslim. Unless Jared Kushner has an amazing plan that I can't imagine, I don't get the Cabal's plans, one bit!

It's always good to have an ally in the Middle East, as we have with Turkey, somewhat, Jordan and others (Ex.: Kuwait, UAE), but it's NOT like Israel's nukes can't deter and protect themselves, already! The Saudi's can't stop Iran's nukes, and they wouldn't, anyway, as America has a much stronger interest in defending Israel than them, even if they've warmed up to Jews being in the region, more recently.

And not only is America a 100 percent NOT credible peace broker, via CHUMP, the Cabal has NO public complaints against any Jewish sins toward Palestinians. They NEED to get their nose out of political strategy, but Chump lets them, because he needs the votes!

They have Bible prophecy verses, and two verses in Psalms, regarding being for Israel, but that seems to be ALL they have! NO good thinking that that I see any evidence of, and some of these people have been heroes of the faith, in the PAST (namely Dobson, and Billy Graham's son).

They didn't consult me, nor would they, so I'll never get how consensus was had. It's more like the Devil took over, with power lust! The way you protect Israel is with military might, even as you condemn their Sins, and publicly denounce and oppose them (because they're wrong, and it only exacerbates tensions). You could try to get neighboring nations to accept Israel's legal legitimacy, and ally with even more of them, but no one is 'gonna convince many of them to accept Jews in the region if the Palestinian Problem continues—even Saudi Arabia.

Joel Rosenberg writes fictional books related to prophecy. That's a political strategist credential? I think NOT! And these people are so EMOTIONALLY bonded, you criticize one, legitimately (as I just did), and you engender their hate and opposition.

That's as rational as their new buddy, the clown prince, who was incensed over criticism, so he had Khashoggi killed! Criticism, if based in truth, HELPS you, unless you have a sinful ego, as the prince obviously does, arrogant that he has the oil everyone needs, so he can sin at will, by murder, and CHRISTIAN SO-CALLED 'leaders' are too afraid to confront him over MURDER—not even adultery, as John the Baptist did—for some good and moral reason?

The counterbalance to Iran (backed by Putin) is Israel, America and Western nations. Expecting any Middle East nations to ever care about Israel, over Arab brethren, is a BIG stretch, family squabbles over religion notwithstanding (i.e., Sunni vs. Shia).

Israel, since 1948, has been a thorn in ALL of their sides, to differing degrees, and now, due to the Cabal's input with Chump, America has ZERO right or credibility trying to get Israel's rivals to the negotiating table! It's like an NBA referee wearing a Laker's jersey as he officiates their game against the Mavs. Am I to praise the Cabal for 'helping' Israel by hurting her chances at temporary peace, with America not able to be in that process?

This is where religion is mixing in an ineffective if not unholy way with politics! HOW can I commend these pastors for being for a wicked man, marketing him as a Christian, and throwing a monkey wrench into peace possibilities in the Middle East? That's impossible!

I read one of them say, 'but Saudi Arabia is a rich country.' Your point? Yes, but how's that relevant to anything I've brought up tonight? They don't spend that money to make the average citizen have a good life, or to defend Israel, nor would they likely use it to attack Iran, when needed. That statement is merely stating something that's true, hoping dumb people will see that it's true, and think it actually means something in these discussions.

Oil is the BIG deal. Conservatives (which ALL Cabal members have become, or cozied up to, via Chump) are 'gonna have to face up to the emptiness of their rhetoric about oil supplies in America! It's ONLY 'gonna get MORE expensive, as fracking can't last forever (there's only so much crude hidden in shale near abandoned drill sites), and more expensive as we go further out in the ocean, as Chump is allowing, and even more oil spills are inevitable.

Can anyone believe Chump BRAGGED that Saudi oil prices lowered, because he leverages Khashoggi's life to blackmail the clown prince, for a month or so (for oil we supposedly don't buy, because we're independent)? So now "CHRISTIANS" are for putting a price tag on the sanctity of human life, so long as oil prices are arbitrarily and temporarily lowered? Biblical values?

When those people stick to evangelism, discipleship and sermonizing, they're pretty good. When they pal around trying to pretend to be political experts, because one of them makes make-believe scenario books based on real prophecy events, we are all in trouble with that NON separation of church and state! As serious as I can be that I believe God has sovereignly stupored Chump, I believe the Cabal getting in bed with his ilk has stupored them, as well! I get ZERO joy saying these things. I like most of their members. Their "thinking" just can't hold water, and it's dangerous for America!

If the Christian Cabal was excited that the Saudi's were open to recognizing Israel, you could get SO many more of her neighbors to do likewise if Chump could have actually HELPED the situation, rather than hurt it, with the full support of this deluded bunch! You make life fair, peaceful, prosperous and unbiased and non-favoritistic to the Jews, and I'll bet you get much better results than some Saudi Kushner plan!

You'll NEVER get lasting peace, but kissing up to a murderous prince, rather than helping the displaced Palestinians, seems like the opposite of a no-brainer, to me. I do understand that the Saudi's want influence that Iran wants, so their openness to Israel was positive. But it was less about Israel, and more about countering Iran.

And with the high five frat rat handshake between Putin and MSB, you don't think they BOTH know they pulled a BIG one off against Chump, either having him over the barrel from business ties, or more likely because he CAN'T ever confront their evils, as he needs them for his crazy foreign policy.

If you get this type analysis, elsewhere, please tell me your sources, as I would love to read them. The Cabal has seriously harmed Christ's cause! Who knows if they evangelized the prince, but their refusal to stand him up after Khashoggi ONLY lets him know whatever Christians believe, they accept murder as just the cost of doing business, which is UN-true.

I'll bet more nations could be had to be for Israel's national existence, by doing a good negotiation, than Kushner's Saudi plan—any day! And I do NOT naively believe that means any of them will like Jews in the region, or abandon plans to attack her, because prophecy says they will.

So even Kushner's plan with the Saudi's won't prevent that, but look at the moral cost to Christianity that route took! Trying to fairly do good to all sides would NOT have harmed Christianity's reputation one iota, and either way, prophecy results will come, so why not do the moral thing, rather than engage in all the sins I've just described, because you aren't thinking well, and aren't trusting God well, because He does NOT lead you to sin, to do His will.

I would make a HORRIBLE sound bite politician! But photo op types have provably made bad politicians, anyway! You either want to understand things, or you just want to hear words and feel positive, even if they're lies, and little ever gets done. I prefer truth and action to lies and inaction that feels good to sheeple!

Whether one, none, or all nearby nations recognize Israel's right to exist, they do and they will unto prophecy! That's hardly a YUGE issue—settling the differences and making all parties lives better, safer and more prosperous is much more important, and keeping Iran's nukes out of Israel.

Does the Cabal believe the Saudi's would go to war with Iran, over Israel, to be able to have more influence in the region? Israel would sooner knock out Iran's nuclear facilities as Arabia! The U.S. would, sooner, too.

A Google search of news articles says the Saudi's don't have nukes. Iran is NOT supposed to. You KNOW they'll try, all treaties notwithstanding. Monitoring and intervening are about the only remedy. Obama funded them so well, for signing an agreement they were sure to break, WHO doesn't believe they won't use much of that money to develop nukes even harder to detect, underground? Am I boring you? Even if the Saudi's used their oil money to develop nukes, Iran and the Saudi's AREN'T 'gonna engage a nuclear war! Nukes in Arabia do NOTHING to stop Iran's ambitions for them used against the Jews.

And many nearby nations are sympathetic to anyone who would attack Israel, due to the Palestinian problem the Cabal can't address, because they favored Israel, via Chump, who himself thinks he can force them to the table, by stripping funding and favoring Israel.

Doesn't the doofus know China and Russia would be greatly incentivized to help their southern neighbors to counter Chump's favoring of Israel (with money and weapons)?

There are no 100 percent saints you can ally with in the region, as even we aren't saints, but not even a slap on the wrist of the clown prince sends such a horrific precedent, and a non-moral message! It's like WAPO said: Flash a dollar in front of Chump, and he'll overlook murder. CHRISTIANS agree with those values?

Another media outlet RIGHTLY said everyone beware entering the Saudi consulate in Turkey if you are a journalist, because Chump will look the other way! See no evil, hear no evil, because your head is in the sand, ostrich! Even SNL mocked the clown prince's disdain—I got oil, b_tches. Arrogance is what allows him to kill journalists, with NO fear of consequences. His government OUGHT to have laws and courts and jails, but apparently it takes outsiders to get any justice there, as he is, apparently the law.

Our E.U. allies RIGHTLY said (maybe in Argentina?) that you ally with people who share the same values. The U.S. does NOT value rewarding murderous politicians, nor do any NATO members that I've ever heard of.

It's time to go to sleep. How will I ever get these type of insights into 1-line sound bites, as a politician? Maybe I'll just parrot, 'read my books" (vs. lips), RIP the great George H. W. Bush. Nite nite all.

Update #15: Foreign Policy

Americans voted for a politician to conduct foreign policy, through the State Department, DOD, CIA and PAID government officials and diplomats—NOT freelance pastors! Can you imagine how the right would pitch a fit if Obama had Muslims, Buddhists, Hindus or even Jews scurrying around with our allies to engage goodwill diplomacy, or more (Middle East regional strategy)? Is every voting bloc now 'gonna be allowed to engage foreign policy, and visit Israel, Saudi Arabia, like teacher's groups, NAACP, Rainbow Coalition, AARP and the NRA, if they help someone get elected? It's because Chump CAN'T conduct effective foreign policy, and ONLY cares about himself—NOT America—in catering to men who claim the power to get him elected!

I can't wait to expose all the sinful things they've done in the name of Jesus, to foist the worst president on America, and destroy Christianity's reputation in society for some media exposure, power access, and ultimately more business (free media exposure equals more parishioners, like Jeffress getting a prime slot on the Armed Services radio, though he does have to pay for the air time), and Fox News contributorships.

How's that working out with Israel? Russia? China? North Korea? Saudi Arabia? NOT so well! NONE of those entities are coming around to America's positions, but hardening and expanding their resistance and alliances (excepting the Saudi's, unless the high five handshake was a sign of things to come between MSB and Putin/Russia). This has been a "near complete" (to quote Donnie on the midterm results) FAILURE for America!

Update #16: Common Sense International Assessment

Let's start, again, dealing with realistic foreign policy, done by paid and informed professionals! You can NOT expect Russia to stop Putin's meddlings, world-wide, be it seizing three Ukrainian ships, hacking U.S. businesses (if not elections), killing rivals, critics and journalists, buddying up with any nation Who will hassle or oppose America; YES, we are in the Cold War, again, it just doesn't usually involve military skirmishes!

You have Russian fly-bys of our Navy ship, injecting itself in Syria (and now in the Saudi vs. Turkey Middle East situation), opposing the U.S. at the U.N., invading one country (if not more, later), letting one bare-chested dictator have BILLIONS, most of which the people are due, cozying up with China (i.e., BRIC economic bloc), TRYing to break up or back off NATO, and cause E.U. nations (and especially Germany) to splinter some loyalty to alliances with the U.S.A. Cuba and Venezuela can't be too far from his planned alliances.

He poisons Skripal IN BRITAIN, no less, so NO venue is off limits to his reach, including one of America's top two greatest allies. DO YOU SEE A PATTERN HERE, folks? He even jails political threats, and nullifies votes if his job is at risk. He has MASTERFULLY conquered the art of P.R., where many people see him as a smiley, engaging, friendly adversary, because the devil ALWAYS comes as an angel of light (II Cor. 11:14). He is NO Gorbachev nor Yeltsin, but has relied on his KGB past and skills to bring Russia COMPLETELY back from Cold War DEFEAT (George H. W. Bush days) to being Time magazine's most powerful man just a few years back.

Do ANY U.S. citizens put all these facts together to see the threats the U.S. is facing, globally, or is it time to stick our faces back on the TV set to watch what's up with the Kardashians? What about China? One-party rule, OFTEN using unfair trade practices that HURT U.S. economics, hacking U.S. business trade secrets, likely spies, even in our colleges and businesses, dumping product (government money making pseudo-private enterprise offerings be well below market price), trade imbalances, child labor, labor camps, "reeducation camps" for Muslims in their nation (virtually forced regime indoctrination), extending the reign of their leader, with the people having little-to-no say, much unaddressed poverty, human rights abuses America hardly hears about, religious persecution, and the same great P.R. skills as Putin, to appear nice and reasonable, despite all those NOT nice and NOT reasonable practices. <https://bit.ly/2zBg444>

DOES anyone care about these things, or is this too academic and unentertaining? Just enjoy your Frappe distractions, and hope our politicians will solve it, though they rarely solve anything? Alliances increase with China (Ex.: BRIC), and they aid North Korea surviving U.S. sanctions!

South Korea's president deserves credit for GREAT progress seeking to unite the Koreas, and I do NOT consider Xi Jinping the moral equal as Putin, in evil-doing (as George W. Bush would have called it), but these are obstacles and challenges the world faces, especially if the U.N. were ever to be used effectively. And speaking of North Korea, how about 'rocket man'? Why in the world would he EVER actually dismantle all the nukes he has already pursued? It's the ONLY thing that puts him on the world stage, and keeps his nation on the map of public interest! After all the money spent, that should have been used to let his people not starve and suffer, he would want something YUGE in return for pretending to scrap them—like mucho dinero!

Chump's tariffs on China, rebuffing Putin one time in Argentina, and meeting with Kim Jung Un can NOT objectively be seen as great foreign policy achievements, as much as I want America to have positive breakthroughs with these nations. Throw in the two Israeli debacles for world peace (i.e., embassy and capital), and even Turkey being slighted and ignored concerning the crime in their midst, in favor of not even a slap on the hand for a murderous Saudi prince, and no one in their right mind can honestly believe the Christian Cabal has HELPED America, or that Donald J. tRump is good at policy—EXCEPTING bombing ISIS into submission (which I pushed for, even back in the Obama era), and maybe getting one white Christian pastor released from Turkey, again to appease his voting bloc.

Are presidents supposed to use U.S. tax dollars, and their office to nearly exclusively serve their base? Is that how U.S. politics gets conducted? I invite and WELCOME any and ALL dissent, with evidence where this analysis is wrong. Thank God—LITERALLY—we are only primarily facing threats from Russia and North Korea, and a little bit from China. But give Donnie TIME... he has already proven he is effective at ticking off our allies, and cozying up to our enemies, and opposing those paid professionals our tax dollars support, in the U.S. government.

How much more damage could he do? LIKELY, he'll eventually do some good, because you can't do much worse, then he'll take credit for such achievements, like he OFTEN does—breaking things, then being the proffered fixer.

Would you say U.S. foreign policy is better or worse than it was two years ago? And though our economy is doing better (again, by some policies I was for, just not as radical of tax breaks, and especially not mainly for the rich), the outsourced jobs I said could NOT be returned (at $2 a day) haven't returned, as with 14,000 GM ~Rust Belt jobs, and tariffs bullying renegotiating NAFTA and maybe a China deal, you could credit him for, if the details were positive, though medium-term those tactics are 'gonna sour relationships

It is NOT Chumps 'great negotiator' skills at play, but the great U.S. economy, and number one consuming nation status, and reserve currency status, and U.S. military to back it all up, that allows nations to temporarily cave, because they know he's a blip and flash in the pan, and U.S. will still be there when he's gone.

And medium- and longer-term, those tactics incentivize them to split/part from close alliances with America, just as the E.U. is doing concerning self-defense! I can't think of one nation closer to America, post-Chump, except Israel! That's success? If so, count me out. I hope you haven't fallen asleep. Facts can bore short attention spans!

I EXPECT Venezuela, to some extent Cuba, the Middle East, Russia, North Korea and maybe China disruptions the lameduckish last two years of DJT's legacy "leadership." Even the E.U. will build stronger bonds with Russia, China, maybe the Saudi's, and separate even more from HIM—not from America.

I will NOT be accused of being a Negative Nellie. Our economy HAS improved (lower taxes, regulations, and scuttling Obamacare tend to do that, to a large extent), and Chump HAS tried new strategies with North Korea, China and Russia. I just don't believe they've paid off well, at this 'juncture', as George W. Bush would say.

WHY would Communist and religiously dictatorial nations go along with the U.S.A.? China does, economically, as it greatly benefits funding their regime. People like those view democratization and U.S. foreign policy as meddling, and sticking our noses in their business! I'm ALL for us doing so, if They're up to no good, but they are not 'gonna renounce ambitions that favor their often corrupt leadership.

ONLY inciting the people to rise up can change things (i.e., regime change), and many even resent those type efforts, because some citizens want to be governed in ways detrimental to America and Israel. I'm boring myself to death, so have a wonderful day, consider what I've said, don't just turn off and tune out, and expect America to always have enemies we must learn to deal with without military conflict! They will always be seeking our demise, or at least our economy or influence diminishing!

Top five all-time viewership. I WISH it was because Americans cared about foreign policy. Maybe they just can't believe someone would waste so much time tweeting in the wind?

Report: Mattis reveals Russian government attempted to interfere in U.S. midterm elections earlier this month - ABC News - <https://abcn.ws/2FV8O8w> via @ABC

YEA! China stood their ground against ignorant bullying. Trump agrees not to raise tariffs on China after meeting with Xi Jinping. <https://cbsn.ws/2Rv00Yg>

TIME to promote my books, and end any chapter additions! BUT, before I do, I KNOW U.S. consumers of politics HATE long-winded analyses, so here's my stab at 1-liner foreign policy aspirations: Diversify our labor market (less China dependency), keep Putin in check, never let North Korea endanger America, or her allies, seek mutually beneficial trade with China, work for a second Arab Spring, solve the animosity over Palestine, don't favor peaceful Jews over peaceful Arabs, and be the leaders America has always been, but not arrogantly or bullyingly. Those are NOT winning slogans!

One bit of background information I didn't reveal... on our road trip from Arkansas, I heard a pastor central to the Christian Cabal, in a recent sermon espousing tithing, and not spreading your tithe around to the many great Christian organizations you have offered you. That's part of the prompting about our tithe tweets!

And the day Chump won, a local talk show D.J. gloated that I had wrongly predicted Hillary's win, by posting the same notification about ten times, off and on, like a flashing neon sign. THAT's what we were rebutting regarding my predication accuracy rate, as he's still around, and despises our views. I DON'T just randomly address issues for no reason! They're usually prompted by events in the news, or my life, though I try to keep it on the helpful doctrine level, and sometimes don't reveal exactly what prompted the topic.

Update #17: Globalism or Nationalism?

WHAT would you expect Russia to do, losing the Cold War, heightened by Reagan, and untauntingly ended by George H. W. Bush? Breakup of the USSR into satellites, which now even NATO sometimes partners with? Just take it (i.e., a loss) forever? Nations have pride, and citizens have patriotism! This is NOT unexpected.

China out-smarted U.S. politicians, to placate U.S. business interests, at the expense of U.S. workers. NOW, 25+ years later we want to renegotiate? North Korea's Un needed legitimacy, at first, by his peers, so missiles and nuke claims got him worldwide fear—an asset when you're a dictator.

Iran and the Saudi's WANT to be the Middle East power brokers, and most Arab nations have ties to Arabia, but also have religious factions, and like that Iran is opposed to Jews being in Israel. And many people despise anyone trying to claim the mantle of global leader (like American exceptionalism). Who elected you king?, they ask.

This historic background brings us to where we find ourselves, today! China and Russia WON'T accept a back seat, and are even now colluding to make the Yuan or Euro the reserve currency of the world. China can, at any time, cut off the spicket of loans to America, U.S.'s "asset" is that we buy too many things, and the Saudi's have the most pure oil, needing little refinement.

Nations use their assets in their favor. Russia has nukes, and influence in the region, and ambitions to return to pre-Cold War world status. Iran used to be an empire, and national pride can resurrect a desire to again be a BIG player. China, as well. The U.N. is feckless to manage these aspirations.

Even with Brexit, the E.U. is re-thinking unity, as each nation RIGHTLY needs to advance self-interest, be it economic, immigration, or self-defense. It's the pendulum correction from one extreme to the other, vs. balance! Can you see these things this way?

America lost some clout, by 'leading from behind's' attempt to get other nations to pay up and do their fair share. Now Chump insists on the pay up, and even insults allies, who RIGHTFULLY resent it, and react accordingly, distancing their nations more from current-state America!

NATO even gets questioned as to its continued need! BRIC rises to lure a non-Communist nation into its orbit (Brazil). Arab nations would maybe like to unite, economically, if they can get past intra-Islam religious tensions. Central and South America SHOULD economically ally, as with Africa, and North America (i.e., NAFTA).

When EVERY nation is looking out for number one, selfishness vs. self-interest have to again be defined! Nationalism vs. globalism are misstatements. We are interconnected, but no one likes being abused in any trade deals! Chump's bullying stance (that Mexico and Canada and China must submit to U.S. ambitions) was asinine!

To take a belief that the U.S. is the best nation, to mean all other nations are inferior, or owe us a great economy, is the height of bombastic arrogance! EXPECT so much resistance and resentment that the U.S. will have FEW allies when Chump gets booted out. Thank you, Donald? He_1 NO; Scrooge you, Donald! USA #1, morally.

Protectionism retracts from global engagement, and globalism can slip into not caring for your nation's best interests. The RIGHT answer is balance! You can't withdraw from economic interconnectedness, nor can you forsake national sovereignty for some fantastical 'unity' concept. #CommonSense USA #1

Update #18: Shia or Sunni?
(12/3/18)

Report: Qatar said it will leave OPEC next month, a rare example of the toxic politics of the Middle East rupturing a group that had held together for decades through war and sanctions <https://bloom.bg/2BNsSpo> You engender violent religious extremists when you never help Palestinians displaced since 1948.

Sympatico with fellow Arab brothers will NOT wane until the free world makes justice reign in Israel, and addresses any legitimate complaints of Israel's rival nations! Illegitimate ones can rightly be ignored. May I suggest, as an outsider, leadership abilities are NOT genetically inherent, and Muslim nations ought to be headed up by the most moral and intelligent people possible! It's what they do—NOT who they're related to, that matters! <https://bit.ly/2KP9wD7>

One nation can require lineage, while another lets people vote. WHY let a conflict last nearly 1,400 years? Find moral values you share in common, and focus on those! Extremists DON'T represent your religion well, which is why ISIS had nowhere to return (a Muslim friend told me). ONLY stand for morality, and put the decades of bitterness aside.

Everyone who is NOT a Muslim doesn't think one thought about if your political leaders share a lineage to Muhammad, or not. Your religions image/reputation to 'infidels' is ONLY based on the good behavior inspired by anyone being in your or any other religion! Shia vs. Sunni? Just obey Allah the best you know how!

Something to help us understand the Middle East better: <https://bit.ly/2AO2aeE> Shia and Sunni share fundamentals in common, says that article; therefore, major on the majors, and minor on the minors. We ALL trace back to the same Abraham of the Bible (Gal. 4:22)! We're all one human family.

And EVERYONE traces back to Adam. The bloodlines are in common. Over the millennia, different languages (Gen. 11:1-9) and physical features changed, and cultural tradition sprung up, but moral values always stay the same.

At the same time you unite over BIG values, differences separate! You can be united on the BIG things, and disagree on the smaller things! I was just following a slow driver. I will NEVER want to get to know any admitted slow driver, in real life, very well, as we so disagree on the pace of life. We separate, amicably. Just take your time in your own lane... you have NO right to waste my time.

So peaceful coexistence is mainly learning to separate, and/or tolerate differences without violence! I've never, nor would I ever considered violence against people who can't comprehend Texas driving laws, but I also educate them (often with my horn), and avoid them at all costs. Violence is where you cross a line you shouldn't!

People from the same Adam are going to dress, speak, look, drive, and think differently, because we're individuals, but we are also all made in God's image, and you should never try to play God, in ending the life of someone who's different from you (unless in fatal harm's way, as self-defense); just separate!

People LIKE being with their own kind. Tall people enjoy dating tall people; rich folk hang with the wealthy, due to commonality. There are exceptions, but there should never be violence. Debate, argue, make your point heard, but I'm told that the Menninger's organization says you will never change another person, so you have to change yourself.

(Rom. 15:7) In my church, a friend has a support dog. Some people might not like that. Last Sunday, a gal came out of church with ripped blue jeans. I told her CONGRATS that she didn't feel a need to stay outside, as I do when in gym shorts, picking up my kids.

My son wanted to wear a man bun, but we said 'no.' Every group has standards, traditions; fitting in is important, but not to the point of being a slave. That gal had courage. We didn't want our son to represent our family using similar courage!

Differences abound... deal with it, and not with violence. Unless you're perfect (like Jesus), no one will 100 percent be like you, nor should they!

Update #19: Green Energy & Oil in Prophecy
(12/3/18)

OPEC used to be a virtual oil monopoly. Will prices rise or fall if it disbands? I suspect they could drop. Even with that cartel in tact, they would agree on raising or lowering prices, as prices are up to the owners, and what buyers will pay (i.e., market forces). There is MUCH Middle East tensions, currently.

If conservatives CAN'T see the value of America weaning off oil, though keeping it for derivatives, they're BLIND! Oil is the main reason wars get started (like the Iraq War), because most everything requires energy, in modern life. HEAR these lyrics!: <https://bit.ly/2QB15k0>

Even prophecy expert number one (Dr. John Walvoord, RIP) said OIL will be the basis of triggering the Tribulation! <https://amzn.to/2QfGW40> Green energy can NOT stop prophecy, and we aren't to try to stop it (but hasten it by evangelism), but we need oil alternatives, to lessen conflicts!

HOW do you make those alternatives competitively priced? EVERY cool product costs MOST when first launched (i.e., sunk costs, and investment outlays must be recouped, usually from rich buyers). But as an item gets more commonly owned, economies of scale kick in, and prices drop! Even drugs go generic, eventually. We NEED vehicles NOT using gasoline, ASAP!

HOW could solar, wind, geothermal and ocean wave energy be applied to powering cars of the future? Electric car batteries charged by such? Fracking gets MUCH less oil out of the ground than the original oil drilled before the well was abandoned, decades back! Fracking dirties the well water needed to be injected, to keep pressure.

It has runoff pools that may seep into drinking/potable water sources. It makes some sense to think that unstable underground layers of water (vs. shale) could, with pressure, cause minor earthquakes (unproven, to-date). Green energy is a future necessity, for America to be independent!

MOST Americans AREN'T 'gonna ride share, carpool, take public transport (if they can own their own car, and their city is not landlocked), ride a bike to work, or freeze in the winter or burn up in the summer. Better technology for green energy is the way of the future, getting costs competitive, ASAP!

Update #20: Oil & the Middle East Crisis
(12/3/18)

John Walvoord postulated that the Tribulation would center on pressures over oil. Saudi Arabia has the most. Israel doesn't have a ton, but Russia will seek its wealth ~2.5 years into the Tribulation (i.e., the Battle of Gog). Even today, Arab nations are fighting over religion and oil! Sunni, Shia and OPEC.

'As of 2013 Israel was importing nearly 100 million barrels of oil per year. It possesses negligible reserves of crude oil, but does have abundant domestic natural gas resources which were discovered in large quantities starting in 2009, after many decades of previously unsuccessful exploration.'

Israel has to get oil from somewhere... either Arab neighbors, or U.S. ships who pass by Yemen (and the Straits of Hormuz, for Saudi exports). LOOK at this map to see how key that Aden waterway is to getting oil to Israel: <https://bit.ly/2AMmwVA> Everyone wants to control Middle East commerce trade routes.

Oil via the Mediterranean Sea seems much more difficult. If you want to squeeze a nation, cut off access to energy produced elsewhere. THAT could be the means of requiring a peace settlement for Israel—oil!

Israel needs green energy even more quickly than America, as we're O.K., for now. They're negative on oil! Remember the Captain Philips movie, with pirates from Somalia? That's RIGHT ACROSS from Yemen, where the Saudi's are at war. U.S. oil ships were targeted for money in that real life depiction.

It is the KEY access point for shipping U.S. oil to Israel, and is all bounded by Arab nations. Arab nations MAY cut off her oil, one day, over Palestine. Iran nukes against Israel, U.S. war in Iraq and Afghanistan. It ALL ties to oil, with lesser factors also involved.

The world runs on gold and oil—NOT Dunkin' Donuts. Gold has been replaced by currency, in many cases, but NOT oil by green energy. The Saudi's accept dollars for their oil. If they refuse to do so, U.S. could suffer a GREAT loss.

People wanting the Saudi kingdom to collapse, or to not remain an U,S, ally have NO strategic understandings. MSB needs disciplining for murdering Khashoggi, but we want an oil-rich ally, who balances power with Iran's influence, especially one open to recognizing Israel.

Let humans rights violations go unpunished, and they accelerate, and continue forever (i.e., empowerment). It's a balancing act between doing right and doing business. Liberals want the humanely right thing done, and conservatives want the business transactions done. Extreme liberals want the Saudi's ruined; extreme conservatives want Iran ruined. I want them all to find ways to get mutual interests met through agreements and peace.

I heard Hannity and Gingrich chat today about Chump's trade deal "successes," then say you have to have 'win-win' (our term—NOT one Chump uses). They're wanting it both ways. Trump's bullying does NOT win, medium- to long-term! Concessions in the short-term lead to finding alternative suppliers, longer term. Bullying win-lose LOSES for America!

Update #21: Biblically Hastening Prophecy (II Pet. 3:12)
(12/3/18)

Islam, I am told, has Koran writings about a coming final Imam, and Jews being knocked off the face of the map. ISIS and other radical Islam terrorists see global jihad (i.e., war with the world, by their definition) as hastening that vision's reality. Infiltrate cultures with sleeper cells, etc. Seek to make all nations ruled by Islamic law.

Peaceful and probably the majority of Muslims do NOT share that ambition, though some among them choose not to vocally denounce the violent ones claiming their religion, but can you blame them fully, when that makes you a death target, just like many people in hoods won't nark on murderers, from fear of retaliation!

Those extreme types want to hasten global jihad. Christians are taught to hasten Christ's coming (II Pet. 3:12). That CAN'T mean do evil things to bring it to pass, as God never instructs His people to do evil. At the same time, WHEN prophecy transpires, it will be in a climate depicted by 'peace and safety' calls (I Th. 5:3). HOW do you reconcile all that data?

It's NOT evil to want peace. Jesus said 'BLESSED are the peacemakers' (Mt. 5:9). At the same time, Christ came to make divisions over priorities and morals (Mt. 10:34) Taking a stand for morality WILL engender lack of peace with evil-doers (a George W. Bush phrase).

TRYING to get Arabs, en masse, to attack Israel, would be EVIL! Warning that they will one day do so is GOOD! Speculating how these things may play out is NOT the foolish speculation sin of II Tim. 2:3. We are even told to stay alert, and discern the signs of the times (Mt. 16:3, 24:44; I Th. 5:4). So seeking peace between Israel and her neighbors is NOT a sinful act.

However, we know when a coming ruler stealthily usurps three E.U. heads of state, then brokers seven years of peace for Israel, that IS evil, because the broker is Satanic. Short of that, we've offered MANY ways peace could be had, there, and Christians are to hasten prophecy, mainly by evangelism—NOT by trying to get prophecy pieces in place!

It would be EVIL and selfish to only want the Rapture to occur, and NOT care that so many people are going to Hell, unwarned! NO human can stop prophecy from occurring, so no matter what we do, God will make it occur, in His timing, but we aren't to do evil, or we are in the wrong.

Jared Kushner supposedly will offer a peace plan. I've already said the Arabs will mainly reject it, because his dad isn't a neutral arbiter! I've offered probably 4-6 scenarios where TEMPORARY peace could be had, if all parties found benefit in them (win-win). ALL are temporary, until the Rapture!

Even though the Rapture is positive for Christians, Paul knew selfish gains were inferior to others' gains (Phil. 1:24) Political policy has NOTHING to do with considering implications for prophecy! Just do good. EVIL would be to encourage or even plan for radical Islamists to attack Israel, and may prompt prophecy.

Update #22: New World Order
979

(12/4/18)

Yesterday I spoke of nations waking up to decide they'll do what's in their own best interests (Ex.: Brexit and Qatar), and I said Gingrich and Hannity spoke, and they mentioned 'free and fair trade.' You better be careful what you ask for!

Win-win trade deals benefit all involved to enough of an extent that they get agreed to. Current state is money alone decides who gets what, or military might. Little lands have little clout, so they must band together at the U.N., or even try to ally with major powers (like sucker fish—better, pilot fish—on whales or sharks).

Current state lives under the golden rule of he with the gold rules, or might makes right (if your military can prove you rulers, otherwise). And size matters when it comes to land mass, or population explosion, if a nation hasn't competitive militaries or monies.

In America, we turn a phrase 'minority rights' and 'a more perfect union.' In other words, care for the weak (and 'little guy'/underdog), and don't overlook them just because they're small, and in so doing you make your country better.

As George H. W. Bush (RIP) was fond of saying, a 'new world order' and a 'kinder, gentler America,' could we envision a new world order where third world nations were NOT left out, where bullies didn't rule the roost, where all the good stuff didn't always go to the highest bidder, and politicians weren't on the take for bribes (legal or illegal)?

It is absolutely essential that science and technology find new ways to stretch natural resources, and discover how to recycle old stuff, find new resources in new places, and create green energy sources so there's more to go around!

Our wars OFTEN center around religion and resource disputes. Your nation's borders are set in stone, morally speaking! It was EVIL for Iraq to have INVADED Kuwait, so GHWB put an end to it (i.e., Operation Desert Storm). It was EVIL for Putin to invade the Ukraine, but no one put an end to that!

We as a world CANNOT always begrudge nations like the U.S.A. playing the world's policeman, as imperfectly as we sometimes execute it, because every group needs a management function, be it kids with adults, athletes with referees, businesses with managers—everyone tends to break the rules in their own favor, if rules aren't enforced. When the cat's away the mice will play!

The U.N. SHOULD have been a more inclusively neutral governing body, but that hasn't worked out so well, as rules got manipulated by some nations allying clout to break or stifle them! If rules are moral, they SHOULD be heeded, and someone's got to enforce good rules!

We've already seen in North Korea and Iran, words and signed commitments are nothing, if the intent of the heart is to contradict your claims! If the vow was moral, your contradiction is evil! It all starts with good rules, and knowing what good vs. evil is!

NOT all humans have that ability, over years of violating their God-made internal compass/ conscience. So other nations are forced to keep them in line! It's not enjoyable work, you never get a thank you card in return, but we ALL need it!

America has NOT done all things morally right, and we would be the first ones to tell you so! We HAVE used our spies and military and economic leverage to make life pretty good for ourselves, and you can't say that in every case it was 'fair and free,' as Hannity referenced.

Those two concepts aren't always compatible! Free is you can do whatever you want, within (or skirting?) rules, and rules aren't always fair. My point is if we want a more perfect world, we all have to come to understand that wanting our way clashes with every other nation!

We all inhabit the same one planet. We all want oil, money, jobs, businesses, products, gold, energy, diamonds, clear air and water, land, wood, plastic, metal, even respect, etc. If we all got the amount of those we all wanted, the earth would run out well before. That's where integrity enters in.

Global rules would be hard to agree on, as status quo is good for some, and they'd fight any cut-back. Status quo is bad for some, and they'd fight for change. And no one seems to be able to decide who has a right to determine the rules, as nations simply break them behind your back, if they don't like them, while feeling pressured to publicly agree with and to them!

Mahatma Gandhi said, 'The world has enough for everyone's need, but not enough for everyone's greed.' THINK about that statement! Your over-enjoyment of this world's temporary pleasures MEANS someone else misses out!

It is DIFFICULT to understand how you're buying the next hot item/new thing hurts someone living in Africa, but that's ONLY because we humans share such an innate selfishness, that we can neither consider the other person we do not see, walk in their moccasins, or ever once think of our living with what we need, vs. want, and GIVING to others less fortunate than we.

America does a GREAT job of that, as a nation, and many of our people quite generous, individually, but overall, nations simply ACCEPT that 'life's not fair,' so accept it... deal with the real! Or as Hillary put it, 'America is great, because America is good.'

I DON'T accept unfairness as inevitable, as that defeatist attitude reflects, because I'm dumb enough to have heard one Dallas politician's statement, in one sermon one day, that has always stuck with me, and gotten in my craw: 'You have what you tolerate.'

Saudi Arabia has been a GREAT ally of America for DECADES, and yes they have lots of pure crude. But when leadership changes to being less moral, or having an attitude of pride over such assets and wealth, as if they can do anything they want, because they can control who gets what of their oil, those MORAL rules are being broken, and that's a PROBLEM!

Who's 'gonna enforce it? The U.N.? World Court? Interpol? We have EMPTY institutions, due to politics trumping morals! No nation wants any entity over their national sovereignty, but we DO need some common, basic rules of how you're allowed to behave, and how you're not allowed, that we can all agree on—all who are generally good nations. The rogue evil-doers will always balk and bluster against compliance, because they believe their nation (or at least politicians) benefit by nonconformity.

But if the rules are good and just, it is precisely THAT attitude that the world majority must fight against! I don't know what crazy bug got into Hitler, all those years back, but no one could say it was a good one! I'm 'gonna rule the world, by taking over other countries, because I can.

That one thought started an entire world war, with millions killed, never again to return. It all starts with a thought, or a desire to do evil. Evil (and bad thinking) is ultimately what causes the bulk of the problems we experience on this lone planet, and not many of us are realistically going to live on/inhabit another planet, so we have soon got to learn to live together in peaceful coexistence, and not let bullies run the show!

People don't like too high taxes! Learn to live on a budget/within your means, and do more with less, world governments! Report: France to announce suspension of fuel tax hikes that provoked riots, media says. <https://fxn.ws/2FZqfVt>

The usual suspects. Report: U.S. takes aim at China, Iran, Russia over treaty violations. <https://abcn.ws/2Pjy2Nd>

Vision AND morality! Report: Colin Powell—George H.W. Bush was "a man with vision." <https://cbsn.ws/2E2dOFI>

I'm trying HARD to learn the politician's skill of summing info into sound bites ('compelling commentary'). Like descending layers of a triangle, that message could be expanded from top tier title (New World Order), down one level to nations be good, and not bad; down one level to Middle East get along, and contain aggression, others negotiate win-win trade, and central good and fair rules enforcement is needed; down one level to the need for global moral revival, world's policeman role(s) and entities, rogue nations need to get or to be put in line, greed isn't good, hoarding is hatred, win-win, natural resources aren't endless, morals matter, might doesn't make right, be less selfish, can't we all just get along in peaceful coexistence, and we war over natural resources and religion; and & down another level and you're finally down on my level of chapter writing!

Update #23: Humane Human Rights
(12/4/18)

Let's be realistic... Utopia will NEVER be achieved on this fallen earth! The BEST we can hope for is, only for those who want it, EVERY nation gets the following: A place to live (whoever owns it—state or property rights), food, water (including the drinkable kind), electricity, a job, transportation, sewer (toilet/sanitation functions), A/C and heat, clothes, basic education for all, and basic medical needs met.

As to their being governed, NO MATTER your political system, ALL people should be free from unlawful search and seizure, have access to their rightful day in court, and have a fair trial, due process, NO labor camps, NO sole government-controlled media propaganda, politicians NOT hoarding national assets, NOT accepting bribes—legal or illegal—or engaging payoffs and funneling money to friends and family (and cronies; i.e., corruption and graft), RULE OF LAW vs. whims of the king (or prince) rule, citizens NOT living in fear of their government, government officials understanding that they aren't god, and have NO God-given right to endless family or party power successions, NO secret police, or military turning on the people (among whom are they and the pols... we're only human after all!

<https://bit.ly/2QbVbqs>), people have a say/voice in their government, checks and balances on power (as absolute power corrupts absolutely), the right to protest and criticize their government, no railroading the accused, or Kangaroo courts, mock/show trials, or banana republics, MORAL and intelligent politicians competent to rule and lead (and ABLE to get poor economies rolling—or they QUIT!), NO favoritism to any groups or lobbyists, or sweetheart deals to insider elites, people DON'T suffer or starve to feed the military, religion is allowed, government as servant leaders vs. oppressors of slaves, NO murdering opponents, fixing/sham elections, no lifelong tenure of any politicians, NO land grabs, or women and gays treated as inferior, or second-class citizens, NO stoning gays, or requiring four witnesses to rape, cutting off wrists of thieves (i.e., draconian/excessive punishments).

IS THIS MINIMUM asking too much, in a civilized, SUPPOSEDLY evolved or enlightened age? I'm NOT picking on Communists or Islam nations, but calling for ALL nations to re-think what morals are! LOOK at this list of the inhumanity humanity is able to inflict upon itself!: <https://bit.ly/2ANT41n>

And I'm sure other nations can see, more objectively, where America falls short! Lord knows we aren't perfect. So this is less finger-pointing that mirror raising, for all of us to look at what you see, and 'make that change.' <https://bit.ly/1ksGokQ>

Update #24: The Love of God
(12/15/18)

How much does God love you? People commonly believe He doesn't exist, or He hates or is mad at them, but His love for you is immeasurable. No one will ever love you as much as God does. HOW can I say that? "The Bible tells me so."

(Jn. 15:13) Sacrifice for others is the ultimate love, especially saving them from dying, by taking their punishment. If a fire was coming toward your house, and your neighbor risked her life to spare your home and family, with a water hose, by letting it hit her home and family, that's sacrificial love.

Warriors die on the battlefield for total strangers to live in freedom. That's love. (Jn. 3:16) God loved you so much He gave His son. He didn't give Him a gift, or give Him as a gift to the earth for 33 years—He gave Him as a sacrifice gift; death on a cross, to bridge man to God.

Look at Lk. 15. The woman who lost a coin searches for it tirelessly, until she finds it, as it's valuable to her. A shepherd is in charge of 100 sheep, and at the risk of danger or harm to the safe 99 (safely in his ownership/family), he LEAVES the 99 to find the one who strayed and is lost. That's love... Sacrifice, and risk to self for others you have no blood relation with.

Read of the prodigal son. The dad allows him to sow his wild oats, but never ceases to love and miss his son. In fact, he's the first one on point, ever watching over the horizon for the hoped-for day his son comes to his senses and returns home.

We all like homecomings, and at least the concept of a family reunion (if the weird uncle isn't there). For people who have accepted God's loving offer of eternal life in Heaven, through Christ's loving sacrifice on the cross to pay for your sins so you don't have to, death only begins a homecoming and family reunion!

Are you going? You can know for sure, as I have since age 8. (Jn. 3:16) HEAR these three songs on the love of God, as they describe it better than words will allow me:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oLURVUQoTM ...

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=J3AbRVJRrC4 ...

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4HQ99mHmajl>

POVERTY PROBLEM

(11/10/18)

We judge our economy not by the presence of billionaires but by the absence of poverty. —Jeremy Corbyn TELL me how this statement DOESN'T make sense! The goal is NO severe suffering! It's inhumane to care who does well if others struggle and work hard, full-time, yet end up in poverty!

I read a post about the poor NOT saving and investing, and spending more than they make. HAS SUCH A MORON EVER LIVED OR OBSERVED THEIR BUDGETS AND INCOME? Go visit a 'hood or barrio, and watch if they live extravagantly! I'm going to one tomorrow morning, if such fools want to join me! Stupid #IGNORANCE

Let's analyze/assess EVIL people's view of the poor... First, there ARE lazy poor people, who God says DON'T help (II Th. 3:10) But excepting them, over-outsourcing, over-immigration and automation harms the lowest rung the most! Better education, motivation, budgeting and job skills always help, as with working over-time and multiple jobs.

Conservatives TRULY/sincerely believe EVERYONE in run-down neighborhoods can escape by great school grades, but that's mainly because they found good grades to be more easily achieved. GO EXPERIENCE THEIR LIVES BEFORE you push your white privilege assumptions on others.

Money to get people out of poverty comes from SOMEWHERE. That somewhere is where it is. And people with money don't give it away for nothing, but the poor have to deserve and earn it, but they also have to compete in a market where wages are stagnant, or declining, from business decisions to over-immigrate and over-outsource.

It's the EASIEST attitude to hold, to opine without walking in another's moccasins, first! Every person instinctively believes everyone else's life is like theirs, or anyone can do what they did. And MOST people NEVER assess the privileges or advantages they had, because they had them, so they have no thought about them.

Unless you observe and experience another's life/lifestyle, you can't accurately opine! Conservatives DON'T want to analyze the poor's life decisions, but just label them in negative ways! If you roll up your sleeves, and advise/help them to do better, you have a basis to have an opinion on the matter; otherwise NOT.

NO poor nation or family should contribute to over-population! Kids are an EXPENSE! They are NOT family-as-a-business workers/employees! And child labor is EVIL! Let kids be kids! World poverty is FIXABLE, but we view it in dribs and drabs, vs. systematically and holistically, so it never gets done!... drops in the bucket.

Absent Bible prophecy, or death, people in poor and oppressive countries will live on earth for ~80 years. HOW LONG will the world allow poverty and selfish dictators to let them live miserable existences, like we let Hitler imprison Jews for so long, without stopping evil? Ostriches see no problems!

If any person reacts to something different than the way you would (rather than decency standards), you think them weird. This is called subjectivism. Subjectivism/ego-centrism is why we allow problems to continue in the world, because we aren't experiencing them!

Two days ago, a lady gave me a quarter for my Aldi grocery cart, and it was shocking. I decided to use my own quarter to do the same, but told the recipient to pass it on. It's AMAZING how selflessness in money use is so rare! 25 cents! I was afraid the next person wouldn't pass it on, and, quite honestly, it got complicated, as people were sparse. It's probably easier a fast food line, I guess.

'Ask not what your country can do for you' is NOT a modern sentiment, but what can I get out of government, or my taxes?! Selfishness will ultimately DOOM America. WHO CARES, if selfishness makes MY life better? Again, subjectivity (vs. bird's eye viewing of life). A sin which God condemns!

How much can I make off it, or what's in it for me? If those are the only questions in your taxes and volunteerism, there will be LITTLE of either! 'What can I do for others, because it's the right thing to do' is a MUCH better question! But it doesn't help my bank account. It does if you have one in Heaven vs. Hell!

HOW CONVENIENT it is to criticize the poor, when you vote for the people who do all they can to keep them poor, by always aspiring to pay as low as humanly possible, even opposing the minimum wage! May God bring poverty and calamity upon such people, if that's the ONLY way they can know reality!

People are neither heroes nor hams for being poor, but God does NOT consider them low-lives (unless they're lazy), and any and all who so do are moral low-lives God is opposed to. Re-read that until you understand it, if ever, political conservatives. Do you need a picture or flow chart for understanding?

(Lk. 6:20) God says the poor are blessed. Conservatives say they are for God, but the poor are cursed; ANYONE see their many contradictions? Jesus didn't have a place to lay His head, at birth and in life (Lk. 2:7, 9:58), and Peter was dead broke from all his ministry work (Ac. 3:6). They were NOT low-lives!

Jas. 1:9-11 says a poor person has a HIGH position before God, while a rich person has the OPPOSITE! Jas. 2:5 says the poor have what God wants us ALL to be rich in—faith! Mt. 19:24 says MOST rich will NOT go to Heaven! Could it be that America's priorities are OPPOSITE God's?

Lk. 16:15 Life DOESN'T consist of he with the most toys wins! (Lk. 12:15) MANY in America believe that to be a lie, calling God a liar, but He will get the last laugh on their idiocy! LOOK what God says of the NON-lazy poor: Ps. 9:17-18, 12:5, 35:10, 109:30-31 (condemned?), 140:12; Pv. 3:27-28, 14:21, 19:17, 22:9, 28:27, 31:8-9.

I would rather have NO Americans suffer severe poverty, than to have a handful living high on the hog! I'm opposed to lazy poor and greedy, selfish rich. God AGREES! And any CLAIMING "Christian" who DOESN'T hold these same positions is violating the word of God in their values and attitudes!

'Loser, ne'er do well, non-aspiring, lazy, low class, fool, scum, lowest rung, dregs, failures...' THESE labels are OFTEN attached to non-lazy poor people, by political conservatives, because they do NOT know God, despite their OPPOSITE claims. God is NOT a Republican or Democrat! Duh 101.

I Tim. 6:17-19 is NOT written just to Christians, but for Christians to tell everyone, and it doesn't say the middle or lower "class!" 'Generous' is not a synonym for 'zero, a little, stingy or cheap.' God even rewards the rich for helping the poor (Mt. 6:20). Political conservatives DENY the Bible.

Political conservatism says government is to bless and favor the rich, so everyone else will be enriched. This is a VIOLATION of Levit. 19:15. NEVER believe Christianity is in lock step with political conservatism, DESPITE self-proclaimed "leaders'" WRONGLY equating the to! #LIARS—NOT leading!

You DON'T have to socialize with the poor, in order to care for their welfare! You just have to own a heart that's NOT cold to God and His ways! Of course, for a Christian, God DOES say to invite them to your social gatherings, which NONE of we WASPs ~ever do, or would do! You get rewarded, for they CAN'T reciprocate! (Lk. 14:13)

People in America LOVE to show off their wealth, by throwing lavish parties for people they do business with, or want to impress, with their clothes, cars casa's, etc. The pride that you are someone, for what you own, is spoken of by God! (I Jn. 2:15-17) God is NOT impressed by what you have, but how you gained and used it!

'We spend money we don't have, to buy things we don't need, to impress people we don't like. --Author Unknown THE reason poverty exists in the world is because we who are NOT poor let it continue! Mark Levin called Warren Buffett "self-loathing," for caring about others with his excess! That is UN-godly.

If a political conservative CAN'T make a big enough profit off helping poor countries escape poverty, they'll let them languish, forever! 'You have what you tolerate!' --Jack Evans ANYthing above break-even is progress and success, in ending this blithe to man-'KIND!' Jesus didn't say severe poverty is inevitable. (Mt. 26:11)

SOLUTIONS for poorer nations: Free (online or otherwise) education, better farming practices (i.e., efficiency and tools), natural resources, use the populous as a cheap labor supply to first- and second-world nations, by training in skills, even if they receive zero formal education, and kick out evil politicians!

If NATO nations contracted to pull every poor nation out of poverty, in exchange for repayment of all costs incurred, over time, new markets could open up for the global economy, and people's lives could be improved! It's a relatively easy problem to end.

Diseases in poor nations need to be addressed, too, like Bill Gates often does! Sanitation, habitation, nutrition, disease control, basic medical needs... these are the basics. Roads, huts, electricity are luxuries. WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME? If richer nations get something for their investment, it works! We already give aid! Make the aid improve their nations, with NO graft!

The NON-politicians in oppressive and poorer nations MUST rise up and organize to change or get rid of all evil politicians! God does NOT approve of the elites having all the good times, and withholding a decent time here on earth for all others, for those entrusted with "leading!" Fix it! #JustDoIt Politicians MUST understand national strategic advantage! China saw that they had really cheap labor, en masse! India saw they had educated math and techie experts 2 utilize. Poor nations' politicians must view their nation's role in the global economy, and how they can be producers, vs. moochers! #Think!

A J-O-B goes a L-o-o-o-ng way to helping poor people, especially if it's minimum wage, but doesn't always go as far as the bills stretch! People bragging that unemployment is low fail to tell you that it's often by kicking people off all Welfare, and onto minimum wage jobs that pay peanuts, when bills AREN'T peanuts! That can often be a self-serving claim.

Why should I care about the poor, when I made my life wonderful by hard work (so they should and can, too)? That question so many of us ask ourselves, internally, is the CORE to what it means to be a

"sinner." Jesus was the OPPOSITE of selfish. If you act OPPOSITE of Him, expect Him to oppose you! (Jas. 4:4)

Rent, food, water, electricity, clothes, gas, car upkeep, car insurance, phone, TV... if you have ANY accounting skills, these FIXED expenses are not easily lowered, for the poor! These are American essentials. Dog food in exchange for health insurance is an irrational comparison! $15 vs. $5K?

WHAT could EVER make someone who is skilled poor, but laziness? Ministry and social action. WHAT could ever make someone who is rich a poor person? Lacking the intelligence evidenced by asking that question! Mitt Romney wanting all poor people to be rich is a futile, WORTHLESS pipe dream! Deal with the real!

America's pence for hyper individualism is why we admire Amish Barn raisings, but would NEVER want to join one! Why do you think Jimmy Carter works with Habitat for Humanity? He doesn't like golf? Bored? He was a life-long handyman needing to keep up his skills? It's because he SEES what I'm saying in this message! DO YOU?

Disparity can lead to despair, even desperation, and only the unjust hate justice. Those content with status quo benefit from status quo, & choose never to observe or learn what status quo is like for people outside their cushy social circles! (11/20/18)

Update #1: Downing Dictators
(11/18/18)

We're 'gonna get specific: EVERY human has a God-given RIGHT to a decent life, until they die! If you live in a country where politicians prevent or prohibit that, you MUST overthrow them, if they publicly decide NOT to change!

A DUMB California Congressman insulted U.S. militias, last week, saying the feds have nukes. The feds are NOT 'gonna nuke entire states over the existence of militias! Our Founders saw the potential need for them, with the right to bear arms! If a government is ever EVIL to its people, it MUST be overthrown! My Jordanian friend said MANY Arab nations' people WANT Arab Spring freedom from oppressors! He said a day will come when they just say go, and it's on. He said smart people have the technology to overcome government control of the internet.

Here's where things get practical: The so-called "leaders" NEED to be confronted with a choice, by the U.N., or some other source, on behalf of the virtually enslaved people.

NO politician is a god, or has a right to live in luxury, as the masses struggle! We all get ~80 years. WHY would anyone allow squalor conditions to continue, without rising up against "leaders" who let it continue, and benefit from it?

Specifically, ALL nations NOT ruled by dictators NEED to call on such morons to change their ways, or be deposed! North Korea, China, ~Russia, Cuba, Venezuela, several Arab nations (Ex: Saddam Hussein, in the past), possibly some in Africa (I don't know, but that's where Gaddafi was).

WHY should a handful of elites get to enjoy this life, and few others but their military and cronies, friends and family? God does NOT want this situation, the masses don't, either. What's the problem? Lack of confidence, organizing, arms and willingness to die for a cause greater than yourself! Again, give dictators a choice: Do good to your people, or lose power, even if physical force is required!

HOW would this start? One person with the idea, speaks to others she/he trusts with the idea, knowing the majority feel the same way, but you risk jail or death speaking about it . Keep passing the plan to people each trusted person trusts. It would help if any in that circle know military personnel, for you need them on your side.

Use technology to transmit this plan, or word of mouth, and be anonymous in your postings. Set a date for implementation, have meetings (virtual or literal) that don't look suspect/suspicious. Literally, it only takes NON-dictator run nations arming you. Reach out to such arms suppliers!

I am ALL for these uprisings, if begun by a U.N.-like challenge to oppressors, or if the insurgents believe that would only bolster crooks' resistance, perhaps no warning is in order. You have the numbers! You have the right, despite evil laws which may say otherwise. God is on your side, as the abused people, and there are other leaders who could replace them, and do a much better job for the people!

Literally, it would take one day set attacking your central government building, especially where the head of state works, or lives. Numbers and arms/weapons would be needed, AFTER dictators had been publicly warned to change. Some will die.

The military will go with whoever will pay them! Find donation sources to pay them even better, and offer them that option, if time allows. In China, they have a million person army. I'm NOT saying it will be easy to overpower that many folk, but if you get THEIR needs, wants and interests met, in better ways, after the government take-down, or appeal to their humanity, in concern for fellow people like themselves, and national pride in not letting "subjects" be subjugated to a few oppressors, history shows a percent of them will turn on the "leaders," and go with the people.

Give dictators a chance to stay in power, IF they will do good to all the people. They love the prestige, power and money. Keep that in mind when you make them an offer to change, or face consequences. I believe EVERY non-allied nation, and hopefully ALL not run by dictators, would help with such a cause, as ALL people have a right to a decent life!

And to any who would call this provocative, disruptive, treasonous or inciting, ONLY those who ALLOW status quo in those nations would see it as evil! 'You have what you tolerate!' 'The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing.' Will you DO anything, or accept a slave-like life?

Remember, the fact that things are the way you find them, when you are born, is zero reason for them continuing, if they are not good things. This applies to everything in life! (11/20/18)

Update #2: The 'Third World'
(11/20/18)

What would it take to bring all nations to a global minimum standard? Just like the homeless are free to choose that lifestyle, if they're mentally sane, tribal types are too. But to all others, who aspire to some semblance of 'civilized' living, poor nations would need help.

To start, IF G-20 nations would invest, with a required repayment when on their feet, they'd have to do ALL of the following: Training in job skills, public education for those kids who don't have to work, modernized farming science and technology, infrastructure of roads, sanitation (trash and toilet functions/sewers), electricity, structurally-sound dwellings, and adequate food and minimum healthcare for sustenance.

If these third world nations can find a national competitive advantage, like cheap labor, strategic land access, natural resources, or what have you, along with credible leadership, this vision could become reality. Even with zero advantages, build a domestically-supported economy.

The military would also be required, as with cops and a legal system, as property rights and law and order maintain the peace from chaos, and safety from invasion and takeovers.

What would be in it for that G-20? Long-term, trading partners. Just like Las Vegas (and even the America) used to not exist, given time and effort, that can change.

It takes leadership with vision! Politicians lacking it must be dethroned! The people come first! The politicians are servant-leaders of the people; life is NOT politicians' servant! Education leaflets dropped in nations NOT allowing the people freedoms may be in order, if the internet is banned. There are MANY solutions!

PRESIDENT & PROPHECY?

(12/7/17)

Note: A rebuttal to a local talk show host, more detailed at Christians For Trump (at AmericanAnswers.org)...

In my brief travel to the doctor, and knowing some media outlets watch here, one local talk radio host mocked some among Democrats alleging that Chump could be the Antichrist... EXACTY what I wrote yesterday [SAME host who said people shouldn't criticize James Dobson, the day after I did that]. Without giving away the farm, here are MY credentials on knowing the subject that he can't compete with:

BESIDES a SWBTS M.Div., and 36 hours from Dallas Seminary, I've written two books on the topic, and an exhaustive chart that addressed every major and most minor events and passages, with biblical rationale for every event's chronological placement. Let me educate my layman 'friend' what Ed Junior likely has NOT (but surely will now):

Rapture and 7-year peace compact, seals, trumpets, bowls (with mid-Tribulation one-world ruler). Then comes Armageddon, the second coming, the Millennial state, then the eternal state. These are in order as the biggies, Mark. The smaller issues are the Beast's traits (which I will NOT specify, as I have books to sell), pre-Rapture signs of the times (same withholding), and exact details, like the Gospel angel, 24 elders, Gog, Kings of the East, the two prophets, the 144,000, the 24 elders, etc.

Mark, if you have NEVER addressed this on your show, or will have experts address it now, you are NOT one to opine! My views line up with DTS's; you probably have no views—just whatever pastor Ed might say!

Let's get more specific... Trump fits nearly all traits; he's certainly not a moral man, and he flirts with the God of our fathers (a verse phrase reference you surely DON'T know), yet he does lack the wisdom element; that can be gained from handlers.

Here's the rub you NEED to care about... Peace for Israel is THE key to prophecy, and Chump is in a position to set that process off, if left to his own devices (vs. handlers and teleprompters)!

VERY technically, three kings must be stealthily subverted, which makes a European Union politician more likely, but with historic U.S. ties to Britain, he can't be ruled out.

I went over some MAJOR signs of the times this week, and explained yesterday how his STUPID decision yesterday could trigger enough violence to necessitate a peace deal for seven years. Am I losing you, Mr. Davis? I'll type slower [Sarcasm].

In short, you can probably, from memory, say 1/10th of what I just did from memory (a doctor phone call interrupting), so before you opine on my Bible-backed assessments, stop sheepishly depending on Ed, and study for yourself. Start with Things To Come, by Pentecost. Throw in Ryrie and Walvoord. Thanks!

One more technicality... The Apostasy went public June 23, 2016, but its momentum had been building since 1985, with the church growth movement, where EDBS priorities waned, for fame and fortune among [many] U.S. pastors. Mega church mania, the tithe lie, and the Lordship Salvation error. It was not a one-day event, past critic.

I'll even be kind to explain that... A shift, a drift, a major departure from the faith MUST occur before the Beast arises (that's a synonym, Mark). The WASP church, especially, has shown itself to worship secular power—at ALL costs to a moral reputation, in 2016. Even lost people see the shift, folks (and Mark).

They're STILL at it, with Roy Moore! Jesus did NOT value secular power the way those WASP church, self-appointed 'representatives' do. And He certainly would NEVER tell one of His (and that group's original candidate) to publicly say, 'sometimes you put your Christian values on pause, to get things done.' Sin to win is NOT of Jesus, my little critic.

And advocating BIASED public policies. That's NOT God's way, Mark. So if you want to debate me on politics or prophecy, as I offered before (See: Christians For Trump], I'm NOT coming on your show, but let's host a public debate, so the control element is equalized. Are you in, Mark Davis? I DON'T really want to, so NOT I'm NOT direct messaging you/him!

And if anyone ever believes yesterday's announcement was JUST, fair, even-handed for Arabs and Islam vs. Jews, you really do NOT deserve a right to vote, for you are TOO dumb! Israel gets peace, and Jerusalem becomes the Jew's capital in the "Millennium," Mark. Look up the term—it's NOT young people. Thanks for viewing!

HOW do I assert that? In the second half of the Tribulation, Jews are persecuted. They DID have to be in their historic land (1948), but the capital is NOT addressed in Scripture, pre-Millennium. Jesus reigns on the seat of David, on earth, ONLY after the 7-year Tribulation. And, politically, it was NO positive event yesterday.

In fact, it ONLY stirs up strife; that is NOT making peace. It very likely will lead to rising tensions, that one day WILL necessitate that Dan. 9:27 deal. That's why I still maintain that Chump started the prophecy countdown. It was a DUMB and culpable decision!

Christian's understanding of spiritual truths do NOT make political policy! God never commanded evangelicals to push Chump to stir up peace process chaos! If you know a verse, Mark, please add it. There are none. And though the Jews are 'God's people,' He does NOT favor them to Arabs, if both sides act holy. There are evil ones on both sides. He opposes that! LEARN!

[Interjection: Gal. 4:21-31 does NOT disprove my claim that we are to treat BOTH sides equally fairly! In prophecy, and in history, they have THIS separation, but in political dealings, they get fairness, and any Christian who views Islamists as inferior humans DOESN'T follow the God I know. Love them, Cabal!

It is NEVER a competition! When you view church as a business, it IS a competition, or when you view U.S.A. as a theocracy. THERE is where your thinking is FAR off, and far out, in a BAD way! Everyone needs Christ. You erect NO barriers to all men coming to Him, like retweeting anti-Islam videos, etc.!

THIS is an issue your better than the last candidate struggled with in the debates, when he equated Islam with the Arab's founding, thousands of years earlier. The SAME guy who said, 'put your Christian morals on hold to get things done!' You've got to pick better people, if you aspire to be "king-makers," gents!]

NO MATTER what peace deals ever get brokered, permanent peace ONLY occurs after the 7-year Tribulation, Mark! And any 7-year deal gets broken half way through, when the man of sin (another synonym, Mark) is exposed in the rebuilt Jerusalem temple (or its equivalent, to John). Understand better, now, Mark?

P.S.: Walvoord has an exhaustive book of ALL prophecy references (I own it), if you ever get serious about making uninformed statements of criticism, when you speak from an intellectual void on this subject, Mark. I'll even lend it to you. I've perused it enough for one lifetime (AAorg2020@gmail.com)

Also read this week's blurb about North Korea, Russia, Iran, and 666 technology precursors. You really might learn something, Mark. And, sincerely, if you have anything to add to the topic that I haven't addressed here or in my two books, I will cite YOU as the source, and I would LOVE to learn it. I AM interested in the topic!

Israel's a TOP U.S.A. ally, but if America EVER abandons fairness to other and rival nations who aren't terrorists, she loses international moral credibility! That's EXACTLY what Chump did yesterday. He SAYS it advances peace, based on his assessment. He has a track-record of BAD thinking, people!

You do NOT settle a dispute by the referee showing bias to one side. The embassy move, and especially the Jerusalem announcement tipped the scales 100 percent toward Israel, as Netanyahu and ALL Christian Cabal members I quoted yesterday acknowledge. They FEEL Christian beliefs moved forward. The OPPOSITE is true! PURE ignorance!

Christian beliefs reign when justice prevails, when peace reigns, when wars are ended or averted, or just wars handled decisively, and as quickly as possible, with the least collateral damage possible; when poor don't struggle more than needed, and when the rich are generous vs. arrogant and selfish; when politicians act ethically.

THAT takes revival—something the Christian Cabal called for ~two years ago (by MY initiating, God being my initiating originator, to be specific), but NOW they DON'T seek it, because they really wanted political power, to force a Roe overturn, if not Obergefell, to make up for their sleeping, the past 35 years!

Finally, you'll notice, I NEVER detail the Tribulation, here. I warn people NOT to go through it. NO lost soul needs to know its details—they'll live through it, one day [if still alive]. They NEED to be saved from it... NOT back a man who started the process, by triggering a reversal to peace possibilities, and maybe exacerbating it!

Win-win methodology is THE (temporary) answer to the Palestinian crisis. If both parties are committed to compromise, benefits are good to both sides, with commitment to not lie, or violate the agreement(s), and separate if not tolerate their enemy, it CAN be brokered! If not, violence until the second coming!

But DO know, Jews, that after the little horn (another synonym, Mark) takes over, Jews in Israel WILL be severely persecuted for 3-3.5 years. He will PROMISE peace, be virtually assassinated, mid-stream, then come back with a vengeance, and break that peace deal. Can you do this, Mark, from memory? I'll be listening to your show to get my answer.

The KEY is to watch violence in Israel! Also, watch anyone with the capacity for world influence, especially a mystery person in the E.U., who makes plans to usurp three heads of state (assuming U.S.A. is NOT his venue). What three countries? What time-frame? Only time will tell. Also see @ProphecyForYou It's been up two+ years!

If Dennis Rodman brokered a 7-year peace deal, I'd consider him a suspect! It's ALL about the 7-year deal. I have NO belief yesterday HELPED Kushner's efforts! An IR-rational wrench in the system! Violence being increased pressures the peace deal more than any pressure they had prior to today! That's common sense, and biblical.

What are the issues, Mark? A second capital, recognized statehood, apartment expansions on disputed lands, access to holy places, missiles from the West Bank, displaced 250,000, or so, Palestinians, sovereignty, and boundaries in Jerusalem, legal claims to sites, political power vs. minority (or WORSE) status, 1967 war-brought changes, etc.

DO YOU KNOW THESE THINGS, Mark? I'll be listening in to see. If you don't, take the conservative worship blinders off, and LEARN something! It might even help your audience if you do, because THEY learn something. BOTH sides must benefit, and have top concerns and needs met, in a mutually-acceptable manner!

And the representatives MUST have the authority to have underlings comply. Without that, it's a dog and pony show! BOTH sides are historically GUILTY! Thousands of friends and family have died (i.e., forever gone) over this, these past 2,000+ years. The Hatfield's and McCoys IR-rationality is the model you cannot keep following!

Common ground, common interests, and common sense. Joint business ventures BOTH sides profit from. Safety for all; equal respect; NO disillusionments that death by suicide is an answer (through violence) to push your side. Justice.

THESE are the general answers. How-to's and specifics I leave to our books. I just gave you a few show preps, Mark. People are listening.

Israel will NEVER have permanent peace until Jesus returns! It CAN have temporary peace, if negotiated right (NOT like yesterday), and any 7-year deal, by a stealth politician, is NEVER the way forward! I have FEW hopes for such, given yesterday's debacle! Come Lord Jesus! <http://bit.ly/2j2Z1CZ>

It is NEVER a competition! When you view church as a business, it IS a competition, or when you view U.S.A. as a theocracy. THERE is where your thinking is FAR off, and FAR out, in a BAD way! Everyone needs Christ. You erect NO barriers to all men coming to Him (like retweeting anti-Islam videos, etc.)!

P.S.: THIS is an issue your candidate struggled with in the debates, when he equated Islam with the Arab's founding, thousands of years earlier. The SAME guy who said put your Christian morals on hold! You've got to pick better people if you aspire to be "king-makers," gents! And, YES, this message is going STRAIGHT into one of our books!

P.S.S.: Gal. 4:21-31 does NOT disprove my claim that we are to treat BOTH sides equally fairly! In prophecy, and in history, they have THIS separation, but in political dealings, they get fairness, and any Christian who views Islamists as inferior humans DOESN'T follow the God I know. Love them, Cabal!

Dato il tuo Commenti recenti, spero che leggerete il nostro messaggio negli ultimi due giorni per quanto riguarda Israele. Grazie! [Given your recent comments, I HOPE you will read our message from the past two days regarding Israel. Thanks!] @Pontifex

PROBLEMS WITH CONSERVATISM

(11/22/17)

The selfishness of political conservatism: First, in a post-Christian society, we have to establish that selfishness is a sin (Phil. 2:3; Jas. 3:16, etc.). The OPPOSITE of being a disciple, or follower of Jesus, is being selfish (Lk. 9:23). So selfishness is wrong, though self-interest is NOT.

What's the difference? If ALL you do is just for you and yours, you are selfish, just like desiring money is not a sin, but the love of it is (1 Tim. 6:10). The difference, again, is chasing money as too high a priority for you, or an idol... greed (Pv. 23:5).

In America, these two sins go hand-in-hand, as our selfishness is expressed in money worship greater than God worship (Mt. 6:24; Ex. 20:3). So, at least for any CLAIMING Christian, selfishness and greed idols CANNOT "trump" serving God and His moral standards, says the Bible, and does NOT say political conservatism, which the majority of UN-evangelistic "evangelicals" support.

Let's now explore why political conservatism is selfish, and how that selfishness hurts everyone else, EVEN as it is marketed as positive and holy, by such lofty terms as 'freedom, self-determination, responsibility, the American dream, private property,' and the political position of "religious" people. Conservatism's number one trait is HATRED of any wealth redistribution as evil, and "Socialism." They teach that it's 'all your money—you earned it,' AS IF government taking any is theft, EVEN THOUGH their own RARELY-read Bible DIS-agrees! (Mt. 22:21; Rom. 13:1-7, etc.).

Their pundits (like FoxNews, talk radio, and alt-right politicians) imply that government is EVIL—it restricts business with regulations, which keeps you from having as much money (even though it also keeps businesses honest, and consumers safe, and not lied to, and workers safe, and not abused).

It wants five federal agencies ended, which means thousands of families put out on the streets, though this is marketed as 'family values.'

It wants tax cuts to make the rich even richer, even though its claimed Jesus often denounced the rich, helped the poor, was for justice, and NOT favoring either, and we have a $19 trillion debt, already. The cut is NOT needed, but wanted, though Jesus taught needs "trump" wants, in His value system.

It wants to end the estate tax, so the rich get further 'blessed'/favored, when society needs and could use that money (instead of the rich having even more luxuries, big boy toys, and excess), not only for paying down that debt, but to—just a little—help the others who are NOT certain to make it to the end, financially.

Conservatives LOVE to say they despise government telling them they must help others with their money, by force, but they want to do so freely, as it makes a person a better person to do so, voluntarily, then they lobby to keep tax returns secret, so no one discovers it's all mainly rhetoric vs. action! HOW CONVENIENT!

They want child labor laws abandoned (Ex.: Newt Gingrich), so businesses can work your children at pennies-on-the-dollar, and have no childhood, or education—all in the name of business (say money-worship)!

Same thing with ending the minimum wage—they want everyone else paid LESS (as it trickles up or down), to enrich the rich! They don't care that the government has legitimate bills to pay; force them to not have enough revenue, so it self-shrinks!

They want regulations lessened, so business and the rich get richer, AS IF every regulation is evil, like mandatory overtime pay after 40 hours, required workplace safety laws and breaks, and consumer safety laws, etc.

They want open outsourcing and immigration, so they can pay employees LESS. They use money for robotics, to lay off MORE American employees. EVERYTHING about political conservatism is bless the rich, and God decries such a belief system (Levit. 19:15).

So WHY are white Christians all for it? SIN (idolatry, etc.)! Statistics teach that between 70-90 percent of them, in America, are NOT disciples of Jesus. They may be going to heaven, but they will be POOR when they live there—at least for awhile.

It's all a spiritual battle of Christians living for themselves, and therefore, Satan, claiming Jesus as their Master, when they are slaves to money idolatry, in Jesus' name. And NO pastor I know of will call them out on this, because they benefit, too! When their members make the dough, they demand a ten percent cut, under the claim that God demands it, and require regular business customers, or one's guilty of being a bad Christian. So they favor political conservatism, too.

So HOW could any Christian ever sell this concept to others as rational, moral, and/or best for America? To dumbed-down Christians, they use the horrors of the abortion procedure, and claim that the only moral issue in politics God ever wants anyone to care about is overturning Roe.

This DEFLECTS attention away from what I just described (among hundreds of other moral issues politics addresses). What are the ramifications of their political theory, for any non-rich (i.e., the vast majority in America)? Unless you start a business, and it's successful, your pay LESSENS, over time, as our national debt increases, while the rich retire, lobby politicians to keep their money their money (vs. get some of it, through taxes), and the philosophy touted as so 'holy' only keeps all non-rich poorer (with that one exception of becoming a successful entrepreneur, which requires you to have no salary for two years, on average, and most fail).

It's ALL tilted toward the rich getting richer, and Christians, of all people, should NOT favor a belief system that favors the rich, but since their majority do NOT serve God (as number one), it continues, and since 87 percent of them don't regularly read the Bible, they NEVER learn how sinful and deceived they are on these matters!

One more thing... revival is a work of God that NO man can imitate, usually in response to urgent, repeated prayers, and in God's timing (II Chr. 7:14), understood as when morality and spirituality infect a culture in ways previously not seen, because God miraculously brings it about. America is NOT seeing That, today, even as WASP voters were awakened from their political slumber, only to choose the dumbest and most evil GOP of 2016 (and beyond), for the sinful policies I just described.

And revival will NOT arrive, when pastors KEEP that churchianity system, and reject EDBS priorities (see our website for a definition). Judgment BEGINS with the people of God (I Pet. 4:7), and the leaders are MOST responsible/culpable, because they are in 'leadership' positions (i.e., "pastors").

So, in a very real spiritual sense, pastors rejecting EDBS, and favoring churchianity and political conservatism are to blame for why our nation is going the way it's going (i.e., more down than up)!

This message does NOT sum up neatly in a five word slogan, or catch phrase, and one has to have enough intellectual interest to hear out the argument. That's why people supporting those evils just described can gin up support for those causes, using red meat, short phrase slogans, and we cannot! Try: Be holy!

That does NOT sell, but that's a summary of what I've written this morning. Care about others. Be unselfish. Seek justice. Don't favor the rich. Live out your Christianity. These are NOT good political slogans, but they ARE the solution to what ails America! Seek revival. Don't worship money (or secular power).

Read your Bible. Do evangelism. Disciple Christians. Love one another. Learn Body Life. Do social ministry. NONE of these shortened phrases sell, politically, just as God did NOT write a book in a flier format, but thicker than any political 'con'/conservative Christian ever reads, fort most part!

Repent. Do right. Prioritize. Love God. Love man. Stop hypocrisy. Put others first. Live your religion. Commit to Jesus. End carnality. Pastors—LEAD! Do your job! EDBS priorities.

Even shortening our message doesn't lead to sellable political slogans the Devil uses to keep Gods people serving his interests.

Let's summarize: EDBS priorities for pastors, FULL commitment to Jesus by ALL Christians, and biblical values in our politics—NOT tradition, or selfishness sin. If Christians in America got THESE matters right, the world would, once again, be turned upside down for the good! (Jn. 12:19; Ac. 17:6) #PrayForRevival!

P.S.: If you EVER hear any sermon like today's message in any U.S. WASP church, I'll probably have a heart attack! It is a disdained message, for it challenges and reproves status quo CHURChianity. Read our free website—it has done the same for nearly a decade! <http://bit.ly/2B03dKG> Our webmaster ROCKS!

One P.S.S. from this morning's message: Any government waste, or unneeded expenses Christ would DIS-agree with, and all people wanting their taxes NOT to support such abuses are NOT selfish or wrong in that aim! (Mk. 6:43) And government helping people become self-sustaining is NOT evil! (Mt. 25:35-40; II Th. 3:10) #PrayForRevival!

PROOF WE WERE FOR THE MIDDLE CLASS WELL BEFORE TRUMP

(#Copycat)

DO you want to know why CHUMP is touting the middle class? Because we addressed that group's needs WELL before him! Watch the dates on every retweet, following!: (12/17/17)

No divisiveness, no spin, no dodging questions, no flip-flopping, no wasted billions campaigning, no ignoring the middle class, for the rich and poor. (1/8/15)

CEO salaries have risen more than 300 percent, as workers stayed the same, yet the middle class doesn't need a tax refund? TYPICAL @GOP logic—favor the rich (Levit. 19:15) (1/20/15)

@BarackObama Poor get health insurance, Welfare, free college; the rich have tax loopholes and havens and NO Buffett rule—WHAT ABOUT THE MIDDLE CLASS? (1/20/15)

WE the middle class will NOT tolerate favoritism of the rich or poor, or being ignored, ourselves! We vote too! (Levit. 19:15) Dust it off and READ it, too! (1/20/15)

YEA! Though I DON'T believe he'll be the GOP nominee, I'm GLAD Jeb (and Hillary, and Mitt) is speaking about the MIDDLE CLASS. <http://bit.ly/1L5o24b> Tax cuts! (1/23/15)

The rich have lawyers and accountants, loopholes, havens and loss offsets. The poor get Welfare and healthcare, maybe subsidized college. WHAT ABOUT THE MIDDLE CLASS? (1/26/15)

THEY are the swing voters! Democrats have the poor, and the GOP have the rich. The race is for the MIDDLE CLASS, and Obama, Hillary and Mitt are planning on it NOW! FINALLY. (1/26/15)

I will repeat: WHAT ABOUT THE MIDDLE CLASS? The rich need no one. The poor need the Dems. The people need you to quit scr_wing the middle class, politicians. (1/26/15)

You can read our past tweets on business and the middle class. With outsourcing, layoffs, pushing the workforce, part-timers, and automation, good luck Charlie. (1/26/15)

Middle class tax cuts are deserved, needed (average wage DECREASED $3,000 under Obama), and politicians MUST start LOWERING their spending our tax dollars, NOW! (1/26/15)

The GOP DESPERATELY needs the religious right, with demographics favoring Hispanics and the middle class. USE that for ALL God's morals vs. just two, church [i.e., anti-gays and abortion]! (1/27/15)

I SUPPORT you for closed borders, NO amnesty, help the middle class, revise Obamacare, and DESTROY terrorists! [GOP] @RepMickMulvaney @RepDesantis @RepMarkMeadows (1/29/15)

TRULY support decent pay for the middle class, especially Hispanics and blacks. Roe WON'T be overturned, nor states that passed gay marriage, and the IRS WON'T end. (1/30/15)

The MIDDLE CLASS are the swing voters who decide elections, and "what have you done for me lately?" Wages are down $3,000, 92,000 are unemployed or quit looking. (1/31/15)

At least Democrats offer a tax rebate to the middle class. Your strategists STINK! I can do better job, with NO training or experience. I'm doing it RIGHT HERE (2/5/15)

GOP favors the rich, Dems, the poor. We NEED a party that ALSO represents the swing voter middle class and independents, SOON! Rebel against the system. (2/5/15)

Especially Mitt Romney is encouraged to run, but NOT without addressing the poor and middle class. Just READ our past tweets, and when they were tweeted, if still viewable. (2/20/15)

BOTH parties have their bases locked up (poor vs. rich, excepting philanthropic rich Democrats, like Warren Buffett types). The fight is for the middle class! (12/9/14)

The middle class and swing voters are keys to elections, as are getting turn-outs from non-voters. In any election, both sides usually have a chance to win. (12/16/14)

The middle class DOESN'T want MORE taxes, and may empathize with the poor, but aspires and relates to the rich, more, and want responsible Welfare with their taxes. (12/16/14)

NO misleading TV ads in campaigns. No more ruining workers and the middle class for big business money to keep your campaigns afloat, politicians! #USUnited (12/19/14)

The middle class is where future political campaigns will be won. You don't have to want taxes to help the poor, but QUIT supporting GREED too, swing voters. (12/25/14)

PUBLIC MORALS

(4/30/15)

I remember how friends and family ministered to us when we had twins, and my wife didn't have to cook for ~three days from the love shown in difficult times.

Our neighboring pastor's wife said she prefers a smaller town environment, as you know people and they have pot luck Sundays and care for each other.

Our big city lives are too busy and impersonal! Body Life is only a term now days! Shaking hands or sitting next to strangers is NOT biblical, New Testament church!

Relationships, especially when one is down or hurting, is biblical church. I understand why I have been led to have few amigos (with writing), but NOT my wife's amigas.

Sunday School is NOT even body life! READ Ac. 2 and 4, and the "one another's" of Scripture! Love, care for, edify, minister to each other. THAT'S (a functional) family.

If one hurts, they all hurt; one endures sorrow, then uses that experience to help another going through it. We in the West have little concept of body life!

It's NOT an hour in a building, but often what occurs during the week in REAL, unstructured and unscripted life;

NOT being spectators of professionals on Sunday.

It's NOT sitting next to strangers and NEVER using your gifts to minister to them, or even knowing what your gifts are! Family knows each other, or they're NOT a real family.

It's NOT singing and a sermon, but QUALITY TIME in a worship service for the LAYMEN to serve each other. Then do all the rest we already do!

It's ALSO how the body relates outside that facility, not by announcements and technology but human relationships—a dead art in America for the most part!

It's NOT even age-segregated Sunday School, as a family does NOT have reunions where all the ages segregate! In a smaller church in Katy, TX, I knew elderly and teens.

When you KNOW people, they know your joys and struggles. I'm baffled we're so busy as a nation that people suffer in silence! The big city is not 100 percent all it's cracked up to be.

Seven billion people, yet some (NOT us) can still be lonely. It's a culture problem!

Body Life in the church and community in society at large. Less idolatry and more 'love thy neighbor.' Less busyness and more purpose in our lives. Change.

A friend noted how we can live for decades and never know many of our neighbors. Individualism gone amuck! Technology can be a help or a hindrance.

EVERY time I'm in public nearly everyone stares at their 'dumb phones,' and we've lost the skill of talking with one another in REAL LIFE. Selfish and more rude.

Community vs. ONLY individualism. Flash Points (book) spoke of that regarding Europe in the last century. Not just your circle of influence, but society! Care for others.

It affects riots and looting, protests, community policing, getting involved vs. standing idly by. You have to care about more than just mere you. (Phil. 2)

I've said it before, SELFISHNESS will ultimately cause Americas fall/decline in prophecy IF we still exist then vs. rising to the occasion. Selfishness.

EVEN the Bible BALANCES personal responsibility with being your brother's keeper. Who is my neighbor? READ the Good Samaritan! NOT just me, me, me or your nuclear family.

Wake up, America. Either your redemption, or your judgment draweth nigh. What we do with our society largely determines which it shall be, in my opinion.

Care! Think about others. Be a little less selfish. Try to be an ounce kinder. Don't be cruel to others. Know that God judges sin and sees everything you do.

Wake up, America. You're going down the wrong path blindly heading where you don't want to go, ignorantly so before it's too late. Wake up, America.

REAL PASTORS & THE SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION 2018

(6/11-12/18)

.@kevezell said of another, seeing revival is SIMPLE. Get a piece of chalk. Draw a circle around yourself with it. Kneel within that circle, and ask God to start revival with YOU! God bless the Southern Baptist Convention this week in Dallas!!!

Concerning church planting, SHOW ME ANYWHERE IN THE NEW TESTAMENT where one church started another, by organizing Christians to meet, and invite lost people in. Christians took the Gospel to lost people. There were NO Christians to gather into a church plant. AFTER enough people got saved in a city, churches gathered for the first time.

I heard the most amazing stories the other night. Fidel Castro required Cuban Christians not to meet in homes with sizes exceeding 50, then 30, thinking he'd end Christianity there. Instead, that forced Christians to keep opening new venues/meeting places of Christians, so churches grew up, and the church spread by the Devil's edict! One Cuban man said he'd much rather not have his freedom, to see the things God is doing there!

I heard another story of a Phillipino orphan who was adopted, and mistakenly thought he had to be good, or be kicked out of his U.S. family. Christian goodness doesn't come from false concepts like that, and the kid finally learned he was loved and accepted, and a member of their family—not a slave, or worker! #Grace

A Tennessee church opened a church in Canada, and a nearby Chinese college co-ed dropped by, got saved, then returned to China, and told all her friends and family to read 31 proverbs she wrote on index cards, and asked them to say why they knew they were true; she then told them they were from the Bible, and everyone got saved. #Amazing

Am I OPPOSED to starting new churches by gathering Christians in the area? NO. I AM opposed to Christian laymen unwilling to evangelize, so they rely on that expensive and time-consuming method to hope to "attract" lost people, when God said 'GO and TELL.' It WONT be 100 percent of lost people who will get attracted!

We Christians pat ourselves on the back, and feel good about ourselves if SOME people hear the Gospel. That means we're content that the majority go to Hell, unknowingly or unwarned! God's standard is ONLY 100 percent, unless you physically can't get to a remote group, which, with technology, isn't ever impossible! #Missions

Southern Baptists, tomorrow, discuss the role of women in ministry. The Bible is clear. I hope they are, too: I Tim. 2:12. They are unable to teach or exercise spiritual authority over a man. 1. Teaching spiritual things—NOT secular things, like at school. 2. Men, not boys. 3. You can't keep male adults from attending churches where women are head pastors, but that is NOT God's design in ministry, and is based on creation and the Adamic Fall—NOT one gender being superior to another!

And finally, ministers are to live up to being 'blameless,' described at I Tim. 3 and Tit. 1. Often these standards are NOT taken seriously!

When I hired on as a youth minister, I expected to be grilled over them. What people mainly cared about in seminary was can you preach and draw a crowd? That's NOT God's priorities, and pastor worship is condemned in I Cor. 1-4. That's every gender's role in ministry—EDBS and ethics!

They media should have a heyday with the SBC in Dallas, given evangelical's support of CHUMP, who gets advice from a female divorced "pastor" who teaches the tithe heresy, and the prosperity Gospel!

Trump's spiritual adviser: Send me your Jan. paycheck or face divine consequences
<https://bit.ly/2t30eem>

Another thing: It's one thing to publicly announce a program (like the SBC nation-wide evangelism program); QUITE another to IMPLEMENT it! How many churches took my alma mater up on this offer, or are pastors evangelically COMPLACENT? <https://bit.ly/2sTsPn3>

'GC Challenge' MAY have been the program I referenced yesterday; I've never seen or heard one hide nor hair of it near me! <https://bit.ly/2lf1Mxn> And LOOK at the MOTIVATION: money from membership, vs. people face HELL: <https://bit.ly/2JF2cZz> Yet Pence will PRAISE them on Wednesday; I tell them what they NEED!

Lost human beings are NOT pastor's potential piggy banks! They are LOST, which means they could burn in Hell, forever, starting today, if, God forbid, they were to die. Mt. 6:33 makes clear you must care more about their eternal soul than what's in their wallets, as potential church members for your religious business!

#SBC18 is 'gonna discuss women's role in ministry today. I Tim. 2:12-14 is pretty clear! What's there to discuss? You OUGHT to be charting out who is lost, who hasn't heard the Gospel, and who, that's saved, isn't evangelizing! You OUGHT to have a war room with all data on what NEEDS to be completed in evangelism.

The day pastors started thinking of church as their income source, and NOT God through it, is the day the church declined! Jesus would turn the tables on such an attitude. Re-watch The Four... a singer's dad lost his mega church believing in NO Hell, and she said her family lost everything. Church is a business!

REAL churches shared each other's financial needs (II Cor. 8). REAL pastors had concern for the SPIRITUAL priorities welfare of ALL the churches! (II Cor. 11:28) REAL pastors don't see another mega church as a competitor, or gobble up smaller church's flocks, like Pac Man! (I Cor. 3:19; II Cor. 10:15)

REAL pastors are willing to have a second job in the secular world, vs. fleecing flocks with LIES that God wants all Christians rich (or them to own jets)! REAL pastors DO EDDBS priorities, number one, and expect God to meet their needs as a result. REAL pastors decline excess adoration by their members. (I Cor. 1-4)

REAL pastors are biblically qualified to hold office, and DON'T suffer a love of money. REAL pastors work hard at preaching and teaching—NOT just one. REAL pastors preach the word, where crowds remember the Bible more than mere men's words. REAL pastors encourage laymen to study the Bible more than their sermons.

REAL pastors KNOW who evangelizes, and who doesn't, in their church, vs. merely HOPING their sermons don't fall on deaf ears. REAL pastors actually disciple people to eventually disciple others—NOT just preach sermons! (II Tim. 2:2; Ac. 4:13; Mk. 4:34). REAL pastors don't just do sermon prep Bible study.

REAL pastors have laymen use spiritual gifts in the main worship service, vs. laymen only as singing, giving and listening benchwarmer spectators! REAL pastors document the spiritual condition of every soul within three miles of their church, so they know who needs to have a visit.

REAL pastors do NOT rely on evangelizing saints in church, or attracting the natural man to a (SUPPOSED to be) supernatural event called church, BUT go and tell. REAL pastors know the Gospel's requirement(s), and what it doesn't require (i.e., they know the difference between salvation and sanctification). REAL pastors DONT support sin, like 81% of WASPs did here: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

Are you "worshipping" under a REAL pastor? THIS is what #SBC18 OUGHT to be discussing! II Tim. 2:4 says PASTORS are to LEAD in evangelism! DO YOU, Southern Baptist pastor? Will Pence say this to you, on Wednesday, or kiss up for votes, subtly?

I BEG you to read this morning's tweets to the Southern Baptist Convention! @bellevuepastor @baptistpress @_SBTC @NAMB @IMB_SBC @SBTS @GoldenGateSemin @SWBTS #Gateway, #Midwestern, #NewOrleans, #Southeastern Seminaries @ERLC @SBCExecComm #Priorities! #Revival.

RED STATE, BLUE STATE

(10/13/18)

Let's get specific: Red states HATE taxes, and always think them too high. They give lip service concern to social problems, but don't want taxes fixing them. They NEVER ask for handouts (i.e., 'rugged individualism'), so they resent people who would need such. These are challenges Democrats have in red states.

Plus the Bible Belt is here, which means Roe and Obergefell REALLY set off some pastors to stack SCOTUS conservatively! It's a RE-action. They truly felt those 'damn evil liberals' were 'gonna take our country to Hell, with all their left-wing, evil ideas... if they didn't stop it.

Even on talk radio, it ALL boils down to freedom, guns, abortion and homosexuality (i.e., sex and taxes). They couch it as a concern for the Constitution, but it's red state values. I guess they think every NON-conservative wants Satan-worship, bestiality, polygamy, NO guns, and public schools advocating for gay lifestyles.

Blue states care about problems getting solved, and are willing to endure a bit higher taxes to get 'er dun. They actually take action on over-pollution, helping the poor, ending animal abuse, and see government as one part of the solution—NOT much of the problem. They seem to be HORRIBLE at budgeting, but their hearts are in the right place.

The red state heart is more me, me, me, and leave me alone if you're from the government, and want any of my money. There's a balance in the center so few are seeing, currently!

I LOVE being in Texas, where 'leave me alone and let me live free' reigns. At the same time, I believe both red and blue states could learn something from the other, which would make us all a better nation! A little less selfishness in red venues, and a little more fiscal frugality in blue ones.

And on abortion and gay marriage, the powers that be were NOT going to let such important issues remain opposite in some states! They were too important of issues to deprive one state things another had, regarding "marriage," or the ability to safely end pregnancy (or kill a baby), so SCOTUS had the right to so rule.

I DIDN'T like state's rights being trampled, for national gay marriage, as I was for legal civil unions, with all the same rights as straights, by contract, with zero discrimination allowed. We red states LOST that national mood trend. I FULLY accept that—it's now precedent. Some among us don't, in red states (Ex.: Bible Belt/religious center of America).

NO court or politician is going to break up families, or "marriages" (quotes meaning legal vs. religious definition) to un-do Obergefell! Red state religionists KNOW that, and their timidity (a SIN) to not fight for that—since it's their beliefs—shows they know SCOTUS considers the people/public sentiment!

They LOVE to argue that Roe was illegal, for state's rights, and 'life, liberty..., ' but aren't consistent about Obergefell. I guess they think polls show enough people want Roe overturned that the timing is right? That's NOT legal arguing, but public opinion, or religious values.

And finally, I saw a WASP PASTOR extolling Kavanaugh for "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." DID YOU KNOW those words can EASILY be taken as support of worldliness, and selfish NON-disciple living, among Christians?

The Constitution, despite that phrase, does NOT prescribe a selfish, greedy, inhumane citizenry! But if you cherry pick, you can find in it only what you want to see. GOD nowhere leads Christians to care, number one, about rights and fun, over responsibilities and righteousness!

RELIGIOUS VS. POLITICAL CONSERVATISM

(11/16/16)

Mt. 25:40 CHRISTIANS (of ALL people) should care MOST about the lowly in life—NOT cater to the worldly and wealthy! That can be the unborn or the poor.

BOTH parties—NOT just one—have moral obligations by their constituents, platforms and policies!

You'll note that Jesus was speaking of BIRTHED humans, and conservative economic theory would ONLY mainly bless the rich, if allowed!

The smallest government, lowest taxes, every man for himself, etc.—but we've gone down that rabbit trail elsewhere.

The jailed, sick, disabled, widow, orphan and poor are MUCH more Jesus' concern (Jas. 1:27 et al).

WHAT do those groups have in common? Struggling, and DON'T have life made. But we don't live in a theocracy, as you always say.

True, but Christian, READ Mt. 6:10. You pray it all the time—mere rote words to you? THY will be done on earth... When you pray for that, it's HYPOCRISY (a sin) to want the Devil's system to flourish on earth, as it is in hell!

You can't be working for one system, and praying for the opposite. You've got to work for God's kingdom on earth!

ONLY pull yourself up by your own bootstraps attitude or theory DOESN'T jive with Gal. 6:2, 5. Balance! Christian conservatives only see verse five.

It's TRUE that business uses money better and more efficiently than government. FIX that, politicians (who are managers of bureaucrats).

'Government work' NEED not be a dirty word of slow-paced, no customer service pencil pushers/ keyboard typists.

I'm NOT for liberal economic theory either: Handouts with no obligations, HIGHer taxes, more debt and waste and bailouts and make-work projects, harm the rich and business, and print (or borrow) more money, so that everyone's dollars become less valuable.

Christians ADORE "conservatism." They NEED to THINK, and read the Bible more!

REST FOR THE WEARY?

(10/30-31/18)

I'm so stressed, I can't sleep. I desperately NEED to engage sales, ASAP, but also get my business plans out! It's very hard to trust the Lord when He lets you be in such pressured situations, but I must. Adding last few pages to my final book, cease who can sleep, under those conditions? Unbelievable! Wow.

I'm seeking comfort—and solutions—in unfamiliar passages, like Ps. 93:3. Recalling God's word and might are the answer in that chapter. Ps. 18:4-5 Prayer solves it in this chapter. Perhaps a fast is in order, tomorrow? Ps. 116:3 Answered prayer did the trick, here.

I've got to spend a lot of time in prayer, meditating on God's abilities, as the mountains seem too impossible to climb. Remember the miraculous ways He has delivered others in times of need, where their circumstances were much larger than mere men could solve! I've got to skim read some Old Testament stories, tomorrow!

Ps. 42:5, 11, 43:5 Praise seems to be the solution, in those prior three references. It is NOT depression, but stress. Once I sell enough clients, that will be over. I pray God provides a supernatural ability to sell, as I'm NOT good at it. It seems like prayer and praise will be in order, as I finalize business plan recipients.

Ps.3:5, 4:8 I've got to pray to be able to sleep soundly through the night! I'm up from the adrenaline of fear about my sales needs. I must trust His answering my prayers and needs to be able to effectively sell in the next few months. I had the luxury of taking on my dad's accounts, last time I sold. #Stress

Ps. 22 (espec. 1-3) are quite relevant! It's ONLY a feeling, not a fact, when one's experience appears like God has abandoned you! If God can make mighty warriors of little shepherd boys, He's able to make a champion sales person of myself, for just a little while. His ability—NOT mine! Trust! #Stress

Jas. 1:2-3 does NOT say FEEL joy, but it's a choice to think of trials as such! I Pet. 1:6-9 is also helpful in difficult trials. No one likes trials, but they are for our good. You've got to remember what they're doing for you, and keep your eyes on the prize, and on an eternal perspective—
They're only TEMPORARY!

Gen. 40:23, Job 19:14-15, 19 It's NOT friends or people close to you who are your life raft, but the One Who sticks closer than a brother! Pv. 18:24, Deut. 31:6, Heb. 13:5, Pv. 11:28, 28:26, Ps. 146:3 It's not money, or men, or government who will bail you out of tough circumstances, but the Lord! You have to trust Him!

God does NOT lead you to dead ends, nor forsake you when the chips are down. Esth. 4:14 God has led you all of your days; why expect that He would walk away, and leave you to your own devices? Your ability to sell what you must has to be from His ability through you, as you are an educator—not a sweet talker or schmoozer! Zech. 4:6 Ask Him to!

Pray for those you will call for sales. Ask the Lord to supernaturally be preparing them, to welcome your calls, and need your services, uniquely. Ask Him to give you just the right words. He has taught you many skills before. You don't think He's able to provide what you need through your mouth, and diligent hustle? #Stress

It's NOT how experienced, or natural a gift of gab you need, but His going before you! Deut. 31:8
You've got to choose to believe He is able to do what you've proved to be little good at on your own!
This too will pass. He has better plans for your future, but you must endure hard times! Jer. 29:11-13
Pray about stress!

I Pet. 5:7-9 Your lack of peace is from eyeing the storm instead of the Storm Calmer! Mt. 14 You serve a God for Whom circumstances are no problem! For you, they appear like monsters, until you see them through His eyes! II Ki. 6. Also, recall your enemy wants you defeated—Jn. 10:10, resist him, firm in faith—I Pet. 5:9

Jas. 4:7 The temptations to throw in the towel(s), or blame God, or be angry about your circumstances are NOT of God! The enemy of our faith does NOT want God's people to succeed, but he is a defeated foe, and as a famous pastor often says, you fight from a position of achieved victory! Pray all day. Zzz...

Hilarious, my (free, through insurance) health coach sent me a stress relief booklet recently... breathing techniques, jog, sleep well, etc. I've found, this morning, that the Lord has His own solutions, having little-to-nothing to do with that! Maybe that will become a chapter to help others, one day? II Cor. 1:4

Update: Conservatism, Healthcare & Money-Saving Tips

DID YOU KNOW that rugged individualism and pick yourself up by your own bootstrap-ism are mainly valued by people who have it good? Those can be, and often are mere 1-liner phrases to absolve consciences from caring one iota about others! Go visit a 'hood or barrio, and tell them those mantras,
Mr. conservative!

I've learned more about political conservatism's true heart, through political TV ads, the past three weeks, than all my prior learning. It's ALL about keeping money in your own pocket, then getting allies from other causes (Ex.: abortion), and turning a blind eye to everyone but your own family, parroting 'family values!'

Political conservatism has forsaken belief in fiscal responsibility, or fairness. Just bless the rich even more, and deny any part of responsibility for taxes being enough to cover the fed's bills! Kick that can down the road, and tout conservatism as God's gift to mankind. These are EVIL aspects of that THEORY!

Political conservatives' ideal is taxes ONLY paying for cops and the military. Ted Cruz's TV ad, of all people, says he's for paying public school teachers more. WHAT A LYING CROCK! That's NOT conservatism! He says words because polls say people are interested in that, like any concern for healthcare.

His colleague's TV ad touts a concern for healthcare, from a REPUBLICAN (Pete Sessions). SUCH a fraud on that issue. You have heard ZERO from BOTH these scoundrels in past eight years, but since Beto and Allred are gaining traction on those two issues, LIARS will adopt the language, for a season!

Here is a conservative's healthcare proposal... Hannity's "health savings accounts." In other words, if you get seriously sick, make sure the 10 years prior you saved up enough money to pay for your care, even though MOST people live pay check to pay check, and have LITTLE savings after bills, as they're paid LITTLE, Sean!

Here is a conservative's healthcare proposal... Got cancer? Start a Go Fund Me account, or beg on the street corner, or claim bankruptcy. Private sector, don't you know? But don't dare ask me for one %$#@ dime, as I'd give it to you if it was free-willed, through charity. Yeah, right, Catholic Sean.

Healthcare is a rich man's game, in the U.S., yet political conservatives expect the poor to eat dog food and Ramen noodles, to be able to access it! The BEST solution to any selfish rich conservative is to force them to live safely in a 'hood or barrio or trailer park for one week. That would open their blind eyes, but it WON'T happen!

My writing for a decade, and having visited Cambodia, and visited a black church in South Dallas five times was all it took for me to see there's more of life experience than the rich circles we may live close to! The majority of people in the world barely make enough to survive, conservatives!

Who cares, if you're rich? I've even had conservatives tell me, 'how I spend my money has nothing to do with the poor—I don't hire people,' never noticing that admission means they have zero intention of charitable giving. Worldly materialism is a sin, yet MANY WASPs idolize it as the American Dream, because culture trumps Christ, to them!

ALL you have to do is READ the life of Jesus, to see His 33 years were spent building up people, especially lowly ones. But when you attend health-and-wealth heresy centers, like Osteen, you believe the devil's lies that this life is mainly about your being blessed by God with filthy lucre; Mammon over God! Mt. 6:24

I'm convinced the power of group think by sheeps is a power that justifies most bad things in the world. Say again? When the majority is for anything, most people assume it's the right thing, or why would so many be for it, like WASPs idolizing money, and claiming God wants every Christian rich.

That is believing LIES, from man's traditions (Mk. 7:8), reinforced and empowered by everyone in such churches hearing the guy on stage advocate such false doctrine, so he can experience that form of 'abundant life' at their 'tithe's' expense, in the hopes that they too will be rich in this life, though POOR in the one hereafter.

WASPs are political conservatives, in a majority of cases. It's NOT from their mastery of what Gods said! For 30+ years the statistics have shown that the majority of U.S. Christians are NOT fully committed to Jesus, which FULLY explains why they would vote for materialism, and to Hell with everyone else!

Because only five percent of them EVER win one soul to Jesus—IN THEIR ENTIRE LIFETIME—so their deeds' track record already tells you to Hell with all others is a common belief, materially and eternally! Sorry... we speak as told; we don't sugar coat the truth. We say what you need vs. want to hear. Get mad at God for it!

I have health insurance. I NEVER use it, because it's so damn expensive! One cut cost me $1,000 this summer, for my son, and that's with insurance. I will live like my grandpa, who died of stomach cancer, never knowing it until the last days, because he knew U.S. healthcare was a racket you can't afford!

I've been to three doctors in 30 years. I LOVE what they do for a living, but the industry has priced most people out of the market, once business executives got their greedy hands in the practice in the 1980s! I witnessed it with my own eyes, as my wife is a nurse. Care became secondary.

Authorized procedures insurance companies would repay for became the protocol. The GOP wanting Medicare or Social Security CUT only means they choose for rich people who fund their campaigns to have even more luxurious lifestyles, at the expense of everyone else's health and general welfare! That is corruption, folks. Legal bribery sin!

The PROBLEM with U.S. healthcare is virtually NO real competition! Insurance companies dictate everything, and business executives want only cost effective profit making things approved, or let doctors and hospitals foot the remainder, which few-to-none are financially stupid enough to do!

Healthcare is a business! But your medical needs are often NOT luxuries, but necessities! That makes going anywhere a monopoly industry! Yes doctors are in competition with other doctors, but all for the same fee structures with the various insurance companies. That's NOT competition!

If the E.U., Canada and Britain can have health costs MUCH lower than the U.S., there's a skunk in the punch! Our care is, perhaps, better, to some degree, but what poor person cares that they get world-class care? They just want to be seen, without having to go bankrupt in the process!

But what doctor wants to offer discounted services when they can pull maximum dollars denying care to those on Medicaid? The industry is stacked against the poor man, to whom political conservatives merely parrot, 'get a better job.' My family lives in the ten percent earnings bracket, and I only access medical care for any family members under dire circumstances. My brethren, these things ought not be this way! Jas. 3:10

The middle and lower classes need affordable healthcare! I honestly don't know why I have insurance, except if I get cancer, or the like! I never had it until Obamacare forced me to pay money for NOTHING, so I put that amount toward being covered ~four years ago!

You tell me... when insurance companies, hospitals, drug manufacturers and doctors all expect to get rich off this one industry, HOW can costs ever decline? Robots replacing them, as businesses always want to do to average Joe's job? Surgery in homes? Global insurance available for all Americans? Are there any solutions?

You would need more than a BIG heart to practice medicine for the love of the sport, not seeking great wealth, because the system is rigged to reward such pursuits, and the rules are set by insurers. Perhaps evil government needs to set price limits? That would send conservatives through the roof, because they LIKE the system, because it works for them. Everyone else be damned. That's a common, unstated, but nevertheless felt sentiment among their THEORY!

If healthcare is a luxury, tell that to people's aging bodies! You can control if you eat out, or not. You can't control your body's lifelong decay, conservatives!

If anyone believes Pete Sessions or Ted Cruz gives one da_n about healthcare, vs. wanting votes from people concerned about its high costs, or teacher's pay, vs. wanting the teacher vote, you are a damn fool! Politicians LIE! It's almost an industry credential. Say anything to keep your cushy job!

Voters are too stupid to know otherwise!/? You can pull the wool over some sheep's eyes, fool me once, shame on me... You've got to start voting for people who are sincere about their convictions, have workable solutions, and aren't beholden to party bosses to be rubber stamps, people! You have what you tolerate! Good night.

I guess it's time to cover the rabbit and guinea pigs cages! I never thought I'd awaken to write! The dog is out like a light, sleeping like a log at my feet. Gen. 50:20 What began as a stress-filled sleeplessness (II Cor. 11:27) benefitted in some useful material. Now I lay me down to... EDIT!

We the people are the solution to healthcare costs! We have the numbers! We could boycott, when procedures are not required, pool our buying strength to demand better costs (leverage, like a union, with bulk buys), and patiently (when possible) ONLY frequent doctors with reasonable pricing—if they exist!

There are probably enough rich people in America to keep the medical establishment busy, full-time. Dylan Ratigan said the AMA limits the number of doctors who enter the labor market. Lawyers (i.e., ABA) DON'T do that, and it has helped reduce fees (as with advertising rules loosening?).

I OPPOSE restricting how many doctors put out a shingle every year! Free enterprise! Many people, now, DON'T consider the legal profession, as there are so many barristers. That's a GOOD thing, for consumers! I'd be for a law that the AMA can't restrict medical school graduates' numbers! There's a start! Open insurance to global competition, to get prices down! Another solution.

FYI... If you don't rank in the top 10-15 percent, from a "good" law school, don't be surprised if being a lawyer doesn't do for you all you thought it would, economically. There are many exceptions, but for the law school student, that is your goal! Get class note summaries from third years, and memorize them! It's NOT easy to get your hands on them—you've got to be in the right circles!

If we had more hospitals, costs would lower, economics 101 would tell us, but who wants to invest that expense for a low payoff? Using a physician's assistant reduces costs! For now, I just avoid the industry all together. That is NOT the answer!

Drug manufacturers want and often need a monopoly, to make their investments pay off. There may ought to be a law that once research and development costs are recouped, plus some set profit, they must offer generic equivalents. The industry has, in some cases by law, MUZZLED pharmacists from telling patients of cheaper drug alternatives. ALL those laws need abolishing!

Doctors NEED to be made to care about drug costs! I know several who simply prescribe what's best, or what they're familiar with, and you, the patient/consumer, have to tell them you're not buying their Cadillac solution!

It offends them, but make them serve you! They say costs aren't their job function. It MUST become such, for the vast majority who aren't rich! For example, a generic Propecia is $1/month, a man with a full head of hair once told me, in line to vote; probably 16 times that not in generic form! RIP OFF!

Emergency rooms are the worst, financially! You will be treated like a king, then sent a kingly bill! When one of my sons had a seizure, at ~age 3, 911 sent an ambulance to drive him 1.5 miles away. Once I got their bill, any future occurrences I just sped my car down the road! I would NEVER use an ambulance—even in an emergency—or especially a helicopter transport! You'd be shocked to know what they can charge for one emergency flight! Five figure bills!

Since there is NO practical competition, and their lobbyists keep reasonable laws from being passed to curb high prices, we all get Scrooged. It's NOT the frog in the boiling water problem, but every frog feeling like he's the only one! As consumers of this medical BUSINESS, we have to refuse to get scr_wed, and unite forces for positive change.

Many a lawyer has pursued other fields, when a glut hit the market, and the ADA must end such restrictions. I'd bet a BIG business could be had flying patients to Canada or Mexico, once U.S. officials certified which of their medical facilities were safe! We've all seen the pictures of botched cat women faced plastic surgeries gone awry out of country! Make it professional, safe, and easy to access in those neighboring nations!

Street corner Care Now type businesses have popped up everywhere, and they seem more affordable. Sometimes E.R.'s are required. How could they be more affordable? And we need more insurance companies! Competition almost always lowers consumer costs. We need a China for healthcare... low wage workers!

I guess I had simply given up any hope that healthcare could be affordable and fixed, until some politicians brought up the issue in their TV ads! IF I paid the exact same premiums, and got to actually USE my coverage, I'd be open to the government involved in my own healthcare, if it's voluntary!? Something's 'gotta give.

Let the rich, and everyone who wants private sector healthcare have it, but let others opt out in favor of government-run options! Dual track. This isn't that complicated! I'm NOT sure anyone would choose to serve in that government system, when you can make bookos elsewhere. What are your suggestions, anyone?

It severely HELPS if doctor businesses pass on cost savings, vs. Jaguars outside every small box retail store! By this I mean use every employee BUT the doctor, for all but signing off the paperwork, and extremely brief patient visits! They stay rich, and costs get reduced. Nurses doing the lion's share of the labor.

Online doctors are a new fad. Some cost savings seem possible, as there are no overhead storefront costs! If my family's in the top ten percent in America, off one salary (writing full-time, until next week), and I NEVER go to doctors, because they're highway robbers, something is wrong in River City! WHY do I buy health insurance and get nothing for it? I'd be better off only having catastrophic coverage!

My solution for most illnesses (as I rarely get sick, as I work from home, so I catch few people's diseases) is SLEEP it off, and take OTC (i.e., over the counter) medicines! I was forced to have a facial cancer removed, or it could have killed me. Insurance offered me a free colonoscopy, to check for cancer, last year, but it costs me until another decade, so guess who won't be returning for another decade?

MANY other examples could be cited, as we have five people in our family, but the industry is a gold mine for the four players, and it's NOT right, because it's usually a mandatory (vs. free-willed) service!

THANKS for making this early morning chat one of our top three all-time viewerships! The more popular topics are now chapters in our book on Innovation and business, and our FREE book, Christians For Trump: Is God a Democrat or a Republican?, at AmericanAnswers.org, online before 2019.

Pregnancy/childbirth costs: I had to sell my land that overlooked a ski resort in New Mexico, when my twins were born; doubled my money, though. They cost about $20K. I've never considered it, but you might want to hire a midwife!

If you need dental services, for cheaper, universities training dental students offer services at half the cost, or even more savings! Just GUESS how I know this. We've been there for 15 years in this family, writing for one straight decade, and NO ONE pays you to until you have a finished work product (if then; I still haven't figured out that crazy industry—yet).

Need chiropractor work? Have a heavy in your family walk on your back! This is NOT medical advice, and you can risk injury, but we've never had a problem, and we do it all the time. Cush rollers also work, for $15, at Wal-Mart, or contorting yourself on a hard couch arm rest; I've done that several times. In the most wealthy nation on earth, is this any way for the middle class to receive health care? NO, but it IS, until it gets fixed!

So I continue... If you get a cold, sleep all day, or as long as you can stand it. OTC and free pharmacist's advice at Sam's Club or Wal-Mart often keep you from paying BIGger doctor bills! If you EVER suffer suicidal depression (as I only have in my early 20's), I suggest you NEVER go to a hospital for treatment, but see a psychiatrist! Many newer drugs work well, and those asinine places only rake in the cash by doing for you what staying at home could do (~$10-15K for 2-3 weeks—WITH insurance)!

I never found any value in counselors, either, but people differ. Employers often allow free visits for any type counseling, for family members, depending on your insurance policy. If you ever feel suicidal, NEVER tell ANY authority personnel, or laws will force you to expensive hospitals that drugs at home can usually fix!

St. John's Wort (OTC) works in milder cases. I haven't been depressed since a divorce, and before (1988), and very brief periods when my books got birthed, like a baby (post-partum-like). I'd say read your Bible a lot, but that's NOT medical advice, but it works, as with prayer!

You want to see a "specialist" for any medical needs? You just doubled or tripled your costs! My son broke his shoulder, playing dodge ball, and a $5 sling was ALL that was needed, after hundreds of dollars of X-rays, and no surgery recommended. Self-help is ALWAYS cheaper! I told him to suck it up, originally, and I was right!

Be good friends with a nurse! My wife monitors my blood pressure, nags me on what I eat (even bananas are too caloric for her tastes; Pv. 27:15). Google search symptoms, to try other approaches, before the medical establishment! I love that profession, but I HATE its costs—highway robbery!

One more—stitches? My eldest cut himself, and refused them, because he hates needles, like me. They super glued it. Google search if it's the same OTC product for repairing furniture, but he's healed fine, and who knows what the bill will be; I'm not sure they have my address! YEA! Be creative; save money!

People setting up Go Fund Me accounts for major surgeries seems like a pretty non-compassionate national healthcare system! Why should one family face bankruptcy, because their child was born with some severe disablement? Because too many of us admire Amish barn raisings, but don't want any, medically!

One more—PRICE SHOP your healthcare! Like Carly Fiorina said, doctors NEED menus! I have called doctors and dentists, before, once I knew what was wrong, to price compare. Remember, anyone who EVER thinks less of you for asking a price is a rich snob, after your wallet, thinking you to an ignorant sheep! Zzz...

THE DAY any American tells me it's more important for a rich person to get richer, than for average Joe's to receive needed healthcare, or someday be able to retire, in part, through Social Security, is the day I KNOW our nation is going to Hell in a hand basket over selfish money idolatry.

JUST AS government HIDES your tax bill, by siphoning off all year long, so you often get a rebate "bonus" after Apr. 15th, "you have insurance" is a phrase that means we're going to jack you up, financially, but way down the road, so you're healed and happy, and think the shoe will never drop!

And IF my nurse wife is correct, MUCH of what you regularly ingest will kill you with cancer, one day! It's costlier, but she insists organic fruits, veggies, water and exercise are your best way to stay out of her industry! My rabbit and guinea pig agree, as I can't drive 55, or eat rabbit food! Sorry.

HOW sensible is it for multiple global companies to be pursuing the same drug for the same cure? Even non-medically trained Katie Couric saw the LOGIC of collaboration on medical research! But when it's a business, you waste time and money seeking that monopoly, while diseases go uncured, that could have been cured earlier!

Want to NEVER pay for one cavity filling? ALWAYS brush your teeth thoroughly, 2-3 times a day (and drink eight glasses of water, for general health). My dad has NEVER had a cavity, and he's in his upper 80's! Word to the wise... preventive care is cheaper than healthcare! Duh 101 #CommonSense

Millennials and generation Z were smart enough to invent ride-sharing, free services online, and stay with their parents for cheaper rent, further on in life. Perhaps they'll come up with cheaper ways to share doctors and surgeons, and have certified sterile clinics (or homes?) for surgeries, to save hospital bills!? You've got to hope!

Why can't Americans buy medical drugs from the E.U., if medical experts KNOW they're as safe and effective as "AMA approved" versions in the U.S.A.? We've had the internet 4 nearly 30 years, per Al Gore (joke), so why can't we order them from a cheaper source? The American medical lobby be damned! Do you agree?

Car insurance varies dramatically. One DFW TV guy says he always beats competitors, but when I phoned, and lied about what I pay in premiums, all his office did was undercut it a LITTLE, well above what I actually pay! I'm certain this same experience gets replicated concerning health insurance, everyday!

We have Select Quote for life insurance, and PowerToChoose.com for Texas home electricity, and mortgage comparison websites. Why NOT the same service for health insurance? Innovation is often taking one concept from one discipline, and transferring those skills to another. I want cheaper healthcare!

DID YOU KNOW, Realtors have a monopoly on homes on market data? You now can hire cheaper people to buy or sell homes, than traditional six percent! I know of two companies... one charges a set percent (1-3 percent), and one a set fee. There are also FSBO's—for sale by owner. ALWAYS think of cheaper ways to do things! I do--why not you? AATreaty.com , for one, and you can do your own market research via Zillow and Trulia.

One investment firm has a TV ad that their commissions are set/fixed, and low (Charles Schwab?), and another one says they don't get paid unless you make a profit. We consumers have to start buying smarter, to force businesses to serve our needs!

Uber utilized already existing vehicles, so they have ZERO car costs for such vehicles. RILLIANT, and the taxi fee savings got passed down to you. Sam's Club buys in bulk, as with Amazon, and the savings get passed on to you. Carvana BRILLIANTLY has a small inventory on hand, but endless car buying possibilities.

Any business that passes on savings you ought to be loyal to, and NOT the others, who just help themselves with executive bonuses and shareholder dividends! China saw a population of trainable, less-educated labor, and America's manufacturing's sucking sound came from there. We now have fewer jobs, but cheaper stuff/products.

Same with India with tech support. Why do you think NAFTA hurt U.S. jobs? Canadians and Mexicans would work for less. It's the way of the future! IF you want thousands of other insights on business or innovation, we have two books, available at AmericanAnswers.org, soon, and 4,700 FREE new product ideas in our books.

Indians, Mexicans and Chinese OFTEN have many family members living in one casa/house, often with a FREE, built-in daycare, in a babysitting grandparent. They also have less carpet cleaning bills, as all shoes remain at the entry way. If you want cheaper car repairs, go where overhead is less... poorer parts of town!

If you want hundreds of more money-saving tips, one of our three political books devotes an entire chapter to that. If you want D.C. run by logic and prioritized common sense, get our three political books, and vote for 'Pledged Politicians,' starting in 2020! @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin @2020Victory @PledgersARCHIVE

Want to save $3,000 on a new car? The MINUTE one is driven off the showroom floor, it loses that value! Buy low mileage program cars with a clean Car Fax report, or young mileage used ones, after having a mechanic check it over.

Buy foreclosed homes at non-popular auctions. Drive your car until the wheels fall off, and unless it starts costing you many repairs, you maximize your money! I know, because mine are models from 2000 and 2004! Smart, but NOT hip!

Timing belt changed every 90,000 miles, on average; oil change every 3,000 miles, or so. Knowledge is power. The poorest among us NEED to be the smartest buyers; read our books!

Garage sales in richer neighborhoods can be prime picking! Get there before the business types buy it all in bulk. The poor need to understand how to shop and buy, before having any hand out for any government hand-ups!

If you have a smart phone, and you're poor, you're doing better than anyone in my immediate family! DON'T expect ME to pay for your phone! You can pay for mine! If poor people don't buy like I do, they have ZERO business asking Uncle Sam for anything! We might even need a government agency to educate them on how to save money. They can read my books on money-saving tips in the library, for free. Just don't waste OPM/other people's money!

People in distress are a cheap way to buy. We had a neighbor with cancer selling nearly all their valuable stuff, and since we were friends, we got first dibs (learning of the disease only when I asked why they were selling so much). We got a $850 Nebraska Furniture Mart foosball table for $100!

Craig's List, Ebay. Places where you can own stuff for less are plentiful, with the internet! Libraries even offer access, for free, if your too poor to have it at home! Junior College cost me ~$5,000 for TWO YEARS total, which is not 1/3-1/4th each of the last two years' semesters for my son, at Baylor. Buy smarter!

I am POSITIVE my son's the first soon B.U. grad to ONLY take 60 hours through Baylor! I had nine ladies fight me tooth-and-nail to NOT do what I legally did, by following their own rules, and getting three deans' approval! He has now attended five different universities, but he has the same BAYLOR degree. Be smarter shoppers!

Unless and until any poor person APPLIES all these type money-saving tricks, DON'T ask me for any Welfare money (and I'm NOT opposed to Welfare). Have you ever fixed your car from parts from a salvage yard? I have ~five times. Not all cars there are wrecks! Many have very new parts, as the damage is elsewhere! LEARN!

You want a tow truck? My family PUSHED our van, last evening, though I'll use AAA, today. You must have a smart phone for $600 plus $60/month service? I pay T-Mobile 10 cents a minute pay-as-you-go when my pseudo flip phone is ever needed, then use my laptop at home. Don't give me your money sob stories until you do the same!

Haircuts? I cut my kids' hair until ~three years ago, and do my own, with only one exception, when it was too long in the past TEN YEARS! 'DIY...' do it yourself. I'm convinced God had me write, so I could learn from experience "how the other half lives," as NO ONE pays you to write, until it's done (if ever).

If you work from home, you save wardrobe costs, and car upkeep from wear and tear! I've practiced law in my PJ's, and my Polio-stricken boss conducted a trial from home! You've got to think how to do more with less, as does our federal government. There are ways. And ONLY vote for politicians who seek such ways—not rich snob balls!

Businesses buy used cars from auctions, then repair and resell them all the time! Get a pass to go to an auction! If a car is at a dealership for repairs, and stays there too long, not being paid for, you can get a steal of a deal, a gal once told me, from experience. Plant your own garden—NO pesticides there!

Want low insurance premiums? Have a high deductible, and get your car repaired without having claims, if under that threshold amount. One dude hit my van, putting a 1.5 foot dent. Market rate repair was $4,500-7,000, and he had a wreck bad record, so his rich dad wanted to pay me in cash, to avoid a claim; I got two cars fully mechanically in shape after buying my van's rear door from a salvage yard for $100!

Why should any taxpayer ever pay for anything of another's family, if that family's not first using these tricks? Again, I'm NOT against Welfare, but against its abuse. Education is the answer for less stressful poverty!

Air flights? Rent cars? There are tricks I've used for all of these. There are now resale shops (NOT Goodwill) with one year old barely used clothes, once you realize that fashion pressure is mainly to get inventory turnover by clothes businesses and manufacturers, like designer labels, et al!

Dollar stores exist. I was at one last evening (before my car's pedal failed). 50 cent off-brand Hallmark cards, as it's the thought that counts, right? My reading glasses cost $1, and a lady from a rich private parochial school borrowed them, two weeks ago, and bragged how they matched her prescription! Money-waster!

Just because I'm tired from staying up all night, I'll refer you to ALL our many books you can soon buy, at AmericanAnswers.org. The entire list is in my Linked-In bio, where they proved to me MANY VIP's and nearly 100,000 people saw us write three books live on Twitter: linkedin.com/in/ideasman/ Ideas man

So sad to have been so dejected last evening, over our car break-down, and sales challenges. God USUALLY brings me to very low points, or gives me great material after I've been asleep, so I could never have planned or take credit for it!

Subconscious sleeping, I fell out of bed 2+ years ago, and messed up both shoulders. People said I needed a doctor and X-rays. A dude at Hurricane Harbor said he had same experience, and laid off for two years, and all was well. I followed his advice, because I avoid medical bills at ALL costs, for we have a BAD system, financially!

Recently, a young gal was declared brain dead, and her parents hung on to hope, hoping some hospital would keep her body alive. If there's any chance any but those two parents would foot that bill, they had NO right to seek such, though everyone understands why they'd want to!

There's a Christian radio ad rejoicing about shared medical bills. I don't rejoice in sharing anyone's bill, but sometimes it's a necessity, if you have to have insurance, and the costs are affordable, as an insurance policy, lest you get sick like them. People DON'T enjoy sharing bills—that's a ludicrous concept, including for taxes!

And people ALWAYS, legitimately oppose abusers of the system, be it Welfare, insurance claims, taxes wasted, etc. MOST everyone is just trying to get by/survive, and don't need or welcome additional expenses! Politicians need to remember that, or they've become out of touch with the real world! That's a PROBLEM!

The government is you and me! Its bills are yours and mine. That's where conservatism has it right. It's NOT some legal entity, devoid of humans, as humans pay into it, and spend it. Don't try to get your neighbor to help you, through government, when you don't have the bills to ask them for help, directly! Minimal help!

IF you get rich, you should be grateful for that privilege and blessing, vs. decry a higher tax percent! Even paying more in than before, you're doing better than most people. Any rich person whining over too high taxes is just a spoiled brat, in my opinion. LOOK AROUND. You have it GOOD. Shut the %^#$ up, babies!

I am FOR ZERO exceptions or loopholes or ways to weasel out of your fair share of taxes! Straight forward, simple, easy to understand taxes, so we cut out the middle men, like accountants, CPA's and lawyers, and you simply pay what you owe, and get along with your business, adding no additional expense!

Truth in advertising with STIFF penalties would be an appropriate law change I would support, regarding TV, radio and print media political ads! It is ONLY fair to the citizenry that all allegations and claims be true, as we RIGHTLY don't full-time spend time researching these characters!

Has anyone done a detailed study of why healthcare costs less in Canada, the U.K. and the E.U.?
<https://bit.ly/2DhoVeL> <https://lat.ms/2Pww5Bf> <https://bit.ly/2qkA9Xh> <https://bit.ly/2ub0Bpw>

REVIVAL OR NO SURVIVAL!

(10/20/17)

Yesterday, Sean Hannity spoke with Kirk Cameron about 'Revival-2,' and said, "it's obvious God's doing something, and we are united." The man is actually Satanically deceived, and lying about three things: 1. Revival has NOT arrived in the U.S.A. 2. He is PROJECTING what he WANTS to be true, and brainwashing listeners about unity. And, 3. Voting for Trump has NOTHING to do with revival!

A fourth is that he discussed an "exciting event" Kirk is putting on. EVENTS ARR NOT REVIVAL, OR EVEN SIGNS OF IT, foolish ones! It's sovereignly when Christians' lifestyles impact society. I'm convinced that the Devil has Hannity in his grasp (as with the Protestant's Jeffress), SADly! A deceived Catholic!

This IS the strategy I wrote about earlier, by the Christian Cabal: Put on public shows/programs/pageants/ performances, to make Christians believe God is up to something. It's the Hollywood model of cultural Christianity, and the capitalization of Christianity. Pastors DON'T want to do EDBS priorities, so they produce shows. BLASPHEMY!

And to say that Christians are united behind a man who could EASILY turn into the Antichrist shows me, at least, that they are heading to apostasy, the Apostasy (of prophecy) has begun, and such involved pastors likely could be the prophesied false prophets of prophecy. Any pastor opposing "EDBS" priorities has a Satanic bondage! Godly ones DON'T!

I'll repeat, we collude with talk radio, and Fox, and Christian media, to advertise events: Franklin Graham's Texas Tour, Revival 2. We credit TRUMP (of all people) for starting this "revival" (THOUSANDS of insiders know the REAL origins!), and put on events. It's a mirage/a show/a fake "image"-is-everything LIE! SAD!

I said before, get a celebrity, put them on the media, get famous last-named pastors to endorse, tie it legally to Chump's reelection. These EVIL Christian Cabal members think Christian laymen are STUPID! Maybe they're right, but blame that on NON-discipling, LAZY ministers who REJECT EDBS priorities, possibly being tares.

Any Christian who does NOT understand that Christianity is a 24/7 empowered, daily walk with Jesus, and that church is JUST the celebration that tops that off, has bought into the system of Churchianity—a FALSE imitation of the real thing that keeps mega pastors rich by the FALSE tithe (as well as using Heb. 10:25 to GUILT them into frequenting their profitable retail religious establishment, often with HIDDEN total compensation, UN-commanded by God as full-time wages). ALL this will be FULLY exposed in the 2020 election, for God does NOT take well to FAKE Christianity! EDBS, folks. It's not 'the economy, stupid,' but EDBS, Christians!

I'll make this clear as day: Revival WILL NOT come to the U.S.A. until U.S. pastors DO EDBS priorities! READ God's word! There are FOUR acts in II Chr. 7:14. It says NOTHING about putting on shows! Some pastors are better at pageantry and productions than obedience to God on evangelism and discipling, et al.

The Christian Cabal is taking advantage of their own sin of keeping laymen stupid on the Bible! READ IT for YOURSELF! Evangelism, relational discipling, Body Life spiritual gifts used in the worship service, and social ministry (and quiet time, with corporate prayer) ARE biblical Christianity! And tithes are NOT commanded for Christians!

These are NOT my version of Christianity! READ THE WORD! Critics of mine have said I show off my knowledge, or say sanctification is academic knowledge accumulation. LIARS! They're in professional ministry, and are covering for their FAKE ‘preach and be paid’ human-generated job descriptions! Are they saved? I’m unsure about some.

Evangelism Explosion, The Navigators, Campus Crusade. THESE ministries KNOW there is a qualitative DIFFERENCE between church practice and biblical ministry. They have made a lifelong career off that difference. This is NOT dividing the church, in an evil way, but identifying problems to solve!

Ever since the church growth movement, the men able to capitalize on the merger and acquisition trend, or consolidating churches to become mega churches have thrived, and they unite with a political theory to keep the gravy train running. As of our work the past eight years, pastors are starting to rediscover EDBS, but many want status quo preach and be paid!

Say to these types that you must do more evangelism... they change a sermon, preach on it, maybe do a series. Say you’ve got to disciple more. Sermons change. Say you’ve got to use spiritual gifts in the laity. Sermons change. Say social ministry is important. Sermons change. SERMONS ARE NOT CHRISTIANITY IN ACTION, Gods people.

That’s the EASY short-cut, and fraudulent substitute, and as Hank Hanegraaff (the Bible Answer Man) coined the phrase, ‘Counterfeit Christianity!’ Go to church and hear me speak for my pay. ALL BUT one hour a week is where the one-on-one walk with Jesus happens. Church is ONLY the cherry on top!

I KNOW this FAKE model is why I was carnal from age 8 to 18! Go to church, and you’re good with God. Don’t go to church, you’re a pagan (they’ve even coined a phrase, ‘the un-churched’). It’s all about customer retention, and frequenting their business.

Give or take, it’s the top one percent who get rich off this FALSE system, and the others are open to TRUE EDBS Christianity, as the money hasn’t lured them into laziness.

But since we are in a Capitalist, commerce-driven society, smaller pastors sometimes believe that what made mega churches rich is what they need to imitate. IT IS NOT! EDBS is how you create a REAL church, and the ONLY hope America has for REAL revival EVER coming here, for it is God’s ways—not fake man schemes!

Here’s the Christian Cabal’s thinking: If we make it look like we are united, and something’s happening, people will believe it. We do so by saying that it is so, and putting on events with celebrities on the national media, to make it FEEL like it’s organic. EAR-TICKLERS! Forsake the TRUTH for a lie. Apostasy. All for Trump? WOW!

Something IS happening, alright, but it’s NOT yet revival. It is man-manufactured events! This is ALL for DT’s reelection, from idolatry of political conservatism. It’s NOT thorough EDBS priorities! That takes work and time—effort. Shows can be produced in a few weeks, with a few thousand (or hundreds of thousands) of dollars.

And since PASTORS have kept laymen NOT having quiet times, excusing the 5/10/13 problem for 30+ years, they know that most Christians are ‘carnal,’ and Bible ignorant, so they can steer them any way they want, as laymen AREN’T thinking for themselves, based on what is in the Bible—the ‘let pastors handle all that’ attitude. SIN!

So, good luck, U.S.A. The chances are SLIM that you will hear how to go to Heaven, vs. Hell, told to you by a godly Christian who has a ministry using her spiritual gift in the church service, and helping society more than chasing money. This WILL lead to the demise and end of U.S.A. one day! Revival is NOT here (II Chr. 7:14)

Hard hearts, seared consciences, apostate leadership, tares and Balaam false prophets in ministry for the profits, ear-tickling frauds making the successful Laodicean mega church by Churchianity, cultural Christianity and a commercialization of Christ. THIS is status quo church-as-a-business America today, SADLY!

And it ALL ties perfectly into Bible prophecy! There are MANY godly pastors! They aren't taught EDBS in seminary, and tradition is sermon prep for 40 hours a week, so those hours teach them one subject well enough to do their sermon. Seminaries RARELY make you read the whole Bible. Dallas Seminary does!

And to know EDBS requires you to be objective about what the Bible presents, and think different from the status quo of most of your ministry peers, who practice Churchianity's preach-and-be-paid philosophy, or church-as-a-business model of ministry, if you're a mega pastor "doctor." It pays, so why change it? Because God said so! Your job description is in I and II Timothy!

1. Thoroughly evangelize EVERY lost soul within walking distance of your church. NO other pastor is as responsible for their souls as you! Use your people to do the work (Eph. 4). 2. Relational discipling. Jesus preached to the crowds, but poured His life into 11, who changed the world. Use multiplication! II Tim. 2:2.

3. Have laymen edify the body by playing their part as a body part (i.e., spiritual gifts used in the worship service, which is the ONLY time the family is gathered)—I Cor. 14.

4. And finally, serve the world! Disciples serve. They fix society's problems. That's about ALL Jesus did! IF you ever read I-II Tim., the pastor's job description is to do the work of an evangelist, teach faithful men who can teach others (and Eph. 4 says train laymen to do the work), and spiritual gifts are given to edify the body (which is ONLY one unit at the gatherings). Prayer is what the church is to be known for by outsiders, and our love!

And imitating Jesus' ministry completes the EDBS church model. American Christianity presents bodies, bucks and buildings as what it is, by sermon, song and silver, one hour a week. Full-time salaries are NOT commanded or guaranteed! Paul made tents; Jesus was a carpenter.

Tithes are for Old Testament Jews. II Cor. 8-9 handles Christian giving! Buildings are un-commanded! In Acts, they had house churches, and met in borrowed synagogues. They are not sinful, but we have used Capitalism to get rich by NOT doing God's priorities or commanded practices! Preach-and-be-paid; come and hear evangelism. FAKE PEWS (vs. news)!

The result is the 5/10/13 problem! Five percent of U.S. Christians have ever won a lost person to Christ—in their lifetime! Up to 70 percent don't evangelize often, but only five percent do it successfully. Between ten to 30 percent are fully committed to Jesus, worldliness as their main barrier—chasing things vs. pursuing God fully!

And 13 percent regularly read God's word. Meditation—NOT getting information to brag on your knowledge. You have a HORRIBLE marriage if you speak with, or see each other rarely. Discipleship is DAILY! (Lk. 9:23) We are NOT spiritual camels who live off a Bible-based sermon per week (Mt. 4:4).

And your relationship to Jesus is one-to-One! On judgment Day (i.e., at the Bema seat), God is not going to call in your pastor to vouch or cover for you! (I Jn. 2:27) If you can't meet with God daily, you don't take your salvation very seriously! It's a treasure trove of gifts, but you view it as a negative obligation. You are Devil deceived, carnal one.

As PROOF I speak FACTS about the U.S. church, poll laymen. Discover the exact percents in your church on EDBS. Maybe yours is exceptional, and the 5/10/13 problem isn't in those percentage numbers.

CONGRATULATIONS! You are the exception to the norm/rule. Perhaps you lead laymen to evangelize, disciple, use gifts in ministry to believers, and serve the community in loving ways of salt and light. You are rare. Be proud of that job, and spread it to your peers.

You are not in ministry for the finances (Mt. 6), because your mind is on spiritual things—not secular political power (Col. 3:1-4). I'd like to meet you, for you are independent, and buck the Churchianity system.

It's a thankless job; you DON'T get rich and famous off it, but your people benefit in eternity, and society around you benefits, for you are replicating Jesus on earth—NOT by making fake televised programs that pretend that revival is here, but by doing the very acts that lay the groundwork for revival to come!

THANK YOU!

This standard of biblical Christianity will be fully exposed as NOT what Trump-backing evangelical pastors do or promote, in 2020. You will have a choice to stay with Churchianity of CHRIST-ianity. Such "division" is NOT evil! Here's Bible PROOF: Josh. 24:15. Jesus will too (Mt. 25), in prophecy, as He did while here (Mt. 10:34)!

Tares and true believers are NOT to be physically separated in this era (Mt. 13:30), but calling pastors to do EDBS, and seek real revival are tasks prophets do. It's their calling, gift, and burden. Is it your spiritual gift? Does the U.S. WASP church need it? Do we practice biblical Christianity! Do we care?

Unity to sin is no unity at all! Continuing to support and participate in Churchianity is not only a sin, it is the Devil's version of unity! And any Christian supporting any evil political policies is sinning (if laws can be changed, but we fail to do so)! You vote for the best moral options you are given, and work to have better choices. NO laziness!

NO brain-washing. NO party idolatry. Unbiased independence, like Your Master (Rom. 2:11; Levit. 19:15) Be imitators of Him—not dumbed-down sheep following MEN (I Cor. 1-4), or guru's (I Jn. 2:27), but follow Jesus 1:1, daily, in His power, which power others notice! THAT's Christianity!

Money is a servant, a tool—NOT an idol. You can't serve God and worship money! (Mt. 6:24) It's impossible to do so, multi-taskers! If you love money, you will hate God, even dressed in your Sunday best, acting holy, saying the right things and paying that unrequired tithe, faithfully church-going—you DON'T serve God!

MORALS are the proof. (Ps. 119:9-11) Talk is cheap. Attending church is shallow without a daily walk, fully committed, and growing, through a daily quiet time. THIS is Christianity; the other is a FAKE imitation. The former requires pastors to do more than just preach (and/or teach) sermons! Many won't change; and revival tarries.

And so long as you think that WHITE Christians voting proves that revival is here... 1. The Church is NOT united! 'Blacks and browns' do NOT share your political vision of revival's effects, because it is a FAKE revival imitation through the mechanisms of man! 2. EDBS has hardly changed. 3. ALL of society knows your hypocrisy! ASK the average American non-Christian if they respect a claimed "God" who would have you avidly support Mr. Trump!

They will say they want NOTHING to do with such teachings, because such ideas DON'T come from Him, though you lie that they do. Anathema. Ichabod.

P.S.: Selling "Christian" books by famous ministers (Capitalizing on Christ) has replaced Bible study, where such books are MAINLY man's words vs. Bible exposition! Ear-tickling for profit. Watering down the sheep vs. watering and nourishing them; Christian psychobabble leading them AWAY from Bible meditation.

RICH GET RICHER

(11/14/18)

Laws are do's and don'ts a society is to live by; they are not magical, and not all rules are set in stone. An economy of more billionaires, as people live in poverty, is such because they gain it legally, which may mean the laws need to change, as obeying bad laws leads to unjust disparity, due to said unjust laws.

The economy is a pie, that expands and shrinks, but is NOT endless in amount! Despite variations in the money supply, we're ALL wanting a piece of the same pie, and when others get YUGE pieces, legally, there's, overall, LESS leftovers for others. If everyone had a million dollar idea, the market is NOT big enough to sustain that!

I'm NEVER for over-paying anyone, even executives, or paying them more than they're worth, but people can manipulate others' economic worth by flooding the labor market, or draining the job market, which makes them richer (including by 'passive income'), as they legally harm other Americans' chances at existence! That's evil!

Why should any society ALLOW an elite few to live like a King, when some live in squalor? If it's legal, make it illegal! It doesn't matter if the money was gained ethically—there are limits to what you need and want, and ethical values that say you can help the strugglers, vs. just help yourself! Vote accordingly.

Here's a TRICK: Tell the poor to get a job and a better education and job skills, as you automate tasks, outsource jobs, and immigrate competitor labor to compete with those same poor people. You're pulling the rug out from under them as you speak out both sides of your mouth that they simply need to run harder and faster on that rat race rug.

It shouldn't be allowed, in American society, that the rich who get richer off passive income, get rewarded thereby with even lower tax rates, when actual labor sweats its brow for MUCH less money, sometimes higher tax rates, and isn't passive, but active in their energy efforts. Money making money off itself isn't the SAME!

Any system that teaches that the rich must get richer, or others won't, is corrupt. I'm NOT for the rich not getting richer, but I'm against them doing so when severe poverty exists! And government is NEVER to favor the poor or rich (Levit. 19:15). The rich need the least favors—they have it made, already; many suffer.

A rich person can easily argue that their wealth isn't making anyone poor. It IS when it's gained off people's backs, and when it's taken out of the economic pie in ways that leave crumbs for all the mice to feed on!

I'm against Socialism, but for I Tim. 6:17-19. Any stingy rich person is an abomination to God! Rich people are NOT evil for being rich! They become evil by being selfish, and/or by hoarding.

Even investing in businesses is to gain money for self, and is NOT the same as charity, which helps strugglers. Investing makes businesses and business owners richer, but the hurting are Christ's concern! Are they a concern to all rich people? Just some!

WHY would Bill Gates and Warren Buffett LOSE money, and give it to anyone else, when they earned it legally, morally, and it's theirs to control? Is that a stupid investment and decision? ONLY if you are an evil, sinful person with no heart or conscience, likely quickly Hell-bound! (Mt. 6:24, 19:24)

The BEST way for a rich person to help a poor person is NOT handouts, but money spent to empower them to be self-sufficient! Teach a man to fish! Why the rich, more than others? BECAUSE THEY CAN, and everyone else doesn't yet have enough to surely make it to the end, much less retire!
#CommonSense (Lk. 12:33)

I MUST warn rich people... You are getting ALL your comforts NOW! (Lk. 6:24-26) That means that your afterlife will be hellish, in quality, by comparison, IF you go to Heaven, because God is just, and you chose to get all the blessings NOW! That's a STUPID decision, and investment in 80 years, vs. eternity! Short-term, short-sightedness! You were WARNed!

Claiming practicing CATHOLIC, Sean Hannity, asked, 'who's rich?,' AS IF rich can't be defined. Anyone in the top 10 percent of America is rich. Anyone in the top 10 percent of all nations' wealth is rich, by comparison. Nice ATTEMPTED trick, but it FAILED, Sean, just as you fail at representing your own religion correctly! (Lk. 12:48)

FoxNews USED to have a slogan, 'It's ALL your money'! That's a LIE! ALL of it is God's (though not all is owed back to Him, obviously), some of it is government's, and THE REST is yours. This from a media outlet that courts "RELIGIOUS" people, deceived by NOT knowing their own religion's tenets or Good Book. #Apostasy!

An EVIL rich person will respond to the following with, 'it s_cks to be you,' but LOOK at all the unjust advantages the rich receive in America: Preferential seating at restaurants, front row seats at ball games, best terms for financing, cop patrols of gated neighborhoods, few-to-no nearby pot holes, non-combat 'safe' military assignments for their kids, best Ivy League connections for the same, inheritance laws which allow for spoiled brats to do nothing to contribute to society (if they choose to), access to D.C. politicians for laws in their favor, tax loopholes lawyers and accountants find and use, private schools (so you never have to rub elbows with the 'riff raff'), limo rides, back entry to public places, etc.

Why in the world would public policy ever favor them even more? That's RIDICULOUS, and UN-just! It's the hard-working poor who need society's help the most, but NOT the lazy ones. Even the middle class lives paycheck-to-paycheck, and thereby have more needs than for our collective tax dollars to benefit the rich, because they can, because they legally bribe corrupt politicians!

WE SAY IT LIKE IT IS, HERE! If your ox gets gored, you worship a lesser god! And if you don't like the truth, guess where you'll most likely end up when you die?

It is NOT a sin to be rich. It IS a sin to be selfish, and to hoard. There are two types of rich people in America... the significantly philanthropic, and the tokenly so (if not frugally NON-givers). IRS 1040 forms could tell us who is who, but they hide those evils with privacy laws!

The WISE Warren Buffett is 100 percent onto this conservative con game! He once said, 'anytime, any place,' he'd go over his tax returns with Chump. JEWish Mark Levin called Warren "self-loathing." So he hates himself, proved by his generosity to others? Is that in the Torah? That is abuse of religions for political conservatism!

I am ONLY for 'fair share' taxation, and people having NO skin in the game isn't fair, as they're incentivized to spend OPM (other people's money), and I am against the rich paying a lower tax percent than their secretary! 10 percent of little-to-nothing is NOT the same sacrifice as 10 percent of all you'd ever want!

There is not one economic reason to ever give any money to anyone, for nothing in return. So people who ONLY care about money, not morals, would never donate one dime, as it's economically stupid to lose money. At the same time, anyone for whom money is everything, lack morals and humanity.

They will say, 'who cares?' You better, for you too will die one day—maybe soon! There WILL be an accounting by a just God. Fear Him, and do as He said with your money, for if you don't, I've already warned you your future is bleak, and you can't take it with you in your hearse to Hell! MOST rich people DO end up in Hell, as they never trust Jesus for salvation. (Jn. 3:16)

God made the poor to be rich in faith, but the evil (vs. good) rich trust in themselves and their riches, which is a house of cards on Judgment Day! Because America idolizes wealth, the rich are exalted as society's heroes. LOOK how God sees them: Jas. 1:10 If He exists, you are in trouble! He exists!

'The great curse of this age and of the American people is its materialistic tendencies—money, money is the cry everywhere until our people are held up already to the world as noted for nothing except the acquisition of money.' —Senator George Vest Congress USED to get it, apparently.

'Never respect man merely for their riches, but rather for their philanthropy; we do not value the sun for its height but for its use.' —Gamaliel Bailey 'Prosperity is only an instrument to be used, not a deity to be worshipped.' —Calvin Coolidge Wisdom from a by-gone age! American Idol-atry.

'This country cannot afford to be materially rich and spiritually poor; I look forward to a great future for America--a future in which our country will match its military strength with our moral restraint, its wealth with our wisdom, its power with our purpose. —John F. Kennedy #Morality

'The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little.' —Franklin D. Roosevelt READ these wise quotes: <https://bit.ly/2B7VjOB> Only evil people will turn a blind eye to reading them, from selfishness.

'As the wealthiest nation on Earth, I believe the United States has a moral obligation to lead the fight against hunger and malnutrition, to partner with others.' —Barack Obama <https://bit.ly/2TbekXf> 'We judge our economy not by the presence of billionaires but by the absence of poverty.' —Jeremy Corbyn

HOW is having a handful of billionaires, or the most billionaires a feather in America's caps? It's GREAT for them, but Jesus' concern was ALWAYS for the people/masses—NOT the elites, and especially the least among us. Trickle-down economics is often just the rich peeing on everyone else, believing their gains will be ours, somehow.

America should have the BEST businesses, and the most rich people, but ONLY if they behave ethically! Conservatives (and MBA schools) say economics is an "amoral" science. It IS if you close your mind off to morals! Religion and politics are the ONLY bridges between morality and conservative economics! Vote accordingly.

The Bible itself distinguishes between good and evil poor and rich! God does NOT lump them as all good or evil! Proof?: II Th. 3:10; Pv. 14:31; Lk. 6:20; I Tim. 6:17-19; Jas. 2:5-6, 4:13-5:7. In a by-gone era, the wealthy even competed in their philanthropy! <https://bit.ly/2FpeFml> Those are GOOD rich!

The MAIN difference between Dem and GOP rich is their attitude toward their excess! There are many other differences, but the "liberal" has no problem with money helping the needy, even if by force, if necessary. WHO ever gives up one thin red dime voluntarily, as costs rise, and we work longer hours?

Related Tweets

A TRUE conservative has taxes primarily for cops and the military. Good luck with any other government services! NO wonder the majority rejects it! #GOP (12/27/14)

TRUE conservatism says I'll pay for all I need (except cops and the military and roads), and you do same, no matter your circumstances (unemployed, old, poor). (12/27/14)

Seeing that all non-ultra rich must get their livelihood serving the elites (with surplus), Democrats say taxes can "legally" referee this situation. (1/14/15)

...I used to joke that a true conservative would allow one man to own it all, if he earned it legally, and that no man is an island unto himself, unless he can afford his own island. (4/27/17)

...political conservative teaches every man for himself. But that, as well, is NOT life's purpose! True enjoyment of life is NOT when you shut yourself off from all others!... (9/1/18)

Continuing

'He who knows not when he has enough, is poor.' –Japanese proverb When you can live comfortably off conservative interest from your nest egg—until you die—you have enough, at which time—if not before—you SHOULD start caring for people other than yourself and your family, as God has entrusted you with wealth for more than just self-pampering!

DID YOU KNOW the Devil can make you rich, as can God? (Mt. 4:9; I Sam. 2:7) HOW do you distinguish them, as the results look the same? How you made and used it, and what priority is was to you in your heart. 'For many, being American is merely an accident of birth—the result of winning' [the "ovarian lottery."] –Warren Buffett (Ecc. 9:11)

Rush Limbaugh says the economy is the sky's the limit. That's a GREAT individual attitude (i.e., microeconomics), but UN-true, collectively (i.e., macroeconomics). Every business gets profits from others/clients, but those customers/consumers have to have 'disposable income' to spend.

The ruling/rich class bless each other mutually profiting businesses. The poor rarely-to-NEVER own businesses. Most businesses do NOT want to invest in poorer areas of town, as there's not money to be had/made. South Dallas has a shortage of grocers, for that reason. If everything is about money, let the poor die of poverty, and that's O.K., conservatives touting religion! (Ecc. 10:19)

Insatiable desire (Ecc. 5:10); pride on being on Forbes' billionaires list (I Jn. 2:15-17); The author of Harry Potter LET herself drop OFF that list, because she understood the purpose of wealth! Many would call her a fool, but God does NOT, and the Devil agrees with those critics! #Priorities and #Values

(Lk. 12:15) Life does NOT consist of wealth. He with the most toys does NOT win! This is culture contradicting Christ!; The American dream as worldliness and materialism! Christians who value culture over Christ CLING only to one verse... I Tim. 6:17, but it does NOT mean that God gave us all things, but that the things we have He gave us to enjoy.

That SAME ilk CLING to "the pursuit of happiness," and wrap themselves in the flag and Constitution, 100 percent ignoring "and justice for all," just as they ignore the FULL counsel of God!

Health and wealth types, when Jesus and Peter were broke, and these people were ~sick from ministering—Phil. 2:30; II Tim. 4:2; I Tim. 5:23 FALSE DOCTRINE, cozying up to political worldliness, CONTRARY to God! Even in saying never drink alcohol, when one of those verses said to, and it WASN'T un-fermented, or this verse makes NO sense: Eph. 5:18. That is an ABUSE of Christianity, for wealth and power idolatry SINS!

Update: Teacher Pay

EVERYONE wants a pay raise, or COLA increase, and EVERYONE would happily have lower taxes. If you're on the government dole, your pay raise comes as a result of higher taxes, or cut services. At least in business, such increases get paid for by increased sales. Should accounting be a required civics course?

Today, Rush Limbaugh said that NO executives can be over-paid because someone paid them. The concept of over-paid exists, as in when you pay too much for a product you could buy cheaper elsewhere (i.e., business gets over-paid), or an over-valued stock market corrects itself, as enthusiasm caused prices to be too high.

But, specifically, he argues the market bore that CEO and exec overpayment. But did it really, and fairly? If a human paid for them out of their own pocket, they wouldn't get that wage, but it's due to middle men (Board of Directors) spending OPM (shareholders' money), and schmoozy networking relationships, and this historic fact:

CEO salaries have risen from 30:1 in 1878 to between 286/256:1 now. That increase was NOT from inflation, or superior skills qualifications, but because the good 'ol boys club of cronyism, nepotism and insider elite circles ALLOWS the first few to get well over-paid, controlling the purse strings, then all others follow suit, claiming it's the 'going rate.'

OPM is the problem, just as with teacher wages... lawmakers decide their pay, competitive with the market, and pressures from voters on keeping taxes low. We saw, recently, when teachers informally unionize/organize, they can get better pay (Oklahoma, and a few East coast venues).

If a teacher wants the best pay for their services, move to these states (but also consider cost of living differences), or band together, and offer government pay cut areas for where to find the cash, without the slash in other services: <https://bit.ly/2PWVynD>

None other than conservative Ted Cruz ran in Texas for higher teacher pay, to get their vote. Conservatism is NOT for higher taxes, necessitated by higher cost of labor for government employees, among whom are public school teachers!

Rush called valuing teachers' work underpaid as subjective vs. objective, but NONE of these wages are objective (even though numbers are involved), because employers are indirect, using OPM! For example, you could never be 100 percent objective about paying too much for a product until you knew every venue where it could be had, to determine the lowest rate possible.

Likewise, employers usually use the statistical average for their area to determine what to offer, to be competitive (if labor is in demand), related to their standard- and cost of living in their area (i.e., going/market rate).

My simpler point is that executives are often WAY overpaid, NOT due to market forces, but ginning up what they can demand! Teachers have nowhere near such leverage, or cozy relations with lawmakers, who set their salaries, and executives get paid handsomely from profits stemming from the work of people they often do anything they can to lower their market value, by automation, over-immigration and over-outsourcing! People CAN be over-paid, CONTRARY to Rush's claim!

Limbaugh did, however, CORRECTLY say that teachers get stolen from from over-paid and too many bureaucracy administrators, and that teachers' jobs are worth more (i.e., to society, for their important function), but also that they know what they're getting into as to pay scale, when they start that career. Where the money comes from is the issue. Tax payers AREN'T direct employers on teacher salaries!

RULES OF THE ROAD
(& Other Social Morays)
(9/3/18)

When in Rome, do as the Romans do. That means you show respect, as the guest/visitor or newcomer, to your host country's rules, and good traditions! OF COURSE, if the Romans had human sacrifices, you do NOT participate! People coming to America NEED to obey our laws, especially on the road.

I'm constantly amazed at how people get driver's licenses, and forget what the mandatory courses taught. Are they bribing DPS officials (joke)? For instance, my wife and I on THREE occasions have witnessed people on MAJOR thoroughfares STOP the flow of traffic, for reasons NOT pertaining to a body, bison or car wreck in front of them. You simply do not do that here!

You may ask why I reference immigrants, rather than just bad American drivers. We've lived here nearly 60 years, and these changes have occurred in the past decade, more. Don't get 'P.C.' on me—it's tough learning all the rules in a new country!

I hear driving through red lights is happening more and more in Big H (Houston). We have our system for a reason! The ONLY time that would EVER be safe, is if there's absolutely NO CARS/vehicles anywhere in sight, and the lights seem broken, or one is certain no other human is within three blocks!

I don't know how people drive where you came from, and, frankly, it doesn't matter concerning obeying U.S. laws! Even native Americans/nationals can get lazy, or forget driver's course rules, or cease to care! I had to get out of my vehicle, after consistent honking failed, to get one guy to turn right, in the nearest lane—the ONLY one the law allows you to turn into. He wanted over three lanes.

I want a yacht! WHO CARES! That's NOT what the law allows, "sir!" He would have waited until the other two outermost lanes cleared, and it was drive time traffic. It's RUDE to the people behind you, selfish, and ILLEGAL

Learn the rules of the road, or perhaps government will need to require you take that test again, even if not as punishment for any traffic infraction, every set number of years.

And when you're driving, in a texting-obsessed culture, 'be aware of your surroundings,' and know the right-of-way laws! I nearly hit a gal backing out of a parking space, because she never looked both ways before engaging reverse. Governor Jindal said immigration without assimilation is an invasion. 100 percent true!

And a few other related cultural morays matters: "No shoes, no service" is a phrase Americans have known all last century! I saw a child in the mall, barefooted, yesterday. Mind you, it was a child, but the child has parents, and we don't do that here! Feet are smelly, and mall floors do not get buffed/polished every day.

I KNOW everyone knows feet are messy, because MANY cultures try to keep shoes OFF at the door of their homes (which is SMART—to protect your carpets from dirt and stains), but keep socks on, and even when I visited Cambodia, our government informed us never to let the citizens see the bottom of your shoe, as it was disrespectful.

I've been in gyms before, where people are barefoot, and you can smell a distinct odor in those places, because feet stink! They and underarms and butts naturally stink—that's what deodorant is made for, and daily baths/showers, and maybe even mouthwash.

This is the West, and we are a first-world nation you are coming to. We pride ourselves in the lifestyles people before us created for us. Don't ruin or blow it. It's a privilege to be here, that thousands risk their lives to be allowed into.

Bring what's good of the old world, but don't expect to make us into your image, but assimilate. YES, we speak English, and we vaccinate, go to school, obey traffic signals, mow our yards, don't kill wild animals at our homes (as one person did, slitting a goat in their garage!). Be civilized!

I can imagine in nations where motor scooters ride beside cars, as do oxen and pedestrians, things might be different (like Mexico City, and Phnom Penh), and I've heard legends about playing chicken at intersections, to see who's more bold, to gain right of way. We have thought through how we want our nation run, and we rejected such foolishness!

So, everyone, remember the rules; you don't have to be a stickler, like everyone only going the exact posted speed, or you're way out of line, but comply with our laws. You chose to come here for a reason. Every place has rules. Learn and follow them.

And one other rule of the road I'm hesitant to tell you, but it's true, nonetheless: If you drive 3 to 5 miles over what's posted, you will RARELY if ever get a speeding ticket. Texas is a BIG state; Americans are productive people. "Get some hitch in your get along." I'll leave you with that phrase, just as I started with one, for you to learn its meaning See our book, [Idioms for Immigrants].

P.S.: I once knew a man from Africa, who was humble, articulate, and personable. A few years into "Americanization," and he was sporting the fanciest of duds and shoes, and had abandoned all the values of his homeland regarding materialism, it seemed to me. DON'T DO THAT, coming to America!
#Corruption

America is NOT perfect! It's the best nation on the planet, but we also have many faults, and when you immigrate here, you would do us all a favor to point out our flaws, with grace, because subjectivism can blind people to problems, because they get used to it, and normalize it. That's BAD for America!

SAINT SEAN OR HANNITY THE HACK?

(10/15/17)

Political conservatism has positives and negatives. Pure conservatives, like Sean Hannity, are seeking to control where this country is going, because he has Chump's ear (like had Trump's Tyson Holyfield's), because Chump has no brain (to speak of) of his own. @DNC @TheDemocrats Even Limbaugh is getting surpassed by fake "loyal Catholic," Sean H.!

Catholicism does NOT fully support political conservatism! How do I know? Ask the Pope! To the degree that Scripture is adhered to (equal with tradition), I know political conservatism is NOT God's political ideal, any more than any other political philosophy! ONLY where any of them are good, vs. bad!

Sean Hannity touting his Catholicism is the height of arrogant hypocrisy! I used to listen to him, until his politics overtook his religion. He fancies himself to be Trump's brain (a role most kindergartners could fill). I'd debate him any day on political solutions, EVEN as God/the Bible sees it!

Protestants and Catholics can unite for political gains, but they are NOT united in several beliefs—one MAJOR and most important one! The minute you see the Pope backing Trump will truly be the day Hell freezes over, and Catholics need to understand why the Pope opposes political conservatism so often!

Via Sean Hannity, your religious organization is being wrongly associated with extreme political conservatism in the U.S.A., @Pontifex I suggest you might want to speak on this subject, as you are a far superior representative of Roman Catholic Christendom than Trump's talk show advisor!

We have exposed and exhorted Mr. Hannity to obey his religions true beliefs for a LONG time! We are NO Johnny come lately!...

Exhibit A:

If Sean Hannity read our book, being a Catholic, I think he'd see that common sense MUST rule D.C. in 20/20, and by God's grace it WILL! No party loyalists. (12/15/14)

Exhibit B:

#SeanHannity whines about being over-taxed. When you live in luxury greater than 90+ percent in America, you have NO ROOM to complain. Read the book Catholics say they believe! (5/13/14)

Exhibit C:

'All believers had everything in common, and no one was in need' is ALSO in the Bible, which you SELECTIVELY use against the Pope, Sean Hannity (and Lk. 12:48, @Pontifex) (5/10/14)

Exhibit D:

It's time to STOP insulting teachers with 'those who can do; those who can't teach,' Sean Hannity, concerning Obama. He was smart enough to be elected president (and was a law school Constitutional professor). (5/4/14)

Exhibit E:

THANKS, Sean Hannity, for using an "expletive" against Limbaugh's two times "B.S." (sounded out on air—unfiltered) in my two minutes tuning him in. Public vs. private. (3/31/14)

Exhibit F:

Sean Hannity wonders why the NAACP opposes conservatism. MOST people of any color don't get rich, and 'you're on your own' philosophy HURTS many blacks! (2/13/14)

Exhibit G:

Sean Hannity envisions Wal-Mart paying $17 an hour if taxes are lowered. What a DELUDED pipe dream, justifying his keeping ALL his excess! (2/22/13)

Exhibit H:

'Funny,' conservatives IGNORED the Obama aide's words about keeping on killing them, and ONLY focused on jobs for would-be terrorists. BIASED, logical fallacy, Hannity! (2/17/15)

We USED to waste the time keeping Hannity's facts straight. I have neither the interest nor the time, now: On that note, the Obama aide NEVER said go to armed ISIS members and offer them a job with U.S. taxpayer money, so shut the heck up FoxNews and Hannity. That's a logical fallacy! (2/18/15)

Exhibit I:

That's TRUE-INDIVIDUALLY. When decent jobs are scarce, Sean Hannity says just focus on you getting a job, not how all else will fare. Of course. (1/14/15)

More evidence we used to correct Hannity's alt-right biased pontifications: Hannity's denial that you're the party of the rich, or questioning how to define it is WEAK, and people see RIGHT THROUGH the myths! Money, guys, is what people NEED, NOT words! (1/31/15)

I was giving Chumps brain (Hannity) advice even before Chump had any cogent policies—if he has any to today: UNITE to DEMAND the GOP revise Obamacare, lower debt, NO amnesty, control borders, or you LOSE power @SeanHannity @RushLimbaugh @MarkLevinShow @GlennBeck (1/7/15)

And the associate becomes the executive! (i.e., the student becomes Sean's teacher): Sean's assistant had a WISER comment: Why not get rid of the two-party system, and vote for politicians not in it for themselves? Sorry, I don't know her name. (1/13/15)

Exhibit J:

Gingrich calling for ending the estate tax was another CRASS kissing up to big business money. The GOP is NOT the party of the rich? C'mon, what are you smokin', Hannity? (12/22/14)

We have been exposing political conservatism's immoral and dark underbelly for several years!: Common sense says that ending the minimum wage would HURT workers more than help a few workers in North Dakota's oil fields, Hannity and Gingrich! Duh 101. (12/19/14)

Exhibit K (even before "fake news" was used to describe their beliefs in lies): Sean Hannity ALWAYS depicts TRUE depictions of issues he disagrees with as "narratives." Can you handle the TRUTH, Sean. Political trick: Slam your enemies! (12/18/14)

Advised Sean on his politics and religion, before he influenced evil Chump for evil policies: Sean Hannity RIGHTFULLY said that most politicians in both parties are CORRUPT, and beholden to lobbyists more than 'We the people.' Folk are waking up. Wake up, America! (12/15/14)

Exhibit L:

Sean Hannity DENIED that the GOP is the party of the rich, citing a handful of rich Democrats in Congress. Logic? Idiocy! Their representatives can be rich, though favoring helping the poor. (12/14/14)

Exhibit M:

The Sean Hannity Show says releasing U.S. torture proof will cost us lives. "EVIL" government you disdain tells the TRUTH, and you attack it from your 100 percent BIAS. (12/9/14)

Pre-Black Lives Matter police brutality days:

Law and order conservative Hannity? Cops CAN over-do enforcement, but arguing against their enforcing the law, Sean? I'm NOT saying that didn't happen in New York City. (12/4/14)

Exhibit N:

New York taxes are too, which Sean Hannity calls "greedy," though no individual can ever be greedy under his "consistent" conservatism? Morals trump ideology! (12/4/14)

ALWAYS follow the money trail. ALWAYS (literally)!

FULLY DISCLOSE your total compensation, Hannity, Limbaugh, Levin, Savage, and THEN people will see why you're in the pocket of GOP conservatives more than American interests! (12/4/14)

Exhibit O:

Sean Hannity says wealth redistribution has HURT blacks more than the every man for himself economy he selfishly craves. Help the rich to help the poor? Practice what you preach, and what your religion teaches! (11/27/14)

My point is, if a Catholic applied their teachings to U.S. politics, they could not support either party 100 percent, including the belief in alt-right conservatism! Yet, Hannity does, because it's NOT based on religion, but political idolatry and bias.

SALEM'S SINS (NOT THE WITCH HUNTS!)

(9/9/16)

THIS IS IMPORTANT, politically! Sorry it's long... Salem Media Group is hosting its talk radio hosts in swing states to promote right-wing politics.

Let me expose for you how religion and politics get EVIL-ly mixed. I worked for that company in Houston. They WERE Wall Street.

In advertising sales we had to meet our numbers, no matter what. ALL that mattered was profits being achieved (even over morals).

We were TRAINED to LIE about the size of our audience! I questioned it, and opposed doing so. We were TAUGHT to bend our index finger and mock clients thinking we were some little outfit with a coat hanger quality antenna.

They had ONE room with a "fancy" circular wood table to impress visitors that we were high class. One gal told me privately that ratings numbers WERE available but we couldn't know them, as they were SMALL. We were to tout the loyalty of our clients! I brought them four of the MOST sophisticated clients they'd ever had, then quit.

We were also taught to say to clients, 'I'm not here to sell you anything—I just respect your company so much I wanted to meet you (then start to walk away). LIE for a Christian organization!?'

Then I moved to DFW and noticed "Salem Communication's" (its old name) local station didn't ever seem to address the need for Christians to tell people how to go to heaven.

I emailed the head dude there to complain, and here's EXACTLY, word-for-word, how he responded (name omitted to protect the GUILTY; 10/21-22/2013):

"Hi James, Thanks for reaching out. You raise an excellent point, one we have prayed about and thought about for years. The vast majority of our listeners come to us to hear uplifting and positive music with a message of hope through Christ. They don't come to us to evangelize on air or for us to encourage others to do so. We do that on our sister station, %$)@. I encourage you to listen to that station some if you're not familiar with it. The way we're able to reach such a vast audience with His message of redeeming hope is through the music. Thanks again and I hope this answers your question. Have a blessed week!"

The connection between the GOP and the church is somewhat the world within Christians—predominantly money interests! USING Christian naiveté for votes and profits, all couched "in Jesus' name." That's an outrage, and God's leaders NEED to wake up and be more INDEPENDENT!

PLEASE read my last 12 tweets, exposing right-wing use of the religious right in an immoral way for politics. Thanks. @CBS @NBC @ABC @FoxNews Politics—an immoral business!

Christian political-moral issues: Israel vs. Iran, religious freedom, separation church and state, poverty, justice, gay marriage, ~abortion; strong defense, anti-slavery/human trafficking, animal abuse, etc. We've given up on ~gambling, ~blue laws and ~divorce in past decades, with many LOSSES!

GOP vs. Dems is BASICALLY a money battle, USUALLY about welfare and taxes paying to help others, often poorer blacks. That's VERY simplified, but still basically true.

Why's Warren Buffett (a RICH, white man) a Democrat, if the GOP is the party of white males and WASPs? HE HAS A HEART AND MORAL CONVICTIONS IN HIS POLITICS! (i.e., a conscience).

Does that mean all conservatives are heartless? NO, but the RUSE that 'we'd rather help the poor voluntarily vs. by force' isn't sustainable for them, and tax returns would show if you're lying!

Conservatives DON'T argue for no taxes to be lowered so they can FREELY give much of it to the poor, and you know it. THAT aspect is selfishness seeking to be morally justified.

SEEING RED OVER VOTING BLUE

(6/1/18)

STILL mouthing the myth that Christians must be Republican! #Heresy @FHUnscripted
WATCH: "Look, President Trump is the most faith friendly President in history." -Robert Jeffress
<https://bit.ly/2kHuGXX>

Franklin Graham is on an EVANGELISTIC campaign in Cali. How he can't stay biblical about God's unbiasedness, or keep his trap shut about his political biases he brainwashes dumber Christians with is beyond me! The man CANT learn, even as he posts that his dad said evangelists should stick with evangelism.

If Jesus was here, in person, He would be neither 100 percent Democrat or 100 percent Republican, though you skirt the law by implying by CLEAR, unambiguous innuendos that "good Christians" should vote GOP. #ShameOnYou, @Franklin_Graham! Maybe one day you'll be like your great dad, vs. a political hack(?).

NO true Christian can follow God, and be 100 percent for either political party! They MUST be only for the moral positions from any source, and against the evil ones—from every source. This FACT eludes the "thinking" capability of MANY U.S. Christians, because they are NOT properly disciplined—or can't think.

I CAN'T imagine being a non-Christian invited to Robert Jeffress' church, or to hear a Franklin Graham crusade! They'd NATURALLY/rationally/legitimately expect the inviter was asking them to become a GOP, abortion activists, or to join a mega organization supporting over-paid ministers—NOT Heaven!

AS opposed to someone invited to Greg Laurie's church, or crusade! You might know how he votes, but his BIBLICAL evangelizing wouldn't make an overt association with his invitation and any other worthless-by-comparison associations to the here-and-now! JESUS never had such tainting in His ministry!

(II Cor. 5:16) Christians are to see all men as ONLY lost or saved, and the Gospel we are SUPPOSED to take to them has NOTHING to do with politics! NO evangelism message in the entire Bible addresses politics! Read that again. The aftermath/implications affect MORALS, which can then relate to politics.

So Democrats being for helping the poor, opposing animal and environmental abuse, opposing greed, being for justice are ANTI-Jesus in orientation, Franklin Graham? And God ONLY cares about abortions and homosexuality? #WOW And Jesus supports THIS?: <https://bit.ly/2jlYEOf> Bah humbug; HE DOES NOT!!!

When Bob Jeffress and Frank Graham involve politics in their religious labor, it is telling non-Christians that black and brown Christians aren't Christians, or aren't good Christians! NO Christian can serve God and vote straight party, unless they've evaluated and compared every candidate with their opponent, based on policies they are for and against, and their track-record for character (or lack thereof).

NO pastor will likely ever tell their church members this, but it's TRUE! In Texas, I'm for Beto and our governor—two separate parties. Beto will lose, but he's a better man than extremist Ted Cruz. Be for the best!

The Christian Cabal is telling EVERY American, their version of "God" is a God who cares NOTHING about anything but banning abortions and hating gays. That is NOT biblical Christianity! It's also telling poor people, deal with it, among MANY other bad messages having NOTHING to do with the Bible!

The Christian Cabal is FOR greed. There is NO other way any thinking lost person can interpret the political shenanigans of that wayward group! Jesse Duplantis is a PERFECT spokesperson for the group in 2020! Add Osteen and Creflo Dollar. Put your cards on the table; SHOW your hand! (Eph. 5:11)

God is white. Black Christians are sinning. The church is divided, and God's Bible stating we have unity is a LIE. THESE are the very clear messages the Christian Cabal are sending to a lost and Hell-bound world! You can't avoid making these statements by your ignorant and sinful words and deeds, sirs!

Forcing every American female to go to term is the ONLY issue above all others American politics should be involved with! The economy, ISIS, borders, law and order, education, debt, international trade, wars, poverty—those issues be danged, if abortions aren't banned. That's the Christian Cabal's message!

And if ANY Christian EVER says, or tells ME they oppose judicial activism or liberal judges, I'm going to ask them if they voted for tRump to get SCOTUS picks to stack SCOTUS conservatively, especially to overturn Roe, without doing the spade work of influencing or convincing public opinion to such ends!

Political conservatives want to force every pregnant woman to birth the baby, and if she's poor, or can't afford the child, want to ensure NO help comes her way to care for it, once it's birthed, except for the random kindness of strangers, through charity. RE-READ THIS if it's over your head the first time!

There's already ~100,000 babies waiting to be adopted. Conservatives want to glut the market—or tax system—to care for over-population births, more than working to keep people from unwanted pregnancies.

Christians who want to legally ban all abortions DON'T have the courage to say that in the public square (i.e., honesty and courage, vs. cowardice), but secretly support Chump to carry their water. Honesty and courage are two virtues they choose to sinfully ignore. That's why the Christian Cabal got organized!

SERMON TO U.S. PASTORS

(10/15-16/18)

THIS is common sense/logical/rational/practical, and FULLY biblical, but probably NO U.S. pastor has done it in the past 30 years since I've been clamoring for it, especially the past four, where the appeal went more national (mainly in 2014). It CANNOT be refuted; only willfully ignored:

1. Every human goes to Hell without Jesus.
2. No one knows when they'll die, or when Jesus will return (i.e., urgency is obvious).
3. The ONLY hope for any human is the Gospel.
4. The ONLY group responsible to take it to the world is Christians/the Church.
5. The EASIEST, least expensive and fastest way to do so is every pastor gets their members to evangelize ALL nearby lost people, ASAP (NOT evangelizing Christians, and NOT concerned if they've heard before... they NEED to re-hear, as time is of the essence). Every pastor do that, to the last lost person!

As it is, we invite people to church (which is NOT how God taught us to evangelize), and use mass media, vainly imagining that reaches any more than actually tune in (a GREAT medium, but ONLY reaching those who tune in).

NO pastor can prove all people in their neighborhood have heard, especially recently! Using the media REINFORCES ground troop efforts, but apart from direct human conversations, NO pastor can prove that no one has fallen through the eternal cracks.

I'm starting to believe I may be one of the few who see this problem, or need, and I can't understand why that is, except that they fear it will "turn off" potential visitors. To paraphrase a famous pastor, WHERE would loving, accurate evangelism turn them off to? They're already going to Hell.

It's church membership that these people fear turning them off to, with the un-commanded 10 percent tithe, in many, if not most cases. Otherwise, they would do this plan! Either that, or they DISbelieve the Bible. These are about the only two choices!

'Go and tell' is what we were commanded—NOT 'come and hear.' Go and tell, alone, can ensure that everyone is reached. Come and hear ONLY works for those who hear and come! Go and tell gets to everyone. I AM speaking to the wind! No one, to speak of, cares, within U.S. Christianity—only a remnant handful. That's NOT Gods way. REPENT, brethren!

SO WHAT if someone has heard before? Was it Spirit-powered and lead, was it recently, was it loving, was it accurate? Even if it was ALL those things, God NOWHERE promised that one shot is all they should ever be allowed! Research/statistics say that it takes SEVEN offerings for a positive response. You balk at ONE!

HOW do you know NONE of your neighbors will die before your church evangelizes them? Do you simply, subconsciously, believe there's a Purgatory, they reincarnate, or simply cease, with no Hell after death? Is Hell simply an imaginary figment of your belief system, U.S. pastors? No big danger/deal? No urgency?

Let's say you have 100 church members. Only a small percent will join the cause, on average. Let's say it's only 5 or 10. Map out every home or apartment within walking distance, and lead them in reaching those neighbors. IF you believe God, He can cause the other church members to warm up to your church, for having shown loving concern.

You feel they may never attend your church. Care more that they will certainly go to Hell without Christ, and know that they may attend your church, since someone reached out and showed them love, in a very cold, isolated and solo culture we're becoming.

If you REALLY believe God's word, He will bless you for such efforts. You care mainly about the church budget? Your budget gets paid as God supplies! WHY do things NOT His way? He supplies, usually, through people, and maturing people, and if you evangelize fully, there's a better chance that some of them might join, rather than status quo, where they're NOT attending much, anyway.

Even if they never attend your church, do you believe God will bless you for evangelizing them? GOD is the One Who supplies your need, and even if you have to work a secular job, as you also preach, that WASN'T beneath the Apostle Paul. Are you above him? No way, Jose.

Your priorities, focus and perspective are wrong! Hell can come any day, for your neighbors, as with the Tribulation's start. Go FULLY evangelize, #pastors!

I will NOT allow you to use the excuse that you'll feel sorry/remorse, for your incomplete action, in Heaven! IF you're going, you will see them across the gulf, and know that you failed them, eternally. Guilt felt as you read this message is fully earned and right! You have an opportunity which you're WILLFULLY rejecting, for sinful reasons!

There is not one reason, excuse, explanation or reply you can give me that doesn't involve sin, for NOT evangelizing every nearby lost person, ASAP. What farmer is MORE responsible for his own area of town than the field right outside his front door? Do you think evangelists will swoop into your neighborhood?

Do you believe God often saves people, absent an evangelizer? Do you think prayer alone substitutes for evangelism? If so, your thinking stinks. I could care less that it's NOT what your peers do (AKA it is not the norm).

Normal is sinful, and you obey God, not norms, or averages! Get off your lazy duff, and do your job! IF you believe it's too BIG a job, get out of the ministry! Jesus commanded His church to evangelize the whole world, and Jesus died for EVERY human. You're ONLY being told to do your minimal part!

HOW MANY YEARS have you been on staff, and left your field unthreshed/unattended? America hasn't been thoroughly harvested since the late 1970's... an entire generation down the eternal tubes, as to our doing our jobs, thoroughly.

IF you believe Christ ONLY died for certain people, HOW DO YOU KNOW which ones those were? You can't, so you have to reach them ALL! I'm READY for ANY and ALL excuses you may raise. So many of you will just ignore these words, instead. That's much easier than defending yourselves!

Is Hell not real enough? Not a long enough number of years? Not hot enough? Not harsh enough? You don't care enough, because you aren't going to Hell (i.e., selfishness sin, CONTRARY to being a disciple)?

Do you think God will save people even if they never trusted Christ? WHAT if you're wrong in that belief? What happens to the unreached lost? I could go on, but I choose to end this, and encourage your prayerful consideration of the souls just outside your stain-glassed walls. Thank you!

SIN CITY U.S.A.

(9/24/18)

The Kavanaugh problem is a LACK OF MORALITY IN POLITICS, on BOTH sides! Chump would replace him with a carbon copy, because EVIL people WON'T do morally, unless FORCED by law (Ex.: Stacking SCOTUS to your UN-just bias). I will be 100 percent for making MANY ethics laws, because politicians 'get away with murder' without them!

War has rules, mud wrestling has rules—politics has no rules. —Ross Perot

THIS is why America has been on the decline, and will continue to be... even PASTORS joined in the SIN-full fray, for power idolatry! NO one leads with morality, like D.C. politicians. Win-at-all- costs is the rule, as they hypocritically teach their kids that winning is not everything. Liars!

Concerning that past post, it is specifically referencing our MORAL decline. Our international decline is ONLY from Chump being in power, and our economic decline was from excessive globalism (i.e., over-immigration and over-outsourcing), and the fact that other nations are catching up, in part because they get college HERE, then leave (or some spy on our businesses).

NO insinuating what you don't have facts on (i.e., innuendos), NO 'anonymous sources have told me,' NO 'people are saying,' or 'I hear that' (i.e., ONLY use corroborated sources and stories), NO hiding content with lobbyists, ALL money given to a politician publicly revealed (i.e., all bribes exposed), NO bribes. PASS THESE, D.C.! YOU WON'T!

NO unjust religious unregistered lobbyist groups (Ex.: Fake evangelical views, absent any other religions), NO president lacking any intelligence or morals, NO politician profiting off their position (via stock secrets, or influencing business' success, by laws passed), NO insincere 'I'm quitting to spend more time with my family,' NO fear of using public lie detectors, NO slandering the good people in the FBI, CIA and DOJ, NO politician allowed to threaten shutting down any agency (for political votes gains; AKA Ted Cruz), NO statements made without an independent agency verifying it as a lie or truth, PUBLICLY, NO politician using statistics to cause laymen to have NO WAY to verify them, so they decide mainly by if they like the person, NO use of government shut downs to get your way, NO filibusters, NO closed door smoke-filled meetings (except for classified information), FULL transparency, 100 percent truthfulness from politicians. PASS THOSE AS LAWS!

NO kiss-ups, who praise evil so they keep their jobs, total independence of every politician from pressures to violate their conscience, NO dominating opponents when power is gained (dual ruling, favoring the winner), NO undoing everything your predecessor did (unless it was evil/wrong from start).

NO spending 24-7 news coverage on hearings, investigations and legal matters... GET SOMETHING DONE, YOU DAMN BOWL FULL OF FOOLS! NO media obsession with one man or woman, but Congress ACTUALLY working, and doing their job, the president vetoing or suggesting laws (vs. moronic dictator edicts). NO sin!

NO politician caught with his pants down, on the take, drunk or on drugs. NO shady deals, NO using any rules of order to scr_w your opponents (i.e., NO injustice), NO lack of productivity in D.C., NO voting yourselves raises (absent the public agreeing, as they pay for it all!), NO more politics as usual!

Fines or firings if politicians violate these rules too often (specify the number) or too seriously (in one incident). NO letting executives off the hook with white collar crime slaps on the wrist (Ex.: JAIL Wall Street bankers who ruined our economy in 2008), NO favoring the rich via laws passed, NO MORE ignoring our $22 trillion debt, and Social Security bleeding/depleting, NO MORE rhetoric allowed to go unquestioned by the media (like conservatism's talking points on lower taxes and regulations solving everything, without teaching that it's mainly for the rich, and at the expense of higher China debt), NO party line politicians, where the public has to choose between the lesser of two evils (Ex.: Ted Cruz vs. Beto O'Rourke; I'm NOT for EITHER of their sins, or evil policies! Give the people the ability to vote for policies!), NO MORE politicians (and evil pastors) acting as activists ONLY when election time approaches!, NO MORE religious advisers to any president, if only from one religion!

STACKING SCOTUS made illegal, nominating Justices because they're for your extreme made illegal, NO dog and pony shows/PR stunts, NO TV ads that pretend to represent many (vs. a few— Everything is by percents!, like Ted Cruz's Tim Lee ad), NO talk radio going unchallenged with their daily B.S. and bias. PASS THESE LAWS, D.C.!

People take the EASY route in their TV and radio habits! By so doing, people get brain-washed, if their media is stuck on a left or right biased station (like talk radio or FoxNews, or CNN). It should be illegal for anyone to NOT access opposing positions (even though unenforceable). America NEEDS revival, NOW!

Ted Cruz, in his moronic debate, as a CLAIMING 'Christian' (from my home church, no less, where Bisagno would have taught him otherwise) ONLY emphasized economic gain as why people should vote for him. Any government act that costs you money he opposes. GREED IS GOOD, to carnal (or fake?) Christians!

Here's Cruz's TRICK: Lower taxes WELL below what can sustain our federal budget, then blame Dems as 'wanting' to raise your taxes (i.e., they're EVIL to be fiscally responsible, says a "Christian?"). EVERYONE wants 'no money! It's the basest appeal for any politician to demonize politicians knowing that taxes are immorally low!

Ted Cruz LIKELY joined F.B.C. Houston for its public prominence! I doubt he even knew Bisagno, or heard many of his sermons. He just wanted out of his dad's Highway 6 smaller church, to advance his political aspirations! I was a member there in college, licensed there, and KNEW John. I ONLY left when we MOVED!

HERE is conservatism, 100 percent accurately described, but NOT in words they'll EVER use, because they sinfully mislead: Money is the number one value in life, and selfishness is good, and government ever doing anything to help citizens, if it costs money, is evil, even though private donations are never as much, or as consistent!

No one would EVER believe how much I HATE modern politics, and am ready and eager to turn it on its head, morally and intellectually! Vegas is NOT sin city... Washington D.C. is! If there were any venue more deserving of Gomorrah judgment, it is that hell-hole of biased, selfish power worshippers.

Obama spoke of shared power. I will rename it, but this is the need for D.C.: BOTH parties (and even others, like independents) have a say in what laws get passed. The losing party is NOT just ignored, or rolled over! WE THE PEOPLE pay their salaries, for a reason. Checks and balances, vs. dominating others, when you win!

As you can tell, I'm on a real tear against politicians, today. I am damn sick of waking up every day with sin in the headlines, because sin rules the actions of so many D.C. politicians! The evangelical council has ZERO positive influence in changing D.C. hearts for morality! They are complete failures, as that is NOT their aim! #REVIVAL

READ Exodus 18:21. Is THAT standard what the Christian Cabal has advocated for in D.C.? He-double L NO! They're as morally corrupt as everyone else that gets sucked into the vortex of that hell-hole city! NEVER believe them when they mouth "revival," as they're NOT role modeling it <https://bit.ly/2Odua4d>

"SIN" reigns in American politics, and SELF-APPOINTED religious, and so-called (i.e., in name ONLY) "leaders" embraced and endorsed it! This IS the Apostasy of Bible prophecy!... fall away Christians (as the book of Hebrews addresses). When PASTORS are for sin, what hope have laymen to see morals among elites? None!

WE THE PEOPLE will show they the ruling class what morality is and looks like! Be it activist pastors, politicians or CEO's and executives, WE demand them to live right, decide right, be moral and honest, and just, or just get the hell out of your cushy jobs! I, for one, am ready to kick all bums out! Sinners!

HERE is the blue print of where SIN took the throne of American politics: <https://bit.ly/2i6fnFa> America is under judgment, when its politicians and pastors are continually embracing sin/evil! #MarkMyWords I EXPECT another 9-11; I do not just fear it! REPENT, corrupt "leaders!"

God ALLOWS everything that occurs; He does NOT encourages it all! God's will has four aspects: What He wants to occur (Ex.: Jesus on the cross), allows to occur (Ex.: Hitler and tRump), doesn't want (Ex.: sin) and doesn't allow (Ex.: World War III, before the Tribulation). It is a LIE that God anointed 46-1 as president. God also allowed Hitler to reign! The IGNORANCE in some Christians! #WOW

MOST news stories come from SIN. Just read the Big Four's websites, today! If people would simply choose to behave "good" (imperfect, but NOT evil), our taxes would be lower, jails empty, problems LESS, and our lives would be better (ac. 3:26). It ALL goes back to you deciding to act morally right. WILL YOU, today, reader?

Good vs. evil is NOT hard to figure out! Adults LOVE to blur distinctions, to excuse and justify their 'crimes,' but God is NOT mocked, and EVERY human will be held accountable to God for all their deeds (Rom. 14:12)! Fear Him, and turn from evil, America. Revival is NOT coming, at this time, because you WON'T!

Crossing the border SHOULD be a crime, and ending ICE is asinine, @SenBetoORourke I'm FOR you, I'll be voting for you, but you should be 100 percent honest about your DUI, and run from the law, and fully transparent about any sins your opponent exposes, and have only common sense policies! NOT these two!

And saying you can't think of any better way to protest than to kneel at the national anthem? ADMIT you mis-spoke! @SenBetoORourke Admit when you sin, and make mistakes! Your evil opponent will surely POUNCE on every one of them, as that's the EVIL way politics is played, for now. Be 100 percent transparent!

I am ready and watching for God's judgment on America, STARTING with the sin empowerers labeled the "Evangelical Council." WATCH THEIR individual lives. I EXPECT harmful, bad things to uniquely befall especially the most outspoken among them! I'll be observing from afar, as I Pet. 4:17 is TRUE!

Jeffress, two Graham's, Falwell and Dobson. WATCH what occurs to these UN-Fab Five! God is NOT mocked, and men of the cloth posing as sheep, with wolf agendas and tactics (i.e., sin-to-win) will NOT go unpunished! No one has EVER heard any of them admit any sins or mistakes, being for all Chumps sins! REPENT!

Pastors and politicians... those are the first two groups for God's judgment. LOOK at the history of Israel (in the Old Testament). The people, like dumb sheep, follow their shepherds, and NO ONE can accuse D.C. politicians or the Christian Cabal members of leading the people into morality! Judg. 21:25 IS U.S.A., today! NO moral leaders!?

John McCain and Ronald Reagan WERE, but God saw fit to take them home. Unbiased politicians, wanting cooperation for GOOD policies, are unheard of, today. Was McCain a dying breed? Was it his generation? NO! WE THE PEOPLE can rise to live moral lives, and demand them of so-called leaders, or fire them!

Throw all bums out, pastors or politicians! @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin @PledgersARCHIVE @2020Victory @BuildBetterBiz @ProphecyForYou Facebook (Jim Meroney), AmericanAnswers.org_ (in November), WillYouLiveForever.org , ETC! #BelieveInbetter for our future! USA #1 #Revival!

And start by throwing out the BIGgest bum in D.C. on his bum, in 2020: <https://bit.ly/2i6fnFa>

'Revival': An improvement in the condition or strength of something. If anyone doesn't believe America needs moral improvement, starting with our politicians, and pastors who empower evil in the White House, you are a bona fide FOOL! American harmony is about at its lowest ebb, and CHUMP started all such modern expressions.

#Revival <https://bit.ly/2xCKZf9> You do NOT elect (as the nation's role model), a man of the ILK of CHUMP! We've had MLK, Reagan, Lincoln, Washington, JFK, Ford, Edison, Rockefeller, Gates, and MANY good (though imperfect) U.S. role models; You scraped the bottom of the barrel with 46-1! YOU!

READ the Old Testament! God OFTEN judged nations, especially Israel, when the majority went off the rails, morally! But when the shepherds went off the rails, there was NO hope to avoiding His wrath! With D.C. politicians, and the Christian Cabal, I fear we're in the latter category! #Judgment!

Deborah Ramirez is 'trying to tear down a good man?' WHY is NO one in the media pouncing on Chump knowing what a good man is, when it's NOT the type of man he's ever been? @ABC @CNN @CBS @NBC The allegations fit into what Trump routinely endorsed, because he's NOT a "good man!"

Let's address being a "good man." JESUS HIMSELF denied that HE was (Mk. 10:18, from humility—a good trait), though He clearly was. Goodness is relative, yet there are differences between behavior results! Gandhi, MLK and Mother Teresa were "good" in a category more than most of us!

Pastors are supposed to be "blameless" (I Tim. 3:2); NOT perfect, but no major sin allegations rightly made against them! Some scholars say the remaining traits listed there define "blameless," and if one is NOT so, some believe they should be ousted from their pulpits. I'm one of them. #Standards #Distinctions Between Hitler and Mother Teresa is a RANGE of human 'goodness' (Christ as 100 percent good). When Jeffress said 'we're all sinners,' that statement was a FOOLISH denial of this range! All humans are born sinners, but NOT all humans sin an equal amount or intensity, Bob! IDIOT understanding of a book he needs to understand more, before he speaks about its contents!

And James Dobson once cared about morality in the White House! Now, because of SIN and power idolatry and party loyalty bias, he has changed his tune. When a CLAIMING Christian has a moral position, they should NEVER vary from it, Jimmy! #WOW! <https://bit.ly/2OfMnuI> <https://bit.ly/2OfMnuI> #HYPOCRITE! NO stability!

If you listen carefully, some in the Christian Cabal TRY to be lawyers, and make distinctions about sins once in office vs. before in office, regarding Bill Clinton! NOT all distinctions have muster/gravitas, gentlemen. That is NOT a valid one! Even Bill's many sex sins don't compare to Chump's life history! PERIOD.

I'd like to nail princess Di; I walk in on nude Miss America contestants, serial adulterer and divorcee (NO WONDER Gingrich embraces him!), you can grab a woman's crotch when you're a (fake) celebrity, I can't say I respect women, Miss Piggy, Stormy Daniels, ~baby by a housekeeper, she's not a ten, with small breasts, etc.

I'm praying God SOON Judges D.J. tRump! May he make it so obvious that it came from His hand alone! He led me to pray this, two years ago, so Christian Cabal members who say some don't obey I Tim. 2:1-2 are LIARS; they just pray for opposite ends. Judgment needed and deserved, for the good of America!

LOOK at the results of God's judgment on a high-up politician (i.e., fear of God; Ac. 12:23-24). If there's anything lacking in the U.S. culture, especially among politicians and Christian Cabal sin-embracers, it's a lack of the reverence for God! ACTING like He overlooks everything, or doesn't see all. LIARS, "for Jesus?" Anathema!

And DON'T be deceived by Christians calling for "revival," when their ACTIONS/DEEDS show they embrace status quo sinfulness, like embracing and praising the most evil and dumbest president in my lifetime! The bible calls that lip service! (Mt. 15:8) #ChristianCabal HYPOCRITES; it's a sin (they may not know!?).

My eldest just SnapChatted a Baylor gal with both middle fingers in the air, posted on some account of hers, and he noted this is the condition of U.S. Christianity, so she blocked him. A chip off the old block! Even CLAIMERS of Christ DON'T care to live holy; just name the Name, and live in sin!

NOT goody-two-shoes, stoicism, legalism, holier-than-though but genuine, imperfect but striven for goodness. It will get no one to Heaven, though; John 3:16 (12/23/14)

Doing good gets NO ONE to Heaven, and I'm not advocating goody-two-shoes hyper morality. At least don't do major evil. Get along, then enjoy life, within reason. (2/8/15)

TAPING 46-1 is ONLY a way to verify/corroborate/get evidence! If CHUMP is doing or saying things he should not be, HOW can anyone outside the WH ever know it, without such? Rod Rosenstein did the HONORABLE thing, in offering to PROVE allegations. Thank you, sir! Hiding facts is SIN! (9/24/18)

SLIMY SALESMEN

(11/5/18)

I could teach a million sales tricks I've been told and taught, on sales! I've only known one honest salesman (my dad). If you ever meet one whose concerns are your interests over their own, I want to meet them! I am that type, if I ever sell, which I pray I never have to do for long.

Get people saying 'yes' to small commitments (i.e., trial closes). I worked for "Christian" Salem Communication's KKHT, and they taught us to lie about audience size, and mock any client preconceptions that we were some puny little station (which we were), by bending your index finger like a puny antenna, and denying that we knew the total audience size—though we did.

We were to brag on the "loyalty" of our listeners, like someone would be STUPID enough to get ripped off because an advertiser was on "Christian" radio! They bragged about dachshund races to get clients interested in our station. Hot dog races? HOW professional—NOT!; it was great entertainment for Houston listeners, apparently.

Use their first name, because it's sweet to them. You can ALWAYS call me "hey you" so long as you know my writings! I take ZERO offense! You were to speak to their personal interests, by observing things in their office, like pictures and trophies.

You want people to like and/or trust you. I guarantee you I'm good at in-person sales; I talked my way out of a ticket, Saturday! I have done so many, many times. One dude at KKHT would NOT let go of a handshake, and would rip saw you as he patted your back. He was missing a finger, so it was quite awkward! Sales techniques!

The manager told me to go to an executive, and say, "I've always admired your business, and just came here to shake your hand, and meet you in person" (i.e., lie). Lying 4 Jesus, at a Christian radio station in business for profits, and traded on Wall Street. Sound familiar with political conservatism?

Never offer clients to set a call back date—just say would _ or _ day be better for you? One real estate salesman always had clients in his office, so they'd be on his turf. It's a power move, as they're uncomfy in your environment. Ethical? He_l no.

One energy salesman bragged about how good he was at closing, then I listened in to him badger a lady with fast talk and technical details for 45 minutes! They claimed to be a Christian-oriented firm! We've got to start defining terms, folks, when you use Jesus name!

That same firm had a private meeting of three partners, forgetting that I was watching from home, and you listen in... their main concern was maximizing profit margin on deals we claim are best for the client. Let me remind you, the owner said Jesus is very important to me... said that to get me to join. I only trained with them, then left. Words didn't match deeds.

Never take 'NO' for an answer. Enjoy rejection, as it's just clients' way of making you earn your pay. No—some people really don't give a cr_p about the crud you're selling! There are entire books on sales techniques.

A new technique is schmoozing friends and family! I believe you NEVER mix business with pleasure, but some people say get buddies to buy from or refer you, and you do the same for them. This is incestual! It's NOT the deal or honesty or skills that matter—just wine-and-dine fools to be loyal, from friendship!

I learned last week that it takes seven calls for every one warm lead. I'd HAPPILY call seven strangers, as engage business with anyone I know, in case anything goes south, as relationships are more important than business!

I care about people because they're people—NOT because you can make money off them! That training session was a waste of an hour for me.

I've done TONS of evangelism. Speaking to strangers is a joy, to me. Our culture is moving away from it, but everyone is a stranger to you if they're not relatives, or you didn't grow up together, so you have a very limited pool of people to sell to if you rely on contacts as targets. Grow a pair and cold call.

One energy firm had you lie that we had done business together in the past—at least spoken. You pick the brains of a low-level employee concerning their energy contract details, then use that data to impress Mr. Big wig that you know all about him, and pretend you have spoken before. This is a "Christian" firm, folks, by claim.

Ever heard the phrase, 'he who asks the questions controls?' I want to control NO ONE. I want to offer people the best deal I can find for them, or if they buy for any other reasons, I consider them bad business people!

You are to believe in what you sell, and be excited about it. HOW can you believe in something the math spreadsheet gurus create, and you're not sure what they give you for the client is in their best interest? Energy broker companies always have margin, and like to steer you to who pays them the fastest and the most! They'll NEVER tell the business owner that!

They even teach us to say our services are free! Bull honkey! NO ONE works for free. I had one Houston business owner chew me out for not introducing myself. With such a high rejection rate, I was just trying to phone as many as possible, by cutting straight to the chase! You can't make everyone happy.

And only state the positives! Never tell any negatives, or catches. And sell the sizzle. I'm nauseous thinking about sales, but if I hold my nose for a few short months, I can get out of the business! Treat everyone like they're the most important person you've ever met. Ask them how their business and sales are doing.

Get them talking. One salesman told me he literally looks people in the eye, and puts a hand on their shoulder, to show empathy. These are TECHNIQUES, folks! Sincerity, honesty and accuracy need no technique.

Every time a client states an objection, thank them, and turn it into a positive. In other words, ignore what they're saying, and shove your wares down their throats, if they're not interested. Fear and doubt are also taught, though such are from Satan. A rent car guy asked me if I was sure I wanted no insurance coverage, Saturday. You say, "it's only" $___ amount. EVERYTHING is only $___ amount!

Say 'it sells itself.' Guarantee things, then disclaim them in fine print. Always push urgency, cause you got to be paid! Nag them into a sale. Show up so many times they have mercy on you. ALL these tricks are taught in that business I want so little to do with. It's an act. Put on a costume, and play the part.

SOCIALISM, ANTI-SOCIALISM & CAPITALISM

(8/31/18)

Note: This message is given as a sample of what you will find in our book, Wit and Wisdom: You Can't Speak About Politics or Religion!, which is based on our foundational book, Dumb as a Donkey, Fat as an Elephant: Using Common Sense to Find Common ground for the Common Good! Many simpler chapters can be found in both texts, as well (and all our chapters are written as plainly as possible)!

Let's get down to the nitty gritty... U.S. Capitalism vs. Socialism: What things should taxpayers be forced to buy for others? THAT is the key issue between the two political parties! 45.3% of Americans PAY NO TAXES. <https://bit.ly/2PTxH5q> Yet, they can vote for politicians who vote for policies that spend taxpayer money; its legal, but it's NOT moral.

Given the selfish nature of human nature, any voter voting ONLY in self-interest will ALWAYS vote to keep all their stuff (if they're rich), or take stuff from others (if they're poor)! Government CAN'T be run that way! #Irresponsible! #Immoral

ONLY necessities society NEEDS should be force-paid by taxes! NOT luxuries, or even creature comforts. Why should a rich person pay for a lifestyle of a person struggling, who is NOT their employee or family member? And don't be confused... government paying them is the SAME as taxpayers paying them, as government has no money!

At the same time, when the rich RUIN the poor's financial lives, to get themselves rich, THEY DO OWE! They cause the poor's need! EVERY act business does is to get the cheapest costs! Labor is one of their largest budget items, as with facilities. Importing labor and exporting jobs is the rich HURTING the poor. So they DO OWE!

But all this sounds quite ethereal/cerebral/irrelevant with a $22 TRILLION national debt! Uncle Sam is dead broke! I heard about Texas oil companies seeking ~$12 billion for levies to protect oil refineries from hurricane damage caused by global warming that their product primarily causes! I know people in Houston are on cloud 9 about plans to take NASA beyond cloud 9, but EVERYTHING COSTS MONEY!

The BEST question you can EVER ask any politician is "how are you 'gonna pay for that?" Free lunches are free because someone else paid for it! Let's be point blank: Besides the fact that I support a minimum Welfare, for the truly needy, I OPPOSE handouts, without required civic service, in token exchange, and I recommend poor people in America do ALL of the following to make your financial lives better (and government at all levels, churches, individuals, businesses and charities assisting in training these skills): Budget, learn to shop/buy cheaply, organize buyers co-ops (for buying power to leverage down prices), grow your own garden, get better skills (a GED, or college education—try study@apu.com, for starters!), learn to access free things, share car rides, 'DIY' (i.e., do it yourself), work two jobs, share daycare with your neighbors, and learn to be content.

Of all people, the rich can most afford to help, and most benefit from hurting your wages (Ex.: robots will soon replace the least-skilled, so you have got to get more and/or better skills, even if you didn't do well in school!). Research needs to be conducted to discover how people—American people—get motivated, and how to get people smarter who are academically slower!

At the same time, EVIL is a person who only gets rich, and cares nothing about anyone else, with some of her/his excess! 1040 forms publicly revealed would show you where the rubber hits the road, of alt-righters who hate charity by power of the public purse (i.e., taxes), vs. free-willed. Giving Pledgers REALLY understand why God allowed them to be rich—NOT to just pamper themselves with golden toilet bowls!

EVERYTHING costs money! It's easy to argue what government should do, when you're not the one paying for it, or working the federal budget-crunching numbers! $22 trillion debt, and climbing! Our government MUST do more with less! Cutbacks are essential, even as voters clamor for government to do more.

WHO has money to have more things done? The rich, and successful businesses! That's IT. Is it so evil to ask those entities to do a little more, when they reap the best fruits of this life? No, alt-righters. WHO ELSE can? But only for necessary things, and not to the point that they're bumped into the middle class, obviously.

Alt-righters will argue they earned it; it's their personal property. True. But the public has a say in what its government spends, and taxes should be fair. IS IT FAIR some people demand government do things they have no skin in the game to pay for? No. Is it fair that many rich people pay a lower tax percent than their secretaries? No way, Jose! FIX it!

It's NICE that some people give to charity. My family uses it mainly as a way to get rid of our outdated, unwanted, or excess has-been stuff. Honestly, we don't have a lot to give others, as we live paycheck to paycheck, as the majority in U.S.A. do! The rich, and businesses are the ONLY sources to have more things done in society.

One exception: If you use the Wal-Mart business model of sell a lot for a little, vs. the Neiman Marcus model of sell a little for a lot, you can get quite a stash of cash having many individuals donate a little.

But we have to prioritize! With $22 trillion in debt, why is America so horrible with budgeting? We are too needy or greedy, in wanting more than we can afford! #Consumerism NO other nation has such a disproportionate debt, and it makes China our slave masters!

Conservatives believe if government reduces taxes to very low, the Treasury will pay down our debt. Let's examine that NOT fully true claim: Money bags get cut, to give tax rebates mainly to the rich (who don't need mo' money), who mainly invest it, to get richer.

Yes, their increased capital gains taxes bring money to the feds, but nowhere near as much as the chunk returned to them, in every case. First, the feds have NO MONEY to give back ($22 trillion debt). It gets BORROWED, at interest.

If the rich used that bundle to help society and workers, and grow their companies (vs. robotize, layoff, automate, and give themselves bonuses, to go along with their personal investment gains), at least the idea has a little merit. But they don't, always.

And the conservative theory ASSUMES economies grow only when the rich are incentivized to spend (vs. hoard) their excess. That's NOT 100 percent true! It grows by productivity increases, better offerings, opening up new markets, increased efficiencies, lesser costs for better quality, risk-taking and innovation, as well.

HOW do I end this one, when I'm tired of the topic? Poor: Work as hard as you possibly can, and do quality work! Middle class: Do the same. Rich: Also do the same, and be a little more generous, lest government have to raise your taxes, to counter evil selfishness, greed and hoarding. In short, be better people, U.S. voters!

(Judg. 17:6, 21:25) Selfishness will ultimately destroy America! Everyone doing their own desires, and lacking moral leadership, guidance, boundaries. #RevivalNeeded

TALK RADIO TRASH TALK

(4/25/18)

I'm monitoring talk radio a bit more, recently, to see how my fellow Christians get politically brain-washed. A common theme is Democrats are atheists and God-haters, and atheists are BAD. Jesus says love and evangelize them—NOT treat them as foes and enemies to be mocked and scorned. PREACH THAT, U.S. pastors. Will you? UN-likely!

And any lost person is Satan's VICTIM (II Cor. 4:4). Talk radio FOOLishly treats them as villains. Talk radio should NOT be able to opine on the Bible if they are untrained in the subject! It's a MISrepresentation of Christianity, and they are smearing God's reputation, following the Devil! #Idiocy

The 81 percent of WASPs who backed the stupidest, least-prepared and most evil campaign in our generation (i.e., Chump) are EXACTLY the carnal Christian problem my FREE website has been warning U.S. pastors about for about a decade—proof of known statistics! <https://bit.ly/2vPvWQG>

Last night, Mark Levin said government's job is to expand liberty, and that wealth redistribution takes your freedoms away. Conservatives want NO tax money to help anyone one ounce! And government's job is NOT to expand or restrict freedom, but to be a minister for good, vs. evil (Rom. 13). Idiot statements, left unrebutted by the media!

Talk radio makes listeners believe every Welfare recipient is living in luxury, doing NO work, and is fully able to work, and often implies most of them are black. This one policy issue is the number one division maker in America, and it's from lack of facts that it's allowed to continue to be such! #TalkRadio

To talk radio listeners, AM channels stay on the same two or three stations all day, and they TRULY believe everyone who's NOT a political conservative is evil, and they label them all as liberal-tending, and the word 'liberal' means Satanic, in their SMALL minds. Education is the prescription for ignorance!

The alt-right mantra of 'fake news' is ONLY political hacks hacking into the decades-old terms from Hannity and/or Limbaugh of lamestream media and drive-by media (as if they do hit-and-run shooting-like reporting), and DUMB bumper stickers all over Texas, reading I don't believe the mainstream media.

Any Christian who fully buys into talk radio positions is a FOOL—NOT a fool for Christ! (I Cor. 4:10) They ACT like NBC, CBS and ABC lie, full-time. There are LAWS against them doing so, and retractions rarely happen, as they're rarely needed. You are buying into Jim Jones cultism; DON'T NAME JESUS for yourself!

If you listen to talk radio, their positions are NEVER wrong, and Dem's positions always are. Everything Trump ever says or does is great—or a minor mistake, if negative. They are a cult. Yesterday, one said that any 'ism' is a religion; that's an IDIOTIC statement! Religions require a god or gods. They're often just leading sheep off a cliff.

Talk radio WANTS its duped listeners to think Chump's ONLY problem is a biased media, and his tweets, and wants them to think that any bad things about him are laughable, or entertainment from an outsider to politics. NO future GOP will ever be held to the non-existent standard they hold him to. #HYPOCRITES!

EVERYTHING Chump does concerning big policies is to keep his Christian base (like the Iran deal withdrawal threats), and try to appeal to voter blocs he's weak on (like a poverty initiative). It's ALL about self, OPPOSITE of a disciple, yet claimers of Christ support such arrogant self-worship! Apostasy, heresy and carnality!

Does no one see that Chump ONLY threatens others, including other nations, on economics and nuclear deals, and has NO negotiation skills, despite his LIE claims? Does anyone notice Chump is a FULL-TIME flip-flopper? We're 'gonna get outa Syria; no, we're not; yes, we will, someday soon, etc. Worst vs. 'best brain!'

And the way Chump threw Nikki Haley under the bus for telling the truth is also a result of his flip-flop, irrational and impulsive, NON-EXISTENT grasp of issues, or ability to plan and know right actions! Anyone he associates with is a mere pawn for his selfish ambitions—a sin, Christians. #SinToWin

I have the best words; I have a great brain; I'm a master negotiator; I'm a stable genius. No one holds Chump accountable for his miserable failure to live up to the B.S. hype of his B.S. campaign! DO YOU READ THESE THINGS ANYWHERE ELSE? If so, please DM me, so I can learn of them; please do me that favor.

And people actually believe if you start a crisis, then try to end it, you've achieved something, like Kim Jong Un is a smart cookie, then rocket man, then current state potential resolutions due to China and South Korea, via the Olympic moment. And Chump always takes credit—the pride sin. Are we blind?

I met a claiming Christian Trumpster, who bragged about less regulations, and his middle class tax cut. Those ideas were here, first, WELL before Chump. But we said the rich should pay for them, and Chump's tax rebate increases debt—a value conservatives have abandoned (i.e., fiscal responsibility), and he laughed, 'I like my rebate.'

When I said that makes debt $22 trillion, and your grandkids have to pay it off/down, and China should cut off the U.S., and you're selfish to just care about a measly raise off the Uncle Sam U hate, he got quiet, then spoke of JFK, to compare with Chump's porn star(s) sex. He is a follower, here. I say what I say, with NO concerns.

It's ALL about political idolatry of conservative THEORY—a sin (i.e., idolatry), and power lust (a sin), all by claiming Christians. If your religion doesn't affect your life—in REAL life—it's WORTHLESS! #MoralsMatter If conservatism is 100 percent moral, you're right; if not, you're wrong. Hint: You're wrong, but you don't care!

Which, leads us full circle to my original point, that between 70-90 percent of U.S. 'Christians' are NOT fully committed to Jesus. How that carnality manifests is in sin, and a lack of concern for morality; NOT goody-two-shoes moralism (Ecc. 7:16), but genuine conscience-following. Idolatry TRUMPS that!

P.S.: I know not one person who thinks they aren't over-taxed. They fear if they admit the truth, government will take more. It's now a badge of pride to complain that your taxes are too high, especially in conservative circles. No one knows one thing about the fed's budget, or debt realities, or they simply don't care. That's selfishness!

TAX DODGERS & DESPISERS

(10/8/18)

MOST people DON'T ever feel they have enough money (perhaps until they have $500,000 or more, as a nest egg), so why would they EVER want to pay more in taxes? Just pawn that off on the rich. Clamor about climate change, and for government to do things, but NEVER send me a bill. That attitude DOESN'T work. DO THE MATH.

Since NO ONE wants to pay more in taxes, even the rich, maybe government needs to start doing programs for profit.

Is God for low or high taxes? (Rom. 13) The Bible does NOT say, but in general moral terms, God is for generosity with money, against stinginess/frugality, against wastefulness with money, and for reasonable decisions. These truths about virtue would have to lead any faithful Christian to conclude that NEITHER extremes on taxes are God's way!

~47 percent of Americans pay little-to-no taxes. EVERYONE needs skin in the game, and if they can't pay, they pay by sweat equity, known as compulsory civic service. And no one should EVER pay less than their tax bracket requires, by slick tricks! It's natural not to want to pay taxes, but NOT noble.

Many people who vote Democrat pay little in taxes, and want government to do things that cost money, which means many GOP's pay for them. That sounds unfair, until you go visit the lifestyles of the lower 50 percent! It is NOT right that some Americans live so impoverished, and they're NOT all lazy bums! GO VISIT, and see for yourself.

It's NATURAL to NOT want to pay taxes, but LOOK what Jesus said about doing everything that comes naturally (Hint: He did NOT commend it as good): Mt. 5:46 The RIGHT question is not are taxes too high or too low, but how high MUST they be to pay the feds' streamlined bills? Someone has to pay down our collective debt!

This article is retweeted for its historical factuality of who pays what in taxes. I have NEVER changed my 100 percent admiration of Mitt Romney, and probably never will! #GoodMan Romney: The Little People Don't Pay Taxes <https://bit.ly/2C4ZgV7>

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF CONSERVATISM

(10/16/18)

These are the ten commandments of talk radio conservatism (and how they present all other views):

1. Low taxes/small government vs. high taxes and BIG government
2. Few regulations vs. kill business with regulations
3. Guns vs. gun-grabbers
4. National defense vs. weak appeasers
5. Economy and business vs. make work projects and bailouts
6. Property and inheritance rights vs. theft and government power grabs
7. Law and order vs. crimes and criminals
8. Religion and traditional values vs. immorality
9. Fiscal responsibility vs. government waste
10. Patriotism, military and the cops vs. America haters

CAN'T you see it's black and white extremes, NEVER identifying in-between views? How their commands get warped are as follows, in order:

1. National debt (from taxes too low and spending too much)
2. Consumers harmed
3. Guns in the wrong hands
4. Hawkish meddling, and over-spending
5. Trickle-down economics (i.e., pee on the little guy)
6. Never bless society with any of your wealth (taxes, "death tax," etc.)
7. Over-punishing criminals
8. Demonize Democrats
9. No programs to help people, and,
10. Worship U.S. exceptionalism (Ex.: the 'ugly American' attitude of me first, and never acknowledging any sins by our cops or military)

THE AMERICAN DREAM

(11/11/18)

The Bible never contradicts itself—only bad interpretations of itself! If God teaches one thing on money, and culture teaches something else, the Christian is to opt for the former! MANY Christians say it is NOT a sin to be rich. It can be! People who say such things often want to be rich, and feel good about themselves, morally, for such a desire!

LOOK at what the Bible says, and rip these verses out if you choose to treat them as if they're UNtrue: Pv. 23:5 Do not chase money. MOST Americans DO (including Christians), because what else are you to be doing with your life? God says having wealth is NOT what life is all about (Lk. 12:15), to which MANY American Christians cling to ONE verse that SEEMS to say the opposite—Ecc. 10:19. However, that great wise man used MUCH sarcasm, and had quite the jaded tone, in much of that book! Verse 10 shows he's making life observations, like verse 19 shows that feasts are for merriment. Almost all of life's interactions involve money!

But what priority and value is it to play? Mt. 6:24 God is to be a higher pursuit, and the purpose of life is not wealth accumulation, but will of God achievement! Adam had all he ever needed living with God in the garden, and only had one negative commandment to obey—which he didn't (i.e., don't eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil).

God didn't create or want mankind to experientially know sin! Yet he (and she—Eve) did, so we do too. God warns that people who WANT to be rich pierce themselves with pains, like sticking daggers into their bodies (I Tim. 6:9).

Do you want to be rich? Would you agree to enter a knife-ridden torture chamber? YES!, for the right amount of money, because Americans are taught to love money—the sin of the love of money! (Heb. 13:5)

Weren't Abraham, David and even King Solomon himself rich? YES, but by their standards—nowhere near massive millionaires—and not by pursuing gold, but God, avidly.

So if being rich isn't the be all end all of life, what is? DOING God's will (I Jn. 2:15-17). The lusts of the eyes (i.e., all you see, walking by sight), flesh (sex, natural urges/cravings) and the pride that comes with it, part and parcel, God calls worldliness, and contrasts with the one doing God's plan for their life.

Well what if God's plan is for me to be rich like Abe, Dave and Solomon? Then as an AFTERTHOUGHT, it will come/happen, as you pursue the first things! Mt. 6 (espec. v. 33) Seek ye first God's kingdom and His righteousness!

So God wants me pursuing His agenda before my own (i.e., like a disciple)? Absolutely. And He even says seek holiness more than happiness/pursuit of the American Dream (riches)? Absolutely, again. READ THE TEXT!

American Christians DON'T want to hear this, so they DONT hear this often, as pastors DON'T want to offend and turn off paying parishioners! Some do teach it—NOT the majority!

So you're saying that despite the fact that I work 40 or more hours a week, and get paid for doing so, my life is NOT to be geared around that pursuit? I'm saying that pursuit is to be engaged around doing God's will! You are to do that pursuit as unto God, and with all your heart—Col. 3:23-24.

Let's get VERY specific. The activities God has you on this earth to do, which weigh heavier than your career aspirations and achievements, are the following: Seeking God (daily quiet time of prayer and Bible study), His kingdom (i.e., doing things to make this world more like He would have it) and His righteousness (i.e., personal holiness).

The Bible already has said and told you for greater than 3,000 years that wisdom and a good reputation are greater than wealth! (Pv. 3:14, 8:19, 16:16, 22:1) The fact that these are new concepts to you isn't because they're new concepts! Reading that holy book just hasn't been a practice for you; these facts have been there all along!

So wisdom and a good reputation trump riches. How do you get them? Reading the Good Book (wisdom), and doing the Good Book (good reputation). And WHEN you do, you'll quickly discover not only how to live holy and pursue God's kingdom (Mt. 6:33), you'll also learn that the things which SHOULD occupy your life more than wealth lust are: Getting others into heaven, getting yourself to act like Jesus, serving others using supernatural abilities, and cleaning up our world, for the good of mankind, or as our websites' acronym describes these priorities... EDBS (i.e., evangelism, discipleship, body life and social ministry).

If anyone has NOT learned from living life the past three years, our country is YUGELY divided, angry and getting more violent every day! Our nation used to be one nation under God, indivisible. We must return to the things that made us great, for we are more often returning to Civil War days' divisiveness and animosity (and so-called "leaders" lead people to where they are to go—NOT downhill to where we are now! Duh 101).

Revival is what America needs (II Chr. 7:14—a command written to Jews, but which, by analogy, Christians are to apply).

And HERE is EXACTLY what America as a whole is given as the prescription to our problems (from the great John Bisagno): Rev. 2:4... 'Remember, repent and return.' Like a wayward bride (or groom), remember the good old days, repent of the sins that led you to drifting, and return to the dating practices that made the relationship great!

MOST of us over age 20 recall a day when mass shootings weren't common, terrorists weren't harming our people or structures, greed was not as rampant (as in the yuppie 80's), 'ask not what your country can do for you' was a noble quote, eradicating poverty was an aspiration (vs. just saying 'get a job'), our debt wasn't $22 trillion.

Dems and GOPs worked across the aisle, Congress actually passed laws, presidents were respectable and "presidential," workers got paid a decent wage, climate change hadn't been identified, yet, and the moral fiber of America was not as caustic and tense as it is today.

What's the remedy? REMEMBER those times, repent of the sins which have led us astray, and start living a simpler life that embodies the good characteristics of an earlier day!

Remember, repent and return, America, for if we seek and receive not revival, there will be no survival! Thank you.

THE BIBLE, ABORTION & HOMOSEXUALITY

(12/10/18)

In light of the Heisman winner, and Kevin Hart cancelling the Oscars M.C.'ing, what's a biblical position on homosexuality? Love and respect for all people, as equals (created in God's image) is always in order (Pv. 10:12; I Cor. 16:14, et al).

The old adage, 'love the sinner, hate the sin' applies to all sins and people—NOT singling out particular sins to condemn people for. Where the Bible calls sodomy an abomination/sin, it is one of about 20 listed. Conservatives usually only camp out on one in that list! (Levit. 18; Rom. 1) NO sin sends anyone to Hell, but rejecting free salvation in Jesus (Mk. 8:28-30)

Beyond those Bible basics, we've often made the following life observations: Many, if not most people FEEL sexually inclined, from whenever that starts, and it is not so much a conscious choice they make one day; whether gay marriage had remained a state's right issue (as I argued for, Constitutionally, based on prior precedent, though I also warned pastors that public change of sentiment CAN influence SCOTUS' decision on what the law should be, as it DID), gay people would still have long-term relationships, no matter what the law said, and people opposing them could NOT stop that!

And we argued that there's much sexual preoccupation with what goes on behind closed doors, when people opposing sodomy are often divorcees, sometimes adulterers, certainly fornicators (before marriage), in many cases, and humility is always in order when you point out others' deeds.

Discrimination in employment and housing (etc.) was always stated as wrong, as with using derogatory slurs, or harming gays (as people did in my high school, with buckshot from shotguns, in Montrose, Houston, by their claims—whether they did in reality, or not).

We also were avidly for all civil union rights being contractually allowed, which would be the equivalent to gay marriage, just not mixing a religious status with the legal. All that having been said, Obergefell is the law of the land, and we have vehemently argued that it should not be overturned by stacking SCOTUS; it's now precedent.

And for entertainment purposes, we have used two rhymes, to argue our case for pastors to vocalize to SCOTUS that nationalizing the issue ought not be thought a slam dunk (which many of them did, Mar., 2015). People may find those rhymes emotionally offensive, but they are true, and to keep readers' interest!

You cannot expect anyone to enjoy anyone claiming what they do is wrong (like I speed and sometimes cuss), but I 100 percent welcome people pointing that out, as I know those are shortcomings to work on (though speed laws' intentions are a matter of driving safe vs. dangerous, and my urgency is Eph. 5:15, and Texas is a BIG state, with much territory to cover, with many slowpokes in the left lane).

Finally, we have consistently argued that "conversion therapy" is a FARSE! You get saved so you don't go to Hell, and it guarantees NOTHING concerning future deeds changing automatically. Such "therapy" is often psychological abuse.

So if and when our prior posts about this subject are brought up, they will already be in this free book, and we keep them in context, explain the entertaining nature of two of them, and we apologize if anyone was offended (though we will never call anything God says is NOT holy, holy, including any sin you can list, like cussing).

My opinion on the matter, and even what God says on it, are 100 percent irrelevant to law-making and politics, unless there were any law any politician would propose that covers this topic, and I am opposed to seeking to overturn Obergefell, and I oppose any and all proposed laws which might seek to treat anyone as inferior, unjustly, or to discriminate against anyone in any form, so it is quite a moot point.

And while we're at it, we have consistently said that abortion for last minute Larry and poor-planning Penelope contraception IS killing a child-in-process, but at the same time, people will choose to do so, and government has a Constitutional duty to keep women safe, vs. bleeding out in back alley self-help!

We have suggested that education and technology can keep abortions low, especially using the Morning-After pill/Plan B within 72 hours, if you had unprotected/unsafe sex, and didn't plan to be a mom as a result.

We were one of the first to call for people to WATCH abortion videos, to know what they're choosing, and to label our position 'pro-abortion' or 'pro-death' is incorrect!

We also argued if Roe were ever overturned, red states would likely have to pay women's costs to get the procedure elsewhere, for Equal Protection purposes, and we've pointed out the hypocrisy of people clamoring against abortion in political seasons, how killed fetuses go to heaven, and how if one truly believes it's murder, they'd tackle women at Planned Parenthood, and shoot abortion doctors (which NO ONE should do, as it's NOT right to do), proving the hypocrisy of their rhetoric that it's murder, as you can kill an armed robber trying to kill you, legally).

Finally, we argued that common ground is found in safe sex practices, planning your romantic interludes, birth control that's perfect (as a needed innovation), and no one thinking that killing a fetus is a good thing to do (or celebrate), though sometimes chosen. We also addressed the three exceptions for abortion!

So if or when anyone ever asks us about these two issues, and try to pin us down to a 'yes' or 'no' answer (i.e., controlling with questions), we will now simply refer them to this chapter, because I won't let anyone paint our views any other way than the way they are in fact! That's a political trick.

THE BIBLE, THE CHRISTIAN CABAL & MYSELF

(12/10/18)

I'm VERY disappointed to hear Levi Lusko (on the radio) say it's good when a nation rejoices that their leader, Cyrus, followed God (AS IF Chump does that one iota. or the nation's majority isn't AGAINST him and NOT rejoicing!), but then rightly say that you don't follow any leaders—political or religious—only God. If Trump is how you follow God, how do you follow the Devil?

I just confirmed my strong suspicions that some (very few) pastors are two-faced, ride the fence, want things both ways (Mt. 11:17), take no moral stands (just follow every whim and wind), and have NO conscience about playing both sides, for power idolatry—whatever advances their own kingdom. Protest time!

I've NEVER known one pastor who would free-willedly deceive, lie, misrepresent, spin, delude, engage false images of their positions, double talk, appear to be one way, to protect their harmed reputation, but I've just verified there are these types in the ministry—hopefully a handful or less!

I've said for YEARS that there is a qualitative difference between pastors! MOST laymen think if a church is BIG, the head dude must be holy, or at least a great speaker. If only you knew the man behind the Wizard of Oz illusion. I've met a few, behind the scenes! READ our website's stories!

John the Baptist took a moral stand against a politician's evil deeds. The Christian Cabal simply said 'let's pray for' the [Saudi] clown prince. God is ONLY for justice; the Christian Cabal is for favoring Israel. ALL thinking Americans know Chump is evil and ignorant. The Christian Cabal thinks God 'anointed' him. AMAZING delusions!

THE way you get evil politicians to continue their evil is to empower them, with NO rebukes—just appease and kiss up, as yes men for political access and power idolatry. If any person thinks the Christian Cabal has any credibility to speak on morals, you need your head examined! They may have had it, three years ago, and before, but not now!

There's ONE reason I've NEVER taken one tweet, paragraph, page or chapter out of this book, even as circumstances changed, positive and negative, by people we write about here. WE TELL THE TRUTH, even if our opinions of people change with their behaviors, positive or negative! That's consistency and objectivity!

In two years, we have NEVER wavered that for any Christian to support THIS, you and I do NOT share the same experience of the same God!: <https://bit.ly/2jIYEOf> That evidence is so DISqualifying, NOTHING could ever make it O.K.! You put your foot down on immorality, IF you're a Christian. There are lines below which no one can cross, and get away with it. 'You have what you tolerate.'

Chump COULD have a criminal justice bill that's excellent, but people know his motive is to woo minorities that he's for them, when he has shown many proofs otherwise. For him, EVERYthing is for votes. The Christian Cabal may say it's about justice in public policy, but they've been used and played by him SO often (and they sure didn't care about justice on a balanced Supreme Court or Israeli policy)!

Has anyone noticed that Chump's criminal justice initiative came out the month @FHunscripted had his get-out-the-vote meetings in Lynchburg, VA and Dallas, TX, to counter the Christian Cabal's lobbying tasks? Chump is trying to secure the black vote, in case there are any of them dumb enough to fall for that ploy/trick for votes; feigned concern for justice (he's NEVER mentioned until now).

Chump is reactionary, and always looking for ways to advance self to any voter bloc/group. That is his ONLY M.O. He has ZERO vision for where to lead us, just insult enemies, counter any Democrat initiatives, fire any disloyal (non-worshipping) staffers, promote those who praise him, and pass policies if votes can be had for him!

Because TODAY we know the Christian Cabal is resurrecting the Cyrus ruse, let's address that in detailed specifics: God generally ordains all people in power, which means He ALLOWS them to rule. He even allowed Hitler. God does NOT anoint evil people, so saying DJT was such was a LIE. Then the Cabal claimed he was a 'baby Christian,' so IGNORANT Christians would open up to voting for him, to overturn Roe, by unjustly stacking SCOTUS to the right (i.e., politicizing the judiciary—what conservatives slander liberals for doing). Chump ONLY wants WASP votes. He cares NOTHING about Jesus or morality! That Cabal CAN'T see that, from power idolatry.

Commented [H1]:

God CAN use evil politicians, but NOWHERE does He tell His people to support them! And pastors acting as political lobbyists MUST obey lobbying regulations/rules, often violate the Johnson Amendment, and are NOT representing ALL religions, per our Constitution. It's the ultimate sell-out for secular power idolatry! (Jn. 18:36)

And Daniel earned his move into government advising by his wisdom—NOT brokering power promising Jewish votes in exchange for SCOTUS justices, to overturn Roe! Chump didn't pick the Christian Cabal for their knowledge or wisdom, but as leaders of BIG churches, meaning many white voters are in their churches! Daniel is NOT analogous, one iota!

Any pastor too proud to admit they made a mistake has an ego/arrogance problem that very well could be ministry disqualifying, biblically! The Christian Cabal doubles down that backing DJT was a godly decision, to save unborn babies. That NARROW focus ignores all the evils that came with that ill-fated choice of theirs.

It's NO WONDER we disagree with the Christian Cabal on Lordship Salvation, tithing, EDBS priorities, relational evangelism, servant evangelism, church planting, 'may I pray for you' evangelism, and backing Chump. We use Bible VERSES for our positions. They can't; just clever theological-sounding words!

Their latest ploy is to implement OUR ideas, so when we criticized their inaction, they can now point to 'proof' they do those things (i.e., after the fact). They will FAIL to tell you they did so to 'C.Y.A.' from our criticisms. They even steal some of our policy ideas, so they don't look as bad at playing politics. C.Y.A. and P.R.!

Apparently, the cherry on top of ministry fame is getting gigs with FoxNews. I would consider that a FAILure, if media outlets used you to stir up votes for your biased, far-right rhetoric and views, all in the supposed name of Jesus! The more media exposure, the more members and money seems to be the business plan (i.e., FREE advertising)!

Band together with famous last names, to claim to be 'leaders' of the American WASP church. WHO said they were such? THEMSELVES! That's called being self-appointed; NOT God-raised, sovereignly! It's P.R... do events and publicity stunts to get the media to cover you, so laymen think of you as a Christian "leader." Jesus led by SERVING!

Jesus NEVER sought out publicity; He even ran from it until His appointed time/hour! The Christian Cabal chases cameras, and Christian TV and radio gigs. They even have a speaking circuit, with lucrative book deals. Louie Gohmert is WELL aware of the system, and its perks. His drawl/twang would never get him used as much, to speak to the media, otherwise.

Here's the big plan; You get secular talk radio (mainly Hannity), Christian talk radio (SALEM Communications), CBN, Baptist TV shows and newspapers, and TBN to air your proffered 'leaders'; you get Falwell and Graham last names involved, to remind older WASPs of their fathers! Name recognition makes one qualified?

You write for FoxNews, and get air time, and write articles for Christian magazines. It's all an attempt to get Christian laymen to do what you recommend... vote for Chump. You ally BIG mega churches in your electronic Rolodex, to speak at each other's church, and hand out voter guides slanted far right, billed as objective.

You do the National Day of Prayer, CPAC, presidential forums, organize people to surround Chump (the Christian Cabal), and do EXACTLY what every far right talk radio DJ does... spin EVERYTHING positive, if it's for the GOP and Chump. You ignore ALL negatives, sins, stupid statements and policies. Bias/favoritism; SIN-to-win!

You become lap dogs to the evil dictator, thinking you're getting your way on Roe, when you're getting played, and your reputation sinks into the toilet, for such antics, with the people who need to hear the Gospel from moral leaders, the most! The payoff MUST be great, in fame and fortune. I wouldn't know, because I don't sell my soul!

Our free book, Christians for Trump: Is God a Democrat or a Republican? gives all the names, dates, detailed strategies and history of the Christian Cabal. Look for it on Christmas day, at AmericanAnswers.org. This bunch WILL resurrect soon, I'm sure, as power seems to be a narcotic.

There are MANY speeches/messages on a range of issues, including innovation, business, politics and religion, in Christians for Trump (book), as samples of what our three political books are about; a sample teaser that has become much more, as a credentials foundation for a coming campaign.

Two-faced is the face of the devil! Deception is a sin. Misleading and riding the fence is NOT moral leadership. Playing both sides, with no stance for morality, is NOT leading. Supporting evil and stupidity is never commendable. These are the values of the "Christian" (in name only) Cabal.

It ALL goes to how committed Christians are to God's morals! Friendships, emotions, habits, traditions of voting for one party all your life are NEVER as important as taking a stand for doing right and rational things! Sadly, the Christian Cabal DOESN'T do that, and are experts at spinning evil positive! (Isa. 5:20)

Finally, the sheer number of Bible verses I've listed, here, the past four years, all directly relevant to what we're writing, and NEVER looked up on Google without an awareness of their existence (except in two instances I noted), OUGHT to speak volumes in our views, vs. those of the Bible-deficient Christian Cabal.

If anything we've ever written DOESN'T comply or comport with the Bible, disregard it! But if it DOES, you need to heed it. DON'T accept any person's words for God, because they're in professional ministry, but ONLY if they match the Bible! If you don't know IT, you can easily be taken advantage of! (Ac. 17:11; I Jn. 4:1)

We have literally SHOWN you, to the Nth degree, the details of where ministers claiming Jesus are WRONG on many matters, and DON'T know their Bibles excellently. Years in service don't equate to mastery of the Bible, if time in it has been minimal. The proof is in being able to use it well, and accurately!

If someone tells you that Chump was God's will for Christians, and another says he was the Devil's choice (though NOT saying Hillary was God's will), one of them is WRONG! God doesn't say two different things! The ONLY moral choice was voting none of the above, and having a GOP Congress keep HRC extremes in check.

JUST AS you can't say Heaven is a free gift you receive by faith alone, or it's something you get if you do a U-turn, fully surrender, and trust Jesus. BOTH these instances show you there are two different spirits out there representing Jesus, and ONLY one can be the real deal, biblically (Gal. 1:8) Test the spirits!

JUST AS a 10 percent tithe is either required of all Christians, or it is not. It can't be both! God can lead one to a conviction to tithe, but to say it's mandatory for every Christian is NOT the same as saying to give what God leads you to give. There are two distinct spirits claiming to be representing God!

TEST EVERYTHING by the Bible alone! If anyone can EVER show me any tweet I've posted, claiming it to be biblical, that is not, I will retract and recant it. Warning: It has taken well over 40 years of study to know what I do, so just because someone has a seminary degree, and is a pastor proves NOTHING! I have both of those 'qualifications,' too!

READ II Cor. 11. Paul was challenged by FALSE prophets claiming to be his intellectual equals on God and the Bible (i.e., apostolic authority), and his character. He felt the need to refute such men. Put both claims next to your Bible to see which one matches it most closely. I have NO concern about how that will work out!

And the FACT that the Christian Cabal has imitated us, and used our materials on MANY occasions, when I have NOT ONCE adopted anything they espoused, regarding politics or morality, should give one with a working brain cells a good sense of who even they believe more accurately defends his views with the Bible.

Update: "Christian" Community Organizer
(12/11/18)

Referents: <https://bit.ly/2QGJZ15> <https://bit.ly/2Fpibfs>

I apologize to the world for the deluded ignorance and warped "thinking" of CLAIMING "Christians," who think God had anything to do with wanting tRump in power! They HAD to invent some rationale, as they wanted Roe overturned, at all costs. They do NOT represent God! Don't equate the two.

With those two prior articles, and our message on the Christian Cabal [ABOVE], OUR last book Is nearing 1,400 pages. I can't wait for that group to be roasted, there, but especially in public debates I'm open to anytime, anyplace. Their "thinking" is SO EASY to refute. Power is NOT in numbers, but Bible accuracy—truth! #WOW

The Stereotypical Dumb Christian... I'm NO LONGER going to assume U.S. Christians know what I think they do; I'm just 'gonna tell them what they need to/must know... MANY lost Americans think us to be dumb and naive. That wouldn't be a problem if it weren't so often TRUE!

We'd expect the Devil to hate us because we are a threat to his kingdom, but ~95 percent of us are NO threat at all, as you can't get someone saved if your life depended on it, because you haven't got good evangelism skills, or, more often, you don't try. Active Christians are a threat, as they keep more people out of the Devil's Hell.

MOST Christians in the U.S.A. are evangelistically passive; they pawn that task off onto professionals, OPPOSITE to God (Eph. 4). You see pastors as maharaji gurus who do all the spiritual thinking for you. You just sit in the pew and soak it all up/in. That's VERY dangerous and foolish and sinful (I Jn. 2:27). Those behind pulpits do NOT always know what they're talking about, especially on politics!

A COLLEGE PRESIDENT, no less (i.e., not even a minister), believes you'll fall for a movie saying DJT is in the role as King Cyrus of old! Because we're so LAZY, we won't READ the Bible, so he spends thousands of parents' tuition dollars to pretend he's a Hollywood director. And another one takes to Air 1 to WARP their '59 seconds of hope' segment to say the same LIE!

These people in the Christian Cabal have been doing these antics since 2015, starting with bringing nearly all of their ilk to my family's church, to organize and speak there (as well as recruiting politicians—yours truly).

Are you really that gullible? (Pv. 14:15-17) In MANY cases we EARN the reputation of the 'dumb Christian,' like we have the 'Ugly American' syndrome, because it is, in part, based in some truth! You DIS-honor God when you love Him only with your heart (i.e., emotions), with an empty-head! (Lk. 10:27)

This Christian Cabal saying DJT is Cyrus is speaking with a forked tongue—the Devil's tongue—JUST LIKE the Devil's children in Lk. 7:32; they say Chump is a "baby Christian," then that he's unsaved/non-Christian Cyrus. YOU CAN'T HAVE IT BOTH WAYS, dumber folks!

Even HE said he was a Christian, though he had never asked God's forgiveness for anything. Being a Christian is asking God to forgive EVERYthing—the exact OPPOSITE of Chump's claim, before the Christian Cabal of old white men got hold of him, to market his candidacy as 'baby Christian.' HOW does one go from being a Christian, and revert backwards to being a baby one a year later? Can a man again enter his mother's womb? (Jn. 3:4) That's the WRONG direction, folks!

These are marketing ploys, and you are the dumb consumers who buy B.S. and lies (if you do), NOT helping God's reputation in society, but bringing Christ down! You are NEVER to do that, because causing any person to stumble over Jesus brings bloody guilt to your account, before God, as you're keeping them Hell-bound, and out of Heaven!

Better for a millstone to be hung around your neck! (Lk. 17:1-6+); GUILTY as charged, but because you follow gurus, and most if not all of what you know of God's Bible comes through them, on Sunday, you FEEL pacified that you're doing right, and humbly being submissive to your pastor's authority. You are NOT! You are harming Christ's cause, for which you will be held accountable on Judgment Day, if not before!

CAN you see or make distinctions? The Devil comes as an angel of light, meaning he's NOT 'gonna wear red and have horns and a pitch fork! He deceives by close knock-offs of the real deal! It's words that sound biblical that harm you the most, when they're NOT biblical!

The Christian Cabal TALKS a good game about God choosing Chump. THEY maneuvered enough WASP voters to get a win. That's ALL there is to it, my beloved Christian brethren! Our FREE book tells all the gory details and dates and actors. There was no sovereign anointing of Chump; there were behind-the-scenes brokering conversations about delivering the white Christian vote in exchange for far right SCOTUS justices!

If I had a mind to, I could link you to the sermon where, two weeks prior, one of their main organizers called DJT's campaign "nonsense," only 1.5 weeks later to tell ABC news that he could 'champion' tRump!

You, as Christian laymen, have an obligation—a DUTY—to hold your self-claimed 'leaders' accountable for these moral failures and flip-flops! Instead, you go along with and buy into their lies that they're 'leading,' or being practical. God does NOT command His people to compromise ethics to win!

They did precisely that! Sin to win; win at all costs; the end justifies the means; might makes right. ALL these phrases even a U.S. kindergartner KNOWs are morally wrong, but you—Christian layman—ALLOW the Cabal to do exactly that! You are guilty before God as complicit co-conspirators, by naively sinning in this way!

The best friend of the Cabal Organizer used to head up First Baptist Dallas (where Jeffress is), and he preached at my family's church, that 'you have what you tolerate.' His BFF does NOT even heed his BFF's sermon! How ethical is that, as a claimed "leader" of Christians? Your own best buddy, and you ignore his sermon? They have a Twitter post together, bragging on their lifelong friendship, in the past two weeks.

This is where EMOTIONS and friendship bonds BLIND people to morality and obeying God! I used to work for two real estate moguls in Houston. They KNEW how powerful emotional ties were, vs. rationality, so one of them (a money idolater who got rewarded with a deaconship, as OFTEN happens in the WASP church) would give expensive gifts to try to secure listings, and would have a team of service providers he'd have a flier promoting, so clients would tend to use them.

That's the power of friendships, schmoozing, networking (i.e., the good 'ol boy system). DON'T believe every hire in America is the best-qualified candidate! Even University of Phoenix used to have TV ads where one candidate shaved his head to look like the boss, and one wore University of Phoenix socks he flashed while sitting down, foot over the other knee at the boss' desk.

This is how IRRATIONAL and subjective decisions are made, often, in the business world. You think fraternities are just about drinking and raping girls, if you're a Baylor president of one of them? They want friendships with job-connected frat brothers, so they hire within the frat! This is the UN-just system politicians allow to be legal, which should NOT be!

I've even attended networking seminars (though I have NEVER engaged that corrupt process), which rationalized it as an easy way to cut through a pile of resumes, because if John, who we like, recommends his friend who is like him, most likely he'll work like his friend.

How is anyone NOT in that ilk of wine-and-diners able to compete, if they have BETTER skills? This ALL ties back to the Christian Cabal, because they are ministry peers! And I've learned, the past four years, NOTHING—morality or truth—ever weighs heavier than that collegial unity!

You can educate them on how they are doing church UN-biblically, and you will be slandered with phrases I have an entire chapter listing and refuting.

It DOESN'T matter! You're barking up the wrong tree, like John the Baptist speaking to reeds in the wind in the wilderness. They LIKE the industry they've built, via the Church Growth Movement and BIG Box merger-and-acquisition transition of the 80's, which brought mega church, then multi-site, because more bench warmers means more chances at more money!

I am literally saying that anyone who thinks this way, in their hearts (never with their mouths) is a Balaam false prophet! The biblical preacher does God's job description, and trusts Him to supply what He will. So these types ORGANIZED to get Chump elected! The bigger the church, the more they got targeted for the Cabal's antics! This ilk of pastor berated Obama as a 'community organizer,' through their talk radio heroes their tweets PROVE they listen to regularly! THEY ARE Christian community organizers!

Do you hear them making that factual claim as derogatory? No, I'm sure in secret they pat themselves on the back for electing Chump, while all the world sees that as a Big FAILURE! It's from the Devil's delusion, when you get stars in your eyes about accessing the White House.

WHO GIVES A DA_N about going to the White House, when Chump is its resident occupant? It's disgraceful, but they think it a feather in their career caps! NOT all pastors think like this, but few will call them out, due to unwritten rules of 'professional courtesy!'

(Jn. 16:2; II Th. 2:3, 11) It's called 'delusion,' and it's a sin! Power idolatry; politics as God. That's how they so quickly LOST their moral compass, and their way! It's like an alcoholic finds an abandoned truck full of cold beers—they go crazy with the opportunity afforded them!

The Good Book already warned us that as prophecy approaches, Christians will fall away from the faith, near the time a grand delusion will sweep across the earth, for men to believe lies. Do you know any voters who regularly do that? These are prophecy signs, folks!

And EXPECT the Cabal to be very active the next two years—NOT in church so much as outside it! Watch where they travel, what they post, what they say and do. It's a corruption to American democracy, and I would NEVER have anything to do with their ilk, even though most of them were heroes of mine four years back, and before. Sin lusts for power have warped their morals! It's a sad shame, and tremendous fall from grace!

But they actually believe they're doing God's will, deludedly! They probably believe they can bring about prophecy, and I HOPE they do, for their judgment will be even swifter if they succeed! They actually believe they are political policy experts! It's hilarious, were is not so tragic!

Almost every one of them came to my family's church in 2014-15, and I never knew why, until summer 2016, when their organization was revealed. I knew they had come recruiting, but I never imagined they'd have such grand plans to control a WEAK president, desperate for someone to vote for him, because after all this: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> NO ONE in their right mind would!

So a deal got struck to trade WASP votes for Roe's overturn. Probably Mar.-July, 2016, but announced July 23rd, or so. The organizing started Mar. 23, 2015, in public, however further back it took to plan the events which followed.

This is a lobbying group, but much more than that, with a weak-minded man in the Oval Office, for they send Johnny Moore (who wrote about ISIS, and spoke at my family's church) to be their Southern Baptist spokesman to the media.

This group even gives radio or TV jobs to political Christian opponents, like Albert Moehler (i.e., one minute radio devotional spots), who criticized Chump and/or their activities. I'm certain they've paid off 2-3 others. HOW can you know? READ Christian people who told the TRUTH about Chump in 2016, and see what they say now! If the tune has changed a lot, so have the incentives!

We had a church seminar where their speaking circuit was revealed, using the Benton Brothers as Exhibit A of what this group can do for your career, if the "evil" media destroys your life if you say anything negative about homosexuality. I can link you to the event, if you ever doubt anything I say here!

You would NOT believe the three sermons I could add to my book, where the blatant innuendos were flying in support of our political words, here, but then they will flip, because Chump has them under his thumb, and he can watch their services live, or on tape, or TV and radio. Complete moral 180's, all the time!; Schizophrenic!

I quit noting the sermons, but in the past four months, or so, the Headmaster mentioned $150 million, and one year of work with no vacations, as what he believes a president can make. When I tweeted that I felt led to go forward in church, if an invitation were offered, and not ginned up, the man who baptized my three kids did the sermon, and mentioned the music being so good you could choke up—as they watched me do during the song on revival, when I couldn't sing the words.

I had also posted that John Bisagno knew what I was considering, when I shook his hands, a year or more before he died, so that speaker shook my hand at the end of the service, when I went forward. You can watch these Saturday night sermons for yourself. I'm done documenting their links.

In another recent sermon, the Headmaster said the tithe was for the Levite's pay, as we've battled over its applicability for a decade plus. And he said to the crowd—online, on TV, and in the building—we need to follow the guy who has been leading us this long, knowing our tweets had guided many VIP's—CONSISTENTLY—especially in Washington, ever since tRump was first starting to screw things up.

When I recently mentioned an encouraging radio spot about victory belonging to the Lord when you're patient, suddenly, yesterday, Levi Lusko (who is in their camp, and spoke at my family's church 2-3 times in the time-frame I discussed) mentions king Cyrus! These men want power access, at all moral costs!

I may have to dig up those three sermons, where the crowd CHEERED when Bible illustrations told of the benefits of waiting for things (when I said the Lord was leading me to run later than most would have advised), and where they said 'follow him, but even more so Jesus' (with which I agree).

How about the two sermons giving statistics on Christian failure in America, when I posted I wish I had updated figures for my website, also in a sermon on Quiet Time, which is precisely prompted by that chapter in that same said website?

Just three weeks ago, Headmaster wrote a FoxNews article on our subject warning against materialism (applied by him, at Christmas), followed by the second in command speaking at my home church in Houston, about his hills/mountain book, the day after I climbed a mountain three times, then the third in command preached that Quiet Time sermon to us—the guy who met with me and said I was banned from all Sunday School classes.

THIS is the skitzo type 'support' you get, three weeks later, citing Cyrus, and is why Headmaster is so often NOT in town or in the pulpit! They also had a sermon saying you go with what's offered, until something better is offered. Headmaster has known of our materials since Nov., 2014—LIAR with NO principles!

Then I hear The Organizer on the radio saying don't spread around your tithe, so I rail against tithing, here, and he starts the Lusko radio spots about Cyrus, two weeks later! They have NO moral convictions that last, or are stable! You tick them off with truth, and they flip-flop.

They flip-flopped from Jeb to Cruz to Chump. That's pragmatic expediency, but it's also having NO backbone for putting your foot down and saying enough's enough with all the wilful sinning of the Chump campaign, thus EMPOWERING IT!

The ONLY reason Chump will tone it down in 2020 is backlash from voters threatening his stint—if not impeachment (and midterm results). It is NOT from the Christian Cabal reproving their "baby Christian!"

They are SO POOR at discipling, NO ONE would honestly say Chump has been a morally better man since they entered his life! They'll claim that's not their job, but it IS before God! And on policy, we've detailed how they earn a D or D- for their many failures. Why mess with ~~success~~ failure? They'll regroup and re-try!

It's all due to EGO/pride. It used to be about Roe, but they got Kavanaugh. Now it's about making sure what I'm writing to you doesn't get known—FACTS! When I once posted FACTS about their Organizer, I got called into church to write and sign a contract to never mention that church online, or never return!

The Organizer watched here, nearly every day (or had staffers report what they read) from Nov. 11, 2014 (give or take a day or two) until the present, to see if I'd breach that contract! It's control freak behavior. Censorship of what YOU get to learn about the "image" they project on stage!

If you learn on TripAdvisor, the TRUTH behind the scenes, they ban the author who presents those facts to you! They also use software, or companies to SEO the positive stories about their business to the only Google search page anyone ever reads/lands on, I'm sure, as well as have members write glowing reviews to drown out what we posted on TripAdvisor (though I later deleted it, as they did make some changes to their church practice).

I guess you can tell, overnight, I've decided if I attend church with my wife and family, ear plugs or tuning out will be needed, and if they enforce the contract, it's worth never being with my family at church! I've made that decision in my heart, before God.

I love the music, the second in command is a decent dude, but because he stands to inherit a BIG salary, he NEVER confronts Headmaster's many sinful ploys! That's NOT leadership! I'll happily visit three other churches if I get kicked out.

Shane Williams (a Jimmy Neutron movie contributor) said he would record me if they kicked me out, and would 'always have my back;' then he left the church, so so much for that promise (though I'm sure he'd come record it, as I Facebooked him, recently)!

There is corruption in the WASP church! That's my only point! I've documented and detailed it here, so many times, and given you all the Bible verses you'd ever need to understand the problem. Now, what are you (and they) 'gonna do about it? I KNOW what the Cabal is 'gonna do, as their egos cant admit failure. What's your choice, Christian laymen?

Note to The Christian Community Organizer: If you ever want out of the pressure cooker you put yourself in, you put yourself in it by your power idolatry sin and ego! The flip-flops, and moral compromises are just the price you have to pay in consequences for a BAD decision from the start! I can't help you; pray!

Update: Levi Lusko's Lie?

When I just told my wife what the Christian Cabal is doing concerning Chump and Cyrus comparisons, she said, "that's embarrassing!" Maybe they'll kick HER out for so thinking, and I can finally get my family out of there? Don't count on it; she and my daughter provide them MUCH free labor! #Business (Mt. 21:12)

If you tithe 10 percent, or if you don't, whatever you give at church SHOULD go to support evangelists in the 10/40 Window, instead! THAT would get pastors interested in evangelizing the MOST NEEDY area of the world! Earmark what you give to that area!

Paul assigned money by greatest needs (II Cor. 8:14). HOW would you penetrate the 10/40 window with the Gospel? The Christian Cabal has Chump's ear... do private plane leaflet drops of Gospel tracts in Arabic! They won't shoot down planes if America is behind them. Praying for Saudi Clown Prince was NOT evangelizing the 10/40 window—a BLOWN opportunity!

There are MANY other methods for "foreign missions strategies" at our spiritual website. You certainly do NOT unwisely go alone in violent areas, as this guy did (NOT a martyr, but a well-meaning naive man): <https://bit.ly/2EcAovI> You can argue that those who have never heard get judged by THIS standard (Rom. 2:14), but that conclusion is not clear enough that you can rely on it, and those who COULD HAVE reached them, and didn't, are guilty of the blood of all who go to Hell as a result, because they didn't do what they could!

Even the great martyr, Jim Elliot, was UN-wise NOT to have carried a gun for protection! He should have kept it in his plane. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jim_Elliot You DON'T want to scare the natives that you don't come in peace.

The internet is another way the 10/40 window can be breached, as with evangelizing people from there who are in the U.S., presently. Some people smuggle Bibles into nations where it is outlawed, but it's risky, as you've got to know who will NOT snitch you to the government!

The underground church in China is a GREAT way some U.S. pastors support evangelism where it's illegal! Those lovely people have NOTHING to do with undermining their government! Godly Christians make government's job easier as ~Johnny Moore said. Less law-breaking!

You have a choice to make, today, U.S. Christian (Josh. 24:15). Follow men who support evil and have to stretch for one Bible example for their cause, or truth espoused from all over the Bible, repeatedly, for four years straight. WHICH spirit aligns with God's word more often and most accurately? Follow God!

It is NOT easy to be led of Him, against an onslaught of rich, well-known big church pastors, but the coined phrase, 'one plus God is a majority' is still true! They have staff to assist; we have a budget of zero, and staff of one. Yet, I'd say, God has supported us, and given us victory QUITE well and often!

I'd NOT join the Christian Cabal's cause, or seek any of their opinions on anything, for a million bucks! I have protested their antics and schemes six+ times, and am now on my seventh, over the Cyrus analogy resurrection. PLEASE KICK MY FAMILY OUT OF YOUR CORRUPTED CHURCH! They WONT leave those amenities, or their friends!

The Christian Cabal TRIED to emulate the Moral Majority of Reagan's day, but that was led by more godly men—NOT schemers using publicity stunts! 'Nuff said. I've always said, 'be a Bisagno, not a Young.' You may notice I NEVER change my messages! If you have the truth, why would you. Fire my family, PLEASE!

HISTORY lesson for Millennials: <https://bit.ly/2QQuabk> Some Christian leaders call the Christian Cabal 'tone deaf;' in fact, they are morally deaf! (Mt. 8:18) YOUNGER pastors get lured into this bunch by rich, famous blue hairs! That's NOT mentoring to morality! SHAME on Lusko and Jared!

HOW do I only listen to two minutes of talk radio a week, and one version of '59 seconds of hope' every two weeks, and God miraculously leads me to learn what I do in such a short time? I just answered it! God leads! One plus God is a majority!

HERE is the epitome of the delusion sin: Levi Lusko said when a nation was happy the God-following Cyrus was leading. Trump is NOT a follower of God's morals, and the nation is NOT happy that he's leading. The vast majority are saddened by him, on BOTH sides of the aisle, deluded pastor! Sin!

IF you want to know EXACTLY what I'm referencing, Google search '59 seconds of hope,' with Lusko as the speaker, in a few weeks, as it aired yesterday. You can hear it for yourself. I would post it now, if it were already online. We hold NOTHING back, and we verify/prove our claims with evidence (if it's available).

They're still back in AUGUST!: https:// https://bit.ly/2EoPqiH You can't even find one Twitter post about it under "Lusko Cyrus," as Christian laymen are SO BLIND to what's going on! Keep them dumbed-down, vs. disciple them, as Jesus taught NOT to do. #Apostasy!

Update: Cyrus & Daniel Analogies FEFUTED!

Daniel got his PAID government job because he could interpret Nebuchadnezzar's dreams. That is NO apples-to-apples comparison to the voluntary, NON-hired Christian Cabal, who couldn't interpret a dream if it was spelled out for them! (Dan. 1:17-21) Daniel's great knowledge got him where he got! NOT trading votes.

Dan. 2:26-29 has NO correlation to the Christian Cabal! Christian laymen will NEVER know there's NO relating by analogy, because they take pastors' word on the Word of God, as dumbed-down sheep ready for slaughter by God, if not wolves in sheep's clothing, beforehand. READ the Bible for yourself!!!

Let's see how OFTEN the Christian Cabal's analogy of Chump to Cyrus FAILS: (Ezra 1:1-4) He decreed a temple be built in Jerusalem for all people and outcasts—NOT biasedly favoring the Jews, and appears to have been a morally good unsaved ruler. Chump shares the unsaved part... that's about all. Lost people can be moral!

(Isa. 45:10 Chump WASN'T grasped by God, hasn't subdued any nations (fortunately), and hasn't freed/stripped any kings' belts. He kneels to dictators and oppressors, and shuns the freedom-loving heads of state, and allies. (Isa. 44:28) Does anyone ever accuse Chump of fulfilling Gods purposes? Only if they're high on Maryjane.

(Dan. 10:1) The Christian Cabal don't have visions they interpret for politicians! They're NOTHING like Daniel, either. Their claims are falling apart like a cheap suit, as we delve into the Scriptures! (Isa. 45:2) God opposes Chump, and Chump makes smooth places rough—EXACTLY the opposite! The devil made Chump rich—NOT God (Isa. 45:3); Verse 4 references a title of honor for Cyrus. Chump has made the president's office a DIS-honor... opposite, again!

In verse 5, Cyrus DIDN'T know God, nor does Chump, though he was marketed as a 'baby Christian.' Almost every verse, so far, refutes the Christian Cabal's bogus claims, for power idolatry!

The Jews have been in Israel since 1948; Chump released ZERO of them from exile to return there! <https://bit.ly/2UAtTIL> Falwell better return to making billions off stupid parents paying tuition for bogus education quality, and learn morals from his GOOD pastor brother! #Red

'Cyrus is known for his advancement of human rights, his brilliant military strategy, and his bridging of Eastern and Western cultures.' (Crystalinks.com) Did Chump advance human rights in Saudi Arabia, or via Putin? Has he been brilliant in military events, save for the MOAB bomb we called for? 45's a culture DIVIDER!

"The historical Cyrus was an architect and steward of a well-run, stable government, a leader of great generosity as well as authority, and a champion of religious tolerance and freedom." (The Guardian, 3/23/17) Well-run, stable, and generous are NOT terms people would typically attach to the tRump administration. And religious tolerance only seems to apply to WASPs and Jews.

I need read no further. You can expect, if Chump or the Christian Cabal's lips are moving, lies are flowing. But Christian laymen are too da_n lazy to research the Bible for themselves, to catch the lies they get fed, hook, line and sinker. God WILL judge them (Heb. 10:30). May it be sooner, rather than later, I pray.

You could not behave more sinfully than Chump's entire campaign, with complete obstinate unrepentance about it, and that makes you the Christian's Savior? The Devil has Bible-ignorant claimers of Christ in the palm of his hand; a COMPLETE failure by their pastors, who CAN'T disciple!

Even when you distinguish God's definition of 'good' from man's (Mk. 10:18), NO ONE accuses Chump of being a good person, even though he shares with Cyrus being a lost man. Cyrus' deeds show he was a decent enough guy, but only deluded people say that about Chump. Compared to perfection, it's all relative.

NO other candidate running in 2016, from either party, would need any ancient history Bible reference to justify people voting for them! Chump was such a patently BAD man, and therefore BAD candidate, he had to be sold and marketed as King Cyrus to people who SHOULD care about morals. Their sin nature bought into it, easily!

Trump is King Cyrus. Trump is a Christian. Trump is later a baby Christian. Does ANY real Christian see the yes men around the clown are just throwing marketing phrases against a wall to see which will stick? TRUTH is irrelevant, as they use CONTRADICTION descriptions! Whatever works. (12/13/18)

Media: When the 'Christian Cabal' touts Chump as like King Cyrus, REMIND THEM if they're seeking biblical justification, THIS is the standard they've conveniently forgotten, and they've changed from 'baby Christian' to an unsaved King comparison! (Ex. 18:21) WHY? @ABC @CBS @CNN @NBC (12/16/18)

THE “RELIGION” OF THE ALT-RIGHT

(11/20/17)

Care about any other countries at all, and you’re a globalist, contrary to Gen. 4:9 and Lk. 10:36; help anyone at all and you’re a Socialist, contrary to Mt. 25:35-40; favor the rich getting rich, contrary to Levit. 19:15; let blacks vote and those are new rights; force every rape and incest victim to go to term, as those are family values; force everyone else (non-Christian atheists, agnostics, ‘none’s,’ and other religions) to study the Bible in public school, as that’s religious liberty; forsake ALL moral values to elect a man who did all this, and claim to be “values voters”: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>; and vote for him, an assaulter in Montana and alleged child molester and claim Jesus has brought revival; relatedly, NEVER forgive Bill Clinton for his sexcapades, DECADES ago, but ask #NeverTrump to overlook all those disqualifying, undignified things listed in that prior-referenced Facebook argument; call anyone voicing opposition to Trump’s LACK of any normal American moral character “self-righteous” (because that’s the ONLY term that can SOUND biblical, to try to cover YOUR guilty rear ends; VIOLATE this Bible verse, and call it bringing “God” back into public life—I Tim. 5:22; from hatred of gays, refuse to obey government laws (Rom. 13:1-7; love all men, especially); require true patriots to put their hand over their heart at the national anthem, though not all people have for several decades; advocate against any poor people having any health insurance off any tax dollars (Ecc. 5:13); claim freedom, property rights and legacy code words for seeking to end the estate tax, so you can ONLY benefit you and yours; claim that preventing unwanted pregnancies and over-population, through intelligent, preventive birth control is against your “religion,” AS IF it is killing anyone or anything (before inception); FAVOR Jews over Arabs, without distinguishing the good from the bad on either side, and support a discriminatory ban on ALL Muslims, because of your un-fact-based phobias, stereotypes, and UN-biblical religious competition; believe that having the word ‘God’ in a political platform few ever fully if at all read, is progressing your religion (even though likely NONE of your pastors has YET to commit to LEAD their members to evangelize ALL nearby lost people, ASAP); call people expressing freedom of speech by kneeling at NFL games inmates, who would be shot in North Korea, and could have done that elsewhere (but you never name an equivalent, media-drawing venue); use as many “famous” Christians as you can (Phil Robertson, Kirk Cameron and for the more intellectual, Jay Sekulow as the ‘face’ of the REAL campaign legal brain trust), to politically appeal to more than you can brain-wash to this cause using mere worship services; find a guy who has done LITTLE for Christianity, but has a full name like his dad who had, and have him idolize the dumbest, least-prepared and most immoral GOP candidate of 2016 (Falwell); use name recognition to get Billy Graham’s stellar reputation associated with the cause, using his son (because non-thinking claiming Christians use credit by association, like others use guilt by association); CLAIM that God ‘ordained’ Trump’s win, when God sovereignly ALLOWS (which DOESN’T mean He wanted, or caused to happen) every politician who wins, including Hitler, Pol Pot, Stalin, and many more which could be named!; TURN on the respected George H. W. Bush (even by you, until you sold your souls to Satan, for secular power) on mere allegations, but STICK WITH Roy Moore over a slew of detailed allegations and complainants (because George is NOT alt-right); use a pastor who for DECADES has sought fame and secular power idolatry, chasing after politicians almost more than God, to be the face of this effort on FoxNews, so he can achieve his long-sought dream of returning the glory to a church that HAD glory when W. A. Criswell was at the helm; use Mike Pence videos in church, and Huckabee (and possibly Carson) visits to churches, to stir up the white Protestant vote; from greed, seek to pass an un-needed tax bill that mainly makes the rich and business owners richer (GREED); IRRESPONSIBLY increase an already unheard of $19 TRILLION debt, to give the poor and middle class chump change, while blessing the elites, EXACTLY OPPOSITE the people Christ showed concern for (i.e.,

NOT those who already have it made, financially); REFUSE to do EDBS priorities (i.e., evangelism, discipling, Body Life and social ministry) in any significant ways, so you can, instead, chase fleeting political power, and maintain status quo CHURCHianity (because it's easier for earning that almighty dollar); denounce racism, but depend on white supremacists to elect your guy; do your God-given DUTY to help hurricane victims, then ask Uncle Sam to repay you with FEMA money; try to garner respect, or fear, by lifting a pea shooter, look alike toy gun at a campaign rally, because you can't garner such respect by merely being yourself; sing How Great Thou Art at political rallies, where at least half the crowd is nominally or not at all religious; blend religion and politics in your "worship" services, then claim you can't speak about politics, and have to follow the laws of separation of church and state; wear hunting waders at your "values voters" P.R. stunt, so the less astute in the crowd feel you're like a Duck Dynasty peer, who's taking on the D.C. establishment you have done ZERO to change the past 12 or more years—possibly since Reagan!; hold at least one private meeting to discuss what issues Christians should be concerned about—WELL into the 2016 election season (thus proving you had ZERO concern or involvement in Christians political issues for years before, as you can't even come up with a list based on any past, sustainable efforts); resurrect the abortion red meat topic, since you lost national gay marriage, and want to stack SCOTUS to overturn it almost FIFTY years later, but you effeminately never tell anyone that you secretly desire to do the same for Obergefell—just not while it's fresh; and use Steve Bannon and Sean Hannity as your ground troops, to do the dirty work. IN A 'WORD,' DIS-credit Christianity for years to come, because your sins could NOT be constrained! THIS is the divisively destructive "work" of the "Christian" Cabal, and is NOT MY CHRISTIANITY, nor that of Jesus' Bible (the one they OBVIOUSLY never read)! IF you want to learn even more of their P.R. tricks, behind-the-scenes organizing efforts, members and dates, please read our upcoming book, Christians For Trump: Is God a Democrat or a Republican?, which will be available FREE at <http://AmericanAnswers.org>, next year. The Apostasy is here (I Th. 2:3)! NOW, go give thanks this Thanksgiving for all your "god" hath done for you, politically! The ONLY question outstanding is, give ALL I just wrote, WHICH "god" is that? I Pet. 1:3, or II Cor. 4:4? #WWJD, "Christian" Cabal?

THE SUPREME COURT & CONSTITUTIONALITY

(3/19/17)

The Supreme Court serves a legitimate Constitutional purpose deciding what a religion is. A group claiming NO need to pay taxes based on Mt. 17:27 would be illegitimate.

If Christians want to stack SCOTUS for policies in their favor, they SHOULD have been bulwarks against culture shifting to sin, by evangelism, and being salt and light!

The U.S. majority sentiment in the court of public opinion plays a significant role in close calls with SCOTUS, because that majority speaks a lot for the people.

At the same time, SCOTUS, by law, MUST equally consider the needs of the minority. Majority rule is NOT the law of the land, though it IS with elections.

NEVER believe SCOTUS justices' personal convictions never play a role in how they vote. NOT a decisive/determinative role, but lawyers can always argue almost anything.

THE TROUBLE WITH TAXES

(10/25/18)

The troubles with taxes are legion. People don't like parting with money, and we don't agree on what they should be spent on. Every dollar that goes to government is a dollar you can't spend on yourself, or for your business. We can all agree there must be cops and a military, but conservatives think that's about it, and liberals think much more!

We're USED to getting what we pay for; FEW people purposely overpay for things, and we LOVE bargains. It is NOT fair that nearly half of Americans pay zero in taxes! They're incentivized to vote for everything, because it's OPM/other people's money, and they don't have to pay.

People below the poverty line should pay in by required civic service, as their token fair share payment, because actual dollars would bankrupt them. Others between that line and up to that 50 percent mark of non-payers should pay in a little, along with some civic service. In every case, what everyone pays must be fair, based on their financial circumstances!

It is UN-fair for a rich dude to pay the same percent as a broke one, because the pain in the pants (i.e., wallet) is NOT the same, but at the same time, it is NOT fair to tax the rich just because they have excess! That's like saying it's O.K. to rob a successful business because they have a big stash of cash.

Congress has ingeniously hidden and delayed the pain by money taken from your pay check, so if you claim the right number of deductions, April 15th actually feels like a payday/jackpot, by squeezing you all year long, in installments. You get used to take home pay, and rarely see what Uncle Sam gets.

With our consumer mentality, we ask of government so much more than we individually pay for! Congress, again, was wise not to ever send out itemized bills! Depending on who you read, we ALL, individually, owe between $61.5K and 124K. That's well above what most people have in credit card debt.

And every politician promises MORE things which cost money. We can't grow our way out of this problem, print enough funny money to get out of this problem, or borrow enough money from China to get us out of this problem. We, as Americans, are addicted to debt, individually and collectively, and an accounting needs to be reckoned.

However, politicians are paranoid that if they did, they'd lose their cushy jobs! Everyone has this idealized generality in their head that our government can take care of us, if all else fails, because America is so wealthy. We're BROKE! Everyone LOVES the idea of sharing expenses IF you're the one with the expense—NOT the one bearing the load, as with health insurance.

People will likely never cease clamoring for politicians to do things they want, or threaten their jobs, but it's the math majors and accountants who see how ridiculous this situation is! People get praised for offering a $100 tip to a waitress for a glass of water. Does anyone in their right mind think America is ever 'gonna get anyone to voluntarily pay toward our debt? NO; it has to be mandatory.

And conservatives blame everyone NOT in their camp if a fiscal reckoning is ever attempted, even though, hypocritically, they USED to care about balanced budgets and fiscal responsibility. They feel no buy-in, blaming everyone else for our skyrocketed national debt (as if no GOP's ever contributed to it).

Paying taxes is a necessity of life—deal with it, and stop whining like babies, or asking government to give you back more and more, because you want ‘mo money, and think ZERO about what it costs to do all we ask of government!

Dems give money for votes (Ex.: entitlements) and GOPs give money for votes (Ex.: tax cuts), and NO ONE gives one da_n about how much government costs to run, even were it streamlined, and run more efficiently.

Politicians simply kick the debt problem can down the road, until they are out of office, and we the people allow them to, because we never want to see that Chinese bill collector send our bill's portion to our homes!

I've said before, China NEEDS to cut America's spicket off, and see that their investment is a house of cards, and that America will either go to war with them, or default, sending the global economy into a tailspin, or losing the U.S. dollar as the global default currency, destroying America as we now know it.

But as long as U.S. voters DESPISE JFK's words of "ask not...", our selfishness will sink our ship. NO politician or candidate for office will EVER run on this message, but it IS the message you need to hear.

Everyone wants more money, and taxes are an easy fix to clamor for getting more (more so than asking for a raise, or taking on a second job), but it's both irresponsible and unsustainable.

In the interim, we force politicians to make your dollars worth less, by QE,3 et al, but, again, like the frog in the boiling water pot, you don't feel the devaluation, so ignorance is bliss.

I want fair taxes for every American, and civic service substituting for any who can't afford them, government to go on a diet, and us all to start viewing patriotism as more than whether you do or don't kneel at a football game!

The greatest nation in the world costs money to maintain, and we all benefit from living here, so we all have both privileges and responsibilities—NOT one without the other. PAY UP, and stop threatening politicians' livelihoods, because, like whiny babies, you'll have a temper tantrum if anyone tells you the truth that the emperor has no clothes, what ones he's wearing were made in and borrowed from China, and your "freedoms" come at a cost, and NOT just the cost of military lives and limbs, but also part of your hard-earned paychecks! Quit whining, and start serving your great country!

THE WORLD'S GREATEST CRISIS

(1/4/17)

Two years ago, on a national scale, we were called a "bully" for using this platform to tell ALL U.S. pastors to evangelize ALL nearby lost people.

NOTICE the DEVIL's strategy in so name-calling: DIS-credit a ministry because you want to continue to rebel against God in that area! Act like I'm sinning.

Well, the bully is back. It's called being prophet-gifted; something that N.C. mega pastor may not yet have read about in his sermon prep? GO evangelize!

Please understand these DIRE facts: LIKELY not ONE church in America evangelized ALL lost people, even within ONE mile of their church in the past three years! ~None!

As we see signs of prophecy approaching, and even if there were none, people die prematurely and unexpectedly every day; there are HUGE numbers of lost people to reach!

A thimble full in a bucket of need is NOT success! Nor is a show that garners much media attention. EVERY soul was died for on the cross! Every individual one.

This means MILLIONS are facing hell, unwarned, and may never have heard the Gospel, yet pastors go to work past their homes every day in "peace?"

TWO churches I know took the call seriously. I'm sure there were more. That's NOT what the Great Commission calls for! EVERY pastor is on notice!

Their blood is and will be on your hands, as the so-called "leaders" of laymen by U.S. church culture and Eph. 4 and I Pet. 5. You're failing in your jobs, sirs!

SEE this picture: EVERY home nearest your church building has 3-5 people living in it. ARE THEY SAVED, U.S. pastor? WHY don't you know? You're MOST responsible to know!

Are you going to say Billy Graham's in charge of that? The pastor further away? Yes, your laymen do the work, but they're NOT (mainly), and that's your lack of discipling problem!

Of the 3-5 souls, today they could die, and immediately be burning in hell before the 5:00 workday ends and dinner bell rings. DO YOU CARE? Your deeds say otherwise!

Having a "presence" in a neighborhood, and even advertising or being available on TV or radio is NOT what the Great Commission requires! READ it.

You hold the key. You own the eternal Polio vaccine and cancer cure. You're hoarding it, and holding it in, NOT letting your light shine, but putting it under a bushel!

They've all heard? PROVE it! Show me evidence you know for certain every neighbor's spiritual status concerning heaven and hell from their own words of testimony.

That's NOT my gift or job? It may not be your gift, but it IS your job! READ the pastoral epistles. Who's job is it under your FALSE, Devil's doctrine?

My pastor peers DON'T do that, so I'm OK? They're sinning too! Sheep followers off a cliff, as others fall off an eternal cliff as a result?

That's not our business model? Then you have the Devil's business model.

We use attraction methods? God told you to go and tell. Debate with Him, sin-full chickens!

That can't be done? It WAS done in the late 1970's, and has recently been done by my alma mater, FULLY, reaching ALL of zip code 76115! Excuses!

I don't want to. The ONLY honest response. Get right with God, then! Forget sermon prep, and get alone with Him for a week, and seek His face. Do a Rev. 2:5 do-over.

That might scare away potential new members? You can't scare them any further away than the hell you're already ushering them into! They MAY thank you!

Do you care more about member numbers, or salvations for eternity? If the former, you are sinfully unprioritized, and lacking God's thoughts!

It might scare off tithers to ask them to evangelize? Again, God or money is more important to you, because you CAN'T serve both, equally. If the latter, you MAY be a false prophet (for profit)!

You can ONLY ignore this message, and pretend you never heard it, because your excuses all fail, and God knows you saw it, so good luck on judgment day!—NOT.

For costs, I'll aid any U.S. pastor reaching every lost soul nearby, IF they publicly commit to so doing. NEVER have pastors taken me up on this offer.

You're too mean? You don't have a gracious attitude? KEEP believing thoughts the Devil puts in your unoriginal heads. Jesus will be harsher against you at the Bema!

You might scare off lost people with your tone? I DON'T treat them like I treat unrepentant, arrogant, stubbornly sinful pastors sentencing people to hell!

And YES, this message WILL be added to Wit and Wisdom. I want the WORLD to know the genocide WORSE than 50+ million abortions, by pastors' omissions!

Books, billboards, TV, radio, YouTube, a new website, new-to-me social media options, magazines, newspapers. I'll use them ALL to get this message OUT there!

I HOPE to at least once get LOST people in a group to protest a local church for NOT evangelizing them, and get the media to cover it (with a sign, reading, WHY do you hate us?).

You must understand, if one church can (and has) 100 percent bought into this need, they are role models. One church is NOT what God calls for, but ALL! WHERE ARE YOU?

Perhaps you really believe we have time. Maybe you think hell's not real, or a fire. Maybe you hope God's more merciful than He said He'd be to the unforgiven lost?

The Bible's symbol for evangelism is the foot; your symbol is an ostrich; head in the ground hoping this message will NOT be noticed, as it shames your acts.

It's NOT going away! Twitter is ONLY the beginning, and soon to be expanded well beyond. You have no excuses, yet you'll invent others! The flesh is creative.

Charles Spurgeon and John Bisagno and Billy Graham would HEED that word! You are NOT as great as those men if you don't! Pastor characters DIFFER—widely!

Maybe your members praise you too much, or your salary is too comfortable, so you fear rocking the boat on a good thing? Jesus would turn those tables on you, and will.

READ the Laodicean church description in Rev. 3. It's the U.S. church, today! SO content in complacency! 30 years later: Http://bit.ly/25s1p6J

One more time: MILLIONS in hell burning forever, and you are to blame. Is that succinct enough to prick your dead conscience? If not, get saved, pastors!

P.S.: NOT ONE church EVER shut down Sunday services for pastors to LEAD laymen to go evangelize. We did in one Sunday School class. WHY not? Cowardice sin.

P.S.S.: NOT ONE pastor got fired because he chose freely and willfully NOT to publicly commit to lead members to evangelize every nearby lost person.

P.S.S.S.: NOT ONE church member I ever heard of withheld a "tithe" until their pastor publicly committed to LEAD them to evangelize all nearby lost people.

And you still pray for revival? Quit playing church, grow up, and stop expecting those prayers to ever be answered! Your only wasting God's time with lip service!

Judgment starts with the household of God. With full pews and coffers, it may be hard for most pastors to see that hurricane on the horizon, but it's sure, if slow.

Pastors warn America of God's judgment for gay marriage. I warn pastors of God's judgment for NOT fully evangelizing. It STARTS with the church! (I Pet. 4:17)

For this book I add: THIS message was dated 1/4/17; when you read of it here, see how long it took for STILL no action to be taken! Stubborn mules!

God used a (dumb as a) donkey to reprove a wayward man, but God's leaders aren't even as compliant as a dumb a_s? AMAZING irony! (II Pet. 2:16)

Until the Tribulation, there is NOT going to be an angel speaking the Gospel to all! God WON'T write it across the heavens, either. It's up to you, pastors!

Ephesians four says your job is to get laymen to do it. You score an 'F' doing your duty and job description. Sorry I have to be the rude, mean one to say what you want to ignore.

I'm no hypocrite, and don't mind being hated. I will NEVER stop thinking of ways to expose this number one omission that eternally KILLS most people, into hell!

Start small if you're WEAK in faith! One block in front of your church. You NEVER have to say you're from any church; you represent Jesus—NOT your retail religious business!

I've NEVER mentioned any church in any evangelism situation, unless asked where I go. Still, I'd usually say that's not relevant to their urgent need!

Church-as-a-business ALWAYS hates getting its boat rocked, or changing to a more biblical paradigm. May Jesus return in spirit to turn your tables upside down.

Fire. Forever. Pain and agony. Gnashing of teeth. Groans. NO let-up. NO relief. Dark. Scary. Not delivered from it by the eternal body dying. HELL.

[Retweeted Private account] Today's Featured: PowerClip—Sinners in the Hands of an Angry God, by Jonathan Edwards <http://tinysa.com/twt257084>

FORTUNATELY there IS a way to escape—John 3:16. MOST pastors will NEVER tell you that unless you'll visit their religious retail shop. That's eternally SAD.

I think God is angrier at pastors REJECTING the Great Commissions literalness, than at lost people unaware they've rejected Him from NOT being told!

Your life can end today, no matter your age! Hidden disease, car wreck, ISIS, natural disaster, heart attack—WHERE WILL YOU GO then? READ John 3:16.

Jesus could return in the Rapture today! Then salvation is NOT as easy as receiving a free gift. If you never have, you will be left here, for 'hell on earth' (Rev. 6-20).

READ the obituaries, visit a morgue, read of celebrities dying in 2016, or the plane crash in McKinney, TX. You are NOT promised another breath. READ John 3:16

Heaven is for EVERYONE, yet MOST will NOT be there! God wants you ALL there! Lk. 14:23; I Tim. 2:4 You choose hell, forever, if you ignore John 3:16! READ it.

You are NOT good enough to go to heaven. No one ever was—but Jesus. Before God, you're worse than Hitler, with but one sin (Jas. 2:10). Have you ever committed just one sin?

You plan to live to age 90. Great plans, but even the best laid plans of mice and men can fail. HOW are you planning for eternity, and not just the burial ceremony?

The MOMENT you die, you get an eternal body, either one fit for the kingdom of heaven, or able to NOT die, but endure flames in hell forever. What's your choice?

I ASSURE you, based on the authority of God's Bible, that you are not tough enough to endure hell, no matter who you are. Stick your big toe in a scorching hot tub of water for one second.

Place your pinky over a candle flame for five seconds. You cannot, and will not endure hell successfully. Suicide is NOT an option there, either; John 3:16.

You may think hell's a myth or joke. Do you believe that enough to risk your being wrong? You have NO authority for your belief—only naive hope and wishful thinking.

I don't care if you've been taught that God weighs the balance of good vs. bad deeds. You were lied to by the Devil, through whatever human taught you that!

Cessationism (i.e., the body just ends), annihilationism (i.e., the body's destroyed), Purgatory (i.e., there's a second chance after death to avoid hell)—ALL myths and lies! I'm warning you, by TRUTH.

Please read these words of a pastor MUCH wiser than many today, for he warned people NOT to go to hell. FEW will in our generation, due to SIN!... "If sinners be damned, at least let them leap to hell over our dead bodies. And if they perish, let them perish with our arms wrapped around their knees. If hell must be filled, let it be filled in the teeth of our exertions, and let no one go unwarned or unsprayed for. –

Charles Spurgeon

As Bill Clinton wrote, time for me to get 'Back To Work.' I HOPE you'll read today's message, as some people truly care that you DON'T end up in hell forever.

THE WORTH OF WISDOM

(12/14, 16/18)

Wisdom is SO essential in life... knowing how to make good choices among many offers. I don't care if you have academic or moral issues with opening a Bible—even if you think it a fairytale—let me show you why you are missing out on available wisdom, by giving a few examples:

MANY people MISread I Tim. 6:10 as saying ALL evil comes from loving money. UNtrue. All sorts/kinds of evil comes from that root, the fruit being things like executive bonuses for ruining workers' lives, payoffs to porn stars so WASP's would be duped about your already obvious lack of character, women selling what's cherished and select to their husbands, to a John or peep show audience, businesses lying about products (in advertising, which government forbids)... to make more profit; pastors considering all donations as just for their church (NOT like II Cor. 8, et al), bank robberies, and a host of other manifestations of the love of money. Americans have a HARD time knowing why loving money is wrong, because we love money!

Let's try another verse... Mt. 6:3. The principle of not fully paying attention to the details of generous giving, in church, IS taught, yet FEW follow it, because government tax laws make us document donations, because we want tax breaks, vs. just to give!

On the flip side, EVERYONE knows the illogic of a business run where baton passes become dumpings, vs. smooth transitions/deliveries. 'That's not my department' becomes, as I've experienced this week, no one is managing the process, and the balls get dropped. There MUST be someone, or some system, that tracks a transaction as it moves from one department to another. I have become that manager for a business I would never do business with again, but I'm stuck, at this point. The Bible teaches the wisdom of seamless coordination, at the same time it teaches Christians to not nit-pick on ensuring they give to God!

Thousands of other examples can and will be listed here, in the future, to show you it's not so difficult to make right decisions, if you know the wisdom source! We prove that nearly every day, by citing verse references alongside our opinions.

Idioms are often based on wisdom. When I say you don't reward bad behavior, if 81 percent of WASPs had believed that truth, we wouldn't have the mess we have in the White House, presently! We have an entire book listing 99+ percent of the idioms of life, and their everyday meanings, because you can learn MUCH wisdom knowing them.

But the ultimate wisdom comes from God, via His Good Book. We have a nearly 700-paged summary of the BEST information found in it, at WillYouLiveForever.org. It's been patiently online and virtually undiscovered (except in 2014) since ~2005. The BEST verses and chapters and books to read first are listed. We did all the hard work for you. Just meditate!

When the clown prince had Khashoggi tortured and murdered, anyone with a lick of sense would know you have to punish that in some way. Congress did so yesterday. People lacking even horse sense said we support the Saudis because they're allies, and we 'wanna sell guns. That is wisdom extremely lacking!

When handlers marketed the same as a 'baby Christian,' they HAD to know their parishioners would be DUMB or naive/gullible enough to believe pastors pushing contradictory narratives of his being a non-

Christian Cyrus, a Christian (pre evangelical council contact), or a baby Christian AFTER speaking with them, because pastors control the so-called "thinking" of their members, because the members DON'T read God's wisdom for themselves, often, and pastors are 100 percent responsible for all the bad statistics of Christendom in our era, as they're called to LEAD! (Eph. 4; I Pet. 5) WISDOM would teach them to do EDBS priorities. Sin would have them reject that for church-as-a-business and preach-and-be-paid!

Wisdom is more valuable than gold (Pv. 16:16). The MORE you expose yourself to God's Bible, the wiser you'll get, and the more able you will be to discern/detect/identify good from evil! (Heb. 5:14), because there IS a difference tween the good and evil! (Isa. 5:20) A lie is NOT the truth.

And since God doesn't lie (Tit. 1:2), those who pursue Him will lie less and less (as with all sins, over time, and never perfectly). Wisdom is a daily pursuit.

It has been said, 'hang with the wise and you become wise.' Most famous quotes for good involve wisdom... 'a penny saved is a penny earned.' –Ben Franklin

America reveres the wise. Wise people get exalted (Pv. 18:16; Ps. 119:99). LOOK at the heroes of humanity, through the ages (Heb. 11). Wise people! David, Abraham, Solomon, et al. READ Ecc. and Pv. if you want to become wiser.

There may be a few passages hard to understand (II Pet. 3:16), but more often than not, it's more as Mark Twain said: 'Most people are bothered by those passages in Scripture which they cannot understand; but, as for me, I have always noticed that the passages which troubled me most are those which I do understand.'

The Bible is NOT that hard to 'get'/understand, if you know God, and read it often. Books are written to interpret the harder verses! Look at four of them in the bibliography of our spiritual website's Apologetics section.

You are missing out, and you can learn the easy way, or from the school of hard knocks, but you will learn, one way or the other. The question is will you do something with what life teaches you?

Wisdom can come from asking questions. Besides God giving it (Jas. 1:5-7, 3:17), another Solomon might have asked her-/himself, how can I identify the real mother? Real moms protect their kids, and value the kid's safety and life over their own. Would the real mom give it away, vs. let it be killed, if she wasn't desperate or destitute? (I Ki. 3:16-28)

#THEOLOGICAL, FISCAL & SOCIAL CONSERVATISM

(10/27/18)

Forget Dictionaries! To the alt-right, "liberal" means Satanic, demonic, evil, caustic, horrible, hated enemy, rapist, murderer, child molester, incestual, robber, vampire, monster, idiot, Hitler and wicked. ALL because they have ZERO desire for government to EVER address ANY social problems that cost any money!

There are two different types of political conservatives, but sometimes they overlap: Fiscal vs. social. For Christians to confuse the two, because we're theological conservatives, is disobedience to Mt. 22:37 A balanced budget is a GOOD thing; under-funding government from selfish stinginess is NOT!

To the alt-right, "conservative" means God-anointed, God-sent, heavenly, gift, sacred, right, just, holy, beautiful, saintly. For ANY Christian to support evolutionary dog-eat-dog and every man for himself is for them to deny the faith, and to know NOTHING about His word, the Bible!

Welfare is a humane program when it never empowers laziness, is temporary, is a hand-up vs. hand-out, and only assists the severest sufferers to get through hard times. It is NOT evil for tax money to serve this purpose, and any Christian who says otherwise values their politics and pocketbooks more than God! That's called idolatry.

The number one reason anyone despises reasonable Welfare is that they forget when they were poor, they never were poor, or they have delusions about the poor which can be easily cured by merely visiting a poorer area of town for a couple of days. They are NOT likely to do so, truth and facts be dam_ed!

Political conservative ALWAYS parrots, "jobs—not Welfare." I agree with those priorities! But it need not be either/or, as some jobs don't sustain a family, especially since when BUSINESS shipped so many jobs away, and imports so many laborers, a job sometimes pays peanuts, save for minimum wage laws!

YET, political conservatives even oppose the minimum wage. Like their hero, CHUMP, they will NEVER tell you their true intentions and desires, but opposing the minimum wage and Welfare MEANS they think it's moral and Constitutional/legal for an American to live off the lowest wages possible, if the market bears it!

To say it another way, a political conservative would have NO PROBLEM with slavery, except that it's illegal. Slavery is what you could get if there were no minimum wage laws, no Welfare, and businesses outsourced enough jobs, and imported enough labor, because that would be what the market could bear (i.e., their only standard).

I understand this concept is somewhat complicated, so I'll try again: NO American gets any assistance from government, and business can pay whatever they want—no required minimum. WHAT would any business owner do if she could? Pay workers the least, to save the money for themselves. Their ONLY barrier would B competition.

And if enough people came to America, and enough jobs left America, for people unwilling to leave America, market rate could literally be peanuts, if political conservatism ruled the day! And some Christians are O.K. with that. #WOW One talk radio boy admitted that many conservatives are greedy, then said, 'what can you do about it?' WOW!

That political conservative was admitting he approves of financial selfishness, worldly money idolatry and hoarding (greed), yet claims to be a "Christian." NOT WHAT JESUS TEACHES, but his FLESH! He cares ZERO about remedying this situation, because that would ruin his un-Christian political system idolatry.

A true political conservative says 'to Hell with anyone else but me.' Government, never help anyone, just let me keep as much of my money as I want, or can be done, and any "Christian" who so believes is an apostate, who endorses self as god, NON-disciple/carnal mentality in how their "Christianity" impacts their civic duties!

I've said before, political conservatism is enshrining worldliness, if it adds zero constraints. NO Christian can embrace it 100 percent, or at all in this aspect, yet MANY do, because many U.S. Christians are NOT disciples, historic statistics show. If you are NOT living for God, political conservatism is right up your alley.

The way political operatives lure Biblically dumber 'Christians' to political conservatism is finding an issue Christians care about, like abortion or homosexuality, and, for power, ask them to never speak against the evils of conservatism, which is EXACTLY what MOST of them are sinfully willing to do!

In politics, you often have strange bedfellows, but MOST U.S. WASPS don't even see any strangeness cozying up to selfish worldliness in their politics! That's because MOST of them know God so surfacy, because if they knew Him well, just from exposure they could recite 10+ Bible verses. MOST can't!

When you spend time with, and love your wife, the fact that you can finish her sentences, and know what she wants and likes is NOT because you legalistically memorized her former online dating profile/bio, but because you relate to her. The SAME goes with Christians who can recite FEW Bible verses, from exposure vs. legalism.

I can know statistics about my wife, but NOT know my wife. You can say God is number one to you, but your deeds and priorities show if you're being honest, and you can't spend time with God without knowing His word well, because that's how you get to know Him well. That's an easy test to see if one's a disciple or poser! (Jn. 8:31)

You can academically know the Bible inside and out, and still not know God! (Jn. 5:39) But you can't know God well without knowing His word well, because those are His words, and what He would speak to you if He were physically here, so if you converse with Him, often, you recall what He said to you! Duh 101.

And if prayer is a Christian's main claim to closeness to God, that's like saying you know all about your car because you drive it a lot, while being 100 percent clueless about things confirmed in the owner's manual. Your prayers are as accurate or inaccurate as is your knowledge of the Bible, and how God taught you to pray.

(I Jn. 4:14; Jn. 14:140 Prayer according to Gods will, and in His name, in ways man can know (i.e., absent sovereign answers) is according to His book! Uninformed prayers get ignored, or answered less! What if your child barely knew you, and/or kept asking for permission to play in the street? (Mt. 7:11) #ReadMoreBible, Church!

For someone to claim they know God, but know little of His word, or never read it, IS mysticism, or emotionalism. LIP SERVICE claims! Is the Bible not BIG enough, or interesting enough to you, Christian? Do you think you're going to "hear His voice" when you don't know His ways, because you don't know His book? That's being deceived.

You study the Bible to meet with and get to know God. There's some value in academic research of it, but NOT a lot! If God were to have a one-on-one meeting with you, it would be with Bible in hand. He does NOT speak opposite its contents, or without them being known! Why give you more, when you rejected the basics?

People seek to "hear God." What they NEED is to hear Him convict them through what He ALREADY SAID. In a recent Bible study/Quiet Time, the Lord gave me these two verses... Pv. 18:6; Ecc. 8:1. That's different from all verses benefitting me! I know what conviction is.

There are THOUSANDS of Bible verses, and many commands. Which specific one or ones is God asking you to apply today? That's what conviction is! He does NOT pile the whole wheel barrel of rules on you, and call you a rebel son for being unable to obey them all, right this moment. Growth takes time and effort! (I Jn. 5:3; I Tim. 4:7)

NO conservative can EVER tell me Giving Pledgers are 'self-loathing,' as Mark Levin called them. That MEANS if you love yourself, you'll be idolatrous, selfish and greedy! And NONE of them will EVER tell me THIS song advocates EVIL (Hint: Sentence which says "in 64") <https://bit.ly/2SoonYM> READ the lyrics!

That past post means conservatism is worldliness. Love yourself is the number one "ethic"—CONTRARY to God (II Tim. 3:2), and the number one way you show you love yourself is how rich you get, CONTRARY to God, again! (Lk. 12:15) Selflessly serving humility IS discipleship! (Lk. 9:23; Jas. 2:16; Pv. 29:7) CARE about the poor!

And any Welfare abuse is EVIL! Paying people to have kids, sit on couches eating bon bons as Welfare queens/kings, fraud, abuse, empowered laziness, DISincentivizing laboring. NO ONE should EVER get all their bills paid by government unless mentally or physically unable to work! We support #Balance!

My BFF (RIP)—a COMMITTED Christian (as am I)—broke fellowship with me because I supported a revised Welfare, rather than NO Welfare! That's political conservatism for you! (7/18/17)

Update: Taxes & Votes

(10/18/18)

Lower taxes will ALWAYS mean MORE money for individuals and businesses, and everyone does better with 'mo money, but that's NOT the issue that matters! WE, collectively, owe debt/have bills that must be paid! The money's already spent and borrowed—at interest. WE can't give back enough tax dollars for OUR Treasury to take in more than what was irresponsibly given away, anytime soon!

Welfare is money taken from the ~50 percent tax payers/government to non-tax payers. Tax cuts are money to tax payers, from government. The PROBLEM is, BOTH tactics take money from an EMPTY PIGGY BANK, to "bless" voter blocs! If you're looking to government to enrich you, materially, you're looking in the wrong place! Instead, LOOK IN YOUR MIRROR!

To illustrate, tax payers are team A; non-contributors are team B, and there's a big, green money bag. BOTH teams want what's in that bag, but it's full of HOT AIR... EMPTY! We BORROW money, and print dollar bills, because what government has already spent is far more than it will ever bring in from any and all taxes, anytime soon, folks!

#THINGSYOU SHOULDN'T SAY OUT LOUD

(Unpublished; Mt. 12:37; 9/3/18)

POW's are losers. I like people who don't get captured. Most illegals are criminals & rapists. A Mexican judge can't be fair to me. Mexico's President never discussed the wall payment (on my photo op trip to Mexico). Mexico will pay for a 50 foot wall. I am calling for a complete Muslim ban. Mr. Khan has not sacrificed. I saw Muslims cheering after 9-11. I can't say I respect women. Women are pigs and dogs. You can grab women's ___ if you're a celebrity. I'd liked to nail Princess Di. Ms. Piggy. Miss housekeeper. George Bush didn't keep us safe. Jeb is as dumb as a box of rocks. Look at Fiorina's face. There's a lot of material to work with with Rand Paul. Little Marco. I'm going to spill the beans on Cruz's wife. He couldn't be elected dog catcher. "Two" Corinthians. Favorite Bible verse is an eye for an eye. Never asked God's forgiveness for ANYTHING, but he's a "Christian." Now, one year later, he's a "baby Christian." (His own pastor hardly knows him). I know more than the generals about ISIS. Punish the aborting woman. Tell them to go f_ themselves. I assure you my hands are not small, nor other parts of my anatomy. Blood was coming from Megyn Kelly's wherever. I'd date my daughter if it was legal. Of course women flirted with me—it's to be expected. The great thing about me is I'm SO rich. I'm so handsome. There may be riots in Cleveland. I want to punch that guy in the face. There will be violent change if the Dems win the midterms (said to the 100 "Christian" WH dinner guests, last weekend; paraphrased). I could shoot someone on a New York City street and lose no support. I'll pay your legal bills if you beat/punch that protester. John McCain and Mitt Romney are losers. I was for the Iraq War before I was against it. I couldn't serve in the military from an ankle pain/spur that I can't recall which foot it was on. Ted Cruz's dad killed JFK. Obama, Cruz and Rubio's birth certificates are fake(d). Everything is rigged (elections, the media, GOP primaries) or unfair. If the GOP is not "fair" to me I may go third party (the man who started all the unfairness, and was ONLY unfair to every rival). I'm my only adviser. I alone can fix it. I have the best words. I have a great brain. Putin is my green room buddy/pal. Russia didn't invade Ukraine.

TRAFFIC TROUBLES

(10/18/18)

Long lines have somewhat been fixed at Wal-Mart and Sam's Club, by self-checkout (NOT in the return areas, though!). Could that teach us anything about fixing traffic jams? Two quick fixes would be to designate one or two lanes on other side of major arteries as reverse flow lanes during drive time, and technology to keep cars in the 'fast lane' from bumping.

Here's the analysis of traffic jams, with possible fixes: A HUGE number of vehicles leave all outer areas to go downtown (and elsewhere), basically at the same time 7-8A, 4-5P+. The arteries are land locked, except for costly two-tiered options, where they all amass at the end point, anyway, unless a HUGE, second level parking garage surrounded downtowns, with a 'mouth' entry point to allow massive numbers to enter it at the same time, organized for no slow-downs, or you get more congestion that backs up!

Underground arteries would help, but have that same backup at the end point. Endpoints could easily be made for fast egress to park near your destination, with car tags identifying which cars go in which lanes to which raised parking lot area, with zero confusion.

Wrecked or stalled cars slow down arteries, as with slow drivers in the left and middle lanes. If technology were available for every vehicle in the left-most lane to go 70 mph, and never risk crashing into the one before it, you'd have a solution, until they got downtown (where our parking lot solution takes over).

Big, heavy trucks (etc.) should be banned from the left-most lane, unless they maintain that 70 mph; no tolerance ENFORCEMENT would be NEEDED! If you had one lane from the furthest suburbs to downtown, with zero exits, that would help a lot.

Let's explain this end point solution more in depth... Example: 100 cars arrive at the same block at the same time, from every which a way direction. Well-signaged entry points scan your tag, and tell you which parking lane to enter. Arteries all educate you to be in your correct entry mouth/lane well before that final entry point, and you get three to four lanes taking cars to three to four huge, above-ground parking lots, which immediately open up in all directions upon arrival (i.e., after you chose your lane to drive to that particular lot.

That is, three to four entry lanes send/guide/take you to three or four separate, gigantic parking lots (above ground, so as not to interfere with others driving), and once your lane gets you to your designated lot, NO restrictions exist as to where you can park. Every car can maintain good speed through that final parking lot entry point, to whichever space you choose. You chose your lot to be near your desired destination, after all.

And if cities of the future had under- and above-ground arteries topping existing road ways, plus our 70 mph left lane and bump-resistance technology, and outer suburbs single lane with zero exits solutions, you'd essentially have fixed one of the greatest problems America faces, and which people HATE... congestion in drive time traffic.

Congestion happens mainly from too many cars in the same area at the same time, and especially too many vehicles wanting to be at the same destination point at the same time. You can't really change when people have to go to work (though some businesses can), so our treadmill rat race, go-dog-do race to the big tree has to have a BIG tree at its end point!

China has a ~40-laned highway, but what's needed is NOT 40 lanes, but a gigantic end point where all cars enter, and not behind other cars. Think of a cog with many tubes coming out from many angles. Three to four gigantic, second floor circles (or otherwise) for parking. Fast-moving walkways could help for farther out parking spaces.

Underground parking may be more feasible, as few one-story businesses want a huge parking lot above them. They could also be elevated to extend out many stories above, from the edges of downtown, outward! That would block others' view of skyscrapers, though. A downtown-circling parking lot might work.

If you use multi-level parking garages, congestion ensues, unless vehicles can enter on different floors, for designated parking spots. ALL access to parking NEEDS to NOT be on the ground level, for that interferes with normal drivers. Above- or below egress are the only possibilities/options.

TRIBUTE TO BILLY GRAHAM

(2/26/18)

For all the praise of Billy Graham's character, no one would go to Heaven (vs. Hell) if all he had done was be holy! He was great because he took the Great Commission seriously—he obeyed it; he opened his mouth and told MILLIONS the Gospel. And we all respect people committed to living their convictions.

Because God used him, MILLIONS of people are in eternal bliss in Heaven, forever, due to Billy Graham, who would have been in an eternally fiery, burning Hell. WHO are you talking with you to Heaven, Christian? You are to have evangelized between 44 and 111 people in your life—MINIMUM! Have you? #BeLikeBilly

People come to my door to tell me their religion's way to go to Heaven. I debate them vociferously and politely, using the Bible, but I respect their commitment to their cause more than their peers who "send" them to do the work! NO Christian isn't called to evangelism. Please re-read that until it hits home.

If all people are LITERALLY going to Hell (i.e., an eternal, fiery punishment, and separation from God), absent a proper response to John 3:16, HOW could any Christian NOT tell them how to avoid that fate? NO conscience, fake Christian, or a sin stronghold! Either way, Houston, we have a problem, if Christians continue to not do so!

The WORST business plan EVER is Christians' LACK of a plan to ensure that every soul on earth has heard a loving, accurate and empowered Gospel presentation! That's a FAILURE, with eternally negative results/consequences! Get your eyes off this life, and see what your IN-action is sentencing others to, because of your selfishness sin (OPPOSITE of being a disciple), Christians!!!

And if every Christian evangelized 111 people (42 minimum) in a lifetime, but they were the same people as someone else's list, you're STILL leaving many who haven't heard. Plus, it takes seven presentations, on average, for a positive response. The church CAN'T rely on crusade evangelism, but ALL Christians doing their evangelism part!

Evangelists make up for our lack, as do pastors who evangelize any lost people who happen/wander in, but a systematic plan to identify every human, and their eternal destination HASN'T been done, and likely never will be, as Christians DON'T think about the consequences of this lack of a plan! Meditate on Hell today, believers!

Christian: When you are in Heaven, and you rightly feel guilt for your under-evangelism, there is NO value in that 'feeling' for lost people YOU sent to Hell by that IN-action! Blood is on your hands! Guilt. You will get over it, over time, but your victims NEVER will! These FACTS Billy Graham now knows FULL well!!!

TURKEY MOVES IN TURKEY & ISRAEL!

(8/3/18)

I've already written how strategically STUPID the two Israel moves were, and how EVERYTHING Chump does is for Self (religious liberty task force, second tax break considered for the rich, etc.), yet SOME Christians are STUPID enough to REWARD the selfishness sins of the FAKE baby Christian, as they are short-sightedly STUPID!

Now Chump is using a sledge hammer to kill a fly, and those same Christians will praise the GOOD goal of freeing an evangelist in Turkey, through his overkill methods of sanctions. God doesn't reward injustice, or the punishment not fitting the crime (or even in the case of a carrot too YUGE for the situation).

What's the downside? Turkey is a strategic partner and ally, who is more than almost everyone else always pulled by non-allies (if not terrorist enemies), to side with them. You use unnecessary force, to cater to Christians for votes, and tick off a wavering ally, and even Bible prophecy consequences could ensue—right next to Israel, foolish ones!

But these claiming Christians who want Santa/Satan tRump to carry their water/do their bidding DON'T CARE that righteousness and justice prevail, but REWARD sinful favoritism, injustice and winning some minor battles, while losing the war. That's their SAME #SinToWin strategy which got him elected in the first place—from 'Christians,' no less!

.@itsjamesgraham [winner of The Four, 2018] I was FOR you returning to The Four, and FOR you winning, but ONLY after last night's second and third performances. If you keep up THAT skill and song choices, you will have a VERY bright future. If you don't, it will have been an injustice to the young gal who knocked you off.

If you haven't noticed, a common theme with our tweets is JUSTICE! Christians are supposed to support it! They are NOT to reward favoritism! (Mic. 6:8; Levit. 19:14) tRump has ZERO such concerns—just whatever caters to his base, so he can coddle votes. He is NOT a disciple, but Self is his god!

And I'm ALWAYS against favoritism, like if CHUMP doesn't use the SAME pressure against Turkey, for jailed atheists, Hindus, Muslims, or what have you! Jesus TOLD His followers they would suffer (and be rewarded for it), and that's a risky region to do work in. I NEVER saw the apostles coddle emperors to free their peers!

UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL

(11/21/18)

That which unites us is greater than that which divides us. You hear this sentiment expressed a lot, these days, in these very troubled and divided times. But exactly what unites us? For starters, we all want good, secure jobs and lives (i.e., safety and security), living in peace and relative prosperity.

We want to be paid fairly, and rewarded for our hard work. We want opportunities for advancement, we enjoy our time off, and share in common a patriotic love of country, appreciation for our Founders' great document, the Constitution, gladness that our greatest generation was able to win two world wars, and not let even more people die.

We have the freedom to travel to any state, and see all the sites this great land affords us. We can, literally, become anything our minds set out to be. We have excellent road and bridge systems, dams, free-flowing sewers (so you don't have to live near such stink and filth), you can wear whatever you like (or as little, in some places).

You have entertainment out the wazoo, and technology prior generations only dreamed of. People generally leave you alone, as you cozy up in your own castle for Thanksgiving dinner. No one is being drafted to war. Foreign terrorists haven't attacked the homeland soil in 17 years. Many people don't live under threat of home invasions or drive-by shootings (though some still do).

Our economy remains the historic number one, and our military keeps us from fears of invasion. In short, we have many things that unite us, and give us legitimate reasons to be thankful, on Turkey day, that we live in the U.S.A.!

VOTERS: PROBLEM OR SOLUTION?

(10/7/18)

THIS post is to EVERY American of voting age: BOTH political parties are imperfect, as with every politician running, but if you want a better society, despite people who say your one vote doesn't count, your one vote matters! There's not one good reason why anyone should NOT vote! DO it!

It's EMBARRASSING that some voters have to be riled up to vote, usually by hype, spin, lies and over-focus on less than a handful of issues. Such citizens are a low rung in our society! It's your civic duty! People have DIED to give you that right, and many people in the world CAN'T vote!

It OUGHT to be a law, that if you didn't vote, you are not allowed to complain, free speech rules notwithstanding! It's the ULTIMATE arrogance to NOT vote, then complain. Those types are armchair quarterbacks, who are the PROBLEM—NOT the cure! How lazy (a sin) do you have to be to not get out to vote? Slothful sluggards.

You NEVER know how many others in America weren't going to vote, because they're only one vote, but if they had simply had some energy/initiative, and voted, all those types could have swung elections for the good! YOU never know how many like you are lazily slouching on the couch. GO FIND OUT, by voting!

I have ZERO understanding why any politician has to encourage anyone to go vote! I FULLY understand the choices are usually bad, and the lesser of two evils, but get out there and DEMAND better candidates with better positions on issues, even if you don't vote. That may be more important than voting!
#Activism

IF a politician comes to your town, if it's a choice between voting or going to their events, go to the events and challenge their bad or dumb positions! They MAY re-think them, in which case you have made for yourself a better option as to whom to vote for, if you do. Don't let any politicians off the hook!
#Accountability

Anyone who watches here KNOWS I NEVER argue straight party voting, and to NEVER back any politician 100 percent! I praise their good positions and slam their bad ones. That's NOT disloyalty, but loyalty to principles and truth, morality and objectivity. If EVERYONE did this, America could get fixed in almost a day! #VoteAccordingly

And I consider any and all single-issue voters MORONS! I don't care what your single issue is! America faces many challenges, and if a politician is wrong on every issue but your pet peeve project, YOU hurt America voting your pet peeve! NO issue is that important, including Roe. Too many other issues are faced by our great nation.

I've said before, MANY "Christians" would vote for Hitler if he promised to overturn Roe!

1. He HID his evil; Chump displayed his proudly (so you abandoned support of right, as apostates).
2. If any red state banned all abortions, they'd still occur there, and the government would have to deal with the safety of such female citizens.
3. Look at all the ill-will and divisiveness in our nation which YOU ALONE brought about, by tunnel vision, blinders-on voting!
4. Worse than anything else, YOU brought down Jesus' reputation in our society! WHY would anyone want to visit your church, as morals meant NOTHING to you? Huh?

5. There are MUCH better ways to lessen the numbers of abortions, than banning them all! And even the three exceptions, a majority are against banning.
6. SCOTUS' reputation gets HARMED, flip-flopping by public opinion! SCOTUS will NEVER take a position, reverse it, then reverse it again! NEVER EVER!

And the HYPOCRISY of whining about abortions around election cycles is NOT lost on lost people! If you REALLY cared about abortions (vs. political power idolatry), you'd be at Planned parenthood every day, lovingly (vs. judgingly) imploring every entrant to consider adoption. NONE of you are, hypocrites!

The Mormon General Conference statement, yesterday, said to be 'good," they must oppose gays, trans and aborters—no gray areas. I'm AMAZED that even their extra-biblical books ONLY address three sins (SARCASM—they do NOT, and I've never even read any of them). WASPs have this same delusion, that the entire Bible only lists three sins! Heresy!

You can oppose and consider it a sin to abort (I do, if for contraception), engage sodomy, and wonder why some people are trans, but why do these religious holy rollers feel it's their right to single out only three behaviors for legal consequences? It's for political GOP power among Bible, dumber WASPs.
#TRUTH

WHY are WASPs preoccupied with sex sins? Some hidden compulsion, or curiosity, or perversion? The number one answer is that their concerns are NOT the Bible's concerns! Sex sins are in there, but are NOT a predominant theme, as they are among WASP voters. Get GOD'S perspective, Church! That's called maturity!

I wondered in my head, yesterday, how I could illustrate the absurdity of many WASPs ONLY concerned about abortions. That's like focusing on a toe, vs. the whole person. Biblically, it's as irrational as I Cor. 12:16 "thinking." America faces a BODY of issues. Quit the toe obsession/fixation!

At the same time, ALL abortions are killing a human being! It's NOT legal murder, but it is the taking of a life. They aren't birthed, yet, but you do NOT have a piece of tissue (like a wart) growing inside! NO tissue mass forms into a baby, excepting the result of egg fertilization. Make HUMANE choices!

WEINSTEIN, ROY MOORE & THE CHRISTIAN CABAL

(11/15/17)

Why do you think the Christian Cabal FLOCKED to be "spiritual advisors" to Chump, but they DON'T do the same for Mr. Weinstein, IF they fancy themselves pastors to famous people? Does the Bible teach to minister to the rich and powerful, or only when they're UP? Just asking, and noting HYPOCRISY, and power idolatry motive!

I woke up thinking about Mr. Weinstein, and THIS verse: II Cor. 2:7. The problem is, the context is the Church/Christians. The NEED is the same. YES, he will suffer consequences for his many sins (career, social life, reputation, et al), and YES he needs counseling, time away from the public, for soul-searching, and YES he has an addiction he has to conquer, but what he REALLY needs is for this experience to show him that he is, by nature, a sinner—no matter his religion—and he needs to be taught what happens to sinners, upon death, and how to avoid that fate!

ONE sin qualifies ALL men for Hell—not just serial sexual predators, or offenders. And Weinstein is in no more need of salvation/the Gospel than he's been all his life, even before his first sexual deviation! And, noting the FALSE DOCTRINE of Lordship Salvation, I'm certain he now feels terrible about those actions, but that natural emotion does NOT save anyone, as it has not caused him to be saved—yet! (II Cor. 7:10)

I used to be in professional pastoring. I was more into teaching than pastoring, so all I have is ~ten Christian counseling text books I haven't read, but I surmise it's quite hard to break an addiction, and prayer and forgiveness alone don't overcome "strongholds." But I'll pray for him, and hope someone in his, now, much smaller circle explains to him, in God's power, John 3:16!

[One other theological matter: You can tell some1 the Gospel, and invite them to respond, but unless God's sovereign conviction hits, they won't, or it won't be sincere. You can't control that, and they're responsible before God, no matter what.

It is NOT a normal decision their will alone makes! It's also not an experience God only offers an elect few, sovereignly. Before man, it's available for all; behind the scenes, it is, but when and how God calls them is 100 percent up to Him. See our website on Calvinism and Arminianism errors, for more].

Continued

NOW, consider me 100 percent for Roy Moore NOT being a politician ANYwhere! See our next post, please... <http://on.msnbc.com/2hBEx39>

Roy Moore is a racist! Forget the child molester allegations [which I demanded lie detectors for]—he JUST disqualified himself 100 percent, acting as if letting all Americans have equal access to the ballot box has caused any problems we have today. That's a slave owner mentality. HE ought to be PROVERBIALY lynched, and NO ONE in Alabama vote for him!

I'm not even going to read the article, first. To call letting especially black people have full legal rights is called "new rights" by Roy Moore? Where are his "Christian" beliefs that all men are created equal, with inalienable rights that only God can bestow? It's his conservative belief that the Constitution was perfect from the start?

New rights? The rights were ALWAYS there before God! No 1965 law made them out of thin air, it just corrected sinful biases began way back in slavery days, Roy Moore! New rights caused today's racial animosity? NO—what happened before those ‘new rights’ are just now being dealt with in society, foolish one!

And REAL Christians in America are NOT under persecution! That’s the victim mentality of losers, that conservatives blame liberals as holding (Ex.: Tomi Lahren’s poster). Every U.S. pastor is 100 percent FREE to do EDBS priorities, but most won’t, very thoroughly! ANY evil deeds should be shunned—that’s NOT persecution!

Banning Bible reading and prayer in the public schools caused recent problems? America, by its founding, was NEVER a theocracy! Establishment of ANY religion, or favoring one over others is UN-American! I LOVE every word that minister said [in the article]. ALL this nonsense is NOT Christianity! NO scriptural basis for such policies!

THANK YOU for speaking the factual TRUTH about accurate biblical perspective on Roy Moore's HERESIES on #AmJoy! I know the New Testament very well, and you represented it at A+ quality! I agree with every word of yours in that clip! @RevDrBarber WHY are there so FEW such voices, like yours?

WHY would ANY Christian be bemoaning prayer and the Bible being taken out of public schools 52 and 55 years later? Does ANYONE see the hypocrisy, and foolishness of digging up old bones, just before these old Christians die? Are we going to re-debate the merits of Jim Crow laws, and slavery, now? Live in the 21st century!

Here is the REAL problem these evangelicals will NEVER tell you: PASTORS have NOT fully evangelized America since the 1970’s, chasing mega mania, for fame and fortune, and they STILL won’t put a dint in doing EDBS priorities (defined at our website, and found ALL throughout the Bible). THAT’s the American Church’s problem—NOT “persecution!”

God does NOT teach to force Christian practices on lost people, like prayer and Bible study in public schools. He DOES command Christians to evangelize all lost people. Because we WON’T, the Christian Cabal is substituting spiritual power for secular power, to force our religious practices onto lost people! HERESY!

[@RevDrBarber: On @CNN, Pastor @JackNGraham said he can’t talk about gun laws, because that’s political. But he advises the President, because they agree on a political agenda. Preachers don’t get to opt-out of politics; we can be chaplains of the Empire, or prophets of God]. AMEN, brother! And that’s my family’s “pastor.” That’s why I don’t attend that often anymore! Hypocrisy and heresy make me sick at my stomach, just like luke-warm carnality does God—Rev 3:16. I may start listening to your sermons, online, for my new go-to church!

EVERYTHING that man [Graham] has done since June 2016 has been political! Even a few months before. I’m writing a book documenting all the details. It’s a LIE to say he doesn’t speak on political matters. See our book, Christians For Trump, to be found for FREE at <http://AmericanAnswers.org>, next year. I HATE lying pastors!

[@RevDrBarber: For the record, the Bible teaches that Joseph married Mary, and was faithful to her through great trials. He didn’t sexually assault her as a minor; he shielded her from shame and violence when people couldn’t understand a virgin birth]. And Joseph did NOT have sex with a minor. God miraculously made Mary pregnant with Jesus! Immaculate conception—BASIC Christian doctrine Roy Moore's fan club of fake Christians seem to have forgotten, or never have known in the first place.

#IgnoranceReigns!

I'm TRYING to figure out how so many "Christians" have such WARPED political views, in the name of "Jesus." It's tradition, from political brain-washing, and pastors keeping the sheep dumbed-down from knowing God's word; ONLY get it from them, CONTRARY to II Tim. 2:15 and I Jn. 2:27 Intentional ignorance.

And some wonder why Christians are stereotyped as being dumb? Wonder no more. We DIS-respect God when we don't love Him with all our heart AND minds! It's NOT enough to just be well-intentioned! God gave you a brain—USE it to the glory of God, claiming American "Christians!" (Mt. 22:37, in the first book in the New Testament)!

I'm sure the egos of the Christian Cabal LOVE being interviewed by CNN—they hit the "big time!" What they ALWAYS wanted—fame, to go along with fortune! BALAAM false prophets in it for self and money (Jude; II Peter). Jeffress sucks up to FoxNews because he LOVES media spotlight (ego sin). WOW; apostasy!

And why can't Mr. Gram (DFW pastor interviewed on CNN) speak on politics, if Chump's executive edict renounced the Johnson Amendment? Why doesn't anyone in the media EVER call out people for lying, anymore? @ABC @NBC @CNN @CBS @FoxNews Gram's hesitance is because of THIS!: <http://bit.ly/2muVCgP> Shadow vs. substance!

Christians are persecuted in America, Roy Moore? NO... false, warped depictions of Christianity ARE. HERE is BIBLICAL persecution: Ac. 2:13, 4:1-22, 5:17-18, 40, 6:11-14, 8:1-3, 9:1-2, (13-14), 16, (21), 23-24, 29, 11:19, 12:1, 3-4, 6, (19), 132:45, 50, 14:2, 4-5, 19, 16:19-24, 35-36, 17:5-8, 13, 32, 18:12-17, 4-5, 19, 16:19-24, 35-36, 17:5-8, 13, 32, 18:12-17, 19:29-40, 20:3, 22-23, 38, 21:10-14, 27-40, 22:4, 19-20, 22-29, 23:12-31, 24:1-9, 23, 27, 25:1-27:44, 28:16-18, 24-27, 29 DON'T EVEN compare people holding Roy Moore accountable for alleged sins!

Update #1: Roy'd Rage
(11/16/17)

Roy Moore's followers have PROVEN that, for them, it's all about agenda at ALL costs [as with Trump], and the ends justify the means, to CLAIMING "Christians." Alt-right policies MUST conform to Christ perfectly, to be so ardent (which they DON'T). They're REINFORCING dumb southerners image—thanks a lot—and tarnishing Jesus' name in the process!

Roy Moore's Alabama is a PRIME case of federalism stretched to its limits, with people rejecting ANY federal intervention they disagree with. It borders on treasonous rebellion: We want a mini-theocracy, blacks as second-rate citizens, and the good 'ol boy ways of our past, and NO bureaucrat is going to tell us otherwise.

Is Alabama's economy so good, they are so fiercely independent from U.S. norms, with Roy Moore? Are their education results up to snuff, nationally? Is their clamored-for "Christian" theology even accurate? They can't afford to secede, and the state needs a much more reasoned politician for the GOP, there!

I DARE any activist to try to take down a Confederate monument in Roy Moore's (figurative) back yard. Is the KKK strong there? Roy's TRICK is to use a Bible verse (Mt. 5:11), and wrongly apply it to his circumstances! Ignoramuses buy that Kool-Aid. He's NOT suffering for alleged righteous deeds!

Is the law being broken with Roy Moore's political speech in church this week, @ACLU? So much for separation of church and state! The BLATANT Christian Cabal mixing of religion and politics for Bannon's alt-right/extreme ends became evident to all, with the alleged sexual deviant's speech there this week! NOT what Jesus would do!

I reject Roy Moore's 1940's view of America, and him, outright for claiming blacks right to vote were 'new rights.' But let's address the accusers: Unless they colluded, and/or were paid, their numbers are strong indicators. I haven't read details of their testimony. Roy's fan club doesn't care if he's Hitler—it's ALL about AGENDA!

Moore claims these accusers attacked at an opportune political time. 1. What sex victim wants ANY public attention to such a past? 2. If they're courageous enough to come forward, wouldn't they do it ONLY when there's enough attention on their alleged perpetrator that others might care, and investigate?

And no one has mentioned the 'little hands' handgun Roy lifted up in public. I may or may not own a gun, but if I do, I assure you it wouldn't be that pea-shooter! It's hard to walk softly and carry a little stick, tough guy! And YES, we objectively criticize even our own, IF he's a 'Christian,' which spiritual reality I would share with him, if so.

For craving to have Roe overturned, the Christian Cabal seems to be willing to be in bed with ANY character, and ANY policies—NO exception! Hitler could shoot someone on a NYC street, and NOT have lost their support! It's blind, brain-washed imposing of their religious views onto America, circumventing the law-making process.

Continued

[Private account:] Dr. Alan Keyes: To people of Alabama—they're trying to tell you this is about Roy Moore, but, in fact, it is about stripping you from the presumption of innocence. If we let them get away with this, we will shut the door on all our rights.

If Alan said this, and ANYONE in Alabama can't detect the exaggerated fear-mongering of the quote, they're absolute IDIOTS! You can wear cleated hiking boots on slippery slopes, or ski cross country or snow plow! #Logic. LIES and fear are the work of the Devil, Alabama "Christians!"

For craving to have Roe overturned, the Christian Cabal seems to be willing to be in bed with ANY character and ANY policies—NO exception! Hitler could shoot someone on a NYC street and NOT lose their support! It is blind, brain-washed imposing of their religious views on America, circumventing the law-making process.

Let's use some rare, PURE logic. If the Christian Cabal wants Roe overturned—at all cost—and red states banned abortion, would they force women rape and incest victims to spend none months reminded of those assaults, or force husbands to be widowers with a baby? If NOT, they allow abortions.

And if red states allowed those three exceptions, abortion doctors would be commissioned to determine if a pregnant female had been raped, or an incest victim, rather than just seeking one for after-the-fact "birth control?" Doctors AREN'T in their job to be prosecutors or investigator detectives! #Food4Thought

IF abortion is the EXACT same thing as murder, the Christian Cabal would be legally justified shooting pregnant women at Planned Parenthood, and abortion docs! The Texas guy who shot the Sutherland Springs church shooter was a HERO for saving lives by shooting a murderer, but do so concerning abortion and you'll RIGHTLY go to JAIL!

And, the jail times for kidnapping/abduction are LESS than murder, so why aren't Christian Cabal types tackling pregnant women at Planned Parenthood, to prevent abortions? They'll say they're trying to fix this legally, by stacking SCOTUS; "judicial activism" conservatives SAY they HATE, bypassing the people, and Congress.

With Roy Moore types, they're trying to influence Congress' votes to stack SCOTUS. They NEVER tell you the TRUTH about their intentions (Christian behavior?), and they NEVER deal with what would happen if red states banned all abortions, or allowed three exceptions (i.e., implications). Sheer blind, UN-thinking loyalty to that agenda!

And IF the Bannon Bunch got their way, ALL U.S. school children would HAVE to study NOT just the Bible, but the Koran, and other holy books. Be careful what you ask for, with an UN-thinking agenda fidelity, Christian Cabal! And prayers to Allah, in said venues, would equally have to be allowed! Prayer mats, etc.?

VERY few people have taken notice of Roy Moores 'new rights' statement. If that wasn't 100 percent KKK-ish words, you are stupid! 1965 was black's voter's rights year, so Moore begrudges their getting said rights, and blames that for many current-day problems. Is this HARD for any to see? Is it a BAD Alabama education system?

Democrats could TRULY reveal the Christian Cabal motives by FAKE trial ballooning Roe's overturn. They'd STILL vote GOP, from TRADITION alone! They've been taught that liberals are all sexual deviants, and the GOP stands for holy sex—then they vote for Trump and Moore? No hypocrisy or error there (sarcasm).

I guess you can't teach OLD dogs new tricks, sometimes. It is habit, tradition, and nostalgia, which blindly adheres to any political party, with NO questioning of their BAD policies! The old church adage, 'that's how it's always been done' (even if it was done wrongly, as with lacking EDBS priorities; Mt. 15:9)

Here's ANOTHER way Democrats can smoke out TRUE motives of Christian Cabal types: FAKE trial balloon overturning Roe in exchange for higher taxes on the rich! They WON'T go for that, because Roe is a Trojan Horse for a very high motive of theirs—the rich getting richer, and scr_w everyone else! #MoneyIdolatry

We see, everywhere, signs of impending prophecy. READ Jude and II Peter, and ask yourself where these Balaam ministers are in today's world? If all the other signs are prevalent, would that sign be 100 percent lacking? I'm NOT saying all mega pastors fit the bill, but some do, and you don't even see it before your eyes on TV!

Rev. 17-18, in prophecy, UNITES politics, religion and business. What political constituency, today, is trying to do that EXACT same things?: Be for business over an equal concern for workers, be for religion and politics mixing. Do I REALLY have to answer my own question? The Apostasy is HERE! (II Th. 2:3); forsake God for secular power idolatry!

Morals DON'T matter to God's people in America (81 percent of WASPs were for this: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>). It's ALL because between 70-90 percent of U.S. Christians are 'carnal,' according to experts; have been more than 30 years. Morals be da_ned—they want political power for alt-right beliefs!

[Private account:] Sarah Huckabee Sanders: DT "believes the allegations are very troubling and should be taken seriously, and he thinks the people of Alabama should make the decision."

Here's an enlightening fact: Sometimes, the people can get things WRONG! Alabamans who care NOTHING about morals—only power idolatry for alt right policies—fit that bill! They'd vote for Hitler; he HID his sins before getting power. Idiocy!

I don't pay close attention, but if Chump is avoiding addressing Roy Moore much, it's because his boy, Bannon, is doing EXACTLY what Chump wants done. D.J. Trump HAS to give lip service for outrage over Moore, but he WANTS Roy to win! He works among D.C. politicians, so he CAN'T say that, publicly, but I just did, because it's TRUE, anyway!

Anytime Chump is too chicken to take a stand on moral issues, he sends his daughter out to the press, HOPING the public will attribute her morality to him. His daughter is RIGHTLY opposed to sexual molesters; Chump CAN'T counter Moore, because he WANTS Roy to win for alt-right D.J.T./#45 policies!

Update #2: Cultural Christianity

There's a fundamental, if not fundamentalist DIFFERENCE between the cultural Christianity of Roy Moore, and the TRUE Christianity of the Bible! The ten commandments in the court house, prayer and Bible study in public schools, sayings have a blessed day (as Ken Medema's song poked fun of), and raising a gun in public, as a politician—wrapping a proverbial American flag around the Bible he actually AUTOGRAPHS (AS IF he represents, or wrote it!).

This may have some traditional roots in U.S. history, but it is NOT biblical Christianity, folks! READ the New Testament for yourself! EDBS priorities are biblical Christianity!

ASK judge Moore if he has a daily quiet time, is fully committed, Spirit-filled and led, 24/7, memorizes and meditates on Scripture [have him cite for you the ones he's memorized!], walks by faith, does his share of evangelism, has been disciplined and does discipling, knows and uses his spiritual gift(s) in ministry, and does any work to serve cultural/social improvement!

THAT, ladies and gentlemen, is genuine Christianity! NOT making non-Christians say 'Merry Christmas,' then claiming it's NOT religious, but cultural tradition. If that lie were true, I wouldn't argue it's 'religious freedom' he's being persecuted for!

Manger scenes in the public square, Christmas trees, saying in God we trust, and one nation under God, standing for the national anthem, where God bless America is sung. These are TRAPPINGS of CULTURAL Christianity—NOT bad ones, but SYMBOLS—NOT substance!

Swearing on the Bible, prayer at high school football games, in God we trust engraved on our dollars—NOWHERE COMMANDED in the Bible!

So for Roy to be touted as some great Christian martyr, for breaking the law, when God says submit to governing authorities—and it DOESN'T say do so only when their laws comport with your beliefs—is a MOCKERY of the thousands of suffering martyrs throughout Christian history! Chicanery, supported by IGNORANCE!

I have friends in Alabama. We drive through it nearly every year. I'm NOT against or opposed to the people or the state, or even the Christianity Roy's "followers" are now proud of—I'm even one of them. I DO oppose a complete WARPING of the religion they're claiming, for the traditions of men, and what that warping does to the REAL-DEAL Christianity, in the minds of the vast U.S. majority who truly NEED the eternal life-saving message it is founded upon!

American voters, Roy Moore's version of Christianity is NOT what Jesus wants you to know, or follow. DON'T take MY word on that—READ Matthew through Revelation!

You will see NOTHING of praising a rebellious attitude toward governing authorities, NOTHING about begrudging blacks their rightful voting rights, NOTHING about "championing" the behavior Trump exhibited freely for TWO WHOLE YEARS, plus some!

Do NOT let yourself end up in Hell, burning forever, for rejecting a FALSE depiction of Jesus, for it is He and He alone Who signed His Bible in His blood; he and He alone Who is the committed One; he and He alone Who sovereignly rules this world—NOT a handful of zealous idiots hijacking my religion for the traditions of men! (II Tim. 2:3; Mk. 7:7). PLEASE read John 3:16!

And, finally, going to church makes one a Christian no more than going to McDonalds makes you a hamburger!, to quote the famous Keith Green, TRUE Christian hero (RIP). Church is ONLY the cherry on top of a week living closely to Jesus, and ONLY if it is biblical church (i.e., EDBS priorities), vs. Churchianity (i.e., sermon, song, and silver)!

P.S.: Prayer and Bible study in our public schools has been OUT of our society since the 1960's! WHERE WAS ROY'S RAGE, lo these past SIXTY YEARS, or so? If that is not ginned up, FAKE animosity, for political power gain, NOTHING is! He waits his entire adult life to voice outrage, and raise a stink? I'm NOT buying it!

Speaking of, Republicans told we #NeverTrump'ers to "get over" THIS: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>, yet Bill Clinton's evil sexcapades of the 1990's are STILL in the news, even today? It's VERY politically convenient, what the alt-right wants people to 'move on' from, or remain fixated on! #MoralsMatter

P.S.S.: WHY do ~90 percent in America believe in God, 70.6 percent say they're "Christian," but between 70 and 90 percent of them are "carnal/nominal?" CULTURAL CHRISTIANITY!... Misunderstanding the beliefs, and adopting a societal depiction I JUST described, as being the real deal. Churchianity vs. Christianity! Good night! Zzz. (3-4 am).

Update #3: War on Christmas?

(12/28-29/17)

I haven't seen 'Merry Christmas' really be attacked.

I've been told 'Merry Christmas' by all sorts of walks of lives and all sorts of cultures just this year.

—Jerushah Armfield (Billy Graham's granddaughter, 12/26/17)

VERY telling values & priorities!:

Honorable Roy Moore @RoyMooreSenate (12/24/17)

Round here when one says "Happy Holidays" we don't know if you're talking about Robert E. Lee Day or Confederate Memorial Day. With that in mind we say Merry CHRISTmas! #RoyMoore

#MerryChristmas2017 #RoyMoore #RoyMooreSenate #ChristmasEve2017 #WarOnChristmas #Alabama

Let's address the SO-CALLED 'war on Christmas.' Roy Moore types claim it's NOT establishment of religion, but U.S. tradition, then, in church circles, emphasize CHRIST in the term. They want it both ways—legal, and religious, to the bias against all other religions in America. Which way is it?

Let's be even clearer: The matters God cares about in society are righteousness and justice! NOT is it legal to have a Christmas tree, say 'merry Christmas,' or house a manger scene in the public square! A Christian sent me an email Xmas at the WH, via YouTube... AS IF U.S.A. got more righteous via Chump! Exactly the OPPOSITE! <http://bit.ly/2zMCi5h>

Justice is what God wants of society, and man's laws, which is related to righteousness. (Mic. 6:8; Levit. 19:15). Justice is unbiased as to ANY party's wins! Righteousness does NOT engage win-at-all-costs values, like Christian" Trump supporters FOR this: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> '...and justice for all!'

The ten commandments in a courthouse are like saying all Americans must love God number one, and honor the Sabbath (i.e., religious tenets), when 70-90 percent of U.S. Christians don't even do the former! Implicit is that America is a theocracy, based on Judaism and Christianity, which is ERROR, legally and historically, Roy Less. Would you approve a Koran framed in a courthouse?

AFTER THE ELECTION means NOTHING! Truth does not await proper timing to exonerate itself, but willingly submits at a time when facts matter! By the way, where are the polygraph results, vs. his affidavit? Why not show them? WAY too much water under the bridge, now, Roy Less! Too little, too late. [Replying to post showing Moore's affidavit that he passed a lie detector test regarding sexual molestation)

A local talk radio substitute host spoke at our home church, and today [on the radio] said the ten commandments would have been respected fifty years ago, and Roy Less would have been a hero. They are NO LESS respected! U.S.A. just is NOT a theocracy, Mr. Gohmert! Separation of church and state, and the establishment clause, good 'ol boy. Hoof-in-mouth!

ANOTHER local talk radio fill-in host said the tax rebate will cause our economy to go crazy. If $1,500 for most Americans causes an economic turnabout in your life, you really have poor financial skills, and the debt increase is a DRAG on the economy, and anchor on future generations! People can be so IGNORANT

WHICH PARTY & POSITIONS IS GOD FOR?

(8/29/18)

You are in trouble! Something troubling me will now be addressed, here... Conservatism & Christianity: There are MANY things occurring behind the scenes, to link tRump politics with WASPS, using the code word "conservative" to sanctify it all. No one is countering this heresy! "Liberal" is a synonym for demonic, in such circles, as with "moderate."

Geoffrey the Giraffe Jeffress said as much, and talk radio, some mega pastors and Christian universities are reinforcing that MYTH. Christians are NOT to believe MYTHS, but TRUTH. That means, LITERALLY, WASPs are often being brain-washed by their so-called 'leaders,' which makes the followers FOOLS!

Adam and Eve were fooled, which made them fools! You are responsible for what you believe, before God... you and you alone! You canNOT trust ministers with political agendas to have righteous motives—only pious words to skew and sway you to their political agenda!

Liberal, moderate, conservative... WHICH one is God? None of the above, 100 percent! Christians, especially WHITE ones, have bought into a LIE from Satan that the word "conservative" is a synonym for holiness, in the political arena. God's people following Satan through his lies, by being deceived! That's NOT willful sinful/carnality, but inadvertently, yet it is the SAME THING!

WHERE is God in all three options? In conservatism, the Bible is for a strong national defense, defined borders (i.e., national identity), fiscal responsibility, a good economy, quality education, helping the poor/charity, personal responsibility, self-defense (Ex.: guns), law and order, NOT wasting money or taxes, and a HOST of other conservative policies.

But with the negatives I detailed before (See: Creationism & Conservatism), with those God is NOT pleased. You canNOT claim you live for Jesus and support immoral public policy! You can be a carnal/wayward Christian, and do so, but do NOT publicly name the Name if you are the latter! You do Him a disservice!

100 percent political conservatism is idolatry, unless it's morally perfect, which it is surely NOT! So what about liberalism? It, as well, has its positives and negatives! ACKNOWLEDGE that, predominantly white Christians (by which I mean minority Christians NOT associated with the Christian Cabal don't often argue for conservatism)!

The intention to have a clean environment, to feed the poor, to seek and have justice, even against society's worst offenders (Ex.: jail birds), medical research, ending animal cruelty (especially commercially), a desire for no wars, taking in the immigrant and refugees... these are NOT sinful aspirations, conservatives!

Yes, parading and celebrating any sins is a negative, and evil, and conservatives usually point to gay marriage and abortion, but conservatives celebrate and parade their own hero sins of greed, selfishness, idolatry and worldliness! ACKNOWLEDGE this, WASPs!

The issue between them becomes how to pay for things. Conservatives ALWAYS cling to the Constitution MUCH stronger than to God's word! They TRULY (brain-washed, or not) believe if a topic is not overtly spelled out in that document, states alone can address them! 'Limited government' is their mantra. That is NOT only what the document says, though it does also say that, foolish believing ones!

It ALSO says 'and to the people,' and 'a more perfect union,' and 'general welfare.' These words and concepts are in the original/document—I'm NOT making them up! READ IT!

It is NOT evil/sinful for issues that affect the nation to be addressed organizedly, without favoritism, to down confusion or disparities, in every case! The feds, per se, are NOT innately evil people, nor are local yokel politicians always holy, foolish believing ones. It's ALL in the policies they advocate!

Texas will be more conservative than New York, and those differences make a pretty pretty tapestry of regional diversity and variety. One size does not often fit all. So if California wants to have cleaner air than The South, let 'em! Don't mock that decent desire, and ACKNOWLEDGE (a word I'm using a lot, here) you may just love money more than they, as it's a tradeoff between maximum oil dollars, or cleaner air (though technology is bridging the polarities, more and more).

Liberal/blue states may care more that Rancher Rick cruelly gains his gold off caged chickens than in red states. Is a "Christian" going to demean/slander him for such a desire for humane treatment, JUST AS our Lord instructed us, because the red state WASP abuses Gen. 1:26-28 to mean dominate vs. control, in contradiction of Pv. 12:10?

Renewable energy (but not just green energy, or abandoning oil)... it REALLY makes sense, if you know anything, or have any IQ. Let me explain: DID YOU KNOW that oil has been harder and harder to find in past 20-30 years? Oil platforms have had to float deeper into the ocean depths, and America has been more and more reliant upon imported oil from a DANGEROUS and turbulent Middle East region, since the oil embargo days!

Prices ROSE! When I was a kid, gas for your car was much cheaper, even allowing for inflation. ONLY from the invention of fracking have we found temporary relief. And even if T. Boone Pickens found a gold mine undiscovered oil basin, it does NOT last forever. And coal and oil DO pollute more than green resources—it's JUST a fact—not fake news or an alt-fact! LIVE in your engine-on car in your garage for three hours, and you will see what burns out of your exhaust pipe will KILL you! That's just one example that not all liberal causes are evil, WASP Christian, and other political conservatives!

Is it EVIL that liberals care that nearly every product has packaging, usually made of plastic, paper or cardboard, and that ALL that "stuff" we throw in trash cans (which end up in landfills)?

Is it EVIL that studies have been done to see that God's land and sea creatures—Bambi and Flipper—get injured, maimed or killed from what humans dispose into the oceans and environs? You can't often make money off cleaning it up, so your conservative value system poo-poo's such concerns, but your CLAIMED God NEVER taught you that money is the ultimate value! YOU decided that—you and your political philosophy!

Medical research... Polio is no longer the threat that it once was; cancer eradication takes research, and researchers cost money. Are YOU going to hire one for your family? No. It's a collective cost and benefit. Sure, profits can come of it, but not in all cases, or initially.

DO YOU CARE, or will you cling to the lie that it's all my money (vs. God's—you're just a steward), and God-ordained government (Rom. 13) is EVIL to want any, or especially any more of it? YES YOU WILL... I know you all too well, because of sinful carnality in your heart—that stubborn old money idolatry/worship sin.

In your "worldview," government would just leave you alone, and let you pursue happiness, even though your CLAIMED-by-you God NEVER said that's your purpose on earth/in life. Again, you cling to the words of the Constitution more than the words of your claimed-for-yourself God's holy book. Just sayin'. $22 TRILLION in national debt. Can your mind grasp that size? WHO owes it to whom? You and I.

You, conservative, can blame evil liberals for spending taxes like water, thereby absolving your conscience of any ownership, but we live or die as a unit/team, and we're ALL responsible for ALL the fools WE let into office, who rung up our tab/bill!

You crave a stupid politician giving you something, or saving your tax take on your April 15th 1040! You, my human brother and sister, are guilty as charged of the evil/sin of selfishness in your politics!

You rant and rave, in political debate, about anything government does that costs money, but government has a job to do, and there are no free lunches in this temporary, finite life! YES, government should get their best bang for our buck, prioritize, and stop all fraud and waste, but at the end of the day, its functions cost money—your money and mine, in the form of God-approved taxes (Rom. 13:6). In prayer, tonight, TELL GOD HE BLEW IT, and got it wrong, sanctioning evil taxes, hypocrites!

Bottom line, we WASP Christians RARELY want to APPLY God's Bible to our lives or politics, even though we are called to do so! That means, by definition, and with no other alternatives, that we are conscious sinners ripe for judgment, and unwilling to repent! We not only want our cake and eat it too, we want someone else to pay for it, or we want others to starve to death, so long as I keep as much of my stash as humanly possible; let China foot the bill, through interest on our indebtedness to them (primarily)—I DON'T CARE, just leave me alone when it comes to ponying up!

Take the poor person... Talk radio and some pastors have engrained in the average WASP that any and all people on Welfare are lazy, system-abusers, with hands out, unwilling to work, too prideful to take a second job, and, in a word, they're moochers, using Uncle Sam rather than be street corner beggars! IS THIS TRUE (a question every Christian should always ask themselves on every matter of life).

Some are, some aren't. Those who are are evil and should be thwarted/cut off. But tell me, Christian, how helping them just a little is evil? 'They should just work harder, spend less or get a better job' is your knee-jerk response pundits have taught you to utter. NOT ONLY go visit a poor area of town, DID YOU KNOW greedy (and even not greedy) businesses and rich folk (often white) have outsourced out the wazoo since ~1985, and both GOP and Dem politicians have imported labor through the roof?

Those political decisions harm American pocketbooks, especially the wallets of the poor! If Jaime will work for less than minimum wage (or considers it a gold mine), how is Poor Pete 'gonna compete? If Poor Pete's job has been automated, doesn't it merely make sense that any employer would spend $60K for one robot, and fire ("lay off") one $20K/year employee, and recoup that investment in three years? Economics 101!

My point is that when self-appointed, limelight-seeking, stars-in-their-eyes "preachers" leach onto politicians, to build their audiences, saying the word "conservative" should have been tacked onto the 10 commandments, DONT BELIEVE SUCH FOOLS OR YOU BECOME A FOOL YOURSELF!

And what of moderates? You have been TAUGHT that all moderates are 'Dems lite,' compromisers, go-along-to-get-along politicians whose own careers are more valuable to them than what's right for the country (and, in many cases, that does describe many if not most politicians). But does that HAVE to be the case? Are our only options two polar extremes?

IS it only oil or only green energy; black lives matter or blue ones, also?; business or ecology?; profits for the rich, or good-paying jobs for labor? Conservatism or liberalism? Is our politics ONLY one or the other? H.E.-double L no! But if red states INSIST on 100 percent pure conservatism, and blue ones the polar opposite, conflict is inevitable! Division is certain. Arguments, ill-will, and even more violence is guaranteed, because everyone is demanding their personal political preferences.

And I just (briefly) demonstrated how ALL political positions have negatives and positives, and NONE are perfect! The Civil War pitted North (-East) vs. South (-West). MANY people died! Lincoln bridged the gap, as well as possible, and our states remained "United."

Ever heard the phrase, "damn your principles?" I say damn your errors, especially among extremists! It's AWESOME that you have GOOD policies, but HORRIBLE that you have BAD ones, on BOTH extremes!

Liberals want MORE taxes so more public work can get done (all things cost money, remember?); Conservatives want LESS taxes (so China, temporarily, becomes our credit card bank/lender). He who is in debt is the slave to that lender! (Pv. 22:7)

You will NEVER HEAR this logical an analysis of the way things are from an agenda-driven pastor, or politician! They want to win power, and not share it with their enemies! Win-lose; all-or-nothing—the whole enchilada; I win, you lose; I live, you die. SUCH is the state of current U.S. politics, and it is irrational, depraved and asinine!

But you (NOT I) LIKE it. You crave the drama. You enjoy getting heated, and hating enemies (OPPOSITE of the Jesus you CLAIM abides inside), the headlines, the media ratings, the heat without light! You are so emotionally and morally bankrupt that you thrive on conflict, and trying to one-up your political opponent.

Jesus Himself backs all you do, say the tares and false prophets who hit your FOXy air and talk radio waves to engrain this B.S. in your usually unrenewed minds to God's word! Democrats are from the Devil, and are demons! This is the subconscious message such dupers as Jeffress and Falwell WANT you to FEEL.

THINK, Christian. Use the mind God gave you! You are commanded so to do! (Mt. 22:37) It is NOT true that political conservatism is God-ordained, and even if you could prove the Constitution only supports conservatism (which it doesn't), you are to be following God's word more than man's words, great as they are!

Permit me to throw some stats your way... Five percent of you have EVER won one soul to Jesus in your entire lifetime! That's your number one calling, and your miserable failures at it! People go to an eternal and fiery Hell because of your sinful incompetence! DO YOU CARE? NOT if your 401-K is doing well, truth be known.

God NOWHERE told you to live for the here-and-now, or serve money more than Him, yet you do, regularly. Just go to the local church, give a little, and God is pleased, right? WRONG-O!!! You have ZERO idea the nature or character of the God you only fantasize about, because 87 percent of you rarely even break open the source of learning of Him on any regular basis!...

Too busy chasing a world He said be in, but not of! Your "leaders" are NOT 'gonna preach this sermon, once it's placed in a free online book! They make money when you keep coming, and sugar-coated, watered-down messages you enjoy, and want to hear, are the much-better way for them to secure income! 'Hirelings.' Look it up in the Bible and a Dictionary! You NEED this lesson, though you writhe at reading it. You flock to be in the flock of shepherds who promise you health and wealth in this life! EVERYONE's sin nature craves those blessings/things, but God doesn't promise what your Balaam apostate pontificators do!

He guarantees you that life is difficult, at times, that the walk is doable, but NOT Easy Street, the focus is eternal vs. temporal, and the rewards outlive you in the hereafter! That's why a not-so-grand grand majority of you do NOT live full-heartedly for the God you claim! You don't want to, and you don't fear the consequences enough!

Too many men wanting in your wallets have lied to you, to keep you coming and singing every weekend! Beware, and look up, little flock; your redemption draweth nigh, but your judgment draweth even swifter, if you do not repent, church of America!

WHITE HOUSE DINNER DUPES
(& Christian Cabal Origins)
(8/31/18)

Executive Summary. When your second-in-line north campus pastor mirrors your belief that ‘image is everything,’ it’s EAST to see how you could devise such a scheme that you simply organize ministers who are either well-known, or have dads who did powerful things for Christianity, and make the public appearance that, together, your handful of cronies are leaders of the church. This self-appointed bunch derived the incentive from my taunting their leader and recruiting organizer that Roe passed while on their watch, and more than anything else, got the idea of banding and bandying together by my tweets asking what happened to the Moral Majority, and taunting how Christians in general (and pastors in specific) had become so apathetic toward social change (and pastors preoccupied with chasing money and fame), that the idea to counter that obvious 20-30 year trend seems to have just come together from a meshing of a few of our pertinent tweets. With this premise at work, when you email, text or phone a few of your lifelong ministry colleagues to get out the vote or to attend events supporting tRump (in Israel, national Prayer Breakfasts, or White house dinners), it’s EASY to get many Christian laymen and non-religious people in the public to believe you are “leaders,” and represent the church, when you have press releases given to sympathetic media outlets like FoxNews and Christian radio and TV sources. ‘Image is everything’ (says the Devil); appearances vs. substance and truth. (Heb. 11:1; Col. 2:17; John 8:32)

Details. Flip-flopper (from Jeb to Cruz to tRump) James Dobson brags that CHUMP has kept all promises he made to evangelicals. A REAL leader of Christians would NOT seek favoritism of any one religion, but justice. Is that too biblical to understand? Apparently. @DrJamesDobsonFT

Now that I’ve accumulated a list well over 50 percent of the White House WASP heretic attendees (excepting Laurie, Merritt and Greear), I know how to finalize my book with a detailed list of the Christian Cabal. There are likely others, tied to J. Gram/Ounce, but they’re smart enough to remain private! NOT ALL who came by my family’s church were of that ilk!

Yet another chump who came to my family’s church, to be part of the Christian Cabal (FoxNews attention aspirer). <https://fxn.ws/2PiJw4g>

The media would be literal FOOLS to ignore my cumulated findings, that tRump asked the 100 ministers at his White House dinner to preach for GOP midterm votes, by monitoring their sermons live, online, for Johnson Amendment violations in the next three months! @ABC @CBS @NBC @CNN MOST of them live stream their sermons.

Monitor Christian Broadcasting Network, ACTS Network, Trinity Broadcast Network, Salem Communications (radio), and FoxNews, the next three months, to expose how many "Christian" shows/programs urge WASP laymen to back tRump, by voting GOP in the midterms, PLEASE! @ABC @CBS @NBC @CNN (Eph. 5:11)

PLEASE prosecute pastors who endorse tRump, as a Johnson Amendment violation, the next three months, by monitoring the sermons live stream, or archived at the 100 venues represented by the Evangelical White House dinner attendees, PLEASE! @DNC @TheJusticeDept @TheDemocrats ((@FBI, @CIA))

Another tie to @JackNGraham: He personally recruited Greg Laurie to become a Southern Baptist (as well as his own denomination) in the past two years, and had Greear speak to our church the day before he became elected SBC president. <https://vimeo.com/274519560> <https://bit.ly/2opp6uR>

And NAME RECOGNITION is why @JackNGraham chose Falwell and Frankie Graham to join his Cabal. Older WASPs sometimes feel fondly about the real Jerry Falwell (i.e., Moral majority), and everyone does about Billy Graham! DUPES will let familiarity with a last name cause credibility cross-over, for little-to-NO reason!

Then recruit the most famous longtime Christian radio celebrity of old, James Dobson, to your Cabal mix, as was done in my presence: <https://bit.ly/2uLZfSc> Throw in your near BFF ex-Southern Baptist president to LOOK like the Southern Baptist Convention is onboard (i.e., Ronnie Floyd), for revival prayer meetings I called for, here!

Do EXACTLY what God through myself nagged Graham to do, and you look like 'leaders' (Ex.: More evangelism, so Greg Laurie goes with DFW ATT stadium crusades, twice, with nation-wide, record-breaking involvement). Doing what came from HERE makes you FEEL like leaders you pretend you are with the Christian Cabal, politically, apparently!

Use Jeffress (and to a MUCH lesser extent, my sister's pastor, Robert Morris) to get the political entres going (Bobbie already had them started with Trump, and even Rick Perry, in the past), so you unite forces! Let him take on FoxNews interviews, and the organizer can allay negative criticism and flack. SURELY I'd give it to him!

And guess what all this does for your business? FREE exposure, and many pastors looking up to you like you're a champion (a word said of the Cabal for tRump, two weeks after its founder called that campaign nonsense (on a Saturday evening service, one to two weeks before this: <https://bit.ly/2tOeOqC>; His term, 'Nonsense,' came from just posted Facebook speech, to show me—in a sermon—that he had read it).

Host a North Texas Presidential Forum, and publicly state that you're glad you got the ones 'we' (i.e., the crowd and organizers) really wanted, because Hillary and tRump DIDN'T attend. Have Dobson come and speak, and say he's loyal to the Bushes, and Jeb, but commend God's work through myself, exposing national gay marriage turning SCOTUS national, because no opposition was being voiced (<https://bit.ly/2LJielk>), then switch that "loyalty" to Cruz (<https://bit.ly/2LJielk>), then scrape the barrel with tRump, even to today (<https://bit.ly/2NxcWei>). We experience and/or document our claims, here!

Thus, you have the formation of the Christian Cabal/"Evangelical" Council. And here's documentation regarding Ronnie Floyd "leading," by calling for revival prayer meetings (<https://bit.ly/2PPuK5U>), and the National Day of Prayer events unify them, as Dobson's wife has @JackNGraham host: <https://bit.ly/2wzMIR4>

Then, in July 2018, have VP Pence (your insider guy in the White House—and who America gets, if Democrats impeach—because he, as governor, opposed implementing Obergefell/gay marriage), speak to the Southern Baptist Convention, praising DJT ~18 times! (both documentations are in the book, Christians For Trump, at AmericanAnswers.org)

Have Huckabee attend Gateway Church, and tell attendees, after his speech, that you have to vote for tRump, or we'll lose our country (i.e., a fear tactic and lie—from JESUS?). I have family members as eye witnesses. He even coddled Chump so his daughter could get a job, and we see how "Christian" truthful she's been—NOT!

Untold numbers of contacts with famous mega pastors who have radio or TV shows, and innuendos in sermons, and you've got Christian laymen believing Chump was "anointed" by God. READ their representative comments, here: <https://bit.ly/2LPw6dW> God uses evil, for good to come? (Rom. 3:8, 6:1) The ends justify means? (a phrase used in a recent Prestonwood sermon, but misused to characterize focusing on your end-goals—not doing evil so good may come).

Shall I go on? (Heb. 11:32). I have, and you can read it ALL, for FREE, in our book I'm finalizing as you watch, Christians for Trump: Is God a Democrat or a Republican?, at AmericanAnswers.org, online soon. Answer: GOD IS NEITHER PARTY, 100 percent! He is ONLY for moral policies and behaviors!

And since there's a contract with at least four copies, banning myself from ever mentioning Graham or Prestonwood online, or I can't return to my family's church (I have a copy, somewhere in my pile of useless documents), you don't know these facts, as I couldn't tell them the past three years, until I broke that catch and kill contract!

I've actually been banned from EVERY Sunday School class there, for more than a decade! That's what began my writings... I had nothing to do, waiting on my family, at church! I was banned because I knew more than the teacher, asked too many questions, added too many insights, or corrected him too often! #TRUTH

That means, LITERALLY, my sweet wife has attended the SAME Sunday School/Bible fellowship class at Prestonwood, without her husband ever attending! Talk about control freak and dividing families, like his idol, the catch-and-kill contract control freak, tRump, who he championed! #WOW

EVERYONE in that Saturday evening class, excepting maybe five (including two main leaders), has NO IDEA why I'm such a 'pagan,' that I used to attend worship services, but skip out on their class! It's because a meeting presented to me as discussing my website materials (WillYouLiveForever.org) was a RUSE, to ban me.

The Sunday School teacher at the time, @PhilThames, phoned me from the Texas Rangers' practice in Arizona, where the staff had flown him to schmooze him, and had him tell me he wanted to discuss using my materials in the class. I had pushed for evangelism and discipleship taught since I first joined the church.

By the way, I cancelled my membership there after these events, but the older female records keeper didn't do as I authorized, so when two staffers called me in to say sign a contract never to mention Prestonwood online, or you can't return, one of them said, "you're a member here," and I said, "no way," not knowing their record keeper didn't do her job!

1.5-1.75 years later, when in Houston, I sought to again be a member of my favorite church from my college years, due to their great pastor, John Bisagno (RIP). The interviewer said it's highly unlikely, because I'm in DFW, and he wanted Prestonwood and I to reconcile.

I tried, many times—documented in the book. Bisagno happened to be there, that day (well along in retirement, vs. on staff), and it got approved! That's the same church Ted Cruz, much later, became a member of, hopefully not for political clout. I was licensed to the ministry, there, in 1981, by Bisagno! But I digress...

SO MANY schemes and antics the Christian Cabal used from the 'champion' statement to ABCnews, until election day! I detail probably all of them in that book. EXPECT those same tactics to be used from today forward, until the midterms, in WASP mega churches that follow that ilk's political bias for DJT/46-1!

This is SO relevant to what I just told you! Rich (second tax break proposed), WASPS, and less-educated good 'ol boy whites. Trump frantic to shore up base as scandals deepen, insiders flip <https://on.msnbc.com/2N8xgWg>

Another near-record high number of viewers, this morning. People LIKE being told the truth about what goes on behind the scenes in politics and religion, because they get lied to so often by crooked people! Thanks for all of your witnessing these facts being recorded for our coming book!

Related Tweets

Introduction

But Daniel resolved that he would not defile himself with the king's food, or with the wine that he drank. Therefore he asked the chief of the eunuchs to allow him not to defile himself. (Dan. 1:8)

Daniel, here, always makes me think of Proverbs 23:1-2: "When you sit down to eat with a ruler, observe carefully what is before you, and put a knife to your throat if you are given to appetite. —Pastor Colby Garman (8/28/18)

HERE is what a REAL "Baptist" did and said, when encountering an evil politician: Mark 6:18. John did NOT praise him, and ask any nearby crowd to tell reasons why they voted for the guy! (8/30/18)

HERE is what a REAL "prophet of God" did and said, when encountering severe evil in a politician: II Sam. 12:7. Nathan did NOT praise him, and ask any nearby crowd to tell reasons why they voted for the guy! #EvangelicalWhiteHouseDinner #HYPOCRISY sin! (8/30/18)

WHERE ARE THE VOICES OF OUTRAGE? The Christian Cabal have NO courage to threaten withholding support of the stupidest and most evil president ever, because they fear he'll not pursue "Christian" policies. You are dependent! You sold your soul. You are in bondage to the Devil's man. I pity you for your many sins. (8/27/18)

And when the Evangelical Council fails to take a stand for morality, because they fear that CHUMP will abandon policies WASPs wants, you have made a deal with the Devil, LITERALLY. You fancy yourself clever strategists. I consider you moral reprobates and idolaters (a sin). I won't associate with you! (8/27/18)

I am sick and tired of associating with men who ARE James one... tossed by every wind and wave, depending on who's doing good or bad in the polls, or kisses up to them on abortion! HERETICS! America should be INCENSED that CHUMP doesn't meet with Jewish, Islamist, Hindu, and all other religions, as he is with WASPs. (8/27/18)

When you have an unruly, spoiled kid, you do NOT give into giving them what they want! You set boundaries, and put your foot down. The Christian Cabal ALWAYS excuses meeting with Chump, because he has them by the ___s. They'll NEVER publicly address his call for vote-getting from the pulpit! HOW CONVENIENT! (8/31/18)

Event Content

Tonight was the night and it was a very special night with a very special leader and his wife with some great people in that room who are working hard for our churches and our communities. –Jack Graham (<https://bit.ly/2MJrfjJ>)

[Private account:] ...Looks like lots of love, thanks, and admiration for Trump was expressed... <https://bit.ly/2C18MKu> (8/29/18)

“In recent years, the government tried to undermine religious freedom, but the attacks on communities of faith are over. We have ended it. America is a nation of believers.” @RealDonaldTrump

Trump Brags About Pushing Through The Christian Right's Agenda. At a special White House dinner for evangelical leaders, President Trump took time to explain how he has enacted so many of the religious right's policies. –Source Unknown

[Private account:] Last night, during a White House dinner for evangelical leaders, President Trump bragged about: Not enforcing the Johnson Amendment [pastors endorsing politicians], empowering healthcare workers to impose their religion on patients [cramming beliefs down throats], reinstating the anti-choice "global gag rule" (Mexico City policy) [lying to prevent abortions]; (8/28/18) See also: <https://bit.ly/2MDZyZn>

[Private account:] Author @ericmetaxas was among the Evangelical leaders at a White House dinner hosted @POTUS. He tells us about the evening, including what the President said about protecting the unborn and also protecting religious freedom: <http://bit.ly/2wrf33> (8/29/18)

GREAT! Maybe now he'll read it, and better, obey it, starting with learning that it's NOT "Two" Corinthians, and his favorite verse has been superseded by Jesus (i.e., an eye for an eye): President Trump and Melania receive a Bible signed by over a hundred Christians. –Faith and Freedom Coalition (8/29/18)

Event Problems

Trump to evangelical leaders: “I just ask you to go out and make sure all of your people vote... you're one election away from losing everything you've got.” –Religious News Service (8/29/18)

While the dinner itself WAS reportedly planned far in advance, it still ultimately functioned as an opportunity for evangelicals to publicly defend Trump after a week of really, really bad press.... Jack Jenkins (Religious News Service, 8/29/18)

Why? It's for VOTES!: [Private account:] Why? I'll tell you why. This set of conservative, mostly white evangelicals have betrayed Christ for 40 pieces of silver. They walk lock step with the most misogynistic, racist and corrupt President in recent memory, maybe ever. <https://bit.ly/2BRhYkj>

[Private account:] In sum, it sounds like this was a campaign event targeting a particular religious group in the White House, not a tribute, much less an event appropriate for "The People's House." <https://bit.ly/2C18MKu>

EXACTLY what I tweeted... it was all a dog-and-pony show, the intent being to support the GOP in the mid-terms. ALL people who attended are tainted before God for supporting continual, open, serious and unrepentant sin! (8/30/18): There was a tape. Trump told evangelical pastors to lobby for Republicans from the pulpit. Or "They will overturn everything that we've done and they'll do it quickly and violently. And violently. There's violence." <https://nyti.ms/2ohmsal> –Andy Rowell (8/28/18)

Attendees

What the public and media hardly know, MANY of the most famous Christian Cabal members were organized by @JackNGraham: F. Graham, Jeffress, Reed, Falwell, Dobson, Morris, Laurie, Floyd, Perkins, and about eight others at the dinner. I explain ties to that scoundrel in my FREE book-Christians For Trump-online Nov. (8/30/18)

.@robertjeffress on Trump hosting evangelical leaders at @WhiteHouse: "The headline of the evening would be: 'Evangelicals remain enthusiastically supportive of President @realDonaldTrump.'" – @FoxNews

Dear First Baptist Dallas Church @firstdallas congregation members and staff, Your pastor is not being invited to the White House because he is a great pastor but because he is the only pastor that will support Trump publicly. This represents Jesus poorly. Vote him out, or leave. –Andy Rowell (8/27/18)

FYI, My wrap-up of who was at the evangelical leaders Trump White House dinner, so others can dig deeper. @rachelheldevans @jgsphd @Wade_Burleson @wthrockmorton @JonathanMerritt @TheAlanNoble @leithanderson @GalenCarey @edstetzer [a person I know to be objective] @dandaring @johnortberg @timkellernyc @AndyStanley [yet another one] @SBethMooreLPM [and another] @bobsmietana @TheRichardClark @tedolsen @Mepaynl @ahc @KatelynBeaty @scotmcknight @emmaogreen @mboorstein @lkoturner @MichaelRWear –Andy Rowell (8/29/18)

I received a like from Robert Morris TV Ministries on my tweet saying if I confirmed he DIDN'T attend the WH dinner, I'd likely join his church. The article I just posted SAID he was there (<https://bit.ly/2C0ZfTA>). Therefore, there is NO WAY I will consider that church, even though I was about to visit this Sunday. (8/29/18)

[Private account:] Last night, Paula White presented Trump with a Bible signed by 100+ evangelicals, with an inscription including the line, "History will record the greatness that you have brought for generations."... (8/28/18)

Is there a single evangelical seminary professor in America who would endorse Paula White? And yet in the Trump universe she's anointed as the most prominent "evangelical" spokesperson. –Thomas S. Kidd (Baylor University historian), (8/29/18)

How many attendees of evangelical "leaders" meeting with Trump have seminary degrees? Not F. Graham, Falwell, Dobson, Rodriguez, Scott, Laurie, Bauer, Reed, Metaxas, Copeland, White, Franklin. Jeffress, Garlow, J. Graham, Floyd, Greear and their institutions are embarrassed. –Andy Rowell (8/28/18)

Disclaimers

I received an invitation from the White House to attend a dinner in which the administration would address faith leaders. I weigh every decision carefully and consulted with a number of leaders across the political spectrum. In this case, I chose to attend in order to listen and meet other leaders and offer perspective where asked. Witness in the public square requires some presence in it, but I'm just as committed as ever to decoupling the church from partisan politics, and my desire for the SBC remains what it has always been—promoting a culture in which the gospel is above all. Sometimes we have to step out of our comfort zones for the sake of the gospel. I did not sign the Bible—I was not asked and was not aware it was being given. J.D. Greear (current Southern Baptist president, 8/28/18)

I pointed out that this country was planted in spiritual soil by the great Evangelist George Whitefield. I also quoted 2 Chronicles 7:14 and reminded everyone that this revival God wants to bring does not start in the White House but in HIS HOUSE. ("If my people which are called by my name will humble themselves and pray. . ."). I then prayed for the President to receive wisdom from God and to be surrounded by good and godly people. I also prayed for his protection as so much weight is placed on his shoulders. . . I never want to pass up the chance to pray and share God's Word with the leaders of our country, regardless of if they are Democrats or Republicans. <https://bit.ly/2PptCoC> –Greg Laurie (8/29/18)

[Private account:] Funny how @GregLaurie didn't have the courage one week ago tell 30,000 people at his Harvest Crusade at Angeles Stadium last week that he's in the tank for Trump. (8/27/18)

Conclusion

[Private account:] Sure, go to the White House dinner. But if you agree to attend one expressly designed to shore up religious support exactly when a deeply compromised president is most vulnerable, you should clearly, publicly state whether you align with that president's policies and values. (8/28/18) Note: Some attendees excused such appearance from the invitation having been received six weeks prior—yet they attended!]

Recall that teams of pro athletes have declined to go to the White House to meet with Trump to honor their work. And that does not compare with the obscene exploitation of evangelicals to cover over Trump's immorality, dishonesty, and greed. –Andy Rowell (Bethel Seminary professor), (8/28/18)

[At John McCain's funeral:] There's a reading from Second Corinthians at #McCainMemorial. @POTUS would have referenced that reading "Two Corinthians," but now he has his new inscribed Bible, even though he always said he loved the one that SAT on his bedside table, when he was a Christian, before he "became" a "baby" one. (9/1/18)

WHY CONSERVATIVES GET HATED

(9/25/18)

THIS is why political conservatism is SO hated by probably a majority of Americans, and also why Christians should never be 100 percent associated with it: It's NOT that conservatives believe in U.S. sovereignty, including controlling our borders (I do), or a strong military/defense (I do), or a good economy (I do), or religion (I do), or Capitalism (I do), or inheritances (I do), or U.S. businesses doing great (I do), or taxes as low as possible (I do); but it is this:

The people with the most advantages and assets tend conservative, in keeping it for themselves and their family! They do LITTLE for anyone else, especially if it costs tax dollars!

They do TOKEN/minimal charity work, or gifts, but their lives are very ego-centric. Others' problems are others' problems, because conservatives live responsibly, and pay their own bills, so they can't understand why others (with lower pay) can't do the same, or have problems, or poverty, that they need help with. And that question is NOT one Jesus ever wondered about! He just helped, unless they were lazy!

And as to taxes, conservatives are often rich whites. Minorities are RARELY in their fold. Historic white privilege has enshrined those advantages, through business contacts, inheritances, and private property laws. Others begrudge that favoritism, and advantages they can't get in on!

And the people MOST able to contribute more in taxes fight taxes more than anyone else, even though they have plenty, and more than most others. That's seen as selfishness, because it is.

Those experiencing that lifestyle just enjoy the perks, and call all others envious, but NEVER consider God's view of how they use the excess He has gifted them with, especially since progress/improvement in society costs money!

And even though Gods told Christians to focus on the hereafter—NOT this world—they live down here like there's no tomorrow, and outsiders wonder why the disparity between their lifestyles and the Bible they claim to love! AS THEY SHOULD.

Conservatives have memorized, pat answers to every charge against them: 'Socialism, cradle-to-grave, womb-to-tomb, Welfare queens, handouts, freebies, slackers, tax-and-spend bleeding heart liberals,' etc. The average conservative did NOT think of these terms on their own! They're TAUGHT them by smarter pundits. Professionals have designed answers for every criticism, so a conservative NEVER has to look in the mirror, or question their conscience's role in life! It's an insulated system of justified sin and selfishness, and lack of any human concern for anyone but friends and family! They even drag in Jesus to 'moralize' it!

And as to economic policy, they demonize government as evil, and business, cops and the military can NEVER sin, and taxes and regulations are always needing to be lowered. It's a fleshly/sinful attitude of selfishness, that claims to be for fiscal and personal responsibility, but its tax concerns can't come close to paying for government's bills. And that's as they want it.

They believe government should do LITTLE. Their lives NEVER need government help (as with mine), so why can't everyone else be like me (ego/arrogance sin)? Their economic theory FAVORS the rich as heroes our nation is dependent upon, or no one else can flourish, economically. That's OPPOSITE their own claimed holy Book (Levit. 19:15).

If businesses, or the rich, do evil to workers, or others' job opportunities (like over-outsourcing or over-immigrating, which lowers everyone's wages), THEY DON'T CARE that executives get bonuses for such evil deeds, because "economics is amoral" (another con mantra)!

And if lower taxes mean the rich simply invest more money to make more money (i.e., 'the rich get richer'), they call that GOOD. They can even automate, layoff people, vote for them to receive NO government help, even have no health insurance, and this is a system Jesus SUPPOSEDLY condones. He does NOT, heretics!

One thing I've noticed about extremists: They are incapable of seeing their own system's sins. OPPOSITE the Bible, their beliefs are based on the 'if you have nothing nice to say, say nothing at all' idiom concerning their political party! They demonize everyone NOT agreeing with their extremes; it makes them feel better, and salves a conscience that probably USED to work.

For society to be bettered, problems need solving. FEW of them get solved for free. The true conservative would say, O.K., that's fine... just leave me alone, and get government off my back. That's a knee-jerk, memorized response they are TAUGHT.

And when they hang with people like themselves, it reinforces the deluded belief that their beliefs are 100 percent moral. Why? Because someone like me, or who I like, believes the same as me somehow means I have moral beliefs (i.e., circular, ungrounded thinking).

All other positions have problems, too (i.e., liberal and moderate), but at least they DO have some public concern for others, including how we use tax dollars. NOT conservatism.

And since the majority in the world, and in the U.S.A. are NOT rich, why those with the most can be the stingiest eludes the understanding of, and rightly engenders the disdain of the majority, excepting generous rich people (like Giving Pledge signers)!

WOULD JESUS BE A POLITICAL CONSERVATIVE?

(Unpublished, 10/12/18)

You've been hearing many TV preachers equate biblical Christianity with political conservatism, AS IF they were synonyms! They're not even kissing cousins, except on a handful of issues! Political really makes strange bedfellows, and moral compromises!

Let's use wisdom, stemming from the very Bible Jesus supports to answer this sincere question (knowing that EVERY Bible verse, rightly interpreted and applicable to our era is in line with even the 'red letter' words of Jesus (II Tim. 3:16-17). Here are the touted basics, or fundamental (and/or everyday/talk radio) beliefs of that philosophy (matching the number of years Jesus lived on this earth):

1. All guns are great, and need zero restrictions/regulations. It doesn't often matter to a conservative that licenses, required gun training courses, background checks and registered weapons serial numbers allows cops to track handguns and other weapons in the hands of criminals and terrorists, even if those reasonable requirements, in minor ways, inconvenience people who would never use weapons to commit crimes. Better just to allege that non-conservatives are gun-grabbers, to whom they tout flags reading, 'come and take it,' or 'don't tread on me.'

2. Anyone who doesn't adhere to these tenets is an evil, liberal Socialist. The word 'liberal' means generous. No rational person thinks a generous person is a bad person. However, because conservatives' number one concern is money, any American not agreeing with them that the smallest government possible is the only way, gets this label. And any such use of any tax dollars, to help anyone or fix any societal problem is labeled 'Socialism,' I guess as opposed to their anti-social belief system?

3. Ban abortions. Certainly god says human life begins at inception. But there are two parties to this evil transaction. The wisest king once determined who the real baby's mother was by threatening to slay a child in half. The mother with concern for the lad would surely give it up, rather than let it die. But in abortion, government has two people/humans to consider, one of which isn't yet birthed. To ban all abortions would simply open a black market industry, and cause many women to be injured or die from self-help. My point is that this issue is not as clear cut as many conservatives would want you to believe.

4. Bless business, and employees and workers get blessed. The (unproven) theory is that the more money businesses have (rather than it going to government), the more people they'll employ, or the higher their employees' wages or bonuses will be. Exactly what would keep executives from paying themselves bonuses, automating jobs with that excess, or hiring more people, but at lesser jobs, because they lobby for no minimum wage, so they can pay less than it requires?

5. Bless the rich, and the masses get blessed. The old 'trickle-down' theory of economics. This religious belief (yes, political conservatism is a religion) never accounts for how the rich and business owners can also lay off workers, automate, immigrate labor and export jobs, robotize, invest the extra tax savings, and their government-boosted monies never make it to 'the little guy.' As I have said before, a rising tide lifts all boats ONLY if the waterways are connected.

6. Development is always the best policy. Anyone with a working brain, who encounters traffic congestion, air pollution, floods from over-concretized areas, or who has ever seen a God-given beautiful landscape in American knows that development is not always the best policy, even though business owners can make a profit at it.

7. Equal opportunity vs. equal results. This is a clever distinction, quite convenient to advantaged people, who use connections, nepotism, and often hiring people of their own kind, to ensure the best jobs stay within the fold, but opportunity is often the purview of the hiring authority, who do not always hire the best-qualified, as advertised by conservatism.

- 8. Fewest regulations possible. When government regulations protect citizens, they are good. When they over-protect, or fail to protect, they are bad. Regulations, in themselves, are not good or bad, but assessing what and how they act determines their merit.
- 9. Fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget are a good thing. Conservatives used to believe this mantra. But if giving back tax dollars we don't even have the money to give away (due to $22 trillion debt, and borrowing from our slave master, China) emboldens votes for conservatism, I guess you can chuck your principles for political expedience (strong sarcasm intended).
- 10. Free market Capitalism. If government had absolutely zero input in the U.S. economy, businesses could do whatever they want, and if markets crashed, government would simply sit on its hands. Get rid of the Federal Reserve (for interest rates), stop letting presidents raise or lower taxes and regulations, etc. It would be the wild, wild west, as most regulations are to protect workers and the public. The least government interference is best, since business persons usually know best how to make a buck, but absolute free reign is chaos.
- 11. 'Freedom' means government isn't to tell me what to do (Cf.: free speech). The absurdity of this belief is self-evident. It's laws' job to tell citizens what they can (meaning not prohibited by law) and can't do. Need I say more?
- 12. Government and its waste are evil. Wasting money is evil, but since God ordained governments, it's hard to rationally argue that the institution itself is innately evil, though many of them do practice evil.
- 13. Government favoring white Protestants is a good thing. This is never stated, or admitted, but the history of America is white people shoving our the 'red man,' to build a nation often on the back of the 'black man,' and the repercussions of having had a white majority since its inception (until about 2045, according to the U.S. Census), cannot be lost as to the advantages that position affords white people.
- 14. Government should never help anyone (every man for himself). The Old Testament Jewish theocratic model did not agree with this belief, nor do our Constitution's words on a more perfect union, and to the people, and the general welfare clause. The people have a say in what our government does.
- 15. Local government knows best (vs. the feds). This is an assumption of conservatism, and we all know what assumptions do to you and me. No level of government is good, unless it does good, and passes good laws, and the scope of its authority, or venue of its operations doesn't determine any sort of monopoly on either good or bad decisions.
- 16. Lowest taxes possible. For many conservatives, griping about high taxes is a hobby, no matter how low they ever go. Lowest taxes possible reinforces the never stated desire for mainly only cops and the military. (See #31, below)
- 17. Never cut into business profits to protect the environment (air, water, greenery or animals). In other words, commercial animal abuse, or any concern for pollution—if it takes one dollar away from maximized business profits—is evil.
- 18. No charitable giving is a legitimate option for rich people. Conservatives will publicly say that this is a moral problem with their system, then proceed to do nothing to fix it, thus encouraging and empowering its continuance, even as conservative Mark Levin called Warren Buffett "self-loathing" for signing the Giving Pledge. In other words, you hate yourself if you are not a selfish, greedy pig who cares about others!?
- 19. No wealth redistribution. Conservatives vote against government ever helping anyone, and parrot that private charities and free-willed giving is the moral way to go. But not only are those sources insufficient as to stability and quantity, if you assess the 1040's of conservatives, or evaluate their hatred of any taxes helping anyone, does any reasonable person believe they'll be more or equally generous if not under compulsion (especially since many of them have bought into the belief they owe God ten percent of their income—not as the Holy Spirit leads, as God owns it all—paid up at church—a financial disadvantage other tax payers don't face).

20. No Welfare (or entitlements). If government helping people in severe poverty is a bad thing, why did the tithe-based Jewish theocratic system do so?

21. Only private healthcare. Since the medical industry became business-focused (in the mid 1980's), how are poor people supposed to play in a rich man's game? Would Jesus be for forcing them into that situation, when bodies give out, and the insurance repayment guidelines make it a virtual monopoly with little actual cost competition?

22. Opposing homosexuals. Jesus loved and dined with all types of imperfect people. His Book does call sodomy a sin—even among about twenty abominations—but He taught us to 'love the sinner, while hating the sin'—all types of sins (not selective cherry picking!

23. Personal responsibility. Personal responsibility is a great thing, but much easier for higher income people. It's very easy to tell others to do what is easy for you, given your financial/economic situation in life.

24. Policies favoring older white males is a good thing (property rights and inheritance laws). God and our Constitution teach that all men are created equal, and God adds that favoritism is wrong.

25. Pro-death penalty. If the criminal suspect is provably guilty, most scholars accept this ultimate punishment by government, based on Romans 13.

26. Pro-religion. No religious person could rightly be opposed to religious liberties (except maybe for their competitor religions). Even our Constitution includes the right to freedom of religion.

27. Restricted immigration. Jesus was a welcoming personality of all nationalities, as is our motto on the Statue of Liberty. After all, we are the world's melting pot, and founded by immigrants. At the same time, flooding an economy (thus hurting American jobs and wages), or people breaking our laws to get here are contrary to biblical principles of government's primary duty to care for its own people first and foremost.

28. Smallest government possible. If government was instituted to advance goodness and put down evil, wouldn't it make even more sense to say that we need as much government as we need (vs. want), to ensure these aims, and not have a preconception as to its size?

29. Strong national defense. Jesus taught self-defense is wise, and unless the military's size is strong enough to fend off aggressors, we have no land to protect.

30. Taxes are always too high. That belief is purely based in a desire to keep all one's money, or distrust government ever spending it wisely.

31. Taxes should mainly be for cops and the military. That assumption in conservatism (even favoring private schools, and hating many politicians and all entitlements, or things government spends money on) is rarely stated, but the two government entities conservatives always praise (not even the Post Office, as FedEx and UPS now exist), as it keeps people and their stuff safe.

32. Teaching that wealth is life's goal is a good thing. Again, never stated, but their actions speak louder than withheld words. ANYTHING government does that costs money they will oppose, excepting the military and police (few other exceptions, and certainly not protecting the environment, or solving—much less just curbing—any social problems).

33. Traditional American and family values. Who can argue against baseball and apple pie? This term, 'American values' usually means the American Dream (which is often mere unbiblical worldliness), the Protestant Work Ethic (i.e., work hard, smart or not), and, more recently, opposition to national gay marriage and a desire to ban most if not all abortions.

III-F3. CHRISTIAN CABAL/TRUMPASTORS

ABORTION & THE CHRISTIAN CABAL

(11/30/17)

Let's address the Christian Cabal's DREAM: ZERO abortions. How could that occur? 1. No one have sex. 2. PERFECT birth control for everyone, enforced with ZERO tolerance for violations. Its 'funny' they HATE sexual sins of abortion and homosexuality, but are OK with child molestation, adultery and serial divorce sex sins!

If Texas banned ALL abortion, with a Roe overturn, government officials would HAVE to enter pregnant women's homes, and physically restrain them from taking a boyfriend punch to the gut if they wanted to abort anyway, or yank the coat hanger from their hands.

That belief system says if your condom breaks, we REQUIRE you spending nine months of morning sickness, doctor bills and visits, sonograms, and time away from work. SAME thing if your birth control doesn't work PERFECTLY, or just abstain and be a eunuch (i.e., celibate).

And if Texas allowed exceptions for rape and/or incest, WHO decides if a gal going to Planned Parenthood was raped, or just had irresponsible sex? The doctor? A cop? A P.P. employee? This is political, for GOP power for "Christians." If they REALLY wanted ALL abortions ended, they'd address these issues.

Now, let's address the sinfulness of abortion. God says do not murder, or kill, especially innocents. When you have an abortion AFTER conception has occurred, you are taking a life, in a very undeveloped form. That sin God holds you accountable for, JUST like adultery, child molestation and divorce (with two exceptions), which the Christian Cabal DOESN'T criticize, as with Hannity's bud, Gingrich, and Chump.

I had a "procedure" recently. I got Propofol, and I know NOTHING about what was done, except by pictures and a doctor's testimony, as I was out like a light—immediately. Pregnant women NEED to know what an abortion does to the child.

The medical establishment uses fancy terms to clean it up, like dilation and evacuation. Let's be point blank—the doctor either sucks the breath out of the kid, or rips his/her limbs apart to the extent they die. If you view a sonogram, look in the face and eyes of the one you're freely choosing to kill.

It is NOT a moral choice! At the same time, it is BAD public policy to empower or encourage dangerous self-help (Ex.: gut punches or coat hangers, for miscarriages no one will ever know about, flushed down the toilet). So if an innocent female is raped, she has to live with that reminder for nine months, Christian Cabal? Incest victims, too?

The BEST policy is NEVER get pregnant if you don't want to be a parent. Second best is the Plan B pill within two days of sex. The Christian Cabal OUGHT to be fighting for a law to require that.

Finally, if a pregnant woman ever LOOKED at the "after-non-birth" of an abortion, perhaps they'd be more careful with sex, or think twice about aborting: <http://bit.ly/2zE0twU>

Using abortion to make up for poor planning is a sin. Electing immoral politicians to force women to have to go through nine months of pregnancy after rape and incest is likely a sin, too, or encouraging them to endanger themselves by self-help. ALL these are (likely) sins! The mother's life would be an interesting call in a post-Roe Texas!

Would they side with the husband's desire, or the government they hate? If there is any chance you will have sex, or could be raped, be on birth control, and take the morning after pill the morning after! THIS link says they're between three and 70 dollars. Anyone can afford that! <http://bit.ly/2AqV9CI> Be responsible with sex!

People say they want to be 'free' to do what they want, with sex, with NO consequences. There are consequences if you do it wrong! Your un-thought-out emotionalism ONLY feels good in the moment, but there are effects thereafter. ONLY fools ignore this, and do NO planning! DON'T be a fool!

And for the religious wrong to claim an abortion in the first three weeks post impregnation is EQUALLY horrific as a third trimester one is WRONG, though BOTH are wrong/sin. Again, this is MAINLY about alt-right vote generation—NOT stopping all abortions! Perfect contraception would do that! Be all for that! I am!

Update #1: Abortion Advocates

(9/3/18)

It's NEEDS to be done... any person so jaded and cold that these videos doesn't "touch" you, in how you view abortion, you might 'wanna look in the mirror, and consider your soul!: <https://bit.ly/2wFMtor>
<https://bit.ly/2Cadplv> Visual truth; decide with eyes wide open! #Abortion

You have every right in the world to do this to a person you created?: <https://bit.ly/2NaETvz> #Abortion
There's NO good reason you should delay the decision to un-do a sexual 'oops,' if you never wanted to be a mother, as a result! Know what you're doing! #PlanAhead with sex!

Be it cadavers, police yellow plastic keeping the public from observing the deceased, euthanizing animals, or abortion, our society protects us from abhorrent sights. But if you are choosing to conduct one, you need to know what you're deciding!: <https://bit.ly/2CaePfp> #Abortion Knowledge is power!

JUST LIKE WAR images, the media RARELY doesn't clean up their footage. If you are enamored with war, you need to see reality TV footage of the phrase, "war is hell." The SAME goes for abortions! If it's merely clinical, an academic exercise for you, you'll NEVER see it from your baby's perspective! Be in the know.

More abortion facts: <https://bit.ly/2PzgbCK> <https://bit.ly/2MJ3wQx> <https://bit.ly/2Q3bEtm>
<https://bit.ly/2NKoriw> <https://bit.ly/2CaePfp> <https://bit.ly/2NaETvz> Facts are stubborn things! ONLY Trumpsters hate them, for alt-truths and fake news? #Abortion

One in three women in America will have an abortion, in their lifetime. —Northland Family Planning.
<https://bit.ly/2Ncv7Jr> <https://bit.ly/2wBFaho> That last video LIES that abortion is equivalent to the Holocaust! The unborn aren't certain to be born, and haven't the born's legal rights, in America! Otherwise, a decent film.

Update #2: Abortion Opponents

(9/9/18)

This is BLATANTLY OBVIOUS, but in the tRump era, you have to explain that $1 + 1 = 2$ is NOT fake news or alternative facts! Contraception does NOT kill any human life! It prevents life from ever starting! For Kavanaugh to even equate the two (i.e., contraception and abortion) is an attempt to keep SOME Catholics in the fold of anti-abortion, and pro banning policies!

It would be LUDICROUS for any Christian to be pro-death! OF COURSE any God-fearer is for life. The only question is how you lessen, or eliminate abortions! Contraception that's effective ends any chance of any human to be aborted!

This is about keeping WASPS and Catholics united to overturn Roe; NOT about contraception aborting anyone! The doctor I retweeted [cited below], last evening, said it PLAINLY: If any state bans all abortions, women will search the black market for the drug that aborts their pregnancy/baby.

I read posts about the number of women killed pre-Roe, by self-help. The numbers are humans, so important, but irrelevant to the issue of what law can do the trick! There are people in America who, just observing their opinions and actions, ONLY want every American to have sex if they're growing their family! That is, no sex just for fun, even in MARRIAGE!

HOW can I make such a claim? They're against contraception and abortion, so any sex that procreates WILL bring forth a child, in their dream world. I guess they're for the pull-out method, or timing routine, where you gauge when to have sex by a woman's ovulation calendar? But you better be perfect, and make no mistakes (and in the former, the male never can enjoy full sexual satisfaction, except if a child is the aim).

Life begins at inception. When the sperm penetrates the egg, and fertilization occurs. Anything after that that interferes with what comes after IS taking a life. However, that egg penetration takes between 1-3 days! And contraception medically/scientifically/physically/chemically prevents that from happening, so life can never be had! Anyone who opposes contraception is guilty of the many problems associated with over-population! Could that be more obvious?

I read posts where people said if you want no abortions, make contraception free (i.e., taxpayer funded). Public policy should NOT be promoting out of wedlock sex, or fornication, as the Bible calls it. But, contraception must be made fool-proof, and cheap! Is it that hard to pay for? I haven't priced it.

It REALLY seems some people will go to any lengths to stop total strangers from having any sex, in the privacy of their own homes, consensually, if their only purpose wasn't to grow a family. Enjoying it, even though married, just for enjoyment, seems to be a horrible sin, to these people! #WOW

Another IDIOT argued that abortion rights are NOT in the Constitution. Abortion prohibition is NOT, either! We've already explained SCOTUS' job in addressing issues related to that document, not explicitly listed in it!

The safety of the public IS a government function, and coat hanger abortions aren't safe, and since the MAJORITY of abortions are as back-up plans for failed contraception, or planning, the evil of that act of killing a baby-in-progress cannot be overstated.

However, is a police force going to break and enter homes, to prevent self-help abortions, if all were ever banned? No! And if any woman died as a result of self-help, their blood would be on government's hands, as they didn't well protect her physical safety! That IS a Constitutional concern.

What amazes me is these fanatical preachers who want to ban every abortion share the exact same end-goal as myself, but I would NEVER engage the evil-embracing and defending methods they have succumbed to, hoping CHUMP will be their "savior," to ban them all, when the BETTER way is NOT to outlaw a safe procedure (for the MOM—NOT the baby), but to encourage and make technology available where no one ever needs to consider aborting, because they end the pre-fertilization process within three days, or plan sex well enough, with non-faulty contraception, or choose to use the cycle or pull-out methods these people seem to only support. Same goal: Less-to-no abortions; TOTALLY opposite means: Force vs. voluntary, and sin-embracing, vs. righteousness advocating!

Finally, for anyone to EVER associate God with opposing contraception, because it didn't exist in Jesus' day, do I really even have to address such ridiculousness? Cars didn't, either. Are we all to become Amish? There's no need to even address that argument any further!

My apologies to even such as my own kids, if they ever read this book update, as the graphic nature should be unheard of, but when you have people IGNORANT of the details of the birds and the bees, sometimes you have to describe their stinger and wings, or draw pictures, I guess!?! #WOW

Once fertilization has occurred, anything the mom does to stop that process IS ending a life; NOT a full-term life, not even viable life, necessarily, and not even a life that can yet feel the pain of what you're doing. That point must be said, and you should decide before two to three days!

So WHEN anyone says they're "pro-life," MAKE them define that code language term! Are they for banning all abortions? What happens if a woman bleeds out? Are they against contraception? Is sex, to them, never for fun, but always for family expansion? ASK THEM! Very few people in America are for, or pro-death! I'm certainly NOT.

You NEED to re-read this article! A doctor, no less, is telling these one-trick pony extremists (for political power), that banning all abortions will NOT end all abortions. Hear his rationale/logic, and statistics, IF you don't deem such things "fake:" <https://tnne.ws/2wXisRf> Ignorance is bliss?

And I'll repeat, even as Obama asked why can't CHUMP say Nazis are evil?, if Nazis had gas chambers in America, today, we ALL (excepting Trump's ilk) would be down there destroying the facilities, and fighting the employees! IF abortion is exactly equivalent, where are the Christian activists at Planned Parenthood?

An EVIL politician KILLED/massacred/slaughtered EVERY child aged two and under, in the Bible (excepting baby Moses). If that occurred, today, Americans would partly prevent it, or war with their government! You can't say that's exactly what's going on at Planned Parenthoods, or you are hypocritically IN-active!

I DARE any abortion extremist to break apart any couple having s_x, who didn't plan well, regarding contraception! That is EXACTLY what you are trying to forcibly prevent, so have the courage of your convictions, and practice what you preach, and be the odd man out and tear them apart!

Sex is ONLY for procreation; THIS is the assumption religious extremists believe, but won't say (by opposing contraception)! I Cor. 7:5 must be encouraging Christians to have as many babies as humanly possible, with such nonsense. It's one's duty to their spouse to wear her out with childbirths!?

Yet, they sometimes use Gen. 38:9, to argue against the pull-out method, so that leaves you the ovulation cycle mapping method, or no sex, which violates I Cor. 7:5. Either way, the preposterous beliefs religious extremists are advocating fall on their own weight by their own Good Book!

A CONSISTENT religious extremist would post operatives where pregnancy tests were sold, and ask them if they were planning to start a family. If not, they would not let them buy the test strips, lest they discover themselves to be pregnant, and not go forth with the adoption option!

A Christian Cabal member fiercely denied the Evangelical Council still exists, stating they were 40 in number, and ONLY worked during the campaign. They are now a lobbying group, and should be made to comply with all lobbyist reporting rules! They care less that CHUMP only listens to their political views! #Agenda!

Political trick of the right: Anyone who disagrees with you is labeled 'left-wing, liberal or progressive.' Under that idiocy, Mitt Romney is a leftist. I read a Christian Cabal member's post, claiming anyone who argued against their lobbying efforts is NOT 'conservative' (a word they WRONGLY equate with holiness).

Let's analyze why any woman would abort, post-fertilization:

1. She might NOT want to, right away, to hook the guy, especially if he's rich.
2. She might have never thought of being a mother.
3. She may be waiting to see if it will be healthy.
4. She may use the baby as leverage, to stay tight with a questionable boyfriend.

If a woman was raped, or is an incest victim, why would they wait past two to three days, to STOP fertilization? Shock/trauma, embarrassment, etc. If she didn't have the ~$75 for Plan B, she's really got a tight budget!

Why would anyone argue for later-term abortion rights? To be able to spare the mom's life, if it becomes at risk, just before birthing? Some people just don't like government telling them what to do, especially with their body.

If you believe an abortion is nothing, just like removing a wart, you are deceived! To me, the three exceptions aren't determinative. If a woman is bound and determined to abort, it has to be medically safe, and therefore, available!

If you can't afford a baby, don't start one! If you can't do the time, don't do the crime, being nine months of costs, pain, inconvenience and change to your lifestyle! It ALL starts with sex—safe or unsafe, and fool-proof contraception. It need not be clinical or cerebral, but enjoy the ecstasy AFTER you have planned, and used your mind—THINK!

Let's be point blank honest: Males are horn dogs. It's up to women, fair or not, to be prepared NOT to get pregnant! Men may or may not buy c_n-d_ms (it's often an ego deflator, to the machismo types), so Boy Scout #BePrepared, gals!

I have GREAT faith in the logic capacity of the American people. Let's walk through what banning all abortions means... If a woman is raped, by law she would have to take Plan B, within two to three days, to not start a baby (and incur costs). Same with incest. Would she have the presence of mind, with trauma? If a mom's life is in danger, her hubby, parents, kids would have NO say—she must die, by law.

Let's address the HUGE elephant in the room: MOST abortions are from convenience! POOR planning. WHY punish the innocent/child for your poor choices? You have a legal right to, but WHY kill your offspring?

Can't you take The Pill? Are you so broke you can't afford it? Can't you buy Plan B within two to three days of unprotected/unplanned sex? Are you that busy, or lazy? If you can afford an abortion procedure, surely you can afford those less drastic measures!

No one is doubting your rights to your own body, but NOT to your kids' body! And how responsible is it to bury your head in the sand, like an ostrich, and label your baby a piece of tissue, or abortion a surgical procedure, rather than a killing off of a life? It makes your conscience feel better, when it should feel badly. You are squelching its ability to properly function!

I am NOT seeking to throw guilt on you, but logically explain how you never have to get into these situations, if you use the brain women are so proud of in our modern day! Brains and beauty... Use them both, but don't destroy innocents, just because you can! WATCH a video of an abortion. Be fully aware.

I FULLY understand any woman wanting to live and be with her hubby, if a pregnancy becomes the fetus or you! I even understand why some families would NOT want to birth a child that's going to have a miserable life, medically. I'll NEVER understand aborting, because you didn't plan well enough. #Think before sex!

I can't get this outa my craw: Extremists want the U.S. government to forcibly disallow all abortions. HOW could that possibly happen?

1. Ban them, by law.
2. ENFORCEMENT. That means shutting down all Planned Parenthoods, and police staking out all abortion doctors, to ensure they never did one.
3. It would mean all drugs that induce abortions couldn't exist in America, even on the black market, and, quite literally, cops would have to monitor pregnancy test buyers, and even surveil domiciles to ensure what goes on behind closed doors in a man's castle wasn't coat hanger self-help, or Plan B, or punches to the stomach.

Even regular Ob-Gyn doctor's HIPPA-private files would need to be subpoenaed, so all pregnancies were known by Big Brother, to ensure all carried to term. Miscarriages would be doubted, and inquisitions as to their cause might be in order. I'm NOT trying to be dramatic! These are LEGITIMATE specifics of enforcing a total ban.

4. Then, if any state allowed any of the three exceptions, how could the government prove that a woman wasn't raped, or the victim of incest? Would prosecutors DNA sample test the aftermath of a rape kit, to tie it to a relative or stranger, vs. a disgruntled boyfriend?

These type of extrapolations are NEVER thought of, or discussed, or even considered by the Christian Cabal. They WRONGLY idealize that NO abortions occurred before Roe, though certainly less of them did. There are ways to get less of them (we're currently at a plateau, of sorts), without their Draconian proposals.

That is why I allege (and LIE DETECTORS could show), this is a POLITICAL power grab from party worship on policies having NOTHING to do with abortion (in some cases), to stir up the WASP vote. It happens at unique, identifiable times, near elections, then dies down for a year or two—or decades (since Reagan?). Power idolatry!

How would those extremists stop an American woman leaving the U.S. to get an abortion? What about black market doctors doing the horrific procedure underground? The goal is noble—no abortions—but the politics are NAIVE! But they don't care, because dumber voters buy into easy slogans, like “pro-life!”

Anyone who would be pro-death would murder, or commit suicide! That's the ONLY logical implication of their POLITICAL rhetoric. They'd CHEER when someone was suffering, dying from cancer. It's absurd to allow words to be manipulated into making false dichotomies, yet real CHRISTIANS do it all the time!?

Are the ONLY choices that you're "pro-choice" or "pro-abortion," if you oppose the choice, but believe safe, legal medical aid should exist, if a woman makes that choice? The politically far right embraces ALL the evils of "conservatism" for this idolic position, and CLAIMS a majority in America are against abortion, with three exceptions: mother's life, rape, and incest.

Is the Supreme Court the puppet of public opinion—IF they're correct—or does it actually rule/judge a-politically (at least in intent/purpose)? There are studies that even that claim (i.e., about the majority) is incorrect.

If a religious nut case really wants to stop abortions, they will burn down all Planned Parenthoods, shoot the doctors and the visitors, then claim civil disobedience doctrine, and analogize it to killing Hitler. NO Christian Cabal member advocates this, nor do I, because it's NOT RIGHT, though logical, according to extremist views!

And finally, government's job is NOT just to do the will of the people! 'The people' can be fickle, finicky, stupid, and evil. Though politicians represent their constituents, they aren't slaves to every hair-brained whim of any majority. You RARELY hear this taught, but it's absolutely TRUE! Deal with it.

And I have VERY RECENT evidence that the Christian Cabal WILL stay united through 2020. They are NOT breaking ranks, even as so many other Christians (and others) see the evils they have foisted onto our nation—all in the name of overturning Roe. Silly old men. #Pitiful obsessed idolatry!

I expect the Southern Baptist Convention's newest president to do what he claimed, "decouple politics from religion," but only after the 2018 midterms, tRump's connections to the Christian Cabal having already been secured by Pence's speech at its convention, and 100 so-called Christian leaders attending Chump's White House dinner, to stir up GOP votes in the name of honoring Christians' contribution to society.

NO ONE is speaking of this, but the Christian Cabal doesn't have the b_l_s to oppose Obergefell, but they do for Roe, because gay marriage is too fresh, so if they last long enough (primarily old men), what's to keep them from trying to un-do it in ten to twenty years? (Unpublished)

My nurse wife tells me NO contraception works perfectly. No one of any religious persuasion could take offense at ending unprotected sex's consequences before the egg gets fertilized! No life has begun! I suggest any and all females who don't FOR SURE want to be a mom, do that. Save the babies!

ABORTION & TRUMPASTORS

(11/3/16)

I dare any Chump-supporting pastor to go tell a rape or incest victim she has to carry her baby to term!
DO YOU HAVE THAT COURAGE of your convictions? (11/2/16)

I dare any Chump-supporting pastor to tell black pastors and their parishioners they're politically godless and secular, due to their party affiliation! GO to FMBC, as I did last year. (11/2/16)

The only and greatest issue the U.S. faces is abortion, if you listen to some Christian Chump surrogates!
What a narrow mindset, though it's important! Delusional. (11/2/16)

If you say Christian Trump support is 'all for the fetuses,' GO TACKLE EVERY WOMAN entering Planned Parenthood today to stop the murders! You would stop a murderer attacking someone if you could, right?! (11/3/16)

ABORTION-BAITING POLITICS

(11/6/16)

Talk radio said Christian freedoms are at stake in this election with Supreme Court (SCOTUS) picks. You can evangelize and disciple FULLY! GO DO IT, and STOP whining to Uncle Sam!

Would evangelical pastors back Hugh Hefner or Jerry Springer if they promised pro-life SCOTUS picks? I WANT AN HONEST ANSWER—this is NOT a joke!

If you listen to some TrumPundits, the Bible has only one verse—thou shalt not abort. That's a HORRIBLE simplification of its thousands of verses!

Have you ever noticed that abortion clamorers MAINLY speak out at election time—NOT all year round, or even past 30 years all that much. Hidden agenda?

If you are so riled up about legitimately evil abortions, go to a clinic and yell 'murderer;' rip up a doll and say that's what you're doing. You WON'T, because it's NOT holy!

Conservatives accuse Democrats of being race baiters who play the race card. I'd say the SAME THING with Republicans who throw down the abortion card every election season!

I'm 100 percent tired of law guilt trips by TrumPastors who say vote GOP if you're saved, due to abortion! Black Christians are sinful? WHAT a farce and LIE!

Hypocrisy Check: Ask a conservative poser if they'll support a politician who'll raise the rich's taxes and ban abortions. It's NOT all about abortion to them!

Aborted babies go to heaven. Birthed lost people go to hell. Have pastors clamoring about abortion evangelized EVERY nearby birthed human? Huh?

I have friends and family who volunteer at pregnancy centers. If you're hot and bothered about abortion, and do nothing until voting time, that's kind of hypocrisy against the fetuses who came before!

Trump has been PRO-abortion all his life, but for opportunism he flips? You believe him, or does sincerity mean anything? Hitler could promise the same for you!

The ONLY GOP candidate who said government should punish the aborter (PROVING he knew NOTHING of the topic) is now TrumPastors' hero? That's PROOF they'd vote for a trained parrot if it said it was 'pro-life!'

Let's be point blank HONEST: Conservative WASP pastors want their church members to vote GOP; black churches the opposite; FEW exceptions. There—I said it.

Welfare vs. abortion, black vs. white. THESE are the only political issues narrow-minded Christians can see impacted by public policy!

Coming out of the closet, some TrumPastor's mouth 'abortion' like illegals-haters in Houston did the word "migrano" in public. One word knee-jerk reactions.

WHO is to be the voice of the unborn? The church to pregnant women—NOT government! CAN you convince, or do you like government when it forces things—contrary to your claims?

Contraception is evil? Hilarious thinking. It's PREVENTING life from starting—responsible parenting (or out of wedlock, sinful sex)!

Evil would be to birth kids you don't plan to parent, or can't pay for; planning for that not to happen through birth control is intelligent. Show me any Bible verses to the contrary.

Having MULTIPLE kids because you don't believe in birth control is ignorant, and can become a burden on an already resource-taxed society! They are NOT employees.

A tow truck driver from Mexico told me they do that there because there's not much entertainment, and they view kids as employees. There's RARELY a ROI on a kid!

I DO admire TrumPastors trying to un-do the bad aspects of Roe, as our ministerial ancestors were asleep at the wheel. It's just over-doing, like trying to kill a fly with a sledgehammer.

To ban all abortions in Texas and force women to do it elsewhere does NOT prevent the abortion! And using large numbers (60M) will always have dramatic effect, because the longer Roe is the law, that number will continue to rise. Find ways to LESSEN the number every year. Change hearts! Pastors know how to do that.

Use liberals' social change model! They didn't seek to stack SCOTUS to end Hummer's use, or push recycling! Over DECADES, they successfully worked.

Also concerning contraception, it's always interesting when religion overlaps the law. Why should I be allowed to let my kid die if my religion opposes blood transfusions?

Life is greater than a religious rule, in priorities. Pro-lifer says gotcha? Birthed life is always recognized by U.S. law—not the unborn, until it's viable, at least?

Polygamy had been a religious tenet, but U.S. society via our laws DIS-allowed that aspect of their beliefs. And rightfully so. It was NOT evil federal tyrants doing such.

Then you have prostitution, which is against most religions and our laws, but is legal in certain places in Nevada, and never gets fully stopped anywhere.

Being drunk at home is LEGAL, but against our religion. But our religion (nor anyone's) is the Constitution, but one of its foundations, at best.

California sometimes bans cussing in certain zones by P.C. rules. A BIG upcoming issue is when is a state issue a federal case, and who decides? It's SCOTUS' business often.

I'd say unless a state law outright violates the Constitution, or the issue is substantially important to have consistency among state laws (i.e., equal protection), defer to the states! The Constitution agrees with me.

Married gays in an increasing number of states, and increased public acceptance made it where policy was punishing couples in marriage-denying states.

The equal protection clause kicked in, though I believe the decision to be contrary to the will of the people in red states, and those states could have had civil unions with contractual rights! Water under the bridge.

Now if I haven't ticked off every group under the sun, as Keith Green said, 'I don't try to be controversial—the truth is controversial enough!'

That touches on one more subject... When different religions work together for political progress, that DOESN'T mean we can't discuss our differences too, as with Catholics and Protestants. '

The Bible doesn't teach celibacy is mandatory for ministers (I Cor. 9) NEVER abandon your core principles for any political power, yet cooperate!

And WASPS can work hand-in-hand with Catholics on lessening abortions, though never teaching salvation is by anything other than faith alone!

It's two different arenas—political vs. religious, where morality bridges the two... Immorality of bad theology and immorality of bad practice (i.e., abortions). But I digress (Ac. 25:19)

One more example: Government ALLOWS religious conscientious objector status for religious pacifist reasons. It's a bit of a complex subject—church and state legal issues!

Often, it's mainly law precedent, tradition, or common sense that decides which issues government will impose on religion and which they won't.

AN UNHOLY ALLIANCE

(4/6/17)

[Retweet:] My GOP colleagues high fived each other after voting to damage pillars of our democracy. This is no cause for celebration. #NuclearOption @SenBlumenthal

[Jay Sekulo:] History is being made right now in the U.S. Senate. The #NuclearOption will be used to confirm #Gorsuch. <http://bit.ly/2odUwvf> #JayLive

[Reply:] And a shameful, immoral history, you left out. You've SOLD OUT to the GOP recently, vs. unbiased objectivity, representing Christ. I'm QUITE disappointed!

There's a HANDFUL of so-called Christian leaders punch drunk over Chump's win, and advancing careers cuddling with talk radio and Christian media to be for alt-right conservatives.

I'll detail those connections later in this book. We'll be point-blank factual here: Jesus is NOT a political conservative. NOW, assess that group.

It's power idolatry by men who have been out of power, and minimized since Reagan's day (in the public arena), who abandoned morals to be for Chump. Apostate act.

They host public events, hook each other up to interviews on Fox and Christian TV and radio stations, and Hannity—you scratch my back; I'll scratch yours, and sinning bias.

You find FEW blacks or Latino ministers among this cabal. They KNOW from our tweets that conservatism has some moral problems, but power and stars are in their eyes!

They THINK they can represent Jesus and His people because they're famous to their followers, when a MAJORITY of pastors are wise enough to be neutral, publicly.

That DOESN'T mean the majority of U.S. pastors aren't Republican, but they're wise enough to know both parties are FULL of sin, so they don't go out on a limb for one party.

They're SMART enough to know that God is impartial, Jesus never joined any political party, and that principles are all He cares about—not labels or personal ambitions.

I guess these faithless creatures have given up any hope the mainstream media will ever pick up their thoughts, so they're in bed with worldliness.

And they are so connected with each other, it's like they have a hotline/red phone if any issue needs the group's attention, or media exposure. TRUTH!

You DO have to choose a political party under our current system, but you NEVER have to bow down or be beholden to it. THAT's what these (mainly) men are doing. Sorry to have to be so truthful!?

ANTI-ABORTION ANTICS

(1/16/18)

I read an article about a group in Florida hires away abortion workers to try to reduce abortions. That is NOT the correct way! It is the pregnant woman who you must convince, or fail to, and NOT by lessening her safe medical options if she's dead-set on sin of killing an unborn child.

Relatedly, Franklin Graham called abortion 'murder,' on Twitter. These Christian Cabal members have ZERO right to opine, in public, with their ignorance of facts. If it were 'murder,' the mothers would be put in jail! You have a right to shoot murderers in the act of murdering. That would mean it's O.K. to kill abortion docs! That is IDIOCY!!

Finally, they're trying to de-fund abortion procedures. SINCE it is THE LAW that abortions are legal, and IF the procedures are too costly for some (how many does one have in a lifetime?), can the private sector accommodate that cost? I wouldn't contribute one dime!

Those two wicked methods are trying to force unsafe, back alley abortions! It's like when activists encourage businesses to stop advertising with groups they oppose. Can we be more civil, and present our case, but accept consequences when we lose? ONLY try to convince people not to abort, by the media and especially, interpersonal conversations!

Women will abort. That's a FACT you can't change! You want them not to, and pray for such, but you haven't the b_ills to wrestle them outside a Planned Parenthood clinic, because you are inconsistent, and a wimp in trying to do the same by the prior two methods mentioned. Wimps are pansies (and I'm NOT suggesting tackling pregnant women)!

Your convincing skills STINK to high heaven, Christians who use those two methods to decrease the number of abortions! You couldn't sell ice cream to a five year old's mom on a hot summers day!

Am I for government-funded abortions? NOT personally, and I would vote to oppose such, with a conscientious objector rationale, but publicly, it's legal policy, and the people must use normal legislative mechanisms if the majority wants that changed! The GOP controls all of Congress, currently, so they could if they wanted to!

Nearly half unwanted pregnancies come from poor planning or poor performance of birth control. If we haven't invented it yet, they need male contraception pills, as c_nd_ms break the mood (I would suspect—never owned one), and not every woman takes the pill, as they should. NO abortions! (9/1/18)

If you made abortions quite expensive (except in the case of rape, incest and a mother's life—DNA proved) women would still have needed medical access, but would think twice before having unsafe sex! (9/28/18)

Free condoms promotes sex out of wedlock, but prevents abortions. Since you're not 'gonna stop people from having sex, if they want to have it, the lesser of two evils seems to be to offer low-cost or free condoms, and/or contraception, than to risk abortions! That's NOT something public schools ought to be engaged in, however. (9/28/18)

WHY would any woman kill their fetus? Perhaps the pain or expense exceeded their expectations, their boyfriend broke up with them (or died), it became too inconvenient, the baby shows to have severe medical problems, they divorced, or one of them lost their job. These reasons vary in moral legitimacy, but the act never does—it is always the taking of a life-in-progress. (Unpublished)

CHRISTIAN CABAL (PART I)

(5/10/17)

[Background:] What I missed: <http://bit.ly/2r2kv1F> <http://bit.ly/2pzErYB> <http://bit.ly/2pzHdNC>
GLAD to find this on YouTube today! #MensConference (2/27/17)

Trump's Executive Order on Religious Liberty is Worse Than Useless. <http://bit.ly/2pdm8bx> "...a lawyer will commit malpractice if he tells a pastor or director of a nonprofit that this order allows a church or nonprofit to use its resources to support or oppose a candidate." —David French (5/6/17)

Do you see ANY prophets NEGOTIATING any policy matters with evil Kings in exchange for delivering Jewish votes (in the Old Testament)? NO! They spoke TRUTH to power, vs. sucked up!

"President Donald Trump is the most faith-friendly president in U.S. history." —Robert Jeffress
<http://bit.ly/2p7H4oh>

YUGE sell-out! Voted for and advocated for the MOST sinful president in the past 50 years. LOST people SEE the hypocrisy, @RobertJeffress.

Smiling like a Cheshire cat, so proud of self; front and center behind Chump for all the cameras to see. NOT the way of the Lord, sir! SORRY to have to tell you.

You will see mega pastors praise Chump for "religious liberty," when they've ALWAYS been free to tell all nearby people how to go to Heaven, and NONE have. WOW!

Have you even committed to lead your members to reach all nearby lost people, as I addressed THREE+ years ago? @RobertJeffress That's #ReligiousLiberty!

When God's people attend national days of prayer, but support the most evil president in 50 years, and WON'T evangelize all nearby lost people—prayers don't get answered!

No one had heard of Jerry Falwell Jr. outside his college, and those into that academic Christian scene. Using daddy's name to make one for himself. Now the school is advertising!

Christians would vote for Satan if he promised them certain political positions; Trump is proof of this claim. Naiveté DIS-honors God! Apostasy.

.@RobertJeffress criticized Mitt Romney as a Mormon, then supported him, but was ALWAYS for the tare Trump, even above Rick Perry, whom he was for last time. WOW!

You see FoxNews and a handful cabal BFF pastors already trying to sway Christians to vote for the MOST evil president in 50 years in 2020. Apostasy and carnality rein.

[Personal best most viewed and retweeted post—ever... 46,516 impressions:]

ANOTHER Southern Baptist pastor sellout gets his daughter hired in exchange for support of the most evil president in 50 years. Sarah Huckabee Sanders

My religious websites' original "Church Conflicts" section is on hold, having been taken off-line, but is EASILY reinserted, as needed. It tells the TRUTH behind this, now, political scene.

That cabal of ~seven pastors have connections to womanizing FoxNews via Todd Starnes to get out any message they want. He even visits their churches.

I'm SO proud of the STUDENTS of Liberty University bucking their president's support of the most evil president in 50 years! That school advertising is to cover the name smear of their president being associated with the current U.S. president!

#FaithFriendly @RobertJeffress? <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> I'm a Christian... One year later I'm a baby Christian (who arrogantly never repents of anything)? The Bible's my favorite book (having "two" Corinthians in it)? His favorite verse is an eye for an eye, though Jesus refutes that concept?

#FaithFriendly, @RobertJeffress? Favoring the rich, contrary to Levit. 19:15, taking healthcare away from the poor, insulting illegals and banning ALL Muslims?

#FaithFriendly, @RobertJeffress? Ronald Reagan is rolling over in his grave! Chump played you, and you worship power, sir. That's an EVIL choice. God sees all.

NEED I specifically name the ~seven member, all male cabal of famous pastors who united forces to get Christians to vote for 'the Devil?' I know them, and I can!

CHRISTIAN CABAL (PART II)

(5/13/17)

Something tells me to drop my three-week church protest/boycott tomorrow night to see if there's reason for a longer protest, or to give it up indefinitely.

Trump ONLY has Liberty University and Robert Jeffress avidly for him, among Christian executives. They'll try to make you think Christians are behind him! NOT real ones, in THAT decision!

The REAL Jerry Falwell was a HERO, and did MANY great things—EXCEPT for his misspeak that AIDS was God's judgment on gays. His son is using name-recognition to get fame.

Robert Jeffress might have been prophetic with Donald Chump! <http://bit.ly/2rd8cj7> SIGN THE 7-YEAR PEACE DEAL FOR ISRAEL, SOON! @POTUS

Robert Jeffress OPPOSED Mitt Romney because he was a Mormon, then capitulated, as he follows power nearly as much as he follows Jesus! #TRUTH

Robert Jeffress was for Rick Perry until he, EARLY ON, was enamored with the MOST evil GOP of 2016. This attraction from a "Christian" pastor? NO discernment!

The VERY honorable and moral Dr. Russell Moore told the TRUTH about Trump, then got pressured from the seven-member Christian cabal associates to be fired. He's STILL working!

THIS is how carnal Christians play politics! Throw ALL morals out the window and have NO objectivity about the GOP's negative political positions. Blind faith in a party!

If you believe Falwell and Jeffress represent many Christians, you can't distinguish one mega church and one university from the MILLIONS+ of American Christians!

That cabal is seeking to make their mole hill of supporters seem like a mountain through FoxNews and the ~seven pastors united to seem like they're Billy Graham!

The STUDENTS of Liberty University REJECTED their president's support of Chump. The student becomes the master, and teachers aren't always smart.

Get Dr. Moore to testify if that church and cabal first contacted him to publicize political issues BEFORE Trump won the GOP nomination, then flip-flopped.

I can and WILL testify to every detail of that cabal of seven's origins and activities, if need ever be! I was integrally involved, and know every detail.

Exhibit B: Politics has surpassed spirituality in the fight of morality vs. power in the Southern Baptist Convention. I know which side God's on!

I'm thinking a YouTube video of the history of this political-religious war is in order, starting with when God led me to wake up seven DFW pastors in 2014.

Related to the YouTube video, I've OFTEN said lie detectors will be needed to prove my claims, as even Christians LIE to protect reputations, SADly! I WON'T!

KEEP THE FAITH @DrMoore God says morality "trumps" temporal political power! Your rewards await you in Heaven for your normalcy of courage! Hero!

Dr. Russell Moore apologizes for causing Southern Baptist "division" over Trump? Unity to immorality is SIN! Mt. 10:29, 34; Josh. 24:15 @drmoore

Southern Baptists are NOT the whole church, or even its leaders, and U.S. Christians BEYOND them are divided over Chumps sinfulness! <http://wapo.st/2qE1HJs>

Christians OPPOSE Trump (NOT duped and deceived ones); <http://bit.ly/2pJUbro> <http://bit.ly/2qEfCPG>
<http://bit.ly/+2qhhE51> Liberty University

CHRISTIAN CABAL (PART III)

(9/26/17)

Whenever DT gets on teleprompter, or screws up badly without it, expect the Christian Cabal to salivatingly chase after the media to sing his praises! Brown-nosers!

By the way, Uncle Sam, since we delivered you WASP votes, can you reimburse us via FEMA for practicing our religion toward victims, though churches paid in NOTHING?

And can we do everything but state that we endorse Chump, and you change the Johnson Amendment so we can keep that tax free status? We want our cake, and to eat it too!

The rich young ruler and Good Samaritan were NEVER told by God that government would reimburse them for their good deeds to the vulnerable! Who cares? Always follow the money trail!

Pure conservatives would tell Houston flood victims without flood insurance that FEMA should give them NO money. Does anyone HEAR their silent hypocrisy on that issue?

Conservatives LOVE to say that liberals suck off the fed's teet, but MANY try to, and justify it as being smart and wise stewards. Jesus NEVER said give if you get a tax break!

D-E-B-T: A four-letter word! Citizens ask for selfish needs, and NEVER do the math that politicians can't meet all those needs—unless they print fake money (QE3)!

And conservatives HATE government forcing people to buy health insurance, but some WON'T buy it, and the Emergency Room bills have to be paid by taxpayers anyway!... a free ride off them!

Rich mega churches politically tell the feds DON'T help the poor with our limited tax dollars, but help ME, with the tax exemption and FEMA bailouts when I obey my religion. Irony!

So the feds AREN'T to help the needy, but the greedy, all in Jesus' name!? Uncle Sam is BROKE, folks! $19 trillion, and counting. Quit asking him for anything!

Twitter expands to 280 characters:

Speaking of churches wanting FEMA reimbursement for helping Harvey victims, aren't conservatives the ones (like me) who HATE illegals getting any government aid for NOT having paid anything in? Churches pay NOTHING into our system! #HypocrisyWatch

What's the end-game to NFL kneelings? It shouldn't go on forever! Kap said it would until change occurs. Name the change being sought, or you are becoming only a distraction. I haven't heard of one cop kill a black person in MONTHS!

And SINCE Franklin Graham and Robert Jeffress have sold their souls to praise Trump at ANY cost, those two men OWN these sins: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> You CAN'T run away from them by mere time putting them in the "past!"

Let's finalize this topic once-and-for-all: EVERY American has freedom of speech and expression! You may NOT like what they say, or how they do it, but unless it incites a riot or a mad dash from a movie theater that's NOT on fire, IT'S LEGAL! You want censorship when it's your opponent speaking freely!

And finally, if any red-blooded American HATES the kneeling, carry or wear an American flag to NFL games! I'd NEVER begrudge that response! But, do you ever do ONE thing to help poorer blacks not be that way in perpetuity? If not, you missed their entire point. Dumb on you.

I "lied"—1 more: Cops have a DANGEROUS job! Their lives are literally on the (thin blue) line EVERY time they pull someone over, potentially. If in DOUBT, the law allows them to shoot to defend themselves (in fear of mortal danger). If that offends you, never do anything to be involved with them just doing their job!

Note: This topic began with the Christian Cabal praising Trump's U.N. tele-prompted speech, and ended with their defending his calling others SOB's. VERY telling!

The NFL kneeling conversation would go a LOT further if people distinguished between white supremacists (of which there are FEW in percent), and white privilege beneficiaries (of which there are MANY in percent, most of which not even noticing they are, as that's their life normal since birth). (9/29/17)

If you were born and raised in 'the hood,' would you be optimistic about life? Would you feel that U.S.A. offers you equal opportunity with everyone else? Would you believe white people cared about you, other than those who worked in school or charities? Would you even know from experience any rich people? Things to think about. (9/29/17)

CHRISTIAN CABAL (PART IV)

(9/26/17)

ALL Robert Jeffress' credibility is LOST! You don't compare, diminish or deny any injustices by another injustice, FOOLish one! <http://bit.ly/2yGEWFw>

[Pastor Frederick Haynes' Twitter account: Evil! Clueless! Sick Dallas pastor Robert Jeffress says kneeling NFL players would be shot in the head in North Korea. <http://bit.ly/2xCJVqw>]

Note: You can't tell me the U.S. church is united, and there is no racial division! And can you imagine what words about an authority figure shooting grown adults for behavior they disapprove of sounds like to people whose ancestors were slaves in U.S.A., experiencing similar phenomena?]

Most WASPs are NOT racists, despite knee jerk words of one NOT nearly in the same league as his GREAT dad! <http://sumo.ly/GliZ>

The Christian Cabal has NO idea why any think them to be in bed with white privilege and being BLIND to any blacks' struggles. AMAZING self-delusion. BLIND!

Under the theory of people opposed to NFL kneelings, JUST SHUT UP and take injustices like a man. Keep status quo; life's not fair, but don't point that out.

If anyone in the Christian Cabal would tell the media WHERE professional sports players would better have made their message on racial injustice, pick up a microphone!

Has anyone noticed, as my Baylor discipler told me years ago, church is the MOST segregated activity in all of American. There are REASONS for that!

Black church cares about the struggles of their congregants. WASP church cares about tithes and abortion, now that gay marriage is the law of the land!

Token gestures are smoke screens, especially in charity or good deeds to the poor. If your politics don't address systemic problems, they are a JOKE, pastors!

Franklin Graham is asking LOST people to kneel because the NFL got the nation's attention to that topic; piggybacking on the GOOD work of those NFL heroes!

Franklin Graham and Robert Jeffress will do and say anything to defend anything Chump does or says if it's big enough to garner media attention. It's P.R. for them!

The number one dupe in the Christian Cabal is their political media mouthpiece—Huckabee Sanders. She NEEDS no brain—just spew words bosses make you say, for pay!

Am I the ONLY person who WATCHED Huckabee kiss up to Donnie for his daughter's job, now his shtick is to go around praising her boss? EX-pastor morals?

Christian Cabal: When you hang with pigs you get stinky. WORSE, you tarnish Jesus' name. You're so out on a limb with DT, you can't find your way back home! Sad apostasy!

So we've learned in the past three months that Jeffress is the Christian Cabal's lead spokesman, with Franklin a close second. The other ones seem to be smartening up more than them!

And national and local NBC media spends keep their faces before the public, like Liberty University and First Baptist Dallas. They've got to resurrect their business' reputation SOMEHOW! #Hard2do

Here's the psychological TRICK the Christian Cabal's trying to hoist on you: DT is O.K., because we find him O.K., and we're men of the cloth, so we MUST be moral.

Rather than guilt by association, they sacrifice personal credibility, hoping that whatever credibility they had before 2015 rubs off on DT in your eyes—if you're sheep!

By the way, I pride myself in being objective. To remain such, I've said here before that I am NOT objective about Chump. He lost me forever with his campaign. #2evil2me!

Here's ANOTHER Christian Cabal member on kneeling NFL: <http://bit.ly/2wVpm6t> They sold the morality farm for DT, so they won't back down now! #2FarGone2repent!

Disrespect of the U.S. military? Hilarious accusation! Everyone I know has nothing but the HIGHEST respect for all of them, and all first responders. Red herring argument!

These people just do NOT want to address black people's historic injustices done to them by a predominantly white culture, and the associated ramifications to them.

CHRISTIAN CABAL (PART V)

(10/15/17)

Chump's administration/'team' tells Christians to 'put your Christian values on pause, so you can get things done,' values voters, and we're going to say Christmas—NOT happy holidays. Let's expose the TRUTH, from recent history!: Christians ALWAYS claimed it was only the holiday's NAME, and NOT promoting their religion, but now Christians want it to cover for America's religious and moral decline.

Their Christian Cabal says God has been taken out of society, when U.S.A. is NOT a theocracy, and it's a moral thing to obey the Constitution, and not favor one religion over another. I GUARANTEE you, Christians would NOT be happy if people, en mass, said Happy Kwanza, Hanukah, or Ramadan! They're TRYING to have it both ways—to their liking!

Businesses have a right to set their policies! You're free to say 'merry Christmas' (as I do) anywhere, but your boss can have another policy! The Christian Cabal wants to "Christianize" American culture, withOUT fully evangelizing, with these token symbolic gestures vs. doing God's will.

Yet, alt-right types can't get how the majority sees them as representing old, white male Protestants, the KKK, and intolerant rich people, who care little about others. It is NOT hard to see, unless you're blindly loyal to political beliefs over facts, or what your religion REALLY teaches! I warn my Christian brethren.

Forcing any religion on anyone falsifies that religion, yet many Christian conservatives long to do just that! If they had it their way, our dollar bill would say, 'in Jesus we trust,' and we would pledge allegiance as, 'one nation under Jesus, indivisible!' EVANGELISM and discipling are how you change a culture, do-do's!

THE issue of salvation is how are you going to get out from beneath the wrath of God you are currently facing! It is NOT will you promise to be better. Lordship Salvation is the majority Christian gospel in America, which is a major reason why the majority of U.S. Christians are 'carnal.' This is NOT my statistic! It's not made up, either.

Salvation is an experience, an event; it happens in a moment, by Gods sovereign call through the Gospel. It is NOT a life-long process, but it's after effects are. U.S. pastors often get so concerned with how converts will act, they send people to Hell by teaching them a front-loaded, false Gospel message!

NO free grace Christian has ever taught that lost people don't have to admit they're sinners, in order to be saved, or that Christians are free to live any way they want! That's a straw man argument from one with LITTLE Bible research on the subject!

A false Gospel teaches lost people that they must fully commit to live holy the rest of their life, in order to qualify to receive a free gift. A false Gospel also teaches that you can flippantly receive that gift as if it's nothing of value. Conviction is what brings a lost person across that threshold!

I know it's HARD for a "Christian" to walk in another man's shoes (like Jesus did—Phil. 2), but desiring manger scenes in the town square is TRADITION vs. law, and WOULD YOU LIKE Muhammad displays there during Ramadan? You rightly fight against sharia law being applied in America, but that's a LAW vs. tradition issue.

In America, every religion is free to proselytize whoever will listen. Because mega pastors were chasing fame and fortune, since Reagan's time, NOW that our culture has changed, they want to change it back to the 1950's, when, ALL THE WHILE, doing full evangelism and full discipling has been fully ('perfectly') legal!

U.S.A. is NOT a theocracy. Even though founded on Judeo-Christian values, every election season the public gets to voice their desires for its future. If you don't influence them to be for good policies, they will vote for bad ones. This can be as part of your religion, or completely distinct from it.

"We have no government armed with power capable of contending with human passions unbridled by morality and religion... Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other." –John Adams; evangelize, Church!

THE CHRISTIAN CABAL WHINES THAT SOCIETY IS BEING ATTACKED BY "SECULARISM." That's what happens when pastors, for more than THIRTY years, fail to do job one, @RobertJeffress and @Franklin_Graham! Lost priorities, lost societies. Jeffries deals with Chump more than getting his members to fully evangelize!

And, after all, America IS a "secular" nation. We have no pope-in-chief. Our VALUES need to be good, as reflected in our laws, but our Constitution is against favoring one religion by government! The Christian Cabal wants that end, through Chump, their dupe, exchanging votes for political access. There is corruption in both DT and that group!

If the Christian Cabal had better brain power, they'd be clamoring for state's rights more than "religious liberty," interpreted as forcing Christian beliefs on society. Let the red states express religious affections more than the blue ones, by law, per tradition. I'd have NO problem with that, vs. one-size-fits-all!

Your Constitutional right to freely practice your religion does NOT trump others' rights to not be harmed or imposed upon by such practice! WASPs are FULLY, legally FREE to practice EDDBS priorities, but so few do, and they try to circumvent God's teachings with cultural symbolism!

If your religion teaches you to do things that the U.S. majority finds intolerable to legally allow, you will (and should) LOSE! The first battle, in changing laws, is to change the hearts of the people. The Christian Cabal WON'T do that, but want the easy way out, by chumming up to Hitler #2 from the power idolatry sin!

I don't want a Muslim America, a Jewish America, a Christian America, or any other religiously-bent America, but an America based on morality which conforms to common sense, and the common religious values we all share, as inculcated in our U.S. Constitution. Justice, freedom, et al!

Between calls for DT's impeachment, and Steve Bannon's antics (to ruin the GOP), the 2018 Congressional race is in full force, which means you will likely see a significant cut-back in our tweets, except for news comments; few on political doctrine. I'm NOT into extremes!

Update #1: Check Your Brains at the Church Doors?

[The following is NOT political doctrine, so I am NOT breaking my commitment to cut THAT back. This is political strategy, and news commentary: Robert Jeffress bemoans that the GOP is doing nothing, and may harm DT's re-election bid. Here's common sense that you would think a pastor would know...]

When you insult and threaten the livelihoods of politicians, common human intelligence tells you that they won't be behind you! And Jeffress says GOP's are NOT pushing DT's agenda. DT ONLY had a 50' wall Mexico would pay for, and ban ALL Muslims! He had TWELVE years to develop an agenda. Chameleon with NO plan. Flake, and loser!

Robert Jeffress is sinfully reinforcing the stereotype that Christians are stupid, trying to rally the troops behind the LEAST-prepared, most evil, and stupidest GOP in 50 years. HOW do you compartmentalize, to block yourself from the TRUTH so well? The power idolatry sin is how!

And finally, Jeffress is like the guy who buys a LEMON car, and he repairs it over and over, desperate to prove to his wife that he made a good buy/investment/decision. The Christian Cabal has been given 2.5 years for their sucking up to Chump to prove they were wise, but EVERYONE in America who is NOT deluded knows otherwise! Credibility BUSTED!

P.S.: HOW could you attend First Baptist, Dallas, with a headmaster who sold his soul to the Devil for political power? You can bifurcate your religion from your politics? You've got to be skitzo to do that, with a seared conscience (or undiscerning brain)!

NAME ME TEN ACTION ITEMS ON TRUMP'S OWN AGENDA, @RobertJeffress, and I DON'T mean ideas he has gained since being nominated, from anyone other than himself! He HAD no clear agenda, yet you boo-hoo that it's NOT being implemented. GOP's are doing America a FAVOR! Your credibility's SHOT!

[The Christian Cabal is also NOT political doctrine posts, and we will be addressing them OFTEN, before our book is done! Anytime they speak or act, we will fight their harm to America, and Christianity, as we've done since June, 2016, when their existence was first publicly revealed! #Consistent]

Update #2: Bannon & the Christian Cabal
(10/15/17)

Dr. Jeffress, this has nothing to do with bitterness, but a fight for what's right for America, and how Christians are supposed to vote and act, and God's will in one's life! Petty little MINOR issues, like saying "Christmas," never entered my mind, as SO LOW on the importance totem pole! Some people LOVE symbolism, and are two-faced on America being a theocracy.

I've witnessed pastors buy into good ideas, then go with worse ones, but it's ALL for party, and a collegial collusion to circle the wagons if any of their peers are RIGHTLY reprov'd. Our latest free book, Christians For Trump, will spill all the details, NOT from anything other than a motive of exposing the TRUTH.

Will Christians For Trump be a salacious tell-all? No. We get ONE chance to tell the story, and refute false allegations we anticipate, before they arise, so we do cover all details, including our own shortcomings, as it's us vs. a large force of opponents, and I trust my honesty more than others!

When Bannon is your leader, you are APOSTATE! REPORT: An emboldened Bannon enlists evangelicals to take on the GOP establishment <http://fxn.ws/2xFlxTC> #FoxNews

If you saw our post on Steve Bannon and WASP Christians, NOW you see why our latest book, Christians For Trump is SO needed. Even James Robison is wising up to have a challenger to Ted Cruz, from his TV staff! The Titanic is sinking. Christians SHOULD see with better vision!

Does anyone remember the GOP and Christian Cabal saying there was unity in the GOP, and among the Southern Baptist Convention? LIES, to make it LOOK true. A mirage. Image. Wishes stated as fact. THIS is the "moral" standard of power idolaters for alt-right political agendas! Two-faced liars for the most evil GOP in 50 years!

When WASP "Christians" are in bed with Steve Bannon for political power, you KNOW The Apostasy of Scripture/Bible prophecy has begun! Re-read that until it sinks past your shallow interest, or capacity to understand! #Apostasy

Update #3: Bannon's Bull-Honky
(10/15/17)

Steve Bannon is pushing pure political conservatism, and any "Christian" who buys into it, hook, line and sinker, is an absolute FOOL, who is bringing down God's reputation from IGNORANCE, selfishness, and sin, rather than loving God with all his/her heart and mind! #ChristianCabal (Mt. 22:37)

The poster boy for Steve Bannon to WASPs will be Robert Jeffress! Congress doing little is better than Congress going along with a literally crazy man at the White Houses' helm! There are better solutions, and the Christian Cabal bought into them, until their patience lost out to the sin of anxiety, and they flipped for DT.

I HOPE you see both the opportunity and challenge of Steve Bannon's pushing for alt-right GOP's in 2018! EXPOSE the evils in that political philosophy! There's NO balance—only extremism in Bannon's agenda! @TheDemocrats @DNC #Democrats It's HYPOCRISY and sin for any "Christian" to go with that effort!

CHRISTIAN CABAL & ABORTION (PART I)

(9/30/17)

I write off D T-rump for his first two years of ignorance and immorality. The Christian Cabal wrote off Obama for party hatred. These are morally-differing motivators!

For a Christian to AGREE that God is impartial, and neither political party is morally perfect, and that independence is best, then to be a party loyalist is the sin of HYPOCRISY!

'Taking God out of the locker room,' vs. a LACK OF EVANGELISM, is why Christian Cabal refused to blame TRUMP for his 'celebrities can grab women's ___' statement!

Disallowed prayer or Bible studies in locker rooms, school, etc. are NOT barriers to the U.S. church to reach every lost person for Christ! You see lost people EVERY DAY, and RIGHT OUTSIDE YOUR CHURCH DOORS! Crickets!

Public prayers anywhere are NOT evangelism, anyway! Nor Bible studies, though they can lead to such. CHICKEN EVANGELISM METHODS are the church's problem! Subtle, back door, relational, easing your way in vs. lovingly, boldly/confidently, prayerfully and accurately TELLING THE GOSPEL, apostates!

Having politicians pray more, mention 'God' (a term every religion accepts, not 'Jesus'), or even use Bible verses is NOT what has hindered mega pastors leading members to evangelize all nearby lost people, ASAP, and are NOT evidences of revival, but a traded concession for GOP votes via Chump! #Duh101

The Christian Cabal AGREED with us that U.S.A. is NOT a theocracy, then, when Hitler #2 got elected, they try to implement JUST THAT! No hypocrisy there—if you're blind! See our past six tweets for a better description of their feigned 'revival' evidence.

Even if ALL Christians got politically active, a majority has to agree with us—NOT shoving beliefs down throats (which is NOT God's way), has to comport with the Constitution, and legislation would need passing. STOP the delusional pipe dreams of returning U.S.A. to the 1950's, when Christian Cabal members were youth!

Precedent. The Christian Cabal could use a dictionary or law course to understand it. Laws sometimes get over-turned, but must be for GOOD reason with some legal justification, public policy rationale, or significantly changed circumstances. You FEEL you're standing up for God, as you cherry pick one or two issues!

National gay marriage will NOT be changed! Even with revival—I don't see it ever happening! The LAW has condoned marriages, and it is BAD public policy to promote relationship break-ups or 'divorces' (instability, child disruption, etc.). Obergefell is a done deal, Christian Cabal! #GetOverIt

If Christians REALLY showed love to gays, they would resent less any saying homosexuality is an abominable sin. And singling out one sin for political gain is RIGHTLY offensive to them, and the U.S. majority; bias, self-serving, targeted judgmentalism that U.S.A. rejects. The Cabal has even rightly given up!

Do Christians spend MORE time befriending gays as they do politically operating to demonstrate their disdain for the practice? Lost people see this hypocrisy, brethren! They may be lost but they are NOT stupid. We are, to not know this! Amen to my own post!

Pass a morning after bill in red states, Christian Cabal (i.e., in rape or incest events, women MUST take that pill before two days expire)! It probably wouldn't pass Constitutional muster, even as you promoted the most evil GOP politician this generation, to stack the Supreme Court (SCOTUS) to overturn Roe. Maybe for unplanned sex times, also? It WON'T pass!

Let's bore newbies with what would happen if a majority in U.S.A. wanted Roe overturned: 1. It could NEVER go national again, or SCOTUS would look 100 percent political. 2. Red states would quickly ban all abortions, most likely. Then, their females would get them out of state, or in a back alley.

Defunding Planned Parenthood is their method, today. You can legally earmark tax dollars (from red states?) NOT going to pay for abortions, but taxes paying for other services. I would be for that! Bottom line, social conservatives JUST want all abortions stopped, even if it harmed the pregnant mother—usually.

Tearing a baby apart, ripping them to shreds, and sucking the life out of their lungs and heart is an abhorrent choice! Anti-abortionists need to strategize every method possible to convince women NOT to do such. What I see them do today is not fully effective, and extreme, from LACK of creativity!

#Mundane

Protesting Planned Parenthood, praying outside it, laws restricting how long a woman has to decide, limiting access for "medical" concerns (LIE), and defunding P.P. entirely. You have some might ignorant political strategists! Change the public opinion and individuals' minds through relationships and PR and good deeds!

God never calls Christians to sin to win. The ONLY exceptions were His greatest prophets (marry a whore, kill your son). Sorry to say, but most of us don't fit that status! We want the easy, quick way to lessen the numbers of abortions. If there were an app for that, we'd push a button, and move on. Is that concern?

And isn't it "ironic" that Christians show more outward offense over abortion around campaign seasons? There is NO irony about that—it's called HYPOCRISY, and it is a sin my brethren NEED to repent of. ALL in the name of "Jesus," for GOP votes, from power idolatry and party worship. #Shame #Repent church!

Government forcing all women nine months of pregnancy—pain, morning sickness, sonograms, costs, travel to doctors and time away from work, and eating pickles and ice cream. THIS is the "loving" concern many Christians have for American females. I reject their shallow, if well-intentioned "solutions!"

HOW LONG does it take you to decide you made a mistake in the heat of passion, engaging in unprotected sex? The morning after pill before the baby is negatively impacted is better than abortion—sooner rather than later!

Which is morally worse? Let a mom die to save her soon-to-be-birthed child, or allowing partial birth abortions only in such cases? Isn't that choice better left in the hands of that mother and the father, in prayer? Just asking.

CHRISTIAN CABAL & ABORTION (PART II)

(1/23/18)

When Franklin Graham says Chump likes loyalty, that is sugar-coated code speech for 'I couldn't speak my mind if they paid me more than I'm overpaid to do daddy's business! I sold my soul, and now I must robotically parrot positives, and throw my conscience to the wind!' That's the Devils price, Junior!

And when Mr. Perky Perkins says the Christian Cabal gives Chump a mulligan, they mean sin is wonderful, if we force our agenda on the U.S.A.; an agenda NO media person EVER asks them to specify! Why such BAD interviewers? It's mainly Roe overturn; bless the rich, too (never admitted to). Be better journalists!

The Christian Cabal has NO b__l's to overturn Obergefell. Why won't anyone ask Perkins or Graham why they don't fight that SCOTUS decision to be overturned? They would love it to be! I accept it as the law of the land. They're cowards, but Roe is fair game to them, for some reason. They won't say that until those ends/goals are attempted to be met!

When anyone in America has sex, you better intend to be a parent, or have perfect contraception (which ~1/2 the Christian Cabal disagree with), or you will be forced to take to term, or use an UN-safe coat hangers, if the Christian Cabal gets their way; at least in red states. They HATE the 40-year old "sexual revolution."

The Christian Cabal's Bible is 'Thou shalt have no abortions and no homosexuals.' It is a two-versed Bible (which is a violation of Deut. 4:2 and Rev. 22:190. No limits, bounds or standards—anything goes if those two sex sins get legally forbidden. This is your old fogey seniors trying to create a theocracy.

Related Tweets

People pushing for a Roe overturn, even if just for bans in red states, WANT every sex act that ever impregnates to go to/full term. This would mean, if condoms break, if they're not used, if raped or incest occurs, if contraception pills fail (they're NOT 100%!), or if one doesn't have sex strategically/smart, especially among those in that crowd who oppose contraception! (1/24/18)

They are saying, NO SEX, except if you do it to be a parent, or where it's impossible to get pregnant. The way you lessen irresponsible sex (i.e., unwanted pregnancies) is 100 percent stop irresponsible, unsafe sex! Those only clamoring for a Roe overturn are saying grab a coat hanger, and meet me in the alley. WE DON'T CARE if you miss, and/or bleed out. Government has to! It's the health and safety clause! (1/24/18)

Someone NEEDS to investigate why people get pregnant, then abort. NPR (or PBS) radio spoke of sex education, and parents teaching kids to be safe with sex. Is it THAT hard to avoid being unwantingly pregnant? Research the cause of the problem, and FIX it! Rape, incest and broken contraception SHOULD be the only need! (1/25/18)

[TV interjection] Kyleena's five-year (inserted) birth control only says 99 percent protection, adoption mandaters. WHAT ABOUT THE one percent "OOPS—sorry's," with Plan B available? (1/25/18)

Continued

(2/5/18)

Going to bed last night, I kept praying, how could Christians be so different? Reply: You never changed. That article from DallasNews (See: 'News Articles,' number 33) nailed it: The Cabal is honest about the fact that this is all about politics—NOT morality. Bill Clinton's crucifixion is overlooked for Chump, by hypocrites! READ it.

MOST WASP pastors in America care more about wrongly-aborted babies (who go to Heaven) than birthed people near their un-commanded church buildings, most of whom are NOT going to Heaven. Here's the Christian Cabal's "thinking:" Ban all abortions, at all costs. They'd vote for Hitler if he promised to overturn Roe, as even Hitler hid his evils more than Trump!

If any woman gets pregnant, she must birth her baby. If they go black market, let them bleed out, using coat hangers. If condoms break, we don't give a damn. If contraception fails, we don't give a damn. We want people scared to have sex, unless they're planning a family.

Some of them even ban contraception, so they REALLY want sex ONLY for family-making! If a woman is raped, or an incest victim—BIRTH IT!

We will get CHUMP to nominate judges who enforce this viewpoint. Who needs to enlist the public's sentiment? We have DJT by the b__s, for our church member votes. If he stays true to a Roe overturn, he's O.K. for anything he does or says. We will force our theocratic position on America, because we (think we) can!

That from "Christian" "pastors." WOW! NO WONDER they rely on sermonizing to do their evangelizing and discipling. They KNOW they CAN'T convince society, so they preach to the choir, instead of actually doing the needed work in the top four priorities, and in lowering the numbers of abortions! They must NOT be good convincers.

And in all these political antics, NONE of them have evangelized every living (vs. unborn) person living closer to their religious retail business than any other shepherd/pastor. And for DECADES they opposed gays 100 percent, but NOW they WON'T seek gay marriage overturn. Cherry pickers for power access!

In all the Cabal's antics, have you ever seen 'us' change? Sunday School bans, contracts NOT to address their likely founder online, et al. THEY changed. We are consistent, though we did change [political] parties, and even that change was due to consistent opposition to evil (i.e., Trump).

They sucked up to him; still do, and still will through 2020. YOU decide which standard is more biblically moral. READ this (from possibly the first #NeverTrump GOP): They've NEVER rebutted it! <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> It's IMPOSSIBLE to rebut, by God's grace alone. #Silencing

So BOTH of us want the same end: As few abortions as possible. We DIFFER on HOW that gets achieved... laws or convincing a public opinion shift. SAME goal, yet we are enemies in their actions. I'll take my clear conscience any day, to their harmed reputations, supporting the dumbest and most evil president in 50 years!

What punishment would abortion ban violators incur? Jail? Frankie Graham said it is murder. Murderers go to jail! If they were to get their pipe dream, and carved out three exceptions, WHO will tell a doctor you can abort that gal's baby, but not that one, as we are sure she was raped, but NOT her?

Our book, Wit and Wisdom, has all arguments, pro and con, with all legal ramifications on Roe being state's rights-based, or abortions nationally banned, as well as all solutions, with Roe remaining the law of the land, and what Christians can do to lessen abortions.

One more: Why won't the Christian Cabal/evangelical council members TELL the American public the TRUTH, and say, "we don't care what sinful words or deeds Chump EVER did or does—we want him to overturn Roe?" Isn't honesty a Christian trait/value? ASK them, PLEASE! @CBS @ABC @CNN @NBC

I lied... one more: I want four conservatives and four liberals on the Supreme Court, with one centrist to break ties. The Christian Cabal wants as many conservatives as possible. WHICH position is MORE biblical? Hint: Justice, objectivity, and Mic. 6:8, Rom. 2:11, and Levit. 19:15. Stack the court/judicial activism they rail on liberals for doing!

I've got to reiterate: ALL abortions kill a human-in-process. ALL such babies are innocents. Taking any life, except in self-defense, is morally wrong. The problem is, with abortions, two lives are in the decision. Both [political] parties ONLY see one person in the decision, and those two people are NOT the same person, but BOTH are 'sinners.'

Explanation: Every human is a sinner (i.e., status before God), even if unborn; innocent (in practice), but born that way (though not yet birthed). They're responsible before God for their sin(s), when old enough to know right from wrong. Plan B, within two to three days, kills no one, though some Christians consider it evil. WOW!

If Hitler was killing tons of Jewish (or otherwise) babies, and a Christian knew about it, they'd try to do something to stop it. Except for extremists, anti-abortion people do NOT storm Planned Parenthoods, and tackle women entering. Is that an inconsistency? No. Viability and birth are legal distinctions!

And here's how the Christian Cabal, as Johnny-come-lately, responded to Obergefell: #NashvilleStatement (the ONLY sin ever formally addressed, and a document on literary par with the Inerrancy document from the Reagan era), and handing out pamphlets warning about sexual disease from homosexuality.

They STILL do all they can to limit money, workers and access to abortions, on the state level, and I've heard NONE of them say ALL discrimination against gays is morally wrong. I see NO public events proving their love of gays, like Jesus would! (Mt. 11:19) But now, look for such events, as they try to prove me wrong AFTER I post.

INSTEAD, they defend adulterers, sex abusers, liars, idolaters, arrogance, insulters, stupidity, porn star sex (pornography), racists, etc., all in the same person and 'in the name of Jesus,' as they are FORCED to defend Chump in the media, every time he screws up. They're in bed with him more than Stormy Daniels was!

THIS is what YOU approve of when you abort:

<http://bit.ly/2nVnZCl>
<http://bit.ly/2BR6U6d>
<http://bit.ly/2soXDhO>
<http://bit.ly/2srihhp>

If every Christian would stand only for the morally good policies in their political party, and stand against all the bad ones, America would be a better place. I've NEVER heard the Christian Cabal speak against any selfish rich, but ONLY against gays and abortions. Christians under age 50 have broader views!

Can you be forgiven by God for aborting, and homosexuality? YES. Do doing those acts send people to Hell? NOT any one sin does that, but rejecting Jesus, when all our sins make that necessary, to go to Heaven.

Laws and morality (vs. sin) sometimes overlap, sometimes they don't. #DoTheRightThing!
#ChristianCabal

Does God single out homosexuality as the worst and only 'abomination' sin? NO. Do many WASP Christians? YES, including abortions. That difference [from God's view] is where Christians sin. I DARE the Christian Cabal to publicly renounce ALL the abominations in Levit. 19, and seek their banning by Trumpian edict! They WON'T! #inconsistent Idolatry/love of money is a sin, as is power idolatry, but you don't hear those sins addressed by the Christian Cabal. Harming the poor, or favoring the rich is also a violation of Levit. 19:15 (as well as MANY injunctions in the book of Proverbs). CRICKETS from that group! Sex sins of politicians, also. SILENT!

MOST of that Cabal members are "Baptists." Here's what their name's sake did with a very sinful politician: Mk. 6:18. That true prophet got beheaded. They stay SILENT on morality, and praise the evil Pharaoh! Any moral oppositeness going on with these modern Baptists? ABSOLUTELY! That's NOT leadership (and I'm a Baptist)!

You can list every sin in the Bible: <http://bit.ly/1zgukZM> IS it the Christian's duty to lobby Congress to outlaw them all, since the Millennium (by iron fist) and Heaven will not have them? NO. We are in this dispensation, and living in a democracy—NOT a theocracy, Christian Cabal. LEARN before you speak and act!

Should it be a crime to discard of miscarriage "material" in a trash can? If not at home, hospitals treat ALL surgery residue DIFFERENT from trash!

Should the state require women to bury abortion "material?" It should be their choice! Force sonograms? Educate, but it should be their choice. Forcing sonograms and burials is seeking to impose guilt.

Continued
(2/1/18)

If the Supreme Court violated the U.S. Constitution concerning entitlements or Roe, PROVE it in court. Start at the local federal courts, Robert Jeffress, then appeal your expected LOSS. Work your way up to SCOTUS on a case that has merits. That's how Americans change laws. Or get people to clamor to Congress—NOT by executive edict.

BRING A CASE to SCOTUS that challenges Roe, Robbie! Use your buddy, Sekulow. If y'all have legal standing, and a valid legal argument, you'll get a hearing, and if the unborn have standing to show their (obvious) injury. You have NO idea what I mean, as you only have opinion, and a wonderful Bible. Use U.S. legal procedures!

But when your only influence on the public is to judge them, or just preach to the choir, you HAVE to stoop to bending the ear of the evil Pharaoh, at the cost of your soul and conscience. Such is the Christian Cabal... too chicken and unskilled at swaying public opinion, so they go against the majority on Roe!

I "lied"... one more thing: Jeffress decries Congress being silent to the silent screams of the unborn's pain. It's NOT Congress who needs to fix this, Bob. The public would need to clamor Congress (and, less directly, SCOTUS) to overturn Roe, just like majority sentiment changed to support gay marriage. They didn't just lobby politicians!

Update: Roe Overturn Idiocy

(2/1/18)

Here's the IDIOCY of the Christian Cabal wanting Roe overturned, via two SCOTUS picks:

1. They EMBRACED blatant sin, dragging Jesus through the mud, to get that end.
2. They SINfully CONTRADICT conservative dogma/rhetoric/B.S. that they OPPOSE judicial activism, AS IF Democrats alone do it.
3. They IGNORANTLY (a sin) claim the Constitution says the decision is for states (10th Amendment), when serious issues of national impact are RIGHTLY decided uniformly! SCOTUS even has a name for such weighty matters, that I'm CERTAIN NONE of those pastors know, so I won't inform their ignorance!
4. NO red state abortion doctor is going to become a prosecutor, to determine if a woman was the victim of rape or incest! They're NOT going to send s_m_n samples to the feds for DNA analysis, to see if it's from a rapist or family member! So they'll be STUCK with only the mother's life exception, if any exceptions at all.

That means they'll likely vie for NO abortions, which means THEY will be liable before God for any deaths or injuries from coat hangers/self-help, and starting a black market industry of Misoprostol, which will thwart their goal of having no abortions. IF these (mainly) MEN were SMART, they'd attack what causes abortions!

Abortions occur when women get pregnant, and didn't want to have a baby at that time. You fix that problem by requiring safe sex, and designing fool-proof contraception! You do NOT end abortions by overturning Roe, and by a one-trick pony strategy/over-focus, the Christian Cabal HARMS Jesus, from IGNORANCE (again, a sin)!

CHRISTIAN CABAL (& MYSELF)

(12/7/17)

DJT's Jerusalem embassy decision was PURELY to seek to solidify the Christian Cabal's support for 2020! Chump KNOWS he has ZERO natural commonality with those (self-named) "pastors!" They are all SUCH moral cowards, not one of them will debate this document they are all too well aware of!: <http://bit.ly/2mkbIKI>

Those specific men were ALL used in a process to try to recruit me to run for high office, on three or four occasions, within a two year period. We detail it in Christians For Trump. God told me to NOT oblige, and NOW we see why—their 'character' and agenda are NOT Jesus', on idolizing power at ALL moral costs.

They KNOW from dealing with me for the past three years (the original organizing one having fought and dealt with me for eight+ years, changing his church by persistent pressure detailed at my free website), that I WILL expose ALL those details, and NOT be a patsy who will do their bidding, but call out their LACK of EDBS priorities, among most of their pastor peers.

They HATE that I teach the TRUTH about Churchianity, tithing, church-as-a-business/preach-and-be-paid, attraction method of evangelism, Lordship Salvation, and that I support taxing churches run like a business, so they LOVE being Chump's buddy!

He knows NOTHING of those issues, and desperately needs their support, so he does SYMBOLIC antics, like yesterday (i.e., Jerusalem), and his unenforceable Johnson Amendment edict!

That all stemmed from problems my family's pastor had communicating directly with or against me when I tweeted things he couldn't respond to!

He is Chump's spiritual advisor, because Chump learned about me, and all that God has done through me toward pastors, starting in 2014, and they wanted power, and when I wouldn't run, they ran to him. My family's pastor flip-flopped within two weeks of preaching against Chump, then speaking to ABC News (6/23/16)!

I say my family's pastor, as I quit his church perhaps six years ago, disagreeing with spending multi-millions on a new building (which God brought to failure, a few years later), instead of using that money for evangelism (though marketed to the church as a great thing 'for evangelism').

ONLY people who stumble onto this account know these facts, but MOST U.S. VIP's have been by, because that pastor is connected, and he touted myself to many of his pastor friends, who then told D.C. politicians, when they thought I was going to run as a GOP.

When Chump won, I changed political parties that day, and ever since they have begun to chum up to DJT for extremist policies they were NOT for when they were giddy about what I was for. That's why I say they're hypocrites who idolize power.

The general public has ZERO idea about these matters, because I only use Twitter, so far, but my book, for FREE, explains every detail, with dates and documentation. I must learn publicity after Christmas! I will.

THIS is only going to enrage the Christian Cabal to even more extreme political actions, as they KNOW they lost in America because they were asleep for DECADES!

Don't doubt me on these matters. This account will continue to track their every scheme, though the books will cease documenting it Christmas eve. After Roy Moore and the Jerusalem embassy, there will be other antics. Chump KNOWS my past two churches, and specifically invited their pastors to advise him.

God made me wake them up to voice opposition to gay marriage going national, because Christian marriage is between a man/male and wife/female. They were SO impressed, MANY of the Cabal members recruited myself to run, BEFORE Chump won the nomination. In various ways I can specify what four of them did! Falwell was a JOKE tweet of mine, referencing his decent dad.

I tweeted to give them an idea what they needed to do to get Christian votes—his dad's "Moral" Majority—I didn't even know a Jerry Junior existed—only brother Jonathan. They used MY ideas to form their band of merry do-gooders, who WARPED MY (that is, God's, to me) ideas into an alt-right political lobby group I NEVER suggested.

Let me also predict something: To a man they will publicly deny anything about those facts, because it hurts their reputations, and "proof" has been conveniently vague in their dealings, as lawyers likely told them to do. I call now, and I will in the future, for LIE DETECTORS!

EVERY one of their famous pastor amigos can testify, but there is a collegiality in the ministry, and my Bible positions on politics and church practice are a threat to their system, so I personally expect very few people to come to my aid, as I threaten status quo. LIE DETECTORS will be demanded, and I will submit to any day.

God had me call seven DFW mega pastors to seek revival, and do FULL evangelism, nearly four years ago. I used four to five different contact methods. They ALL refused, except my family's pastor, who THOUGHT he'd get me off his case/back after hosting an ATT Stadium evangelism event. NOT when you back DJT, JNG!

Perhaps six years ago he used his staff to ban me from ALL Sunday School classes, because a female layman complained I spoke or asked questions too much, as I aided my then friend/teacher, who DIDN'T know the Bible as well, but better than most.

Then, late 2013, they made me sign a contract to never speak to any staffers, or mention the church online, as I had used TripAdvisor to say if you visit this church while in Dallas, our website details things behind the scenes you might want to know about. They were TRUE, but negative things which I have now cleaned up, because the pastor changed!

But the original complaints are in Christians For Trump, due to that man organizing his ministry peers to support THIS: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>, and because I'm too broke to pay my webmaster to reinstate the original version. No one pays you to write, until your writing can reach publishers (unless you are already an established author)! After Christmas, 2017, I will have written, full-time, 8.75 years straight.

That's my story, and I'm sticking with it, and it will NEVER change, because it's TRUE, and I DON'T lie. However, my current work peers WILL testify I have said five times that I was coming full-time, and I didn't, because God wants these books complete, and every time I started, He had more work for me. Call that a lie if you want to; I call it obeying God more than my uninformed vows to my employer and work peers.

No one who knows will ever accuse me of being a liar, but those five mis-starts are the first time I've been concerned some witness may claim I lied about start dates. There's a LOT of work for 13 books and two websites. I actually suggest, like Sean Hannity vowed he would not do again—NEVER become an author!

The end points are ALWAYS further ahead than you could possibly imagine! The art itself makes a liar out of you, when you tell your family you think you're done! I thought all rough drafts were done yesterday; yet, I'm still working now!

CHRISTIAN CABAL & OVERTURNING ROE

(7/12/17)

ASK the Christian Cabal why they AREN'T seeking the Supreme Court (SCOTUS) overturning national gay marriage, like Roe, to be consistent. I'm NOT for that, as they are legal precedent, and have been deemed Constitutional.

The Christian Cabal DOESN'T have the guts to push for Obergefell to be overturned, because they KNOW public sentiment is against that, and the decision is too fresh to fight.

I GUARANTEE you the moral sell-out pastors of the Christian Cabal are begging Trump to overturn Roe through SCOTUS picks. That's their cost for selling their souls.

You'll notice that perhaps ALL Christian Cabal pastors were in pulpits when Roe was passed, and have been chasing mega church mania since 1985. That is NO coincidence.

Continued

If you have a condom break, unprotected sex, a fling or make a heat of passion mistake, the Christian Cabal wants you forced to not take the Morning After pill.

The Christian Cabal has noble intentions, but wrong methodology. Convince pregnant women not to abort, if your communication skills are of such "mega" proportions!

The Christian Cabal does NOT have the boldness to tell anyone they want gay marriage rolled back, but they would want that result, if SCOTUS would do so! #LGBTQ

Back alley, coat hanger abortions are perfectly fine risks for 'evil' women to take if the Christian Cabal gets its way with Trump's SCOTUS! Don't die, though! (Jas. 2:16)

The solution for curbing abortions is planning, and/or fool-proof contraception medications, or unbreakable condoms. I want as few abortions as possible, too!

The way to lessen abortions is to SHOW the public what the procedure entails, push Plan B, and pregnancy planning—NOT guilt, or Roe overturned.

Has any Christian Cabal member (of the seven or eight total) spent as much time speaking with pregnant women at Planned Parenthood as kissing up to evil Trump? Time sheets, please.

Get a video camera and SHOW the public the tongs that rip limbs off babies, or suction vacuums that do the same in abortions, so women KNOW what's at stake. Educate.

To be fair, broadcast testimonies of women glad they aborted, and sad they did! Education is the key; NOT laws or guilt. Pastors AREN'T doing that!

And preaching against abortion in churches is singing to the converted/choir. There is NO usefulness targeting the wrong audience (unless it's for votes vs. for solutions)! Using our minds well for Jesus?

And I am NOT for Roe being overturned. I AM for these measures. If SCOTUS overturned it, red states would pay ALL related bills, and have to allow their women out-of-state travel for such care!

That means NO law is going to stop them all, as the Christian Cabal dreams. You can't make laws based on dreams. Go talk to a pregnant woman today, anti-Roe pastors.

Celibacy or abstinence for all Americans is NOT a realistic solution! You have to deal with reality! People have sex. Educate them to avoid negative consequences.

And the baby is NOT the negative. The unwanted nature of such outcome is. If pastors LEFT church as Jesus commands, maybe they would have more success!

And the sinful hypocrisy of judicial activism conservatives complain about in trying to stack SCOTUS conservative wreaks of a double standard to everyone with a brain.

I've said this before—sinfully or even unsinfully—if you hold any exceptions: Aborted fetuses GO TO HEAVEN. All birthed humans do NOT, absent Jesus inside.

You have any sex, you will have the baby, under penalty of fines or jail time. THIS is the Christian Cabal's ultimate motive for abandoning morals to be for Trump.

Rape, incest and the mother's life? Still, a baby is being destroyed. MOST abortions are NOT in these three categories. Plan poorly, and be forced to be a mom, says the "Christian" Cabal.

NOT that you choose that sin, or not. Big Brother decides for you, if SCOTUS gets stacked the way that the Cabal desires. Judicial activism is evil to them? LOL!

Plan, plan, plan. If there's any chance you may have any sex in your life (no matter your marital status, or not), be smart in avoiding unwanted pregnancy.

But not all will; maybe most. You've got to deal with reality! If you didn't intend to get pregnant, Plan B is MUCH less evil than ripping a baby apart in your womb!

"Adoption is an option." Yet, it takes money, time, and physical pains. Know your options, but be smart with your sex, and you never have to make horrific choices.

And who would determine if the pregnancy came from a rape, incest, or was consensual? Would police merely trust the honor code of the woman's confession?

Rape or incest victims MUST carry to term, Christian Cabal? I WISH some media person would interview those two pastors and ask that specific question!

Government is going to tell a father he has to let his wife die if it comes down to the baby or his spouse, Christian Cabal members? ANSWER THESE questions—now!

Abortion is the ONLY red meat issue the GOP still has to secure Christian's votes now that gay marriage is national! The Christian Cabal knows this—I told them so years ago!

CHRISTIAN CABAL & ROY LESS

(11/25/17)

James Dobson STILL supports Roy Moore, and here's why: Supreme Court (SCOTUS) picks, to overturn Roe v Wade. This handful of older WASP ministers LET it pass when they were young, and were chasing fame and fortune ever since, so GUILT before they expire drives them to want politicians for that cause, at ANY cost!

Here's what would occur IF it were overturned: Red states would ban all abortions, or ban all but two or three exceptions (mother's life, debatable).

Those states would most likely legally have to pay for red state women to get one elsewhere, possibly including costs (doctor, travel, etc.), for equal protection/treatment.

Literally ANYTHING goes to get that end, even supporting THIS: <http://bit.ly/2jIYEOf> and a guy who thinks blacks getting ("new") voting rights caused problems we have today, not to mention his dating under-aged gals, and possibly being a sexual molester. ANYthing to end Roe, by SCOTUS picks.

These people do NOT have the honesty, or decency to TELL the public this, today, and I hear ZERO sermons against Roe, or see any of the Christian Cabal at Planned Parenthoods, seeking to stop them, today.

They are trying to FORCE Christian values on society, instead of convince people, and change minds, and pass laws (except in Texas), and IF the majority in America wanted Roe overturned, SCOTUS could consider that, but the reversal would be permanent, because flop-flip-flop loses them credibility more than even flip and flop would, as everyone would know it's public opinion-based, sort of like Obergefell was!

So any politicians' personal morals don't matter to the Christian Cabal, but I GUARANTEE you they will raise issues about character if any Democrats ever run, and they will NOT be held to Chump's NON-EXISTENT moral standard, because it is NOT about morals at all, but power idolatry, for Roe's overturning. Do you see them at Planned Parenthood? Do you see them mobilizing their church members to seek out pregnant women, to talk with them about NOT aborting? Will you see them, this weekend, expressing gratitude that abortions are at an all-time low?

By their "thinking," a politician could be fore 98 percent tax brackets, open borders, no military or cops, etc., so long as the politician was for stacking SCOTUS to overturn Roe!

They already let Chump off the hook for all he did and said. They're his advisers? They AREN'T doing a prophet's job, or should quit, because he obviously ignores them, except to mention the "God" he has NOT obeyed most of his adult life, JUST to keep their support.

[Private account:] On the far-right, Bannomite Republicans: They have no moral compass, they have no values of any kind, they are not guided by any core ideological issue, or perspective, much like the president.

[Private account:] On Roy Moore: To say that morality doesn't hold a part of the standard by which we judge someone we are going to give power to, is an expression of part of the crisis we are going through as a nation.

FUNNY how this tweet PERFECTLY mirrors what I just wrote! I'm NOT the only one who sees the reality of lack of morality.

[Private account:] Roy Moore's supporters are mere Cafeteria Christians. Don't be a fool.

"Cafeteria Christians." I LOVE it. ONLY pick the verses you like.

Alabama's state auditor arguing that "courtship" between Roy Moore and a child was consensual, biblical, good for the girl, and grounded in the natural attraction of a godly man to the "purity of a young woman" is like Charles Manson saying Sharon Tate enjoyed being stabbed. —Frank Schaeffer (11/26/17)

Trump-hood: Reverse Robin hood, who robs from the needy to give to the greedy... God is NOT pleased!
—Dr. Frederick Haynes (paraphrased, 12/3/17)

Continued

If Roe got flipped, and red states forced any woman to have a back alley abortion, and she died, their state would be legally liable (even though government immunity is pretty strong). I have YET to see ANY Christian Cabal "pastor" SHOW an abortion procedure on tele-screen during "worship." WEAK!

Then, take it outdoors, and broadcast it to people driving by! I've seen football games broadcast outside mega churches of that Cabal. Use those blow up screens For more important issues than Christian's entertainment! And since many of you have national TV shows, broadcast it on those, too. You WON'T?

The ONLY thing that matters in life is ending abortions, to this crew. In fact, even letting birthed humans go to Hell is O.K., if we stop embryos who WON'T go to Hell not face abortion!?! NOT one pastor I know has proof their members have evangelized everyone near their church, after the last four, and back even the last 30 years!

Unborn babies go to Heaven! I've found four Bible verses that suggest that (but I didn't write them down, so they're hard to find in the time allotted). That DOESN'T mean 'innocents' deserve to be killed. But why not full evangelism, pastors, for those who DID get birthed, and DO go to Hell, unlike embryos?

No one took me up on my dare—Democrats: Offer the GOP a Roe overturn, in exchange for higher taxes on the rich. That trial balloon is about as good as a lie detector, to discover number one motives!

IF Roe were flipped, conflict of laws would ensue (i.e. a special course in law school), to establish rights when red state women are in blue states, and vice versa, and what red states women's rights were if they insisted on aborting, who would pay, what's equal protection, and due process, which of the three exceptions hold, and who decides which pregnancy fits the legal exception(s). The 'Christian' Cabal DOESNT care about these things.

Since that Cabal WON'T tell you, unless you are in their church, or watch their TV and radio shows... adoption is better than abortion. Plan B pills are always better than aborting, if taken before inception. If you KNOW you didn't intend to get pregnant, get a morning after pill! Always plan well!

Before God, it is a SIN to kill an innocent, for irresponsible, selfish sexual pleasures! If you had NO plans to become a mother, use Plan B immediately, and always use as good of birth control as science creates! Over-population doesn't need one more resources-depleting human you don't want. If there is ANY chance you could have sex, you are sinning not to be on birth control (or otherwise avoid pregnancy)!

The "Christian" Cabal has never publicly stated those things where anyone but their congregations hear them, if then, so when this message is in our book, I will have done it for them. Safe, planned, responsible and fun sex. That's what BOTH sides need.

There is not one Bible verse that says preventing pregnancy is a sin, or kills anything! It's being responsible—a value the Bible supports! They didn't have pills in the Bible days, so they had to be even more disciplined. If I missed any verse on that claim, please point it out to me; I'm usually pretty accurate.

In a SICK way, the Christian Cabal is nostalgically trying to re-create their childhood, and FAKE that as "revival." Times when prayer and Bible reading were required in public schools, and abortions were outlawed. NEWS FLASH: That's NOT revival!

Revival is spontaneous vs. orchestrated, and of God—NOT man's manipulating P.R. stunts, and dumbed-down Christians who know little Bible, and don't think for themselves much on moral or political matters.

And revival affects LOTS of people—not just the church. And I see NO improvement on EDDBS priorities, to speak of, so we reject your fake president, and FAKE revival.

TRUE revival is what America needs, and what sincere Christians seek and pray for. STUDY the historic two, or three! I DID, in seminary, as a course in my evangelism-missions concentration, M.Div. It's like a positive infection that sweeps the land. No one can think Chump's NEG, divisive, un-moral effects are THAT!

And waking up SLEEPY WASP's for political votes is NOT getting real Christians committed to Jesus! Eph. 5:14 is NOT speaking of political votes, Christian Cabal! Morality is the number one sign that revival has hit, and the tactics of the Cabal, their president, and what their voters support is the OPPOSITE of morality, called "SIN."

One P.S.: Given the Christian Cabal's at any cost attitude on overturning Roe, there's not one reason for them to NOT be seeking Obergefell's overturn, yet they are NOT. Think about that hypocrisy, today. I'm NOT for that, as we lost, and NO ONE is forcing pastors to conduct gay weddings, or disallowing them teaching that homosexuality is a sin.

They WON'T live long enough to stack SCOTUS for Obergefell's overturn, but put them on a lie detector—I GUARANTEE you they want it!

Do they show as much love for gays as they do hatred of that lifestyle? ASK Cabal members if they want gay marriage flipped, media! Lie detectors!

Does anyone find it 'funny' that anti-abortion pastors, who counsel pregnant women, likely NEVER tell them, 'you can't NOT take this baby to term—it's evil, a sin, and killing, if not murder, and we mean that we will NOT physically let you?' NO. Instead they get Big Brother to do that forcing (and I'm NOT morally for at-will abortions)!

Since the Christian Cabal is trying to re-create 1950, by force, WHY aren't they seeking blue laws, and for cause divorces being reinstated? They'll argue that life is the number one issue, but their lack of FULL evangelism flies in the face of that claim! We ARE to influence politics, but NOT force our views onto people (in a democracy, at least).

Continued

@MittRomney Roy Moore in the US Senate would be a stain on the GOP and on the nation. Leigh Corfman and other victims are courageous heroes. No vote, no majority is worth losing our honor, our integrity.

HERO. There is NO explaining what happened to my former party, but a miracle of Satan! Delusional, if not prophetic. KEEP standing by morals. They ALWAYS serve people well, even when most DON'T serve them well! @MittRomney Your ethics trump pastors—and you're a layman! #ApostasyDays (12/5/17)

HERO for the REAL GOP! <http://cnn.it/2BDYlaq> @JeffFlake Your party (and mine, from age 18 until 2016) has been HIJACKED by the Devil! Days of apostasy. SAD!!!

NOW Roy Moore found his manhood? WHERE WAS HE THE PAST TWO WEEKS? Like a sissy baby, crying his eyes out to his wife, so she'd write a Facebook letter to stand by her man! @MooreSenate [Private account:] Steve Bannon adding some much-needed credibility and moral leadership to Roy Moore's campaign.

Can I buy you a dictionary?

CHRISTIAN CABAL COLLUSION(S)

(5/18/17)

No president has done so much that has benefitted the Christian community so quickly.

-Jerry Falwell, Jr.

Talking points that Dr. @RobertJeffress mouthed four days ago! They're in lock step for Chump 2020, hitched to a FALLing and FAILing star (and everyone sees the Christian HYPOCRISY)!

The U.S. WASP church lost MOST any credibility she had when her majority voted for the least moral GOP running in 2016! #MoralsMatter, even if NOT to you!

NON-Christians: To go to Heaven, all your sins have to be forgiven by God, by asking. Trump said he had never asked God's forgiveness for anything. That means being NOT Heaven-bound!

Then one year later, after meeting with the cabal of ~five pastors, in private, he says he's a Christian. He said he was a year before—now he is? Can you see the problem?

JUST like 'mam I am tonight' in this song, convenient Christian for WASP church votes (D. Trump); USING ignorant ones. <http://bit.ly/2qyPK6X> Embarrassing

For 17 months his behavior defied everything Christ stands for, yet the U.S. WASP Christians supported him in droves? That tells you the condition of the U.S. church.

Trump's favorite book is the Bible, yet he calls "Second Corinthians" "Two Corinthians?" It sits on his night stand gathering dust, un-understood!

Trump's favorite verse is an eye for an eye? Jesus denied such belief! (Mt. 5:38) Does anyone see the problem here with the U.S. WASP Christians' hypocrisy being for Chump? Please say 'yes.'

Trump's own pastor said he hardly knew him, because he's a holiday attender. WHY would anyone listen to a Trump Christian's words on morals or Heaven, now?

Pastors for Trump can preach on morals, but it's quite a HOLLOW sermon when your listeners know you supported Donald Trump, and RIGHTLY so, for them!

2016 PROVED what I ranted about here from 2014-2015: The U.S. church is primarily carnal or apostate, and pastors are to blame.

You can pray for revival until you're blue in the face, but so long as churchianity reigns and you choose a man of such low character as Trump, God ignores you.

Mk. 12:30 is NOT what the majority of .U.S non-Christians think of Trump Christians! You buried your consciences and mind for power idolatry, and ALL saw it, brethren!

Name EVERY GOP who ran in 2016. Put all their sins together, and every stupid thing they said and it doesn't compare to Trump! #BottomOfTheBarrel

If Christians get stereotyped as dumb, or even morally just like everyone else, let the election of 2016 show ALL that Christians need to LOOK IN THE MIRROR.

I'm VERY proud of the 99.9 percent of U.S. WASP pastors who did NOT get political in advocating for the most evil president in 50 years. That keeps Christ's reputation good.

To verbalize that you don't endorse anyone is NOT what the law intends, if your ACTIONS signal to all with a brain that you endorse someone, U.S. WASP pastors! Duh!

Pastors are to blame for the condition of the U.S. WASP church, and primarily to blame for the U.S. having the most sinful president in 50 years; pat yourselves on the back?

God can speak through a donkey; that doesn't mean the U.S. WASP Christians are to vote for one!

Does the president of Liberty University think he has HELPED his business succeed in the last two years?

I GUARANTEE you W.A. Criswell would NOT have supported a man with as low character as Trump, First Baptist Dallas! You have what you tolerate, as an ex-head of your church said!

See how Chump placates WASP Christians for votes? They're a HUGE constituency. Throw them a few bones and they'll vote for Hitler! No discernment. #SadStateOfAffairs

Trump first praised the Christian cabal members saying the most powerful people are in my presence. He NEVER tells them they're why most people go to Hell unwarned!

Jesus loves gays, illegals, POW's, Muslims, blacks, women. Did Chump show ANY Jesus-like traits for 17 months of his campaign? Baby Christian my foot!

The Christian cabal is FULL of hand full of pastors who REQUIRE turning away from sinful living or you won't go to Heaven, but claim Trump has done that?

You may find this funny, but a relic of the Reagan years' political involvement resurrected in 2016, and asked 'what are Christian political values?' #LastMinuteLarry!

It's as if Christian so-called leaders are only interested in moral-social issues when elections come around; 2016 PROVED they'd been sleeping for DECADES!

LISTEN NOW! Do you hear TrumPastors speak on homosexuality or abortion often? Babies killed in the womb are only bad every four years, when ginning up votes is needed? Hypocrisy.

I hear NO TrumPastor decrying rapes in the military, incest, sex slavery, or a host of other sins in society—JUST abortion and homosexuality!

DOES any American believe Trump depicts one who has "repented," in the Southern Baptist definition of a U-turn from sin? WHY are Trump pastors for him?

CHRISTIAN CABAL COLLUSION?

(8/2/17)

HERE's how the alt-right fosters a victim mentality through coordinated talking points of mega churches and talk radio:

READ Laura Ingraham's FoxNews article from Hannity (<http://fxn.ws/2uiPvLj>), then read Robert Jeffress' article (<http://bit.ly/2uX2G8r>), where he says the pope and an axis of evil in D.C. are trying to defeat Chump's agenda.

These alt-right talking heads delusionally ACT like Chumps a normal U.S president, who's done nothing wrong that any reasonable person could reasonably seek to oppose; a saint!

Ostriches with amnesia! THAT is talk radio and mega pastors in the Christian Cabal. They'll SPIN opposition to Chump as attacking conservatism! Just watch and see!

CHRISTIAN CABAL 'CONSERVATISM'

(10/20/17)

HERE is what political conservatism white evangelicals DONT address: Phil. 4:11. IF you believe the Christian Cabal speaks for (all) U.S. Christians, ASK BLACK and LATINO PASTORS! They are JUST as much Christians as are all the millions of Christians who DON'T agree with the Christian Cabal on political conservatism. #SilentSaints

U.S. Christians are NOT commanded to agree with every other Christian on political philosophy! It is NOT sinful division to think better than failed status quo! Christians MUST be able to unite to the belief that we ONLY support morally good policies, and accept that we DON'T live in a theocracy!

If the Christian Cabal were consistent, and NOT politically biased (a sin), and IF God commanded Christians to make society the Millennium, by the force of Trump edicts, their plans would be exposed for what they REALLY are. Here's how they'd act to usurp democracies:

Ban all abortions, and even back alley types, ban all sodomy, even using technology, end poverty and pollution and animal abuse, all greed, stealing, rapes, prostitution, adultery, divorces (only two exceptions), drunkenness, cussing, slavery, maybe all work on Sundays and gambling, some dancing, all porn, maybe smoking, etc.

You do NOT see them aspiring to all of these, but only some, for it is NOT a spiritual reformation they seek, but political power, and NOT like in Reagan's day, but a warped view of that day being replicated. If Christianity were declared the official religion of America, they would LOVE that!

Why would 81 percent of Christians go along with Chump? They had NO BETTER (and viable) ALTERNATIVE. If they had that, you'd HOPE they would choose differently next time! But with between 70 and 90 percent of them are NOT fully committed to Jesus, so DON'T count on it! They NEED their life's tables turned, because they are backslidden, carnal, or even apostate, in many cases; money is their idol—NOT God!

Cherry-picking your political values is sin (if you can do better). Christians are to use the WHOLE counsel of God, and take whichever politician or party offers them the most from such a list, and NEVER accept any party completely, as they both have sins and virtues. WILL THE CHRISTIAN CABAL TEACH YOU THIS? SIN would prevent that from happening!

I'm going to BORE myself, from repetition, for your benefit: HERE's how the U.S. church is impacted by culture, often more so than Christ (i.e., cultural Christianity and the commercialization of Christ)... the industrial age brought Americans assembly line efficiency. Pastors WON'T individually disciple through small groups, like Jesus did.

It HAS to be one sermon to all. That is much less effective, and the quality wanes significantly. Fuller Brush sales brought us sales forces; then we moved more to advertising. Now, the church WON'T leave its comfort zone, and take the Gospel to lost people. Come-and-hear attraction festivals instead—events and advertising. Social ministry? Let government do it, then vote against them doing it.

Get a tax exemption, then in the late 1980's, start the church-as-a-business theory! ONLY give/donate money if you get a tax break (i.e., government interference with religious practice, for good motives). In those same 1980's, big businesses engaged mergers and acquisitions. Churches, too! Mega church mania.

The church growth movement brought in secular methods to grow churches—NOT God's word, the Bible. Bible teaching changed to more entertainment in sermons, and writing psychobabble books and video series—to make a buck off your "ministry." And some wonder why the church is WEAK? I don't! Powerless.

At best, biblical layman interaction, relationships, and doing the 'one another's' of Scripture WHEN they are gathered is, now, stand and greet a stranger. So EVERY Christian has the spiritual gift of greeting strangers (which is NOT a listed gift)? Prayer CAN'T last more than 45 seconds! Machine-age efficiency and polity, order, structure.

Christian schools arose, to keep children from being indoctrinated into political liberalism, and for churches to PROFIT! They're usually quite expensive. This is all by design—business design! Any church run like a business ought to be taxed as/like a business!

And under the church-as-a-business philosophy, the product is the sermon, and the members are customers. To keep them loyal clients, guilt them with Heb. 10:25, and to keep them paying customers, teach the FALSE ten percent tithe, AS IF they were Jews in a theocracy, being taxed by their government. This WORKS, so why would any pastor change it? ONLY if they cared about God, and had a conscience!

If millennials can believe this, churches USED to believe that billboards advertising their church were basically pagan. Now they're on TV, radio, etc. We host petting zoos, jump houses, face painting, Halloween alternatives, pageants and plays, Christmas parades, rock concerts, political events. Jim Bakker started a 'Christian' amusement park. Churches OWN strip centers (NOT strip clubs), retirement centers, etc. Church is BIG business, but ONLY for a handful percent of elite pastors. The rest may struggle, but do mega churches help them like, II Corinthians 8:14-15 teaches them to? That's non-sensical, if you're a BUSINESS!

And when I say that the Church has lost her power, JUST LIKE GOD'S CONCERN, I'm NOT speaking of voting power, but spiritual power. Compare the church in the book of Acts to the U.S. Church, on their impact on society! And a GREAT song saying so 'don't make it so:' <http://bit.ly/2zMN5II> Sorry. #RevivalWanes

CHRISTIAN CABAL CONTRADICTIONS

(9/28/18)

Let's address what would occur if the Christian Cabal actually had the courage of their convictions. By the way, they flip flop ALL THE TIME, which is NOT a trait of firm convictions! Blue laws would resurrect, dry counties, adultery would be criminalized, and for-cause divorces; all porn would be snuffed out by the cops, as with all prostitution; prayer would be mandatory in public schools, as with Bible study, and the ten commandments would be in court rooms; all abortions would be banned in every state; cussing would be outlawed, probably smoking, certainly weed. They NEVER tell you this, from sinful hiding (i.e., deception by omission).

Why not criminalize premarital sex, via your adulterous 'champion' Chump (the poster child for sin), lying in D.C., greed in mega pastors, politicians and executives, selfishness in stingy (vs. generous) rich people, etc.?

If you believe America is a theocracy, implement all Bible verses as U.S. civil laws, Christian Cabal! There's one reason they NEVER will! This is NOT about societal morality, but power idolatry! Roe is the espoused reason, but power idolatry is the cause!

You NEVER hear any WASP pastor political activists EVER reprove the GOP for ANY of their MANY policy sins! Revival is NOT 'gonna come by them.

CHRISTIAN CABAL CRITICISM

(10/16-17/17)

[Response to Jeffress calling any Trump-opposing Christians "bitter":] Any allegation of "bitterness" would presume I would want to be associated with people NOT sharing God's priorities or morality, for political idolatry. The claim couldn't be further from the truth! The Christian Cabal REJECTED our call to LEAD laymen to FULLY evangelize, but DT NEVER would ask them to! WEAK!

Churchianity supports a FALSE Gospel to guilt responders into acting the way they should if they were disciples, in favor of regular "tithers," to keep their businesses going! Any church run like a business should be taxed as a business, and Lordship Salvation and tithing are BOTH false doctrines, biblically!

I FEAR for the Christian Cabal on Judgment Day, if not before! I pity them, as their career reputations TANK from the sins of hypocrisy and power idolatry. HOW could anyone be jealous of that? Fear God, and turn from evil, gentlemen! Your formerly un-seared consciences used to know better. You're dragging Jesus through the mud!

One political operative for the Christian Cabal hosted a meeting to decide what issues Christians cared about—IN 2015! Does that sound like someone who had been handling his business well for Christians since Reagan's day? If you have to question what issues to stand for, you haven't been in any fight for them prior to! Duh 101. Incompetence!

WAY after the fact, the Christian Cabal organized to try to stem cultures drifts, when gay marriage went national! They even published a #NashvilleStatement to show their opposition—TWO YEARS AFTER THE FACT. ASK THEM if they want Obergefell overturned! They'll wait a decade+. A lie detector will be NEEDED for their answer!

I am NOT for Obergefell's overturning—EVER. I was not for gay marriage going national, based on state's rights, and legal contracts of civil unions, but I accept the SCOTUS decision, and had to wake up the main Cabal members to even have any action in voicing opposition to it BEFORE it went national. Asleep at the wheel!

Does anyone see the Christian Cabal and Bannon's strategy? The Alabama GOP politician Trump opposed—who won—vehemently opposed implementing the law of the land on gay marriage, as did V.P. Pence. These Cabal members single out homosexuality as the ONLY thing God opposes, for political power! Mainly Roe remains, for them to attack, now (i.e., after Obergefell).

Put Christian Cabal members on a lie detector! They dream of all pregnant women being forced to give birth, even if raped or incest victims, or with the mother's life at stake. The Bible ONLY speaks of abortion and homosexuality, in their two-paged Bibles, cutting out all else in politics! (Deut. 4:2; Rev. 22:18)

I read a post that at the "Values" Voter Summit, people were handing out pamphlets about the disease dangers of homosexual sex. What about any anal sex by any other people? These folks REALLY do harbor hatred of gays, vs. love, despite disagreeing with that lifestyle decision! WWJD? NOT that!

The sins of lying, adultery, divorce (with two exceptions), love of money, and pride DON'T bother the Christian Cabal—only homosexuality and abortion. It's like Madame Marie O'haire were still doing her gig, or the Scopes Monkey trial was still on TV, as these (older) men reminisce of their childhood days!

I DON'T hear the Christian Cabal seeking to reinstate blue laws, prayer and Creationism in public school, at/for-fault divorce, banning some dances, all porn, perhaps casinos and gambling. No Just select targets from their childhood—abortion and homosexuality. That gets riled up VOTES! #Agenda!

I have ALL the documentation you could EVER want, to show how that Christian Cabal got started. God used myself to get them to do His spiritual priorities. They DIDN'T, for the most part, and warped it into political power ambitions! God doesn't need secular power; HIS real church has power—NOT Trump!

The average age of a Christian Cabal member is ~65. This is baby boomer, old school white, male, Protestant angst at society's change, as they look back at life, and see that they dropped the ball! Trump was SO down in the polls, they made a deal with the Devil to get access to a discredited power holder!

Now Steve Bannon, AGAIN, is going to LIE to poorer U.S. workers that Chump will bring their former, now outsourced jobs back. If one's IQ is too low (or desperation too high), they fall for anything (i.e., lies).

American Christian: If you believe political conservatism is 100 percent how God wants you to vote, you are a proverbial if not literal fool! Think for yourself, and read your Bible. STOP blindly following false prophets who tell you otherwise! ONLY support morally good policies!

W.A. Criswell would be SHOCKED how the church HE built is being used to back Chump (FBC Dallas)! HE was a Christian HERO! Same goes for Billy Graham (100 percent) and Jerry Falwell, Sr. (somewhat), for how their sons have WARPED their heritage. Shameful name-recognition is their talent!?

Franklin Graham was 100 percent honorable, and a Christian HERO prior to March 2016. When the Christian Cabal began, and he agreed to be a spokesman for it, he bruised his credibility and reputation—YUGELY! Power idolatry MUST be like a drug to these people! Frankly, I don't see the appeal! It's ONLY a necessary evil!

The definition of delusional! Chump is OPPOSITE Jesus' miracles; read more, opine less! You abandoned sound doctrine YEARS ago! <http://bit.ly/2h4yJvw> REPORT: James Robison—Trump Could Become 'One of the Greatest Miracles the World Has Ever Seen'

The ONE Christian Cabal member I am PROUD of for staying quiet, if not begrudging his bad decision to back Chump is a man I HAD respected all his life, until he went with Chump: Dr. James Dobson. THAT's how you save a stellar reputation from any further harm! I Hope I didn't just jinx him! <http://bit.ly/2h72nka>

Franklin's back in the RIGHT business, for now, but the #HowGreatThouArt was anathema being sung at a Chump rally! You don't mix light with darkness, AS IF Trump voters are all committed believers. UN-factual, fantasyland image projection. Y'all didn't yet take me OFF your mailing list. Please do, this time. Thanks. <http://bit.ly/2iwHIPs>

Definition of delusional! The Christian Cabal colludes with the SAME talking points! Falwell says Trump's a miracle, and may become like Abe Lincoln? <http://bit.ly/2hH8GtS>

I have NOTHING in common with the Christian Cabal. If I studied sin, there's probably a manual for how to lie with a clear conscience and straight face. It probably teaches you to deny facts, spin everything positive, attack opponents, and pretend circumstances are the way you wish they were. I wouldn't know!

With Steve Bannon planning GOP "chaos" (a "Christian value"—NOT!; I Cor. 14:33), and Robert Jeffress "mad as h-e-double-L," the Christian Cabal sees the handwriting on the wall, and they are in desperation mode! I suggest decent GOP's stay away from close association with Chump in 2018, for re-election!

I suggest @TheDemocrats NOT just harp on Chump's obvious failings of actions, words, values and intelligence! How could you NOT have better policy proposals to run on in 2018? A monkey with a dart board could do better! HRC over-focused on DT's negatives. That can rile up dumber Trumpsters, too.

Poll: Would you be more or less likely to attend a Franklin Graham event, given his vocal support of Donald Trump?

Poll: Would you be more or less likely to attend First Baptist Church, Dallas, given its pastor Robert Jeffress' vocal support of Donald Trump?

Poll: Would you be more or less likely to send your child to Liberty University, given its president Jerry Falwell Junior's vocal support of Donald Trump?

Ironically, there's a Liberty University ad on ABC this moment! Your tuition dollars down the drain, trying to resurrect image after falling so NOT well for Chump!

Old article, still relevant!: How Trump Is Dividing Jerry Falwell's University <http://politi.co/2eHUVsy>

The origins of ignorance among many WASP voters is that the mainstream media lies all the time; be stupid for Jesus? <http://nbcnews.to/2lfaC20>

WHERE are the "values" for voters to vote for in THIS?: <http://bit.ly/2i6fnFa>
<http://fxn.ws/2wtQFPs> #FoxNews Absent; anathema. Ichabod.

If you read the Liberty University article I posted this evening, a wise professor at Liberty University admitted that HRC was clearly more qualified than DJT. These type voters were NOT interested in the best qualified, but the one who would carry their biased (which is a sin) political water! I have NOTHING to do with the Christian Cabal!

[It's funny, EVERY time I'm 'through' with my latest book on the WASP Christian heresy of being for Trump, and tie it to their 30 year history of carnality, something happens to reassure me that I need to make it MORE clear, more documented, and more lengthy, as it's 100 percent relevant through 2020! #&Miles2GoB4ISleep]...

WATCH Robert Jeffress, Jerry Falwell and Franklin Graham (via Fox) the next three years! They will sell you snake oil that Chump walks on water, and is Jesus incarnate. Their ministries are now forever linked with that monster, and there's no way for them to turn back now. Deal with the Devil, and you get BURNED!

[Retweet:] I MUST say, @HillaryClinton engaged the LEAST mud-slinging I could ever expect, given the onslaught of dung from Chump! Honorable, and self-defense! (11/7/16)

Update #1: Lordship Salvation

It's time for some common sense about biblical salvation (at 3 am): The true Gospel is NOT a message that lost people are evil in their deeds, and need to be holier, or they will go to hell. That is salvation by works. Anyone can decide to behave better, but they'll end up in hell, only doing so!

Lordship Salvationists argue that if a lost person commits a sin, they must confess and renounce it to receive forgiveness. They can't (i.e., spiritual incapacity/inability) promise to renounce all sins, as even as a Christian you will sin. That would make your former renouncing insincere, so you didn't qualify to be saved under their heretical theory!

Man's problem is NOT that he commits sins, but that he is a sinner, by nature, as evidences by his sinning! It's FAR worse than curbing sin habits. And hell is the payment due for ONLY committing one sin. Lordship Salvation is a lifelong process of serial repenting, like buying indulgences!

There is no good news in telling a lost person, ‘you can have a free gift if you promise to live the rest of your life holy, and not sinful.’ That errant statement is both not good news, nor a gift. I wonder sometimes if Lordship Salvationists have experienced salvation, and are, therefore, truly Christians.

Salvation by good works is the exact same thing as Lordship Salvation, absent sincere, heart-felt faith—the ONLY part of their Gospel where they get things correct. Do free gracers therefore teach that Christians can live any way they want, after salvation? May it never be! That’s false slander.

How a person is going to behave after they get saved is not the problem Christians are addressing in telling lost people the Gospel! That’s getting the cart before the horse! A person will be a completely new person whom you will be dealing with, IF and only if they first receive the truly free gift of salvation! Get it RIGHT!

The biblical Gospel is not telling any human, ‘if you promise to stop living sinfully, God will let you go to heaven.’ It’s also not saying, ‘if you continue living sinfully, you will certainly go to heaven.’ How they will act in the future is not the topic! What they face today, for any sins already done, is the issue!

Lordship Salvation came about in the ~late 1970’s, by a Cali pastor concerned his church members were sinful. The biblical solution (if they were saved) is relational discipling. Instead, he created a false Gospel. John MacArthur is his name, and law living breeds death vs. victory and life!

The word ‘repent’ means change mind (Greek, two words). Make a decision to receive Jesus, not having done so before, which is that mind change, all produced by one under the Spirit’s sovereign conviction/calling. A Christian pop song speaks of Jesus coming into your life—it’s in your HEART—a place for Him to reside, and then reign!

I’ve written an entire book addressing probably every Bible verse on this subject. The fallacies of Lordship Salvation are MANY! There should be ZERO New Testament calls to Christians to commit to God or stop sinning, as those decisions were required for salvation, via Lordship Salvation!

There should be ZERO instances of sinfully living Christians in the New Testament, under the false doctrine of Lordship Salvation, because how they would live the rest of their life was forever settled at salvation, or they would not get any salvation, under the false Gospel of Lordship!

Yet, on many occasions, we find exhortations to commit to holiness, and sinful behavior in people the Bible authors don’t question the salvations of. If any true Christian had any brain waves while studying God’s word, that contradiction of the false theory of Lordship would be glaringly obvious. It’s usually not!

And while we’re at it, church buildings are not God required, nor pastor full-time salaries; millionaire ministers were unheard of when pastors were sincere about God’s EDBS priorities—in the first century, and ten percent tithing is NOT required of Christians, bur was a tax on Jews living under a theocratic government!

And the theory called come-and-hear is NOT biblical evangelism. I’ve witnessed on SO many occasions a crowd full of saved people hear the Gospel, day in and day out, with few-to-no people getting saved, because you can’t save a saved person! God teaches go-and-tell evangelism. There are three exceptions which we DON’T qualify for!

Now if anyone ever questioned why the Christian Cabal HATES what I stand for, especially when I repeatedly state that they apostatized to support Chump, rather than vote for all GOP’s but him, these are some of the real reasons they fear my words, and kiss up to a man for table crumb favors that are LOW priorities! I tell them the TRUTH.

Update #2: EDBS Priorities

Body Life is NOT Sunday School, or shaking hands always or mainly with strangers (or, more often, the same pew sitter who sits in the same row as all the weeks before)! That is NOT using a spiritual gift to edify anyone during the worship service. READ I Cor. 14, and ignore the two sign gifts mentioned! Duh 101.

And Jesus preached to crowds, but poured His life into 11 men, who changed the world. Sermonizing is NOT Jesus' way of discipling Christians! Preach-and-be-paid is NOT a biblical pastor's job description! And biblical evangelism is thorough evangelism—NOT partial!

There's likely NOT one U.S. pastor who can with confidence/authority/accuracy say that his members have reached every hell-bound lost person within walking distance of their church in the last three years. Yet, we are SO content if the crowds are large, budget is met, and buildings nice and shiny. We are Laodicean, and revival is our only hope, Christians!

Statistics teach that it takes SEVEN Gospel presentations for a lost person to say 'yes,' yet most U.S. pastors can't, before God, state that their members have reached all nearby lost people ONCE! NO proof—just naive hope. And you wonder why 81 percent of U.S. Christians voted for the most ignorant and evil GOP in 50 years? Why do you?

Carnality. Sin. Power idolatry. These are what you would expect to flow from the retail religious industry I just described, and which God says in Rev. 3 makes Him want to puke! Churchianity! Frequent my business, and give me ten percent of your wealth, and you're good with God. Don't, and we'll make you feel that you aren't.

And some wonder why WASP Christians were so uninfluential in society since Reagan's days. Wonder NO more! Chasing mega church, multi-site and mega salaries, for fame and fortune, while Rome burned, and now people will literally burn in hell, forever, as a result. Yes, U.S. Christians, most of our priorities are WRONG!

If any person claims to be a Christian, it is NOT their having memorized how many books, chapters, words or commands are in the Bible that proves they love God, but the quality of the relationship they have with Him, which WILL manifest in godly living. It's a DAILY walk vs. once a week at church!

I heard a man brag that his Christian radio company LOVES God's word. When I worked for them, in Houston, the station manager trained us to lie, so our sales numbers would please Wall Street. Tell me that business loves God, yet has leaders teaching employees to lie about audience size, and not knowing what it is.

Talk is cheap! Money spoke louder than ethics at that station, yet owners claim the business loves the Bible. Executives need to go on the Undercover Boss TV show, because, as usual, there's a disconnect between theory and practice, which management knows little of. It's delusional that their goals are how things are operating!

And don't think the Christian Cabal's support of the stupidest and least saintly fake baby Christian of all GOP candidates in 2016 goes unnoticed by lost people the world over! The reputation of Christianity suffered GREAT loss via Chump, yet those few men in the tank for him STILL haven't repented, and are still delusional!

The Southern Baptist Convention president, three years ago, hosted revival prayer meetings from MY initiating! Dr. Sanchez of SWBTS commended Dr. Floyd, to me, probably never knowing who started that. I wanted no credit, but I won't let others use me! Now, ZERO such revival calls because DT has been elected?

Chump being president has NOTHING to do with revival, but is a sign of judgment on the U.S.A.! God gives people over to their sinful desires, if He ever tires of being patient with them. Haven't you noticed, with hurricanes, wildfires, and the Vegas shooter, revival is a far way away from our beloved nation? Wake UP.

Pastors have abandoned God's priorities for the chance to endorse from the pulpit, and say, 'merry Christmas' at businesses. This is cultural Christianity, and biblical Christianity has NEVER been illegal to practice in America—we just don't want to, as it's easier to go to church (as laymen), and preach a sermon (as pastors)!

And, politically, the ONLY hook the GOP had with Christians was hatred of gays and aborters. With Obergefell, abortion is the only pure red meat left! Otherwise, the two parties are about equally flawed, morally-speaking! So the Christian Cabal is relying on Christian anger at Obergefell, as long as they can milk that anger.

Roy Moore (of AL), Mike Pence (of IN), Phil Robertson, and whoever Steve Bannon recruits next: They'll TRY to prove to Christians that people who opposed gay marriage need to overturn the GOP establishment, who are ONLY doing nothing because Chump insulted and threatened their careers, when he was unqualified for his current job!

Robert Jeffress cries that he's mad as hell at Congress' inaction. I started that complaint FOUR years ago. He is Johnny-come-much more-lately. I have all the tweets to prove everything ever claimed here. The man claimed Chump's agenda isn't being implemented. WHAT AGENDA?

Every other GOP had substance, or positions on issues. Chump has been toying with running since 2,000! EVENTEEN YEARS to work up cogent ideas on positions. ALL he could muster was a 50 foot beautiful wall that Mexico will (NOT) pay for, and ban all Muslims (as if all are terrorists), and that most immigrants rape and commit crime.

And POW's are losers (not draft dodgers, like himself); and women can be grabbed or adulterated on, and victimized by womanizers, and society will reward the culprit. The man is NOT a Christian, by observations, and anyone who believes the Christian Cabal's makeover 'baby Christian' jargon is just plain dumb, or naive!

You aren't a Christian if God has not forgiven ALL your sins, through Jesus (Jn. 3:16). Yet, Chump had (arrogantly) never asked Him to forgive anything. When that contradiction (rightly) didn't go over well, the evangelical advisers devised a 'baby Christian' narrative, so DUMB Christians would relate to and vote for him.

STOP being stupid, and biblically illiterate, U.S. Christians! God teaches that you do NOT need a pastor to tell you what God has said, but on Judgment Day, He will ask what YOU did with Him and His word! Your pastor will NOT be called in on that meeting to vouch or cover for you. Think for yourself. The Christian Cabal sins.

These old guard believe if they can put three faces on TV and radio enough, where the market is captive (i.e., Fox and Salem Comm., etc.), Christians will be beholden to their endorsement of Chump's re-election! Where are the godly and independent Christian pastors to counter that Christian Cabal? Must they be minority pastors?

Where are the Southern Baptists who KNOW Trump is dumb and vile? Have you been silenced by job threats from the Christian Cabal, @drmoore? What of Presbyterians, Methodists, Lutherans? Why are you letting three pastors represent the entire Church of America, in the tank for the WORST GOP candidate in 2016? Fear and timidity are sins!

We all sin—even Christians. That doesn't mean Chump was anything like the past five presidents. Far below. I speed, I cuss some, and no one is claiming moral perfection is needed for a politician. But this litany of freely chosen decisions DISqualified DT forever as a leader!: <http://bit.ly/2i6fnFa> Debate it. American Christians: Grow a brain, and independence—SOON—before it's too late!

The Christian Cabal says America needs to get over, and 'Move On' from those disqualifying credentials. But just yesterday, on talk radio, conservatives were STILL calling @BillClinton a sexual predator, along with JFK and Weinstein, IGNORING the predator they voted for! Double standard hypocrisy.

It's DUPLICITOUS for the Christian Cabal to argue that "Christmas" is NOT a religious holiday, but for the sake of establishing a Christian kingdom NOW, they'll tell their voting church members we have to get God back in our nation, and having Chump announce that that word, "Christmas," is O.K. to say. They're playing it BOTH ways!

I'm ALL for Christmas and Easter, as U.S. holidays. I'm AGAINST any attempts by anyone to "Christianize" the U.S. by political stunts, or mandates. The voice of WE THE PEOPLE rules, and Christians must influence public opinion—NOT chum up to Chump to pass non-binding symbolic edicts pro any one religion! That's NOT like Jesus!

When Chump had the song, How Great Thou Art, sung at his Arizona rally, I DON'T know who "thou" referred to, in context! I know Who it was written to praise, but with Chump as the focal point of the rally, spiritually, the Devil may have, for once, enjoyed that song!? The power behind that throne, SADLY!

If this report is true, the Christian Cabal NEEDS to read it! You got used, and PLAYED! Your fame is fleeting. <http://on.msnbc.com/2y2zgJi>

CHRISTIAN CABAL: PROPHETS OR PROFITS?

(10/20/17)

Some pastors study business management books nearly as much as the Bible! Studies have been done on church building architecture attracting people (Ex.: Cypress Bible), and there are even a FEW "franchised" churches. YES, some modern mega churches are run just like a business. So why the tax breaks, voters? #Reform Revive

I even read an article that Christians are considering becoming a political interest group. There are certainly separation of church and state issues, there. They want to be lobbyists! That is SO far removed from the EDBS mission statement of the church, that Laodicea is in bed with commercial Babylon, setting up the coming 7-year Tribulation! Sad. #Rapture

How building a successful business relates to how to have a successful mega church that's spiritually unsuccessful: Christians are clients, Heb. 10:25 guilts them into being frequent flyer repeat customers, the 'tithe' guilts them into being paying customers, HIDDEN total compensation keeps them in ignorance, as with watered-down sermons (like Osteen), centrally located and easy access venues with good architecture attracts new customers, as with church advertising, and "seeker-sensitive" (Rom. 3:11) festivals, concerts, etc., by an 'attraction' (vs. go and tell the gospel) business model of "ministry."

The sermon is the product, and you poll church members, or scour other successful preachers for sermon series and topics that work. You lobby to keep the tax exemption, as you skirt the law by saying you don't endorse, then only praise ideas associated with your endorsed party (and by running your business as a business, while claiming 501-C-3 status).

You imitate competitor mega churches (CONTRARY to I Cor. 3:9), be it with quality professional musicians on stage, or whatever new fad is working elsewhere; you keep the sheep DUMB, and steer them to political beliefs you favor. You present going to church as Mecca, but a personal walk with Christ 24/7 throughout the week (i.e., OUTSIDE the church building) is RARELY extolled.

You DON'T expect or require most if not all of them to regularly evangelize, or be disciplined, then disciple; never ensure they're using their spiritual gifts, and especially NOT during the Sunday worship service, and it's O.K. if they do NOTHING to change society for the good if they keep paying the fiddler!

Give to God gets warped into give to me, but you NEVER present it that way—that would be financial (and reputational) suicide! You open your multi-site campuses in rich zip codes, because Jesus always loved the rich, and considered all others lazy, right? You do demographic studies to target new venues for business expansion.

You get on TV and radio so you get famous, but say it's to reach more people for Christ (which it can), then franchise your business as your own little denomination. Write books, be seen on Fox and Christian TV stations. Build your own little empire here on earth, despite Jesus saying NOT to. Start an amusement park.

NEVER thoroughly do EDBS priorities, for that might scare off REAL Christians. Teach a false gospel (Lordship Salvation), paid for by a false requirement (the ten percent tithe). Teach and advocate for a FALSE connection of God to 100 percent politically conservative ideas, and build up the Laodicean church of Revelation 3!

Token gestures to the poor salve seared consciences, but OPPOSITELY voting against any systemic help is your political agenda, so you can stay rich. Preach a prosperity gospel that usually only blesses the man behind the pulpit spouting that false doctrine! THIS is status quo U.S. WASP CHURCHianity!

It commercializes Christ (profit behind most activities, or we won't do them), and promotes a cultural Christianity. Church-as-a-business is an actual theory taught to some U.S. pastors! I have ZERO idea why the WASP church has lost so much power, influence, and credibility since Reagan. (SARCASM)

P.S.: Selling "Christian" books by famous ministers (capitalizing on Christ) has replaced Bible study, where such books are MAINLY man's words, vs. Bible exposition! Ear-tickling for profit. Watering down the sheep vs. watering and nourishing them. Christian psychobabble leading them AWAY from Bible meditation.

Do you want a GUARANTEED way to NEVER be reproved by your pastor? Tithes! Currency trumps Christ for false prophets (who want false profits/filthy lucre), wolves and tares! (10/22/17)

And speaking of church-as-a-business, some pastors are experienced project managers, ALWAYS equating building programs as a church succeeding! It's a FAKE proof that the church is growing. Spiritually, not so much, but in values God doesn't share—yes (Mt. 24:1-4; Lk. 16:15) Topsy-turvy values and priorities. (10/21/17)

CHRISTIAN CABAL RATIONALIZATIONS (PART I)

(11/2/16)

A famous Chump surrogate pastor yesterday said its ONLY about policy, and said Reagan was a known womanizer. NEVER tie Chump to Reagan! <http://bit.ly/2eTJoJv> [details via local talk radio 660AM]

Reagan did NOT insult his fellow GOP candidates, women, minorities, or insult Christians' intelligence or publicly cuss or act arrogant, Robert Jeffress!

IF you weren't LYING, and could face reality, if it REALLY was all up to policy, Cruz, Rubio, Kasich and Bush knew policy well before Chump knew anything about it!

In fact, your small clique of pastor peers often HOPPED from Bush to Cruz, and finally to Chump. It's all about beating Democrats from hatred—NOT about morals OR policy!

IF it were all about policy, Evan McMullin is an expert, but I'm SURE you're NOT voting for him! Chump's policy for 7/8ths of his campaign was it'll be great, that's a problem—we'll look into it, trust me!

Trump's ONLY policy was to build a wall and ban all Muslims until handlers educated him the past three months, Bob.

Trump has been a Democrat all his life, and pro-death! DON'T tell ME it's all about policy! You can SAY he's for overturning gay marriage and Roe, but he stumbled onto those issues to win church votes! I've already addressed all implications of politically stacking SCOTUS for those two issues, and won't repeat it.

It's NOT all about policy, and Chump's NOTHING like Reagan! Even Ronnie's son Michael said so. I voted for Reagan, I supported Reagan, my hero is Reagan. Donald—you are NO Reagan!

It's all about policy ONLY because you're RIGHTLY too embarrassed and ashamed for it to be anything else, @RobertJeffress

Trump's behavior all year is NOWHERE like Reagan, and you know it! NEED I remind you? Go to #TrumpBrainToots #HasDonaldTrumpChanged #TrumpIsAUniter #TrumpTricks #GOPgrandchildren

The church is in bed with the world for pure conservatism! Worship business and the rich (CONTRARY to Levit. 19:15 and, scr_w the little guy Jesus stood for, all in the name of Jesus? ANATHEMA!

BIBLICAL policies do NOT 100 percent support political conservatism! Even liberals have some biblical policy issues, as with RINOs, pastor Jeffress! You've become star-struck, schmoozing 'wanna-be power!

One thing you do get credit for is you've consistently been for Trump, and NOT flip-flopped like those who went from Bush to Cruz to Chump—like family James D.

JUST BE HONEST: It's NOT all about policy, but that's the ONLY angle you and Mark Davis can parrot, because your candidate is SO flawed, and we ALL saw it for 14+ months.

PLEASE read this morning's message about hypocrisy in evangelicals saying Trump is like Reagan or it's all about policy! @nytimes @CNN @NBC @CBS @ABC

And, by the way, I was awakened at 2:20 am with this on my mind. To our regular viewers that fits a pattern, and for a reason. And I do NOT 100 percent kiss up to my heroes!

Truth and morality are MORE important to me than power, or being liked by pastors I admire! They need to hear the truth, whether they want to, or not!

P.S.: Everything's negotiable means what policy? Punish the aborting woman is Jeffress' policy?
READ yesterday's message on problems with overturning gay marriage.

Older pastors feel GUILTY Roe and gay marriage passed on their watch! They KNOW they were asleep at the wheel chasing mega church mania. TRUTH.

For Chump to promise to pick SCOTUS justices to overturn those two issues was all it took to overlook the morally WORST nominee in 50 years, minority of pastor sell-outs?

Power idolatry IS a sin (worshipping government and power at the cost of conscience and ethics). That decision MUST be made (and was) for you to be for Trump!

Trump would be the GREATEST anti-Christian testimony to keep people from coming to Christ IF the public was stupid enough to consider him one; most don't!

The majority in America know he's an egoist out for self, lying, flip-flopping politician who walks back things until some policy sticks. THAT is his TRUE policy strategy.

Other pastors would LONG AGO have concluded they couldn't be part of his immoral show, to un-stain their reputation. You spin it positive, as being loyal.

And for every church praying for our country this week, if that's code for vote for Chump, God's NOT going to hear your prayer Nov. 8th! He opposes evil! READ His book!

IF the church and morally committed lost people united to demand better from so-called "leaders," withholding their money and votes would turn D.C. upside down!

Lesson? Don't be a political surrogate unless your candidate lets you tell the truth, which means you're free to differ from them when you must, @RobertJeffress

CHRISTIAN CABAL RATIONALIZATIONS (PART II)

(12/23/16)

I read an article by Christians trying to argue that the evil king Cyrus ruled righteously, as justification for Christians being for Chump. GOD NEVER TOLD HIS PEOPLE TO VOTE FOR CYRUS! Duh 101.

God CAN use evil rulers to do His plans, but He NEVER tells His people to do evil that He can turn things positive through the negatives they allow in. Idiocy.

CHRISTIAN CABAL—REVIVE VS. RETURN TO THE ‘GOOD ‘OL DAYS’

(11/28/17)

With Angela Ansbury (‘women must sometimes take blame for sexual harassment) and the Christian Cabal, old baby boomers are doing their generation a DIS-service, trying to pull America back to the 1940’s-1950’s standards (i.e., dress modestly, or be sexually attacked, or prayer and Bible study required in public school). It’s NOT their age that’s the problem, but their content! Youth are the future—you had your day decades ago!

Let’s address culture and the Bible: America used to have prayer and Bible study in public school curricula, as a tradition. America was founded by mainly religious people, so related traditions lasted for quite awhile. But our Constitution does NOT create a Christian theocracy—nor does God call us to that!

God DOES say Ps. 33:12 and 22:28 vs. 2:1-2. Nations supporting evil He opposes; those for the good He blesses. NOWHERE does God command Christians to have societal symbols of religion as proof that America is ‘for God.’ A nation is PEOPLE, and people become ‘for God’ by evangelism and discipleship, Christian Cabal! #ReadtheBook

The ‘Christian’ Cabal is trying to create religious SYMBOLS in society vs. convince people to their views. In our democracy, everyone tries to influence laws and people (RARELY force any, first), but you do it in the court of public opinion—if you’re successful! For Christians, your evangelism has NOTHING to do with that, but saving souls from Hell.

America used to be predominantly claimers of Christianity—NOT always a majority of committed ones. Over the past generation (i.e., 40 years) that has CHANGED, and you can lay the blame FULLY at the feet of negligent pastors who ceased evangelizing much, and having adopted a come-and-hear methodology! GUILTY!

The U.S. majority is NOT going to revert to 1940 standards, or much of anything! Things progress, move on, go forward. You must influence people to your ideals for our nation. Since pastors HAVEN’T, for the most part, the majority has LEFT many of your cherished values. That’s YOUR fault! Own it. Evangelize, also!

Plus, there are several morally GOOD things that have come since 1940! It’s both/and, but, overall, the trajectory will always be DOWNward, as prophecy predicted. Negligent pastors accelerated that decline, chasing fame and fortune since the church growth movement, and flavors-of-the-month fads!

Evangelism Explosion didn’t fully thresh America since the late 1970’s, and ONLY para church organizations do biblical discipling, to speak of; and with seeker-sensitive, come-and-hear/attraction, and Lordship Salvation error in the 1980’s (with its equating direct evangelism to buttonholing, and Fuller Brush salesman), you get America’s moral DECLINE!

Mega church mania, church-as-a-business, multi-site, advertising individual churches on TV and billboards (i.e., competitors vs. co-laborers, I Cor. 3:9), HIDING pastor salaries in general budget numbers, or having deacon-run foundations hide total compensation. THESE TRICKS ruined America’s culture the past forty years!

Sermons intentionally adding in poems, song lyrics, jokes, news items, videos on video screens, statistics, stage props, history facts—all these TRICKS to “draw a crowd” LESSEned expository preaching and teaching, for topical ones, some pastors even polling their audience to see what they wanted to hear about. ANATHEMA!

NOT emphasizing a daily quiet time, in favor of one hour a week at church. The tithing heresy, to ensure pastor pay (when heroes of the faith usually worked bi-vocationally). I heard one mega pastor called a "celebrity." READ what a REAL hero (i.e., the apostle Paul) thought of such appellations (I Cor. 1-4, etc.).

MANY mega pastors equated large crowds with "power," when, in truth, they were only becoming the Laodicean church of Revelation 3. Poor, wicked, naked, blind and dumb, as they thought they were "successful." Spiritually DECEIVED! If you want America to return to the GOOD of 1940, do it God's way! #Revival

II Tim. 4:1-5 describes EXACTLY how and why all these churchianity practices ensured! Money! Just like the false prophets of II Peter and Jude (i.e., Balaam pastors). MOST U.S. pastors struggle to get by, because their priority is God and His work (Mt. 6:33). NOT many of the "celebrities" God views as 'nothing' better than others (Gal. 2:6).

SIX+ years ago I wrote an email to ~four top executives of the @NAMB_SBC (Southern Baptist Convention agency), asking them to implement a plan to evangelize ALL Americans (it's on our website). I got a reply that they would. IT HAS NOT HAPPENED. Thousands went to Hell, as they dragged their feet!

The guy's email had a name for their proposed campaign, had a website, and it included puppets, magicians, etc. I have seen NOTHING in my neighborhood, and I am certain mine is NOT the only one missed. Probably the majority of U.S. neighborhoods were, also! The SBC is NOT, yet, serious about the Great Commission—or Hell!

With the church-as-a-business theory (mid-to-late 1980's), parishioners are customers, and the sermon is the product, once a week. You get residual, paying customers by Lordship Salvation (i.e., guilt them into doing their own discipling), and the tithe lie (i.e., ten percent of one's income siphoned under the authority of 'God'). This is the churchianity HERESY!

I've evangelized hundreds of thousands of people, as a layman (i.e., NON-professional), and I've NEVER asked for one dime, received one dime, or sent anyone to any religious business (i.e., church) I ran or was part of. I ONLY told people to attend a biblical church—IF you can find one. Some pastors see evangelism as a way to expand their business.

Paul evangelized MILLIONS of people, and he didn't personally benefit, financially, the more people he reached (like TV/radio 'ministries'), as he was in it for the people reached! (II Cor. 4:15) Paul handed off local churches to elders, though he did ask and hope for some financial replies. They were not HIS churches (i.e., owned or 'franchised').

Money: Any pastor whose number one purpose for being a pastor is to preach and be paid, or to expand "ministry" to reach more people, for money/profits, is a Balaam pastor, and NOT God's representative! It's ALL in the heart (i.e., hidden), but words, deeds and expressed lust for money evidence what's in the heart! (Mk. 7:21) Cap your salaries, multi-site expanding mega pastors!

Before 1980, being rich in the ministry was unheard of, except for a handful of people (Bisagno, MacArthur and Swindoll, Bright, Hybels, and a few others). The church growth movement started to change that. When big business instituted mergers and acquisitions, churches followed suit, and mega church mania was begin.

God help the small and medium-sized church pastors! Churches added amenities, to "attract" neighbors (Ex.: gyms, etc.). Soon came parades, light shows, concerts, festivals, jump houses, petting zoos, face painting, food trucks—anything but spiritual ministry, excused as 'we'll evangelize them when they arrive.'

Promise Keepers, male bonding, prayer of Jabez, seeker sensitive, purpose-driven life, experiencing God, prayer walks—all GIMMICS (except purpose and experiencing). Discipleship and evangelism WANED! ONLY Campus Crusade and The Navigators consistently took those seriously, to speak of! Maybe Evangelism Explosion, until the early 1980's.

There is NOT ONE American pastor who can document that his people have evangelized EVERY nearby lost person in the last three years! If you find me ONE, that statement is STILL "true," as God's aim is EVERY pastor, so one exception is NOT success! We love to play those academic trick games! FAILure!

Perhaps 90 percent of Americans currently living will live forever in a burning Hell, with NO let-up, indefinitely, with no hope and no end. If that statement doesn't bother you, and you can return to business-as-usual, as a pastor, you are the problem with our nation! Preach-and-be-paid (to the SAVED choir) is NOT New Testament, aggressive evangelizing!

Paul and the apostles traveled the world to tell people the Gospel. MOST U.S. pastors won't lift a finger to leave their cushy creature comfort offices to do the same—eve just their own nearby neighbors! READ these verses, and REPENT!: Ac. 5:42, 8:5, 9:22, 35, 42, 13:44, 49, 14:21, 25, 19:10. Biblical evangelism is THOROUGH evangelism, pastors!

CHRISTIAN CABAL VS. CHRISTIANITY: IMMORAL MAJORITY?

(9/28/18)

People argue ‘strategy vs. tactics’ rhetoric (i.e., general vs. specific), but if moral aims use immoral means, the devil has gotten involved, somewhere in the process! UNLIKE the Christian Cabal’s claims, the ends do NOT justify the means. God NEVER leads Christians to sin, or abandon morals, for any cause—PERIOD!

HOW does revival come to a nation? 1. Sovereignly, in God’s timing and choice. 2. Humanly, when Christians do all FOUR requirements of II Chron. 7:14—NOT just prayer, especially just a few of them! Turn from their evil ways includes politics, and NOT fully doing EDBS priorities! It’s NOT coming soon.

Revival and doing EDBS priorities are NOT means to grow a church, a budget, or a pastor’s salary, or to get media fame! Revival is the means God uses to influence entire cultures for morality, for His glory’s sake—NOT pastors! Re-read that, Christian Cabal, until you actually get it! Read, read, read!

CHRISTIAN CABAL'S CLAMORINGS

(10/17/17)

Pastors will rally for church-goers to vote for the dumbest, and least moral of all presidents in the last 50 years, and NEVER threaten to not rally votes if he didn't stop THIS: <http://bit.ly/2i6fnFa> Profits, NOT prophets! They made a deal with the Devil; even Hitler HID his evils; DT didn't, and the Church bought it.

Did you ever wonder why our society considers Christians dumb? Did you ever consider why political conservatism is considered pro-rich, white male WASP's? There are RATIONAL, evidence-based REASONS for both of these stereotypes. Jesus cares that Christians NOT fit those molds, but His wayward sheep DON'T. #Apostates!

I'm NOT saying Christians should be Democrats (in their traditional platform stances). I'm saying a true Christian cannot be 100 percent any party, but can ONLY be for morally good policies from any source. God is an independent, and is unbiased, and objective. His people are to be the same (I Pet. 1:16)—slaves to no party or politician. Standing for morals; NOT being dupes.

For POLITICAL motives, the Christian Cabal WILL rile up dumber sheep with abortion and homosexuality red meat in the next three years! Observe them! It probably WON'T be as explicit as that, but by innuendo, and joking slurs. Hate the sinner, hate the sin is what it will really be. Let's explain:

Banning ALL abortions and all gay marriages IS their ideal goal. They KNOW the latter CAN'T occur, so they'll focus on abortion. Stack SCOTUS, even though judges are to INTERPRET, not MAKE laws, and conservatives ALWAYS ream liberals for judicial activism. Hypocrisy is an acceptable sin, for the right cause, said whom? Jesus?

Since Obergefell will NEVER be overturned, they have settled for lesser achievements, to voice resentment over that decision. NOT showing love, while maintaining that sodomy is sinful, they rile up WASP votes for the GOP by innuendo AGAINST gays, in various, creative statements about them.

Code words like 'values voters, sanctity of life, God and country, family values.' Does anyone in America believe the 81 percent WASP Christians who voted for Trump cared one iota/ounce about values or morality? Sin-to-win was their strategy! And the Devil rewarded that vote, and God punished America for such sinfulness!

The Devil—the god of THIS world—got his man into power, and God let it, to punish Christians for their apostasy. God allows things, but that doesn't mean He ordains them all. Christians' selfish and sinful prayers were "answered," by letting them have the dumbest and most evil president in 50+ years. God ALLOWED it to occur.

Some FOOLish pastors even say that God caused Trump's win. I JUST explained the exact mechanisms of what they consider a win 'for God,' when it's a victory for evil, stupidity and the do-evil Devil, under God's sovereignty! Christianity took a YUGE reputational HIT with 81 percent of Christians being naively giddy about Chump!

Poll: Do you believe Christians displayed morality or sinfulness in supporting Donald Trump?

Poll: Are you more likely to listen to a Christian's message on how to go to Heaven if they tell you they voted for Trump? (John 3:16, the Bible)

Poll: Do you believe Donald Trump is a truly "born again" Christian?

For your information, no one will EVER go to Heaven if all their sins are not forgiven. Chump said he had NEVER asked God's forgiveness for anything. His favorite Bible verse Jesus refuted, and his favorite book has a misnamed "two" Corinthians. He was a Christian, but after the Christian Cabal got hold of him, he became a baby Christian one year later? We're going backwards, folks (which is spiritually impossible—being saved, then unsaved, then just recently saved)

It's IMPOSSIBLE to be a Christian, then become one again, later! IMPOSSIBLE! You were either deluded before that you were one, or after, because you still aren't, or you were one before. That 'baby Christian' junk was ONLY P.R. lipstick on a pig, to make Chump acceptable to the Christian voters, DESPITE his free-willed, arrogant, and unrepented of sinning.

Some pastor in the Christian Cabal decided that his entire 1.75 year morally-failed campaign could be all washed away if he NOW proclaimed that he was a Christian, for all those words and deeds would be in his "past." Yet, even since that FALSE claim, they'll excuse the habit continuing on his Christian young age!

Prophets would have rebuked the evil one, and NOT supported him, and NOT worked a deal with the Devil for Christian votes, by giving him a Santa's wish list of TRIVIALY, selfishly biased Christian sharia wants, in a nation where NO religion is to be favored. They'll CLAIM they struck a great deal, as 'negotiators for God.'

READ the Old Testament. God's men NEVER did such things, be it compromising (or 'pausing') morals for power, negotiating with evil kings in exchange for the Jew's vote, or biasedly pushing one religion in politics over equality and justice, save that Israel WAS a theocracy—America has NEVER been! Can we think, here, anymore?

INSTEAD of FIXING debt, terror, the economy, immigration, poverty, education, D.C. corruption, joblessness, healthcare (i.e., PRIORITIES), the Christian Cabal SETTLED for some valid, but many minor Christian-centric edicts from Chump. That's sinning vs. winning. Do you respect those men more or less for so doing?

America is not a Christian nation, Muslim, Buddhist, Jewish, Hindu, or any other religion! It is a secular government (NOT a theocracy) based on Judeo-Christian values, but principles people can believe in from any religion or NON-religion! It's our principles, NOT one religion (including mine), that make U.S.A. U.S.A.! Duh.

Atheists are equally American! Some Christians consider them their enemy, to be politically attacked! God considers them Satan's victims, to be evangelized, and equal with every other human. Have America's morals slipped? Yes, and no. On many issues, it's worse; on give back, community, some aspects of P.C., it's better.

Overall, ALL societies will increase in their sinfulness! (II Tim. 3) This trend toward prophecy CAN'T be stopped or thwarted, but it CAN be slowed down—TEMPORARILY—by increased morality in society. For Christians, it is by evangelism and discipleship—NOT kissing up to an evil dictator to favor our religion over all others! That's how the Devil works!

And as one pastor ERRINGLY stated, that Chump's election was proof that revival is here, judgment is here, unwise sir! Revival is when a society becomes collectively more moral, quite quickly, as a sovereign move of God, usually in response to His people doing II Chr. 7:14. We are under JUDGMENT, Christians, rightly due!

The Laodicean church era is DELUDED that they're "successful," when they are utter moral failures! READ Rev. 3. What church could claim to be fat and happy? MAINLY mega churches! The MAJORITY of American churches and pastors would NEVER be able to make such ignorant claims as Rev. 3:17! Muse on THAT!

Again I refer you to our earlier post about my question asked at Dallas Seminary. When you compromise what God says church IS, for what makes your religious retail business “successful,” the Devil blesses you—NOT God. The proof is in the power pudding, and NOT political power! (I Cor. 4:20) THE DEVIL CAN MAKE YOU RICH

READ Mt. 4:8 and Lk. 16:19⁺. Riches were OFTEN believed to be PROOF that one walked closely with God, by first century Jews. That is a MYTH! Peter walked closer than most mega pastors, and he was BROKE, at times! (Ac. 3:6) It’s the commercialization of Christianity that will cause Jesus to turn the tables a third time.

The Christian Cabal is implementing CULTURAL CHRISTIANITY vs. biblical Christianity! I wouldn’t put it past them to lobby Trump to change the dollar bill to say ‘in Jesus we trust,’ or ‘one nation under Jesus.’ Ps. 33:2 is NOT obeyed by such P.R. stunts, but evangelism, discipling and prayer, do-dos.

Get Trump to pray before national TV cameras; lay hands on him. Have him say “God,” or put it in a political platform. Let Jesus’ name be before the public by Chump saying we’ll be saying “merry Christmas” again. These are window dressing, and NOT biblical Christianity, or any evidences of true revival. It’s a FAKE mirage!

Have H.H.S. declare that ‘life begins at inception’ (yesterday)—for POLITICAL reasons, sticking it to Obama voters. That’s “Christian?” H.H.S. has ZERO business declaring religious dogma. Have Chump say that values voters are for “sanctity of life.” He’s been AGAINST pro-life ALL HIS ADULT LIFE, until it benefitted him.

He even bemoaned nationalized gay marriage—ONE YEAR AFTER the decision came down, and the night before a conservative state’s presidential primary. Am I the ONLY person who sees that he USES Christians for self-gain? Self-gain is NOT what a Christian does, baby or otherwise! (Mk. 8:34) FAKE Christian!

And the Christian Cabal HAPPILY got played and used, to stack SCOTUS to overturn Roe (their dream, and ideal aim). It doesn’t matter that they swallowed the evil and entire kitchen sink of other GOP positions in the process, hook, line and sinker. Christians cherry-picking which Bible verses they advocate for is a SIN, gentlemen!

You do not find ONE Christian Cabal member publicly calling for Obergefell to be overturned. NO GUTS, or moral convictions! Hypocrisy. I am NOT for that ever occurring, as the law is settled. I instead, these men craft the #NashvilleStatement. NO other sin has ever had such done against them! WAY to late a bulwark against national gay marriage!

Those men were asleep at the wheel, chasing fame and fortune (i.e., mega mania), as society shifted, because full evangelism hasn’t occurred since the late 1970’s! NOW, 1.5 years after that decision, they’re going to go public that they oppose sodomy? What bravery! What leadership—NOT! I had to wake them up in 2014-2015!

Poll: Do WASP Christian 'leaders' demonstrate more love or hate to homosexuals? (and I’m NOT defining hate as saying sodomy is a sin!)

It is ALL about money, and GOP votes, people! To prove that, promise Christian Cabal members they’ll get Roe overturned in exchange for taxing churches run like a business, and raising taxes on the wealthy (and define that as anyone in the top ten percent of U.S. income earners). Test their rhetoric! Push/pressure them on DETAILS!

ASK Christian Cabal members what LEGALLY happens in various states if Roe or Obergefell were overturned. They haven’t a clue, except that many of them watch this Twitter site, like a hawk, and I’ve already informed them many times. THEY DON'T CARE. It's a ruse to get GOP votes, for their power access!

You never have to say 'we want those two SCOTUS decisions overturned.' That would be too honest, and straightforward. Move to more subtle innuendo. Stir up the anger in Christians, who LET those two decisions pass, as they were chasing money, and NOT evangelizing or disciplining much. That salves GUILTY consciences!

A "pro-life" GOP politician RECENTLY resigned for asking his MISTRESS to get an abortion. A black female in my family's church told me that MANY WASP Christians would seek an abortion if a black man with dreads, and low hanging (i.e., "sagging") jeans raped their daughters! She speaketh the TRUTH! (I Tim. 3:15; Jn. 8:32)

ASK a Christian Trump voter how many hours they spent last year (i.e., 2016) seeking to convince any pregnant woman out of an abortion! They'd rather cram such beliefs down America's throats by executive edict, or stack SCOTUS, vs. law making and influencing public opinion, first (i.e., leading)! Laziness (a sin)! (Pv. 12:24, et al)

This does NOT mean I am for at-will/contraceptive abortions. They are wicked! Talk radio yesterday referred to Planned Parenthood as the 'butcher shop.' You have to get informed about the POLITICAL shenanigans conservatives are using THIS MINUTE to get Trump re-elected! To NOT do so keeps you IGNORANT, using some pastors, and talk radio!

I ONLY listened to four minutes of Laura Ingram (for the second time in my life!), and 660 AM, yesterday to deduce all these strategies being used. It's is ALL about reelecting the LEAST moral and LEAST intelligent GOP'er of 2016, and president in the past 50 years, FOR AN AGENDA! A selfish, Christian Sharia and alt-right conservative agenda!

The WASP church is in bed with STRANGE bed fellows, to keep the rich rich, and getting more so, scr_w the poor, minorities, and maybe the middle class (though I've educated them about that political danger), for white privilege, Christian Sharia (a borrowed term), and white male business owners—using abortion, etc.

ALL you had to do was tune into talk radio yesterday to hear how political conservatives HATE GOP's who aren't as radical as them! Roy Moore was praised as a 'committed Christian,' and a 'good, godly man.' It's USING Christianity to reelect Satan's man—Trump. It makes NO sense to me, though I'm NOT saying Christians should have voted for HRC.

Roy Moore refused to obey American law (regarding gay marriage). They'd call that meritorious/virtuous 'civil disobedience.' YOU LOST! Had you been doing your job, as salt and light in society, since Reagan, perhaps you wouldn't have lost, Christian Cabal pastors! HEAR the chorus of this song, and obey it!: <http://bit.ly/2y1Lvp7>

The Christian Cabal, and their cohorts, made a celebrity out of Kim Davis, for not doing her legal job description. They sought Pence as V.P., even after he FLIP-FLOPPED on his anti-gay marriage stance, for MONEY (a HIGHER priority!) coming to Indiana, via threatened boycotts. Oppose gays we vote for you! That's "Christian?"

I'm sure that Steve Bannon, even now, is seeking out gay and Muslim haters, who claim Christ, and have some fame, to vote out experienced GOP's in D.C. THIS is the strategy, and despite his LIES, Chump is ALL for it! He wants RINO's gone, even though he had NO set policy ideas until WELL after he was elected!

Build a 50 foot wall, and ban all Muslims. Those were about his only set ideas. You NEVER believe a serial liar! He's LYING that GOP has unity! He NEEDS GOP'ers to win in 2018 so he has an ounce of hope to ruin America four more years! He doesn't want any but alt-right GOP's, and Bannon is his implementer!

I am positive that Bannon proposed the concept; sold it to Chumpie as how Donnie can get more GOP's for him (Bannon as his scapegoat). Bannon will LOOK like he was fired, or resigned, but he's really out of the White House to recruit alt-right challengers to Trump-opposing GOP's. Lie detector! Chump LIES that Bannon is not doing DT's will!

MOST GOP's in D.C. despise Chump. ONLY because the 2018 political season is upon us do both GOP sides see value in uniting. They care more about staying in office than hurting DT's legacy! DT knows he needs them, until after the 2018 elections, and if Bannon can render any successes, the better for The Chump.

I'm certain you get these insights in All other media outlets—NOT! There's a REASON why you don't. If you do, feel free to leave; I have nothing unique to offer you. But after 40 years of closely walking with Jesus, you get a little more insight than just the window-dressing political P.R. stunts of the Christian Cabal!

And anyone who ONLY listens to the mainstream media, or only listens to Fox, Breitbart, Newsmax, Salem Communications/Air 1, or Christian TV stations, or BOTH, are equally guilty of free-willedly CHOOSING to have your sinful biases reinforced all day, and never think for yourself, or care about facts! You are guilty! Bye.

Update: Ten Commandments in Courthouses

Judg. 17:6 is America, today! Everyone believes THEIR political group is god, and there is little fear of the actual God before their eyes. War with the enemy vs. across-the-aisle cooperation. Slander and demonize your opponents. Keep your base STUPID and deluded, by brain-washing propaganda, using your media. History repeats itself.

If you made D.C. jobs LESS financially rewarding, you'd have LESS incumbents desperate to keep those jobs, and have what our founding fathers envisioned—citizen politicians. No one fights so hard to keep average waged jobs! I suggest this is EXACTLY what D.C. needs! America first, NOT "YOU," politicians!

Alabama was the TEST CASE for Chump's Bannon plannin'! DT can LOOK like he's for RINO's, as he needs them, if Bannon fails, and Bannon the loose cannon can do DT's dirty deeds. If no one else can see this, you are blind as bats and dumb as donkeys! It was NOT DT's idea! He's too dumb for that; it was Bannon's strategy! I want LIE DETECTORS to prove this!

Even FLIP-FLOPPERS Mark Levin and Glenn Beck are now fully on the Chump train, having been OBJECTIVE before they FLIP-FLOPPED! Hannity and Savage have been in Chump's dirty tank since inception—probably Limbaugh (I listen to NONE of them much anymore, save yesterday). I'd take Paul Ryan's Catholicism any day over Hannity's!

I'm assuming my great radio talk show heroes, Steve Deace and Michael Medved have either been financially harmed, or reverted to Trumpism (I HOPE not the latter). I'll have to go troll their tweets to see if they remained true to morality, like Erik Erickson had, last time I checked. #PrayForThem

We are called to seek the welfare of where we are, but increasingly Christians are reminded we aren't from here. <http://bit.ly/2i1IOYI> —Erik Erickson

I'm not pivoting. I'm not doing anything I haven't always done. I agree when I agree. I don't when I don't. No matter who it is. –Steve Deace

Those of you who wish to continue to play personality idolatry name game with Trump, Left, Bannon, McConnell, etc. will do so without me. –Steve Deace

I'm on the side of whoever I think is right at the time, regardless of their name, faction, etc. Enjoy your idolatry without me. Thanks! –Steve Deace

[An aside:] HERETIC! Anyone who listens to this man is following Satan. Just sayin'. I'd actually require more proof than to believe this story is genuine, though it's not at all out of character for the false prophet! <http://bit.ly/2yJPIAn>

Based on respected Erickson's default vote for conservatism, we'll have to better clarify in our books how that is NOT God's choice! And Mr. Deace is WRONG that #NeverTrump is a cult—it is a conviction, and people don't waffle on those, but moral weasles DO. He bought the Kool-Aid that you have to bow (or bend) down.

“CHRISTIAN COUNTRY” KROC

(7/2/18)

I haven't the patience to address a local talk show nut who's on the edge of violating the law, trying to practice law regarding SCOTUS, but he claims there are 'NO settled laws' in America, and Roe and Obergefell were unconstitutional decisions foisted on America by liberals. He knows NOTHING about Constitutional law. Ed Young is his pastor (the guy that advocated Christians having a week of maximum sex, by sleeping on a bed with his wife atop his church).

You can't find pro-abortion/gay marriage (or anti-BOTH) in the language of the U.S. Constitution! SCOTUS Justices make determinations based on active decision precedents and legal theories consistent with what has been deemed 'Constitutional.

Significantly changed circumstances are one consideration; equal protection and due process, and fundamental fairness are also factors. I did NOT agree with gay marriage stolen away from state's rights, but can't call it an unconstitutional ruling. These NON-lawyers just want what they want, and have NO reason to be included in the national discussion of LAW.

Another local talk radio show was discussing overturning Obergefell, holding my position (pre-decision) that all rights that decision granted could have been allowed gay couples without nationalizing "marriage." That's water under the bridge. Opponents were SILENT for 20+ years! #Losers!

One of the moron talk hosts claimed liberals use SCOTUS as the ultimate Congress. LIE! Congress has the power to legislate against any SCOTUS rulings that go too far, or are unreasonably off point, but Ed Young's bosom buddy knows his own party is INEPT to do so on those and other cases, so he wants to stack SCOTUS!

The SAME people who claim liberals use "judicial activism" and the "Constitution as a living document" are now trying to force stacking SCOTUS (the same people who HATE when government forces ANY choices on citizens). Mark Davis slanders Lindsey Graham for upholding Roe AND being pro-life. You are an idiot, Mark...

A person can despise abortion for contraception, yet believe if a woman is determined to abort, government has to ensure her safety (vs. back-alley coat hanger self-help)! That is NOT wishy-washy, or compromised, MORON!

I've already addressed how to lessen abortions, and the implications of your view.

This is ALL for GOP far right political power, by stirring up low IQ votes! I guarantee you Mr. Davis has done LITTLE actual actions to stop abortion numbers, or convince many gals out of one. If he had a track-record, like my family's pastor, he'd have room to talk. Pay him well to spout red meat and lies!

Banning every abortion literally means the only sex will be when a couple intends a child. Beyond that, they risk a coat hanger abortion, traveling to a blue state, or having an unwanted child simply from fear the feds will arrest them if they don't take the pregnancy to full term, Markie.

EVERYONE IN THE U.S.A. who watches an abortion video, to know what REALLY happens, would find that morally repugnant, and wrong—a killing of a to-be-birthed live human. The issue is how to not have to have a child you didn't want, just for having sex. Religious prudes want people not having sex! That WON'T happen!

If you wanted to, in a red state, pass a law that Plan B must be used before three days of sex, when the mom-to-be never desired a baby, or you get fined, or must take it to term, IF Roe ever overturned. That would be hard to enforce!

If you want ZERO unwanted pregnancies, technology will be the only 100 percent answer! We can't trust men's self-control, and these religious prudes literally are punishing women—AS IF no male was involved in their getting pregnant, unwantedly. Male seed WILL go somewhere, NOT outside the female, in non-condom sex. THAT is the problem! It must be made to not fertilize. Technology ends abortions greater than laws or choices.

Seed seeks ovulating eggs, OUTSIDE man's control, once released. No one wants to have sex causing a baby they didn't want—just the sex, and it doesn't require immorality for that sex—it could be married people! Contraception has to be made 100 percent perfect! Or seed made impotent, or Plan B, and no breakable condoms.

Males (immoral or moral) do NOT accept mere teasing, without finalization. That last step is where the abortion problem begins! And in the heat of lustful (or even moral sexual) passion, I'd guess condoms interrupt the process(?). You've got to make eggs impenetrably unfertilizable, by technology.

If technology, or a pill, or birth control were OTC (over the counter), and cheap, and 100 percent effective, abortions would be ENDED! Ultimately, pro-life extremists HATE that people have sex, except to grow a family, it seems. No one's going to stop people having sex, morally or immorally. You've got to stop it leading to unwanted babies!

This SAME religious legalism group whines half a century late about prayer kicked out of public schools, even though the law does NOT prohibit anyone praying the exact way Jesus instructed us to (Mt. 6:6); and in their ideal state, the Bible would be taught like any secular topic, but the Constitution would also require the Koran, Book of Moroni (Mormonism), etc., as there is NO establishment or prohibition of ANY religion!

They are literally wanting America to be a Christian theocracy, where pastors are like Iran's religious leaders instructing Ayatollahs on civil law. That is NOT in ANY American documents. It's a fantasy!

Jesus (meaning the Bible, as His thought expressions) NEVER encourages governments forcing citizens to pray or study His Bible! Christianity is voluntary, under God's conviction. The fact that the U.S.A. used to do so, and now doesn't, is NOT evidence our culture is declining. There is PLENTY of other evidence of that, though!

And no one is pro-life if they haven't done their share of evangelism—between 44 and 111 lost people hearing the Gospel through YOUR lips, Christian. DESPITE your claims and rhetoric, you are 100 percent pro-eternal-death if you haven't done that, and what are your actions to lower abortion numbers?

CHRISTIAN NATION?

(Note Chump's reaction at the National Prayer Breakfast speech, regarding 'a nation of believers!')
(1/28/18)

I've heard people say that America is a "Christian nation." It was founded on such principles, but we are NOT a theocracy, and not so much anymore. Things have CHANGED! Jeffress' position on the U.S.A. as a "Christian nation" means blacks as slaves, and blacks and women unable to vote was a Christian concept. Exactly the OPPOSITE!

To call U.S.A. a "Christian nation" is a misnomer! It was founded by people for religious liberty, but NOT all were Christian, or even religious, and most but not all principles she was founded on were Judeo-Christian (NOT slavery, or women can't vote, etc.). In those days, society was more religious; things have changed!

Some Arab nations, where the Quran is civil law, and nations run by religious leaders CAN be rightly called a religious state—NOT the U.S. of A. And to claim America favors one religion, historically, is to forget that happenstance ONLY remains the case when Christians evangelize. We have no inherent right to the claim!

You CAN'T guilt non-Christians in America into attending church, due to old, cultural morays. That's where the Christian Cabal lives in the PAST, and blames anything but themselves for culture shifts, as they didn't do their job of evangelizing, generation to generation, but relied on cultural Christianity!

The formerly predominant belief that it's Sunday, so you should be in church, wear your Sunday best, and not go to work, has been out of fashion for DECADES—even before blue laws were ended. Exodus 20:8 was for Jews, and I Corinthians 16:2 is for Christians, but NOT lost people in a non-theocracy. It's GOOD for them to do!

NO WONDER the Cabal loved Roy Moore's ten commandments monument. Christian Cabal sympathizing voters want a back-to-the-past history roll-back, to when abortions were illegal, but don't want blue laws reinstated? They would love gay marriage un-done. Alcohol prohibition? Women stay at home, and not vote? Blacks as slaves? It ALL depends on what in the past was good, vs. bad!

Franklin Graham called CHUMP's election a miracle only God could do, given people being for him, DESPITE all his sins (and as an answer to prayers), and RECENTLY said God put Chump in the White House. And Stephen Strang-e (whoever he is) says the same. Let's see what the Bible, or what God Himself says about this situation:

Ps. 75:7; Dan. 2:21; Rom. 13:1-7. ALL governing authorities are established and allowed and prescribed/ordained by God for the restraint of evil, and the orderly processes of society. 'All' means every politician—even Hitler, the Pharaohs of old, Mussolini, Stalin, and yes, Chump—even Kim Jung Un; good or bad politicians!

The Devil, as well, will have his one-world ruler, one day (Rev. 13), all beneath the sovereign rule of almighty God. So any politicians ruling, being God-allowed, is NEVER in question. The question is is it part of God's ideal, or allowable will? Christians for Trump FEEL the former; most people are waking up to the fact that it's the LATTER.

Does God answer prayers with evil answers? No (Mt. 7:11) Does God tell His people to pray for evil, or accept evil, or even embrace evil? No, again. Can good policies come from Mr. Chump, despite himself? Of course, as he has handlers. Was Hillary God's desired president? He probably had no favorite.

Unless He miraculously places a ruler on a throne, He works with what we the people give Him, in that sense. But for any "Christian" to allege that Chump is God's man for the times/hour is to deny Satan is involved in our midst, and world, ever trying to corrupt, or spin, evil into good. Christians AREN'T to fall for his tricks and schemes!

God ONLY uses IM-perfect people. However, voters, especially Christians, must be able to discern/distinguish the WORST of the bunch of 17 GOP's in 2016, and stand their ground/put their feet down, for "you have what you tolerate," and you get what you DESERVE!

Had Christians been DISCIPLED up to maturity, there's a much better chance that this debacle wouldn't have happened! MOST pastors are NOT political experts, and they are certainly NOT to play as your guru, or brain. Think for yourself, and get into the Word MUCH more than you do, U.S. believer, for if you repeat that same mistake, I warn you, I believe God's judgment on America is forthcoming; by which I mean if you don't support intelligent and integrous policies and politicians, you get what you deserve, and America goes further down the tubes.

Pastors are SUPPOSED to teach you, and train you until you do these biblically top priorities: Evangelism, discipleship, body life, and social ministry—NOT blindly vote GOP, in order to be "holy." Political policies are ONLY to be accepted on a case-by-case basis—not lock, stock and barrel, one party or the other! God shows NO partiality, and opposes favoritism. To be blindly GOP or Dem is to disobey God.

When you say, "I am a (party)," those words carry psychological power, like the traits are inherent/built-in. You are no more a D or an R as the D or the R proposes good, sound policies, with character at least on par with other recent/modern presidents!

As an aside, a pastor recently stated that Christians, of all people, shouldn't cuss. Pastors are held to a HIGHER standard than laymen, and no Christian should cuss, but EVERY believer has weaknesses. Christian Rick Perry said 'mo fo.' Texan LBJ was famous for his sailor's mouth. My family has an apology note from Ronald Reagan to my mom, for saying a word in public he shouldn't have. We framed it, because of who 'signed' it!

My point is that there are no perfect candidates, but if Christians (WASP's, blacks, and all colors under the rainbow, as with all branches of Christianity), would choose the better of imperfect choices, based on policy and character, we would NOT be in the mess of an embarrassment the U.S.A. is in, even beyond our borders. A PARROT can mimic good policy! Any child can learn, and "grow on the job." That's NO great achievement, and it's certainly NOT leadership!

So when self-appointed "Christian" leaders CLAIM God put Chump in the White House, remember, He did the same effect in Nazi Germany, and with every other politician. God's allowed will is NOT the same as His desired will. A lesson for this Sunday morning.

And, PLEASE, U.S. Christian—THINK! When politicians come courting your vote, one-liners are for simpletons! Policies have details, and you should vote for the politicians whose policies best line up with the word of God, given our nation's laws, and democratic organization. #MoralsMatter—NOT just policies or lying words and empty promises!

RE: Robert Jeffress' July 4th, 2018 sermon, 'America is a Christian nation.'

It's AMAZING how educated pastors CAN'T make distinctions! America was founded on Judeo-Christian principles, but it's the principles that guide America—NOT any one (or two) religions. Freedom of religion the government can't infringe upon, or establish. That term ISN'T defining any religion in particular! DUH. (6/12/18)

CHRISTIANS IN THE WHITE HOUSE?

(3/11/17)

IF one is happy that many religious people are in Chump's administration, let's watch their DEEDS to see if what they do is Christ-like, or not.

For example, will Rick Perry balance our need for a cleaner environment and green energy with our need for oil, or just do the alt-right 'drill baby drill,' and harm people, animals and our ecology more?

Or will Ben Carson HELP vs. over- or under- help the poor, make them struggle more, or be more capable of self-sustaining? Time will tell!

And let's take "baby Christian" Chump. There's REALLY nothing else to say but his name, and even UNreligious people will laugh that he'd be held to Christian behavior!

And take Mr. Sessions, who wants NO accountability from U.S. Attorney Generals in the states, even though the GOP Congress basically lets the clown run roughshod with NO checks and balance.

SHOW ME THAT in Scripture! So far, NOT a great advantage having claiming Christians as the Feds (i.e., in the White House cabinet)!

That's because a person's religion has little-to-nothing to do with our being happy they're there or not there! It's ALL about character and good policies! The Muslim ban stereotyping all as suspect is a Christian value? NOT!

Accusing the mainstream media of lying all the time—NOT "religious." Starting international incidents with Mexico. NOT as Jesus would do!

Further indebting our over-indebted nation already? Ditto. Extreme measures, like a 50 foot wall all across Southern border. God is for extremism? NEED I go on? All but the mentally blind say NO NEED!

JUST WATCH, every NOT-a-Christian U.S. citizen, to see if having "religious" people on the White House staff makes U.S.A. more like Jesus lived, or less. Hypocrisy?

I'll say again, I could CARE LESS if administration personnel were of any religious viewpoint! It's their personal character, then policies, that MATTER!

And since U.S.A. is a DEMocracy vs. a THEOcracy, success is NOT how many Christian values the White House implements, but is the Constitution obeyed, and America bettered.

They happen to coincide, in part because U.S.A. founded on Judeo-Christian principles, but MAINLY because RIGHTLY interpreted Bible verses HELP a nation, vs. get politically biased!

CONSERVATIVES & 'FREEDOM'

(5/25/17)

Jay Sekulo (the Christian's lawyer) on Hannity just said 'this is about freedom.' If you are absolutely brain-dead, you need this interpretation of conservatives' definition:

DON'T help any poor or elderly (cut entitlements and health coverage), and help the rich (tax cuts and more security to protect their stuff).

Conservatives' "freedom" is so general a term to circle the wagons around, it HAS to be defined! It means, bless the elites, rich and primarily white people even more.

To ANYone with a working brain, this is OBVIOUS from all Trump has proposed the past two months. But people get busy, and may not see it for what it is. There you have it!

"Freedom," therefore, when a conservative parrots that term, means white privilege, and MAINLY the rich get richer via government (by their lobbyists). Christians are for this? WOW!

You'll notice the single and ONLY word in the ENTIRE U.S. Constitution a conservative rallies the troops behind is "freedom." Biblically, freedom is NOT living for Self!

But that's EXACTLY how a conservative (even some WASP Christians) define it, politically, DESPITE Gal. 5:13 and I Pet. 2:16.

That's because the U.S. church VERY often is in bed with the world, politically, and in the hop pocket of Gordon Geckos party, which lives his "greed is good" motto.

If you analyze Chump's proposals, they're a BIG 'screw you' to everyone who's not rich, or who struggles or is ill, poor, or needing aid to get by. Jesus' compassion? OPPOSITE! Fake 'baby Christian!'

A White House dupe said, 'we care about the poor as much as Democrats.' Interpretation: I'm HELPING you by forcing you to suffer; it makes you a man, and grows hair on your chest.

ANYtime a White House press staffer has to mouth the words, 'we care about the poor as much as Democrats,' OBVIOUSLY the words are needed because the acts say otherwise!

CULTURE & THE CHRISTIAN CABAL

(10/16/17)

Eavesdropping on talk radio in my car, WASPs are equating political conservatism with godliness. They bragged on Roy Moore as a "strong Christian." It is UN-Christ-like to say Muslims can't be in Congress, and opposing an ambassador appointment because someone is a gay! WASPs seem to NOT know what morals are anymore! Carnality and ignorance.

Let me address WASPs (because I am one): WE LOST the cultural majority on nationalizing gay marriage. Get over it! It's legal precedent, and no law says you can't still call sin 'sin.' Discriminating against gays is sin, and Christianity is NOT in competition with Muslims, Roy Moore! In those foolish beliefs you are not great representative of Jesus!

FOOLs consider other religions to be Christian competitors, and false prophets seeking sales for their church (i.e., tithing attenders). EVERY soul faces Hell, and you should evangelize them, NOT ban them from Congress or ambassadorships because they aren't Christian in belief or practice, Roy Moore lapsed-thinking church-goer.

There is a vendetta and revenge against gays, in the Christian Cabal's followership. Christians LOST gay marriage, nationally, so now they hand out pamphlets implying only gay sex causes disease dangers, and banning Muslims and gays from office. You have a SECULAR mentality touted as being for Christ! FOOLs act so stupidly.

A tweeter called the Christian Cabal imposing "Christian Sharia." That is EXACTLY what's going on here! These same handful of pastors said in 2015 that America is NOT a theocracy (using my tweeted words), and we aren't voting for a pastor-in-chief (using my tweeted words), and now they sinfully flip-flop to want just that!

Let me give you the ideal that the Christian Cabal wants via Hitler #2 (Trump): All abortions banned, all gay marriages overturned. If they were consistent, they'd want poverty and pollution and government waste and animal abuse and human trafficking solved, as well. NO. Abortion and gays only, for GOP power idolatry (sin)!

I am a realist and understand American governance. Idealists like these, to be consistent, SHOULD seek blue laws, prayer and Creationism in public schools, for cause/at fault divorces (with only two biblical bases), laws against adultery, all porn banned, fines for drunkenness, probably anti-cussing laws, ban all smoking, etc.

Instead, they want businesses to have to allow all to mouth "merry Christmas" (vs. "happy holidays"), pastors to be able to endorse the wicked one (Chump), repaid FEMA money they never paid a dime into (by their retail religious business) for doing what God commanded they do (i.e., help the vulnerable, like hurricane flood victims)—me, me, me (CONTRARY to Lk. 9:23 and Phil 2:3)! That's your Christian Cabal in action!

And JUST to tick off liberals, today, Health and Human Services declared that life begins at conception (which I agree with). This is Christian sharia. Forget the voice of the people, forget law-makers; elect the stupidest and least moral GOP in 50 years in exchange for dumb (as opposed to smart) Christian's votes. This is NOT God's way, and Americans are watching them!

Political conservatism is God's preferred political philosophy ONLY where it's moral. There are moral positions among centrists and liberals, but the Christian Cabal (who AGREED with our views) doesn't want to teach WASP voters that TRUTH. They are sin-filled power idolaters for fame, money and power. LOOK at their salaries!

That's ALL you need to do to understand why they defend status quo regarding a political policy of the rich keeping as much as possible! Roe is how Christians get sucked into sleeping with strange bedfellows! God NOWHERE said compromise your values. Ben Carson (who said that) was touted/promoted by one of them—James Robison.

It has NOTHING to do with anything but seeking political power, because ALL Christian Cabal members chased money and fame since the Reagan days, while culture morally declined. Now they want to force their views on America, NOT in a legal process way! They will ALL be for Chump in 2020, for that reason. Sinful selfishness, blindness and idolatry.

As one who STARTED the Christian Cabal for EDBS priorities—NOT political conservatism (provable, and in our books), let me inform you that these men do NOT speak for God in their political ambitions! They sold their reputations and integrity to get power. I even taunted them that they had lost influence, and Roe. It angered them.

One of them (I'll NOT name him, as he's kept quiet in 2017) went from Jeb, to Cruz, to Chump. If that is not moral compromise, there's no such thing as moral compromise. Policy? Integrity? Those three are NOT on equal footing, but the changes show a steady decline, to end up with Chump! Family values? No! There ARE more than two of them (i.e., abortion and homosexuality)!

This false Jesus-representing group rewarded Pence and Roy Moore for opposing national gay marriage. I STARTED THAT MOVEMENT, by God's grace alone, but they will oppose me because I speak the TRUTH, while Chump strokes their egos saying they're "powerful" vs. sinful. EDBS, "gentlemen!"

If my family would change churches, I would in a heartbeat, because one of them has headed up my family's church all ten years we've been there. I like the man, but HATE his politics and morality and priorities prior to God using me to change his church for godly priorities for six+ years, four years ago!

He likely instigated the Christian Cabal, through my tweets, as he had the connections. I had the ideas. He watched them like a hawk, after requiring me to sign a contract never to mention that church online, or I could never return. Our latest FREE book will spill all the beans—NO details withheld.

He preaches from my website for five years, after years of my pushing HARD behind the scenes, then organizes revival prayer meetings and evangelism events, then uses those organized men to push for Chump, after begging me to run in 2016—which I only once indicated I might consider. Moral sell-outs for power!

Three times he pushed for my run, maybe four, if I count a recent attempt. 2020 has ALWAYS been my mantra. You'd FAIL being an unknown with no famous book, and would look like a crazy person. I always wondered if that was his intent, to shut me up for good by such a foolish strategy. One plus God is a majority, sir.

Our tweets CHANGED U.S. Christianity and presidential politics in the past three years! Miracle? Yes, but quite explainable, also. A connected mega pastor watched our posts to ensure we wouldn't break a contract to never mention the church online. Then he saw God at work, and told pastors D.C. politicians!

If you ask most any D.C. politician, or famous pastor, if they know of this Twitter account, are they are not sinful liars, they'll say 'YES!' They came by in droves—pastors in 2014, politicians in 2015+. I copied and pasted most every one's account bio and pic, as it shocked me, and I never posted in ways to attract them (via algorithms)! They saw our tweets!

Our book, Wit and Wisdom, details over 90 news events that came from our tweets. The media has done several stories based on them. [I know this claim seems laughable and ludicrous, and they should, if you aren't aware of our political ideas, now made into Wit and Wisdom] Is this bragging? No—I am defending against the Christian Cabal being for DT in 2020, when the hypocrites LOVED our political solutions enough to want me to run. Sinful hypocrites! Apostates.

They may have called that being "bitter," recently. Bitter? Righteously angry at Christian "leaders'" QUICK abandonment of morality for secular power, and I will FULLY expose them, and every detail of their sins when I run, and in our book! I will NOT remain anonymous forever. I'm just preserving the family, for now.

I will ALWAYS take a lie detector—if the Christian Cabal will do the same; always be willing to have a camera record my actions full-time, and I can defend most any and every tweet that I have not deleted (up to 95 percent of them, like Limbaugh). Is the Christian Cabal that transparent? They pose as leaders of God's church. HARDLY! Just political opportunist chameleons! I certainly make no such claim for myself—just a truth-teller.

If you are DUMB enough to believe the Christian Cabal, any minority Christian pastor, Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran and maybe Catholic are NOT on God's side, as the Christian Cabal mainly represents Christians who hate abortion and gays. They POSE as representing many more than they actually do! It's a MIRAGE!

Name recognition is how they got two of their three leaders! Following sons of famous Christians is as smart as voting for a politician because you've heard of that last name. Hitler is a famous last name. It takes MUCH more than name recognition to be a leader of Christians, or voters—unless you buy MIRAGES, and P.R. stunts!

I fully realize that Twitter is LIMITED in exposure. EVERY social media outlet, TV, radio, billboards, 13 books and public speaking events WILL be forthcoming. 1.25 years of full-out exposing our many ideas, and letting my writings handle the more boring details. I'm just awaiting God's timing.

READ our religious website to see the origins of most any good that has come from the WASP church in the past three years. BOLD statement, but true. Paul was anonymous (Gal. 1-2), and stated bold things to defeat his enemies (II Cor. 10-13), and he went to mega churches, but got the OPPOSITE results. People were holier then!

Have you ever heard the "Johnson Amendment" mentioned in the past two years? It KILLED some in the Christian Cabal to not be able to just tell their church members: "vote for Trump," so they said it in just slightly different words. It also KILLED some of them not to be able to speak with me directly, and especially to berate me when I opposed Chump, after the first week of his moral failure of a campaign. They took it out on Dr. Russell Moore, with job and donation withholding threats!

Dr. Moore was TAME compared to our slams on the stupidest and least moral of all 17 2016 GOP candidates! But Moore has a position that puts him in the public eye. As a private citizen, they can't legally touch me until I go public! I can't wait to do so in the next 1.75 years! Bring it on!

Their public image will be exposed by their private deeds and sinful political stunts. They are FREE to try to slander me any way they can. I already detailed every skeleton I can recall, and added them in our Christians For Trump book, last night. You backed an evil, stupid horse, and I'll debate him, or you, in public anytime, anyplace.

I have 13 Microsoft Word files full of our 87,000 tweets! I've only lost 120, or less. I can drag up any tweet we've ever posted, and defend them all, given the circumstances in which they were posted! For example, I opposed nationalizing gay marriage, then I accepted the defeat! NO contradiction!

I have EVERY major critic argument/attack we received here, added in that book. I even save my enemies' tweets, and, to be legal, if they deleted them, I change some words. I KNOW that not enough people saw those encounters, so I put them in our FREE book, for all to learn. Their dark deeds will face the light with our 13 books!

Twitter, for me, is ONLY a diary anyone is welcome to watch, and especially an author's note pad. Our books will have NO typos or misspells. I have large hands, and a small keyboard. If you had thoughts as good as God gives, you too wouldn't care that you make mistakes typing this fast. CAN YOU (Christian Cabal members) DO THIS LIVE? I didn't think so.

Men who believed God called me into politics will now oppose me. If that's not foolish and sinful, nothing is. They had a sermon invitation for people who felt God call them into political leadership about a week before the 2016 election. God told me NOT to go forward. I was a Republican, at the time, and a Democrat the day after!

EVERY tweet is presented in lawyer-like, date-stamped manner, as if no one has ever seen any of our tweets, because the U.S. majority has not. All ideas that changed the 2016 election are also presented, as if for third graders, because now that academics know them, I've got to sell ideas to the masses for 2020—and I will!

That's why our 1,140 paged latest book is being re-done. Laymen are our audience, now. Politicians and preachers and VIP's saw them written, live. I don't have to re-educate them! If you talk over a third grade level on boring topics, you lose average Joe. The book should be first half for laymen, and the latter half for academics. Marketing!

I noticed, on initial message selection for that book, we handle political conservatism's negatives quite well, and thoroughly. Given Steve Bannon's antics, we will have to make that argument more central, and expose how the Christian Cabal was for centrism, but will now buy into pure conservatism. Chameleons!

Hint: God is ONLY for morally good political policies. We have a way to implement that concept, and it's NOT by electing all conservatives! READ @Pledgers2020, @ImMadTooEdwin, and @PledgersARCHIVE We were for throwing all bums out WELL before DJT. He copied many ideas from here!

MOST VIP's in America know of our book, as I wrote it live, here. Unless they get a financial or self- or political benefit from agreeing with that statement, expect some to lie, because there's little fear of God before people's eyes, so a lie detector could be called for anytime such people would prove liars!

Chump is DESPERATE to secure the military, WASP, and poorer white vote. Watch his deeds. That's mainly what his antics attract! True Christians would see our positions are biblically superior, but carnality is rampant in the U.S. church. Military and poorer white issues were addressed here first, historically (i.e., before Chump)!

I can look up every tweet Trump "borrowed," and when you learn the history of the Christian Cabal, and my association with their actions prior to June, 2016, you will see why DT targeted my past two pastors to join his evangelical counsel! They're on our FREE religious website, and he knew what God did through me!

There's a Fox News article where he specifically names my past two pastors. He doesn't know a pew from a P.U., or an altar from a falter, or a pulpit from pulp fiction! He saw Christians as a voting bloc. I saw them as needing to do God's top priorities. Sin is why they will reject better ideas! Sin.

Why do you think God forced me to change political parties? If Trump had not won, I would have stayed a lifelong Republican. My positions stay the same no matter the party label.

NEVER believe Trump didn't approve of Bannon's strategy! He wants you gone, but also, if still there, you're better than a Democrat. It's ALL about Self. Trump's not smart enough to come up with it, but It's called plausible deniability and triangulation, Donnie. @SenateGOP @HouseGOP @SpeakerRyan @SenateMajLdr

DEAL WITH THE DEVIL

(1/22/18)

I GUARANTEE you a deal was made behind closed doors, that if Chump did all within his power to force less abortions, and overturn Roe, the Christian Cabal would back and praise and gen up votes for him, NO MATTER WHAT he did or said! You can tell this is true by his and their ACTIONS! You couldn't, but didn't have to witness it.

Any person who hasn't the courage to physically tackle a pregnant woman in front of Planned Parenthood—which I'm NOT suggesting—but to force her NOT to be able to attend there, by legal maneuvers, hasn't consistent or claimed courage, at all. If you believe it's exactly equal to murder, the law lets citizens STOP murderers in progress.

Christians have so FEW relationships or conversations with non-Christians, that anti-abortion extremists ONLY try to convince pregnant women out of the procedure, right before it's about to be done. And MOST abortions are done on girls claiming to be "Christians!" You're mad at your OWN kind, radical activists!

Preventing unwanted pregnancy SHOULD be the main aim of every Christian who despises the horrific act of abortion! Technology and education are your tools. But some among believers DON'T want to do that (i.e., too impatient, or lazy), and want to force a minority view on the majority, through Hitler number three (Chump). WEAK!

Red states should pass a law that the Plan B pill MUST BE taken within 2.5 days of an unplanned or unwanted pregnancy, IF the woman never intended that sex act to make her a mother. THAT is progress! That is NOT what the Christian Cabal is pushing feverously for!

Costs of abortions: <http://bit.ly/2Eux0wJ> For very promiscuous females, this can get quite costly. It's not only better, and more moral to engage safe, protected sex, it's even cheaper! Plan ahead; always good advice! 'Be prepared,' now that Boy Scouts can be girls! Act smart!

Abortion is a HORRIFIC killing of a life-in-progress, when used to make up for your poor planning. It's your right, just as free speech allows me to offend, but it's NOT your morally right right. Take birth control, and use Plan B within 2.5 days, unless you intended to be a mother. They baby's innocent!

Why should anyone responsible with their sex pay for YOUR abortion, through all of our taxes? That's freeloading. They're NOT your wife, daughter, relative or employee! Get people who believe in your sex choices to help you pay. One living responsibly, and financially struggling is one thing. Irresponsibly? That's quite another thing!

DEN OF LIARS

(2/23/18)

The IGNORANCE of Christians clamoring for a Jerusalem embassy based on a shoddy understanding of the Bible or Bible prophecy (as well as peace negotiation strategies) doesn't amaze me anymore. I've come to expect it! WASP's for DJT have TRULY earned their dumb and emotional stereotype, to God's disdain. (Lk. 10:27)

RE: <http://bit.ly/2HFTqtD>, Chump's lap dog, @robertjeffress FAILS to address the RIGHT Christian vote in 2016: ALL GOP's BUT Chump, and let that majority keep president HRC in check from any bad policies. Conveniently, BOB knows our argument, and keeps it OUT of his debate with my new-found hero, @TheJuanWilliams Debate me, WUSS R.J.!

I vow today I will NEVER step foot in FBC Dallas, so long as Bobby Geoffrey the Giraffe is its pastor! The apostasy stinks to high Heaven. He's a power idolater who LOVES the limelight. A news article said he's trying to regain the church's glory when a REAL "man" [i.e., God through him] ran it... W. A. Criswell.

Did you hear the ARROGANCE of @robertjeffress? Billy Graham was a member of my church for (X number of years). It's NOT your church, and you were NOWHERE to be found in all but TWO of those years! Heroes like Criswell and Hawkins WERE! (NOT Gregory). I doubt you ever preached to Billy, credit-seeker. #Resign!

ANALYZE and READ!: <http://bit.ly/2EHTpr6> <http://bit.ly/1PxtVGB> The great W. A. Criswell got Billy Graham to join FBC Dallas, and 2007-2009 are the ONLY years out of 56 years that Jeffress was associated with that. #Study!

Robert Jeffress said Obama's administration will help pave the way for the Antichrist. He also said to DFW's ABC (or CBS?) that his predecessor walked him around the campus and said, 'one day all this will be yours.' HERESY! The people pay the bills, and NO ONE owns God's church, apostate idolater!

Robert Jeffress criticized an honorable and moral man, @MittRomney, for being a Mormon, but is for CHUMP, who even the evangelical council can't say he's a Christian, even though they marketed him as a 'baby Christian!' READ their own words: <http://bit.ly/2GF1DNx> READ, people. They're a den of liars. #ChristianCabal

See also: 'The Christian Cabal/Jerry Falwell, Jr./(final) Related Tweets' (parroting the same songbook)

FRAUDS & FOOLISHNESS

(10/31 to 11/1/17)

I read three articles on Bob Jeffress' Christian nationalism. For those who DON'T know Christianity, there are some things you must know. Seminarians pursue a D.Min. degree, so they can be called "doctor," and qualify to head mega churches! (Mt. 23:7, 10) And God NOWHERE commanded Christians to "Christianize" their nation!

He DID command them to evangelize all people then grow them up in Christ (discipleship), but this is NOT the agenda of the "Christian" Cabal, but to force non-religious people to pray in school, out loud/publicly, among other things. Jesus NEVER called them to do that; he does NOT work that way!

These pastors for 30+ years have chased fame and fortune, and when God raised me to push them to do HIS priorities, they rebelled! Some made some changes, but they colluded, in secret, to back Chump, and FAKE results ONLY God can bring by doing things HIS way. They are FRAUDS, in that practice!

I've been to First Baptist Dallas two times in the past two years. I wouldn't step foot in that building, for a million dollars, from fear God could pummel it to rubble for the apostasy of what the Christian Cabal is seeking to do to America, all "for Jesus" (NOT!). If it were for Him, they'd do EDBS priorities!

I appeal, urge, and beg anyone reading these words to not associate the true Jesus of the Bible with the schemes, antics, and ploys of this handful of power-corrupted foolish men! They USE their job title to pretend they represent Christians, and God. Just read your Bible; you'll see what they're doing is FALSE, like DJT, their secular savior!

Theirs is a window-dressing religion; gift wrapping; a shallow show; an appearance, image, mirage, myth without substance, or as the Bible puts it, a form of godliness that denies the power of it (II Tim. 3:5) Ear-ticklers entertain, and say what you want to hear (II Tim. 4:1-4), and false prophets!

Robert Jeffress is the COMPLETE OPPOSITE moral and theological character of the founder of FBC Dallas—the great W. A. Criswell. W. A. would be rolling over in his grave at the antics of this group trying to use Chump to push Christian actions on to you—without evangelizing you! The Devil's #Heresy!

REAL, true, genuine Christians do NOT push one thing on to anyone! They are certainly NOT concerned with appearances of religious practice! They are for the real deal—from the heart—NOT shallow guises, and never for forcing any beliefs onto a culture, by chumming up to any politician—especially an evil one! FAKE Christian behavior(s).

Jerry Falwell's FAKE religious "leader" son MUST be making his dad roll over in his grave, as well! No true Christian can follow political conservatism 100 percent! These foolish ones DO! READ about Jesus. He was quite liberal on many issues, and conservative on others. These are FAKE representatives of His!

The BIGGEST guilt on Judgment Day will be the millions of literally stupid Christians who buy into such schemes! EACH person is personally responsible to God for their OWN life, and these foolish dupes will be held accountable to Him! CHURCHianity keeps them fat and happy, DUMB. It's a serious sin!

But who cares? Like John the Baptist in his earlier ministry, I'm just speaking to the wind, for now. These DUPES believe the guilt-based message of Lordship Salvation and ten percent tithing, and attend church every week or you're a bad person, and pastors profit from such ignorance, financially!

#Laodicean

I will publicly debate ANY member of Trump's Christian advisory board on ANY Bible doctrine ANY time and at ANY venue! Their lies and errors and lack of knowing God's word well WILL be fully exposed, though I'm certain none of them will ever accept this offer. False prophets act that way!

Note to "doctor" Bobby Jeffress... We are NOT Pilgrims, and this is NOT 1620! America is NOT like Constantine's day, where Christianity was the official religion! We have this little thing called the Constitution that forbids establishing religion. The non-religious are EQUALS with you. America number one!

The difference between a Ph.D. and a D.Min., in ministry, is like the difference between an M.D. and a chiropractor! They get MANY credit hours for practical experience, and the academic rigors are NOTHING alike. It's a baby degree, by comparison. Mega church laymen are NEVER told this! Ask yourself why!

Anyone who can publicly speak well is the hero (no great knowledge needed) and they ALL know you earn a D.Min. to land a mega church and a Ph.D. if you're going to teach (i.e., if you DO know a decent amount).

Lawyers are technically doctors, but I've never met one who accepts being called one, because, UN-like mega pastors, they respect M.D.'s and Ph.D.'s. I've had mega pastors say I show off my knowledge!

I've been to seminary. I graduated from seminary. I KNOW how pre-pastors talk and think about D.Min. Have you ever heard any minister referred to as the honorable, right reverend doctor so and so? I have.

That's called having an EGO (a sin) problem! God teaches Christians to be humble. Certain types in ministry love being adored. I Cor. 1-4 addresses this problem, if anyone reads the Good Book anymore.

REAL doctors are respected in America, medical doctors (M.D.'s)—for great reason! Academic rigors, and high IQ's.

The Christian Cabal wants to "Christianize" America, but HATE justice if Islam tries to do the same, peacefully, or by force of presidential edict (like they're trying). And their sinful bias is thereby exposed! Gods for justice. These doofuses are for [among other things] self, money, fame, and forcing beliefs on people, from selfishness and idolatry sins!

If the Christian Cabal is successful with their Christian nationalism (they WON'T be), send your tithe to the theocratic government—NOT churches! That's how theocracies work! Pastors are on government tabs for their pay, like Levites were when tithes were required taxes for the Jewish nation! Tell Cabal members this! (See also: <http://bit.ly/2uMQQKO>)

Update #1: TRUE Christian leaders

This will be our sternest rebuke of the Christian Cabal—EVER—on the anniversary of the hero, Martin Luther, concerning Fall-well, in this article: <http://bit.ly/2zbp941> JUST LIKE he turned religion on its head, here's what fake Christian leaders, like Jerry "Junior," MUST hear:

Falwell is NOT a Christian leader! No Christian layman had heard of him unless they went to Liberty University. He was tapped because he shares the same name as his famous dad, for political name recognition! He has not done anything significant for Christianity, but graduate paying Liberty students!

Christian leaders in our era are Billy Graham, Luis Palau, Arthur Blessitt, John Bisagno, Charles Swindoll, John MacArthur, Bill Bright, D. James Kennedy, Rick Warren, Greg Laurie, Bill Hybels. Jerry Falwell JUNIOR is NOT even close to being in these men's league, for Christ! He's a CEO of a business his daddy handed to him and built!

I'd venture to say that the man hasn't evangelized 100 people in his lifetime, in person, individually! I'll debate this chump any day on any Bible doctrine, and he's the college head (i.e., education "expert"). Read that article. He's stealing MY ideas on "common sense," because he got them here through by family's pastor, Jack Graham.

He says people need to be successful "in the real world" (like his world of academia, which he presides over?). That means rich with money, in his sinful/carnal political world view—like Chump, his savior! Our ideas KILL any Chump had come up with on his own, but though God used us to change religion and politics, that's not the real world of money, TO CARNAL CHRISTIANS!

Jesus was broke, as was Peter, and many others, who ACTUALLY DID God's will and work, instead of having a last name as a credential. Had his great brother been named Jerry, he'd be the Christian Cabal's spokesman, because WASP Christians are SO gullible! ASK any of them to recite just ten Bible verses for you! Most CAN'T!

[Interjection: Showboats who have ghost writers do all their "thinking" for them will NEVER understand how it took ten years to write a 5,000-paged New Testament Commentary, which they used for sermons for four years. They reap the benefits, then their Cabal peer in ("real world") academia calls that NOT real world success. Bull-honky, idiots!]

The Bible for these people is dress shoes—an amenity you wear, or take with you to church. The Good Book says you get close to God by knowing Him, through His word. MOST of what they know is what their gurus teach them on weekends, and most of those gurus bone up for one topic the week before! 'Sermon prep' is what it's called.

Falwell's definition of "success" is NOT God's, but the world system's! (Josh. 1:8) Jesus was a FAILURE to false prophets like this chump. He has idolized and chased money—OPPOSITE of many Bible verses, and now seeks fame as a "leader" because of his dead dad's full name. That is a MIRAGE, and is FAKE CHRISTIAN credentials!

He says he wanted fake GOP's ousted—then names Flake, McCain and two others. This version of FALSE Christianity wants the rich richer off everyone else (Ex.: Estate tax repeal), and the poor to die of health problems, so long as their money never helps anyone (unless they randomly FEEL like it). That's why he hates those four GOP's! Those are NOT "Christian" priorities!

My family's pastor watched our tweets like a hawk as we wrote Wit and Wisdom, live. He's on Chump's advisory council now, and Chump SPECIFICALLY targeted my past two TEXAS pastors, because he learned what God has done through me the past three years! That's not "success," but academic, Fall-well? You're a NOBODY!

One of our books cites that Fox article where Chump targets SBC HOU and PBC Plano to join his "council," because he KNOWS they're on my religious website, which caused such a stir in Christian circles, along with Twitter, in 2014. I have every tweet (excepting 120) that I've ever posted, to prove that they steal my good ideas for the Devil!

I'll fully expose these frauds when I run for office. I want NOTHING to do with them! They do NOT represent Jesus, and they wilfully reject His priorities, idolizing secular power, as they cry to "evil" Big Brother to protect them from the "evil secular society" they will NOT evangelize, chasing riches and attention.

Jesus had charisma. People followed Him because they liked what He did and said. These people try to cram their 1950's cultural memories onto everyone else, by edict from their human savior, absent Congress.

Falwell has done NOTHING of note for Jesus, spiritually. And he mocks those who have, as NOT real world success. Again, look at the GOP's he's targeting—those who stand against the rich getting estate tax breaks, and who stand for not repealing Obamacare.

There's a REASON he hates those GOP's—they share Jesus' values! He worships his mammon. I'll take my Heavenly rewards over his any day!

He will be judged by God for his corrupt misrepresentation of Jesus, on Judgment Day. I look forward to that day—an end to all the hard work. He's successful mainly in this life, to any lost souls lacking God's values—NOT if they share Christ's values. LOSER! Any good ideas they 'come up' with I usually started first—PERIOD, and humbly!

They STEAL. They lie that they're "leaders." They idolize. They wish harm on any but rich whites, mainly males. This is a FRAUDULENT version of Christianity, and I'm patient enough to lend them enough rope and time to hang themselves, because their deeds WILL BE exposed for all to see—PUBLICLY!

Our latest book holds back NOTHING! Books are ONLY the beginning! Falwell can call them academic, vs. real world, but thoughts expressed in words changed politics and Christianity in America the past three years, via THIS Twitter account. He's done NONE of the sort—EVER! LOSER! I'll debate him ANY day. Intellectual light-weight, even if he owns a Ph.D.? He doesn't—just another lawyer, like myself (I checked Wikipedia).

He calls all NON-alt-right people NOT Republicans. I call all who hold his political views NOT Christian. He's certainly NOT following them in practice, very closely, politically! Money-worshippers; pagans.

My non-real world non-success has only been to do exactly what God's led me to do since 1978. If the money was good or bad was never an issue. He can't, and never will live like that, because money is his god—NOT Jesus. NO one else will say these things. I'll say them anywhere to any media, when I run!

ALL he is is daddy's hand-me-down heir of a business he has run to profit himself. That is NOT success. It doesn't matter it's a "Christian" university, as that concept is so warped these days. It's just an education business with a Christian heritage—when his daddy built it—NOT with this loser in charge.

I'll debate him any day on religion or politics. If he doesn't steal my ideas, he'll lose. If he doesn't bone up by reading my non-real world books or website, he'll lose. The man was UNKNOWN in Christian circles until 2015! I've been in ministry, off and on, since I was licensed in 1981! LOSER, and soul-seller to Satan for temporary, secular power, which Jesus rejected!

One other subtlety... Falwell is directly implying that God is a Republican! He claims to represent Jesus, then wants to purify the GOP to alt-right policies. Put those two concepts together, and he believes that the GOP has a monopoly on God—they do NOT!

Daddy's name coat-tailer; imitation success story; spoiled rich kid who inherited an earthly kingdom. ASK HIM how many people he has reached for Jesus, and have him cite ten Bible verses. He knows NOTHING. He's just a name-dropping, obscure CEO whose name stirs up dumb Christians for votes! We tell the TRUTH, here!

Update #2: Jeffress Jettisons Our Calls

Awakened—AGAIN. Another article by the great Jonathan Merritt quoted little Robbie Jeffress saying he wouldn't have a Christian speak with a different political perspective because he wasn't well-known enough to "draw a crowd." THIS IS FALSE CHRISTIANITY, folks, right before your eyes!

I badgered that dodo the past 3.75 years to commit to evangelize all nearby lost people, using his members. HE WILL NOT. A willful, obstinate, rebellious heart. But draw a crowd? He's all in for that! It's ALL about the money, just like it is with EVERY Balaam false prophet. READ the prime motive of them in II Peter and Jude!

Here are the ONLY three biblical excuses to NOT use a GO-AND-TELL evangelism methodology: Paul was too old and feeble (Ac. 28); Cornelius didn't know the Gospel, in order to tell others (Ac. 10); and Andrew brought his brother directly to Jesus. No one can do that today, physically. So come-and-hear is a Capitalistic heresy for pastors!

Draw a crowd. It's all about the numbers. Even one of them—a fake account critic from earlier today [See: Critics & Criticism section's Choke-O Libre]—mocked my books being best sellers. NOTHING for these men is about values, or morality—it's ALL about money. One far North Dallas pastor told another that I haven't been able yet to "monetize" my knowledge. Always follow the money trail!

Any pastor in ministry mainly for the money is FALSE! Laodicea is OUR church era, and no one will accuse medium- or small churches of being guilty of being like that church in Rev. 3! ONLY the money-hungry, FALSE tithe-demanding ones in several mega churches. God will turn the tables on them, soon! Much deserved!

Update #3: Generational Sins?

I was going to sleep, and could not figure out how these men have so fallen away from Christ to worship Chump. HOW could anyone do that—especially a 'pastor'? It amazes and shocks me; my vivid imagination has no answers. It HAS to be Satanic!

They're all OLD. They KNOW they lost the culture wars as they chased fortune and fame, and whatever semblance of a conscience still remains must feel guilty that they let America go to Hell in a hand basket, by NOT evangelizing, 'lo these past 30+ years!?! That's the only explanation that makes any sense to me, and it's 100 percent true! Apostasy now regretted. (Heb. 12:17)

It's ALL about the money! A DFW news reporter walked around the FBC Dallas "campus" with Jeffress, and Bob told him that Criswell promised him, 'one day all this will be yours.' EXACTLY the same spiritual origins as Mt. 4:9!

Then he "felt led" to build a $130 million addition to an un-commanded building. HOW MANY lost people in the 10/40 window could have gone to Heaven using that money to hire evangelists, if the man were a REAL Christian?

They cost $15,000 each, full-time. Do the math. THOUSANDS of agonizing souls pleading for pain relief, in Hell whose blood is on that scoundrel's hands—DIRECTLY, bloody Bobby boy! Repent! Jeffress and Falwell are now united with Bannon and Hannity as the latest version of the "Christian Cabal."

Most others have wised up that they're on the Titanic, politically and reputation-wise! An article said they envision a 'Christian nation.' Be successful in evangelism that you WON'T do, and maybe that would ensue.

We used to have 'Brangelina' (i.e., Brad Pitt, and Angelina Jolie). I will call the spokesmen of this grumpy old men Cabal, Jeffwell and Brannity (i.e., Jeffress and Falwell; Bannon and Hannity). It's a sick group of people POSING as representing Christian values and 'religious liberty'—God wants you rich, and Scrooging others?

It is ALL about the money. I cannot emphasize this enough. Like snake oil- and used car salesmen, they tell their duped "flocks" it's for abortion and sodomy. Falwell himself targets four GOP's due to rejecting estate tax cuts and Obamacare repeal. That targeting had NOTHING to do with Roe or Obergefell, people!

These are SMOKE SCREENS. If Trump voters never wake up to what's going on, they deserve the low wages they complain about from over-outsourcing, and over-immigration I, here, first noted, well before the Christian Cabal even existed! You've got to get smarter, folks. These people manipulate you for votes, and for the MONEY!

Earl Nightingale said success is the progressive realization of a worthy ideal. God says THIS is success—Josh. 1:8. Falwell says one's bank account defines success. He will live in a golden outhouse in Heaven, IF he's going! The man is a fraud. Maybe I should change my name to someone famous, to run for office?

If people are SO stupid that they equate him in any way with what his dad achieved, maybe I ought to legally change my name to Ronald Reagan!?! People are SO stupid these days, and politicians manipulate that stupidity, and topical sermons from at best 1/1000ths of the Bible keeps them dumb as ducks! Sad word to report.

If you choose to remain stupid, and NOT re-educate, you deserve LOW pay! Falwell spoke of returning jobs to the U.S.A. for the 'forgotten ones.' I identified this problem before anyone had heard of that chump! And that is a MYTH that will NOT happen! They're needed, but U.S. workers won't work for $2 per day!

So watch VERY closely the future antics of Jeffwell Bannity. They are in the tank for far right conservatism, and that spells ONLY good things if you're white, male, and already rich—ALL in the name of a "god" Hannity can't even explain how he's come to ever know, to Phil Robertson! WOW—such foolishness!

Falwell said he's for the Constitution, conservatism, and God. Those are indeed STRANGE bedfellows! Our books FULLY detail all the problems with every political belief system, but slams conservatism with the Bible, which that man can hardly recite. I challenge him any day to debate politics or religion! LOSER.

Finally (as I've got to go to bed): MONITOR Jerry Falwell on Google, and Robert Jeffress on Twitter. Their evil antics will not stop. If you ever hear Jeffress on radio, his distinctive voice will be unmistakable. You might even think you're listening to a different type of program. Good night.

P.S.: Why do I camp out on them? NOT from any concern that they'll succeed. I DESPISE how a handful of fake leaders have hijacked my personal "religion," for evil ends! Hijacked is the exact phrase one article described it as (or maybe it was a tweeter). 100 percent accurate, whoever came up with it!

P.S.S.: Jeffress said that 9-11 occurred because abortions were legalized, and Weinstein did his sex sins because prayer was taken out of schools. This is the EXACT unproven speculations as the REAL Falwell saying AIDs were punishment for homosexuality. We need some IQ tests run. (II Tim. 2:23)

I guess the three hurricanes were God's judgment for the evil Christian Cabal supporting this non-sense, all in the name of Jesus, under Bob Jeffress' foolish speculations!: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> Cancer must be from a high divorce rate, and heart attacks from U.S. money idolatry, Bobbie? C'mon, man!

Forcing agnostics, atheists, "none's," and any religious to pray in public schools is how Jesus 'attracts' them to Christianity, Mr. Jeffress? Christians can already pray there—legally—and we are to do so privately, as in a prayer closet, or in our heads (i.e., the privacy of our own thoughts). You desire laws to allow THIS in U.S. culture—Mt. 6:5-6?

It is a MYTH that America is a 'Christian nation.' First, you've got to define terms. Christianity is NOT our official religion; we are NOT a theocracy. The best you can say is that it was founded on Judeo-Christian principles, and it has a high percentage of claiming Christians, most of whom aren't fully committed, or have a cultural Christianity.

I FEAR for the average Joe Trump lover! Their gullibility will lose them many jobs, and lots of money! They believe that the mainstream media lies all the time, vs. spins left. They call anything they don't want to hear, 'fake news.' NEVER associate Christ with such POOR "thinking!" (Lk. 10:27) Do they even know Him?

Stand for nothing, fall for anything. Check your brain at the door, and you come to the table empty-handed (i.e., with NOTHING). Trumpster types ONLY have desire. Their logic and analysis skills will NOT see them through a globalized economy! Trumpie can't fix that—YOU have to fix that. Dumb stays poor, post-globalization! #Fact Update #4: Conserve My Money!

Here is our case for conservatism being for the rich white male: If you're already rich, you seek tax cuts for the wealthy, in the guise that it stimulates the economy (when it really stimulates the rich getting richer), and the trickle-down is the rich peeing on all others.

It seeks estate tax repeal for that same purpose (i.e., the rich get richer). It opposes equal pay for women—hence, male favoring. It wants to end five federal agencies, so the rich get tax breaks, and all those ex-workers scramble to find jobs.

It wants NO minimum wage, so the rich pay them peanuts. Falwell decried Welfare, which is another thing conservatives want to axe. NO helping of anyone if one rich person's one dime ever is forced to do so!

Conservatives want the smallest government possible, so the rich keep more. It's all about greed, selfishness (sins), and worldliness), not caring about anyone, but favoring the rich—contrary to Levit. 19:15, and all touted as Constitutional, and God's way. LIARS!

It wants businesses blessed, at the expense of workers, when Jesus cared for NOT the high and mighty, but the OPPOSITE. No person naming Jesus should ever be fully on board with political conservatism, yet fall-badly Falwell and Jeffress LOVE it. ALWAYS FOLLOW THE MONEY TRAIL!

And Mark Levin calls Warren Buffett 'self-loathing' for signing the Giving Pledge, where half his wealth can fix problems in society. Translated, that means unless you are greedy and selfish with your money, you hate yourself (and/or, your family). If you're worldly and materialistic, you love yourself. THIS IS THE OPPOSITE OF JESUS' TEACHINGS!

Biblically, worldliness is described in I Jn. 2:15-17 (the lust of the flesh—sex; eyes—materialism, and the pride that often comes from both of those). Lust or love of money are sins. Conservative political theory advocates for a system that is anti-God in those values. No fool would call Warren Buffett self-hating!

And the Christian worldview is making the world morally better, and fixing problems. That costs money! The rich have excess that others do not. To call Bill Gates 'self-loathing' to care to fund things that help others? His is the EXACT spirit of Jesus. FOOLS teach the opposite, and deludedly believe their alt-right beliefs are God's!

READ Rev. 17-18. That's the end to a system that glorifies products and wealth over values and all people. That is the ultimate end of the alt-right's materialistic ideals. Babylon the whore of Satan! What God will destroy and judge hyper conservatives like Jeffwell and Bannity seek to make rule U.S.A.!

But laymen (i.e., Christians who don't preach sermons) have NO idea what I'm saying, because these thoughts never are taught to them, and they RARELY read God's word—87 percent don't do so regularly. America is JUST like modern-day Germany was in Martin Luther's day! The clergy kept audiences IGNORANT! Sin, for profit, with indulgences and tithes!

Consider our website to be the 95 Thesis of American Churchianity, and our three book political series as the 95 Thesis of corrupt political thinking in Washington D.C., and the Bannon Bunch and Christian Cabal.

Update #5: Jesus' Constituency

WHO are Democrat constituents, and why? NON-whites, NON-rich, and NON-equal paid women. There's a REASON! These are the ones on the short end of the economic stick (excepting poor white Trumpsters). It's all about economics. Which group did Jesus care for, Christian Cabal?

Time for a little Bible lesson, for non-church goers (Lk. 16:25). Those who have it great in this life will have it horribly, in Hell, or poorly, in Heaven! God is a just God. Rich people RARELY go to Heaven

(Mt. 19:23), and Jesus WARNED the rich (Lk. 6:24), but praised the spiritual condition of the poor (Jas. 1:9, 2:5).

Christ called the poor blessed (Lk. 6:20). Conservatives call them lazy losers, and dependent on others' tax dollars! Jesus taught (as He is over ALL the Bible, as God) that those who want to be rich pierce themselves with pangs (I Tim. 6:10). That means they stab themselves with knives— NOT smart!

God teaches moderation (Pv. 30:8), and contentment (Heb. 13:5), and says DO NOT chase wealth (Pv. 23:5)

He also says those with more owe society more (Lk. 12:48) DO YOU HEAR THIS TYPE SERMON IN WASP OR CHRISTIAN CABAL CHURCHES? No! For it doesn't fit their political narratives! Anathema! Ichabod—God leaves them!

THAT is how a real church got rich, but spiritually broke and bankrupt, and scholars all agree we are living in the age named after them (Rev. 3:14-22); rich with money and things, yet morally bankrupt—just before Jesus returns. Here are other, related signs before He does (II Th. 2:3; Mt. 24:12). EXPECT Christian carnality!

EXPECT Christians to forsake morality, for whatever reasons—worldliness, secular power idolatry, ignorance of the word of God, ear-tickling false prophets in ministry for the money (which has to be mega churches!; II Tim. 4:3); READ about Balaam pastors, in it for the money, in Jude and II Peter. Prophecy signs!

Love of money DIS-qualifies a real pastor (I Tim. 3:1-7). When I was a seminary graduate, and licensed, my only church job only asked if I could speak well, publicly. I had to ask them if they were going to ask about those Timothy criteria, and the ones in Titus. The deacons in the room looked a bit puzzled—in 1985.

Church as a business sees laymen as customers. Jesus TWICE turned the tables on people treating His residence as a business, and the U.S. government should tax such businesses, as it is unjust to taxpayers, to not pay your share when run like another business! My point? Jesus is NOT a conservative, or liberal, or moderate.

He is only holy, and His people are called to be the same, so NO party is perfect, so no party can be fully followed, yet Falwell advocates that he's God's representative, and he's for alt-right GOP policies I just showed are anti-Christ. Am I the only one who sees these heretic, and their heretical beliefs and priorities?

George Bush 1 and 2, Romney, McCain. These four gentlemen and heroes are slandered by the Bannon Bunch now joined by Falwell as the Christian Cabal representative. This is Christian apostasy, political heresy, justice-denying, God forsaking anathema, all done under the GUISE of Christianity! It is the work of the Devil!

You will NEVER hear this message in a WASP church, or see me invited to speak it there! I've also NEVER gotten ONE reply to our pinned tweet. They are not interested in truth, and God's priorities! That is my point, and that is why America's hope is waning, as a nation. Revival is NOT coming in such a climate!

But for the godly, committed Christians—be encouraged! The Rapture CAN'T be far off! This doesn't mean the other Christians won't be raptured, but they can't be encouraged at what will await them on their Bema meeting with Jesus—for awhile. Repent, brothers. You have been politically deceived!

Update #6: Skitzo Critics?

I'm QUITE sure I know who that last taunting critic was, as I played along. These are men of the cloth, deceiving, lying, and sinning—I'm just a layman. I KNOW what type cloth they're men of! Is. 64:6 I said before, this is war! They TRY to fake nice—but they fear their evil gets exposed here!

The hypocrisy of Bannon's Bunch to CLAIMED values is easy prey targeting, @GOP @DNC They're for exactly what I spoke of last evening!

Maybe if our critics DID EDBS priorities at their religious businesses, instead of stalking us here full-time, revival would TRULY arrive, instead of fake P.R. stunts, to fake out the ignorant among their customers!

That church had a Salem Communications representative cite trivia stats about the Bible, and Mr. Johnnie Moore come to show their "influence" with Chump has some payoff, and they also say knock yourself out if handshakes aren't enough (last Saturday eve)—as if that's body life. CLUELESS about it, as with so many other things clearly taught in his sermon prep manual!

No fear of God before even his eyes. I will watch and wait to see how God judges him a second time! Who knows how long that will be. Watch and observe—it's certain to come! Last time, God used it to have him learn better sermon prep for four years. I will be watching to see which form God uses this time! #TheObserver

I've even witnessed God's foreknowledge, preparing His judgment on a traitor acting on the fake account holder's behalf. It was HORRIFICALLY sad, and it's terrible when people subject themselves to such sin, then God disciplines His people. It was such a loss, all remedied now, but such a judgment!

And with HIDDEN total compensation, generalized budget entries on salaries, jet setters using your donations to back Chump, you'd be a FOOL to financially support such antics, yet, P. T. Barnum was right—one's born (even born again) every day. The Apostasy precedes the delusion, in prophecy. It's already here, I believe.

This Cabal believes MY (at God's behest) having initiated waking up U.S. WASPs to vote for morals shows revival. No—it shows political operators can manipulate dumber folk to vote for immorality! EDBS will be a term everyone will know, as they learn what you 'gents' refuse to fully do, as power idolaters.

Update #7: Christian Cabal Speaking Circuit

The moral corruption of the Christian Cabal knows NO end, or bounds! I just witnessed one of their detractors be rewarded with media exposure, in exchange for what I expect to become Trump support in 2020. I saw it three months ago, with a pastor political detractor, using Christian media; fame and money lures! #Corruption

We saw in February, a morally good man in the Southern Baptist Convention get his job threatened, then money threatened to be withheld from agencies. I EXPECT Erik Erickson to be their next target to lure away from #NeverTrump. I myself have video, and witnessed promises of a bigger platform if one returned to the GOP. These are the Devil's dealings! FAKE Christian behavior!

Promise them money or fame, or threaten loss of money or job. These are strong arm tactics of the mob, being conducted by a handful of famous "ministers!" I can name names, and exact details, and dates—but not now. My point is, GOOD people are being seduced to be for DJT, using that Devil's tactics! #EVIL

[On abortion legality time-limiting bill] More evidence of the Christian Cabal in action! They are NOT a mere advisory board. They are thugs, who would back Hitler if he pushed their agenda. I know several of them, personally. America needs to wake up to their dangerous win-at-all-costs abandonment of biblical Christianity! Evil people! And that last post does NOT relate to any six-week abortion ban, but is exactly what I said it was—evidence of their influence on Chump to push their agenda—good, bad, or indifferent.

It is NOT we the people, but self-appointed Christians claiming to represent Jesus for secular power idolatry! #Sinners

HAVE THE CONSISTENCY and COURAGE TO HAVE A PUBLIC MEETING TO OVERTURN NATIONAL GAY MARRIAGE, chicken squats! @RobertJeffress @LibertyU @JackNGraham, and Franklin and Dobson, if they're still part of your secret clique/"Christian" Cabal (I use the quoted term VERY loosely!).

Graham ("Ounce," here), has kindly kept a lid on his involvement, as my family goes to his church, and I can't pry them away. I appreciate that gesture, though he still jabs at our positions that he can't defend against, in more subtle ways (identified in our book), religiously and politically. Broke the contract again, JG.

100 mega churches banded together to threaten @DrMoore, and funding of a Southern Baptist agency. The common thread is a well-connected DFW pastor who I riled up for politics, after changing his church the past seven years, via methods described on our website. <http://bit.ly/2zrEbUh> <http://bit.ly/2xOhwwS>

This is my family's church the past ten years! <http://bit.ly/2z6Frvo> Our donations going to support extortion. I WON'T contribute one dime for him to jet set around, being for such an evil man, using such evil tactics as I just described! My wife is another matter. #Conscience Threaten careers, offer media jobs to sympathetic opponents, withhold money. THIS IS the Christian Cabal. Now they're aligned with Steve Bannon. They use talk radio and Christian TV and radio, to keep dumbed-down sheep brain-washed. They tried to silence me with a contract never to tell you about their actions!

They banned me from EVERY Sunday School class years ago, because I knew too much, and was interrupting too often when false doctrine was innocently espoused. Three copies of that contract exist, and I wrote it for them, when they said be silent or never return to this church (~late Nov., 2014)! #TRUTH

DO THESE ACTIONS sound like Jesus to you? Even if you never open God's book, just from stereotypes of how Jesus acted, would you say the Devil or God leads pastors to threaten like that? I KNOW the answer. Now the same threats or promised money gigs are buying off #NeverTrump GOP's and Christians!

Agenda. Money. These are the end game! You see today that abortion is high up on the list, but they have ZERO b_lls to call for undoing Obergefell (which I would oppose), because they AREN'T consistent—just power mad! JUST before they die, they want U.S.A. to be 1950 again, from GUILT they let society slip, chasing money and fame.

EVERY detail, documented, is now in our free book. I write here, then plug in updates. (Eph. 5:11) This group was started when God made me change that mega church for HIS priorities about eight years ago. Once they changed, after four years of prodding, I let up, and they organized the Christian Cabal.

They put on shows of change enough to back me off. I'm a pest, to them. I will only up the ante, now! EDDBS—please remember that acronym. It is the one program they oppose so vehemently, in favor of Trumpian power. Trump's antics are decried in the Bible. EDDBS is all throughout it! #Apostasy!

I not only expect, I would bet they will publicly deny any of this, which is why our book lists over 20 times we've called for lie detectors! I don't trust them past where I can throw them, and I know where they ought to be thrown! They are using the Devil's tactics, even if for some good causes—they LACK FAITH!

Even this no abortion ban is P.R., to rile up the troops for 2020! That is ALL it is! The #NashvilleStatement was the same! 1.3 years AFTER Obergefell they have the "courage" to speak formally against homosexuality? REAL courage—NOT! It's ALL to get WASPs to vote for DJT in 2020. The Devils work!

I have YET to have any of them refute this, because they can't: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> Jesus silenced critics. That argument silences them, but they can't and won't ever silence 'yo!' They know that, as I've proved it to them many times. They attack from time to time, here, and get shut down! LOSING!

For the record, I have NOT stated any opinion on the abortion ban, because I haven't read it. I'm just teaching you what the Cabal is up to. They'd be happy if it passed, but happier if it existing riles up mainly WHITE Christians to vote for the stupidest, and least moral president in decades, for 2020!

I got them started on these two issues, when national gay marriage seemed imminent! I have the tweets and timeline to prove such a claim. "Headmaster" used to watch here like a hawk, to ensure I obeyed our contract. I have long since NOT, the moment I learned of the Christian Cabal's founding!

I've even taught them that Obergefell WON'T overturn (and I argued it NOT to be, based on precedent; you might have heard that term a lot in the Gorsuch hearings?), so Roe is their ONLY leverage left to throw red meat at WASP voters! I guilted them into such, blaming them for it passing on their watch! I have tweets to prove it.

These are all God's doings! He led me to TripAdvisor, to tell the public what goes on behind the scenes of a mega church in North Dallas. I had never been to that site. It led people to read our free website, with all the gory details, behind the scenes, at that church. The original details will be in our Christians For Trump book.

For 1.2 years, MOST famous pastors in U.S.A. watched God lead me to type spiritual messages here, consistent with God's word. At that time, I could see who they were. I notified Twitter of the glitch, later, so now you can't know quite as well (algorithms). They got the EDDBS message. See our book.

Update #8: Christian Cabal Jesus-Justified?

Ultimately, SCOTUS decides how long a woman has to decide if a woman will kill her embryo. That's EXACTLY why WASP's voted for Chump. They will stack and politicize SCOTUS to overturn Roe, or restrict its legal conditions!

SINCE I'm writing Christians For Trump, as we speak, here were their arguments for being for Hitler #2: SCOTUS picks, Christians surrounding him, the GOP platform, Hillary was worse, and the type of people he would bring with his administration in D.C. Let's address their best three arguments, for our book. You can just watch...

Politicize SCOTUS, and stack the court with pro-lifers. 1. Conservatives ALWAYS ream liberals for judicial activism, but the sin of hypocrisy is O.K. if the ends justify the means? America ONLY needs objective justices, who follow the law vs. make it, or politicize it!

HRC was worse? Worse in morals and IQ? NOTHING in the past 100 years has likely stooped THIS low in ANY political party in America: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

I was for voting for all GOP's, but Chump, so that majority could keep any negatives of HRC in check. That's exactly how I voted. #Consistency #Conscience #MoralsMatter #NeverTrump
The GOP platform says the word "God."

That word applies to radical Muslims, as well as all religions! That is no commitment to implement godly policies—it's a generic word that DOESN'T have to reference Jesus, Christian Cabal idi_ts! Their platform was probably anti-abortion and anti-sodomy. I never read it (like MOST people).

So the Bible does NOT address helping the vulnerable, poverty, neighbors beyond U.S. borders, animal abuse, worker rights—ONLY gays and abortions? In the Christian Cabal Bible, that is TRUE! And if you read this morning's message on political conservatism, vs. the Bible, they run further astray. #Apostasy

There are solutions to all these rifts. But my way or the highway being for policies Jesus opposes is NOT how you get there. That is, on some issues, EXACTLY what the Christian Cabal will advocate for in 2020. Jesus be da_ned. We want our selfish theory dominating America—'for Jesus,' of course. Sure!

The men of the Christian Cabal have been pastors for over FORTY YEARS. TODAY, their minions in D.C. care about Roe being restricted? It was passed in 1973. This is ALL about Trump advocating for a far right agenda, with NO variance allowed. Demonize the past three GOP presidential nominees to gain power! WAKE UP, America!

They do NOT want to do the HARD work of convincing women out of abortions, JUST LIKE they don't want to do the HARD work of EDDBS, to prepare the grounds for revival. They want the quick fix, the easy road, and P.R. stunts, and chumming up to Hitler #2, because they're lazy (a sin).

These men face DEATH much sooner than when Roe was passed—DUH. They're desperate. It's do or die, now or never time for them, and they're caged dogs, with their backs against the wall. They would LET you go to Hell, being busier with re-electing Trump! They NEED to read Lk. 10:41. EDDBS priorities, do-do's!

We'll produce a movie to convince WASP voters to our views (media). We'll get the only two famous Christian TV stars to attract them for the same. We'll use Christian media, and Fox, and some D.C. politicians, whose jobs I'm sure they will threaten, in private, as they've done it in the Southern Baptist Convention, as I detailed.

LISTEN to talk radio, 24/7 they demonize opponents! One executive came to our church last month to brag how much his company LOVES the Bible, because my website details how, when I worked for them, their practices were quite sinful. P.R. stunts to convince the unknowing listeners! P.R. stunts using executives.

I'm SURE having Johnny Moore at church last Saturday evening was for a reason—likely to prove their evil tactics have paid off in one actually beneficial thing, for persecuted Christians outside the U.S.A. They're DESPERATE to justify being for Hitler #2! IF charities can give food and shelter better than the U.N., that's one result!

So if any good comes from supporting Chump, that "justifies" abandoning ALL Christian values to vote for Hitler #2, in their warped ignoring of God's word! I even tweeted that some good would come. It would come with anyone sitting there. It would be almost impossible to lower the bar any lower than DJT did!

I'll leave you with one more thing—the Jesus of the Bible has NOTHING to do with all that I've just described. One or two of the ends they achieved through sinning—yes. But the Bible NEVER teaches to put your Christian values on hold so you can get something done, Carson, their poster child of 2016! This is the Christian Cabal!

I will NEVER take a position on the six week abortion ban, because I see right through it, as the Christian Cabal seeking to get Trump reelected by riling up mainly older WASPs. I won't play into that scheme, by ever stating any opinion! Let the people decide. Majority rules, as with SCOTUS!

I'd venture to say our old tweet spurred the Christian Cabal to push for such a ban. It's in our book. It simply asks how long does a woman need, to decide she doesn't want to be a mother, and wants to get an abortion? I WON'T waste my time to look it up. I have books to finish. It exists. PROOF, vs. DJT's 'trust me.'

Is prayer in public schools the next D.C. discussion WASPs advising Trump will push for?
Is Creationism (NOT intelligent design) taught in public schools the next D.C. discussion WASPs advising Trump will push for?

I'm beginning to think that our Christians For Trump book is for NON-WASP's, and non-Christians, to learn of the evils of organized religion; NOT so much to convince many WASPs not to ever vote for any biased, evil, agenda-driven power-idolizing "ministers." I actually think there's a prophecy element to all of them (called, 'The Apostasy').

Christian sharia, Christian nationalism. These concepts are ANATHEMA (i.e., unheard of, and wrong) to the Bible reader. Taking advantage of the fact that most people DON'T read it, the Christian Cabal seeks to implement such false Christian concepts. Wake up and LEARN something today, for the good of the U.S.A.!

God tells mankind, by the sweat of your brow he will become a 'bread-winner,' yet conservatives glory in the rich getting rich for themselves, by 'passive income,' or 'letting their money work for them.' If NONE of it goes to any others, is it 'fair' that people can benefit that greatly for doing no work but the work of investing? (Unpublished, 11/11/18)

GOP UPDATE

(3/22/17)

It DOESN'T look like the Christian cabal/evangelical council of pastors got what they wanted in forsaking all values for Trump for an anti-abortion justice!

Lindsey Graham rightly says life begins at conception, then conveniently ignores the fact that the Supreme Court (SCOTUS) has never attributed citizen status until one is BORN (though third trimester protections).

Gorsuch even seems open to euthanasia IF not intentional, but knowing ending unresolvable pain can cause death vs. assault and battery. That's BALANCED!

These two issues speak to the NEED among Christians to, at a bare-bones MINIMUM, get the Gospel to every of-age adult in the world ASAP! PROVE you have; you haven't!

It's NOT mankind playing God to alleviate suffering, and if the euthanized person was lost, the church SHOULD have reached him before then!

Technically, Christians ONLY have to get the Gospel to all ONE time to fulfill the Great Commission, but NO God-lover would do any less than as many times as it takes until a soul positively responded.

The U.S. average is seven Gospel presentations. Charles Spurgeon said, "If sinners will be damned, at least let them leap to Hell over our bodies."

Lindsey Graham had an EXCELLENT state's rights (at a minimum) proposed bill yesterday based on when an aborted infant feels pain, and a non-aborted one can have anesthetized surgery.

There is a standard of where laws WILL be in the Millennium vs. now, in a non-theocratic society. Christians aim for the former, and accept the latter!

What if swingers, four-some marriage, polygamists and bestiality advocates start using the equal protection clause to make those legal?

SCOTUS RIGHTLY considers "community standards," but such standards VARY! What many in California approve won't fly in conservative Texas. Conflict of laws.

A major upcoming political battle is going to be on when SCOTUS rightly takes a case, and when it's only a state's rights issue they have no business dealing with!

That is to say states DIFFER in their laws, and much of that is OK—it makes communities and cultures unique. Only when fundamental rights are involved, or the variance denies equal protection will SCOTUS usually intervene.

Liberals want red states liberal and conservatives want blue states conservative (i.e., make them into OUR mold).

.@LindseyGrahamSC said 70 percent of Americans OPPOSE killing fetuses able to feel the pain of that procedure, at five months. I HOPE he's right; he quoted NO source.

The LOGIC of @LindseyGrahamSC was impeccable that if we can operate on a 20 week old fetus, we use anesthesia—why not for abortions at the same age?

His point WASN'T that abortion doctors need to use anesthesia, but stop killing babies who feel pain. Women need to decide BEFORE five months if they want to be moms.

I predict Lindsey Graham runs in 2020 for the RINO's, and Ted Cruz as a conservative alternative to Chump. The GOP vote gets splintered and split against the Democrat nominee.

Democrats HAD to have learned that unity is more valuable in the general election than individual preferences, for their DIS-unity caused Chump. NO second term!

The problem for Cruz and Graham is the LARGE contingency of alt-right Trumpsters. They already rejected those two men before, though MAYBE a few of them now see how BAD Chump is!?

Lindsey Graham is OBVIOUSLY kissing up for the Christian vote, to compete against Cruz in 2020. Do any of you see these implications this far out, or is your sight mere surfacy?

It's actually quite pathetic how blatantly Lindsey Graham is auditioning for Christian pastors' support for 2020, with a seemingly JUST FOUND abortion emphasis!

Graham SAW how the God- and morals-abandoning church vote brought Chump into power, and he wants in on that deal, as anyone is more moral and intelligent than Chump.

And Trump has YET to end the Johnson Amendment, and seems to have nominated one who will NOT vote to overturn Roe, so Christians for Chump have gained LITTLE for abandoning morals, and may have been played as stupid!

WHO first brought up the issue of WHEN a fetus feels pain, or has a heartbeat? Yours truly! We have the tweets to prove it. Copy cats, and Johnny come lately's!

Will extreme liberals call for banning four-by-fours, since they can be used as weapons, as at the UK Parliament? People kill people! Prayers for all injured.

JEFFRESS JUNK

(4/22/17)

Pastors were at the forefront of slavery abolition and the civil rights movement, said @RobertJeffress last night. PROBLEM is, conservative policies are anti-many blacks.

For @RobertJeffress to equate MLK with his support of the LEAST moral presidential candidate in 2016 STILL is a hypocrisy sin he'll NEVER address! Weakness.

Trump proposes the BIGgest tax cut in history? 1. The rich get richer, at the expense of society at large/as a whole. 2. It's NOT like our debt's not too high, already. 3. DT wants a second term, so he's sucking up to rich white males by so doing, even as Democrats use handouts to 'buy' votes. I HATE politics-as-usual. May it die, and NOT RIP!

Here's the THEORY—give tax money to taxpayers. Not only does that REDUCE money to pay the fed's bills, and require MORE borrowing from China at interest, the money returned is supposedly invested so businesses grow and hire more people. 1. NOT every investment succeeds. 2. Businesses can just as likely LAY OFF people, and use that money for robot replacements, or immigrate more cheap labor to lay off Americans, and reward executives for how such moves jack up stock prices.

In theory, money returned brings in more money to the Treasury, over time. THAT WAS WHEN TAXES WERE In THE 70 PERCENT RANGE. It's NOT an apples-to-apples comparison, fools. Embarrassing!

I'll state it point blank—THE RICH HAVE ENOUGH; it's time they start giving back! Their giving percent is ~one percent, compared to three percent for all others. God sees your greed is good practice, and hoarding sins!

.@RobertJeffress spoke of morals and direction of the U.S.A., last night. When you support political theories that favor the rich, GOD DOESN'T BLESS AMERICA. Duh.

PREACH ON Levit. 19:15 this Sunday, @RobertJeffress. You use abortion as a partial Trojan horse to favor the rich, and God sees that deception. Sin!

I'm disgusted with MUCH of BOTH parties, if you can't tell. No one wants to do the right thing, and THIS verse RULES American politics... Judges 21:25 #RevivalWanes

And who was the LEAD pastor supporting THAT? (<http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>), @RobertJeffress He CAN'T defend conservatism FULLY, before God! It has several sins (but you'll NEVER hear him state them)!

We'll overlook conservatism's evils, and Trump's many sins, if Roe gets overturned? No—you want it overturned, and you like conservatives' sins, too! Lie detector, please!

I have YET to hear one conservative tout the Giving Pledge for rich people, even though JESUS said such an attitude depicted salvation! (Lk. 19:8+)

I Tim. 6:17-19; preach THAT this weekend, @RobertJeffress It does NOT read “the middle class” or “poor,” but “the rich.” Will you sign Giving Pledge?

How's the progress on MORE important issues going in your neck of the woods?, @RobertJeffress Time for politics, but not FULL nearby evangelism?

Referent:

[Retweet:] Used THIS side all day otherwise, next to #FirstBaptistDallas. Parking was a BEAR! There were no crowds, and it's HARD to evangelize buildings. (11/9/14)

THIS note was left in THREE places at First Baptist Dallas three years ago. @RobertJeffress is WELL aware of this unmet eternal need, nearby!!!

[Retweet:] U.S. Pastors: If you find this note taped on your church door, consider it the 95 Thesis of American Churchianity. (12/5/14)

[Retweet:] Dr. Jeffress is STILL responsible to evangelize ALL lost people (through his people), who live downtown within three miles. John Bisagno had a business men's Bible study.

.@RobertJeffress on NBC last night said he 'tried to get U.S. pastors to get out the vote,' but he WON'T try to get them to reach all Americans concerning heaven?

Update: We All Sin Like Trump?
(10/8/18)

The "we're all sinners" excuse for Christians supporting Chump FAILS, biblically, in several ways:

1. If we are all 'sinners,' no one is saved. Christians are saints, in Christ; they WERE labeled 'sinners.' They still sin, and aren't ever perfect, but God calls them 'saints.'
2. READ these verses and tell me everyone's the SAME concerning their sins: I Cor. 5:1-2, 11-13, 11:30, 15:35; II Tim. 4:10; I Pet. 4:15 (it IS possible, for Christians, or this verse is illogical, as with Eph. 5:18). The amount, intensity, habit and severity/BIGNess of sins Christians commit are NOT the same! We're all on different paths, and God sees these differences!
3. "We're all sinners" can be used to justify ANY behavior, like saying "I'm only human." The statement of Jeffress takes ZERO responsibility for one's behavior, blames something outside our control, and basically excuses any sins of 45, even though NO living president ever stooped nearly as low. You're a BLIND man on this statement, Bob!

JUSTICE OR JUST US?

(12/25/16)

When you mix politics and religion, you BETTER do it even-handedly, lest God see your biases, and discipline you for swaying His views for your votes! Objectivity!

It's NO secret, the WASP church has used abortion and gay rights to stir up religious votes in churches! It was BLATANT in 2016. I'll testify to it in court!

Laws forbidding pastors advocating for a candidate were SO skirted this year I volunteered to tell ALL I know to @LorettaLynch Enforce or end the law!

Stolen Court Seat? (trending hashtag). Scalia died; GOP's are ONLY replacing him—for now. We NEED half liberal, half conservative and one centrist, to be fair—NOT politicizing that revered court!

I've said before, selfishness will ultimately DESTROY our nation, if Jesus doesn't do so first through the Tribulation. It will be SO deserved. Little justice; only me, me, me.

If any pastor supports stacking the Supreme Court (i.e., SCOTUS) to the left or right, I'll call them out BY NAME to the media, and in as public of ways as I can conceive. Pursue justice!

If any politicians support stacking SCOTUS to the left or right, I'll call them out BY NAME to the media, and in as public of ways as I can conceive. Seek justice!

VERY soon we are starting a justice campaign that REFUSES to ALLOW D.C. any longer to favor the rich or poor, Democrats or Republicans, as God wants for the U.S.A. (Levit. 19:15).

I can GUARANTEE you God's blessings will LEAVE America if our nation supports injustices, especially if Christians abandon Him to do so. It's called apostasy!

[Response to a private individual] I 100 percent agree that SCOTUS justices are ONLY to interpret the law, but you WON'T get that if Justices rule with political bias! That's ALL politicians are interested in these days, especially if they don't like laws passed.

It's time for 'the people' to DEMAND that both parties stop trying to destroy the other, get along (somewhat), and get something good done! Christians should LEAD that effort, if they are being rightly led.

Any Christian favoring dominating the opposing political party is NOT a Christian, or is blatantly living in sin. There are MANY in America, and I'll call them all out for it!

Again, SCOTUS' ONLY job is to interpret laws unbiasedly, as those laws were intended! Congress needs a law reinforcing that as required of them!

If any U.S. pastor supports BIAS, I'm going to personally name and shame them to the Nth degree indefinitely, as that is DISOBEDIENCE to God! Such are NOT the acts of leaders!

Earlier today, a word came to me which I wrote down and may include in Facebook after I look up some related Bible verses. It pertains to justice infiltrating a nation!

Until then, let me show you what I see that's problematic—conservatives were stifled during McCain and Romney runs, then eight years of Obama. Their rage caused Chump.

Now liberals want revenge for Trump. Extremism on both sides, with a vengeance, is NOT how to fix and heal our nation! It takes self-restraint and intelligence, but if you CAN'T see ping pong politics in action, you will forever be subject to it... One side wins, then dominates to their biases; when the other regains power, it does the same.

NO other nation can trust America, medium-term, because we vote schizophrenic! We the people huddle in our cliques and ask politicians to reverse the opponents gains. HOW can any other nation rely on that? You've GOT to renounce extremes and revenge, and work together for good ideas by win-win!

I will have a political campaign, and it will be focused on that principle! It will NOT favor anything but good policy. LOOK at our history... GOP "leaders" allowed mob rule to elect Chump (over many more qualified, intelligent and dignified alternatives); Obama passed some bad policies, and RINO's agreed to them; now the far right takes over. The far left is scheming their defeat.

This MADNESS will not continue. I didn't say it cannot—we the people will not allow that mad system to continue in 2020. Hear me clearly!

THAT is the essence of the next Facebook 'sermon'—justice. Everyone wants it, except abusers. It's NOT pro or anti-religion—its pro justice.

God wants justice, U.S.A. is founded on justice, and it's NOT "just-us," but ALL of us getting our rightful due through win-win good policies and common sense in 2020.

Enough said, for now. I'm going to do a Bible study on justice, as THAT value WILL reign in the coming Tribulation, by iron fist, so seek it now!

This all started from a comment on stacking SCOTUS. Anyone who believes that court is NOT political (due to politicians—not so much the Justices themselves) is ignorant. Make it NOT so in 2020 and beyond.

If you want revival, you want justice to reign in America. Mercy is great, and often needed; judgment for crimes is always needed, but let justice rule our day!

Judgment—justice—mercy; three sides on a continuum. The consistent one is in the middle, as are every public policy our three political books advocate for! Levit. 19:15

P.S.: Having recently skimmed a book on church history, Pietists, Puritans, ascetics, Wesley's holy club, and almost EVERY Christian leader in church history was calling for holiness among Christian claimers!

Whether it is religious voters using that word, or completely secular ones calling it justice, we all want to be treated right, and for right things to be made into pal and public policy (excepting those with ill purposes)!

America may, in large numbers, choose to not bless God in their behavior, but if God ever responds in kind and ceases to bless America, it's all over, folks.

Here's the summary I found on justice: God is just, loves justice, kings rule well only with it, nations rise (or fall) by it, and individuals do well living by it.

Specifically, justice and God—Ps. 37:28; Isa. 30:18, 61:8; justice and Rulers: II Sam. 8:15; Ps. 99:4; Pv. 8:12-15 (found by wisdom); justice in the people: Ps. 106:3; Isa. 42:1, 51:4 Seek it!

Two quick examples: JUSTICE cries against any police brutality and cries against criminal acts. That BALANCES both party's emphases!

Second example: Drill wherever it doesn't harm precious scenery, and also pursue green energy, as oil doesn't last forever. Justice involves BALANCING both side's desires!

Your only other alternative will be secession! We have to unite, and our books and new, coming website tells how. It WILL happen in 2020.

Ping pong politics changes horses every 4-8 years hoping for better results. Find policies where ALL rational incumbents stay hired and do good!

2020 should NOT be supporting an evil man four more years, or Democrat's revenge by going extreme left! Identify good policies both sides gain from; I have!

MISSING MISSIONS

(11/7/18)

THIS is EXACTLY why revival will NOT come to America, anytime soon. I'm 'gonna break it down to you as baby food-ishly as humanly possible. There are X number of lost people in the world—maybe 6 billion—the figure is irrelevant to my point. Then there's Y number of ACTUAL Christians. $X + Y =$ total living humans.

Of the Y groups, EVERY ONE of them has a part to play in getting the Gospel to EVERY human in the X group, ASAP! They aren't. A handful are doing their part, and another handful are doing more than their part.

American Christian so-called 'leaders' (in self-professed name ONLY) SHOULD B identifying evangelistic pastors the world over, and ORGANIZING a plan, a strategy, a coherent vision for how Y will reach X, to a human (on the X team). But because of SIN (i.e., greed and selfishness, which political conservatism fits right in with), they are busy with their OWN finances, in propping up edifices to support themselves well!

Many don't just do that, but NONE seem to see the need for organizing all pastors to attack the unreached, intensely and urgently! I'm a Southern Baptist. Almost TEN years ago I emailed major players in our missions department about this, and was promised something would occur--it STILL hasn't.

America and that denomination do NOT have to take the lead, but they better, because I doubt anyone else will! It's VERY simple! Y needs to reach X, period, one time, minimum, ASAP. HOW can it be done, though it will NOT be done? VERY simple!

You identify who isn't saved, and use the ones who are saved to reach that first identified group! EXPECT only a handful in group Y to engage, because a majority are carnal Christians! Get every pastor who deserves a job (vs. deserves to be fired) to get his own church members to evangelize everyone nearest to his church building, one time. The Bible calls this threshing, or harvesting. Adopt your OWN Jerusalem! (Ac. 1:8)

And as to foreign missions (i.e., the more urgent and sizeable need), we have mission groups with ZERO strategic coordination, ZERO elimination of duplicity, and RARELY any proof they reach all who live near them!

Every pastor in the world MUST choose a neighborhood in a foreign country to adopt as their own to evangelize! Some organization needs to coordinate these efforts, so we ensure every place on earth gets adopted by some church.

Missions agencies and professional evangelists need to be involved, but you can preach "revival crusades," and air TV and radio broadcasts, but you NEVER know who listened in. That's supplemental! The ONLY way you know, before God, that you reached all in group X is to write down who you saw! Then compare it to all who live nearby, until you're sure someone got to them all! Forget discipling for the time being! They face Hell, forever, any day now! Forget feeding, clothing and building them homes! They may die today, do-do's!

I literally waste my time writing this, because NO ONE will ever do it, because we're all ignorantly sinful, and do NOT share God's concerns, as we claim Jesus lords our lives! BULL HONKY He does!

This is truly common sense! If Coke wanted everyone on earth to try their product, they'd assign territories and managers, and keep tabs of who got a sample, and who didn't. We NEVER do such things, because we're SO selfishly sinful, so revival probably will NEVER come.

MISSIONAL MINISTRY

(11/6/18)

There's ZERO difference between a worldly "Christian" and a worldly lost person, in their attitude toward and prioritizing toward money, and when the majority, or the culture itself embraces its idolatry as 'the American Dream,' the offensive ones become those with the self-restraint God teaches! (Pv. 30:8) A thorn in their conscience?

(Ac 3:6) The Apostle Peter had NOTHING, because he did nearly EVERYTHING to turn the WORLD upside down, along with a handful of others! (Ac. 17:6) Today's Christians do so little for God, they can afford to be rich on earth, and poor in eternity! Living for the here-and-now in total disobedience to the One they claim to follow.

(Mt. 8:20) Jesus Himself did so much ministry, He didn't even have a place to lie down! Charismatic preachers of the health and wealth heresy have said He'd own a Rolls Royce, were He here today. That's 100 percent opposite what's true. Does anyone wonder why these two Christian groups supported evil in Chump and political conservatism?

The core of political conservatism is let me make as much money as humanly possible, any way humanly possible, with the least constraints possible, so I might bless as few as humanly possible—namely/mainly myself and my own/family. That's 100 percent OPPOSITE all Jesus' teachings! Carnal Christianity!

And the preachers want in on the act/their cut, so they use the Old Testament Jewish theocratic tax to say they are owed ten percent of that system, when God says let it be as He directs! NO New Testament verse makes tithing incumbent on any Christian, but generosity, as one has been blessed. You will NEVER hear this. #Greed!

And church-as-a-business says parishioners are customers, the church building is the store front and the sermon is the product, and the advertising is by attraction, vs. going to lost people to give them the GIFT of the Gospel!

Then use a FALSE Gospel to tell lost people you will go to Hell, unless fully committed to holy living the rest of your life (i.e., works). Did you ever wonder why that poor substitute for the real thing is so anemic, and has to resort to forcing their views on society, via Chump? No convincing power!

(Josh. 24:14) American Christians and pastors MUST choose THIS day who they will serve! You serve Satan anytime you serve anything else as a higher priority than God, be it self (i.e., NON-disciples), money (worldliness), fun (hedonism), job (workaholism), sex, assets, or whatever tool the Devil hooks you by.

There are demographics in churches! The quality of the building, programs and income level of the clientele. MANY a mega church is INTENTIONALLY chosen to be in the upper rung, and MOST American ministers seem always to feel led to choose to live in America (96+ percent, if I recall the statistic in the Fuller Seminary brochure), when the REAL work is the mass of humanity who doesn't have a church on every street corner.

Yes, I am alleging that MANY a minister is living in outright disobedience to God's missional call on their lives! I was never allowed such privilege, as no one wanted to fund such things in my 20's, because there's no direct payback (and heavenly rewards aren't considered by carnal Christians), and after a divorce and remarriage, my "demon-ination" forbade me going, no matter the reasons for said divorce, and even though my seminary degree is a missions-evangelism concentration! BACKWOODS BACKWARDS!

How can I show you what God sees? An ATT stadium full of lost people, as Christians all around it hope lost people will come hear a sermon at their little spiritual legal entities! Billions of people going to Hell, as pastors use an attraction method to get little-to-no people saved inside their churches!

An entire generation of people heading to an eternal fire, with smiling preachers getting rich off mega church mania and multi-site church, doing little-to-no missions, or American evangelism! Hell is a myth in their church practice! The flames aren't hot enough, or long enough in duration, or they're secret reincarnationists, cessationists, universalists or annihilationists. In either case, heresy!

If your church hasn't yet adopted a nation to evangelize, in some realistic portion, you are selfish& and inept, as a pastor! Lost people have their government adopt-a highway, to clean up and be responsible for. Why NOT the church?

Today, pastors see church plants as profit centers. Would any church ever plant a church in a biblical way, by winning enough people to Christ that they have to gather as a church, somewhere, and accept NO profit from what follows? There are NO franchised churches in the Bible; there's NO PROBLEM associating for doctrinal unity and practice.

Every nation outside America is more needy of the Gospel than the U.S., even though even the U.S. is needy, as our culture has been waning, because evangelism and discipleship have waned for entertaining sermons and attraction, using secular methods to draw a crowd.

The 10/40 Window is prime target number one! If the church was wise (they are not, in most cases), they would strategize and divvy up the world, and organize who will evangelize where, and not cross paths or duplicate, and ensure that NO group or person falls through the eternal cracks. Will this EVER happen? Churches are thought of as businesses the pastor profits from, so the attitude of the Apostle Paul is SO lacking in most pastors! (II Cor. 11:28) Put a grid on a map of the earth, and make it down to the neighborhood level. EVERY church adopt their own neighborhood to evangelize and disciple! (Ac. 1:8)

It is NOT because it's too hard, too big, or too complex to do or understand. We're too sinfully self-centered in what our concepts of church are! Let me remind you, probably 80+ percent of people in the world are heading to Hell, Hell is fiery and forever, it can hit any human at any time, and, on average, it takes seven presentations for a positive response.

WHO CARES? Our budgets are paid, buildings beautiful, and our people are happy with what we do for one hour a week. Apostasy Christianity. ANATHEMA! Let the world go to Hell, as we live it up in Laodicea, by carnality and worldliness! Leave us alone, God. We like our disobedience more than we love You! –The U.S. Church

EVERY U.S. pastor is personally accountable, responsible and GUILTY before God if their members DON'T personally evangelize EVERY lost person within walking distance of your church building, ASAP, and by the latest three years from this date! I've said this for four+ years, and NEVER heard of one successful church!

How you acquire and use your money matters to God! You will RARELY hear ANY sermon on this truth! There are reasons, but they are NOT good ones! The amount doesn't matter, IF and only IF you are generous with give back, once you're 'rich.' (I Tim. 6:17-19) PREACH THAT, preachers! Will you?

HOW you acquire money: Jas. 5:1-6; Heb. 13:5; I Tim. 6:10; Pv. 30:8; Mt. 6:19-24, et al. HOW you use money: Lk. 12:32-34, 48; Mt. 25:35-40; I Tim. 6:17-19, et al. MANY, if not MOST Christians give lip service to prioritizing the afterlife, as they seek Heaven on earth, financially! (Col. 3:1-4; Mt. 6, et al.)

MORALS & CONSERVATISM

(11/8/16)

I'm starting to think that the evangelical council mainly advised crafting a way Trump would appeal to Christians (as a "baby Christian"), then told him policies to be for in exchange for church votes.

I'll gentleman's bet the private conversation went something like this... If you will promise sincerely to pick conservative justices to overturn Roe and gay marriage, we five are SO "connected" with mega pastors that we will do all in our power to get the white Christian vote out, because we ALL want political conservatism to win, so mold yourself into THAT!

And in doing so, the church embraces the world, with every man for himself, contrary to Gal. 6: 2 and 5 (BALANCE of self-help and helping others), by calling for taxes so low that America could NEVER be accused of wealth redistribution of any kind, because that's evil "Socialism" (i.e., greed and selfishness disguised as "freedom").

But Jim, we want to give to charity freely vs. being forced by government. Do you see many rich people generous with their excess—except Giving Pledge implementers?

Don't you see the rich laying off, outsourcing jobs, importing cheap legal and illegal labor, automating, robotizing, and getting bonuses for screwing our economy with derivative sub-prime fraud, wanting NO minimum wage (so they can pay LESS), ending the estate tax (so they can keep MORE), using loopholes (so Donny pays nothing in 18 years), wanting the IRS ended (so more people suffer unemployment, and an employer's market ensues even more to pay workers even less) and the flat tax (so someone with nothing is pained with ten percent they can't cough up, while ten percent of a millionaires unworked for (investment/passive income) isn't even sacrificial to their glorious lifestyle?

No, conservatives talk a great game about religion and that sacred Constitution, and even lure some Christians with abortion bait—but the majority is NOT buying trickle down as anything more than the rich peeing on everyone else.

Bernie and Hillary's statistics about growth in wealth of the top one to ten percent the past decades were NOT made up!

Conservative economic theory even allows a billionaire to pay ZERO charity donations if they so choose.

Human nature is such that MANY do so (or pay a pittance; scrooges), and the rich always clamor to keep tax returns PRIVATE, so no one knows.

However, Welfare (with all its faults NEEDING fixing, including abuses, waste and over-helping) is more stable and probably more in quantity than what would come if charity alone handled it (though less efficient as private sector).

When anyone but those most blessed by conservative political theory analyzes the THEORY, it comes up short for anyone other than those benefitted by it—usually rich white males.

YES, Rockefeller blessed society with national railroads, but the type of blessing your business often fails to see is the need for every American to be able to pay their bills!

Living wages, not ending minimum wage, so you can profit even more, personally, because—DON'T be deceived—business seen as only a legal fiction and not a human is often quite a farce, when executives control how those profits get spent!

Collusive, over-paid board of directors reward executive's pay and bonus structures if stock prices go high, any way they get there, including screwing the public/consumers, or manipulating it (like Wells Fargo's fake opened accounts).

Wall Street is NOT morally perfect—FAR from it. It's the best we've got, but it MUST start considering Main Street (and FM roads/rural communities) MORE, and interject a bit of humanity and morality, lest God shut it down with a HUGE market crash, and another depression!

Any nation whose motto is win-at-all-costs, all others be damned is surely headed for damnation itself!

Bless God, America, or He will take away His historic hand you've become accustomed to, as you seek to remove the house from its foundation.

If our people do not have a rediscovery of civic pride, common decency and business ethics, GOD HELP US, for the Devil is always there to fill the void!

Ethics are NOT taught in school a lot—sometimes by coaches. Political Correctness's "appropriate" rules of conduct are about all we see now days.

With many no longer going to mosques, synagogues, or churches, you see more and more moral decay, generally-speaking, and our majority get their morals from TV, internet, family, or others.

America's going to hell in a hand basket? To the degree that idiom is TRUE, we NEED to put our brakes on before we go off the proverbial cliff!

Politically, I'm NOT saying teach religion in schools—though it would be OK if they ALL were taught (vs. government favoring any particular one), but personally I'm warning us to return to ethics, as a nation!

ON STACKING SCOTUS

(6/28/18)

I GUARANTEE you, if I were to speak at #SBC19 or #SBC20, they would NOT hear the words Pence said, but would be raked over the coals for politicizing Jesus, and NOT fully evangelizing. I HOPE to get that opportunity. ZERO expectations. Easier to plug your ears.

America is poised/positioned to have a far right Supreme Court for a LONG time, and for some of the good that could come, more of bad will come, and you can place all the blame (and your wrath) on one person: Jack Graham, of Prestonwood Baptist Church, IF it happens!

EVEN THOUGH he AVIDLY supported my ideas, here, for CENTRISM, and common sense, he is wishy-washy, and idolizes worldly power (even as that's how he ran his business, as our website and books detail). So he got a hankering, about 2.2 years ago [likely from a tweet of ours], that Roe had to be overturned, before he died, at ALL costs, including his reputation.

So even though his ally at the time, Dr. James Dobson, was for Jeb, then Cruz, these spineless flip-floppers eventually settled on the lowest of the bunch of 17, and abandoned any ideas of centrism for NOTHINGNESS, that morphed (~1.5 years later) into far right extremism, after far righters had had their share of losses with centrists McCain and Romney.

So these so-called "religious" "leaders," with NO convictions, would change candidates, even positions (centrism to far right... anything for power, even though Jesus says Christians' kingdom is NOT of this world.

And for this band of ministers I dub the 'Christian Cabal,' NOTHING was morally off limits, so long as SCOTUS got stacked to overturn Roe! Choose the STUPIDEST person to run for president in 50 years, and BY FAR the LEAST moral—that didn't matter!

JESUS be damned, if His reputation suffered, because these IDOLATORS of power wanted their way or the highway to cram far right extremism on their CLAIMED "Christian nation" (a LIE...

We are a secular democracy, vs. religious theocracy, and our beloved Constitution READS that government can't establish nor prohibit religion, and freedom of religion NOWHERE names one specific religion—but these clowns want to do just that!).

So all the stupidity of ONLY having insults, a slogan (#MAGA) and a 50' beautiful border wall Mexico will pay for is what these tares/apostates supported. READ this moral and logical argument... NONE of those men can hold a candle to its contents, so they'll NEVER try! WEAKNESS: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

Now let me let you in on a little secret: The leader of the pack, MY family's pastor, TRIES to set himself up as a holy man, and leader of good things, because God made ME push his obstinate, arrogant and stubborn butt to do good things for SIX full years, behind the scenes.

I NEVER asked other pastors to notice my acts, or called the media, or told many people! So now Gram/"Ounce" engages major evangelism crusades, so he LOOKS like a moral man, and "leader," so he can do EVIL political things to assuage deserved blame.

IT DOESN'T WORK THAT WAY, Jack, and I call you out, publicly for that duplicitous, deceptive sin!

WHEN I was a member there, in 2005-2009, or so, I had to wake him out of his older tradition of preach sermons to no specific aim or end—just do the job so you get paid the BIG bucks (figures the crowd never learns). Our website details all the acts I had to do to get him to do the right things—it did NOT come 'natural,' or without FIERCE fighting and resistance!

The control freak even banished myself from all Sunday School classes, and forced me to either sign a contract to never mention him or his church online again, or never return to "his" (God's and the members who pay for it!) business.

So when I turned political, here, so did that FOLLOWER! But I NEVER imagined or intended it for evil, as he did. Our hearts are very opposite in this regard, as I told him here, many times (he watched nearly every day, to see if I'd break the contract).

A GREAT pastor named John Bisagno has a heart for God, and of gold, and did the right things on his own volition (I was licensed to the ministry under him); CONTRARILY, there was his number one competitor church, who espoused church-as-a-business, and evangelism defined as its pastors "charisma" taking over any who came by, and many other sinful acts and attitudes I detail in 'Church Conflicts', page 76 of part 7 on that website.

I warned Gram/Ounce, at least six times over the years, "be a Bisagno—NOT a Young." He has chosen to be much worse than a Young (that rival pastor's last name, in Houston). God does NOT support bias or favoritism (Rom. 2:11), and ONLY supports MORAL public policies.

This group of pastors, which Jack Graham organized (Dobson, James Robison, Franklin Graham, Robert Jeffress, Jerry Falwell Jr., and a few lesser figures) all colluded to do all in their power to see that Roe got overturned—by backing tRump.

With blinders on, and oblivious to Jesus' reputation, or any other bad baggage which comes from stacking SCOTUS far right, they were bound-and-determined to get 45 into office, due to SCOTUS picks!

They said as much, and even used some Old Testament Bible verse to imply God can use evil rulers, especially if 'godly' (NOT sin-full) people "spoke into their life." So they band together (a group I started, to get national pastors to do FULL evangelism, complain that gay marriage should remain state's rights based, and implement God's EDBS priorities) for evil, after I rejected several of their calls to run for pretty high office.

We parted company the day Gram/Ounce told ABCnews of the Evangelical Council, and that he could "champion" tRump. Just one and a half week earlier, he had told us, in his church audience, that 45's campaign was "non-sense." Can anyone see these unbelievers in God, and believers in secular power as an idol have NO moral compass—just what worked to get GOP wins?

It doesn't even matter if it was a RINO or Tea Partier, to them! Complete chameleons, "for Jesus," of course! Right. Jesus' values do NOT change or waver, and He is NOT 100 percent behind any political party—only where their values are moral, and political conservatism has many immoral beliefs!

WHO CARES? Our OLD generation allowed Roe to pass, and NONE of we old pastors have EVER evangelized every lost soul near our church, since the late 1970's, so we're 'gonna band together our voting bloc to un-do the damage our chasing fame and fortune has done to America!

Morals be damned. Christ's reputation be damned. The amount of non-Christians who won't listen to any Christian speak on how to go to Heaven, vs. Hell, due to those actions be damned—all to force every woman in America to stay pregnant until the child is born or adopted! AS IF that is the ONLY political issue America faces!

They have ZERO say in getting Chump to act morally, as you've seen the past two years! They adore calls to the White House, and post the pictures online, from pride and delusional glee! It's their dream... being in the Pharaoh's court.

THEY concocted the "baby Christian" narrative, because they KNOW their DECADES of sermonizing has kept MOST of their sheep dumbed-down! They can stir up GOP votes, because so many U.S. Christians fulfill the stereotype of the blind faith Christian who leaves her brain at the church door! And Jesus WEEPS at that DIS-obedience, knocking on their door from the outside, trying to get in (Rev. 3:20).

So if SCOTUS gets another conservative Justice, you can RIGHTLY take your displeasure out on that evil pastor! He started all their shenanigans, even as he appeased the moral Christians, by having his buddy host revival prayer meetings, and many other covers for holiness that I made him think up, to get me off his back (which I have the past three years, on spiritual matters, due to changes I'm now convinced he partly does to appease me, and because he might now believe in them, but also as a cover for his evil political schemes).

I will say this as clearly as humanly possible, and he has known this for THREE years, yet CHOOSES to abandon. God would have an equal number of liberal and conservative justices on SCOTUS, and a centrist as the deciding factor!

My-way-or-the-highway bullying is NOT God's way, but it sure is the fake Christian Chump's M.O., and these coddler, panderer kiss-ups have surely adopted his Satanic methodology! SCOTUS was NEVER intended by our founders (you remember, the boys who Constitutionally made America a Christian theocracy, according to the chief dupe and doofus of the group—Jeffress) to be politicized.

If any pastor in America with any media-luring appeal had any moral spine, and took any stance for morality, like God vs. Satan would have led them to do, tRump would NEVER have been the GOP nominee! But spineless, linguini wusses with NO moral foundations, and only sinful cowardice went along with the crowd, once again, as FOLLOWERS, and now, we face, their desire to cram political conservatism down America's throat—because they can/are able.

THAT is their moral standard... does it work, and am I able to do it, functionally (vs. morally)? IF you are NOT a Christian, you have ZERO legitimate or even logical reason to EVER hear those named men EVER speak for God, or on morality! They have PROVEN to the world that morals do NOT matter to them.

Please understand, NOT all Christians, or pastors, are like that, and even if we all became that backslidden, our God has given us free will, and we all have a sin nature—as those men have abundantly PROVEN since June, 2015!

Other than that, how did you like the SCOTUS play, Mrs. Lincoln? You NEED to MEMORIZE those names! THEY alone bear the brunt of blame if 45 gets a far right SCOTUS pick. And any party who has two standards for considering such justices, can NEVER be the party of God, morals, religion and "values!" NEVER! Those terms are LIES!

One more thing: Any claiming Christian who doesn't know their Bible, but just attends church, and relies on their preacher to think FOR them is an abominable sinfully evil backslider, undisciplined, disobedient, weak in their walk, and a foolish embarrassing display or moral turpitude. Are you one?

NOW you can see why so many collusive pastors in America HATE what I write, and oppose what I do, and slander myself in many different ways, without EVER biblically addressing my complaints, because I expose their evil hearts.

EVERY major accusation I've encountered is in our book, Christians For Trump—all rebutted with the Bible.

How hilariously ironic. Prestonwood has decided NOT to post their last Saturday sermon, where Jack Graham says "I sin as much as I want to," then catches himself. It's in the context of inviting sinners to salvation, who say they don't want to give up anything! I would have added it to our book.

In fact, I JUST DID, as with another RECENT faux pas—"I'm not the Devil," said by Jack Graham within the last three weeks, probably on a Saturday evening, always available for a listen on Vimeo. Prestonwood Baptist Church. You can't make these things up, folks!

.@CharlesMBlow 100 percent accurate piece, and something every sane and moral American NEEDS to read! @FHunscripted @FriendshipWest 'Gotta FIGHT, even harder and smarter! Email me, PLEASE. @CharlesMBlow Read my column, "Trump Remakes America," and let me know what you think. <https://nyti.ms/2IxUw9X>

EVERY mosque, temple, black and brown church, Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, non-religious, and even moral Christians in the Southern Baptist Convention, Charismatic and Bible church denominations must be mustered, NOT for left-wing extremism, but centrism, to oppose the Evangelical Council, @FHunscripted.

Any pastor who interjects himself in the public arena gets ZERO deference, and has ZERO claims to I Tim. 5:1! You abandoned your calling, and are now just another pundit, subject to all the rules of everyone else in politics, Christian Cabal!

I am praying God exacts justice regarding The Chump. Be watching what happens! And Jack Graham. Ps. 109, especially verses 19-20.

If you have ANY concerns about the Supreme Court turning far right, go protest Prestonwood Baptist church, in Plano, Texas. That is where ALL this BS began! (Luke 22:3)

PASTORS & REVIVAL

(9/28/18)

Let's talk about pastors' ability to convince: Sermons are forgotten before 72 hours elapse, on average. Bill Hybels said after a lifetime of preaching, he's NOT sure he really changed lives significantly, very much (which is HONEST testimony)! A vast majority of Christians in America are nominally committed to God (a statistics-backed claim), even though they hear sermons for YEARS, and most pastors require full commitment to God/morality, for a lifetime, in order to get saved, YET false Gospels DON'T WORK!

And 87 percent of U.S. Christians DON'T regularly ingest the one source for morality... God's Bible, so many pastors are FAILURES, by the statistics, at influencing their OWN sheep. MUCH LESS influence society!

Five percent of U.S. Christians EVER get one person into Heaven, by their words and God's power, and that's the most important issue in life. You CAN'T expect pastors--especially WASP pastors who REFUSE to reconcile with other races' pastors—to LEAD morals, or revival in America, in the public square! You're looking to the wrong people!

It is the GODLY majority of U.S. pastors, who evangelize and disciple, significantly (likely NONE do it fully, which is the biblical standard), who quietly ply their godly trade to raise up godly and evangelistic laymen, who actually influence people, person-to-person, on a daily basis! NOT often the TV and mega pastors of fame and fortune!

It's the small and medium-sized church pastors, the 95 percent of them who AREN'T over-paid, who struggle to meet bills, some of whom work bi-vocationally, who DON'T kiss up to power, but seek the One and Only Powerful Jesus, who will lead that charge!

I read a Christian's post that abortion alone makes the GOP a best choice for every Christian. That is naive! You do NOT choose a party, as a Christian! You choose issues you are for and against, and politicians who most represent those values, no matter their party. And you vocally oppose even those, when they are for bad things! Independence.

Voters hold the power. If a Christian is for less abortions, but also for helping the poor, and not for greed or worldliness, in their politics, they do NOT blindly follow GOP politicians. They make sure politicians understand that it's their duty to be for moral policies, and to oppose immoral and unjust policies; NOT JUST VOTE!

HERE's how carnality reigns in U.S. Christianity: FEW laymen read their Bibles much. God says Col. 3:2, but the Devil tells them that's extreme, or needs to be 'balanced.' The parable of the soils TELLS us that many Christians will be distracted by the worries of the world, chasing money, and/or be defeated by trials! (Mt. 13:1-23) (9/29/18)

Relying on one sermon a week as your Bible ingestion is enlisting a middle man (contrary to Eph. 2:18) in your one-on-one relationship with God (i.e., using a chaperone). On Judgment Day, NO pastor will be called upon to go to bat for you, and how you chose to live your years on earth, Christian! (Rom. 14:12) Ps. 119:9-11 DOESN'T even mention sermons. (9/29/18)

PASTORS FOR TRUMP

(11/2/16)

A pastor surrogate of Chump touts that Ronald Reagan was womanizer, and ONLY policy matters. WRONG on the latter, and Chump's NOTHING like Reagan, @RobertJeffress! (11/1/16)

Morals DO NOT MATTER to people who say the election is ONLY about policy. That's CONTRARY to Christ, Dr. Jeffress. Shame on such pastoring! (11/1/16)

Trump's positive policies ONLY arrived in his feeble mind in the past three months! OTHERS taught him; those positions are NOT deeply-held beliefs. Such dupes Christians can be! (11/1/16)

And SHAME on you too, @MarkDavis saying Trump-opposing Republicans are into self/self-absorbed. Self ignores morals, and has ZERO policy 7/8ths of a campaign for power idolatry! (11/1/16)

Mark Davis' pastor is being BRILLIANT in NOT publicly backing his parishioner backing Chump 'in Jesus' name!' I'm PROUD of @EdYoung's wisdom! (11/1/16)

Note: Ed spoke up a bit more on politics/Trump after this tweet, but also sought to remain neutral:
<http://abcn.ws/2fM2BOn>

PENCE, MOORE & DAVIS PAWNS

(12/6/17)

Mike Pence is Vice President because he opposed gay marriage; same with Roy Moore, and somebody Davis (Kim?). It's ALL about REVENGE for the Supreme Court decision that U.S. pastors fought against WAY too late. Get over it. Bitterness and revenge are NOT ethics!

The Christian Cabal wants red states to ban abortions. If you have ANY sex that leads to impregnation, for any reason, they want to force you to give birth. They do NOT have the b_lls to state it that clearly, so I just did. I will NOT be depending on Twitter forever to make my claims! Cowardice is a sin!

PROPHECY, & CHRISTIAN CABAL 'ACHIEVEMENTS'

(12/8/17)

YUGELY funny how this works... the guy who tracks our tweets like a hawk, to see if we break a contract we have with him NOT to mention his church here, TWICE has heard us say a negative thing about James Dobson and The Chump, and the NEXT day, his 660AM [Salem Communications] talk radio buddy addresses it, as it's the ONLY way he can 'preach' to me!

IMAGE control is ALL these people care about! EXACTLY why that contract was forced on me. I said TRUTHFUL things about him and his mega church, and the NEXT DAY I got a phone call to come in and meet with his underlings! He PLAYS the 'plausible deniability' game, so he can say we've never spoken, and has his staff do it!

He is PRESENTLY touting his Cheshire cat glee in a picture at Washington D.C.'s Chump Tower, because he's got a boyfriend in the dumbest and most vile president, and the WORST of all 17 2016 GOP candidates man crush. I have the picture—it's now in our free book. THIS IS the Christian Cabal! Control, P.R. stunts, and image control! Sickening.

Let's address, SPECIFICALLY, what I alleged, that he 'THOUGHT' was in error. I said at 1 pm the Antichrist would be revealed. Catch this Jack, so it doesn't go over your head:

1. Because peace talks WILL break down, due to Chump's diplomatically DUMB decision, the unrest will be 100 percent OWNED by him!
2. At 1 pm, the literal spirit of the coming Beast DID arrive on earth, in my opinion.
3. It may or may not manifest in Chump; if and only if he brokers a 7-year peace deal with Israel (looking less likely, as he WILFULLY threw a purposeful monkey wrench into Kushner's efforts, likely because Jarrett was NOT going to get a win, so do a P.R. stunt that you and the Cabal would Instagram video as a YUGE success—which you did. It's symbiotic for him and you—a nothing burger you can rally DUMB sheep to get turned on about.
4. Had Chump been left SOLELY to his OWN devices, he would have NO IDEA how to deal with Israel RIGHTLY, or have had ANY knowledge of the dangers of his doing it wrong, prophetically. 5.

And finally, prophecy events DID get triggered by his announcement, in my opinion. The unrest that will necessitate a prophesied 7-year peace settlement WILL be traceable Chump, when it occurs.

So, to recap, IF you read carefully (obviously you DON'T, or you wouldn't contact Mark Davis for image control, or DUMB, Biblically illiterate attacks... we NEVER said for certain that Chump was the Beast, but the spirit of that Beast was revealed at 1 pm, when Chump announced, and I am NOT speaking of the general Antichrist spirit of I John, which has been around since Christ's ascension, or before.

I more than once said Chump is possibly, potentially, likely, and maybe the Antichrist, which only time will tell. And yes, I expected more from his dud statement than handlers allowed teleprompter Trump say.

In my opinion, Chump purposely caused a breakdown in peace negotiations for two reasons: JUST LIKE with his 'Chuck and Nancy' reference, he saw no deal, so he had to 'CYA' for that failure, while, at the same time, appeases your Cabal, so you gents (Jeffress, yourself, et al) will Cheshire cat videos saying how great it was that U.S.A. was leading in biblical fulfillment.

Sir: You and yours are caught in a very spiritually deadly game of being boxed into a corner, trying to defend THIS, "in Jesus' name!": <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> ALL I can do is pray for you, as I will.

You also posted that pastors are heralds, NOT teachers in classrooms, as this depth of understanding ELUDES some people. READ I Tim. 5:17.

The line between church and state is OBLITERATED, when people like you film MAGA sox near last Christmas, and yesterday in Chump Tower, but you are SO wrong about Chump's character! He PLAYS you, because your less Bible educated sheep will vote for him if you are a P.R. practicing 'sinner' for him, in exchange for "Christian" voting decisions! In short, YOU HAVE MADE A DEAL WITH THE DEVIL, 'sir!'

You 100 percent MISS what Christian public policies are, excepting some abortions: Justice, peace, doing the right thing, etc. I'm too long-winded, now, so I'm going back to sleep. You caught a brain-washed glee last year, and NOTHING I say will wake you up, because you idolize power to overturn Roe. Enjoy your boy, and Christmas in D.C.

For the rest of you, I 100 percent sincerely believe the power, the demonic force, the spirit, the Satanic influence that will literally embody the literal Antichrist DID appear on earth when Chump spoke at 1 pm! Which actual person will manifest it, and when, ONLY time will tell.

I won't retract, but will add that message to one of our books—already have! Now it is up to watching Israel for opposition that forces someone to come forward to stop the madness.

I said, that day, that it could take three years for a 9-11 type event to befall Israel, or it could be sooner, or later. If later, DT is NOT it!

I DO apologize that this is so complicated. If I could make a GIF, perhaps I wouldn't have spent so much time away from my comfy, cozy sleep tonight. I knew I was less clear with that 'word' when I edited, but was going to explain it, if ever questioned about it, and use such questioning as proof that that man (addressed above) trolls us.

Finally, to be 'perfectly clear' (as Nixon would say), Trump may still turn out to be the Beast, but if he never signs a 7-year Israel peace deal, he is most certainly NOT. Maybe if I wordsmithed better, I could spare more posts than I need. My problem. Will work on it. #BackToBed Blessings.

So let's sum all the Christian Cabal has achieved: The word 'God' (NOT 'Jesus') comes out Chumps mouth more than Obama, 'Christmas' is O.K. to say (like it already was—NO change), government will not enforce the Johnson Amendment (unless the violators are sued, and find in court that Chump's edict is just paper, as David French said), and Jerusalem is NOT the Jews' capital, except in U.S.A.'s view.

I WILL credit the Devil his due: TRYING to help persecuted people anywhere IS a success! SAD that it's politically BIASED toward Christians, to appeal for WASP votes, but I hope good people in the State and Defense Departments broaden that aim to help ALL, unbiasedly!

Let's address bias. God is unbiased, as between innocents, NOT guilty ones. A terrorist vs. your average Jew (not Joe) are NOT to be treated equally! Nor a Jew who abuses Arabs vs. average Joe, non-violent Muslims (and I do NOT equate the two 100 percent, like Ben Carson did, regarding Arab vs. Islamist).

JUSTICE is what man is to aspire to, before God (Mic. 6:8). No one will EVER accuse the alt-right with being objective, or unbiased, and the Christian Cabal FLIP-FLOPPED from seeking to recruit a person to head up centrism, to going far right (June, 2016).

I call out ALL moral failings and successes. Helping persecuted Christians is success. Crushing ISIS is a success. For the rich, the economy is successful. Getting the three basketballers out of China is a success (based on their dad's touting his business, I tend to believe Chump intervened, then likely allowed ivory sales to appease Xi). Gorsuch was fine. The Cabal will say a YUGE success, but Garland was just as fine, so NOT a failure.

Falwell and Jeffress crowed that DJT has done more for Christians than any other president, in that time-frame. America is NOT built to service any one religion, you Constitutional and historical 'morons!' Because these types do NOT educate, but spurn pastors who actually teach as NOT 'heralds,' but boring classroom lecturers, sheep stay DUMB!

They MARKET the Christian Cabal on Fox, and Christian talk radio and TV stations to keep them DUMB. So we get ~71 percent in Alabama favoring an alleged child molester who will NOT take a lie detector to clear his name, and apparently is scared to debate. This is success for Christianity? I'd choose failure, by that definition!

One more prophecy technicality: The Antichrist's person revealed (1 Th. 2:8), occurs only when the Holy Spirit's restraining presence and power exits earth as the Rapture. II Th. 2:4 and Mt. 24:15 occur during the Tribulation, NOT then! If this is too deep for one's liking, ONLY read one of our two prophecy books.

That is to say, the 7-year deal, the Beasts human identity exposing, and the Spirit's restraining control of evil (at least significantly) all occur around the same time. Rapture then peace deal, or vice versa? In other words, will Christians see the Beast's revealing?

I'd ask Dallas Seminary, but if Christians all suddenly disappeared, would that phenomena make needing a peace deal more or less likely? Could it trigger the violence necessitating that deal, or does that phenomena cause the beast to gain global control, trying to explain and deal with the after-effects and first seal judgments? Ask Dallas Seminary! #Experts

A P.S.: Should a Christian pray for Middle East violence, to hasten prophecy? (II Pet. 3:12) No. Wanting evil is evil, even of God brings good from it. Watching and expecting violence so the seven year deal's beginning is needed is perfectly fine. I don't hope for violence, but I do long for Christ's return, which necessitates such events.

[RE: Trump NOT seriously punishing Saudi Arabia for having a WAPO journalist killed in Turkey, for American economic, and his (likely/allegedly) personal business reasons (Emoluments clause):] Does anyone see how events like this can trigger prophetic events? The nations opposed to Israel are uniting, and if the U.S. dollar is jettisoned for the Euro, gold or the Yuan, U.S.A. goes virtually bankrupt, setting the world economy in a tail spin, which is the PERFECT opportunity for the coming world ruler! DUH! (10/12/18)

PROPHECY & THE CHRISTIAN CABAL

(6/30/18)

Pastors have ZERO reason to opine on politics, if all they have is Bible verses! You have to apply them in the context of current state reality, NOT confuse eras, or prophecy with this era, and you can't treat America as Israel's theocracy. Recently, they've been making FOOLS of themselves, and harming Christ.

America's role in prophecy? If we're still here, we either oppose or ally with the Antichrist. With apostate pastors chumming up to Chump, and 81 percent of WASPs supporting blatant sin to win, I'd say we're going to embrace him with arms wide open! Revival is NOT coming, with Christians acting that foolishly! Carnality reigns!

I can't wait for a 7-year peace deal to be brokered between Israel and her enemy neighbors! That will mark the beginning of the 7-year Tribulation. Temporary 'peace' CAN be brokered, before then, but NOT by the Chump administration, after FAVORING the Jews, due to STUPID pastor advisors who have been USED by Chump (for votes). Used, like John's do prostitutes!

The Bible says ALL the land of Israel belongs to the Jews. ASK Robert Jeffress and his IGNORANT peers why they AREN'T insisting CHUMP support Jews dominating the entire land mass! @ABC @CBS @CNN @NBC @FoxNews It's because they are idiots on politics and religion's intersection! Brain-dead dumb.

I already said CHUMP is responsible before and to God for starting the dominoes of prophecy, by his to FOOLish decisions about Israel. Now his Evangelical Council will be held accountable when such antics incite Israel's enemy neighbors to attack her in ways the Antichrist will have to stop! GUILTY as charged!

I actually thought older men claiming to be "doctors," by WATERED-DOWN NON-Ph.D's were smart enough to be able to distinguish between or discern extremes, like when boundaries are crossed by pendulum swings. I now don't believe that, and rather believe their knowledge skill is on par with watered down NON-Ph.D's! Ignoramus-like!

I am praying that the Christian Cabal gets even more ignorant, and incites further ill-will among Arabs, so this prophecy things begins! I pray, at the same time, all lost people find John 3:16, because Christians are NOT going to evangelize the entire earth before prophecy starts—the most evil omission in history.

.@RobertJeffress WHY haven't you advised your boyfriend CHUMP to have Israel take over ALL the land of Palestine, since God promised it ALL to Abraham, and his descendants? I'm tagging the media you lust for to interview you, to ask you this question! @CNN @CBS @NBC @ABC Political AMATEUR

RELIGION IN POLITICS

(3/17/17)

You see the connections between politicians and pastors to get out the Christian vote behind the scenes; WHO came up with II Chron. 7:14 first? ME! <http://bit.ly/1MW5Ehd>

My ex-Houston pastor sends that verse to a politician to use; See our website for documentation on such claims! Then someone devises a scheme to use Jerry Falwell's memory to evoke older Christians recalling Reagan using him for abortion to get votes, even though Chump had NO moral similarities to Reagan!

SMART Liberty students REJECTED that comparison, and DID what Gowdy said—lived what they believed and knew why they believed, and OPPOSED Liberty's president's Trump endorsement!

These pastors TRY to skirt the law behind the scenes, and let no one know about it, but rest assured they are in cahoots, all to support the LEAST moral and FAKE Christian of ALL 16 other GOP's in 2016.

DO YOU SEE HOW THE GAME IS PLAYED? Gowdy RIGHTLY touted Rubio, yet Christians resorted to Chump, abandoning beliefs!

I have no more respect for any Christian or pastor who'd do that, than a charlatan carnival barker who'll say anything to separate you from your money! #MoralsMatter

And let's address this mouthpiece of the right's allegations... HYPOCRISY is not being morally imperfect! It's living a standard you don't live up to!

And INSULTS are intentional demeaning of people—NOT saying something that's DESCRIPTIVELY true, to sum up their actions, like "idiotic."

Even Jesus used negative terms to reprove His opponents SEVERAL times (white-washed sepulchers; brood of vipers, etc.). Two UNTRUE allegations so far, and yet a third...

Politicians who use negative ads are sinning (implied). Facts and truth are the standard, NOT PMA positivity, as Ben Carson used, and FAILED MISERABLY sticking with!

IF any Christian politician cussed publicly, lied, slandered (intentional demeaning knowingly false), used sexual innuendo or other sins—THAT's a PROBLEM; NOT Gowdy's FALSE standard for Christians. We are NOT electing a pope, and politics IS war, civilly performed with boundaries!

An EMBARRASSING presentation on how Christians who feel called into politics should behave and run campaigns by a man who had to have my ex-pastor inform him of the verse I had been touting two years before, among pastors!

Again, READ our website to see our claim about revival being America's need, and my history with the church who's pastor emailed him a verse to speak on.

And NEVER believe religion influencing politics) while avoiding separation of church and state tax exempt status issues) are completely devoid of occurring!

Pence got videos touting his faith into many mega churches; for decades a voter's guide was handed out to parishioners MAINLY detailing abortion and gay marriage as the moral issues of candidates; there was the National Prayer breakfast; James Robison pushed Ben Carson via home schooling conferences and with their cabal's radio ad, 'Run Ben Run' on talk radio two to three years before he ran. Please do NOT be ignorant about what goes on behind the scenes!

These pastors are connected by email and even conference calls, like the one they had after I asked them why they were silent as gay marriage went national after the Alabama Supreme Court decision.

And as to using the term "idiot," as we do here from time to time, Gowdy needs another pastor to educate him so he can be the great Christian political mouthpiece of pastors—Jesus said you can't call a person, to their face, "you fool."

Proverbs uses the term descriptively, and NOT to the face of any person, and 'moron' or 'idiot' are NOT the exact term "raca," though its meaning, so one should probably not say to another, "you moron/idiot" vs. you are a moron/idiot (in describing behavior vs. character).

When people argue stupidly, repeatedly, calling a spade a spade is being truthful and accurate in that instance/ circumstance of their being so. If Gowdy knew his Bible more, he would have more authority to speak for God vs. merely for pastors!

At the time we had spent 1.5 years extolling U.S. pastors to do their 'EDBS' priorities, right here on Twitter, and THOUSANDS knew of it.

The exact same month he spoke, we had been called in a direction which turned from religion to politics—perhaps the month before.

At the time, our website detailed practices at the two major churches named therein which did NOT make those pastors happy! I feel certain THAT was the impetus for Gowdy receiving the emailed verse I had touted, and perhaps claims of "idiot" being a sin to ever say (which it's NOT), or perhaps even his addressing hypocrisy, which was found FALSE.

YOU would NEVER know any of this, but I'm a patient man willing to revel EVERY detail, as needed, and many viewers know I already have here!

HERE is why some pastors oppose this account so vehemently... We have called for all pastors, especially those in the U.S.A., for over 3.5 years to do the following, ASAP...

Evangelize every lost soul within three miles of their un-commanded buildings; cap mega church pastor salaries; tax any churches run as a business; shut down worship and LEAD members to go evangelize next Sunday, be FIRED if they WON'T lead laymen to fully evangelize their own Jerusalem area, and laymen are to stop giving if pastors won't do so.

We've also called for all pastors to DO 'EDBS' priorities. Let' see if I was ever a hypocrite in asking for these.

1. I'm NOT a pastor, so telling them their biblical JOB DESCRIPTION is NOT sinful, especially when they fail to do or even seemingly know it!
2. As a layman, by God's grace alone, I did my part, then God used me here to use my teaching gift to exhort changes needed.
3. The one year I was a pastor of youth, we DID disciple relationally (approximately thirteen kids), do evangelism, and started to suggest the 'B' and 'S' priorities when we got fired over the FALSE doctrine of Lordship Salvation.

Here, we also slam that heresy, as with the tithing heresy, which does NOT make us popular with many pastors, but you have to follow God, and do what HE says—not please men. (Gal. 1:10)

Lordship Salvation makes a lost person promise God they'll live holy for Him all their life or they'll go to hell. They can go to heaven if they'll promise God a lifetime of good works. That's NOT what Jesus taught.

And the ten percent income tithing is NOT prescribed in the New Testament for Christians, but for Jews in a theocracy, as a tax that included what U.S.A. calls Welfare.

READ our website! We describe church-as-a-business and Churchianity. We are NOT well-received by all pastors, and hence, receive backlash, and WILL continue to get attacks, because we expose evil and hypocrisy, and lack of priorities that send men and women to hell forever as a result.

You know about the evangelical council surrounding Chump, don't you? MOST of those ministers are tied together in ways you can connect to several actions we were initiated by God to arouse 1-2 years before they organized for that purpose.

LOOK at our media section on this Twitter site to see our public efforts to get the seven major DFW pastors to do the top priority! That's ONLY the tip of the ice berg! Our website details the many other actions God led us to.

THEY, apparently, took it politically. I NEVER advocated for Christians rising up in political power to back a man with such OBVIOUS lack of character as Chump!

I was and still am calling for true revival. My own denomination actually held prayer meetings calling for the same! They even resurrected crusade evangelism, as I had mentioned that it was waning quickly.

Mine was for SPIRITUAL progress, and NOT to support the GOP or any candidate—especially NOT Chump!

NO candidate had even announced running in 2016 when these efforts were ENDED! I can data dump my entire Twitter archive one day so you can see in fact (if it's ever needed), but NOT before my books get on the market, and lose their shelf life.

My main point at 3-4am is you do NOT know the details or history behind ministers getting out the Christian vote in 2016, and I can give you every detail, as needed, and may do so one day, as the end result was the greatest hypocrisy the recent world has seen when they went for Chump! A BLATANT moral black Eye for the WASP church, and you, the NON-Christian, noted it, and should have! You did the RIGHT thing by questioning and wondering why Jesus followers backed such a wicked candidate!

They should NOT have, I warned them SEVERAL times not to, but from power idolatry they used abortion as the red meat issue to stir up votes.

And it worked! In other words, to stop one evil (in most cases, at least) they would vote for Hitler, because even he was wise enough to HIDE his evils before getting in power.

Trump was too dumb to even hide his dark heart, even as he said he was a Christian, then one year later said he just became one—a “baby Christian,” to win Christian votes.

These pastors need to be GRATEFUL God hasn't YET called me to be more public with these revelations, but give it a year or two!

Our books WILL be out, but there is NO way their good ideas will be plagiarized by Chump, like his wife did Michelle Obama!

We are FULLY aware of how many politicians watched this account for nearly 1.5 years, and how many presidential candidates lifted an idea or phrase or two from these tweets—that's NOT plagiarism—YET.

We were, frankly, grateful and awed. And, by the way, WELL before Chump even entered the race WE called for improving a dull economy (with a few tips how—NOT revealing our entire book on business and the economy), defeating ISIS and closing our borders, U.S.A. returning to number one, using third grade language to get voters interested in politics, and knowing that the media is a business, and craves ratings.

We were WAY ahead of the curve on those, though Chump was the only GOP to use those ideas well. I can just hear pastor critics calling this tooting your own horn. It is FACT STATING, and God NEVER opposes that. Your ox got gored, so you attack!

I'm going to gore it some more—SHUT DOWN CHURCH THIS SUNDAY and LEAD YOUR MEMBERS TO EVANGELIZE ALL NEARBY LOST PEOPLE ASAP, U.S. PASTORS! #JustDoIt

So now you know the dirty little secrets that go on behind the scenes, technically NOT violating the Johnson Amendment Chump promised to overturn.

And, YES, this morning's message WILL be added to our book. Did I LIE (a sin) saying that book was ended? No; I don't control God's leadings! I follow them.

P.S.: You want an illustration of God's sovereignty? That Gowdy video was played yesterday at a car repair shop, as the manager knows I'm into politics!

I did NOT know of that video before, never asked him about it, and hardly even knew about Gowdy. We BOTH had no idea what state he was from!

And on this Twitter account we REGULARLY extolled the president of Liberty University that supporting Chump was a BAD idea, and NOT Christ-like. MANY students there AGREED! Wise youth!

Please see today's message and Trey Gowdy video. He cites a standard for Christians running for office that MOST Christians REJECTED in order to vote for Chump. HYPOCRISY doesn't influence, as he said!

REPUBLICANS & RELIGION

(10/22/16)

There's a LOT of educating to do @RNC @GOP; long-term, it DOESN'T win elections being seen as the dumbed-down party! HORRIFIC. <http://read.bi/2e95shH>

HOW in the world did the party of thinking greater than emotions FLIP FLOP, and the party of morals and religion FLIP FLOP? That's not my GOP! Have some DIGNITY!

Revival possibility NEVER had anything to do with Trump! <http://bit.ly/2dxTqLS> @revjamesrobison Moral losers don't lead moral crusades! Duh 101. #CommonSense!

Revival will NOT come to America until the church adopts EDBS! I've said it for two+ years, and I WON'T stop saying it until we do it, which we likely never will.

#ProjectAmerica: Can't U.S. #pastors LEAD their members to evangelize ALL nearby lost people BEFORE the 2020 election? @revjamesrobison You DID it in the 1970's!

You are NOT going to impact your society hunkered down in holy huddles, or preaching to the choir! God says go and tell. U.S. Christians advertise come and hear!

Revival is NOT demonstrated by a church united to vote for anyone! @revjamesrobison It's epitomized by people so empowered with love and integrity that miracles occur.

Impacting U.S. culture STARTS with committed vs. nominal Christians, @revjamesrobison Discipling saved people is step one, along with FULL evangelism, by any and all willing to be engaged.

It has NOTHING to do with coordinating famous pastors to lobby politicians for political power, @RobertJeffress

It's ACQUIRING true power, which alone comes from God, @RobertJeffress FAKE influence is hobnobbing with political candidates! That's a SHOW and an ACT!

POWER comes from the Omnipotent. You can't fight it, you can't deny it, and you can't imitate it, @revjamesrobison @robertjeffress You know power.

Power is NOT one political issue. Power is NOT one political party. Power begets revival, @RonnieFloyd Power is prayed for, but power arrives when God's people are surrendered to His will as number one in their lives! Prayer meetings of the elite faithful is NOT God's people but God's great elites!

It ALL starts with U.S. #pastors! READ II Chron. 7:14, @robertjeffress @RonnieFloyd @revjamesrobison LEAD U.S. Christians to be fully committed to Christ, by discipling them SOON!

It's NOT sermonizing or public events! It's pouring your lives into others until they're on their own two spiritual feet, and ready to replicate. OBSERVE JESUS' MODEL!

Jesus did NONE of the things some Christians do to fake revival having come! The proof is in the pudding, and when you read the book of Acts, lost people noticed it's effects.

This has NOTHING to do with any 20/20 election, either! Prophecy could break out at any time. Time is SHORT, and of the essence! Get the church vived and vangelizing—V and V!

I don't care if you're freaked out about Body Life, and believe that it leads to tongues! It does NOT. I don't care if you are resistant and disobedient in using laymen's spiritual gifts when the Body gathers in your main worship service. You should, but you WON'T, but DON'T neglect evangelism and discipling; they're IMPERATIVE!

PLEASE read today's message about #ProjectAmerica, @MaxLucado @Benny_Hinn
@RealRodParsley @revjamesrobison @CRIBAM @DallasSeminary @SWBTS @CriswellCollege
@Daystar @700club @TBN @pastorjohnhagee @FocusFamily @ChuckSwindoll @RonnieFloyd
@DannyAkin @JaySekulow @jonathanfalwell @TimTebow @CalThomas @Dr_Tim_LaHaye
@_SBTC @JohnCMaxwell @craiggroeschel @JoyceMeyer @NormGeisler @BillHybels @Ligonier
@drmoore @JohnPiper @rcsproul @Ligonier @drmoore @JohnPiper @Franklin_Graham
@WillowCreekCC @CopelandNetwork @RobertJeffress @BishopJakes @PsRobertMorris
@craiggroeschel @JoyceMeyer @NormGeisler @BillHybels @HLindseyReport @johnmacarthur
@greggmatte @WinningWalk @LeeStrobel @JoelOsteen @EdYoung @PatRobertson @BillyGraham
@RobertHSchuller @_PPatterson_ @davidjeremiah @ZolaLevitt @drtonyevans @Franklin_Graham
@WillowCreekCC @CopelandNetwork @RaviZacharias @RickWarren @louiegiglio @Ligonier
@drmoore @JohnPiper @Franklin_Graham @WillowCreekCC @CopelandNetwork

The last time I group-tweeted those people, things got done concerning opposing the national gay marriage law passing. This is MUCH more important. Please pray for RESULTS!

Those pastors CAN cause this effort to win or fail. They hosted a conference call last time. You CAN'T convince me it CAN'T be done; obey God alone!

Zip code 76115 has been FULLY evangelized, and U.S. pastors predominantly did it through Evangelism Explosion in the late 1970's. #NoExcuse Expect no revival if you disobey II Chron. 7:14!

With Ac. 1:8 as your model, THESE guys have 'done the do!' <http://bit.ly/2f2HUxm> @DrMattQueen
WILL other zip codes be fully reached before the Rapture?

If we DON'T do so, it is my intention to bring that purposeful omission to the public's mind as prominently as humanly possible! HELL hangs in the balance!

I've already called for this two years ago and until now. HOW MANY YEARS, gentlemen and ladies?
Your own Jerusalem near your church first! #JustDoIt, ASAP.

READ my pinned tweet. That offer stands until such time I'm absolutely engrossed in another pursuit, and will NOT have any time to volunteer! ARE YOU IN?

An article yesterday spoke of the face of the GOP. There is NO SUCH THING. It's principles, policies, and a group of people who represent them to the public. It's NOT Chump!

GOP is EVERY GOP politician who stands for GOP principles, and every GOP voter who believes in the same. WHAT ARE THE PRINCIPLES?, @GOP @RNC Advertise them!

Republican values are NOT fluid, or dependent on any one person running for office. The GOP has been around WELL before three White House defeats in a row, and will be LONG after Nov. 8.

You need BRANDING, and with demographic changes, sticking with the old is NOT a recipe for victory!
Timeless values vs. tradition!

And if GOP principles are NOT based on morals, they will get stuck in eras, and NOT adjust to changing times. Morals supersede all ages! #MoralsMatter

'A more perfect union' ASSUMES America is NOT perfect! The MORE the GOP improves its party for morality, the more victories she will experience!

People respond positively when they believe you are in office to help them, and to be for them, and know that you care, and care more about them than your fame, fortune or future/political careers!

The GOP CAN revive, but it starts with a commitment to intelligent policies and integrity/morality! Get that wrong, stay divided, and you may never come back!

I will probably visit FBC Dallas at 9:15 as a symbolic gesture of goodwill. It's a LONG drive, but lead pastors NEED to unite for #ProjectAmerica Be looking for me.

Please read todays message! @bellevuepastor @jdgrear If FULL evangelism can't start with the SBC, it probably can't start at all! #Revival #ProjectAmerica

SANCTIFICATION IN THE BIBLE

(12/15/18)

New Testament doctrine of sanctification, by randomly chosen New Testament books: You'll be AMAZED what you'll learn, and aren't taught elsewhere! NOWHERE does the New Testament tell Christians to keep going with God, because they pledged to, as required to receive a free salvation gift! The closest thing is I Tim. 5:11-12, of young widows! The obvious context is that when their husband died, rather than remarriage, they committed even greater to their 'marriage' to Christ, but because they have normal, youthful desires (more so than older widows), some of them drift from such vows, and want to get married, which isn't evil, except in leaving that vow is; it subjects them to judgment.

This is WIDOWS, young ones at that, and has NOTHING to do with salvation, as the vow involves how they'd live after a hubby unexpectedly died. And they DON'T lose salvation for straying from that vow, but do risk judgment (God has many, not involving Hell).

Look at the amazing assortment of truths about sanctification motivation in the book of Hebrews!: (12:28-290 SINCE Christians receive a kingdom (i.e., Heaven), which can't be shaken (i.e., assurance of salvation is a certainty that you receive it in the future), BECAUSE of that certain inheritance you presently have/possess, let us live in sanctification the way these verses describe... in gratitude for that salvation/kingdom, and serve God, in the fear of the Lord.

An already received gift motivates sanctification—NOT doing so to get salvation, or because you vowed and have to—it's from thankfulness for how great a salvation you received.

(10:10, 21-22) You HAVE been set apart (past tense, at salvation), by God's will, and since you HAVE (presently) Christ the great high priest (i.e., assurance of salvation, and inheritance in Christ), let us engage sanctification, described as drawing near and holding fast (in these verse's context).

Salvation is the basis for sanctification—NOT a fulfilling of a required vow, or lifelong process of works you committed to do in order to qualify for salvation, Lordshippers! This will become ever more evident to even the hardest-hearted die-hard Lordshipper, as we continue.

Heb. 7:25 can be misinterpreted if you don't know theology from ALL the Bible, and just read it at face value. Jesus isn't assuring Christians of salvation if they continually access Him, or draw near/pray to Him.

Salvation is not by works of repeated prayers or sin confession. The verse begins with "hence," so it references prior teaching—namely that since Jesus is a greater high priest of a greater covenant, He is able to save Christians forever, they naturally being people who regularly draw near to Him, as how the new nature He gives them naturally operates/functions. That, also, isn't automatic, as we see in 6:9, 10:26 and 2:25.

An interesting side note: Many pastors equate 'praise' as songs—especially songs sung at church. Heb. 13:15 says praise is (also) giving thanks, just like worship isn't just attending church (Rom. 12:1-2), but an entire lifestyle devoted to God! That's NOT an hour a week thing.

(4:14-16) Assurance of salvation is ALWAYS the basis for involvement in sanctification! Why would the writer (likely Paul, 13:22, 11:36) be telling Christian readers/his audience reasons to be engaged in sanctification, based on salvation, if they had to do so, as they vowed to do so, in order to be saved? That makes ZERO sense! #Unbiblical

SINCE we (Christians) have/possess such a high priests, let us hold fast our confession, and draw near (in prayer)... the sanctification incentive/motive/reason is inheritance and assurance of salvation, consistently throughout the New Testament, Lordship Salvationists.

(9:11-14) Christ's greater priesthood has greater blood TO cleanse Christians from dead works (Heb. 6:1-3) to serve their living God (I Jn. 1:9-2:2)! Dead works are efforts on your, own to be good, not empowered by God's Spirit and initiative.

The author continually espouses that Christ is greater, which tells us they were predominantly Jewish Christians, and comparisons are made to Jesus being greater than the entire Jewish Old Testament system, throughout the book (as well as 'draw near' and 'hold fast' themes of sanctification/application). Interesting side note: Christ's compassion comes from empathy, having had very similar human experiences (2:18).

(9:27-28) Judgment Day faces all men, but NOT Christians (regarding Hell), who are expected (new nature/naturally) to eagerly await His return, without reference to sin. Not only are we expected to do so, there's reward for doing so, and the verse is encouraging doing so, despite it being our new nature to do so, because the will is involved.

Heb. 2:3 even shows that judgments less than Hell exist, with God, for Christians, and that our will is involved in sanctification, or He wouldn't warn Christians not to neglect so great a salvation. (10:39) It's NOT Christians' new nature (or identity) to shrink back from, or abandon faith, by returning to the law, yet they get warned NOT to, because we still have wills.

(10:35-36) There's great reward for not doing so, and endurance, through trials, is how Christians avoid temptation to abandon their faith walk. (12:2-3) As Christians focus on Jesus, they avoid losing heart. (13:20-21) God's role in sanctification.

In the New Testament, you'll find verses only camping out on God's role, only focusing on man's role (I Tim. 4:7), and addressing both sides of the sanctification coin! (Phil. 2:12-13) It's not one or the other, but both, in one spirit, as your life merges with His (Gal. 2:20; I Cor. 2:16, 6:17; Eph. 4:23; II Cor. 4:13).

Interesting side note: Pastors are to be moral role models for laymen (Heb. 13:7). Encouraging WASPs to vote for the least moral GOP in 2016 does NOT meet that definition, in my learned opinion as to what is obvious!

Continuing on sanctification, as you read the New Testament, God gives reasons and incentives to engage as a Christian, in sanctification. That makes ZERO sense if a lost person had to fully commit to do so, for life, in order to qualify for salvation, as Lordshippers teach!

READ the entire covenant. The epistles usually address application way after the first half of greetings, testimonies/experiences, theology, and identity/inheritance. There's a CLEAR reason! If the Lordship Salvation theory was true, you'd ONLY expect New Testament writers to list do's and don'ts, as the commitment to live good and not bad is already fully settled, as they had to do so in order to qualify to be saved!

Lordship Salvationists ALWAYS say our view teaches carnal living. NO, we teach every baby acts and thinks like a baby, because that's normal, and they need to be grown up! No baby feeds itself. It's NOT by front-loading the Gospel that pastors secure righteous church members, but by mentoring and growing them up in the faith, as tutors and teachers, via God's word!

It doesn't happen overnight, nor do all sin habits get cured the second a person receives Jesus. It's a lifelong process ('progressive sanctification'), but the parent role is key—not making a lost person promise things God didn't ask them to, in order to receive a free gift.

You can, however, get Christians to a point where they don't need that mentoring as much (Gal. 4:19; II Pet. 1:19). That's the goal of discipleship. Kids become independent in their later teens (if they're emotionally on track/healthy).

No spiritual parent needs to be bottle feeding indefinitely. Toddlers feed themselves. This is where Lordship salvation vs. free grace/Saviorhood completely differ! Bible intake (i.e., meditation), daily, and mentoring/relational discipleship is how the Bible teaches spiritual growth—NOT by requiring a vow to live good and not bad all your life, in order to receive God's amazing and free gift of salvation.

And that's NOT just sermons! Sermons are NOT personal, intimate, and the disciple maker doesn't spend time with individuals, hear their questions, pray with them, get to know them, ask them questions, or address specifics they struggle with. Discipleship is customized and personal! Sermons address issues all can relate to, and are not the intimacy level of Jesus' 1:12 model (and never can be)! Yet pastors LOVE to equate sermonizing with relational discipling, as the same thing, but they aren't (and never can be)!

Peter was not recognized as having heard many sermons of Jesus, but as having been with Him a lot (Ac. 4:130). You spend 45 minutes hearing a pastor speak, or spend intimate fellowship with a disciple maker, and you'll know the difference, and the world will also see the difference!

I am forever different from my saved self, age 8-18, in large part from my college BFF, who poured all he knew and could into me for three days, when he was sick, and I picked his brain mercilessly, because he had learned discipleship content at Thomas Road Baptist church (Alpha and Omega Ministries) in Austin, and attended Criswell College... the Rev. Tom Eckman.

My right understanding of Jas. 2 and Rom 10:9-10 are because of him. Confession is great, but NOT required for salvation, or mute people couldn't get saved. In the second verse, faith brings salvation, and confession is in a sanctification context, for life. Confessing Jesus (i.e., telling your testimony, evangelism).

And Jas. 2 makes ZERO sense teaching salvation is by faith and works. It's written to Christians. NO deeds they do save them—they're already 'brethren' (the most popular reference to them in that book). As Eckman used to teach, if you saw a horse's body by the road, lying dead, would anyone question that a horse had lived, before it died?

Just as the body is dead without the spirit (2:26), receiving faith, as a brother/Christian, that you choose never to act on, deadens that faith... makes it useless (v. 20) in sanctification, to perfect/mature you up in Christ (v. 22). Heb. 2:14's "saved" means middle-tense salvation—sanctification—NOT justification/first-tense salvation, as they're already Christians/brothers!

The whole book teaches Christians how to be matured up in Christ, by trials, enduring temptations, right speech, God's wisdom, suffering abusive bosses, etc.

And Heb. 2:21-23, given the historic story behind it, PROVES this interpretation, as Abraham was saved YEARS before this validating of his faith experience, as described! Offering up Isaac did NOT save Abraham. It sanctified him! His faith got tested and he passed the test.

There are so many more lessons on sanctification we could teach, but read the Bible for yourself, and don't expect that because people have seminary degrees, they 'get'/understand it all much better than you can, with some effort! They learn Greek, Hebrew, preaching, evangelism, missions, theology, church history, counseling, and a host of other subjects, but FEW seminaries require students to be exposed to every Bible book before they graduate!

One more thing: Heb. 4-5 speak of Christians entering faith rest. When your walk of faith is on near autopilot, or more second nature/habit, from practice, you are not perfect, you can still choose sin(s), but you also know from experience what it means in Gal. 2:20 for Christ's life to be lived through you.

Christians are exhorted to diligently work (i.e., effort) to enter that promised rest, and warned of negative consequences if they fall short. Dead works—even if moral on the outside—are your only other choice, because any deeds not done in God's power and initiative are technically sin, for a Christian (Rom. 14:23), because God made man to be in constant communion with Him.

We didn't just do a bad deed when Adam fell. Our entire nature changed, and we were separated from God and not in a relationship with Him anymore, as a species (Col. 1:21, 2:12, etc.). It's NOT a rule book religion, but a relationship with God.

But good marriages have things the partners will and won't do, to keep it healthy and close! Look at Peter, who was OFFERED to abandon Jesus (Jn. 6:68). Jesus Himself made that offer! He didn't say that Peter couldn't, or had vowed he never would, nor did He say he'd go to Hell if he did. These insights are damning to Lordship Salvation.

The whole book of Hebrews is exhorting continuing on in the faith, and not backsliding. You don't get that possibility under Lordship Salvation, because if you did that, they'd claim you were never saved. You have to endure to the end, and you really only have assurance of salvation on your death bed.

And they misinterpret Mk. 4:1-20 as only the good soil being saved. UNtrue! The first guy doesn't get saved, because the Devil steals the Gospel from his heart, before he believes. The middle two are carnal, based on trials turning them away, or worldliness enticing them away from full sanctification.

If you want to know every verse and every argument you'd ever want to learn about Saviorhood vs. Lordship Salvation, get our book called The Gospel According to God. If Calvinism or Armenianism extremes confuse you, read our Appendix, at WillYouLiveForever.org. You can't beat the analysis, and you may learn something.

If you want intellectual evidence and arguments for the Christian faith, apart from divine revelation/the Bible, read our Apologetics section there. We refer you to the best books and experts on the planet, especially Josh McDowell, written back in the days when people cared about these matters seemingly more.

The BEST materials on evangelism and New Testament content summary is on that website, the latter as our discipleship materials. If any laymen understood those 18 topics well, and were in a daily quiet time habit, the world would open up for them, and maybe be turned upside down by them, too!

If I had one thing I could do, that now I can't, I would videotape those 18 topics, and videotape a month of 1:1 Bible study with someone I nagged into meeting with me daily. I'd apply our chapters on prayer and quiet time Bible study hermeneutical principles, as we'd go through John or I Jn. together.

And as homework, I'd have them read all the Best Memory Verses listed in the self-named chapter. Then they'd be assigned the best chapters and books to start reading first: Romans, Ephesians, Philippians, Psalms and Proverbs (maybe Ecclesiastes).

We have a book, New Testament Color Charts, which helps anyone understand all New Testament books easily, fast and well, using pictures, color, text, structural clues and argument flow explanations. You can get it via AmericanAnswers.org

If you have interest in what's 'gonna happen in the future, we have a layman's version and an advanced version of books on Bible prophecy, available through the same means. ALL our books are listed on LinkedIn (Jim or James Meroney—I never use it), on a host of subjects... business, innovation, idioms, politics and religion.

And be looking for the following major themes, or jewels, in every New Testament book... Mt.: Prophecies fulfilled, Messiah-King references; Mk.: Immediacy, and Suffering Servant evidences; Lk.: Son of man evidences, and unique section roughly chapters 10-18; Jn.: The seven I am's, faith references, and the seven signs, as well as noting that it all occurs within about only 15 days of Christ's 3-year ministry; Ac.: Ac. 1:8 is the book's structure, especially with major themes of evangelism, discipleship and suffering; Rom.: The righteousness of God in Christ is its theme; I Cor.: A carnal church, with topics Paul raises, and their letter to him raised; II Cor.: Authority in ministry theme, in three major sections; I could go on, from pure memory, but you've got to get our New Testament Color Charts book, to get it all. I literally could give more detail, and go on through Revelation, but I have a family to feed by book sales, reasonably priced.

If you want a FAST way to get through nearly half the New Testament, read Mark, Lk. 10-18 and John only. MUCH of what remains is duplicative, except parts of Matthew. Mark is a short version of much of the Synoptic Gospels (i.e., Mt.-Lk.).

Update: Doctrine of Sanctification

Continuing on the doctrine of sanctification: (Jn. 15:2) Pruning IS coming to carnal Christians! If one claims the Name, and doesn't grow/bear fruit, temporary judgments will ensue to true believers (Heb. 12:3-11). And note that v. 4 shows variations in the amount of effort Christians put into active (vs. passive) sanctification. Jn. 15:3 OBVIOUSLY applies to believers (despite the fact that it was historically spoken to pre-Christian saints, as the Spirit hadn't yet baptized them into the church, as it began in Ac. 2).

Let's skip to the promise of v. 7... If a Christian abides in Jesus, and the Bible abides/dwells in them, anything they ask/pray for they can have, because they'd be asking in God's will, if they remained Spirit-empowered and Bible-guided!

So what's this 'abiding' thing in vv. 5-8? Remaining Spirit-filled! Campus Crusade had an excellent tract on Living the Spirit-Filled Life. You can't improve on perfection, so I borrow its three pronged plan... If, or when a Christian sins (God convicts you of such), confess your sin(s) (I Jn. 1:9), asking His forgiveness. Believe that He forgave you when you asked (i.e., believe that you have already received that prayer's answer, Mk. 11:22-24), then ask to be re-filled (Eph. 5:18), as it's a continual thing/lifestyle.

Being ‘filled’ is like alcohol controls a drunkard—being under His influence! The two states of mind are specifically contrasted, for that reason, in Eph. 5:18. Be under the sway of God, by being empowered by God—not alcohol (even tipsiness is a sin, as your thoughts aren’t under sober management).

I want to hone in on your identity in Christ verse (Jn. 15:5). We are branches. A stick is dead wood, cut off from a tree, even as Christians cut off from God’s power can do literally nothing spiritual, even though they have a new nature! (v. 4; II Cor. 3:5)

Christian external good deeds done in the flesh, vs. power of the Spirit, are dead works! Life flows from the Life source, and dry bones don’t rise on their own accord! (Eze. 37) Only when breath from a living Creature is breathed into them.

(Gal. 2:20) Christians’ lives have been crucified/killed, and after salvation, it is no longer us who live, but Christ in you, the hope of glory (Col. 1:27). Salvation is ALL about having Jesus abide/dwell/live in you, as a GIFT (Eph. 1:13; Rom. 8:16).

And the life Christians live thereafter is to be lived by faith in He who loved us, and sacrificed His life for us (Gal. 2:20). Note: Sanctification efforts can vary among Christians (I Cor. 15:10).

Jn. 15:6 speaks to the Christian who refuses to abide; judged and cut off from the life living through his/her life. It can lead to premature death (I Cor. 11:30), and the burning wouldn’t reference Hell—because they’re saved—but judgment (I Cor. 3:15). Loss of eternal rewards is guaranteed. Yet, just like in Hebrews, the author encourages the believers to better things for them (Jn. 15:7; Heb. 6:9, 10:35-39). Look at I Jn. 2:6, 24 (same human author as John 15)... Let God’s word abide in you, and those who claim to be abiding ought to walk as Jesus did.

Let’s address that walking word picture (Cf.: I Jn. 1:6-7, 2:6, 11). Life is a journey down a pathway, wide or narrow (Mt. 7:13-14). <https://bit.ly/2Gir4cn> Disciples walk with/follow Jesus. He leads and guides their steps (Ps. 23:4). It’s a relationship you develop through intimacy of prayer (i.e., speaking to Him), and Bible meditation (i.e., Him speaking to you, Josh. 1:8).

For a Christian, there are two ways to walk; one right, one wrong. Christ set us FREE from sin and death, at salvation, but you’ve got to be educated to that fact of identity and inheritance, as Paul does, writing saved Christians in Gal. 5:1, 13.

It’s to be expressed in love and holiness—not church carnalities—(vv. 14-15; Jas. 4:1-6). Those two ways of walking are detailed in Gal. 5:14-26. See also Eph. 4:11-24. This is where I cease teaching, and require involvement. Meditate on those two chapter sections/passages, and apply our Bible study methods (on our website), to squeeze all the good stuff out of its ripe fruit!

Finally we move, briefly, to Rom. 6-8. Paul’s questions in Rom. 6:1, 15 and 7:7 make it clear/obvious that Christians have the ability to sin, but sin is never justified. Paul strongly and sternly rebuts any who call Christian freedom license to sin! And he gives MANY reasons, and a Christian should NOT be living in sin! (Rom. 6:2-14, 6:16-7:6)

As you do another day of quiet time, read those three chapters profusely/intensely, especially 6:6, 11-13, 7:6, 9-11, 15-25 (experiential carnality sought to be understood, as his new man in Christ didn’t want to sin, 8:1-2, 6-9, 12-14, 16, and the victory in Christ section of 8:31-39. Homework! (Jas. 1:22)

That is a BRIEF (Heb. 13:22) overview of biblical sanctification. You may think it lengthy, because you get fed so little Bible in modern sermons, and/or read the word so infrequently! You're used to milk, when red luscious steak meat exists (as Jerry Jones described the Cowboy's success); first century Christians had entire letters read in that church gathering (Col. 4:16), as CONTEXT gets lost, and book subjects never known (as we previewed last evening, here), when you cherry pick for topical sermonizing!

We, in contrast, get QUITE upset when sermons extend, because we'd rather go eat a Sunday meal, vs. more of the food of life (Jn. 4:34; Phil. 2:16; Mt. 4:4). As you get equipped to handle the word of God (II Tim. 2:15; Heb. 4:12, 5:14), you and your pastor SHOULD be able to do as I've just done for you, live and spontaneously... written truthful propositions, with verses cited from pure memory—NO advanced research, as I was asleep!

I cannot emphasize enough how important it is for you to evaluate what preachers say and teach! Test everything by the word of God! They will incur a stricter judgment (Jas. 3:1), but you lose out when they teach false doctrine(s). By accident, they do so all the time, if you know your Bible; do you?

(Ac 17:11) EVERYONE ought to behave like the Bereans. There are differences in the nobility of a man's heart, pre-salvation. This group of people did NOT take things at face value, or accept whatever was posited to them... they investigated claims, to prove them right or wrong, for which God commends them!

You can't expect truths of God to be brought to your remembrance (Jn. 14:27; Eph. 6:17) if you never laid the word of God on your heart, to begin with! (Ps. 119:9-11); If you're sluggish in why you should read God's word, read the very long chapter of Ps. 119, today. It gives MANY reasons to do so.

TODD STARNES IS IN THE (CHURCH) HOUSE

(3/18/17)

In church, @ToddStarnes said @HillaryClinton lost when she called GOP's 'deplorables.' A theory—certainly a HUGE verbal blunder, but NOTHING compared to Trump's MANY more!

Starnes also said liberals are always asking for money (vs. their possibly have jobs and asking for funds to fix problems government can't, as they cost money that conservative theory says the feds are NOT ever to fund).

He cited a Mississippi case of a sports crowd disallowed their tradition of singing a hymn in public. State's rights may say it's OK, but would that crowd accept Muslim songs instead?

He cited as evidence, that godless, atheist and agnostic liberals and Democrats hate God and persecute Christians (ala, Dan. 3:18), when GOVERNMENT in public areas is DIFFERENT than religious school sports!

TOO many Christians have NEVER taken and will NEVER take a Constitutional law course! Public vs. private, non-establishment or favoring of any religion! LEARN!

What did Jesus do? Criticize, demean and slander lost people for being lost, and rally some more simplistic thinking followers to oppose and fight them politically? No-o-o-o! Mk. 2; Jn. 4, etc.

And the crowd sang the hymn on their own. That's 100 percent legal! Government was NOT involved. Again, would a Muslim chant have been OK with them? Double standard.

And some liberals ARE bums (have you ever met a conservative beggar?), but most work jobs and support charity, just like conservatives. The issue is the two political theories!

Starnes can say liberals always ask for money, but it can equally be said conservatives never want to fund anything—the extreme, minority stereotypes of behavior are great red meat to sell books to Christians.

And here's reinforcement of liberals-as-bums stereotype by a Christian artist; SHAMEFUL to demonize your opponents biasedly, <http://bit.ly/2n6j56C> Couch sitting lazies?

Let's be 100 percent clear what practicing religion is and isn't! Government can't stop you evangelizing, praying or meeting at church or voting your conscience or living holy and standing for moral principles in public policies vs. majoring on minors to gin up a mountain out of a mole hill of tradition(s).

If those BIG things get threatened, you are under persecution. Starnes also cited Obama's faux pas of clinging to guns and religion—AS IF persecuted, when their hero, "baby Christian" Chump, did NOTHING but verbal screw ups? No hypocrisy there! (sarcasm) READ the book of Acts—THAT is persecution, Christians!

Christians adoring Chic-Fil-A due to Christian ownership NEED to grow up to the fact that THAT is NOT what it means to stand for God! That helps one person get rich. Stand for morals in the public arena!

How can Christians engage the political process? Be actively helping fix a problem God would NOT want to be here were this the Millennium! #CommonSense

Public prayer in public school, teaching not just intelligent design in science but creationism are issues you can't believe will resurrect!

Government is NOT to endorse any one religion or religions! Nor be anti-religion, but neutral. It's NOT like singing a hymn at a Christian school is a public, secular sports event!

Get a law degree, Todd! It's OK that Christians get energized, but zeal not according to knowledge is morally UN-commendable, and reinforces stereotypes! (Rom. 10:2)

Other religions are here in America—have been for centuries. We are NOT living in a theocracy. The clock doesn't move backwards.

Prioritize what practicing your religion REALLY means before you rile up Christians to support the GOP through your patent though veiled church-state bordering rants!

Address the GOP's un-Christ like policies, Todd! And finally, the implied, and not even subtle message was Christians vote GOP, and Obama and Hillary are anti-religion. Nice law skirting!

And he works for a media business that's often far right, just as mainstreamers are often far left. If you don't balance your news access, you are an imbalanced person!

Don't give one dime to any lazy person, liberal or otherwise. You empower their sin by so doing. Liberal activists are always depicted by the right as unemployed.

In a white/WASP church, extreme right views are espoused publicly. That is NOT going to create unity in a divided nation, as was also mentioned as a need tonight!

HOW can any true Christian say Trump was their choice, then slam Hillary for misspeaking 'deplorables,' and Obama misspeaking 'cling to guns and religion?' Huh?

The IMPLIED lesson is a desired effect, that the crowd believes Christians vote GOP. ONLY if you agree with THIS... <https://bit.ly/2fIESXj> IMPOSSIBLE! And black Christians are apostate? That's biased extremism!

Every citizen would benefit from getting a law degree! That will NEVER happen, but a highlighted course summaries should be on YouTube in layman terms.

I hear U.S. Christians bemoan such MINUTE issues touted as religious persecution! You ain't suffering nothin'—not a person physically harmed or jailed for their faith, that I've heard of.

Todd Starnes saying liberals always ask for money, when churches ask for it every event, too ('tithe')? Bums I agree are a problem. People wanting causes solved is NOT.

It's the conservative who wants FEW problems ever even addressed, much less solved, if any of their money is at stake! Just let me enjoy life, and leave me alone!

IF you believe a true Christian can ONLY be a GOP, you have bought the Kool-Aid! BOTH parties are imperfect and have sins they BOTH need to fix.

Todd: Trump DESTROYED any monopolistic claim of your GOP to the religious vote. He blew all credibility out of the water! "You made that."

The MOST immoral and ignorant presidential candidate in 1.5 centuries is the leader of the party Christians are obligated by pastors to vote for? That joke makes its own punch line.

An evil liberal judge that Obama appointed threatened Mississippi sports fans NOT to sing a hymn? ANOTHER innuendo that liberals are anti-God, and GOP's are pro God. Red meat for votes and book sales!

The ONLY thing keeping Starnes from saying if you love Jesus always vote for all Republicans is the LAW Christian leaders want Trump to overturn! Innuendos!

"Fair and balanced?" A complete MYTH. Biased, and right-leaning. Tell the TRUTH, Fox News. "We spin, you decide" would have been a more accurate marketing slogan!

When any Christian speaks from ignorance, or political bias, they drag Jesus' reputation through the mud, and that is not a service He asked you to engage in!

Todd, tonight, sounded EXACTLY like the vacationing Trumpster I spoke with who kept demonizing all Democrats as evil. That's untrue and unhelpful, do-do's!

And to the more weak-minded, who argue that you lose any and all arguments when you ever label, "do-do's" are people who biasedly huddle up in "unity" to slander opponents!

Does tonight's 'word' mean I don't like Mr. Starnes? Only to weak-minded people who CAN'T be objective, or handle the truth, or idolize positivity.

.@ToddStarnes You stated Hillary considers Christians in the GOP "unredeemable," by MIS-using the definition of "deplorable." Will you repent of an exaggerating lie? (3/18/17)

"Deplorable" means deserving strong condemnation. @HillaryClinton NEVER said any Christian in the GOP is unredeemable, as @ToddStarnes asserted! (3/18/17)

TREY GOWDY & TIM SCOTT ARE IN THE (CHURCH) HOUSE

(4/18/18)

#InsteadOfSpreadingHate Hate grows from the process of: 1. Offense; 2. Bitterness; 3. Anger. It's even tolerable to internally hate, if you don't act out on it. MUCH better is to forgive, separate, find common ground, know your own faults, and just severely dislike. #NeverViolence TRY to love!

Writing for more than seven years, mainly on politics, I've concluded that it all boils down to one thing—money! Everyone wants Uncle Sam to do their bidding, but NO ONE wants to pay their taxes today, Apr 15th (stretched forward three days, for various reasons). The money and math DON'T ADD UP—period!!!

Let's define CLEARLY what a conservative means when they say 'Socialist.' They mean they oppose government helping anyone with their tax dollars! In truth, it means citizens owning businesses, not government, or just elite owners. It also means a society that doesn't leave people unattended regarding needs.

[Interjection: If I hear one more "Christian" equate political conservatism with the Bible, I'll be looking for a new church! Biblical conservatism IS God's way. Political conservatism is NOT the same! I cannot share the same pew with brain-washed dolts. If you claim the name, use the brain He gave you, or quit claiming the name!]

Do you want to know who is against government funds used to help anyone? Selfish (vs. philanthropic) rich people, and any collusively for their cause! Even with token repayment, by civic service, they have NO problem with anyone suffering, and see our safety net as EVIL. NO, what's evil is selfishness, and Jesus AGREES! EVIL is Mark Levin calling Warren Buffett self-loathing for his generosity!

And even government "investing" in poor areas of town, as the above-named African-American politician suggested they do, yesterday, is just that... government funds used to help people, or 'Socialism,' as the above-named white politician from same party labeled it. I'm 100 percent for Capitalism, but NOT it used selfishly or unbridled, with no constraints.

It's easy to say 'clean the slate' regarding race relations, but history and economic reality do NOT clean the effects/consequences, and so long as there are barriers, or UNJUST favoritism, bred into the system, over centuries, forgive and forget doesn't pay the bills of those who started so far behind! DUH.

If I could have accessed those two politicians, face-to-face, without five cops surrounding them, and without being the only one NOT buying a book I wouldn't have time to read, I would have told the one 100 percent against his definition of 'Socialism' to go with me to a hood or barrio! I HATE selfishness!

And regarding that unity book, Trey Gowdy did have an EXCELLENT alliteration... 'we need contrast, but not conflict.' That sounds eloquent, but we need civil conflict. Robust debate is healthy (if listeners are open-minded), but I know what he meant, and agree with it. To have unity as a nation requires apologies and forgiveness, but also solving problems between people!

I do NOT have a lot in common with my twins. I told them, this weekend, that we need to work on it; I, number one, as the adult. ALL I could come up with is going to a concert with my daughter, but Cold Play isn't touring, and Ed Sheeran is ~$100 a pop. You don't get closer to anyone not doing things together, or having common ground, or without speaking.

I have basketball in common with my other twin, and only since I played despite my two broken shoulders do I still have that bond. My eldest son is sometimes more serious than video games and silly videos, so since he's an adult, and we walk the malls together ~every day, we're close.

I SO LITTLE pay attention to personalities in politics (vs. principles and policies) that I had NO idea the two gentlemen were from the same party! When I learned their unity and reconciliation was between two Republicans, I was LESS excited that reconciliation had really occurred regarding America's divisions, of D vs. R.

I am TIRED of the party worship in Christian circles! People CLAIM they believe God is impartial, principle over party, et al, but they REALLY hate the opponent party! I do not! I hope, one day soon, a third party will rise to compete, and I'll do everything in my power in the future to help that along, if the two majors continue the constant extremes and battling! Competition only helps us all get better (See, I'm a capitalist)!

Ignorance is the enemy of America. Christians duped by lies from Christians claiming to be leaders offends me more than anything else, like implying that stacking the Supreme Court for political conservatism is godly! I pray Justice Kennedy remains at least one more term!

IT IS SINFULLY EVIL TO WANT THE SUPREME COURT DOMINATED BY EITHER EXTREME. Proof? God is unbiased and impartial, showing no favoritism between rich and poor (Levit. 19:15, et al). And any claiming (vs. practicing) Christian who wants the Supreme Court skewed right WANTS these evils: The poor to suffer, the worker to suffer, the rich blessed, the consumer defrauded, the environment cancerously polluted, the rich's heirs lazy, NO problems solved (if they cost money—and they usually do), ALL in the name of anti-abortion, and despising gay gains in our laws.

I don't know how many times, here, I have TO berate ignorance among God's people—nearly weekly. There are SO many Bible verses in that good book, a sermon a week cannot possibly expose you to getting smart, if you are not ingesting it daily, on your own. I guess few do. Statistically, it's 13 percent in U.S. Christendom.

That means sheep are at the mercy of what is taught in church, and you NEVER hear WASPs teach on justice in society—ONLY justice, individually! Society is ONLY a bunch of individuals living in a certain national venue, so their together decisions are equally important as their individual ones! That's ALL society is... individual decisions, totaled.

I left church, yesterday, with a 100 percent clear conscience that I did not break the protocol of buying a book to speak to a politician practice. There was no rule stating that, but practice was that. I PITY poor people not wanting a book wanting to speak with D.C. politicians they'd NEVER pay a trip to D.C. to visit!

You can say it was for personal business dealings, but they BOTH represent us all, and are on the public dole. Lobbyist-loving says politicians only hear from people who will pay for access. I DESPISE any lobbyist having any politician's ear more than the voice of the people! Sorry.

I'm VERY agitated at ~3 am, that the unity wasn't between parties, stacking the Supreme Court was desired by a fellow churchman, Christians still believe Democrats hate God, any safety net is labeled 'Socialism,' and any politician would restrict conversations to those who bought their book. I couldn't sleep with those facts, as a Christian.

NO WONDER whites LOVE conservatism! Historically, they owned all the businesses and best jobs, and even owned the blacks! So, one day, or series of days, their decide to ACT 'Christian' and free the slaves (1964 is NOT that long ago, given that America officially started in 1776), and ALL the past is wiped clean?

The white race accumulated assets, passed them down by inheritance laws and the good 'ol boy system, and simply by a stroke of a presidential pen, all is forgiven and EQUAL?

I've said before, would you rather run a marathon race two hours before others, or at the same time? Whites do NOT want to deal with this issue, because it will invariably involve money, and Americans LOVE their money, and conservatives HATE giving any of it to people NOT in their immediate family, or employ. These are mere FACTS—a concept often foreign to alt-righters.

Even poor whites were never slaves, in their ancestry, so their poverty is self-induced. They did NOT have to overcome ~two centuries of being behind in life's marathon race. And it's NOT just single mothers who are minorities who should be America's safety net concern! They are the poster child of the conservative's social concern.

1. Men who birth babies MUST step up and pay child support! 2. There are other poor people who work hard and are not lazy, or drug abusers. I don't sincerely believe a true conservative believes this, because they are mainly white, and have lived their entire lives privileged by a nation that historically favored whites, so now it's engrained in the effects of that history.

I spoke of common ground with my twins. People LIKE business employees who "fit." That's often code word for you are like us! Something that attempted fit is like a glove on O.J. Simpson's hand, and sometimes it is the right size for the intended need, and feel. A square doesn't fit in a hole.

Being a minority in the best U.S. companies is rarely a majority experience. The best jobs usually have majority whites. LAWS and social action are why that has changed a bit, in very recent years, and NOT voluntarily or spontaneously, until the social stigma pressure was brought to bear! Conservatives label that as 'evil.' It is GOOD!

Poor whites claim reverse discrimination, and fight against 'Socialism,' though they've NEVER been treated like 2/5ths of a human, in their legacy/heritage!

YES, corrupt politicians and greedy businesses shipped your blue collar careers to China, but don't blame blacks and browns for doing that! Congress and business executives are majority white! We have Georgia KKK-lover protests, and violence. Whites yell 'you'll never get rid of us.' These people are angry at diversity, multi-culturalism, Welfare, over-immigration. What you NEED to do is get job skills for the twenty-first century! Our economy is quickly heading to AI and robotics.

Unless you're a farmer, you NEED college-equivalent knowledge, and high tech skills. You must adjust! You can't expect sewing machine and typewriter skills to get you through in modern America! Things change! Amazon didn't exist when outsourcing started in the mid-1980's. Whether things change for the good or bad, they change. If you haven't, you are behind (like blacks were, as a race, in America)!

Violence and voting in people who will keep America the way it was in the 1950's is your right, but NOT right for America! If you are white, blue collar, and mad at society's changes, what job skills training have you undergone? NO laws will protect you, staying the same! Life moves on without you, and leaves you behind.

You can NOT rightly be mad at blacks being treated equally, by which your opportunities lessen, if you aren't competitive in the job market! That's NOT their fault or problem—it's yours; look in the mirror. Your ancestors had all the opportunity to set you up to win; they were never enslaved.

If they left you no inheritance, even life has never disfavored you in the workplace! Your education has always been available, and the hiring authorities never held your skin color against you, privately, in their heart, if not more publicly or vocally! You are without excuse if you don't get edu-ma-cated!

Globalism was an unstoppable force. It's well beyond greedy executives and selfish politicians in D.C., in the mid-80's! It was life moving on without any who didn't keep up. You can call it progress or regress... it doesn't matter—it's reality!

No business was going to pay the average U.S. wages when they could get it for $2 a day in China! And India got the more high-tech jobs, for the exact same reasons, though not the exact same pay. This is LIFE. Business is NOT evil for seeking the cheapest expenses, and highest price they can fetch. They're evil in other ways, but NOT in those two.

You got the short straw, because your skills couldn't compete with Chinese and Indians, for the same price. Living in America, you could never make it on those wages. Politicians DID fail you in letting it happen too much, and not replacing those jobs with businesses of the future that would be incentivized to be in America, and the education systems that prepared you for skills those businesses needed!

You have been wronged, but complaining doesn't pay your many bills! Get better skills so you can pay your bills, and anyone in America to begrudge anyone suffering a little help, by those who aren't, is not only un-American, it's sinful and selfish; many such citizens exist, here!

By the way, I loved both those two politicians, yesterday, and think them fine men. It's POLICY I attacked, here, this wee hour of the morning, and one of them leans more to these policies than the other. You've got to bring your Bible into the public square, overtly or covertly, but also know that the majority decides, in America! It's a balancing act.

Trey Gowdy said politics is reactionary and reflective of culture—not leading its change, or charge. That's the problem! People in D.C. want to be called 'leaders,' when they aren't, and don't (i.e., lead)! The context was unity in America. If the people lead the politicians, what are we paying them for! Lead, or get off the pot! @Pledgers2020

Tim Scott said, from experience, growing up in poverty can lead to feelings of hopelessness, but always look in the mirror (and get a mentor). However, the blame-no-one-but-yourself attitude is often an excuse for white society to do nothing to un-do the damages from the past.

TRUMP EVANGELICAL COUNCIL

(11/8/16)

I always thought evangelical advisers were for SPIRITUAL counsel—NOT mainly policy advice to lure Christians, or image makeovers saying ‘baby Christian!’ My mistake?

Pv. 11:16 describes pre- and post-election Trump—RUTHLESS rich guy who has devised a scheme of a "revenge PAC." That council's (or his foxhole conversion/jailhouse confession) been successful on character?

Hey big Don, your first lesson in discipleship NEEDs to be SINCERELY asking God's forgiveness for ALL your sins @realdonaldtrump Pride WON'T apologize.

God gives grace to the HUMBLE. Pride goes before today's political destruction! (Pv. 16:18) If you had been disciplined (vs. negotiated votes for SCOTUS picks) you would KNOW that!

Image makeovers when polls dropped, and policy advice vs. character maturation would have saved your business' image—and your soul (John 3:16).

.@MarkLevinShow said last night we have to stop debating the primary and beat the Democrats. THE PRIMARY IS DON'S QUALIFICATIONS TO BE THE GOP NOMINEE IN THE GENERALS!

ONLY due to Chump's words and deeds all season, I'd NEVER want him to win, but I could have tolerated EVERY other GOP running this year as BETTER!

I'm starting to think that his evangelical council mainly advised crafting a way he could appeal to Christians ('baby Christian'), then told him policies to be for in exchange for getting their parishioners to vote (Ex.: Pence video to churches, prayer meetings, sermons on GOP platform, etc.). Sold your souls for power, and you LOST!

Gentleman's bet the private conversation went something like this: If you will promise sincerely to pick conservative justices to overturn Roe and gay marriage, we five are SO "connected" with mega pastors, we will do all in our power to get out the Christian vote, because we ALL want political conservatism to win, so mold yourself into THAT!

And in doing so, the church embraces the world, with every man for himself vs. Gal. 6:2 and 5 and II Cor. 8:14-15 (BALANCE of self-help AND helping others) by calling for taxes so low, the U.S. could NEVER be accused of 'wealth redistribution' of any kind, because that's evil "Socialism" (i.e., greed and selfishness disguised as "freedom").

But Jim, we want to give to charity freely vs. being forced by government. Do you see many rich people generous with their excess, except Giving Pledge implementers?

Don't you see the rich laying people off, outsourcing jobs, importing cheaper legal and cheap illegal labor, automating, robotizing, getting bonuses for scr_wing our economy with derivative sub-prime fraud, wanting NO minimum wage (so they can pay LESS), ending the estate tax (so they can keep MORE), using tax loopholes so Donny pays NOTHING in 18 years, wanting the IRS ended (so more folk people suffer with unemployment and they get an employer's market even more so to pay the rest even less), and the flat tax, so someone with nothing is pained with ten percent they can't cough up while ten percent of a millionaires un-worked for (i.e., investment/passive income) isn't even sacrificial for their glorious lifestyle?

No, conservatives talk a great game about religion, and that sacred Constitution, and they even lure some Christians with the abortion bait, but the majority is NOT buying trickle down as anything more than the rich peeing on everyone else. Bernie and Hillary's statements about growth of wealth in the top 1-10 percent the past decades were NOT made up!

Conservative theory even allows a billionaire to pay ZERO charity donations if he so chooses. Human nature is such that MANY so do (or pay a pittance; Scrooges), and the rich always clamor to keep their tax returns PRIVATE, so no one ever knows.

However, Welfare (with all its faults NEEDING fixing, including abuses, waste and over-helping) is more stable, and probably more in quantity than what would come in if charity alone handled it (though less efficient as the private sector).

Jesus' concern was more for the down-and-outers, and His greatest disdain was for the hypocrites and arrogant elitists.

When anyone but those most blessed by conservative political theory analyzes their THEORY, it comes up short for anyone other than those benefitted by it—usually rich, white males.

Yes, Rockefeller blessed society with national railroads, but the type of blessing your business often fails to see is the need for every American to be able to pay their bills! Living wages, not ending minimum wage so you can profit even more, personally, because, DON'T be deceived—business seen as only a legal fiction, not bearing any human attributes is often quite a farce, when executives control how those profits get spent!

Collusive, over-paid board of directors reward executives' pay and bonus structures if stock prices go high, any way they get there, including screwing the public/consumers, or manipulating it (like Wells Fargo's fake opened accounts).

Wall Street is NOT morally perfect—FAR from it. It's the best we have, but it MUST start considering Main Street (and FM roads/rural) MORE, and interject a bit of humanity and morality, lest God shut it down with a 'YUGE' market crash and another depression!

Any nation whose motto is win-at-all-costs—all others be damned, is surely headed for damnation itself! Bless God, America, or He will take away His historic hand you've become accustomed to, as you seek to remove the house from its foundation.

If our people do not have a rediscovery of civic pride, common decency and business ethics, GOD HELP US, for the Devil is always there to fill the void!

Ethics are NOT taught in school a lot—sometimes by coaches. P.C. "appropriate" rules of conduct are about all we see now days.

With many no longer going to their mosque, synagogue or church, you see more and more moral decay (generally-speaking), and our majority get their morals from TV, internet, family, or others.

America's going to Hell in a hand basket? To the degree that idiom is TRUE, we NEED to put our brakes on before we go off the proverbial cliff!

Politically, I'm NOT saying teach religion in schools, though it would be OK if they ALL were taught, vs. government favoring any particular religion;

P.S.: Rev. James MacDonald's words last month tell me that at least HE sees the evangelical council's role involving moral monitoring—NOT just steering him in a conservative direction!

What do non-Christians think of Christians who voted for Trump? If hypocrites or power idolaters, you are SPOT ON! I apologize for them! #Sin2Win! (11/21/16)

TRUMP PASTORS & STACKING SCOTUS

(11/4/16)

Chump-advocating pastors say U.S.A. wants ‘God bless the U.S.A.’ without ‘U.S.A., bless God;’ I say THEY want U.S.A. to bless God without THEIR fully evangelizing the U.S.A. It doesn’t work that way!

To the argument for Chump (because he’ll stack the Supreme Court/SCOTUS to ban all abortions) that "it’s the law of God not to kill," it’s also His law not to adulter or divorce (two exceptions), to help the poor, to not cuss or be drunk, even in your home. Would a Chump Supreme Court have pastors making every Bible command a ‘Constitutional’ law?

Yes, life’s a higher priority, but the Bible says ‘you must be BORN again,’ NOT you must be conceived or incepted again!

Pre-borns don’t have the same status, though they are fully human (they may not take and be viable), and our laws don’t give them rights until they’re BORN in the U.S.A. It’s still evil, and a killing, but NOT the same legal act of murder as once they’re out of the womb!

Must a man enter his mother’s womb and be birthed again was even what John 3 asks.

That DOESN’T mean I encourage or am for any abortions as being a moral act, but don’t try to shame me into believing, like you, that abortion is the main or only political issue the U.S.A. faces!

TWO people are involved in the decision (not even addressing the father), and it’s ultimately theirs to decide before God—sin, or don’t sin.

Government does NOT outlaw every sin, or I’d be fined for cussing. In fact, if government ever banned cussing, conservatives would decry Political Correctness word police. But the Bible opposes it, so if you are theocracy-minded, you would be for government banning it—NOT calling it P.C. abuse!

Some acts we’re free to do, though evil! You may MOUTH that U.S.A. is NOT a theocracy, but also advocate it being one if you analyze your own argument! Contradiction!

Yesterday’s news said there’s a sea wave trend for legalizing pot. Public opinion means MUCH when ‘The People’ are the bosses—NOT politicians, as in a Democracy, and the Supreme Court knows it!

Change the culture’s attitude about abortions and you get your way (and God’s, on at-will abortions ending), vs. forcing it by politicizing SCOTUS!

There are SO many issues the Constitution does NOT explicitly mention (Ex.: Social Security), but are Constitutional via SCOTUS, NOT because they’re rogue, but the 10th Amendment says ‘to the states, or to the people.’ The people’s majority, for now, are for Roe.

Not everything the people want is good, and politicians sometimes say NO to majority rule, and sometimes say ‘yes.’

You can lie to yourself that I’m for abortion, because I disagree with stacking SCOTUS (as liberals are accused of doing), but you are WRONG!

SCOTUS needs to only interpret, and needs to be balanced (half liberal, half conservative, and one moderate, ideally).

At-will abortions for contraception, because you can’t plan and/or are permissive are HEINOUS sins—the killing of innocents—as is homosexuality (Levit. 20).

The three abortion exceptions can’t be placed on the same immoral status at abort like a sport, though they are still killings.

No one in their right mind can say that using the morning after pill is as evil as partial birth abortions (or deciding to abort before the fetus has a heartbeat, etc.).

Again, you preach to the choir on abortion, and the culture gets missed, so that changes FEW attitudes! Get out into the world, and be with lost people!

If culture's attitudes will change to opposing abortion, you can't stay in a holy huddle. Your view is to let individual states ban all abortions.

Women in red states will DIY (i.e., do it themselves) with coat hangers, and the state will be liable for any deaths of fetus (maybe) or mother!

And red state taxpayers will pay for out-of-state abortions that red state women would be required to be able to access, using the equal protection clause of the Constitution; and red state taxpayers would likely have to pay all their expenses of bringing that child to birth/fruition for women forced to not abort, if disallowed to abort out of state.

Banning all abortions would place cops in the position of jailing or fining women who aborted (I presume the same sentence as murder, under pro-Trump pastor views).

And women would do it on the black market, even if red states didn't pay for them to get it done out of state.

Bottom line, your PERSONAL feelings based on the Bible (that are biblically accurate) do not understand U.S. law, or factor in the exceptions, or the woman's side of that decision! LEARN more!

THAT'S why I say that it's mainly political red meat to get out the church vote (mentioned the last week before election day), and Cruz LOST running on those views!

I believe these men sincerely hold their views that Texas (for example) should be able to ban all abortions, even reading the Constitution (and Bible).

Substantial federal interest is a term you NEED to Google search! This isn't a matter of Texas banning elevators, and Arkansas banning escalators. Those AREN'T substantial!

You need NOT become a lawyer to understand this, but you DO need to understand that pastors don't pass U.S. laws, and lawyers usually ultimately decide Constitutionality (the ONLY exception would be if any layman, or non-lawyer, was ever placed on the SCOTUS bench—irresponsible, but possible, in theory).

P.S.: That's nuanced liberal mumbo jumbo? NO. Your view, when applied to the law, is innocent, naive, simplistic, sincere ignorance of U.S. law. Sorry to have to say this!

P.S.S.: Life, liberty and the pursuit? The fetus IS alive (i.e., has life), but the U.S. has never given Constitutional rights until one is born a citizen.

The ten commandments say do NOT kill. Are we going to also make 'do not covet' a punishable governmental crime? How would you prove any violation?

And under Jesus' standard, even lusting in one's heart would be punishable—not just don't adulter. The U.S. doesn't fine or jail anyone for adultery, and has no-fault divorce laws. Would you stack SCOTUS for God's only to divorce exceptions?

U.S.A. is NOT a Christian theocracy! You can bring the Bible to the ballot box, but law makers are sworn ON it—not to it as governing law.

You want NO abortions. I do to, but it's UN-realistic. If you want LESS abortions, convince MORE women NOT to get one! States may be able to require viewing sonograms.

We NEED to have a primetime TV ad showing a live abortion, with discretion (i.e., blur details, but not enough to learn nothing).

Restricted access clinics (as in Texas) can't work to being the equivalent of denying women their Constitutional right (i.e., an undue burden on doctors or patients, as in travel costs and time, or doctors' expenses putting them outa profitability).

If you're going to have an abortion, the earlier the 'better' (i.e., less worse) for the baby! And IF you're going to have an abortion, God sees that decision—you're accountable to Him! Fear God.

Get THAT message to lost (and saved) women. A black lady at my own church said if a poor, pants-sagging, dreds-sporting black man impregnated your daughter—what?

If your daughter was raped? If your wife faced death if the fetus came to full term. If an uncle had sex with your daughter. Is it government's job to decide those issues?

And doctors are NOT investigators or prosecutors, to have to decide to do the procedure if there's sufficient proof the woman was raped vs. just sexually promiscuous! THINK better.

Government's only legal choice is to ban all, allow all, or let states make that decision. NOT to say rape and incest victims' doctors can abort (or the mother's life exception).

P.S.S.S.: I DON'T hear such pastors (to be CONSISTENT) publicly denouncing gay marriage, and loudly seeking its overturning! Why not sermons on that, if so brave?

Use Levit. 20 and Rom. 1, and talk to the media about that—not just about Chump! Your churches would be targeted by protesters! Have the courage of your convictions!

The legal term 'precedent' comes to mind. SCOTUS loses credibility willy-nilly changing laws back and forth based on politics—I'm not sure they ever have.

There's a nearly 40-year precedent of Roe v. Wade as U.S. legal precedent. We LOST. We can make iterative gains, but face the facts that gay marriage was also LOST!

No one wants SCOTUS flip-flopping on Constitutional rights every four to eight years, or justices being politicized!

Gay marriage MAINLY passed because culture had changed. Culture has NOT changed pro banning all abortions! That's the seed ground. We can't just force our wants by SCOTUS-stacking! Change culture. Experience revival.

The HARD part of changing culture is that as prophecy arrives, sin will be increased. There's MUCH work for the church to do OUTSIDE its man-made walls! GO and TELL vs. come and hear.

IF abortion were murder under our laws, crazies who shoot abortion doctors would have a legal defense.

Un-thinking Christians give Jesus a BAD name, as if salvation requires checking your brain at the door! Love God with ALL your mind—NOT just all your heart!

SIMPLETONS would (and will) simply read, then ignore this argument about abortion, because answers/solutions aren't their agenda—but getting Chump elected!

U.N. vs. UN-HINGED! (#TAKE THE KNEE)

(9/23-25/17)

Five Christian Leaders' Reactions to Trump's UN Speech: 'Trump Was Churchill'
(<http://bit.ly/2wdOpT1>)

Four of the five 'Christian leaders' have been stumping for Chump as political operatives for his political campaign for many months. [private account comment] TRUTH

I am deeply saddened as to what has happened to America's evangelical church, and the heresy that it seems to embrace. [another private account comment]

Why is it relevant what Graham, Jeffress, Huckabee and Moore say? They've been never ceasing in their praise for DT. Erikson has some credibility... [yet private account comment]

The Christian Cabal is INEPT at disciplining the fake Christian!: 'Tell That Son of a Bh He's Fired': Trump Blasts NFL Anthem Kneelers [Twitter Moment]

.@fhunscripted I'm sure you're proud of our president tweeting that NFL owners should fire any players kneeling at the national anthem, as 'SOB's'—NOT!

Better is NO kneeling at our national anthem, because America has picked up the conversation and addressed racial injustices. But that's NOT going to happen much. #TakeAKnee

If a coach can't kneel at a high school game, no one should be able to in an NFL game. You either can or can't, for whatever your cause may be! #PlayTheGames

TRUTH: NO NFL kneelers by doing so have caused one life in any 'hood to be improved. THAT is what needs improving! Move beyond attention-getting to change!

#PettyPresident! Undignified, unpresidential, unprincipled (unless General Kelly gets through to him, on occasion). The CHRISTIAN [Steph Curry] is disinvited by the FAKE Christian.

.@StephenCurry30 Keep up the great work, REAL Christian! Fake Christian's invitation to the people's house meant nothing. He doesn't own it. #ProudOfYou

Amen!

You bum @StephenCurry30 already said he ain't going! So therefore ain't no invite. Going to White House was a great honor until you showed up! (Lebron James' tweet)

SAD day in the U.S.A. when the head of a game is smarter than the head of a nation! Great job, @nflcommish #KeepTheSanity

Chump is ticking off the NFL and NBA. This man-child has GREAT political skills/instincts—NOT! Buffoon Ba-fool! Represent ALL Americans, moron-in-chief!

NO ONE is deceived between #TrueTrump and #TeleprompterTrump! Tweets VS. Kap [Kaepernick] and Curry vs. SCRIPTED U.N. speech thoughts of OTHERS with a brain! Skitzo!

DJT has united Curry and Lebron, and three professional sports, even the NFL CEO with the player's union. He truly is a uniter after all. Everyone needs an enemy!

Dissent is the highest form of patriotism. —Howard Zinn

The price of apathy towards public affairs is to be ruled by evil men. —Plato

A post criticized professional players engaged in #TakeTheKnee as spoiled brats. So pay them enough to stay quiet? Money has NOTHING to do with doing what's right, do-do.

.@Kaepernick7 Chump has unintentionally done for your effort more than anyone but you to advance your cause of bringing attention to many black struggles.

I'm as pro-America as you can get, but I also see her faults quite clearly. The flag is a SYMBOL, and free speech and a more perfect union are also what it stands for.

#TakeTheKnee is NOT an insult to our hero vets and active military! They defend our right to improve our nation, vs. others changing it from the outside, by force.

Insulting the military would be knocking down Arlington National Cemetery headstones, or spitting on vets. #TakeTheKnee is NOT even like flag burning.

Respect for America NEVER means you believe she's perfect! That's worship, and only one entity deserves that idolatry—God, not country. USA #1! #TakeTheKnee

Men and women DIED for our country, and no one should disrespect her, or their sacrifice! Respect does NOT mean you don't address problems needing solving!

Fire president 'SOB's' who disgrace America! #TakeTheKnee

DT is ONLY getting on a bandwagon trend of low NFL attendance, to say he caused it, later! Everything I about me and ratings (<http://fxn.ws/2wdlSNd>) #FoxNews

In a narcissistic way, somewhere in that sick LITTLE mind, DJT probably eats up the attention caused by his inane comments! ANYthing for attention; insecure!

I WISH every NFL player, today, would #TakeTheKnee, more than anything else to show Chump we do NOT like HIM disrespecting our nation!

If any cop or military thinks #TakeTheKnee is a protest against them, it's a tribute to America and their service, which includes protecting freedom of expression.

Communist countries demand fidelity to national pomp and circumstances (under threat of punishment)—NOT democracies! I love U.S.A. as much as anyone.

Would Chump call for Coach Joe Kennedy's firing for kneeling at a football game? No, because publicly honoring God is good, but decrying racism is bad?

Everyone who adores status quo ALWAYS says there's a better time and place! Activists learn how to get attention so people start talking about their cause(s).

MLK marched. Rosa Parks sat in a bus front seat. Protests and change efforts do NOT start by doing what's normal and acceptable, or they get IGNORED!

To get a national conversation started, in order to elicit any needed change, you DON'T get media coverage doing what the crowd does! They won't cover that. #TakeTheKnee

White supremacists USED to criticize Malcolm X and Louis Farrakhan for not being non-violent. Now even peaceful protests are not O.K.? #MLK #TakeTheKnee

If any NFL player or owner truly takes offense at #TakeTheKnee, wear flag clothing today! Don't try to suppress free speech. Peaceful coexistence!

FoxNews is claiming free speech doesn't exist at work. False. It's everywhere in the U.S.A, you just may suffer consequences for when and where. Fox gets facts wrong? Shocking.

I am SO impressed with Goodell, Kraft and Firestone-Ford, I'm going to watch some NFL today! I don't, often, as too busy—just the highlight reels, usually.

I PRAY that professional soccer, ice hockey, baseball and NASCAR #TakeTheKnee this weekend! Show unity against Trump disrespecting U.S. diversity of thought!

AWESOME! #TakeTheKnee DT has unified people who were LITERALLY on the sidelines! NO MORE spectator or bench warmer sports of life's injustices, PLEASE!

My FAVORITE part of NFL games USED to be highlights, or the last ten minutes. Today it's going to be the first ten minutes! #TakeTheKnee @NFL

Standing, locked arms is a great compromise! Shows unity, respect, yet also something other than just status quo—ignoring Kap's+ concerns!

Chris Collinsworth just said Chump should apologize for his 'SOB' comment. DT never apologizes about anything, from pride. That is NOT Christian values!

UNDERstatement of the year. A little more is actually a LOT more—like some would be a significant change! That's saying it like it is, vs. P.C.!:

Sean Payton on the President: "I think we need a little bit more wisdom in that office"
<http://bit.ly/2fmDDmz>

DISrespect of the U.S. flag is from burning, trampling, dragging it on the ground, maybe flying a tattered one, or wearing it. NOT kneeling before it, Chump! @POTUS

Our country ISN'T a flag—the flag is a SYMBOL of our country. You disrespect America by joining ISIS, giving intel to our enemies (i.e., traitors), or trying to destroy America with BAD policies.

Hero! @DaleJr [Earnhardt] Censorship favors those in power. The minority (of any type—not just race!) isn't trampled by the majority under U.S. laws. #MyAmerica

All Americans are granted rights to peaceful protests. Those who make peaceful revolution impossible will make violent revolution inevitable. —JFK

Jerry Jones says the national anthem is NOT the right time or place. NAME when and where to get media attention and a U.S. conversation started vs. having it STIFLED? Specifics!

Culture, politics and sport—people write books about that... The discussion has to take place... Race is the big elephant in the room. There has to be an uncomfortable element in the discourse for anything to change. White people... we still have no clue what being born white means. It's like you're at the 50 meter mark in a hundred yard dash. You've got that kind of lead, because you were born white. [Those advantages] have been built up and cemented for hundreds of years. People want to hold their position. People want the status quo. They don't want to give it up. And until it's given up, it's not 'gonna be fixed. —Gregg Popovich (9/25/17)

USING SHEEP AS PARROTS

(8/29/18)

It must be HARD to be a moron, believing anything someone famous says, or any lie someone more educated than you says, like people following the Christian Cabal, who are sinning, and their aim is the sin of IN-justice and biased favoritism on SCOTUS, disobeying God for a good desire—to see no more fetuses killed.

To the unlearned, sometimes you have to spell out common sense. Liberals and conservatives on SCOTUS balance their extremes out, so the rational, decent, moral, right decision is made by anyone not swayed by political bias, left or right. The Christian Cabal isn't following God's order, but the Devil's.

Does God say women be damned—save all unborn babies, at any and all costs (including your morals)? Does God ONLY care about the unborn, or also the born? The Christian Cabal says to pregnant women, you are inferior, vs. an equal with the unborn. You are NOT made in God's image, but they are. You can go to Hell—just don't abort! You're unforgivable.

Let's address if Texas banned all abortions. From fear, there would be less sex, lest it lead to pregnancy, and costs, pains and hassles increase, since safe abortions would be many, many miles away. East and West coasts, or maybe New Mexico, eight+ hours away. The Christian Cabal is prying into your bedroom practices!

I know nothing about contraception options, but do _ches don't stop egg fertilization (<http://Kidshealth.org>). We ALL want no abortions, but we don't want sex only for family creation, by force of law. You ought to ask Christian Cabal, IF they still have sex, how do they guarantee no more kids? From being too old?

People have gotten pregnant with tubes tied. The problem is that conception happens, if you have sex, as a real possibility—even if you're responsible in family planning. Here's an article to make abortions in America ZERO: <https://bit.ly/2z7x5VN> People don't think as much as feel when sex is involved! Use your brain, folks.

If you're ambivalent about becoming a mom, and you're pregnant, you can always be a mom when you're sure, so use Plan B before three days expire! Here are the REALities of pregnancy MALES can't understand, as old ones clamor to force all women to birth unwanted kids: <https://bit.ly/2N9UOY5>

I would LOVE to see a poll of how many people for banning all abortions NEVER risked unwanted pregnancy. Unless you're a virgin when you marry (the ideal), you risk it. ASK ABORTION BANNING advocates if they were virgins on their wedding night! If they weren't, there may be some form of hypocrisy going on, as technologies can fail.

The SAME sinful attitude that said 'let them eat cake' is behind let families be separated (at the border), and let women suffer through pregnancy, but never use Plan B, or have options if they are raped, incested, or the mother's life is at stake! Intolerant, uncaring, hateful legalistic judgmental aloof harshness!

And it's FOOLish to say God is opposed to contraception! Why would God oppose technology that prevents unwanted babies, while doing no harm to any baby? It's the HEIGHT of IR-responsibility to risk having tons of kids, AS IF that means you're more blessed than others, abusing Ps. 127:5. Can you pay for them all?

Sexual promiscuity and abusive porn addictions+ are rampant in America. Any abortion not for the three exceptions is morally evil, but America doesn't ban all sins—even all serious ones.

If red states want to ban them all (vs. the three exceptions), it raises about as many problems as it solves, un-thinking advocates.

Anti-abortion extremists call it "murder." IF that were true, you'd be legally justified stopping it, by killing the murderer! They also parrot "baby killers." If any creepy old man were shooting babies in a nursery or daycare, all of society would tackle and strangle him. They are NOT 100 PERCENT THE SAME!

P.S.: I've said on MANY occasions, that if the U.S. majority wanted Roe overturned, that would be the last time, and I wouldn't oppose it IF and ONLY IF red states fairly allowed their females access equal to those in blue states. That means no serious obstacles NOT overcome, like travel and medical costs.

III-F4. TRUMP VOTERS

ASSORTED ISSUES

MANY who voted for Chump want the REST of America to accept him, overlook his past, 'give him a chance,' and stop pointing out his MANY flaws.

Let's ANALYZE that desire. They want everyone else to forgive what he's NEVER asked forgiveness for. They want collective America to conveniently forget FACTS!

They want agreement, peace and harmony, just like they NEVER gave Obama, as they fought him tooth-and-nail, and gave him little chances to succeed—HYPOCRISY and a double standard.

They want people to agree with Chump's good and bad ideas (especially all within their own party), which is RIDICULOUS.

They want what embarrasses them about their vote to just go away, and they are calling for everyone to accept Chump dogma, when the man hadn't many cogent thoughts for 16+ months. NOT 'GONNA HAPPEN, even among GOP's!

It's TRULY their FEAR that he is NOT a winning commodity next go-round (which is astutely true and obvious). It's party loyalty over principles and values!

Hypocrisy and double standards seem to be the number one sins of D.C.! WHO (by percent) was it who in their hearts HATED a black man in the top job?

They'd NEVER admit it publicly, but I'm privy to conversations with white conservatives in the South, and lie detectors could reveal a lot. True, they also HATE government spending too much, too!

Chump will NEVER get over how he ran his campaign, and his first two months! Sometimes, you screw up too many times for even a forgiving nation to continue to turn a blind eye.

His policies and temperament are NOT unifying, so Trumpster whining will NEVER convince a U.S. majority they need to hop on board the train wreck!

And it is ALL self-induced! No one put a gun to Chump's head and forced him to FAIL more times than the past five living presidents' campaigns and first two months!

Incompetence and immorality (the two I's), predicated on arrogance (which WON'T seek intelligence reports or admit failings) are of his OWN doing—solely!

And beyond the U.S. majority, how about the world community? I doubt any head of state but Putin (for selfish strategic reasons) actually respects Chump as a person! The office—YES.

WHY is that? Is every head of state that anti-American biased, or could it ALL relate ONLY to Chump himself? The latter.

It is EXACTLY what I predicted—angry white, less-educated people, and anti-RINO GOP's wanted to vent. FEW rational thoughts, but just angry emotion in 2016!

Giving the middle finger to establishment Washington, caring NOTHING about the quality of messenger they'd pick to do that job. Now it's biting them in the you know where!

And LEST you believe I voted for Obama or Hillary—I did not! I simply see how horrible Chump alone is, and those who avidly love him!

That's NOT all GOP's, or even all Trump voters, but this venting election those type GOP's became the minority. In politics, the minority has little power, so they're less vocal, for now.

Nothing changed in their core beliefs—they just acknowledge the political reality that they didn't have the numbers this go-round, so they lost out in their own party!

What baffles me is anyone claiming a conscience who can stifle it so often to have freely voted for Chump! That conscience was WEAK or you worked HARD to ignore its red flags.

Your sense of morals HAD to agonize you in your private deliberations, and your prayers didn't help, either, as you knew what God thought about Chump! Sin reigned.

Rather than NOT vote (as I did), or support Hillary (which I would have if I had any inkling Chump would win), you chose the sin-to-win strategy of the Devil!

All for policy, you claim, but Chump had FEW, and fewer than anyone else of the other 16 GOP's, and you can say he was anti-abortion, but his WHOLE life he was NOT for such, so it was insincere politicizing to get your vote to advance SELF! You don't care, because it saves fetus' lives? That's NARROW, but noble.

Politics is NOT all about saving fetuses, as important as that is. There are other ways, too, and government doesn't exist solely to prohibit all abortions!

And for those type of Trump voters, WHERE WAS YOUR OPPOSITION TO ABORTION SINCE REAGAN? It's opportunistic DECADES later for many of you! Hypocrisy!

That's a MIRAGE for many to justify many other evils in the smoke screen of one moral issue (moral to you, for certain)! And I expose it and call such parties out for doing so, so I'm a traitor? To some, perhaps yes.

I'll say again, WHERE ARE THE COURAGEOUS TRUMP VOTERS WHO HATE GAY MARRIAGE? The public tide shifted so you retreated—except on abortion! HYPOCRISY!

And I am NOT saying to overturn either, as they are the law of the land and public sentiment would have to want that in a majority—it DOESN'T, now!

You will NOT get the majority to want gay marriages severed, likely EVER. Roe overturned? Unlikely you'll succeed at convincing the U.S. majority to that view.

The Supreme Court does NOT vote black, then white, then black again. EVERYONE in the world would see them ONLY as a political hack group if they did!

So gay marriage is here to stay—forever—and if Roe were ever overturned, it would stay states' rights forever thereafter. Trump can't change that!

The day any president stacks the Supreme Court (SCOTUS) for any one position, then predecessors do the same, our Constitution means NOTHING! LIVE WITH IT—gay marriage is here to stay, and Roe is likely on the books for a very long time—unless court stacking/politicizing infects SCOTUS, so they lose credibility.

If you succeed at convincing the U.S. majority to make abortion a state's rights issue, SCOTUS would have to decide OPPOSITE their earlier ruling (precedent), and I don't see enough women being willing to abandon that out from an unplanned pregnancy anytime soon.

That DOESN'T means it's moral, but they don't want to endanger their own lives as punishment for poor judgment in the heat of passion! I wish you well trying to convince enough minds, but politicizing SCOTUS isn't the answer.

THINK about it from a non-Christian woman's perspective—Religious people are trying to force her to take a baby to term, when she isn't of that religion!

That causes resentment against Jesus, who wrongly takes blame for your morally wrong court-stacking ambitions.

Rather than try to convince women to NOT have abortions, you use immoral means to achieve those ends! This fact is not lost on lost women.

It IS their life more than yours, but also the baby's. You're defending the innocent, to the detriment of the birthed (mother). They're doing the opposite.

IF no woman ever got pregnant, unintentionally, this problem wouldn't exist! You want laws forcing contraception (even though it is not fool proof), even though Catholics don't want that?

Enforcement would be a laughable thing to consider! Mandatory chastity belts? Forced contraception for every of-age female?

Your best bet is to consider these ideas, and decide to convince women out of it if you are so adamant or inclined, and influence public opinion—JUST as gays did regarding gay marriage acceptance!

Yes they used state courts, one at a time, but Roe was already NATIONAL law. Gay marriage WASN'T. You can't un-do SCOTUS rulings at the state supreme court levels!

I can tell you one thing... Billboards graphically depicting the horrors of a discarded aborted fetus likely don't win people to that view.

In West Texas, many billboards addressed the anti-abortion messages LESS graphically, yet some people think that's not enough.

Conversations with pregnant women are much closer to the issue, but you'd have to know one! Anti-abortionists usually meet them on the outskirts of Planned Parenthood clinics. That's really too late in most cases!

We've written enough on this topic to cover nearly every sub-issue. Our book will clump them all in one place. Until then, re-read that, and reconsider your strategy!

And STOP using the sacredness of an innocent to cover up sins in your own party! That's like Hugh Hefner donating to charity. It covers and distracts.

The Bible teaches to use the WHOLE counsel of God vs. cherry picking. I advise you do the same when it comes to NOT being a party loyalist to any one party!

You can weigh them, on balance, but with gay marriage and abortion OFF the table for now, the MORAL differences are NOT as profound as your traditions tell you.

And the Bible itself teaches that traditions are ONLY as good as their SUBSTANCE! So, historic and emotional ties mean NOTHING compared to MORALS!

BASIC NEEDS OF TRUMP'S BASE

(10/29/16)

The reason Chump has done so well is many angry, less-educated whites fear for their livelihood from educated and unskilled immigrants!

Job pressures from smart labor imports, which take good-paying jobs, that trickles down lower pay to them, then illegals take low-paying jobs, lowering their wages, as well, by oversupply.

THIS was to be the year GOP conservatives got revenge on Romney and McCain RINO losses. It's REALLY eating them up that Chump's gaffes are killing his chances!

If you're a non-college educated white male, globalism HAS screwed up your finances! Jobs shipped away, and more people fighting for the remaining U.S. jobs!

I TRULY believe our government OWES you a program that helps you in every way to be able to succeed in college, even if you have a lower IQ! THEY stole your jobs!

If our government doesn't care for the welfare of CITIZENS, and favors citizens of OTHER nations, that's traitorous, even if U.S. lobbyists pushed for it!

What some call the 'hicks, red necks, white trash, good 'ol boys' MUST become of concern to us all—NOT just the poor and struggling blacks and minorities!

The ONLY Americans who benefitted from globalism are the rich elites who got richer off slave labor-type wages from China and India—NOT American workers!

MOST of you weren't alive then, but I worked in the industry. Dems demanded high union wages; the GOP gave them an ultimatum to accept lower wage concessions, or jobs would leave the country.

Dems balked, and manufacturing jobs LEFT for $2/day workers elsewhere. The rust belt SANK as a result. Blame politicians and big business!

Then with liberals in charge of the White House, legal and illegal OVER-immigration to get VOTES further killed U.S. worker job opportunities!

Legal immigrants favor the GOP, as they are educated and have some money, but even a glut of them forces wages DOWN. Economists call it supply and demand-over-supply! An employer's market!

Junky jobs get eaten by illegals, good jobs by legals, and any without a college education in America get screwed! You live it—you know I'm telling the TRUTH!

One guy once told me if everyone got a college education, we'd just have college-educated taxi drivers. Business wants FEW good-paying jobs, as they are an expense!

And with robots, expect big government to continue, as there become fewer and fewer jobs! The ONLY ones who benefit are rich business owners who buy robots and control money in America.

Expect a LITERAL revolt against the U.S. rich, who may try to move away before then. These are mere trend patterns—it takes no unique insight to see them coming!

YET, conservatives HATE taxing the rich more. Either they benefit from it financially, or politically, but it's evil either way! THINK, America!

That's the American way? That's the American way to screw (vs. love) your neighbor, and end our greatest nation, with a few elites getting it all—to Hell with the rest!

And with inheritance laws, they can keep their stash in-house, and all in the family for generations, and lobby that no one else ever touches one thin dime! Conservatism!

You can't tell me that Bill Gates and Warren Buffet type rich people are on moral equal ground with those who haven't signed the Giving Pledge! No one can rebut this!

BLUE COLLAR REPUBLICANS

(8/28/16)

It's UNDERSTANDABLE that you're MAD that your former union manufacturing job is gone for good, and your city may be more run down now. That's business... tough, uncaring, real.

NO politician can change that we're in a competitive world! Unless businesses are controlled by government, they'll always hire the best their money can buy. You need to be that!

Trump CAN'T change that! The good jobs that left are likely mainly gone for good, and immigrants here that are citizens and have a college education aren't (predominantly) leaving!

You still can be a great worker and get raises and promotions, and work overtime, but if you're an average worker, unions won't help you get overpaid anymore!

If you were a business owner with a high-paying job to offer, you'd get the best person to fill it anywhere you could. If you only have a high school education, EXPECT somewhat lower pay, over time.

CHRISTIAN TRUMP SUPPORTERS

(12/24/16)

This is a must read for all true Christians (Hint: Not all claimers are such)—<http://bit.ly/2iftfgx> My ONLY response to that Christianity Today article is HOW can Christians support such an evil man in Jesus' name? GOP and its platform—YES. Him? NO way, with a good conscience!

That article didn't explain that a MAJORITY of U.S. Christians are "nominal" in their commitment to Christ. Statistics (and maybe your own observations?) PROVE it. THAT's why Chump was OK for them.

DO a poll per church; how many daily read God's word, say they're fully committed disciples, pray, and evangelize regularly? You'd be SHOCKED if you do!

These are NOT legalistic check boxes. These are HOW you grow as a Christian! Ps. 199:9-11 et al. Speak with God, He speaks to you, be committed, and tell others about Him.

Regarding their statement on any being 'soft' on abortion, it is not being soft to say that government can't and shouldn't ban all abortions, but women should NOT kill their babies! That's NOT soft!

The article also NEVER spoke of MY type of Christian regarding politics—common sense centrists. I'm opposed to BOTH extremes (in most cases). Where were WE in that article?

Many liberals are wrongly turned off to God, because they're rightly turned off to Christians. Enough said. Re-read that until you get (and fix) it.

Someone please explain to me Christians for Trump's standard below which they would NOT support a GOP nominee if the platform was as it was this year! Detail how badly you ACCEPT politicians behaving!

I allege that Trump Christians would have voted for Hitler! They HATE that claim, but Hitler HID his evils, so you could be deceived. Trump never did!

WHAT's the difference between voting for a trained monkey or robot, if Trump's sins bother Christians NONE, because others can put good words in his mouth?

It is 100 percent TRUE: Trump Christians WOULD have voted for Hitler if this were an earlier era! His evils were exposed AFTER gaining power.

HOW bad did Trump have to be until a TRUE Christian said before God, 'that's too much—I can't support that and still honor You?' His sins in one year total ten times all five past GOP presidents!

It's ALL about policy. We don't care if Hugh Hefner ran and won the GOP nomination (and he's provably a 'good' business man); the voters would have spoken. Some U.S. pastors would argue that—you KNOW it's true.

Party over principles; power over morals; fame and money over reputation; THESE are the lessons of GOP yes men who act like loyal S.S. to Adolf #3 (Chump)!

Your political party is NOTHING to God! Your platform, as well, if it's NOT going to be implemented. Trump NEVER even referenced it, GOP's! Foolishness!

The Democrat party, the Republican party—NEITHER mean one iota to God. They're BOTH imperfect, failed and need righteousness to reign in them. That is NOT the case now!

It's also NOT about how rich or famous you are. That does NOT make you a hero or a leader. If U.S. voters remain ignorant, there goes our nation! EDUCATE our citizens!

Trump is a FAILURE in the number one and two arenas of life—spirituality, then morality, which makes him a LOSER before God. THIS is ‘gonna’ repeat (Exodus 9, where God made a ‘king’ play the fool to God’s delight).

As HARD and as much as Chump will TRY to act like he never ran a campaign like he did, God sovereignly will give him hoof-in-mouth disease!

The ONLY hope U.S.A. has is that his handlers keep him OUT of the spotlight, and force him to pre-record scripted speeches. We’re doomed if he can be himself!

Christians who say Hillary would have increased abortion funding, and allowed any and all partial birth abortions, hurt Israel, and been weak on the economy and military delude themselves.

I’d MUCH rather have a moral politician whose policies I disagree with maybe half the time (like Obama), than an immoral Chump with ZERO policy details or intelligence for 7/8ths of his entire campaign! Anyone can be educated in the job by others—that’s no talent!

Responding to the conciliatory Christianity Today article, I MUST state what they left out... MORALS are the FOUNDATION to policies and leadership!

If a politician has no morals, they’ll lie, spin, be ambiguous, back track, deny past statements, promise then change—ALL of which Chump has ALREADY done!

WHAT MORE did he have to do or say to convince "religious" WRONG (vs. right) voters that he was unsupportable, to keep a good conscience before God? Kill and rape?

Let us vote for evil and proselytize for morality? It DOESN’T work that way, and NO lost person with any IQ can’t see through such hypocrisy, Trump voter "Christians."

CHRISTIANS FOR TRUMP

(12/23/16)

Why would a Christian have voted for Chump? Sin and undiscerning ignorance. It got JUSTIFIED as supporting a better platform, and Democrats as atheists and for all abortions and gay sex.

The YUGE lack of morals in Chump was NOT a problem for the four out of five Christians who voted for Chump, when morals are the number one thing their religion supports them being for.

You can preach holiness on Sunday but vote evil on Tuesday? THAT'S CALLED HYPOCRISY! The only other choice was to vote for Hillary? Don't vote for the top slot—I didn't!

A vote for Chump is SUPPORTING insulting minorities, POW's, women, Muslims, Hispanics, and all his sins of word and deed! Power more important than morals, to apostates.

You CANNOT refute the logic in our following tweet! Your seared conscience will simply ignore it rather than let God teach you truth through it, Chump Christians:

It's work, but this will remain our second "pinned" tweet for the entirety of Chump's one-term presidency: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>

RATHER than support Chump's MANY, consistent, NEVER apologized or repented of evils, I changed political parties the day he won! #NeverTrump EVER.

Craving power access and power idolatry are SINS, Christians for Chump! You truly would have voted for Hitler, as he was coy about his evils before being in power!

I've heard the HANDFUL of pastors for Chump say they have standards, and wouldn't vote for just anyone. Keep deluding yourselves; your moral credibility's SHOT!

For the lower IQ'd, let's explain my Hitler claim. Hitler's evil tendencies were hidden; Trump's were OBVIOUS. Yet some Christians voted for blatant evil!

This is EXACTLY how the Antichrist will rise—READ the details! He will not be as stupid as Chump to make his evils obvious. Will Christians be for him?

If true Christians voted for one as evil as Trump, an apostate church will likely support that one-world dictator. Desperate for a "savior," they will be for anything.

NAME ME five issues Trump clearly articulated that were RATIONAL, and haven't been taken back during his ENTIRE campaign? You voted for thin air!

If you believe Chump can be molded into the person you wanted to vote for, you haven't seen his habitual stubbornness! The arrogant one has NEVER repented. Duh! Why CHOOSE one NOT READY TO LEAD?

Christians for Trump TEACH their kids by example that to get good, vote for evil, winning is everything, and good sportsmanship is a farce! Role models? NO!

Yes men and party loyalists DON'T think for themselves! The DUMBEST sheep in the flock merely vote for party due to habit or tradition without THINKing!

Party over morals; personality over morals; power over morals; single-issue voting over morals. THAT'S a summary of Christians For Trump! That's also APOSTASY!

For our sins, God's judgment starts with His people, then our nation. I EXPECT both, relatively soon. I have NO idea when or how, but I'll be watching alertly.

You can argue we weren't electing a pope, but that 100 percent misses the point, that Trump was far morally worse than all politicians in both parties since I've been of voting age—and that was just for 7/8ths of his campaign! We still have four years to go.

WHAT'S it matter? His policies may be good. That thought is from Hell, as morals are FOUNDATIONAL to all good policies and any sincere politicians behind them!

A CURSORY Google search shows LOST people see Christ's name drug through the mud by Trump Christians! <http://bit.ly/2i2N0ef> It is OBVIOUS to all, unless you're DUPED!

You'd EXPECT this claim from a liberal, but the claim's true, nonetheless: <Http://bit.ly/2hzc4G1> DON'T reject TRUTH due to messenger (a Tit. 1:12-13 lesson)!

Christians for Trump HURT the cause of Christ! <http://nyti.ms/2ioaPtx> <http://bit.ly/2hkgcxs> His sin-to-win strategy worked, so pragmatism is (i.e., justifies) your moral standard?

About 50 percent of Christians (originally) DIDN'T support Chump, said Christianity Today. Thanks for your faithfulness to God for standing for morals and conscience more than sin! That's faithfulness.

Power idolatry, mainly for overturning Roe (which WON'T happen anyway). THAT's what motivated a handful of pastors to abandon their credibility.

If you stand for nothing you fall for anything! You have what you tolerate. When CHRISTIANS won't stand for morals and reject the MOST sinful GOP in 100 years, good luck!

If anyone knows prophecy, 'The Apostasy' precedes the Antichrist's revelation. I consider Christians voting for Chump to be a MAJOR step in that direction (II Th. 2:3).

Apostasy: The abandonment or renunciation of a religious or political belief. Falling away from morals for power FITS that descriptive definition.

Second Bible concept for Christians who voted for Trump: Idolatry is the sin of putting anything above God, like power over morals voting for Chump! Repent.

Romans 6:1 SHOWS anyone with a brain that bringing good through an evil man (i.e., Trump) is NOT God's will! WHO CARES? We wanted power vs. trusting in God?

DE-PROGRAMMING AVID TRUMPSTERS

(7/2/18)

How do you converse with, convince or debate a tRump cult member, who have NO morals or brain power? (Rom. 12:18) I truly believe there is SOME humanity, conscience and thoughts in their heads, but I've never studied cult de-programming techniques: <https://bit.ly/2KGOvtw> "Slogans shut down critical thinking" #maga

I'm going to waste my time to analyze how one Trump cultist "reasoned:" 1. Slogans are power. 2. Anyone anti-Chump is a left-wing liberal, and all opponents must be Democrats. 3. Abbreviating words on Twitter indicates lack of intelligence. 4. Responding to allegations with content isn't possible—only insults.

In other words, there is no middle ground, tRump ONLY does good things, any opposition is wrong and evil, don't engage debates when content is required, as #maga is your argument proof, ignore questions and criticisms... just stand firm with brain-washed loyalty. THIS is the tRump cult: NO intelligence or integrity!

tRump cultists CAN'T debate our Twitter-pinned argument, CAN'T admit any faults in The Chump, have yet to list many if any positive actions he's done, can't agree any decent policies he stumbled into happened after he was elected. In other words, they are loyal to him JUST like Nazis were... 100 percent blind faith!

EVANGELICALS & POLITICAL CONSERVATISM

(4/6/18)

Money, dinero, moolah—the almighty dollar, the American idol; money talks, and money makes the world go round (Ecc. 10:19). In politics, almost ALL issues involve money, tax dollars, your money sent to Washington. Money is the CORE difference between liberals and conservatives. America is NOT, now, ‘one nation under God,’ but under gold!

Christians, you would think, would care what God teaches on money, and with their claims that Jesus is their 'Lord,' doesn't that mean He is to be number one their lives?; that is, in EVERY area of their lives—their business, sex, entertainment, family life, church-going, finances, exercise, chores, and even POLITICS? A definitive YES!

But, in many instances, their patriotism trumps their devotion to God, and the Constitution (in their interpretation) trumps their claimed beloved Bible! What do I mean? In that Bible, worldliness is denounced (I Jn. 2:15-17). That is, living for the here-and-now; specifically idolizing money, sex, and the sin of pride that often associates with those two sinful idols (trophy wife, womanizing, arrogance that one is rich, etc.).

Bill Gates and Warren Buffett are 'heroes' for doing what God told ALL rich people to do... be generous with their excess. Yet Christians respect but despise those two men's political stance on money! Giving back is "liberal," or Socialism. Of course, to clear a conscience, we'll donate a little (by percent of net worth) to charity, and we brag if we are "tithers," as if 10 percent of our income EVER helps anyone other than paying pastor salaries and building costs. Society's MANY problems are HARDLY, if at all, benefitted from a tithe!

It ALL boils down to taxes! And, YES, the Bible says leave an inheritance (Pv. 13:22), but that very same Bible says DON'T spoil your kids! (Pv. 13:24) My point? No one but the rich can easily afford MORE taxes taken out of their possession!

If government were FULLY streamlined, where anyone could see it never wasted precious dollars, never over-paid for things, enriched politicians (at the public's expense) or bought services we don't need, no one should have any problem with the rich paying in more!

Chump's IDIOTIC tax gift mainly to the rich HURTS America, down the road. We are like the frogs in boiling water. We won't figure that out until it's too late, or the next generation has to pay the piper—China. This is IRRESPONSIBLE and selfish (sin). But WHO CARES?

I heard about CHUMP'S "pass thru" tax provision which even I might benefit from. No one sends in charity checks to Uncle Sam! It would be STUPID. So taxes that pay for legitimate services HAVE to be gathered from people with money. Homeless people can't pay them! And those with excess are the number one logical source, NOT to 'punish success,' as Lame-baugh asserts, and NOT to tax them out the wazoo, or into the middle class, but NO other class is SURE to be able to ever retire!

Mark Levin said of Buffett, he is 'self-loading.' I don't give one darn what your religion is, or lack thereof...no one who knows common sense, OR the Bible, can argue that to love yourself, live for money, Mark! That's the OPPOSITE of what God teaches, and even NON-religious people are smart enough, absent the Bible, to know that society's problems cost money!

No one wants to pay for them, voluntarily, excepting the soft hearts who readily respond to emotional charity appeals, like the sick, sad abused dog commercials, and the like. WE ARE TAXED OUT with people wanting in our pockets, even for good causes! We ALL have families to feed!

'Self-loathing' is self-mutilation, not meeting nutrition or medical needs; NOT denying yourself, some money, so others might be O.K. in this life, Markie! And Jesus taught Christians that self-denial is the core of being a disciple! Selflessness. It is NOT chasing money, so you can 'bless' a few with token charity gifts.

81 percent of evangelicals sold their moral consciences to vote for SIN (i.e., Trump), BECAUSE between 70-90 percent of them are NOT disciples of Jesus. These are statistics from 35 years of tracking, and Wikipedia, more recently.

People who espouse political rightism do EVERYTHING to protect their nest eggs from any more taxes. Their nutty heroes (Ex.: Hannity) say people are losing their homes over taxes. I've never met a one. They hire lawyers and accountants to make the LEAST payments to our Treasury, and think CHUMP's tax break for millionaires was ingenious. IF they claim Jesus, they are acting as FOOLS!

No surprise, when 81 percent of them vie for that, when between 70-90 percent of them are living for self as number one in their lives, OPPOSITE Christ's commands. No surprise at all, but something Jesus would turn the tables on if He were physically here, as we saw Him do twice, when He was! Carnality, worldliness, money idolatry.

Let me perhaps bore you a little while to educate NON-Christians on EXACTLY what GOD says about the Christian and money, to show you the problem!: Jesus is supposed to be number one in a Christian's life (i.e., 'Lord'). In many ways, the rich young ruler IS the U.S. church, as his idol was money. Unlike Christians, he was striving to earn heaven by good works, but Jesus proves to him he hasn't done all he can to meet a works standard of moral perfection (Mk. 10:17-17).

Jesus goes on to say it is IMPOSSIBLE for people to be saved by good works, and that FEW rich people will be in heaven, likely because money was too important for them to be willing to get saved—a preoccupation with THIS life, just as II Th. 2:10 teaches that love of sin can keep people hell-bound.

What else does the Bible teach? You can't serve God and money (Mt. 6:24). So-called "Christians" who advocate the health and wealth false doctrine TRY to balance these two priorities, and say that if you're rich, you're serving God well. Pharisees, in Jesus' time, believed that same LIE.

In fact, that bunch of Christians say that God wants all Christians wealthy. LIE! He nowhere teaches that. If people actually read the Bible, they'd see that there can be poor, moderate and (rare) rich Christians. And the rich ones ought to be Christian role models in their behavior, but often aren't (i.e., for God to have entrusted them with such).

I Tim. 6:17-19 even tells Christians to tell ALL rich people (NOT just Christian ones) to be generous with their wealth. IS THAT WHAT POLITICAL CONSERVATISM espouses? Just the opposite!

It's YOUR money! Private property. Freedom, and the pursuit of happiness. Self-loathing to be generous. Government "steals" from us. Taxes are evil—try 2 avoid them at all costs! OPPOSITE of Jesus! (Rom. 13:6).

Do NOT take my word on anything... READ what God told us all. Pv. 23:4-5 teaches Christians that money is NOT to be their main goal in life! It even goes beyond that obvious fact, to places most Christians would never agree to. Open rebellion of culture over Christ, in their hearts! Carnality, hospitality and sinfulness.

How about Jas. 2:5? The poor are God-given to be rich in faith. Political conservatives ALWAYS demean poor people, but usually only in private circles, or on talk radio. Ne'er do wells, moochers, lazy, hand out Welfare queens, and the like. IS THIS LIKE JESUS? 100 percent NO! Are you surprised? You shouldn't be!

What about Jas. 1:10? To be rich is a LOW position before God, but a high position before man. WHO are Christians trying to please and impress more? If the answer is man, they are sinning! (Gal. 1:10).

WHO did Jesus denounce the MOST? The self-righteous, arrogant, and the rich. NOT the poor, unless they were lazy (Ex.: II Th. 3:10). READ Col. 3:1-4. Are Christians supposed to have money and worldly assets as their main focus in this life? Does their ministry output, time with God, and social improvement efforts show more a concern for others, or themselves? (Phil. 2:1-5).

Yes, it is money that America adores, and political conservatives believe that unless you worship greed (a sin), the economy won't be as good as it can be. And if you oppose their way of thinking, you are a Socialist or liberal. When push comes to shove, they really could care less about anything but money!

Pollution, regulations to protect consumers and employees, solving diseases, bad schools, Social Security going bankrupt; as long as government leaves them alone, they're happy. Ask them to lift a finger or give a dime (or d_mn)... don't tread on me! It's institutionalizing selfishness, and OPPOSITE of Jesus! (Mt. 25, et al).

II Cor. 8 and Ac. 4:32 show God's ideal society, though voluntarily. People cared for and about people. Conservatism cares mainly, if not only, for self, which means Christ is NOT the 'god' of political conservatism, in that aspect. In others, yes. NOT in tax policy!

If any person has enough money to live easily off conservative nest egg interest until they die, they OUGHT to sign the Giving Pledge—period! Anyone in any nation, religion, or political party. Just look at the GOOD Bill Gates (and Buffett's pledge of more than 99 percent of his wealth) is producing in this world.

You can no longer consider them heroes, but normal, and doing what God wants ALL rich people to do. They CERTAINLY are not self-hating, but people loving people. Hating others is keeping all excess to pamper self (Ecc. 5:13). Forget religion entirely on this point: problems usually cost money to fix. Political conservatism wants to fix NOTHING, unless profit can be had!

So, for any claiming Christian to be happy to be a political conservative shows they don't value God very highly! At the MINIMUM, they OUGHT to be fighting against this value in their political theory! Instead, at best, they remain silent, and consider it a necessary evil, for banning abortion, or things like that.

Do you HEAR this type BIBLICAL teaching, as it relates to APPLYING Scripture to ALL areas of a Christian's life, from U.S. pulpits? I rarely, if ever, have. It's because the Church is in bed with worldliness, for political power, to which I say 'anathema,' and may Jesus SOON overturn your money-changing mega temples!

LESS-EDUCATED REPUBLICANS

(7/7/16)

Note to frustrated less-educated white workers... I addressed your concern WELL before Trump saw that here (provable), and he CAN'T return your China jobs!

The only way any politician can return outsourced manufacturing jobs is for U.S. workers to accept ~$2/day jobs. ZERO business taxes WON'T change that! You've got to re-train!

The problem is they're less educated-so retraining's NOT their thing. Government can help with that, but if one's unwilling, global competition has destroyed your livelihood!

And it's ONLY going to get WORSE. Third world nations are learning if they get a LITTLE education and skills training, LOW wages are HIGH to them, so job losses trickle to wealthier nations!

Remedial education as far back as needed, and WELL beyond GED classes are NEEDED to help these folk get motivated to be educated and ready for THIS reality.

For those less-educated Republicans left behind in our modern economy, learn to buy cheap, budget, work many jobs or move to China if more education is impossible for you.

The answer is higher education you can afford, and tutoring help to succeed!

<http://on.msnbc.com/2ovMoAk> Globalism has harmed their job prospects! (Unpublished)

Budgeting, co-ops (i.e., bulk buying leverage), survivalist skills (Ex.: Gardening), how to buy for cheap, overtime, etc. Automation will destroy them. (Unpublished)

MIDDLE CLASS REPUBLICANS

(11/13/16)

To repeat, over-immigration (legal and non-), and over-outsourcing by business and the rich Scrooged your market-determined wage by manipulating supply! Evil!

If your economic system LEGALLY allows the rich to determine everything, you have an ungodly system, according to the principle of Levit. 19:15.

The ONLY thing between slavery and peanuts wages if minimum wage is ended is government! We the people vote in politicians favoring our views on policies! Do so!

How can good-paying jobs "return" to America? I'm NOT going to answer that here. You've got to pay for it in our business book; I NEVER help Chump with anything! I despise him.

NON-COLLEGE EDUCATED MIDDLE CLASS

(8/25/16)

Here's MY remedy for non-college educated Republicans: We're in a globally competitive economy. U.S. businesses need the best employees, so if you HATE the best talents being immigrated HERE, and best jobs often shipped OUT for cheaper labor—COMPETE! Be better than those competitors!

If you can't, and WON'T get a diploma, you better work multiple jobs, spend smarter, downsize your lifestyle, invest well, or start a successful business of your own.

Voting for Trump will NOT get you any change in who's ALREADY here or what good-paying jobs have already left America! Why would business pay you more than those people?

You lost out on the globalization and outsourcing bubble! Union and manufacturing high-wage jobs sort of died out. Your skills must keep up, or you fall back.

Why would a business bring jobs back here when they can pay less elsewhere? Why not immigrate better talent than to offer you a job because you were born here?

Your plight is NOT hopeless or helpless, but you have to compete and better yourself. Indians and Asians are here to apply for good jobs, and have U.S. jobs there!

If you owned a business and it was legal, you'd do the SAME thing with your hiring practices! Best talent for the least wage, any way that can be accomplished.

PRE-globalization there were pensions and $70/hour manufacturing jobs. Even Clinton's tax on departing businesses WON'T invest in wages that high!

You can do more than one thing in your life, NO MATTER your age! Retrain! I've done several things, so I know it's possible. Or, live a cheap lifestyle.

You don't HAVE to keep up with the Jones! Materialism vs. minimalism is touted in TV ads all the time in America. Don't buy the lie!

You don't need a tiny house existence, but find fulfillment in more than just things! If you're willing, do over-time and work 80 hours a week; you'll wear out.

Our book, Dumb as a Donkey, Fat as an Elephant has an entire chapter on how to live large and pay puny. LEARN! Avoid buying retail when you can.

Aside: Needed Buyer's App

Sometimes I fear the poorest are the most taken advantage of in business deals. I get taken, on occasion, with four college degrees. Imagine their plight!

In a perfect world all consumers would have perfect knowledge. IF they did, they'd always buy the best values. Someone needs to invent such an app!

You should be able to click an app and find comparison pricing on everything in real time, as with every discount, coupon and deal offered—INSTANTLY, Silicon Valley.

We NEED an app that leverages consumer buying power for every product, to buy in bulk with associated aggregation pricing! It works in my commercial energy business!

For example, 25 people in America want to buy the same widget. Individually, they pay $36. If an app had them offer a Groupon-like bid price of $25, they'd win vs. just business!

In a primarily individualistic society, that's counter-intuitive. Let's create a market for consumer purchasing vs. all solo buying that only blesses business!

NOT even like Ebay, where only one wins, and others lose. Give ourselves two weeks to secure as many buyers wanting the same product and submit bid price to multiple businesses on their behalf.

Healthcare as well. For example, everyone in DFW with a broken arm hits the app for that day, and all seek treatment at any doctor who discounts for bulk patients! Innovation.

If one doctor discounted 15 percent under the seemingly price-fixed/monopolistic going rate of all doctors, his practice would FLOURISH and he'd have to hire more doctors. The ADA and other doctors would HATE him!

Forget professional congeniality (or collusiveness). Make healthcare competitive! Lawyers did it—why not doctors? Offer assembly line quality at a discount; doctors mainly sign off on underling's work.

If but one doctor in America became nearly an overnight millionaire by discounting for bulk patients, with an assembly line-like business, many others would follow suit!

As much as legal, use the doctor at a MINIMUM. Eye laser surgeons already do this, as with some dermatology surgeons and many lawyers.

Dentists, doctors, eye care professionals. Often so over-priced! Let the competitive market take over vs. insurance companies and government bureaucrats, as with Medicare.

Sean Hannity's health savings accounts are a PIPE DREAM for the poor and somewhat for the middle class! Save as you will, without insurance, costs EXCEED its total quickly!

Hannity likes to tout saving all your life. What if health savings accounts were law tomorrow and you broke your foot the next day. UN-realistic, Sean!

Continued
(8/27/16)

HOW would you solve the 'hood?' Make them safer, cleaner, more educated and more motivated; rid them of negative influences to these goals! Easy goal, hard work.

The best businesses deserve the best employees, wherever they can be found—Imported to America or American jobs shipped (exported) to where they live. Be the best employee you can be.

Downsize expectations, buy smarter and in bulk, work multiple jobs, invest, and do what I've also advised and you can survive globalization.

As third world nations get education, downward wage pressures ONLY get worse! You have to adjust and know this. Learn how to think for yourself so you adjust well.

I predict a SURGE in government jobs, and higher taxes on the rich as this globalism increases, as the less desirable workers NEED jobs too.

With robotics, even more so. ONLY the owners of such machines profit from robot's labor, and sit in comfort. They'll outsource your job if they can! Think.

The people/masses, and especially the NON-college educated MUST unite their political voices to get the best for you that you can get from government policies!

Examples: NOT letting the rich over-outsource or over-immigrate cheap labor; NOT letting them have tax breaks or fight government jobs for any needy citizens!

Not letting business owners in any nation hire for peanuts (unsustainable/non-living wages). A GLOBAL people's union is necessary to combat trend forces HURTING your life prospects—soon.

NO place for the rich to stash their earnings (Ex.: Shelters/havens). Poor nations WILL lure them and their businesses away when education hits those nations!

Masses have to be educated enough to never just let the elites have all the fun, by hopping nation to nation to find what's ONLY best for them! UNITE, under-educated of the world!

We NEED everyone having a job who wants one, with as decent of pay as possible; we don't need lazy or uneducated workers (and need the best school systems for all), to beat other nations!

If you want America NOT to become a banana republic, vote to help the best American businesses to stay here, be the best employee you can be, and never let business do evil!

Forget politicians. We the people MUST unite for GOOD policies. I'm 4for America being number one, but NOT to the defeat of other nation's economies! Everyone needs a job!

If business doesn't need us all, or chooses to lay off in favor of robots, vote for government to either start competing businesses, or hire the remainder and tax the rich for it.

Give them no place to hide to run from responsibility to ensure ALL are cared for with a job (or survivalist skills) vs. elites in luxury, ignoring the rest.

Men like Bill Gates and Warren Buffet SEE the reason God gave them riches. MANY rich do NOT! They need to learn from we the people! #GivingPledge

A handful, percentage-wise, of rich people could conceivably hire a handful to do all the work needed for society, and the rest become homeless without our government!

I'm ALL for people who are able getting wealthy, but NOT without significant give back. That's where the American Dream conflicts with God's plan, via the Bible!

OPEN LETTER TO AVID TRUMP SUPPORTERS (Part I)

(12/24/16)

A SINCERE message to Trump voters: If you voted for him based on the GOP platform, you and I will agree on many points—a stronger national defense, religious liberty, morally opposing aborting at will, opposing judicial activism and illegal immigration, pro-Israel (EQUAL with non-radicalized Muslims), law and order.

You also had NO other choice as interesting! MANY GOP's were dull, scripted, and didn't light a spark; you wanted change in D.C., and I wrote three books about that WELL BEFORE he even entered the race! I even had four Twitter accounts devoted to it. My point is, on policy, we agree a lot.

But you can NOT believe him to be a good person, after all he said and did. Your support of him has CHANGED my life-long and now ex party affiliation from being the party of the religious right (morally right), values voters (Hillary ran a MUCH more moral campaign) or thinking prioritized greater than feelings, as you accuse liberals of doing!

I voted for ALL Republicans but 'Chump,' and you should have too! I KNOW that would have made Ms. Clinton president, for only four years, but a smart and decent person would have led our nation.

You REALLY brought religion into ill repute, and showed my former party to be full of many fact-deprived people. America can NOT be number one with ignorance.

Racism aside, or white pride, you NEED to deal with the FACT that minorities (including people from other countries) are here, and aren't going anywhere. In fact, they're growing, and they can vote!

You NEED to analyze conservative political beliefs, as they are NOT all holy! They boil down to everyone on his own! That's NOT Christian-consistent!

You need to balance what's GOOD in your beliefs with other good-related perspectives. For example, breaking laws to get here IS evil, but it's also bad to ban all Muslims.

Being militarily strong is good, but starting a nuclear arms race is bad. Being for religious liberty is good, but Ted Cruz's bill to allow any business owner to deny service to LGBTQs is evil.

Being for Israel is good; being for any evils they do is bad, as is treating Arabs as second class world citizens (unless terrorists).

Law and order is good; police brutality and abusing civil rights of blacks is bad. Can you think this way? Has our public education system fallen so low that you're incapable of identifying good from evil, vs. biased knee-jerk feelings from political tradition?

HAVE YOU STEPPED FOOT IN A 'HOOD OR BARRIO LATELY FOR ANY SIGNIFICANT PERIOD OF TIME? I DARE you to tell those strugglers all they need to do is have Trump as president and work harder, as opportunities are equal with your comfy life, whites. The GOP platform essentially says that—READ it. Be informed!

I DARE you to tell a raped girl heading to Planned Parenthood that she's doing evil. You don't have the backbone, in all your Trump-inspired bravado to do so!

Your anger at RINO's is justified, in their allowing Obamacare, executive amnesty, a tepid economic recovery, lead from behind and the Arab Winter!

You were ANGRY. But anger is NOT thinking, and you over-did it! You did NOT have America's interests in mind as much as venting that anger! Hence, we got Mr. Donald.

Finally, on HATING Obama, you must look in the mirror in the privacy of your own home and admit many of you don't like blacks a lot!

THE race who brought blacks here—against their will/by force—now mad at them for demanding to be treated equal with you? The hypocrisy is obvious to all.

Obama was NOT great on several issues (I just noted them, with RINO complicity), but he WAS a decent man who represented U.S.A. well. Dignified, accurate and righteous.

Your behavior in 2016 campaigns has been shameful, many times, enough so that I can no longer be in your party (with Trump topping it). Trump is 100 percent OPPOSITE Reagan in many ways!

I lived (and loved) the Reagan years! He was dignified, kind, witty, smart, gentle, graceful; even his own son says Trump is nothing like the Gipper.

WHY were you so brain-washed by Chump's insults and rudeness (and blank knowledge of any policy details until the nomination was secured)? Forget religion, forget political party; America can NOT endure having an immoral citizenry, as you acted.

The Founding Fathers said that democracy can't endure an immoral citizenry. Your intellectual leaders respect those men—do you?

Fighting at rallies, supporting a wall Mexico will NEVER 100 percent pay for, and likely won't be built, Muslim ban, grab a woman by the crotch? WHERE'S YOUR DIGNITY or conscience?

You can read ALL the things Trump said and did in our Facebook article, as our second pinned tweet. YOU CAN'T JUSTIFY THAT, and if you try you are indicating that you are Hell-bound, and NEED repentance.

It's your eternal soul that I fear for—not your ignorant politics. You being for Chump's antics shows you have NOT been born again; Jn. 3:16, the Bible.

There's a REASON for that. MOST U.S. pastors NEVER ensure that you hear how. Many of them chase fame and money as you face Hell TODAY! They're in your party! SHAME on them!

Finally, in Reagan's day the GOP meant family values (mainly over gay rights and abortion), the religious right and thought greater than feelings.

Nearly forty years later politicians and pastors are STILL able to rile you up at election time to vote GOP on those two issues. That's AMAZING!

You ACCEPT little to no efforts or change for nearly a generation, then suddenly act as though those two issues have been SO important to you all along!

How many abortion clinics have you been to, or pregnant women have you counseled in those years since Reagan? Have you (Christian GOP's) evangelized people, as even aborted fetuses go to Heaven! NO one in your group had the g_nads to take on overturning national gay marriage, because your bully nominee is really a chicken, and a man with no moral foundations—just a love of self!

I am NOT for overturning it, as we lost—it's the law of the land. The Supreme Court can't continue to be respected going back and forth with "Constitutional" conclusions every few years!

ASK your GOP leaders and pastors why they split abortion off from gay marriage this year! Cowardice (a sin). Roe has been the law of the land for MUCH longer, and you heard FEW pastors doing anything political to change it all through Obama's two terms! DO YOU EVER SEE INCONSISTENCY and hypocrisy as sin? Why not? Fix it!

Bottom line, on policy I agree with you on several issues, but I also oppose you on some; same with moderates and liberals. You have got to think better for your career and your country!

You are mocked as dumb _sses, country bumpkin KKK types. Be better than the stereotype! You WILL remain poorer if not!

$2/day jobs are NOT returning to America! You need better skills and education. You're NEVER too old. It takes work, but that's EXACTLY what your political theory praises—the free markets of Capitalism.

Now it's biting you in the butt—specifically, your wallet nearby, and you don't like it, because your economic theory is FLAWED.

I can't grow your IQ. I can ask you to re-read this message until you get it, and ask a smarter friend to explain it if you still struggle.

Be smarter next election, and, as ALWAYS, I'm ALWAYS open to a dialogue here with anyone who isn't rude. Defend your behavior and vote, or at least THINK about this message, and make changes.

If the white church is always going to vote GOP, even though abortion and gay marriage are the law, just admit it. You worship party, and are intransigent, MEANING you DON'T vote per issues' morality, but with blind, cult-like loyalty to one party. I DON'T, and you shouldn't either. BOTH parties are IMperfect!

In 2020 you will be allowed to do just that! IF you vote for "Pledged" politicians of the Democrat or Republican stripe, you'll get ONLY the good policies of any party!

P.S.: I need to picture it for you one other way: Trump voters SHOULD have been stopped by responsible leaders from their irrational anger! SAME for any coming liberal revenge!

I asked them to, but the excuse it 'we serve voter's desires,' to which I ask, why do you criticize Obama's lead from behind policy when you're using it here, and if your kids wanted to play in the highway, would you let them? Would GOP leadership allow mob rule to be for literally anything, and never do any 'leading' to try to convince them otherwise, @Reince?

OPEN LETTER TO AVID TRUMP SUPPORTERS (Part II)

(4/27/18)

I give Trump supporters a HARD time for supporting his uselessly ambiguous unprepared policies, as his offer to America, and for this dreadful behavior: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj>, especially claiming Christians. But what you DON'T know is that I was a Republican since childhood, until Nov. 8, 2016, and I'm conservative in several ways:

Every nation has a right to protect and control their own borders, and no one and no entity can tell them otherwise. Not only do probably all other nations adhere to this premise, it's called national sovereignty. Also, law and order is a GREAT concept, implemented rightly! Chaos, violence and crime are unacceptable, in a civilized (vs. barbarian) society.

I'm for the smallest taxes possible, because no one enjoys paying money when most of us could always use more! I'm also 100 percent against any and ALL government waste, which happens OFTEN. I'm 100 percent pro-business, when it's run ethically.

I would never have been in business since college, as a lawyer, Fortune 500 Big Four Management Consultant, or sales person (with two business degrees, and one law degree) if I wasn't a Capitalist! Making money is not a sin, and being poor is no innate virtue. Loving/idolizing money is (i.e., a sin).

Also, political conservatives are often WASP Christians. If you read WillYouLiveforever.org, I think you can find enough witnesses to my life since 1978 to see that I am a brother with you (along with one seminary degree, and 36 graduate hours at another seminary).

I am against handouts, freebies and give-aways, because NOTHING is free/there are no free lunches. I posted about this problem WELL before Chump ever thought about it, as with controlled borders, and several other issues. You just weren't here (i.e., on Twitter) to see it, but my new book, Wit and Wisdom, documents exactly what was said on what day.

Finally, I am not opposed to the rich. David, Abraham and Solomon were rich, and were in God's will. So though I switched parties, to estrange myself from such a one as D.J.T., you and I have MUCH in common.

Katie Couric's America Inside Out program addressed anger among non-college educated whites. Let's point blank address their predicament (though I've covered it many times before): Over-outsourcing and over-immigration killed their careers (like former rust belt union jobs), via globalization.

Too many immigrants, and allowing illegal ones here (who'd be welcome, if needed and legal) KILL everyone's wages and job opportunities by a glut, known as an employer's market. And native-born Americans RARELY move out of our country, so even their small businesses get undercut by people from other nations used to much less pay!

Plus, good jobs were outsourced to where people expect lower pay. Add to this, college costs skyrocketed, even as our economy moved to it becoming less of a luxury, but more a necessity, and that demographic got screwed, even though whites dominated the percent who lived here, for centuries.

They feel they're losing their country to foreigners and liberal policies that allow such. But let's get down to brass tacks. In the mid-1980's, executives followed management consultant strategies to globalize. I was a consultant, and such a strategy was the going trend, as with automation.

It was NOT illegal, and businesses and politicians allowed it for far too long, by lobbyists paying off people who would turn a blind eye to its effects on AMERICANS! Two dollar a day workers replacing $30,000-50,000 a year U.S. workers was too hard to resist. The pendulum would balance out, over time, some, but the effects were permanent.

NO U.S. business is going to over-pay any 'native-born' white high school graduate, 'overpay' meaning more than they can get the same skills for elsewhere, whether by shipping away the job, or shipping in the talent! It's just the free market, and human nature, and the Capitalistic laws of the U.S.A. at work!

What the average Joe 'dirty white boy' SHOULD have done was either attend junior college, gained specialized (and needed) blue collar skills, learn to buy better/smarter, on a stricter budget, downsize, or open a business (or farm)! Instead, many of them still pin their hopes on politicians who promise to bring back jobs.

The days of $70,000-90,000 a year manufacturing jobs are virtually over in America, especially those offering pensions! It's called reality. Delusions and pipe dreams get no one anywhere. They could even band together their frustrations to lobby for politicians who represent their needs, but those needs can't be filled by laws or politicians.

Let's assume a politician banned any more immigration. U.S. business who needed such labor would hire them elsewhere. Let's assume a politician passed a law of no more outsourcing. U.S. businesses would lobby for more legal immigration of the skills they want, from nations with a lower standard of living than ours.

I can't say America got spoiled, but close to it! We used to survive mainly selling to ourselves. Then consultants and executives saw openings to sell product elsewhere, especially with China's rise, and opening to Capitalism. They had the millions with enough skills to compete, desperate for any wage. WalMarts promised lower-priced products for America, but they'd be made in/sourced from China.

Then high tech did the same with India (i.e., educated skills at lower pay). Inevitably, competition for a job became global, and with the dotcom and internet, businesses could hire anywhere. NOTHING in the world could stop this phenomena, and no one can put the genie back in the bottle. Experts refer to it as the new normal.

These rightly angry, disenfranchised white workers with a high school diploma can continue their anger, but it's UNproductive. Skills retraining is the answer; likely NOT college. Buyer co-ops (i.e., aggregations), and trading within that group would also help. Adjusting expectations to more of the current state new reality would also help.

Expecting Uncle Sam to bail out dying industries, or protect jobs businesses can fund elsewhere, for cheaper, is a mirage as a career path plan! You have a right to be angry, but it can't get you anywhere, even if you fired every D.C. politician who was around in those turbulent days!

And I believe these voters hate Welfare/the safety net, because they pay taxes, and know some of that bill goes to help others, though they're struggling, too—just not on Welfare. I get it! I feel your pain, as I was likely the first person to make this a public issue three+ years ago.

Few-to-none were addressing the aftermath of globalization, and certainly NOT Chump. We have the dated tweets to prove it. I also suggested Welfare with token payback to government (by civic service), and no one paid to lay on a couch, or paid enough to disincentivize working, if they were physically and mentally capable.

These were NOT his ideas, but mine. The proof is in our latest book, but the point is you feel it unfair some people get government help with their struggles, but you do not, and most politicians DID ignore your plight, post-globalization—until I brought it up.

But I never said politicians can solve it. I did say those two practices need to be curbed... only let in who our economy needs, and lessen the outsourcing of jobs. But that can't help everyone negatively affected by globalization.

OPEN LETTER TO NON-COLLEGE GRADUATE TRUMP SUPPORTERS

(5/13/18)

Katie Couric's show interviewed people in this group who HATE being called racists and dumb. one is not dumb to know they can't afford or aren't cut out for college, and one is not a racist to be offended that in their ancestor's land, people who basically squatted, or broke into that nation get the jobs, because the pay is better than at home, and undercuts you!

One guy said, HONESTLY, many illegals aren't loyal to the U.S.A. Cut off the wages, and they'll return home.

These are LEGITIMATE gripes of wronged Americans. But placing blame on businesses and politicians won't change things for your earning potential! And we are not going to deport 12-30 million people. And most outsourced jobs will never return.

The solution is, mainly, you adjusting to twenty-first century realities. I DON'T think you're going to leave your homeland to be bottom rung in places where the culture's differ, and you don't speak the language! That would be risky, if not stupid.

Government SHOULD help you successfully start a needed business, or retrain for someone else's business. And you aren't a racist for begrudging foreigners taking your livelihoods! You're also NOT wrong begrudging any Welfare abuses. I've opposed those WELL before Chump changed the work requirements, and I even pushed for a middle class $3,000 tax cut well before him.

He gets these ideas, often, from here, via connections I detail in a free book on our coming website. But tax rebates are not your lifeline. And your political philosophy I held, too, until about eight years ago (i.e., Hannity and Limbaugh) never wants businesses or the rich to pay more in taxes, and wants them rewarded.

That's irrational. They suck up all the funds, then you wonder why you have no job, or a low-paying one! Grow a brain, folks!

So being for several polices The Chump got behind, you can check our posts' dates; MANY we advocated, and he took/'stole.' You can't support such a man's character, or claimed intellect, with a good conscience, though many ideas you like of his were ours, first: Closed borders, defeat ISIS, stronger economy and military, fix Obamacare, etc. MY ideas.

As this message will enter that book, just read elsewhere on those topics, and check the dates posted. Confirm them on Twitter; they're still there, if you know my typos! And if you doubt he knows of this account, read Christians For Trump (book). I document all the boring details.

I won't rehash your action steps/to-do lists! If you re-read this message, and apply those I listed, you can have a decent lifestyle, post-globalization! HOW do I know? My family has lived off one salary for ten+ years, in one of the richest cities in Texas. It can be done. I teach you how in our book, Dumb as a Donkey.

You feel like a man with no country. By 2044, whites will be a U.S. minority. You thought you could reverse that trend, voting for Chump. Why not deal with the real, and learn to appreciate all types, and make do with what life brings you, even the lemons of globalization. I just taught you how. Will you do it?

P.S.: I've also written that I'm 100 percent behind home school college, certified, including online education, and self-taught college degrees from library text books. A college degree OUGHT to be standard for anyone intellectually capable of the work. In twenty-first century America, it's essential, for good pay!

Finally, there are non-college graduate millionaires. Bill Gates—Exhibit A. You can invent something. You may have an idea for a great new business. You may be the next Warren Buffett, and not get a finance degree—just study master investors. You probably won't be rich, but it's NOT out of the question, for a few. Explore your options!

PASTORS AREN'T LAWYERS

(8/29/18)

These pastors seeking Roe's overturn MIGHT be good people, IF their TRUE/sincere heart motive is NOT political power, but sparing the babies' lives. If that's a ruse for the former, they're evil as the Hell such motive originates from. But one thing for sure, they are IGNORANT of the law—STUPID!

Judges are a-political, in function. You can't say an act is 'Constitutional,' then say it's not. Skitzo contradiction! IF they could qualify for law school (a BIG if), one of the first words they'd learn is 'precedent.'

Our nation's functioning is upon a solid foundation! We do not wake up each morning wondering if yesterday's speed limit changed overnight, then changed back, later on!

Consistency, common understanding of what's expected—these are GOOD things (precedent law). And IF Roe were overturned, surely Texas (until more people move here) would ban all abortions, but New York wouldn't.

Equal protection would be a second phrase those men would have to learn, IF they keep venturing out of their own lane of specialty and into the arena of law. YES, an unborn child has committed less sins than their mother, but it is the sin nature that makes BOTH 'sinners' before God—not how many sins they've committed (zero, for fetuses, that we can surmise).

There are TWO people to the decision, and certainly killing an "innocent" is EVIL, but this is NOT like the King Solomon baby splitting challenge, because that baby was spared by his real mom by willingness to give it up. Here, a baby is really killed.

Now extreme abortion banners say if a woman is raped, make her feel the indignity of that trauma for nine months; or incest; or if the mom's life is in jeopardy, hubby's desires be da_ned—kill her. These are NOT compassionate attitudes, though, at same time, it's VERY uncompassionate to say kill the innocent.

And for birth control abortions, these pastors are saying (though never with the courage of mouthing it): I you have sex, you better want a child, or you better never have sex, unless your contraception works perfectly.

At the same time, if you get pregnant and never intended to have a child, as a result, there is ZERO reason to take that BAD decision and poor planning problem out on the innocent!

These are difficult and thorny issues, especially when you consider how a red state girl gets access to abortion if banned in her state, and who pays for all costs involved.

So anyone coming to this issue solely from a naive 'killing innocents is wrong' perspective simply doesn't understand enough information, just holding tight to an IGNORANT dreamy ideal state, where only one party is involved—not two, and certainly not the woman's hubby, or family, or boyfriend.

But law makers must consider and deal with reality—NOT fantasyland. The MOST humorous part about all this is a VERY large percent of aborters are CHRISTIANS! If pastors can't even keep their sheep disciplined in sexual matters, don't try forcing your inability to control them on all others; and QUIT trying to pretend you're lawyers!

SINCERE OPEN LETTER TO TRUMP'S BASE

(11/7/18)

This is NOT easy for anyone to do, including me, and I have neither the time nor interest in doing it, but it's needed (and you can't do it, as PROVEN by the FACT that you will see this nowhere else!). We are 'gonna address Trump's rural base, as well as less-educated voters, from the standpoint of their needs...

Last night, red states won Senate races, mainly in small counties. Why is that? They're NOT major cities, but full of ranches and farms. The American farmer is the backbone of America—we wouldn't eat without them. WHAT is the make-up of MOST farmers? Rugged individualists, who would NEVER ask for any government help (except for tariffs), to make their living.

They work morning to night, by the sweat of their brows. They are in competition with BIG AG. Ma and pa is being squeezed by big box corporations. They are not always college educated, but they are smart concerning the things that make them successful as farmers.

When it comes to voting, they vote conservative, because they barely eke by, in some cases, and want no tax increases. They probably can't even understand why anyone would ever need or want anything from government, because they raised themselves up by the bootstraps, and they do NOT live in places where tax dollars are often spent.

Cities get most of the perks of government... parks, libraries, paved roads, etc., and you can rightly resent being forced to pay for city slickers' lives to be enriched thereby, when all you want is to be left alone, and, as Ted Cruz said, "come and take it" regarding your rifles and guns.

Can we talk, and can we speak honestly? MOST Americans CAN'T live as you do! Homesteading is NOT how MOST Americans choose to live, because they like the cushier, more comfortable lifestyle of cities and suburbs! You get neighbors miles away; we have them right next door. There's a HUGE difference in our two cultures.

You are also a very patriotic and religious people, generally! MANY military personnel come from small towns in red states! Many of you faithfully attend little white chapels every Sunday. You are the salt of the earth, wholesome people of values. So may I venture one request?

In your independence, and moral backbone, can you consider that government policy NEEDS to be in-between extremes of over- and under-addressing societal problems, and as a religious people, you should NEVER have EVER supported THIS sin, and sin of idiocy!: <https://bit.ly/2fIESxj> JESUS Himself would tell you that, if you could hear His voice, because He has already written as much in that Bible you carry under your arm every weekend!

You begrudge minorities seeking government to help them get equal opportunity, because you made your opportunity, in many cases. You saved enough to buy your farm, horses and cows, etc., so WHY would anyone enlist government to succeed?

As ODD as it is, I ask you to take one Saturday to drive to a big city, go spend some hours in a 'hood or barrio, before you answer your own question! You struggle, they struggle. WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

Do you live near gang warfare, economic blithe, no father households, rundown schools and homes, live in fear, depression and hopelessness, or in danger of violence? IF you DON'T, go visit those places before you think it's an apples-to-apples comparison.

Invite a young minority child to come work on your farm for one day! They'll learn hard work, and you'll learn they're JUST LIKE YOU, and NOT lazy bums wanting everything for free! Go visit them, then let them visit your life. Interact. Learn.

And to the "good 'ol boys" who have lost blue collar, good-paying jobs to over-immigration and over-outsourcing, BESIDES the FACT that I addressed your struggles WELL before Chump even knew of it, I also gave you solutions WAY before him! ALL he proposed was lower taxes for more jobs. Businesses cut personnel when costs rise.

Taxes are a rise in costs. But lower taxes (which I advocated for, in some cases, but not as drastically—WELL before him) do NOT return good-paying outsourced jobs! Even concerning workfare vs. Welfare, I advocated for that WELL before Chump! I just wasn't well-known, and he he's a copy cat!

ALL he DID advocate was a 50' wall Mexico would pay for, and ban all Muslims. Over TWO YEARS, those were his ONLY major policy ideas! Even defeating ISIS and controlling our borders were MY ideas! I have ALL my date-stamped tweets as proof! These ideas have filtered up to Washington, in ways I describe in my many books—one for free.

The point is I have written MANY chapters addressing solutions to your economic challenges, the main one being you need better job skills for the 21st century! Government, business, churches, charities and individuals NEED to help you adjust to a changed, globalized economy! Politicians passing laws will NOT fix your problems!

You falsely believe politicians are your Savior! God and yourself are your Savior, with government NOT preventing your success, by passing policies like over-immigration and over-outsourcing--two policies I vehemently opposed, and wrote of WELL before Chump joined our bandwagon.

You do NOT need a college degree (but it would help if you could, as we're in an information age, and STEM services economy), but you can also learn to buy smart, organize buyer's co-ops (for price leverage), learn one new skill, to start (for better economic opportunities), and work longer hours, or do a better quality job so you get a raise, or promotion!

You don't whine to Uncle Sam! You look in the mirror, vote against politicians who ruin your jobs with bad policies, and adjust to a reality that rust belt $70K manufacturing jobs will NOT return, when BIG business can hire out for $2/day labor in China.

I'm ALL for your success! I wouldn't have written so many tips for you if I cared nothing about your success. You can believe LIES, in the form of empty promises from Chump, and live in la la delusional hope government will help you, but tariffs are NOT in your interest, medium-term!

They may protect your industry, for awhile, but then they cause your products and services to cost consumers more, so they substitute purchase to your competitors, which lowers your sales, then leads to your layoffs.

You do NOT have to own a university sheepskin to understand this! I was for more and better trade deals, WELL before Chump, as well. READ my books, and check the dates. But trade wars are unjust, and do NOT make China, and others, MORE inclined to trade with the U.S.A., but to find substitute nations to work with.

You NEGOTIATE good trade deals in America's interests, but NO nation is STUPIDLY 'gonna give in to all America's desires, and screw their own people and economy! Win-win is the ONLY solution—NOT tariffs. THIS AFFECTS YOU! An economy HAS to NEED your job and skills!

Government protecting typewriter repairmen, for example, makes NO economic sense, as the market is GONE for dying industries. If your job skills DON'T keep up with industries that are in demand, TODAY (i.e., not 30 years ago), you are just like a Blockbuster employee clamoring D.C. to protect a dying industry!

They may promise to, and may even do so, STUPIDLY, to selfishly secure your vote, but dying industries are NOT sustainable! If you offer jalapeno milk, and ask politicians to protect your business from extinction, the problem is you are offering something few-to-no people want; you have no market!

QUIT looking to lying, stupid politicians to save your career. Keep up with the times! You can wax nostalgic/eloquent about how things used to be in the U.S.A. This is today—deal with it. You may have done poorly in school. You may have graduated, or dropped out decades ago, but anyone can re-train, and you must, and NO politician can save you from that necessity! There are helps, to aid adjustment. Just do it!

The ONLY part of Chump's base that I/me/myself, through God, didn't address first (i.e., before Chump, as he's a copycat with NO ideas, to speak of, of his own), are the KKK types. I would NEVER advise them on anything, but to repent! America shouldn't even have such people in our midst. SO immoral, and old school stupid! #WOW

One more thing: IF you're a "country boy," or blue collar laborer who is angry with how your industries have been ravaged by bad government policy, and think you are equally suffering as poor minorities, GO VISIT A HOOD OR BARRIO or trashed trailer park before concluding you'd rather be in their shoes! Just do it.

I have asked MANY white people, of all ages, economic circumstances, education and job types... all things being equal, would you rather have been born white or black in America? I have YET to get an answer of black. That answer itself incriminates/kills any complainers who aren't poor, and a minority!

TRIGGER A TRUMPSTER?

(3/4/18)

Having had two good conversations with two Texas GOP politicians last night (at church, no less), and "triggered" by last night's hashtag, #TriggerALiberalIn4words, here are my responses to MANY allegations conservatives are brain-washed to believe about (most, if not all) Democrats:

First, I am NOT a liberal. However, I know they have some good points, and are NOT all the Devil...

1. DJT is NOT great, a man of integrity, or good for America. SOME of his policies are OK, but he DIDN'T have them in his campaign, but OTHERS gave them to his empty, ambiguous, flip-flopping mind, which has NO core values but Self.

On the issues: Borders MUST be enforced, but a 50' beautiful wall was, and still is, a RIDICULOUS idea, given our technology! NOT all GOP's, but you must admit some sincerely hate gays, and believe trans people to be inferior, second-class citizens!

Some Democrats have NO religion, maybe some hate religion, but NO ONE can convince me Trumpsters have religion being for DJT's constant immorality and stupidity, so that claim is a WASH!

Maybe some Democrats want a nation with zero guns, but NOT I, and to argue America punishes gun owners to require background checks, licenses, training and safe storage, and registered serial numbers to track weapons in crimes IS a sinful worship of the NRA, and is NOT taking away second amendment rights, or "gun-grabbing!" That is a STUPID confusion, and blurring of distinctions! And stupidity has never been a GOP value, as they LOVE to say that Democrats are emotion vs. thought!

One post said there is NO white privilege. That is pure subjectivism! On average, would he rather be born white in America, or black, as to overall or average economic situations and opportunities? If a stork from Mars were to have dropped him into a U.S. home, which would he have chosen, on average? Point made, but LOST on deceived Trumpsters.

Again, they alleged they're for facts vs. feelings. Does their hero, DJT, use facts often? LIARS say Trumpsters are for facts OR morality; NOT all DJT voters, but true believers LIE by such claims!

Profit isn't evil. True, but give back isn't either, and their conservative economic theory does NOT embrace it, except for some, sometimes token charity, and people like Mark Levin mock Warren Buffett signing the Giving Pledge as 'self-loathing.' Our world has many issues to face, even the U.S.A. MOST, if not all cost money to fix. If a rich person sees that their excess can, to some degree, be used to fix or curb them, the Jesus many conservatives CLAIM would see that decision as holy, vs. evil; selfish hoarding and greedy idolatry He DOES call sinful!

Patriotism because you wave a flag? NFL kneelers used their platform for OTHERS' struggles (i.e., selflessness virtue). NO NFL player who kneels, that I know of, was complaining about their own salaries. It's their fellow African-Americans who DO often get the short end of the stick in U.S.A., and conservatives RARELY go to the POOR parts of town to see a day in the life. How convenient. IGNORING by IGNORance reinforces their FALSE belief that whites don't, generally, have it better in America than 'blacks and browns.' It is PATENTLY obvious, if you LEAVE your cloistered area of town, and open your eyes, Trumpsters! QUIT denying reality, and FIX it for people other than just yourself (i.e., selfishness, again, as a core/root problem in your political theory).

I have NO problem with their mocking global warming as 100 percent proven, but NO ONE in their right mind can believe pollution is good, so long as businesses can profit, without addressing it; no one but a sincere Trumpster, I mean.

I know ZERO American who believes government is their 'god.' That allegation is idiotic! And QUIT pretending all GOP's go to church and love God, or all Dems avoid church and hate Him! You reinforce your stupidity, and buttress your confidence in lies by so doing!

Free healthcare? I agree, nothing is free, and the people with 'mo money DO pay the bills for those with less, under socialized medicine (which I oppose, save for a minimum care standard, repaid by token civic service). People NEED medical care. NOT all can pay for it—it's expensive. Again, political conservatism

HATES being forced to care about others, but a good society cares for its weakest link, and doesn't idolize money—which is EXACTLY what conservatism does!

A few more and we're done here (4:30 am). Rightly implemented Welfare is NOT evil, but Trumpsters 100 percent despise it in any form or degree! Again, selfishness is a sin that your CLAIMED Jesus opposes. Helping a few get by, NEVER letting them live off it, or long-term, is NOT evil, and the Supreme Court has NOT deemed it unconstitutional, so QUIT calling yourself 'Constitutional conservatives,' believing in every man for himself, and to Hell with the suffering of others! Remember the 'general welfare,' 'more perfect union' and we the people (i.e., voter input) aspects of that document?

It's that white privilege, again, that can't understand how anyone could ever suffer poverty. GO VISIT A HOOD, OR BARRIO. You won't, because you DON'T want to know the truth your CLAIMED Jesus LOVED!

Finally, hatred of Obama and Hillary. Hate is also a sin, political conservatives! So QUIT PRETENDING Trump lovers know Jesus! Some might; I doubt he does, and there are people of all faiths, even among Democrats, including Christianity! The sins you Trumpsters approved of denies your own claimed faith!: <http://bit.ly/2jIYEOf> YOU made that! Refute/debate me, anytime! You can't. FAILED policies!

It's from constant ingestion of FoxNews TV, and talk radio that you believe the world revolves around political conservatism, and everyone you hang with believes like you, but you FAIL to analyze, and think critically about your political beliefs, as you may not be capable of doing so. De-programming is a HARD task!

And there may be some Democrats who HATE babies, and wish they could murder them, legally (probably not, though), but wanting women safe when they choose the evil deed of abortion-for-contraception is what our government HAS to protect, even as we agree it's better NOT to (i.e., the Constitution's health and safety clause)!

I really caught my two Texas GOP politicians off guard last night with these responses: when one showed disdain for Obama and Hillary, I said, I voted ALL GOP's but Chump, and had we had time, I would have argued that Trump has WORSE morals and mental capabilities, though those two democrats were NOT perfect in all policies (and I would have detailed every good and bad policy for each)...

Obama was weak on ISIS, had a tepid economy, sometimes seemed to favor other nations over U.S.A., didn't enforce the borders well, didn't speak Christian beliefs much (which is his free choice), and didn't balance business with worker's needs.

Hillary was pilloried for Benghazi, AS IF she ordered those victims' murder! The Russian reset failed, to a large degree, as with the Arab Spring. Conservatives call her immoral and evil and a liar/untrustworthy, but chanting 'lock her up' is embarrassingly stupid! Emails from home, even if intentional, were wrong, but NOT meriting prison.

And, yes, her hubby sexually sinned in office, but HRC didn't arrange those events, and conservatives NEVER get over Bill's sins, as their own hero commits SO MANY on a regular basis.

You do NOT have to love either of those two Democrats, but your president is a national and international embarrassment and disgrace, and those two have not stooped to being that!

I LOVED one post that read, red states are moochers. Texas certainly isn't. It's hilarious that we live under federalism, but NO ONE wants the short end of the stick. Anytime anyone is forced to subsidize anyone, people get mad. WHY aren't we 50 independent countries? People DON'T think through their beliefs!

And in reply to #TriggerATrumperIn4Words... Christians CAN'T defend THIS: <http://bit.ly/2jlYEOf>

TRUMPS' BASE

(10/23/18)

For the umpteenth time, let's address the hard core tRump voter—white, often Southern, often male, rarely Christian, rarely college-educated, 'good 'ol boys,' regarding jobs. In the 50's-90's many were in the Rust Belt, or manufacturing careers, using their hands (vs. white collar jobs), and OFTEN in unions.

They'd make ~70K/year, even $90K, working on the line and assembly lines. They had set breaks, paid overtime, even, at one point, pensions, as with health insurance. Yes they paid union dues, but got collective bargaining contract wages, all negotiated by their union bosses, and for DECADES they benefitted from this set-up, financially.

Then came the globalization push, where businesses told unions, either accept globally reasonable wage concessions, or we'll move out of the States. Unions balked, and the rest is history—BAD history for this group of mainly whites. I'm white, myself, and we are raised that there's shame in, and you should never take government handouts.

So you're too proud to take government handouts, but too broke to make it decently (i.e., a "living wage"), since business can import skilled immigrants and export your and your parents' former hands-on jobs for ~$2/day. WHAT DO YOU DO? Do you accept LIES, to feel good and optimistic/hopeful, or deal with reality? Lies never paid anyone's bills, and you have bills to pay!

Are tariffs/protectionism the answer? You MAY say 'yes,' if it's of your industry, but let's learn some facts that will bite you in the end.

1. That's asking American consumers to subsidize you, JUST LIKE government entitlement programs you despise—the EXACT SAME THING, only through higher prices for things we buy (vs. give-aways). Either way, you are imposing on others for your ability to fund your family.
2. Tariffs hurt U.S. businesses, like Ford Motor Cars laying off THOUSANDS, as they've lost billions! That means even more people fighting for any job you qualify for.
3. NO politician can force businesses to bring back to America $2/day jobs, and believe they'll pay U.S. workers $14/hour, or more. That is ludicrous, and would bankrupt businesses, or cause massive layoffs, for the few they'd hire. They'd much likelier robotize!

You may THINK it's great that tRump shows some care for you, but I was on this, and most of the few good ideas he's ever had one to two years before, and my ideas were an open book for people to read, here.

You may recall, ON HIS OWN, he ONLY had three main policies: MAGA (which I originated, in the term 'USA #1'), close/control the borders (again, which I originated, well before him), and ban all Muslims (which I had NOTHING to do with). Terrorists, YES. Stereotyping everyone from the Middle East as dangerous—NOTHING I ever wrote of! And the 50' beautiful wall Mexico would pay for, I had NOTHING to do with!

Here's my point: It may FEEL great that people like myself first addressed your plight, brought about by Dems (wanting the votes of poorer immigrants) and GOPs (big business wanting cheap labor), but that does you no good.

You need good-paying jobs (i.e., opportunity), with benefits, which you can be proud of working an honest day's work. When people come to America in numbers our economy doesn't need, even if highly educated, every job below their skill level gets more people pressuring wages and opportunities DOWNWARD.

And when illegal ones come en masse, wages on the low end of the scale are pushed further DOWNWARD! NO business is 'gonna invest in out-of-date industries (Ex.: typewriter repair), what they can buy elsewhere for cheaper, or people whose skills they can pay less for somewhere else.

You are a direct labor competitor with sweatshop child labor in China, if you live in the past, with skills of the past! We live in an information and service industry age. You can vote for Chump as many times as possible, but there's nothing he or anyone else can do about this situation, but you!

Government NEEDS a mentoring program to help you identify skills you have aptitude at, or experience with! Private citizens and organizations and churches can help you, too. START by taking aptitude tests (Strong's battery and Myers-Briggs), or get around (in life, or online) to see what jobs are paying well, which you have interest in.

You don't have to spend four years in college, but your vote is NOT the answer! Your own decisions are!
One help is learning to buy smarter. We have chapters, in my political books, to help with that. You'll be able to read them for free, at libraries.

Co-ops give buying leverage. But that's the out-go side of the coin. The income side requires a two-income family (since the 70's), hard work, and quality controlled productivity, but also companies in America, who think your skills are worth living wage pay, rather than paying $2/day.

I do not have all the answers for you, but junior college might help some of you, as with online universities (i.e., cheaper than normal). You also may not be able to stay where you were raised. You go to where opportunities are. For example, Midland TX has $100-150K jobs for NON-college educated blue collar jobs, and truck drivers. Housing may need to be an RV, but earn that for a few years, and you'll move up to escape those cramped quarters.

You cannot live in the past, and since government programs aren't in your wheelhouse, learn to make a better you, skills-wise, for industries of the future. No matter what technology lies ahead, there's always a place for people able to fix broken toys, technology, products! Learn to downsize, with contentment.
You don't have to keep up with Hollywood TV ads. And, above all, get to know Jesus! (John 3:16)

TRUMP VOTERS' LEGITIMATE CONCERNS

(11/17/16)

Obama was a very good man with not so great policies; Chump's a very bad man who will learn decent policy from people who REALLY have 'great brains.'

One going joke is that in the 80's we had John Wayne, Bob Hope and change; in our era we had Obama, no hope and no change. Trumpsters feel broke due to Obama policies.

They FAIL to know that 1985's the year consulting firms started eliminating their economic futures! I was in one; I decried it outside of work; the pattern was OBVIOUS.

When big business gave unions an ultimatum (take pay cuts or we'll leave), they left America for good. It takes decades for that impact to be felt by average Joe Schmo.

Importing smart brains, and allowing in the cheapest working illegals, and Trumpster types FEEL that SQUEEZE! Chump can't fix it, but he expressed their pain.

He got those ideas from HERE! MANY VIPs watched our latest book written here live. We have the time-dated tweets as evidence.

The PROBLEM is, you CAN'T bring back Rust Belt manufacturing jobs! You can lessen the employee gut by enforcing immigration laws, but it's a global employer's market now.

And big business could just buy labor overseas if U.S. wages go much higher, where they're cheaper.

You do need immigration control, but your career is competing with a GLOBAL labor market, especially with technology that allows labor to be conducted outside a stationary workplace/brick and mortar building.

Over time, the global imbalance can equalize—like where China's incomes are rising—as workers demand better treatment), but that won't help Trumpster types for years if not decades.

Few home-grown good 'ol boys are going to move out of the good 'ol U.S. of A for a job! Immigrants sacrificed that move, and now squeeze your wallets and futures.

And with business' attitude, 'nothing personal, it's business,' NO acts are immoral that business does—IN THEIR OWN MIND!

Only voters the world over can educate them otherwise! Global worker unionization. Bernie on steroids. And nations vowing to give no business or rich person a safe haven to scr_w workers anywhere.

Radical? Rational. People simply aren't in the habit of thinking global trends, but I assure you that business is. Workers have to compete intellectually with business! Please do so.

Apart from GOP RINO's too often giving in on bad policies, like Obamacare, Arab Spring, Iran nuclear deal and a tepid economy, this is a core issue Trump voters were voting AGAINST!

My guess is a YUGE majority of talk radio listeners voted for Chump. Opinions trumping fact OFTEN starts at that source, and stereotypes being reinforced! (1/21/17)

Non-religious, non-college graduate Trump voters were hurt by over-immigration and over-outsourcing. The feds can't un-do that harm, but these things can: Work harder, do your best quality work, work overtime (or two jobs), learn to spend smarter, or secure these jobs <https://atxne.ws/2wZ2QfQ> <https://bit.ly/2x0Ursk> <https://bit.ly/2oTFLXM>, or consider sales, starting a small business, invent something, and also learn to invest, successfully, if you ever get overage/excess. Hire a professional to minimize your taxes, too. It's mainly up to YOU. And finally, be willing to move anywhere, for the highest pay, and have both spouses work. (9/10/18)

TRUMP VOTERS' TRUTH & ERRORS

(11/15/16)

Three UNDER-addressed topics in this book (covered before, in part)—black vs. white church, Trumpsters truths and errors, and objectivity vs. subjectivity:

God's church IS divided economically and racially. In history, the theological debate had always been Gospel vs. social Gospel. SAME goes in 2016!

IF pastors REALLY believed in the unity of the faith (Eph. 4:3) and Mt. 6:33, they would DO EDBS priorities, and this would NOT be a divisive Christian issue.

As it is, many WASP pastors have been chasing wealth (i.e., mega church mania)—NOT so much evangelism, until recently, while black pastors have been sticking up for their congregants' DAILY needs via the social Gospel.

As one of them recently said, 'I know feeding the poor isn't a need only at Thanksgiving,' and I'll Add, it's also not a drop in the red buckets at Christmas, but a SYSTEMIC problem!

IF black and white pastors united to do TOP priorities, Mt. 6:33 promises that God will take care of the material needs.

Jesus NEVER evangelized by talking about meeting physical needs through or by salvation; he met those needs as He spoke of eternal verities!

WASP's usually chase wealth like the rest who are lost, and with MUCH prodding may do some evangelism. So the two extremes are to lack money and make it your Gospel, or to chase money and do a little evangelism. BOTH ARE WRONG! Take Mt. 6:33 and Eph. 4:3 seriously, and these two problems solve themselves.

Trumpster Truths and Errors: Trump voters had legitimate anger at RINO's siding with Obamacare, a tepid economy through over-immigration (legal and illegal) and over-outsourcing, as well as disdain for international U.S. weakness with "leading from behind."

Their ERROR is blind belief 100percent in conservatism, anti non-white attitude (KKK, etc.), and especially support of such a blatantly and consistently evil man as Chump!

I know none of the other 16 were as interesting or entertaining, but in the process of seeking a confrontational outsider, you left your moral moorings, and thus, your credibility!

Finally...

Objectivity: Our nation does NOT improve or even lead when there are many extremists who avidly believe their cause is 100 percent just, and has NO flaws!

Liberal, conservative and even moderates ALL have positives and negatives. If you can't see that, you are the problem with our nation, and why there's so much division this year!

I was just at the mall, and overheard two employees arguing that you have to be positive or you have to have some negativity. That's NEVER the issue!

Overall, everyone wants a rosy personified person, but all must be based in reality, and reality is that America suffers many problems (you may call that negative, but it's TRUE).

IF you are NOT objective (or smart), you are subjective (i.e., living off your emotions and own experience). As a white person you generally and genuinely can't relate to any poor people, especially any minorities.

You may even complain they should just work harder and never get any of your money via taxes. That's subjectivity, and partly bad.

So be it church race relations, liberal vs. conservative extremes, the answer is finding common ground through being objective, and talking/relating!

I'm fully that convinced if any middle or upper class WASP's visited a 'hood (or barrio) for one week, the subjectivity, social Gospel slander and Welfare opposition would CEASE!

TRUMPSTER TRUTHS

(12/13/16)

A bozo just complained that I complain a lot about a "democratic" decision for Chump. The majority CAN get it WRONG, and I have free speech! Nice try!?

To our Trump voter viewers: We are for many ideas Chump used to get elected; he GOT several of them from us! He's also SURE to pass several good policies!

Even Trumpster's decision to be for him we don't 100 percent criticize, as he was the only interesting if not entertaining one of the 17!

At the same time, you morally BLEW it! 16 others were MORE qualified/prepared/intelligent (two possible exceptions), and he has little integrity or intelligence. You own that. You should have elected a better GOP nominee!

ANYONE can get advisers to inform them so they pass good policy! Trump had NO ideas to speak of for 16 months! I do NOT forget that. Vote for advisers if that's what you're going to get!

What I NEVER see is Trump voters honest about the fact that they voted for an ignoramus who was less moral by far than any other president in 45+ years! SAD, immoral omission!

'TRUMPSTER' VS. TRUMP VOTER

(1/23/17)

Stupidity and immorality WILL sink our ship in America. Schools can handle the former, but with lower church, synagogue and mosque attendance, GOD HELP US on the latter!

WHY should any employer buy the services of the stupid? They do NOT legally owe anyone a job! They have a business to run. Get an edu-ma-cation, Trump whiners.

WHY should any business bring back outsourced jobs if they can pay less elsewhere? Why should they even pay minimum wage if you are not intelligent enough for them?

Trumpsters whine they lost their jobs, but WHAT did they do to adjust to globalism's REALITY? Sit around and drink beers and shoot rifles?

I am NOT referencing responsible and educated Trump supporters. They simply chose a HORRIBLE pick. I distinguish between these two sub-groups!

Trump voter vs. Trumpster—what's the difference? Intelligence and integrity for the former; blind faith in a clown administration for the latter.

III-F5. TRUMP

ATTACK ON FISCAL SANITY & THE FIRST AMENDMENT

(12/17/17)

WHEN WE SAY America was founded on "Judeo-Christian" values, that means things like justice/fairness, love, facts, compassion, knowledge—NOT like CHUMP's seven banned CDC words, which are saying, discriminate against, or hate LGBTQ's, science, non-whites and the poor (AKA favor GOP constituents)!

And CHUMP's tax give away VIOLATES Judeo-Christian values, in that it favors the rich (Levit. 19:15; Rom. 2:11), irresponsibly increases debt, NEVER balances the budget (fiscal suicide), and is really ONLY a plan to make voters like CHUMP and HIS GOP—TRYing to be BUYing votes (like Democrats with entitlements).

So, BOTH these decisions are moral disasters. It IS establishing two religions above the others, being financially irresponsible, legal bribery, hatred of the poor and LGBTQ equals of The CHUMP, despising government ever helping anyone ("entitlement"), opposing truth (i.e., science and evidence), CONTRARY to Jn. 8:32 and 17:17.

ALL these two decision are is catering to the so-called "Christian" Cabal types, targeting Democrat opponent voters, then trying to BUY their votes, because the CHUMP KNOWS he has NO hopes of re-election, and his poll numbers are so low, why not waste money we don't have, and blow up the whole joint to spite reasonable Americans?

Let's describe, for ALL, what The CHUMP's tax plan and CDC edict show he wants to make America into: Favor the rich, NEVER help ANY poor, discriminate against and hate LGBTQ and Muslims (or ANY religion but Judaism and Christianity), make laws based on religion vs. science, and be anti-knowledge, and in debt.

BABY CHRISTIAN TRUMP

(10/30/18)

Five minutes of two talk radio stations, and I could take no more! Money is their number one "ethic," and Dems are globalists, hate the U.S.A., only want power, and hate Chump, like a cult ("Trump derangement syndrome"), and DJT never attacked any media but liars among them, say they. To get OBJECTIVITY from them is pulling teeth!

Let's explain how ill-will continues, seemingly without end: There's ALWAYS an initiator, who is MOST to blame, like Chump doing all of this: <https://bit.ly/2jIYEOf> NO ONE forced him to do that, and 16 other GOP's DIDN'T do it. He started the process.

Then there's deserved blowback of the majority despising and opposing him, as a result. After 1-1.25 years, Chump's mouthpieces ACT like he has apologized, and try to blame his opponents as being unforgiving, and holding bitter grudges, from hatred. And if any Democrats behave improperly, as DJT did for his ENTIRE campaign, those advocates use the phrases "hypocrite" and "double standard" as SUPPOSEDLY applicable. Then their "reasoning" becomes 'move on/get over it,' or 'we all do bad things,' JUSTIFYING DJT's entire sin-filled campaign which DISqualified him as competent to deserve office.

Then, after two years, with all the competent advisors he has at his beckoning—JUST AS I PREDICTED—he gets some policies right, because the odds are against anyone getting them all wrong, forever (as I said, an untrained monkey can hit a bulls eye, blindfolded, sometimes). What's LOST in this rancor process is ZERO repentance or apologies on Chump's part—NO accountability.

The far right wing has amnesia, and morals never mattered to them; they just want to shift the blame, when ZERO accounting has EVER occurred regarding all the factual things I raise in that Facebook argument. You punch your wife in the nose, and try the right's TRICKS of never remedying your sin; it WON'T work.

And it's people in the GOP who support him, who are EMPOWERING his sin of arrogance, that WON'T acknowledge wrongdoings, or apologize for sin, as a claimed "baby Christian." That's TOTALLY opposite the Bible, which would call for church discipline and rebukes, yet we hear CRICKETS, from power idolatry!

Be it the Hatfield's and McCoy's, Arabs and Jews, reconciliation ONLY occurs when you're honest about your own sins. In Chump's case, we even know he started it all. Those other two feuds have such long histories, the initiator is more irrelevant. @realDonaldTrump Repent of your many sins, "Christian!"

.@realdonaldtrump @POTUS If you EVER even PRETENDED to be behaving as a claimed Christian (turned 'baby Christian,' later on), you would APOLOGIZE to the public, and all GOPs you free-willedly offended by all these things: <https://bit.ly/2jIYEOf> I doubt you ever will! God sees all you do—fear Him!

No REAL "Christian advisor" would EVER tell a president that time alone heals the many wounds Chump inflicted in his sin-to-win campaign! It's NOT bitterness, or unforgiveness, to point out that he has arrogantly NEVER asked for any forgiveness, because he has never faced his many sins!
#Accountability

People doing the right thing have told politicians, 'you are the man,' regarding a specific sin (II Sam. 12:7), and 'it's not right what you're doing,' regarding a specific sin (Mk. 6:18). We are to forgive (before God, in our hearts), lest God not forgive us (Mt. 6:15), but the offender also has to ask for forgiveness/repent, to reconcile with man (Mt. 18:21-22).

Mt. 18:15-18 gives the process, as with Jas. 5:20, I Jn. 5:16-17, and many others. TRY letting time heal raping your wife, like Chump tries ignoring accountability for all his sins in his campaign. He'd call it 'old news.' I call it unrepented of, and DISqualifying for any good coming thereafter!

But since MOST reasonable people rightfully question Chump's religious sincerity, we know no one will hold him accountable, lest he exact revenge on them and their reputation/careers, just like every REAL Christian is taught by God to do, right? WRONG! The fake baby Christian is NOT getting disciple, IF he's saved!

One more thing: If any OTHER future presidential candidate did all this crap, they'd be run out of town on a rail!: <https://bit.ly/2jlYEOf> That's a double standard and hypocrisy, and the sin of power idolatry is why the GOP still lets him get away with it. Sin-to-win! Party of religion and values? Ha!

And one can mouth the words, "I'm sorry for all those things," and not address them, specifically, or to the offendees, or even insincerely, to get the issue out of the limelight, but God knows the heart, as only He can bring that conviction to see your wrong-doings, which I believe Chump is STILL blind to.

CHALLENGED CHUMP

(4/5/17)

CHUMP is NOT balanced/unbiased at all—ONLY favoring big business vs. workers, oil vs. green energy, the rich white male vs. minorities, and alt-right causes!

Donald Trump's ONLY "original" idea seems to be to ask Washington insiders what were Obama's many agenda items, and I'll un-do them all by PR-stunt edict!

CAN voters see that Trump is far right, reacting to perceived far left policies of Obama, and if this extremism continues, policies stay unsettled!

NO other nation can rely on U.S. stable policies when Democrats are in control, then the GOP in control leads to polar opposite policies for four-to-eight years! SKITZO!

You do NOT unite a nation, or inspire harmony and peace when all you do is cater to extremists every four-to-eight years, and never find common ground, do-do's!

IF the far right is perfect, implement all their ideas (even the kooky ones, like Chump's doing); same with the far left. Why is America so extreme, when answers usually lie in-between?

I guess no one can yet see that there's good and bad in both parties, and the voter MUST reject all bad, and only accept the good from any party. Radical concept?

There are NO morals in D.C.! Even rules can be changed if we don't like the outcome. A corrupt cesspool of sin that Christians NEED to change with morals—WILL they?

“CHRISTIAN” CHUMP?

(6/10/17)

With a man SO prone to LYING, a lie detector would be MUCH more valuable than an oath. @POTUS <http://on.msnbc.com/2rMIQv4> #TrumpTakeALieDetectorTest!

And Sarah Huckabee saying Chump is NOT a liar is bringing shame to Jesus, as her dad is an ex-SBC pastor, and lies passed on as truth are this... Isa. 5:20.

Any job that pays you, handsomely or not, to cover for sin, or lie, is a job God does NOT want you in, @SarahHuckabee You would think you would know that, from your dad's sermons.

“I did not have sex with that woman” was stated under oath. Does ANY honest American care that Trump is 100 percent willing to testify under oath? That's naive and foolish!

There's a moral duty for everyone to use their brain in assessing politicians' words! Snake oil salesmen tell you what you want to hear. Watch their deeds, more so than words!

I'm AMAZED that so many Americans are so enamored with sinful Chump that they overlook all flaws and mental lapses from power idolatry! That HURTS America!

Chump tells a Christian group that the Bible says that “the truth will prevail.” It does NOT say that about any of his claims, or even say those exact words. #FakeChristian

HERE are Trump's "Christian" credentials, which EVERY U.S. Christian NEEDs to recall, when considering re-electing a monster:

His own pastor hardly knows of him (Easter and Christmas visitor), I take that little wafer and wine (respect for the Lord's Supper?), my favorite verse is an eye for an eye (when Jesus contradicts Chump); I've never asked God's forgiveness for anything; I'm a Christian... one year later he's a 'baby Christian' (WHICH IS IT, IF EITHER?); the Bible is my favorite book, though I read it so little that I call Second Corinthians “two Corinthians”; I'd like to beat that guy in the face, and will pay the legal bills of any who do (i.e., violence); I could stand on a NYC street and shoot someone and not lose support (i.e., pride); I'm so rich and handsome (i.e., arrogance); I wanted to nail Princess Di (i.e., lust); I'm smarter than all the generals; speaking of genital size in a public forum, and grabbing women by the crotch? THESE ARE NOT CHRISTIAN VALUES OR VIRTUES, apostate church members!

Bomb the sh__ out of ISIS (i.e., public cussing); POW's are losers (i.e., disrespect of the people who allow him the freedom to breathe!); most illegals are rapists and criminals (i.e., non-factual).

I have YET to have ANY claiming Christian refute THIS argument, because they CANT!:
Http://bit.ly/2jlYEOf God sees His people's sins!

If Trump is a Christian, and the Christian cabal handful of pastors represent Jesus, God is for arrogance, greed, selfishness, idolatry, hypocrisy, public cussing and adultery!

P.S.: By Bernie's errant belief, any Muslim who believes all non-Muslims are “infidels” are disqualified from public service (which is a ridiculous notion)!

CHRISTIANS & THE LGBTQ COMMUNITY

(7/27/17)

Take Chump's trans military ban to the Supreme Court on equal protection with gays grounds! Hand him ANOTHER defeat! @TheDemocrats @DNC @SenateDems @HouseDemocrats

I'm QUITE sure Chump's timing on the trans military ban is to influence Texas to pass the trans ban in public bathrooms, other than what's on their birth certificate, for 2020 Christian votes!

I USED to be for trans' using the bathroom of their birth, until I concluded that enforcement is impossible, and a third bathroom is too expensive for business. No females in male bathrooms or gym dressing rooms, though, and vice versa!

Somewhat relatedly, HOW did Jesus treat an adulterer caught red-handed (an ACT vs. lifestyle disposition and choice)? (John 8) Did He disassociate from her, advocate her being His political enemy, work tirelessly for her to be treated as a second-class Roman citizen, ban her adultery partner her from military service, or get as many Jews to vote for one political party based on riling up the troops over hating her sin? NO; he used compassion and truth to address her.

Are Christians to tell all LGBTQ to 'go and sin no more' (i.e., stop being different, sexually)? Are they to show love to them? OBVIOUSLY. Are they to compromise their beliefs and say that lifestyle is morally virtuous? No. Trump AGAIN flip-flops on another campaign promise (i.e., fighting for LBGTQ), because he's a serial LIAR!

Trump did NOT have any core beliefs when campaigning. He ONLY said shocking and ambiguous things so he could morph into a chameleon for votes. I do not believe him to be a born again believer.

Where are the Christian Cabal pastors counseling LGBTQ members? Instead, they RUN to their "god," and get him to pass laws to DIS-favor them (vs. clamoring for justice)!

I have only changed two political positions in my past ten years, one on trans' in public bathrooms (for reasons stated below), and for ONLY four hours I considered Chump.

LGBTQ: If you hear many loud-mouthed Christians, you would RIGHTLY conclude they HATE you. Please know, God does NOT. They SIN by such implications!

God does NOT condone any sin, but He loves every "sinner." Trump, the blatant womanizer, is as offensive as a "flaming" gay person. BOTH need self-control!

There are degrees of sin, and homosexuality IS an abomination to God, but only one of about 18 in Leviticus 18's list. The Christian Cabal ONLY see verse 22—a SINFUL bias.

I do NOT understand anyone who feels a different gender than their biology! I think it odd, strange, different. But that gives me NO right to treat them as inferior!

I don't know if it's an absence or excess of testosterone, if childhood crises trigger it, or what, but I know how Jesus teaches us all to treat everyone.

I personally would feel uncomfortable if an obvious trans person stood next to me at a public urinal. I couldn't even know if it was not obvious, as our Texas governor recently proved.

I don't know how a trans would feel being in same bathroom as is on their birth certificate, or the opposite; NO idea.

I just DO know that state governments are NOT going to hire birth certificate (or anatomy) examiners at every public rest room, so the point is QUITE moot!

I also know the Texas law NEEDS to DIS-allow any girls in the boy's bathrooms, and vice versa. Trans are a little different from that scenario, and purposely so. You can't force examinations of genitals at bathrooms entries, Texas.

Vice President Pence FLIP-FLOPPED on Indiana's religious liberty law, with business pressure from North Carolina's backlash.

As a Christian, even HE backed down from his personal preferences, and though I would be more comfortable if a drag queen was never legally allowed to stand next to me in a public bathroom, TRUE trans persons suffer real challenges in their sexual identity, anatomy, and self-image, in being able to 'be themselves,' when laws tell them they have NO say in where they pee. Tough issue; treat all with respect!

Why do Christians almost exclusively only care about sex regarding political issues? Inconsistent on prostitution, divorce, etc.! Sad state of affairs.

The U.S. military could easily disallow gender reassignment surgery as under their insurance policies, as taxpayers don't owe that to anyone. DUMB Donald Trump!

The EASIEST way to oppose gays and trans people is have NONE that you know, personally, as with anyone in the political party opposite yours. You dehumanize them when there's NO contact!

[Private account:] "This trans woman masterfully trolled Texas Gov. Greg Abbott by posting a selfie with him with the hashtag #BathroomBuddy:"

Could requiring transgendered people to use toilet stalls eliminate discomfort in public bathrooms, like the past post with Gov. Abbott, especially with kids there?

CHUMP & 2016 CANDIDATES

(8/20/15)

CHUMP lessons: Lie, err, insult, sue, threaten, brag, never apologize, call media, change tune and tone, contradict—NOT lessons for MY children!

America has NEVER glorified bullies. Chump verbally slanders nearly all journalists and peers, then tells the GOP to treat him nice. Take a hike, Trump!

Chump is SO far removed from being a Reagan, even if he uses his TV acting skills to fake it, he's about as morally opposite as any candidate can be.

The GOP may need to establish some rules as to who can run and claim to be a Republican (in the future), so there can be no more ~Democrat moles ever slip through, like Chump.

One man (or woman) as President CAN'T do all Chump promises! There's that nagging thing called CONGRESS. In THEORY, do you want to win with Chump or lose with him going third party?

No matter what Chump would do to reconcile with "RINO's," he's gone so far past the line there IS no reconciliation with many Republicans; me for sure!

Whatever it takes to rile up candidates to have some fight, even if it's Chump RIGHTLY saying Jeb is low energy. I've said it for MONTHS! FIGHT for the job.

WE DON'T WANT A BORING PRESIDENT. There, I said it, plain as day. If you can't get excited about the Presidency, STOP your campaign. WE DESERVE BETTER!

The most serious job in the world and Chump can have NO IDEA what he's saying until he corrects himself later? RESPECT YOURSELF, America, vs. being victims!

Chump is a disruptive perfect storm for Republicans. The media loves his celebrity and ratings brought to them, and can manipulate him to help Democrats as a Republican or third party candidate!

The media WILL turn on him, as his feigned conservatism they hate. A Limbaugh caller said he's smart. Has anyone seen any such evidence in the past two months?

He says anything, everything. OF COURSE one will occasionally say something smart when they've covered all the bases, even contradictorily!

The Republican 16 (Chump purposely EX-cluded) should field their OWN debates and have a two-pronged primary format—Chump on his OWN, then the other 16.

The Tea Party with Chump are getting REVENGE on Boehner and McConnell constantly siding with Democrats and saying they'll fight and NOT DOING IT! I support that aspect.

The Tea Party is SAYING 'RINO's' can seek for Hispanic and black votes and ignore conservatives, but our new man (Chump—a symbol) has the numbers and we WON'T back down!

It is alleged that four million Republicans didn't vote last time. Have Chump as the Republican nominee and see what number of mainstreamers will do the same! UN-constructive, self-defeating bickering.

If Boehner and McConnell would 'FESS UP to their inaction, compromises, occasional lies and wanting to be liked or fit in, GOP progress could come!

The Tea Party has NOTHING TO LOSE backing Chump! He's their only hope, despite his MANY flaws. They WON'T let go of him as their representative (like a dog with his bone).

The GOP MAY have to let Chump get the nomination, LOSE to Hillary, then PROVE to conservatives their policies do NOT win elections, as they like to claim via Reagan (in a different era).

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T approve of the rich getting richer and good luck to everyone else, or every man for himself, or selfish greed ignoring the poor!

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support tax breaks for the rich, or 'trickle down' economics, where lower rungs just get peed on and nothing else ever trickles down.

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support big business executives making 300+:1 wages of the average, HARD-WORKING American, and being rewarded for stock manipulation, Chump supporters!

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support ending the estate tax (so the rich can keep even more for themselves), the flat tax (SAME result), or ending the minimum wage, conservatives

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support ending the IRS, EPA or NEA, or ending all Obamacare so the poor can die of illness so long as others stay rich, Tea Partiers.

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support a Communist wall being built on our Southern border, or drones bombing the poor at our border, seeking a better life, Chump and Carson.

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support small government, but are OK with medium-sized, and don't fear that all government does is evil, or see workers as inferior slaves!

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support the rich NOT signing the Giving Pledge, like you, Mr. Donald Trump! Have you done so YET? Didn't think so! #DumpTrump

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support business' ONLY purpose being profits, as ONLY laws would curb man's innate desire to gain money any evil way they can, conservatives.

The MAJORITY OF AMERICANS DON'T support aspiring Presidents who slander entire groups, disrespect war heroes, sue at will and threaten to go home if victims are not nice to bullies.

The majority of conservatives MAY support all those things, but NOT the majority of Republicans, and especially the electorate, who decide elections, conservatives.

Establishment GOP: SINCERELY soul search and apologize for your FAILING the American public! Gridlock is OK, at times, but GET SOMETHING DONE vs. roll over for Democrat policies!

You OWN the majority Senate and House! Why has Obama run roughshod over you, EXCEPT from complicity? Golf pals? Iran, Obamacare, executive amnesty, ETC!

INSTEAD of mending fences with Tea Partiers and sincerely addressing their concerns, 'RINO's' sought minority votes. Those chickens have come home to roost!

Hillary can fend off Sanders. She needs only sit out the internal struggle in the GOP to see who she has to run against and BEAT (in my opinion).

Conservatives/Tea Partiers can NOT form their own party, as not enough numbers or mass appeal, so Chump is voicing their displeasure with 'RINO's' and could win the Republican nomination.

He already proved he's NOT GOP loyal (first debate NON-promise), and as to having a conscience—NO evidence of such—ONLY ego and NO apologies. #DumpTrump

GOP conservatives supporting Chump would maybe send a message, but mainstreamers would have time to gain lost votes to Chump in the next several months. He may go third party anyway.

If Chump was forced into a third party run, he would MISS all future debates, and the Republican mainstream could seek minorities' votes, and conservatives know Chump couldn't win!

NOW is the time for conservatives make their voices heard, as the general election can NOT be so far to the right. If Republicans are not careful, Chump can buy his lead indefinitely.

Solutions? If no one of the Republican 16 has similar energy as Chump, or his ability to attract the media, you've got to ban him, support him or separate into independents.

The media WILL turn on Chump, but it's WAY too early. They're duping him and lulling him to sleep with their coverage's flattery! They WON'T let him beat Hillary!

So Chump will face majority opposition in the general election, and would also lose as a third partier. Either way, it looks GOOD for Hillary. Just sayin.'

July 18-21 is the Republican nomination at their convention. That's 11 months for people to rise, but LEARN that you've got to learn to get media coverage vs. JUST speak to crowds and kiss babies.

The Republican 16 CAN'T JUST rely on the mainstream media to turn on Chump; that could happen 1-3 months prior to July 2016! Engage him in a fight—he (often) loses his cool.

THAT's why it's SO frustrating to see him rise, when so many MORE capable people are giving 1.5 years of their life for HONORABLE service vs. ego!

Fraud, imposter, egomaniac, disorganized, confused, bombastic, crude, pompous, sue-happy, slanderer, generalist, deceiver Chump. You support THAT, GOP? The real estate emperor has no clothes!

EVERY GOP candidate but Huckabee got a TOUGH first question in the first debate, but ONLY Chump wants to take his toys and go home to his sandbox, as the Fox female was un-nice?

We need to LOWER our debt, but Chump wants a LaGuardia like Dubai can afford? I never asked God for any forgiveness but Christians love me? DELUSIONAL!

[Big business' OUTSOURCED JOBS hurt U.S. workers MUCH MORE than illegals (if they don't take jobs Americans want), @RickSantorum. Way to get media!]

Chump is considering campaigning with Cruz. I'd consider Hillary if a combination of Bush, Rubio, Fiorina, Walker or Perry couldn't beat that radical duo of dunces!

Hypothetically only: If Chump-Cruz was the GOP ticket, and they'd lose (as I expect), could conservatives agree to quit their winning conservative pipe dream ticket thereafter?

Glenn Beck questioned aloud whether Cruz or Chump would be on the top of such ticket. DUMB question! Cruz has gone virtually NOWHERE, and kissed up to Chump because of his HIGH poll numbers! Duh!

The Republican 15 BETTER get serious about BEATING Chump and Cruz. No one's going to force themselves on GOP voters. WE THE PEOPLE DECIDE!

Romney-Powell or Romney-Rice would beat them ALL! 100 percent classier than Chump will ever be in his dreams about himself! #RunMittRun @MittRomney Legally here, kid is a citizen; illegally here, don't reward law-breaking! Chump also was birther on Obama—DIS-qualified to be President for MANY reasons!

If conservative and moderate Republicans do NOT want to reconcile, conservatives take Chump-Cruz, 'RINO's' take the rest, and let's see what happens! Mk. 3:25, the Bible.

The GOP NEEDS a summit to discuss what conservative policies are GOOD and which are bad, as with centrists, and when to compromise with Democrats and when NOT to. DESPERATELY needed!

If he who wins the most media attention wins or is best-qualified to lead our nation, the Kardashians should be running! #DumpTrump

The difference in Chump and all others is he's running a TV campaign, while others are running mainly grass roots rallies-based campaigns. Poll which method wins more votes.

Chump's ZERO corporate tax plan means business pays not one dime for our nation's costs, but you the hard-working American worker DO! All he does is for HIM and his money!

Continued
(9/10/15)

"Look at that face?" Look at Trump's Hell-bound heart! I'd do anything to keep him from the Republican nomination! He WON'T be President! LOSER! #DumpTrump #AnyoneButChump

Give him all you've got! He wants 'fairness?' He dishes out UN-fairness! @BobbyJindal [<http://on.msnbc.com/1iRHhK>] Take him DOWN and give him lots of rope to hang himself with (blabbering).

I ASSURE you that any evangelical support of Chump is ONLY temporary and for the entertainment value, or they are carnal or shallow fakes. #DumpTrump NOW!

Talk radio always speaks of the less-informed (DUMB) crowd on the left. Anyone who buys Chump speaking about Fiorina's "persona" is IN that camp too! "You want THAT to be the face of America" is NOT speaking persona, or joking. Your heart is SO ugly you DON'T represent America or GOP. BOYCOTT his business. (Pv. 26:19, 16:18; I Sam. 16:7) Wisdom from Chumps "favorite" (to keep on a shelf) book! It's the thick, black, UN-used one.

I FULLY support your 'Dump the Trump' rally. 100 percent true: To be silent in the face of hate speech is to be complicit in it. He DOESN'T represent the majority of the GOP! @Domingotexas

#DonaldTrumpsGoogleHistory Morality, bully, insult, insecurity, egomaniac, narcissist, arrogance, blowhard, policy "empty suit" definitions?

Chump is trying to get in everyone's good graces playing Santa Claus, giving tax rebates that BLOW UP OUR debt, and interest on it. Democrats do the same with handouts!

DON'T expect the mainstream media to go against Chump much, as they feel Hillary can beat him. If he's ever the Republican nominee and polls show otherwise, they'll turn on him (good for ratings).

Arrogant one says Hillary's become "LOUD and obnoxious?" OK for a male like Chump, but not a woman? Pot calling the kettle black; takes one to know one times 10!

Trump wants a middle class tax cut. He is FINALLY talking SENSE, and has opened my 100 percent closed ear up until this point. Maybe he's getting more serious—GOOD!

The ideas expressed here since January 2015 DESTROY Chump, by God's grace alone. He is SO beatable! I will BEAT you in ANY debate—take me up on it CHUMP! @RealDonaldTrump

IF Republicans nominate CHUMP, I've lost ALL respect for the SUPPOSED smart and moral party! We REALLY are backwoods hicks with ZERO brains that Sen. Graham could beat in!

CHUMPLESS DEBATE

(1/18/16)

I'd do almost anything to have a decent GOP'er, but no one listened to me all year long say #RomneyRubio2016. LOSE and it'll be "I told you so" time.

Serious candidate (Hillary) vs. clown/joke candidate with FEW morals, radical statements and no coherence for a year. Building a BAD GOP legacy/reputation!

Bernie is who is impressing me, NOT for all his policies, but he's sincere, zealous, honest and an angry outsider wanting to SOLVE problems. Wake UP, GOP!

Because the percent of Christians who are carnal is SO high, Trump is seriously touted by some "Christians." Revival starts in the church, where discipling fixes carnality.

Chump says he'll be the greatest president in history. Braggadocious, arrogant, egotistical IDIOT! He will NOT be president. OPPOSE him, GOP mainstreamers!

Republicans MUST unite to one nominee. I suggest anyone but Chump, and hopefully NOT Cruz. I'm the smartest guy, graduated at ~top from Wharton? LIE! Who cares?

Clinton was the Womanizer-in-Chief? Trump's history gives Bill a run for his money. Gingrich had too many divorces? #DumpCHUMP gets a pass on that too? C'mon!

When I come home from work and dinner's not on the table I go through the roof. -Donald Trump; again I can't get through all the A & E show, as Chump's SO obnoxious, with his OWN words.

I'll be HAPPY to be the lone voice avidly opposing #DumpTrump from the Republican side. I'll debate him publicly anytime, anywhere. He's a "LOSER!"

#DumpTrump has as much chance of bringing America together as a wife beater can become a marriage counselor! HE IS A DIVIDER-IN-CHIEF, and WILL lose!

BAD judgment, Donald Trump: "my business was so powerful for me [I lost two marriages]. I don't know if that's a good thing or a bad thing."

Wasn't Robert Jeffress the pastor raising a stink about Romney's Mormonism in the 2012 election? He was for the Christian Rick Perry but now for the "lost" Trump? WOW!

A Republican talk radio pundit TRIED to say the GOP schism is GOOD for the party. NOT AT THIS LATE DATE, Mike! Unity or defeat, and NOT unity to Chump. A LOSS is coming.

Chump on the Today Show says Cruz is a nasty guy (true). Takes one to know one and the pot calling kettle black, CHUMP! Anti-POW, Mexicans, Muslims; TRYING to be nice now! Hypocrite!

Chump has ALWAYS selfishly/arrogantly DEMANDED his way or highway, be it the third party threat, boycotting Megyn Kelly, or peers be "nice" to me. Big BABY!

Analysis of a Trump voter: LEGITIMATELY SICK of D.C. politicians, no one in the GOP is as entertaining, many RIGHT views after he stumbled onto them, and IGNORE morals, as you've got to win.

Please be nice and go easy on Chump; he had a troubled childhood, and you can be SO mean as a left-winged journalist! (SARCASM) @MegynKelly

Have you heard ONE public peep from Jerry Falwell Jr. on any moral issue since his dad's departure? Now he's a Christian "leader" to Chump? Wake UP.

It is HYPOCRISY for any Christian leader to CLAIM their values affect their political decisions, then to support @realDonaldTrump Sin so you get power? (Yes!)

When the GOP nominates Chump, it will REINFORCE the stereotype of rich WASP party who hate the poor, minorities and immigrants. That's strategically DUMB!

Morally-conscious people teach kids that winning at all costs is evil, yet MANY will support Chump. They ALSO know HYPOCRISY is a sin. #DumpTrump NOW!

I'm AMAZED no Republican running ads SIMPLY using Chumps OWN words against him from his liberal past, and asking "can you trust him?" STUPID strategists?

SKIP THE DEBATE! The IQ in the room will RISE, and AMERICA DOES NOT NEED YOU, ARROGANT ONE! @realDonaldTrump #DumpCHUMP NOW!

.@megynkelly NOW you're a "HUGE" hero of mine! If your presence keeps Chump off stage, you've done a civic service for our great country! Be strong and be yourself.

I had NEVER heard of Jerry Falwell JUNIOR until this week! His DAD was a Christian leader! Pastors are leaders! Having a last name is NOT a ministry accomplishment!

Is the chancellor of Baylor now going to be a 'Christian leader' endorsing candidates, or Wheaton? Jerry SENIOR did a lot. Junior, nothing anyone has ever heard of, in political circles!

Seems it's time to remind that 'elephants never forget.' Here's even more of the MANY reasons Trump should NOT represent Republicans, and LOSES to HILLARY...

Birther on Cruz and @POTUS. Might rip up contract NOT to go third party. Bomb the s__t out of ISIS- Need MORE? Past DEMOCRAT ties and positions. Received a "little" loan of $ one million from daddy.

PROUD of all the beautiful women he's "had." DISrespected George Bush keeping us safe. Run-in with Miss Universe for Fox-TWICE (peaceful man?). Several Muslims were cheering in New Jersey, the Bible's my favorite (UNREAD) book.

Zero business tax and tariffs on China solve our debt. Despite MANY good policies, Republicans can field a MUCH MORE respectable nominee, and ALWAYS has.

Cuts ties with NBC, who gave him his Apprentice Show, then drops lawsuit with the Hispanic media business. Does anyone with a brain think any disabled people warmed up to his mocking that reporter?

JUST got a speeding WARNING after saying I was stressed listening to news about Chump as the Republican nominee. NO speeding ticket. Nice cop! Truth sets you FREE.

NOW's the time/debate to POUNCE on Chump's negatives, NOT Cruz, as a TRUE GOP team!

.@GOP @RNC has a HUGE opportunity to #DumpTrump JUST before Ohio (et al) by a great, peaceful, substantive, unified debate AGAINST Chump! TAKE that opportunity!

Chump CAN'T win with his Fox snub. Either he's a CHICKEN or he relents and becomes a flip-flopper! Either way #DumpChump!

"We've seen over the last several months that Mr. Trump has repeatedly chosen to kick reporters out of the room for asking tough questions." Truth from Josh Earnest

Chump has taught all future candidates that the media is a business, and whatever gets them ratings is how YOU get exposure! Content and character appear to be secondary!

It's about PR, getting attention; for business it's for ratings and listening customers; for politicians it's for supporters/donors and voters. DON'T BE A sheep! Think INDEPENDENTLY!

Trump has MANY good ideas. IF you listed Trump's policies without his name attached, I'd probably be for 80 percent plus of them. Attach his name, and I'm for ZERO of them! Shooting the messenger!?

Democrats have been virtually SILENT, as they're letting the GOP attack Chump, for now. ALL this works 100 percent in Hillary's favor, as if Chump were a Democrat mole!

The BIGgest miscalculation of pundits is that ANTI-Trump voters surpass his CURRENT supporters in the general election! The ONLY justification for his not being taken down yet is everyone else was quite BORING! I've said this for about one year. ENERGY!

Anything for a win, kids. That's from the party of values voters and religious right. Win at all costs, or as a guy said recently, "if you're not cheatin,' you're not tryin'"

Everyone's trying to cajole Chump to show tonight. I WANT him gone, absent and hiding under a rock—for good! The Trump-less debate is a GOP ideal!

Any Chump supporters teach their kids you CAN insult your way to the GOP nomination, and win at ALL costs! POOR role models and "huge" MORAL "losers!"

NO podium and INDIRECT name references vs. an empty podium and naming Donnie directly is better for avoiding the attention he SO craves! @MegynKelly @FoxNews

Has anyone seen out of the THOUSANDS+ of reputable pastors in America, only one has publicly spoken for Chump, and he seeks power every election cycle.

Presidential temperament. New American Common Sense Dictionary—"OPPOSITE of Donald J. Trump." #DumpChump Go build hotels big enough for your ego!

I got along with/gave money to Democrats and Republicans (legal bribe access to power)? Chameleons say anything and spin it all positive.

Our politicians are stupid. Backlash. I got along with everyone and can make deals with Schumer and Pelosi. BACKLASH DETERMINES ALL CHUMP'S CLAIMED BELIEFS!

The ONLY group Chump hasn't YET insulted is African-Americans. GIVE HIM TIME. He's got too many feet in his mouth for any room for one more, folks.

FoxNews fight, kisses up with Ailes, then fights again. YOU BUY HIS FALSE REPENTANCE? He plays you like a FOOL, America. II Th. 2:11

He attacks Bill Clinton from a position of being guilty of the same promiscuity! The pot calls the kettle black, and no one calls him on it. ARE YOU SCARED of Trump?

He likely had hair work done, but because a reporter asked the wrong question about the specific procedure, he said "it's my hair," and you asked no follow-up.

The question was NOT "is that your real hair," but has any person outside yourself ever performed a transplant, weave, or other medical procedure with your hair?

I would NEVER insult a disabled person? LOOK AT THE VIDEO! NO ONE accidentally shrivels their arms to emote. NO ONE ASKS FOR LIE DETECTORS. Why? Are you scared?

He took legal, personal advantage of our bankruptcy laws and we consider him a biz wiz? Taxpayers bailed him out when he's richer than most! DUMB.

He was close with Hillary (went to her wedding). You REALLY believe he's a conservative at heart? 'I've had many women' does NOT mean as secretaries or business partners, but sexual exploitation. DO YOU HAVE ANY MORALS, CHUMP SUPPORTERS? The answer is obvious.

I'm very, very rich. WHO GIVES A DA_N, @RealDonaldTrump. You will be destitute in Hell or completely broke if for any reason you are Heaven-bound. BROKE.

I'm very, very smart. You may be smart (very, very is an exaggeration). You're very, very arrogant, and God sees all.

I love the Bible—my favorite book (though I can't even rightly name one of the largest books of the New Testament). LIAR! @RealDonaldTrump Pants on fire.

I'm 'gonna take care of the Christians? WE DON'T NEED THE DEVIL'S MAN PROMISING US ANYTHING! Get saved today, Donnie. Jn. 3:16 God will protect you then.

I could shoot a person and lose no support. That's how STUPID your followers are, and how ARROGANT you are. NOT virtues, says your "favorite" book, Donnie Chump.

The SAME MINDLESS spirit that propelled Obama to hysterical masses eight years ago is alive again in support of Chump, and they can't even see it! DUMB!

Pre-teens make fun of faces (Ex.: Fiorina, Paul). My 13 year olds have GROWN up enough to not do such thing anymore, if they ever did, #DumpTrump!

The pastor of church Chump CLAIMED to be a member of even said he was NOT such.

I will commend Donnie on one thing—he's excellent at manipulating people and the media as he understands they are a business in it for profits.

In nearly every debate, if someone likes something he says or proposes, he all of a sudden likes them. Otherwise they're his enemy. PRESIDENTIAL?

In MOST of the early debates all he had was generalities—I'm going to fix that, we'll look into that, we will win and make America great. THAT IS NOT INSIGHT, FOLKS.

IF that many U.S. voters are SO dumb they buy I'm smart and rich, go America, hope and change, future politicians MUST appeal mainly to EMOTION! Tap dance and sing?

Welcome to the party, ONE YEAR LATE! @RealDonaldTrump [says the Supreme Court's gay marriage decision was wrong]. SO insincerely kissing up for the religious right vote with that timing!

You CAN'T trust anyone who'll say anything to get elected, as lies and contradictions are sure to be part of their mantra! With politicians, DEEDS speak louder than words.

The day before the first voter, Chump sees polls, index finger to the wind, discovers he's missing Christian support so devises a 1-liner about our year-old Supreme Court concern?

What I've learned from the 2016 election season is if you say radical things and that you love every constituency you need, people are gullible that you are a good guy or mean it.

Chump is getting nicey-nicey on the Today Show regarding Cruz and Rubio. ANOTHER bi-polar mood shift! Flip-flopping. He LIES he's doing well with Christians.

Chump as GOP nom is a ~guaranteed LOSS. Republicans won't win. At least do so with some class and dignity, and NOT alienating future voters in groups he's offended!

Romney-Rubio was the Republican's BEST chance, but Romney's four past hoof-in-mouths had to be overcome, with zeal and right positions. SAD year for Republicans! You made/allowed Hillary!

In the spirit of Davy Crockett's "You can all go to Hell—I'm going to Texas," Republicans can all go for Chump; my wife and I will NOT vote in Texas. Remember the Alamo!

#CRUSHTRUMP
(3/20/16)

Why is the effort to #CrushTrump is SO important: First, why it's NOT...

1. NOT to spare any corrupt politicians' careers.
2. NOT because I believe he'll beat Hillary.
3. NOT to maintain status quo Washington.
4. NOT because I believe MOST of what Chump proposes is bad. The reason Trump must be stopped is several-fold:
 1. He obliterates MOST of what Reagan built and the reputation for dignity and decency ALL GOP candidates (but ~Nixon) had for a LONG time past.
 2. Chump HURTS the GOP's chances down the scale (Congress, state, etc.).
 3. Chump teaches younger generations WRONG behavior lessons!

I can NEVER tell my kids to be like Chump vs. to "Be like Mike" (Jordan), nor am I able to explain to them why a "grown" man acts that way. 'Crazy' sort of works.

We are supposed to admire and look up to our top leader(s)—NOT have to hide our faces in shame and apologize for their behavior and mis-spoken words!

And, finally, politically there are good and godly men and women in Congress who have sacrificed and worked hard to be and do what they are and have done.

Through the decades, many of them have spent months away from their family, and labored long hours to be true public servants. Trumpsters contributed NOTHING!

And, YES, SOME are bums who NEED to be thrown out (but that's USUALLY 'someone NOT from my state' seems to be MOST voter's opinion). Let me state CLEARLY:

Chump was created by angry voters TIRED of business-as-USUAL D.C., and angry for GOOD reason! Obama's failed actions on THESE issues are perceived as being AGREED to by the current batch of GOP politicians: ISIS's rise, debt increase nearly as great as past the four presidents COMBINED, unsuccessful Obamacare crammed down tax-payer's throat, an anemic economy that barely got going until LATE in his presidency, and included MUCH outsourcing and immigration that HURT American workers (competitors shipped in and decent jobs shipped out), and executive amnesty, which gave Democrats MORE voters by rewarding ILLEGAL behavior, changed American demographics to a more international culture and FURTHER put pressure on limited, wage-reducing job opportunities.

And YET, I have yet to hear ONE apology from the D.C. establishment! Boehner was pressured out as House Speaker, but the natives are restless and are NOT satisfied.

They want hides, and heads to roll. They care not who will do their bidding (OBVIOUSLY), so Chump fits the bill. The BAD and SAD thing is many in the GOP Congress were TRYING, meaning and intending to get something done, as opposed to permanent gridlock! Taxpayers clamor when money's spent doing nothing, and when bad things get done!

It's not catch 22 for them, but when the OTHER party insists on 'my way or the highway,' they can either fight and cause gridlock or go along to get along and pass BAD policies.

Democrats, in short, MUST be as reasonable as Republicans, no matter who's in charge. To find common ground REQUIRES a desire so to do (by BOTH sides).

Seek-and-destroy mission attitudes are henceforth UN-acceptable, because always fighting and/or always inaction are BOTH UN-acceptable!

We have a way that will fix all this, but its success depends on YOU the voter REQUIRING your party to be open-minded and reasonable for the best interests of our nation MORE THAN only party victories!

Biased, selfish, me first attitudes WILL ruin our nation, if not send us into chaos and divisive separateness!

It is YOU, the voter, who has the answer and who IS the answer! If you do not part from the all-or-nothing demands on Congress for your extremes, we're SUNK!

PLEASE consider running for political office in 2020 to wrestle victory out of this mouth of defeat, to defeat status quo without the need for any third 3rd party, without gridlock, without BAD compromised legislation, without extremes, and without Kumbaya unity between the two major parties. See our newest website for details, AmericanAnswers.org, as well as our three political books, Dumb as a Donkey, Fat as an Elephant, Wit and Wisdom, and The Way Things Ought To Be.

The solutions are simple. The common sense common ground policies are explainable and easy IF the will to do so exists. Get TIRED of business-as-USUAL D.C. for one more round, and you should be ready!

Trump will NOT deliver what conservative extremists want, for he will NOT beat Hillary, and she will be more of the same failed Obama agenda.

Get tired of those two extreme options, get SICK of Washington gridlock, fighting, waste, inaction and BAD compromises. SEE that your party is imperfect.

Understand how life would be if ONLY your party won on every issue, and understand that that will NOT happen, for we have checks-and-balances. LEARN, voter!

There COULDN'T be a better man for the job! [fxn.ws/1LyzR6B] @PRyan @SpeakerRyan Praying for you. Balance the people's voice with the party's reputation! [Brokered Convention leader article].

P.S.: If we can get Democrat and Republican politicians pledged to right (i.e., common sense common ground) policies for 2020, they could KEEP their careers, and the U.S. could be BETTERED!

The ONLY hope the GOP has in retaining any semblance of a good reputation is for its leadership to defeat Chump's nomination any legal way. #NeverTrump

RubioRomney as third party! The GOP's going to lose anyway; why not have one ticket that's respectable? @GOP @RNC A recent poll said 30 percent of the GOP will consider a third party—utilize that fact.

I 100 percent support #TrumpCruz as the GOP ticket, and NO OTHER VP's, to teach conservatives a lesson. I WON'T vote for that ticket. Conservatives are over-confident and arrogant this year (That's a PROBLEM!).

I even argue it's UNFAIR and could DIS-courage future GOOD candidates from running if they spending 1.5 years and much money to have it stolen from them, #GOP!

DEFUNDING PLANNED PARENTHOOD

(5/18/18)

I'm NOT addressing the merits, here, but telling you EXACTLY why CHUMP is doing this... everything he'll do the next 1.5 years is to win Christian voters for 2020! ALL of life is about SELF, to him, when JESUS taught the EXACT opposite! (Lk. 9:23) #FAKEChristian and #CarnalVotes

Denying federal funds to Planned Parenthoods that discuss the abortion option is forbidding people to be informed of their legal rights. They OUGHT to be informed of ALL their options, including adoption and motherhood, and NOT just steered to one or the other. It's NOT government's business to keep people ignorant. 45 is groveling for votes!

Let's re-address abortion (as bored as I'll be, doing so)... Roe is the law of the land. Until it's not, you have to obey it. If you want to change it, overturn it. You've got to get enough people in the populous to agree that that's what politicians should do, then you need a lawsuit that qualifies (i.e., jurisdiction and standing) to challenge it.

The BEST you can hope for is it returns to state's rights, where states can ban all abortions, all but the three exceptions, or not ban any. If we returned to such a scattered tapestry of state laws, equal protection will be argued in court, as being violated. Even if you withstand that, lawsuits and laws would have to address rights of women in red states getting abortions elsewhere, and who pays what!

The HUGE problem with abortion banning advocates is they're HORRIBLE at convincing females and society that killing babies is evil and unacceptable! So they back IDIOTS like CHUMP, to make up for their own inadequacies at convincing, all in a self-righteous certainty that people should be forced not to abort, even though there are TWO parties to that decision, not including the father.

Both the baby and the mother are sinners, so the "innocent" argument only goes so far, but certainly the baby isn't given any say in their life or death—which is WRONG. If carrying a baby nine months were cheap, and pain free, and little-to-no interruption to what a woman would do if not pregnant, maybe they'd abort less! Work on fixes to that.

Women are inevitably going to get pregnant, and not have wanted to! That's reality. Not everyone plans well, or resists spur-of-the-moment emotions! Sometimes contraception fails, but much more often we act more instinctively like animals, in sexual prowess, and forget the consequences.

The media should SHAME any people trying to force women to be ignorant of their medical and legal options! Government's job is NOT to dumb-down, or de-educate women, but to fully educate. Again, people wanting all abortions banned are terrible at marketing. They can't convince people. NO influence. POOR communication skills!

Show on a BIG screen outside your church of an abortion (grey out the details). On full loud mode, broadcast any screams, and show the pain inflicted on the baby. Show that it's a baby, vs. a body growth. Hone in on the heartbeat. Show limbs ripped from torsos, or death by sucking vacuum!

Run an infomercial, or billboards. Run a 30-second national TV ad. Get your lazy butts out of Trump's ugly butt, and do something more than show how spiritually WEAK you are, kissing up to Caesar for your own lack of power through God! You aren't good strategic thinkers, but failures, asking Uncle Sam to do YOUR jobs.

When a woman is heading to Planned Parenthood, it's too LATE, in most cases! You don't have relationships with lost people! #HolyHuddles Jesus dined with sinners. You disdain them, and more covertly pass laws to infringe on their medical and legal rights, from your cloistered steeple retail religious big businesses, in business, often, for money! #SorryToSay

You should be loudly advocating the morning after pill within 72 hours of unplanned or unwanted sex! That kills NO baby! Conception hasn't yet occurred. Instead, many of you are FOOled and duped by Chump's pandering for your vote to keep the stupidest, least prepared and least moral president in our lifetime.

CAN YOU BE PROUD OF THAT FREE-WILLED DECISION? If so, leave the ministry! You are weak and timid and wusses—NOT like Jesus! I just gave you THREE better choices; find ways for easier and cheaper pregnancy, Plan B within three days, and advocate for safe sex, planning, and know lost females! WILL YOU DO THOSE? No!

If a person is so opposed to any abortions for any reason (including rape, incest, mother's life) FIX THIS: costs, pain, inconvenience to lifestyle for nine months. You can argue those are selfish complaints, but women have other legal options, until Roe's overturned.

What are you doing to get the public for that? NOTHING! Just force it through Hitler #2 edicts and Supreme Court (SCOTUS) picks. You prove your own weakness and failure to influence society, because people know church is NOT powerful, except as a political lobby—NOT at changing minds for the good/better/moral, as they're supposed to be! #Losing (I Cor. 4:20)

You deceive yourself that the world sees your sermons! A few tune in, but it's AGAINST their only spiritual nature! Jesus went TO the lost sheep. He interacted with them where they lived! He did NOT try to lure them to hear Him at a religious building. THAT's where you fail, 100 percent. Do you care that you're failing?

SHOW the public where aborted fetuses end up... hazardous medical waste bags, and dumps, perhaps burned, or rarely buried. SHOW them thrown together with interspersed body parts in hospitals. SHOW the baby in one piece, then separated by slaughter, and dismemberment. You SHOW TV ads of Christian testimonies.

Show testimonies of LOST people regretting aborting. Discuss their psychological pain which can traumatize them for years. SHOW testimonies of people whose parents considered aborting them, like James Robison. STOP deluding yourself that lost people watch much Christian TV! You're preaching to the converted choir!

Roe will NEVER be overturned, using your methods, and if it were (i.e., by SCOTUS picks), the resentment against Christians would lead THOUSANDS to hell, wanting NOTHING to do with our Jesus! You are HORRIBLE strategists, and should stick to what you're decent at—sermons to Christians, until you grow up and learn how to lead and influence culture rightly.

A majority in America must want Roe overturned, for you to get your goals the right way. WHAT, if anything are you doing to achieve that? NOTHING that I ever see! #Losers And Roe got overturned, what about rape and incest? How do you prove it? And for the mother's life, what's the dad's role in that decision?

And if red states banned all abortions, or all but those three exceptions, and were willing to pay medical and travel costs to get abortions in blue states, by women in red states who wanted one, MAYBE you'd convince more in the public to overturn Roe. I've made my point—you can't influence culture well!

EVEN if you passed a national law that no one can have unplanned sex, or sex that could lead to pregnancy, IF they aren't sure they want to become parents, NOT everyone obeys laws! I've addressed REALITY. Conservatives often address fantasy. Pinocchio pipe dreams make BAD public policy!

DIVIDER-IN-CHIEF

(1/21/17)

We have satellites and telescopes tracking potential earth-impacting meteors. Is anyone at the White House making premises plans if Chump gets God's DESERVED judgment?

For any aliens that may (but DON'T) exist, many humans in America believe a man can insult MOST Americans, then demand unity behind him. That's an alien nation!

.@StephenBaldwin7 HOW can the rapist be the rape counselor too? Chump CAN'T unite what HE caused! <http://fxn.ws/2k53i4i> It's the 'ol 'get on board' line!

Trump supporters say it's Americas duty to rally behind the president? NO prior president has divided people by his OWN INITIATIVE! NO reason to be for him!

The GOP told #NeverTrump to 'get in line;' LITERALLY the words of kiss-up @Reince Now they're telling ALL of America to do the same! YOUR man started it all, and NEVER stopped.

Uniting behind Chump is like a home invader demanding his robbed victims help him load the van.
#NotMyPresident #TheResistance #NeverTrump

WHERE WERE THE UNITY CALLS when CHUMP said ban all Muslims, women are fat pigs to be grabbed by the __, POW's are losers, his favorite verse was in TWO Corinthians?

WHERE WERE THE UNITY CALLS when CHUMP said MOST illegals are rapists and criminals, Jeb's dumb as box or rocks, McCain's a loser, and the P and Sh words, publicly?

WHERE WERE THE UNITY CALLS of CHUMP from the day he announced until July 1, 2016? NO one forgets, MORON @POTUS! You are united for Hell—beware! John 3:16

WHERE WERE THE UNITY CALLS when one GOP candidate was told he couldn't win running as dog catcher, little Marco, George Bush didn't keep us safe? @POTUS

WHERE WERE THE UNITY CALLS when you physically mocked a disabled news reporter, @POTUS? You can NOT live down your freely chosen very RECENT past!

WHERE WERE THE UNITY CALLS when Chump showed NO evidence he had one iota of an idea what being a Christian meant? There were SEVERAL, following:

His own pastor doesn't hardly know him, 'I've never asked forgiveness for anything,' I'm a Christian—one year later now I'm a baby Christian, favorite verse is an eye for an eye?

DONALD TRUMP

(7/9/15)

Dr. Jekyll Trump: Illegals from Mexico are rapists and criminals; some, I guess are good.

Mr. Hyde Trump: I love Mexicans. I will win the Hispanic vote.

Anyone who supports Trump arrogantly insulting other GOP candidates, wanting to sue everyone and never apologizing—CHECK YOUR MORALS, and Intelligence!

EVEN if Trump has some good points, he is NOT the right messenger! He polarizes, offends, brags, misspeaks and is an arrogant blowhard—NOT representative of Republicans.

Donnie: When you are bold and demanding against something, make sure it's something BAD and you speak accurately and in percentages! I HOPE #DumpTrump goes viral!

Plus, Trump has ZERO plan for overcoming gridlock, unless he'll do executive fiat, like Obama. DON'T BE intimidated by his bravado—he's a blowhard!

@RealDonaldTrump you're a DISgrace to America, NOT respecting @SenJohnMcCain's service to keep you able to speak like a FOOL—'I like people who weren't captured.' No one insults a man who was shot down, imprisoned, tortured five years to keep America free. You are a TRAITOR, Mr. take a #DumpTrump! A REAL loser and money idolizing FAKE Christian egotist! Trump is a REAL Democrat's dream! He CLAIMS to be GOP, hurts them with Hispanics and moral people, then can go independent and siphon off GOP votes, like Perot did!

Trump says 'I don't like losers,' and certainly the Bible teaches to strive to win (I Cor. 9:24), but also doing it by the rules (II Tim. 2:4).

Trump's a moral 'loser.' How so? Success is defined at Josh. 1:8! By GOD's (vs. your) definition, Donnie, HOW could these be successes/winners? (Ac. 3:6; Lk. 9:58; Phil. 4:11-13). I warn you, SIGN THE GIVING PLEDGE! (I Tim. 6:17-19) @RealDonaldTrump

Trump's highlighting another UN-just U.S. secret: If you're rich, or have connections, you can get out of conscription or get a cushy job away from fire power!

Boycotting ALL Trump enterprises 100 percent may be the ONLY way to get a BIT of humility from one who cites the Bible to Franklin Graham (Heb. 13:8). #DumpTrump

You didn't like the Vietnam War and can't remember which foot had bone spurs? You WOULDN'T understand 'Theirs is not to question why, theirs is but to do and die,' who served there! The Vietnam War WAS mishandled, and many vets DID protest having to die for no good reason, AS THEY SHOULD, but they first WENT THERE, Donald Duck!

Blame the media for your foot-in-mouth disease @RealDonaldTrump? Leaders take responsibility! You're making Biden look eloquent, and need to run against you!

'Shock and spin' is Trump's media method. Offend, mis-speak, insult—do anything to get the media there, then turn it into 'I care about helping ___' (group/issue).

I like winners/I like those who AREN'T captured SPUN into concern for VA problems in treating our vets? You're a FOOL if you believe Donald Duck. #DumpTrump!

What's next? Trump will quote Clayton Williams' "just relax and enjoy it" statement, then spinning it into an ERA or glass ceiling push?

Donald Trump added you to list donaldtrumpfire/i-am-smart

Donald Trump added you to list donaldtrumpfire/beautiful-women-love-me

Continued

(7/17/15)

One of smartest men who'll win the Hispanic vote with jobs? Minimum wage construction jobs of hotels? #DumpTrump

The economy grows when current business' sales improve or new businesses start, which meet a need, desire or unmet niche. America needs more HOTELS, Donald Duck?

EXPECT the Donald to say lower taxes and regulations—standard fare conservative economic theory. I've addressed problems with it three times. He's no MBA from "Wharton."

At LEAST Bill Clinton has stated high tech, manufacturing and small business as future growth sectors, and Rick Perry says oil jobs. Trump says NOTHING, just promises!

He DOESN'T even address closed borders correctly. The threat is ECONOMIC! Does anyone know if illegals as criminals are a higher percent than Americans?

MORE illegals lower your wages, over time, and the number of jobs available to you. Sure, we DON'T KNOW if criminals and terrorists come in also, so secure our borders NOW!

Our colossal debt is also a HUGE detriment to economic growth. How does Trump plan to lower it to more REASONABLE levels? Hype and Hysteria!

Continued

(8/10/15)

The solutions I've tweeted since January destroy Trump, and I'll debate him anytime, anywhere to show his fraudulent appeal. He's a LOSING cause!

Trump is an experiment in how DUMB and forgetful voters are. IF you ONLY remember what he's already said, anything else will NEVER nullify it!

You want entertainment in a politician? No problem. You want the Republican establishment rocked. Often needed! You want Trump as President? You need your head examined! #TRUTH!

Chump is a Republican pariah. Perot (with his EDS) wanted a national electronic town hall. Perhaps Mr. T REALLY wants to build a border fence as his next BIG construction project/business deal?

CHUMP is HURTING Republicans, and SERIOUS candidates for SELF and show. BOYCOTT ALL his businesses! Kick him OUT of the GOP! @RNC @GOP #DumpTrump Democrat MOLE?! Certainly a political chameleon!

FORCING Chump to go third party is better than voluntarily, or staying in the GOP and tarnishing an already iffy loss recorded party! Excommunicate #DamagingDonald!

IF Chump MAY go third party when his numbers drop or the GOP is 'not nice' to the NOT NICE NERD, he's controlling you, GOP. Who's in charge here? The asylum's INMATE!

Trump's the BIG elephant in the room? The 16 elephants are FINE! It's the CLOWN who's making this a circus vs. making a BIGger tent! #DumpTrump

With Chump, voters run for the popcorn, NOT the polling booths! America NEEDS no Maniac-in-Chief! There are medications for your illness!

In a weird way, Megyn Kelly as a victim helps MORE women (53 percent of the population) consider Republicans, especially if misogynist Trump is dumped by the GOP. #DumpTrump

Continued
(8/11/15)

The Chump Trump ONLY speaks correctly and finds issues to stand for when he first sticks his foot completely in his mouth, then spins it opposite (positive)!

Anti-establishment and energy are ALL voters polling for Chump are for—EXACTLY what I've called for since January—WAY before Chump had any such positions!

Conservatives who are on the Trump train wreck bandwagon are CERTIFIABLE! They'd vote for Hitler if he parroted their beliefs, even insincerely!

NOT that Chump has any charisma. He confuses and substitutes bravado and bluster for charm! Bill Clinton had charm, Obama charisma, at first! Reagan, BOTH!

Would you trust him with a nuclear briefcase? It's VERY sad the other 16 don't have much charisma, so conservatives are desperate and cling to such a Chump! SAD!

Chump is RIGHT on anchor babies and the Iran deal. Even blind people sometimes hit the target in darts games. #DumpTrump Chump has taught candidates the value of media attention more than just campaigning or name recognition! Republicans may need MORE debates for NON shock jocks in 2020.

Chump wants a wall, now a LaGuardia makeover. Is he Bob the Builder (NO we CAN'T!) who thinks over-developing is how you improve an economy?

EXCELLENT comments on Chump WRONGLY wrapping himself in your dad's HEROIC legend. MORE honesty from the Reagans! THANKS Michael! @reaganworld

Trump CONFUSES non-PC with rudeness. The solution to political correctness is NOT harsh, mean, insulting, brash ego, but TRUTH and morality based on God's word, Donald Duck Chump.

It's one thing to be a second chances/forgiving nation; it's QUITE another to ACCEPT Chump getting serious and overlooking his clown-like DISRESPECT for the highest office!

There are SO many DUMB people in U.S.A. today! One just blocked me as being for Trump because she couldn't understand PLAIN ENGLISH where I was roasting him. Dumbed-down U.S.A.

Bacon on assault rifle (Cruz) and smashing a cell phone like a piñata (Graham)? PR stunts do NOT substitute for being interesting or having charisma! You NEED media attention.

Any who READ my tweets from January on KNOW I said the GOP field was BORING (till Chump). WHY are you so unexciting going for the number one job in the world? You DESERVE to lose!

The media are NOT required to cover you! You've got to be news worthy! @MarkDavis says celebrity acts, unique acts or what affects the masses gets media attention.

CHUMP tells @oreillyfactor there are "many" good Hispanic illegals, when two months ago he said "some, I guess, are good." He NEVER Apologizes or admits errors!

Does anyone doubt the mainstream media WILL turn on Chump once the political season gets serious, if he has a chance of beating Hillary (and end their ratings love fest)?

FAKE NEWS & ALTERNATIVE FACTS

(1/26/17)

There has been a lot of talk lately about fake news and alternative facts. I've heard 30 seconds of talk radio since November, and today I heard Sean Hannity say Chump said:

Some illegals are rapists and criminals; he said it TWICE. We ALL know that's WRONG with that—Chump said 'MOST,' but some are good, he supposed. One word changed it all!

Now did I just ironically catch Hannity misspeak or having a bad moment, or on such an important topic was DT's errand boy AGAIN carrying DT's water?

FEW can know, but intention does NOT matter in this case. The issue is will he retract the statement, like credible newspapers do when they screw up, or will many bubbas in the audience never even catch it?

The U.S. can't move forward with inaccuracy or propaganda. Truth and facts are not subjective. If this were a MINOR issue, the misstep might not matter. If it's something more sinister, it hurts our nation! It would be Chump using the right-wing media to cover his mistakes, INSTEAD of acknowledging and apologizing—something arrogant one NEVER does!

Here's how EVIL politics and even religion can be. Enemies of the TRUTH could call this message being PC, word police, judging or use these verses to attack this attempted accountability:

Rom. 16:17; I Tim. 6:4; II Tim. 2:14 (vs. Eph. 5:11). Trust me, I know all the tricks, and expose them here and reveal most of them on our new political website, when online!

It's VERY evil when you try to attack or suppress truth in your various evil ways! (Isa. 5:20) Delusion is NOT good, nor is denial—that African river!

Along with the Border Patrol executive today, I smell a rat, and a purge of any opposition voices! North Korean-like DICTATORSHIP tendencies! <http://cnm.it/2jBZDdI> DON'T let Trump deceive you! A report said they were not sure if the Border Patrol head resigned or was fired. Given the State Department executives today, Chump said—you're fired! DUH.

IF D.C. politicians are going to play fast and loose with the facts, KNOWING the public has to rely on someone informing us who's at the scene or on the ground, God help US!

There exists NO SUCH THING as an alternative fact. There are lies, there are mistaken opinions, even accidental verbal slip-up's, but facts are facts!

FOREIGN POLICY CAP FEATHERS, FLIP-FLOPS & FAILURES

(5/23/18)

A brief history of Chumps FAILED foreign policy (NOT addressing his many related fill-in cabinet members, inconsistently serving because their "boss" is skitzo/inconsistent):

His campaign had the world on edge that he's unpredictably erratic and/or impulsive; and is unsure 'America first' doesn't mean scr_w the world, which he (later) has to explain to the E.U. (and arrogantly pushes Montenegro's Prime Minister out of the way, so self can be in front of the limelight at the NATO Summit, further estranging relations).

He calls North Korea's head a 'smart cookie,' then flip-flops to calling him 'rocket man.' The Winter Olympics hit, and South Korea's president unites Korean sports teams in a gesture of goodwill, that also opens diplomatic relations (as with China working on North Korea to limit their nuclear missile test launches). Then, more recently, Un likely has a failed underground launch facility, so he's willing to abandon it, to appear open to peace.

The world sees a chance at the Korean War's official ending, and D.T. offers a Summit meeting. Then he does two joint military exercises that completely do the opposite of show goodwill (like Un had done with three prisoners released—NOT exchanged), and D.T. goes from his followers calling for the Nobel Peace Prize, and him claiming a great win at his alt-right Amway pep rally, to Un calling his B.S./bluff, and threatening 'no deal,' and meeting with China, and calling Chump out on military exercises as OPPOSITE paths/directions to peace (and D.T. threatens to take Un out; that is, KILL the man he had just cozied up to, and said they might strike a peace deal with.

All along, CHUMP biasedly favors Israel for Christian votes in 2020, ruining any chances at the U.S. being leaders involved in a peace deal (not to mention the fact that he campaigned on HIS being the great dealmaker, and he's 'gonna take a stab at solving the Palestinian problem, only to outsource it to his unelected, non-cabinet member son-in-law, all of which falls flat on its face, with his bone-headed Jerusalem embassy and capital of Israel position for the formerly more neutral U.S.A.

Then you have Russia, where Chump was the green room buddy of Putin, says he respects him, and is generally on cordial relations with a dictator, only to turn more hostile toward him in late 2017 (skitzo/flip-flop).

Then you have Iran, where the entire sane world told D.T. not to exit the nuclear deal, so he does, then thinks a new Secretary of State can gloss over his blunderings (which Iran's leadership publicly mocked in the past two days).

Now let's address China, where D.T. claims that he and Xi have a good working relationship, so he then torpedoed that claim with a fierce trade war threat, or two (or more), so the reasonable Chinese leader says we don't need old school win-lose tactics, and tries to appease the madman, only to later threaten retaliation in areas that HURT U.S. economic interests, as a mere response to an attack on his own nation's economic interests, which D.T. started/initiated.

Then Chump speaks to him, and wants to make China great again concerning a telephone company, which ticks off D.T.'s base, and all in an effort to warm Xi up to pressure North Korea to go through with the Summit 45 has already made commemorative coins for.

I'll credit him with the MOAB bomb on ISIS leaders (which we pushed heavily for, tweeting about a mini nuclear bomb; See: 'Consider a Limited Nuclear Option Against ISIS,' in our Indications of Impact section), and the just responses in Syria to Assad gassing his people (the first of which we seriously fought for; See: 'Ivanka Bombed Syria'). So there you have it.

The many problems of his "thinking" are: 1. The good cop/bad cop routine. 2. Skitzo flip-flops. 3. His my-way-or-the-highway threats labeled "negotiating." 4. Seemingly no coherent/cogent plans, or understanding of both the conflicts, or the cures, and, 5. An apparent/obvious arrogance, which somehow believes all other heads of state are too stupid to notice what he does, so they'd be stupid or gullible enough to be played, AS IF they aren't aware of the entire mess I just described.

Now I have stated his two successes, and tried to be completely accurate. If you believe America's international standing has been heightened by all this chaos, you do NOT fall within the historic American tradition!

GET RID OF THE CHUMP

(1/20/16)

I HOPE Chump has a conservative V.P. (NOT a centrist), so the GOP LEARNS both groups need to UNITE to common ground to STOP LOSING! America rejects pure conservatism.

If #DumpTrump wants to WIN over all Republicans say you'll un-do Roe V. Wade and national gay rights. Christians would forgive all [~sarcasm]. Still, NOT 'gonna be the American President.

No one seems to see no one President can achieve all they promise you! It takes Congress, and there's ALWAYS an oppositional party there too! We NEED @Pledgers2020 Wake UP!

Christians considering voting for #dumpCHUMP need to read and heed Lk. 10:27! Your pastor may not teach you that, but I will! #MoralsMatter. Zeal and knowledge! (Rom. 10:2)

I'll bet you're privately seriously regretting the beast you released with that Palin (rogue and rude!) V.P. nod. Keep up your good work, sir! @SenJohnMcCain P.S.: You were and ARE an American HERO, ESPECIALLY SUFFERING as a POW! Thanks for your service! #DumpCHUMP @SenJohnMcCain NEVER disrespect our military!

You are an American HERO, and you should have been the Republican nominee and America's NEXT President. You are Reagan #2! @MittRomney Thanks for all your service! #DumpCHUMP

You are an America HERO, and thanks for ALL your service to America! I hope your health is well and you're enjoying life, @RobertJDole #DumpCHUMP #GOPheroes

Michael Reagan: Trump's no Ronald Reagan - [<http://CNNPolitics.com>; <http://fb.me/4qCWBTtKn>]

Trump INSULTED George Bush, to which @JebBush said "he kept us safe!" #DumpCHUMP He's been more a Democrat all his career. DON'T be deceived, foolish ones. Chameleon.

Most Mexicans who are here are criminals, rapists and drug pushers, Trump? Megyn Kelley has blood coming out of her wherever? Look at that face?

There's lots of material to work with (insulting Rand Paul's face). McCain was NOT a hero? Let CHUMP suffer in a POW prison the next four years! #DumpCHUMP!

Ban all Muslims? Tariffs on China to pay for his plans (per his book). Mexico will pay for a wall? Chump is a Chump, and NO ONE has the courage to say it!

Donald Trump is the WORST GOP nominee we've had in my lifetime. I'm SO disappointed with what HAS been my lifelong party. Sad day in U.S.A.! #DumpChump

There is NO condition under which I or my wife will vote for #DumpCHUMP. Our conscience staying clear is more important than any GOP victory. What about YOU?

Chump NEVER asked God for ANY forgiveness? Hell-bound soul! His favorite book is the Bible, but he calls II Cor. 3:17 "Two Corinthians?" Church, WAKE UP, or be do-dos!

Sign the Giving Pledge, and, MORE importantly, pray to receive Jesus for forgiveness of ALL your sins, or you WILL go to Hell, @RealDonaldTrump (Jn. 3:16)

.@BernieSanders' morals FAR surpass ANY you MAY find if you look hard @RealDonaldTrump.

Donald Trump as #GOP nominee is an affront to ANY claims to being a party of family values or religion, and you LOSE any right to slam liberals as anti-God thereby!

Bill Clinton was Womanizer-in-Chief? Trump's history gives him a run for his money. Gingrich had too many divorces? #DumpCHUMP gets a pass on that, too? C'mon!

Flip-flopper-in-Chief, CHUMP! "He was basically a Democrat before he was a Republican."
–@HillaryClinton, telling the #TRUTH; TRUTH is what matters.

GOP 'HOSTILE TAKE-OVER'

(9/20/18)

We ALL know the ONLY thing Chump cares about is SELF! He has dictatorially usurped the GOP, and run out any and all opposition therein, LIKELY under threat of ruining their re-election chances, if not worse.

He PANDERS to white Christians, giving them things they USUALLY ask for from IGNORANCE! He is the MOST divisive person in politics, and ONLY came to his radical agenda WELL AFTER he became the GOP nominee! Johnny come lately!

His strategy is to demonize all opponents, rid the White House of any independent or objective voices, and scare and intimidate GOOD GOP's from speaking out. He's EVIL.

He knows there is NO WAY to remain in power, given all he has said and done, so his only glimmer of hope is cow-towing to power-deluded white Christian pastors and secular conservatives. Any moral Christians, who have much better and more biblical ideas, or any centrists or independents be damned. He has managed to manipulate EDUCATED (or at least age-experienced) white pastors into equating Christianity with political conservatism! That's QUITE a feat of Bible warping, from the FAKE Christian who then became a baby one, we ALL know isn't even true, who has a Bible on his bedside table he says he loves, and who has NEVER asked for any sin's forgiveness, though that's what salvation is (and he needs SO many apologies, but his pride sin keeps him from ever so doing).

This is the "Christian" who can't even name Second Corinthians correctly, and his favorite Bible verse Jesus changed (i.e., an eye for an eye). But if you FAVOR Israel (the Bible denouncing such, as regards non-terrorist Arabs, though it does say to be for Israel—a balance), and seek to ban all abortions (so dangerous and unsafe ones run rampant, even though one of government's Constitutional roles is to guard the health and safety of all Americans), he believes these TV preachers will sway 81 percent of WASPS to again abandon ALL morality (and much intelligence), by being for him!

ALL political conservatism's sins get IGNORED, and non-religious conservatives embrace him because they think money is all that life is about, so if he tries (though failing) to bring back $2 a day manufacturing jobs, or ends Obamacare and makes taxes so low that our debt skyrockets, they're in his pocket for life. Add in the GOOD policies we had here well before that nut, and those two groups are his ideated hope... WASPs and middle class blue collar conservatives, via talk radio and FoxNews.

The VAST majority of godly WASPs and thinking/conscienced GOP's KNOW they must go along to get along, through the midterms until 2020, lest his impulsive anger thwart their careers, so no one chooses to fall on the sword, alone, to confront him (which empowers him further in his delusions of grandeur, like thinking the world wasn't laughing at him at the U.N.).

Everyone knows he's gone in 2020, but they dare not speak of it until it gets closer to reality, if they're GOP! So he divides the nation between us and them, demonizes all Democrats using only the far left extremists for poster children and sound bites, while the vast majority of BOTH sides knows he's BAD for the U.S.A.!

IRAN DEAL

(5/8/18)

I FULLY expect Chump to abandon the Iran deal, which is NOT a good thing! What you do is monitor compliance, renegotiate a good deal when it expires, and bomb their facilities if they ever pursue nukes to the point they succeed, or start threatening with them (if already achieved). #CommonSense (Another FULLY ACCURATE PREDICTION made at 9:21am)

I'm POSITIVE that un-intelligent Christian "leaders" will praise Chump's renouncing the Iran deal, because ALL they know well is that Iran, in Bible prophecy, is Israel's enemy. They have NO understanding of politics, and we are NOT in prophecy, yet, and we are not to try to maneuver its events, politically!

II Pet. 3:12 does NOT mean Christian pastors are to try to sway CHUMP to move the U.S. embassy to Jerusalem, or to back out of the Iran deal. It means to FULLY EVANGELIZE ALL LOST PEOPLE... something they freely CHOOSE not to do, for they are arrogantly REBELLIOUS! Blood is on their hands for such sinful antics!

The IDIOCY is that prophecy has NOTHING to do with politics. In politics, you do the right thing. How God uses man's decisions is His sovereign design—NOT ours. Even voting for CHUMP due to SCOTUS picks to overturn Roe shows a LACK of faith that God can do anything, even had Hillary won! #Unbelievers Politically, you brokered the best deal for America, and the peace of the world, that can be negotiated, with Un and Iran. NO neutral broker would EVER consider favoring one side to a negotiation, like The Idiot did with the Jerusalem embassy, and capital naming, all to lure DUMB vs. smart Christians for Self votes!

Peace, peace (I Th. 5:3), and one-world government (Rev. 13-18) are NOT impacted by political decisions we make, pre-Rapture! There may be precursors, but things CHANGE when the Holy Spirit lifts! Antichrist promises peace (Dan. 9:27), then breaks it soon after (Rev. 6:1-4+), and fully, 3.5 years later!

I'm CONVINCED many U.S. pastors just like hearing themselves speak to (or be adored by) crowds (I Cor. 1-4), and have VERY little understanding of God's word (II Tim. 2:15)! Better, they love having a big religious business. If they knew prophecy well, they'd NEVER try to sway Chump to do things that WILL lead to Bible prophecy! Explained...

NO ONE in their right mind would want The Tribulation to come and destroy about half the world's population! You'd have to be worse than Hitler, to wish that on lost people. Christians are NOT to encourage political actions that make that process of events more or less likely—just do the right thing! Specifics...

Getting Iran rightly upset (vs. enforcing the deal, and having negative consequences enforced when they violate it) ONLY increases tensions among Israel's enemy nations! And we know those nations will be quite heated, one day, as the stealth Beast feels compelled to resolve that conflict (II Th. 2:3).

And Israel's enemy nations are already angry over the Palestinian problem, and call us (i.e., the U.S.) the Great Satan. Trump only exacerbated that rightful anger that the Palestinian problem continues some fifty+ years later. What CHUMP did was ensure that the Antichrist will come from the E.U., and not likely by U.S.A. historic ties (which is good for America, but CONFUSES prophecy with politics!).

IMAGINE THAT—a “baby Christian” confused about both politics and religion. TOTALLY EXPECTED, as I say he never was as claimed. So America can never (in politics) be viewed as a neutral arbiter for that crisis, again (at least anytime soon). That HURTS U.S.'s international standing as the global leader! BAD decision.

He so he knocked over the first domino to revealing the man of sin, and exacerbated an already number one hot spot in the world, with this Iran deal pull-out. He's PERFECTLY being used to set up all the props for Bible prophecy, including his boastful antics concerning North Korea (like II Th. 2:4).

He's getting AMAZING "counsel" from the Christian Cabal/evangelical council, if you consider FAILURE to be success. But in his topsy-turvy administration, where lies are true, and facts are fake news, how could you expect otherwise? It's an embarrassment for WASP Christian so-called 'leaders!'

Maybe if pastors preached less, and studied more, and stayed OUT of political policy-making more, the Church would restore her already tarnished image in societal public (better than it has with Chump), and do what God called them to do, and stop doing evil in the name of good, from IGNORANCE! (Isa. 5:20)

LEARN that prophecy is God's business, alone. Politics is do the right thing. Ministry is EDDBS priorities, pastors! #Duh101

HOW would anyone (like the U.S.A.) keep Israel safe? Broker peace, or, short of that, militarily have her back if attacked. The BEST way, long term, is to warn her citizens about prophecy's reality, using THEIR own Testament, and tell them to be individually prepared to receive their Messiah. (John 3:16)

I prayed, just a few moments ago, that I might live in a nation where presidents and porn stars are not headlining the news. Regardless of your political views and for whom you voted, maybe you'd join me in that prayer, for the good of our nation and our kids. —Ed Stetzer (3/7/18)

IVANKA BOMBED SYRIA?

(4/11/17)

#IvankaMadeMeDoIt is a WEAK excuse. The decision was a RARE right one for you. Man up! WHY did Eric cover for you? A dysfunctional family?! @POTUS Take those meds! Let's ANALYZE the Ivanka (influenced the Syria bombing) claim:

1. It's MAINLY a lie, as you know from watching here. She MAY have added to it later, but that's NOT the big problem!
2. If your POLICY is based on emotions (Ex.: Beautiful babies) vs. wise strategy, or impulsive by your daughter's influence, you are NOT a leader! And was he even bothered by those atrocities, or only Ivanka?
3. And if you put your son out for the media, because your children are more acceptable to the public than you, you have a YUGE problem.
4. Perhaps most importantly, when you had the chance to really be a leader (as many called it), and it's feigned as your daughter did it, we didn't vote for her she's the leader, NOT you, @POTUS

MIGHTY MOUSE'S MILITARY DOG & PONY SHOW

(2/7/18)

America walks softly, and carries a big stick. Our military lets our work speak for itself, NOT our words. A military parade is STOOPing to North Korea's standard (Communists love showing off, from insecurity). Like great athletes, we don't trash talk; America takes care of business on the field!

If Chump wants little man Un to fear U.S.A., show them our latest technology! Fly it near their border, or use it in a test field, publicized (we already dropped MOAB on ISIS leaders). NO need to WASTE any arsenal for a show of force. There's ZERO evidence tougher rhetoric or P.R. stunts back Un down! LEARN, DJT.

[Private account:] 40,000 Veterans are Homeless. 22 Veterans Commit Suicide EACH DAY. More than half of V.A. hospitals provide substandard care resulting in years of pain. But we have money for a military parade?

Let's have a #militaryparade of all the people who dodged the draft claiming bone spurs, received a purple heart as a gift from a true hero, always felt they were in the military due to prep school, and insulted POW's as losers. It might be a parade of ONE, and no one would attend!

Let's have a #militaryparade of people who said they know more than the generals, then gave all tactical decision authority to those intellectually inferior generals, because he actually didn't know more than them. It will be a parade of ONE, and would NOT break attendance records!

P.R. stunts are ALL the Christian Cabal and executive orders Chump know. Symbolism trumps substance! An associate of theirs once said, "image is everything." They think public shows/displays/events/performances are solutions to problems. Who's rubbing off on whom, here—the Cabal or DJT?

MORALS REGARDING CHUMP

(1/21/17)

Methodology of morality comparisons. We will address "judge not" interpretation later, but we ALL compare morals and live by standards!

Here are some logical parameters we can all agree on... No one's perfect. That does NOT mean anything goes, or one sin is as equal as the next!

Rape is worse than insulting a person. As it relates to political objectivity (vs. biased spin), it's true we weren't hiring the Pope. It also true Trump was FAR more evil than any prior president in the past 40 years. It's also true he is not as bad as Hitler, but Hitler became such AFTER gaining power. Let's see!

Let's address a related matter—forgiveness. If a person never asks God for forgiveness, they never receive it! If they never ask for yours, you can forgive them in your heart, but the barrier still exists.

Slap your wife, and see if I'm right. The Bible DOESN'T say you must forget past patterns, and often it would be unwise to!

The Bible teaches forgiving a Christian brother 70 times 7, if he repents. Trump has never once, and certainly is a debatable brother.

One other matter, people on social media are comparing Chump [at inaugural prayer in a church] to Madonna [at a protest rally]. SHE IS NOT RUNNING FOR PRESIDENT! There is a higher standard, even if Trump supporters forgot that!

Finally, 'do not judge' (Mt. 7:1); judging is COMMANDED of Christians (Rom. 12:3). What gives? We make LEGITIMATE judgments ALL THE TIME!

I guarantee you MOST men judged their wives to be half-way acceptably pretty or they wouldn't have married them. That's a judgment (though beauty is in the eye of the beholder). Sinful? NO.

Two things about Mt. 7:1... 1. It MEANS considering others as inferior; arrogant condemning of a person for their behavior; holier-than-thou attitudes.

2. It says IF you do judge, don't be a hypocrite. If you are not, God's judgment won't fall. Sound judgment is NOT sinful; arrogant demeaning of others IS.

These things are SO easy. I don't know why I waste the time to make common sense logically elucidated for my book. Doesn't everyone intuitively know them?

In politics, the morality issue INEVITABLY arises. I personally believe Trump's campaign is irretrievable, even if he does great things as president.

Sometimes you act the fool so often and for so long, with zero remorse, the public WISELY never lets you off the hook (or God, for that matter)!

P.S.: In court, credibility is always an issue, no matter what evidence is presented. NO MATTER what Chump does, his 17-month campaign doesn't go away!

You CAN'T do and say what Chump did and said and get away with it like nothing happened! America does NOT run that way, and voters aren't idiots. @POTUS

Obviously some are, but the majority. Had Chump erred once or twice in word or deed, America's a VERY second chances country—NOT for Rick Perry or Herman Cain.

Even Gingrich lost out over his serial divorces. Trump has serial divorces, adultery, cereal for breakfast—serial liar, and he gets away with it.

NOT forever! Anger at Obama failures and RINO complicity caused The Chump. Whether it subsides, smarter people will remedy that error in 2020!

#NEVERTRUMP

(6/5/16-76/7/16)

Chump ONLY want things HIS way. You discipline your kids acting that way—DO SO on Nov. 8. Tell him “you’re FIRED” from American politics, NOT hired #NeverTrump

The GOP has chosen the WORST nominee in recent history, and 'RINO's' are going along with it as the ‘voice of the people.’ FOOLs we are (NOT me)! #NeverTrump

Coach Bobby Knight said Chump’s the MOST prepared to be president. That’s an OBVIOUS lie. Chump said he has very good brain. He’s obviously delusional. WHY do you buy lies?

The wall WON’T keep all illegals out, and no nation can force another to pay for our wall. Trumpsters REALLY need to assess how "smart" their decisions are!

You’re going to give him a chance to out-do Obama policies. He MIGHT be able to. He might not. Either way, you are ruining the GOP’s reputation in the short-term future!

You are my GOP brethren, so I DON’T want to separate from you, politically, but you have lost your minds this year! I pray you recover after Nov. 8, as you were before.

UN-like Chump, I mean this factually vs. as an insult. I understand the anger at D.C. and 'RINO's' and how badly you don’t want another GOP loss!

I WROTE about that before anyone announced they’d run for president this season! Three books and four Twitter accounts worth of protesting status quo D.C.. I’m with you.

But in Chump, you have chosen the worst GOP nominee in 40+ years, 100 percent unprepared, a proverbial clown, an embarrassment, and a loser on Nov. 8th! WHAT DID YOU GET? Only another loss.

You WANTED a victory. You chose the wrong horse. He had energy (as I recommended to all GOP’s), and was entertaining (I told them to be, as well).

I recommended them to speak at a third grade level for complex issues to make it interesting. I NEVER suggested telling it like it is as being rude or evil/sinful; that’s on Trump alone!

So WHEN he loses, PLEASE spend a few weeks considering what it was you wanted from him, and what you hated in 'RINO's' Romney and McCain for a win later.

And one does NOT have to be a Christian to be president! However, one NEEDS to have some moral compass that others can see if you are to "lead" people. That’s why #NeverTrump.

Trump understands the responsibility of carrying the mantle and will never ever let the GOP down? That’s ALL he’s done since day one of his campaign. A deluded, serial LIAR!

Continued

(11/11/16)

WORLD (including U.N. and NATO nations): Trump does NOT represent U.S. values. He will FAKE doing so, but you saw his campaign. Please forgive U.S.A. for him! #NotMyPresident

In an ideal world, Democrats and republicans in Congress would get along and get things done. CUT OUT CHUMP, and it can happen in 2020 @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin

#NEVERTRUMP SUMMARY

(3/1/16)

The Democrat mole theory (which I DON'T adhere to) certainly had elements of plausibility in #DumpTrump! Past positions and donations, loses to Hillary, KKK comments, etc.

Yet another reason I believe Hillary will win. The rift in the GOP never healed. I tweeted how it could be done, and volunteered to facilitate it. EASY work!

Not to mention the non-rich white are a MAJORITY. James Carville wrote about this (40 More Years). Plus, Chump has turned off so many people and groups! Loss.

And as a rabbit out of the hat trick, Hillary can have Bernie as VP, and if his numbers drop (likely), he'll be glad to salvage anything out of this process.

And now, alas, 'tis time for this Twitter to end or change, as my influence on and framing the 2016 election is OVER. We HAVE the match-up and agenda God led us to!

Specifically, income inequality and caring for the poor on one hand, and closed borders, defeating ISIS and America # 1 again on the other-ALL provable

Again, it's Hillary, though Chump TRIES. I CAN'T contribute much more, except to keep THAT result on track if it EVER gets close; it WON'T.

P.S.: NO plans to read or watch any news about the election anymore. If my wife or peers say there are any big changes, I may tune in. ZERO interest; so fallible and SOLVABLE!

Does the GOP get that Ted Cruz's 'shredding Obamacare' rhetoric tells a large number of blacks and Hispanics that you can die if you get sick enough—we don't care? Perceptual peons.

Cruz-Rubio would be better than Trump! Hillary beats them ALL, but Chump ruins the GOP brand for a very long time! @GOP @RNC @TedCruz @MarcoRubio

Trumps a uniter? Liar! #NeverTrump Hillary MUST train her voice to not sound so butch when she speaks loud enough for a crowd to hear her-raspy/machismo voice!

.@TedCruz: IMMEDIATELY announce IF you're fortunate to get the GOP nomination you will have Rubio as V.P. and you're committing to it today. Get Marco to agree in private! DO it.

The next primary vote WILL turn Marco to the reality of joining Cruz. Failure changes minds where convincing can't always. #CruzRubio2016 I COULD vote it.

IF Cruz SINCERELY softened his rough edginess, he'd do a LITTLE better. He WON'T get GOP nom. I said that WAY back! Hillary beats CHUMP! Duh 101.

Chump will NOT be President, NOR Cruz. I believe this with all my heart, and my predictions are right fairly often, as I'm NOT a prophet (i.e., 100 percent correct standard)!

EXPECT to be called 'loser, choker,' bragging where numbers are higher, 'he had his chance, he caused Obama,' from the baby Chump. Godspeed! @MittRomney #HERO PLEASE run!

For any who CARE about the GOP's reputation GOING FORWARD, here are all the voter groups Trump has potentially ALREADY tarnished—blacks (KKK words), Hispanics (MOST illegals rapists and criminals), Women (Megyn Kelly's blood), our relation with our nearest southern neighbor (Mexico's going to pay for the wall).

NEED I remind you that that basically leaves only whites untarnished, except for many STUPID or unrealistic policies that insult their intelligence (45 percent tariffs against China, etc.).

Oh yeah, and the GOP Congress, after insulting nearly EVERY good GOP presidential candidate peer. NOT a uniter-in-chief, even in his "own" party!

I even forgot Muslims ('ban them all'). My memory's not good enough to recall all his STUPID antics, even though elephant memories are supposedly LONG.

Romney-Cruz would constitute a SEVERE third party challenge to both Hillary-Bernie and Chump-Christie! #RomneyCruz2016 #DumpChump @GOP @RNC

If you missed Reagan #2's speech today, here you are: <https://bit.ly/2LnYqV8> #RomneyCruz2016 defeats Chump's chance to ruin U.S.A.; Rubio with a high job in that administration.

MUST read [<http://on.msnbc.com/1YWfmmn>]. Chump's mantra is enlarging the party? He may be enlarging opponents MORE. Research needs to be done to answer THAT question.

IF Cruz and Rubio are NOT mean (as in personal attacks), but use major issue facts against Chump and offer BETTER solutions than what he's proposed, VICTORIES!

.@JohnKasich could SERIOUSLY secure an administrative position IF the NON-Chump team goes third party by his being an ATTACK DOG along with his reasonable policies tonight.

Chump says he's going to attack HillBillary regularly regarding her emails. PLEASE hire Larry David to stick his head out and say 'the U.S. is tired of hearing about your da_n emails!'

Don't forget to hear Reagan #2 today on the Today Show! #RunMittRun #RomneyCruz Rubio or #CruzRubio/RubioCruz #AnyoneButTrump! #NeverTrump Save the #GOP!

Never look a GIFT horse (or Democrat symbol) in the mouth. Trump's probably angry about yesterday and in his pouty sandbox considering a third party run. I HOPE he DOES! [skipped CPAC]

POUNCE on this like his last no-show! It helped you ALL! [<http://on.msnbc.com/1U4HQLH>]
@TedCruz @MarcoRubio The thorn's out of our side for once; capitalize on it!

You had Romney-Ryan, and Ryan's now the SPEAKER. How can you have such talent and eloquence as Mitt sitting on the sidelines, like Tom Brady not in a Pat's game?

A brokered convention engenders ill-will with Chump supporters. This is OPEN MARKET competition strategy. The GOP's going to lose anyway, so #KeepYourDignity!

THINK how Chump as nominee (who LOSES to Hillary anyway) ruins the GOP's reputation. Forget being the party of thought over emotion, values voters—GONE for a LONG time.

Chump as GOP nominee gains MORE opposition votes than newcomers to the big tent! Re-read that statement from a PURELY mathematical perspective!

I'm DEAD serious that I would #NeverTrump! I DON'T care that Hillary would win, as my one vote won't make the difference, and we'll get them next time for sure!

THINK what a Chump nomination will reinforce about the GOP in the medium-term future—rich, white males who hate blacks, Hispanics and women; stereotype validated!

Between Chump's KKK/Duke comment, Hispanic illegals as mainly criminals, Megyn Kelly's blood, ban all Muslims, you're RUINING my former favorite party for a decently LONG time.

The dignity of the office is in question. People thought Obama was bad and hurt its prestige by BAD decisions; a reality TV star can now be your nominee for that office?

A man who speaks of his privates' size, insults women's (and Rand Paul's) faces, a womanizer-in-chief who gives the younger Bill Clinton a run for his money?

The party of thinking, morals, religion, Reagan and Lincoln is DEAD if you allow Chump to represent it. I predict he WILL be such, though. VERY 'not smart'—DUMB.

True! Marco didn't have the goods, over time. It's been a SAD year for the GOP.

People with Trump mania need their IQ examined and their morals resurrected! #NeverTrump [<http://bit.ly/1UdNzhA>] He's the WORST GOP nominee EVER!

I'm NO expert on D.C. rules of procedure, but ALL year long they've been SLOW to follow my GOOD advice in Presidential debates (Bush glasses, attack Trump, etc.).

PLEASE know, when Chuck Todd three days ago said the GOP has only 13 days to solve Trump's inevitability, he's no dumb cookie! Hillary WILL beat him, but...

The only one who has a slight chance ON HIS OWN is Cruz, and that's a LONG SHOT, and he's NOT the ideal either. ALL but Chump NEED to unify, with Romney thrown in.

I MUST say it again... Without Romney somewhere in the mix, Chump has too commanding a lead on all others, EXCEPT with a contested convention (possibly).

Romney as V.P. to Cruz, with Rubio with a high position; however you shuffle the cards, the GOP reputation is HARMED with Chump as the nominee I said he'd be MONTHS ago!

JUST to repeat, you are VERY slow to react! You have ~11 days, says Chuck Todd (Mar. 15 primaries), and I believe by then it'll be likely too late. ACT! Bye.

GOP "establishment"/"RINO's": As a local DFW talk radio guy said, I've NEVER heard you acknowledge many past failures! You'll NEVER beat Trump with arrogance.

Obamacare passed, executive amnesty, ISIS rose, our debt ballooned ALL on YOUR watch as the "opposition" party. You MUST sincerely address this to GOP'ers!

DRAFT ROMNEY! GOP's ONLY hope against Hillary. Anyone else as VP! [<http://fxn.ws/1UwwiiB>] #NeverTrump @MittRomney #RunmittRun! SAVE the GOP! Reagan #2.

I also said before that Trump supporters HAD NO ONE ELSE to sport their cause! An angry outsider with charisma who hated D.C. They WILL. @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin, with morals.

NOT knowing about brokered conventions I'm THRILLED with Cruz and Rubio's wins this weekend, per Romney's explanation of what we need to have #NeverTrump.

Draft Romney. Romney-Cruz2016 or Romney-Rubio2016 Any combination loses to Hillary, but the GOP's reputation remains in tack without #DumpChump #NeverTrump! #GOP #RNC

I've said before, the GOP waited WAY too late to take down Trump; I have the tweets to prove my claims. Trying good cop (Ryan)/bad cop (Romney) against CHUMP is covering all the bases.

VERY soon I will start assessing whether I need to engage in a get the vote out effort for Hillary, though I WON'T vote for her. It's LIKELY unneeded!

I did NOT leave the GOP; with Chump as her nominee, the GOP left me! I'd NEVER associate with THOSE morals. I've NEVER voted Democrat in my life! I MAY in the future.

Anyone who watched here all year KNOWS I got nearly every prediction RIGHT on politics. The GOP was LATE to apply these insights, and killed their chances thereby!

.@HillaryClinton PLEASE let me know how you can use me to get a LARGE number of Democrats to vote IF it's close with CHUMP around October. 'YUGE,' not a small number! Thanks.

Let's analyze what's worse: Hillary of Chump as President. For U.S.A., probably Hillary. For the GOP's future, CLEARLY Chump. Could spell their END.

What would U.S.A.'s INTERNATIONAL reputation become if Chump were President (he WON'T be, thankfully). Disgrace, laughing stock, embarrassing compared to our historic REAL leaders

A vote for Trump IS a vote AGAINST the military, women, Hispanics, blacks and the disabled, and FOR idiocy and immorality. Period, end of story!

A vote for Trump is willful support of arrogance, rudeness, perversion, idolatry and PURE ignorance; the WORST GOP nominee possibly in two centuries! #NeverTrump

WHEN Trump is the GOP nominee, I will NEVER let ANY Christian tell me the GOP is the party of family values or the religious right, as I'm NOT deceived, as they will be!

The GOP with Chump is PLAYING INTO THE HANDS of James Carville's 40 More Years book' premise. EMBARRASSING, and I won't associate with such BAD results!

The third time is NOT the charm, GOP, but a strike out! I warned you SO long ago NOT to abandon Romney, and you had a WEAK field this year. Loss, loss, loss!

The article by @nytdavidbrooks is 100 percent SPOT ON! The GOP started to dump Chump WAY too late, but the next few primaries COULD rescue that Titanic! #YOUtheVoter!

Honor the memory and legacy of Ronald and Nancy Reagan by voting for #AnyoneButTrump, GOP. #BrokeredConvention! #NeverTrump the CHUMP!

I could shoot someone on a NYC street and my poll numbers wouldn't drop. SUCH is the ignorance and immorality of the Trump voter (and arrogance of Chump). NAZI-like FOLLOWERS (vs. leaders).

UNpresidential, UNsmart, UNmoral and Unelectable—the NEW Uncola.
[\[http://on.msnbc.com/1nLZZ2l\]](http://on.msnbc.com/1nLZZ2l) #DumpChump #NeverTrump Fourth offer: I'd debate him anytime!

I could almost guarantee you the GOP will again delay following my advice for NON-Trumps to unite against Chump and include Romney in the mix; "I told you so!"

I've said before, the U.S. needs one more round of Obama policies before she wakes up to see there's a MUCH better way, and to be sick of that! @Pledgers2020 @ImMadTooEdwin

I ALSO said WHEN Chump trumps Rubio and Cruz on March 15th, Cruz will see he NEEDS to unite with Rubio as his VP, or lose for good to Chump. #NeverTrump

I'm AMAZED how accurate my predictions on DETAILS about the 2016 election have been, though I SHOULDN'T be, as I trust Christ's lead. #WalkByFaith! Jn. 3:16

It's EASY to oppose Chump, but NONE of the OTHER GOP candidates have much charisma! Bernie does, which is why he gives Hillary a run for her money. SAD GOP year.

I also said the mainstream media will POUNCE on Chump in the general election; they're holding back now as he's a Democrat's dream opponent! Such a BAD year for the GOP!

The GREATEST mistake by "RINO's" recently is NEVER taking responsibility and SINCERELY apologizing for caving to Obama OFTEN in the last seven years! Don is the nom!

#IfTrumpWins—he WON'T! In the GENERAL election, the MAJORITY knows he's a womanizing, hate-filled, insulting, arrogant JERK! #NeverTrump Hillary is president.

Time to start new Hashtag games: #iVow as a GOP IF it's ever close between Trump and Hillary, I'll recruit Democrats to vote AGAINST Chump! #NeverTrump #iVow

THAT's why Rubio said Chump is better than Hillary. ALWAYS a selfish angle to professional politicians. Now I'm SORRY I voted for him. Hi-heels NEVER rose! [<http://on.msnbc.com/1SQsTex>]

My respect for Rubio has DROPPED, just as I tweeted earlier he didn't have the goods for president this time. Cruz is the ONLY VIABLE consistent one still running!

.@JebBush even had the CONSISTENCY to NOT consider being V.P. with the Arrogant One! I respect him more than Rubio, now. Actions change opinions! Romney-Bush?!

If you, the voting public, ALLOW politicians to lie to you and flip-flop and say anything to be elected, you DESERVE the bums YOU KEEP in office! We the people are the power!

Consider me, RELUCTANTLY, on your team, UNLESS there's a brokered convention, in which case Romney reigns supreme, @TedCruz. Loosen up your radical policies!

I have ZERO concern Chump will NOT be president; I just DON'T want my life-long party MARRED by him representing them! I'll fight that losing battle, as it's worth it!

I DON'T want Hillary either, but to spare the GOP's reputation being marred, I would endure four more years so she can be soundly defeated by Pledged Politicians in 2020.

I let my convictions determine my party affiliations. I disrespect any Chump supporters, intellectually and morally, EVEN if it hurts me, personally. #TRUTH

Does anyone see that Rubio went nice, personal (small hands), now nice again? Anything to cling to a LOST cause! Flip, flop then flip again. UN-trustworthy!

Be it executive amnesty, siding with business for cheap labor and outsourcing, our debt's rise, or Obamacare, conservatives would now vote for Hitler if he promised CHANGING THAT!

Rubio was CLEARLY aligned with mainstreamers more than Cruz and Chump, and Cruz was historically caustic, so couldn't get along with a GOP Congress.

Talk radio fueled the fires for those two characters, NEITHER of which am I sure I'd ever vote for (Chump absolutely not). In that sense, you brought it on yourselves, RINO's.

The AMAZING thing is DUMB voters get angry if GOP Congress persons DON'T oppose everything Obama does, which means 100 percent gridlock for our tax dollars paying them well!

Conservatives can be QUITE stupid in demanding their way or the highway, AS IF Democrats in Congress DON'T exist! RINO's need to learn good vs. bad compromise!

Even Bernie's rise is more liberal Democrats learning from GOP extremists to make your voice LOUDLY heard, trying to get Hillary more liberal. An extreme year!

Does anyone in U.S.A. see that if both sides' extremists demand their way or the highway, government is ALREADY shut down with gridlock? Extremists are BAD for America!

I WILL have to credit Democrats, however, that THEIR extremists got riled up MUCH later than those in the GOP. Hillary could be more centrist longer; ~NOT now.

Using Reagans 'bold colors' phrase, STARK differences are even better, but you're IGNORING his ALSO saying we DON'T need a third party, GOP extremists!

I ALREADY detailed EXACTLY where conservatism, moderates and liberals are in ERROR in their positions, and where they're good. Are MOST blind loyalists?

Rubio's toast, @TedCruz. [<http://on.msnbc.com/1TLYkYw>] You've got to learn how to take out Chump by yourself! Attack, ignore, have better ideas and be friendlier.

IF Cruz would modernize his hairstyle, STOP the hypnotic tonal changes, END ending 3-5 agencies talk, care about the poor and smile, he could do better!

Trump WAS SO defeatable, but the GOP field gave him a FREE RIDE from ~Apr to Jan. WAY too much media exposure unopposed and NO ONE with as much energy. Sad!

GOP opponents UNDER-estimated the conservative's anger, where Chump policies did not matter—just don't be a politician, be mad too, and assure us you won't be like them!

The ONLY question remaining is how soon after Mar. 15 will Kasich and Rubio drop out, and will they sell out their conscience and suck up to Trump for selfish gain?

We are proud our ideas were seen, and several IMPLEMENTED in the 2016 campaigns on BOTH sides of the aisle. That's comforting for America's future! USA #1! Peace.

Even If Cruz were the GOP nominee (he WON'T be), would I vote? Probably not. I'm strategically for him so Romney-Cruz2016 gets the nomination, in THAT ORDER. #NeverTrump

The GOP MAY want to consider reverse psychology ads against Chump—vote for Trump so our products will cost more, ISIS will be energized, we can have war with Mexico, etc.

Depict the U.S. like a walled China on steroids; show the cost of bread after China tariffs, and businesses paying zero taxes' effect on our debt (and 'I could shoot someone in NYC').

GOP ads against Chump OUGHT to show insults of Hispanics, women, the disabled and KKK apathy, and ask 'is THIS what you teach your children?' (Crosby, Stills song in the background)

Would you want THIS man dating your daughter? Show President's faces and ask WHICH one does NOT fit the pattern (Chumps face on Mt. Rushmore). GOP ad idea.

Show Chumps business failures and ask, 'can America handle four more years of economic anemia?' U.S. needs no more risky casinos or walls, but JOBS and competent leaders!

Show Chump saying 'look at that face. And 'he's got a lot of material to work with,' and ask, has any other presidential candidate EVER so disrespected OUR office?

Prove with numbers that Chump's wall is a fantasy (as Hillary Clinton RIGHTLY stated), tariffs start economic wars, he RARELY has plan details (only fluff solves NOTHING). GOP ad ideas.

GOP ads against Chump: Visually SHOW clips of his MANY flip flops and ask, 'can you trust this man?' Remind them one man can do LITTLE with a GOP Congress opposed to him!

'Don't waste your vote' might be the slogan, or 'vote for Trump, get Hillary.' There is MUCH material for GOP ads against Chump. #NeverTrump POW's are losers? (i.e., McCain)

HOW can one who was part of the D.C. problem be the solution? He donated to Democrats and Republicans to get along? That's as sensible as a rapist or adulterer being a marriage counselor!

GOP ad ideas: Show Hispanics frantically rushing to NOT be deported, and flash scenes from the Holocaust. Subliminally, it could be VERY effective. #NeverTrump

GOP ad ideas: Air a clip of CHUMP speaking about his manhood size and ask, 'Is this REALLY how you want to portray the GOP?' That's the party of ideas and values voters?

GOP ad ideas: WWRD (what would Reagan do?). Absolutely NOT let Chump represent his party! SHOW where they were OPPOSITES (which is almost everywhere).

GOP ad ideas: Air a clip about Chump being flexible, meaning everything he promised is open to rescinding! Anything to get elected. Do you teach your kids THAT?

GOP ad ideas: Air a clip of 'blood coming from her wherever' and ask 'could the GOP TRUE politicians EVER associate with or WIN with THIS brand of Republicanism?'

EXCELLENT JOB, @CarlyFiorina! Using your platform for GOOD! At all costs save the GOP's reputation! #NeverTrump Romney and Cruz are the ONLY ones who can BEAT Chump!

I see ZERO reason @JohnKasich is still in the race after Mar. 15. Let Cruz catch up to Chump so @MittRomney (NOT Cruz) can be drafted at a brokered convention!

WHAT kind of statement would it be if ALL former 2016 GOP presidential candidates backed Cruz (to get to a brokered convention ONLY)? #NeverTrump!

.@JebBush 'You can't insult your way to the White House! Muslims, Hispanics, women, disabled and the military; I WON'T apologize for Chump as he's a FAKE GOP'er! #NeverTrump

There's SO much evidence Trump's a Democrat mole to guarantee a Hillary a win, though I just think he's THAT stupid. The GOOD news is he's DIS-credited in 2020!

The ONLY thing Chump has in common with Reagan—ACTORS! One in Hollywood ONLY and one when he changes tone and ACTS presidential. A fake, insincere RUSE!

That DOESN'T mean I'd vote for Cruz, and I know he WON'T be the GOP nominee. Anything to stop Chump. We NEED Romney-Cruz to bridge the party—in THAT order. #NeverTrump

I, my wife and son voted for Rubio, but for Cruz now for a brokered convention. You've got to see Rubio did NOT catch fire—EVER! #DealWithReality #NeverTrump!

Today's the day the mainstream media turned on Chump—FINALLY. LOOK @MSNBC's headlines. They NOW know Trump is the GOP nominee and unstoppable by the GOP. #NeverTrump

The next primary vote WILL turn Marco to the reality of needing to join Cruz. Failure changes minds where convincing can't always. #CruzRubio2016 I COULD vote it.

Great loss of respect for you as a Christian supporting Chump! @RealBenCarson That's NOT what Jesus would do. Pandering for a position in an administration that WON'T occur?

Rubio has NO delegates to speak of, which is the ONLY reason I put Cruz on top. That would bridge the GOP divide. Let Trump be a White House janitor (or more). @GOP

.@JebBush PLEASE supersede Carson's WEAK, whispering endorsement of CHUMP by backing Cruz tomorrow so we can get Romney in a brokered convention!

You can say I don't forgive Trump's errors, but he's NEVER apologized for many if any of them! I simply refresh your memory, and Trumpeters go mad-der! #NeverTrump

For the record, I backed Rubio ONLY mildly, and ONLY from the day Mitt said he ABSOLUTELY wouldn't run, and wondered why someone thought he would, until the day Marco KEPT losing.

Cruz-Rubio is the CLEAR choice after tonight's debate! Romney with a HIGH cabinet position and you MIGHT stand some chance to deny Trump the GOP nomination. Might.

WHO's @JebBush endorsing this year, and when? Mar. 15 will be TOO LATE, unless he's lost his mind and supports Trump (NOT!). Inquiring minds want to know.

DUMB voters CAN'T C Trump restrained himself last night, then ACTS like others changed their behavior. The be nice to me or else when I'm NOT nice HYPOCRITE!

JUST AS I predicted, Trump would start ACTing presidential. DON'T BUY THE FALSE REPENTANCE (change). Anything for power. Liar! #NeverTrump, EVER.

You can support Rubio in Florida ONLY for a brokered convention purpose, but it's Cruz and Chump now, both BAD, but one MUCH worse. #NeverTrump Sad GOP year!

Save a third party run by Romney, or brokered convention, Chump is the GOP nominee, and big names in the GOP have till Monday to speak out or just wait till he LOSES.

I KNOW most BIG names DON'T want Cruz either. I'm guessing they agree with me that BOTH would LOSE to Hillary, so wait for 2020 and stay quiet?

I HOPE the GOP runs a Trump-Cruz ticket, to PROVE to conservatives their brand is SOUNDLY defeated, to set up a centrist for next time, as I said might occur.

I've said before MANY times, GOP strategists FAILED you, and MAINLY in not attacking #NeverTrump Chump EARLY and OFTEN. He'll be an after-thought soon, THANKfully.

GOP game plan today forward NEEDS to be to DIScredit Hillary full-time to soften her up for 2020 and oppose her for four years, and keep her more moderate than liberal!

In the meantime UNITE the party. I'm FULLY available, as I know how to do it fairly easily. To continue the rift is victory suicide! Both sects have problems.

I've COMPLEMENTED and CRITICIZED mainstreamers/establishment/RINO's and conservatives/Tea Partiers (especially Chump supporters). I'm UN-biased to evoke UNITY to principles.

GOP leadership would be FOOLS not to try to convince BOTH sides where they're in error, the value of unity, and to educate both sides that losses HURT.

It's EITHER start a third party within the GOP (where BOTH sides KEEP losing to Democrats), or unity with diversity that does NOT cripple SUCCESS! @GOP @RNC

You MUST identify core principles, establish a standard for behavior/character below which harms the GOP's reputation, and have a platform that endures personalities.

Any Christian who supports Donald Trump has CHOSEN power idolatry over morality, JUSTIFYING it as GOP morals greater than Hillary's. Sinning either way! I'm NOT saying NO Christian should support Trump when he's the GOP nominee, to support GOP MORAL values, but to support the person you are sinning! The office is different.

I'm SURE Chump will select a church- and moderate wing friendly V.P. to TRY to mend fences, maybe even a female. He's NOT always 100 percent dumb and evil.

Trump DESPERATELY thinks failed Ben Carson's endorsement means Christians give his candidacy "credibility." Spin, lies and WRONG! #NeverTrump

FINALLY, a "brave" Celebrity Apprentice Ex who tells the TRUTH vs. sucks up to Donnie. @clayaiken .@TedCruz or Hillary, I'd vote for Ted, but NOT accept his radical views, and would push hard for him to moderate some, or help Democrats do so. #NeverTrump

Nasty tone of the presidential election is hurting the image of U.S. abroad. Foreigners are distressed. – Colin Powell

.@JebBush would be wise to endorse Rubio in Florida and Cruz ~everywhere else. I'm not sure you can do that, but we NEED a brokered convention, and he has clout!

Rubio was NEVER viewed as an outsider by conservatives, who are angry this year, and will accept nothing else. Run two GOP conservatives and they LOSE horribly!

~100 foreign policy experts signed an open letter refusing to support Chump saying your embracing expansive use of torture is inexcusable. –Bret Baier (FoxNews)

A hail Mary save of the GOP THIS election year would be a third party Cruz-Rubio or Romney-Cruz. They're going to lose anyway; preserve the HISTORIC reputation from #NeverTrump.

#TrumpRallyChi Violence is NEVER the answer (as MLK taught), nor is Trump. You can #DumpChump by voting #AnyoneButTrump on Tuesday. #JustDoIt!

Three-fourths+ of America is NOT pro-Chump. ONLY on Tuesday in open primaries can that number show itself strongest, before it's Chump vs. Hillary, and loyalists vote for Chump.

Disrupting Trump rallies does NOT stop deluded Trumpsters from voting for him! Voting AGAINST Trump is the sane world's ONLY option. #DoItTuesday!

I 100 percent understand Trump alternatives are boring, radical or not rising. WHO CARES at this point; just #DumpChump. The rest can be settled LATER!

Trumpsters are mad, and WON'T accept RINO's in bed with Obama anymore. That is your one GREAT contribution to the 2016 election season, and for THAT I thank you!

Even if I LOVED 90 percent of what CHUMP proposes, I'd prefer Cruz-Rubio, as anyone can adopt Chump's GOOD positions but without the BAD character! THINK!

I've chided the GOP that for MONTHS they were LETTING Chump rise. Their ONLY hope is this Tuesday defeating Chump HANDILY. He IS the GOP nominee, otherwise!

The GOP will NO LONGER be able to CREDIBLY claim they're the party of thought vs. feelings, religious right or values voters if Chump is their nominee!

Rubio was too mainstream to Trumpsters; Cruz is a politician. Trumpsters saw no exciting option for an outsider but Chump, like Bernie for Democrats!

We've HAD Lincoln, Washington, Reagan and Kennedy. Now its Hillary and Trump? Does the job pay too little to attract GOOD help? God save the U.S.A.!

Even if Chump had Romney as V.P. (who'd NEVER agree to it), I WOULDN'T vote for Chump! #NeverTrump Even Chump-Reagan or Chump-Lincoln, if possible!

Trump as Secretary of the Treasury or a HIGH economic adviser post. Never the top dog job! Let delegates decide between Romney and Cruz atop the ticket! #BrokeredConvention, GOP.

.@TedCruz is HOPING Tuesday is AMAZING for him. It WON'T be enough to topple Trump, then too late to go third party with Rubio, so he'd likely suck up to Chump for a job!

With Chump as the RNC's nominee, GOOD LUCK overcoming stereotype you're not anti-black and brown voters! You had achieved SO much progress before Trump! #HURTStheParty

The political Apprentice has ticked off SO many more than he's turned on, the voter Board room needs to tell him 'you're fired' on Tuesday! #NeverTrump

Gentleman's bet, Rubio and Cruz's rallies do NOT engender violence like Trump does! Cruz-Rubio2016 or Romney-Cruz2016. #GOP #RNC #NeverTrump

WYOMING: You have renewed my faith in mankind! FoxNews shows 66+ percent Cruz, ~7 percent Chump. THANK YOU FOR REASONABLENESS YOU GREAT PEOPLE OF #WYOMING!

D.C., Capital of America: You came through like PATRIOTS for @MarcoRubio! ZERO delegates for Trump. THANK YOU. Great precedent/MOMENTUM for Tuesday. #FollowSuit

In the GREATEST nation on earth, CAN'T we field BETTER candidates than Hillary and Chump? Whatever happened to our standards and heroes? Sad state of affairs!

The GOP NEEDS 100 percent extreme conservatism debunked and rejected so that element of the GOP KNOWS they can't win without normal conservatives (and vice versa)!

To do so I BEG Trump to pick as right wing a V.P. as possible, namely Ted Cruz! Together, if y'all CAN'T beat Hillary, SHUT UP with your uncompromising!

Trump-Cruz. STICK it to "the establishment." Get the right winger's IDEALS out there for ALL to see. You want BOLD COLORS? THAT's the ticket! #JustDoIt!

I NEVER want to hear another talk radio host or far right GOP'er equate themselves again with Reagan, and claim RINO's never win. ONLY two conservatives as President and VP!

I'm as SERIOUS as a heart attack. Leave people of my ilk OUT of your running mate decision, Donald Trump. Let there be NO doubt your V.P. is a conservative!

Maybe then and ONLY then can GOOD men like Dole, McCain and Romney NOT be slandered by their OWN party mates as "losers." Do you have the courage, Donnie?

I'd almost guarantee you Mr. 'tough guy' does NOT have the courage to do it. Run with Cruz as V.P. and PROVE conservatism WINS @RealDonaldTrump; DO IT!

NO MORE conservative as V.P. and RINO as President; not even reverse order! QUIT trying to bridge the gap between the party's two factions. Conservatives are SO wanted by U.S.A., right?

The U.S. majority LIKES welfare ended, the IRS disbanded, the EPA out of order, estate taxes repealed so the rich get richer, the NEA ended and five federal agencies GONE.

The U.S. majority WANTS tax rebates mainly for the rich and business, business to get whatever deals they demand of D.C., a flat tax that favors the rich; LET RICH RULE.

Run CHUMP and Cruz TOGETHER in 2016 and SHOW ultra conservatives their views are NOT in demand, and they CAN'T win without centrists. @GOP @RNC Demand it!

Those positions I JUST enumerated are dead in the water in the GENERAL election, especially as demographic trends continue! Build a 'YUGE' wall!

Let America be surrounded by a wall on every border like one Jack and the beanstalk would need to get home. Beat China? A 50 foot wall beats China!

Deport 11.5 million illegals, and make sure you never let them see the light of day in our nation again. THEY caused ALL our problems! (sarcasm for any idiots viewing).

Don't let one more soul into America, and let business have ZERO taxes so we the people can pay down the $19 trillion debt with our jobs that on average are $3,000+ less, recently.

GOP: Give conservatives EVERY wish they ever dreamed of as a platform this year, but make sure you let the public know it's an experiment in conservative theory.

Get rid of ALL regulations. Let business run rough-shod over consumers in the name of profits for the elites. Let them have ZERO estate taxes. #WhiteManRule

Let anyone getting assistance from the government ONLY rely on charity! Let them die or starve to death if that's not enough, or stable enough. PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY!

Let EVERY talk radio host tell the GOP exactly what the GOP platform should be. Don't withhold them anything their hearts desire! Smallest government POSSIBLE!

To he_l with any environmental controls, as few government workers as humanly possible so we know we're rid of every evil bureaucrat in Washington!

Ask Ted Cruz and Rick Perry and Ron Paul the five agencies we abolish IMMEDIATELY! Let unemployment go rampant with ZERO payments to those workers!

Bust up every union, ZERO minimum wage, child labor is OK, let business and the rich (mainly whites) have it ALL! End Social Security, and go every man for himself.

Biggest, baddest military in history with NO financial constraints. Marshall law presence of cops to protect all gated communities. Only states' rights.

THAT, honest people, is EXACTLY what a TRUE conservative believes in, and it's HIGH time we the voting public allow conservatives to show their TRUE colors!

Since I'm NOT voting this year anyway, I BEG Donnie Chump to pick Ted Cruz as his VP. No wishy-washy mushy loser middle anywhere in the GOP ticket!

ONLY then will these zombie-like, cult-hypnotized right wingers get the message, you CANNOT make it alone as a stand-alone third party! DUH!

I BEG Rubio and Kasich to DECLINE any V.P. offer from Chump. ONLY two conservatives, and NOTHING less. It's learn your lesson time, conservatives! DO it.

And SINCE CHUMP WILL BE THE GOP NOMINEE, let his hatred of minorities affect EVERY policy he espouses. End ALL wealth redistribution. Go whole-hog conservatism!

This is the year the GOP can learn 'em some edu-ma-cation. Do NOT allow a moderate anywhere in the IMAGINARY Trump administration. #GOP #RNC

Let talk radio hosts get cabinet posts in this IMAGINARY scenario. Make ZERO attempts to reconcile with the other side of the GOP. Scorched earth.

If conservative views are SO popular, make them prove it this year with the Trump nomination, @GOP @RNC! I'm TIRED of bold, unsubstantiated claims.

Gentleman's bet CHUMP does NOT have the "whatever" to do this! Mr. Tough Guy will COWARDLY and WIMPILY choose a more moderate VP! WEAKNESS, Donny!

I OFFICIALLY dare and challenge you to pick Ted Cruz as your running mate, to PROVE conservatism is THE viable GOP position! @RealDonaldTrump

PLEASE support #TrumpCruz as the @GOP @RNC ticket this year to PROVE once-and-for-all conservatism IS or ISN'T viable in the general election, @Reince.

OF COURSE any astute reader KNOWS I'm CERTAIN that ticket would FAIL miserably, which is EXACTLY why I sincerely want it! Other types need to re-read this.

I'm calling your bluff, Little Don. Pick Cruz for V.P. or your FRAUDULENT/feigned belief in conservatism is ONLY political opportunism you DON'T really believe!

Guess what, Mr. Political Apprentice... The voting public's going to say 'You're fired!' to you no matter who your V.P. is! @RealDonaldTrump; I'll be laughing!

I'm the smartest, richest, baddest politician ever, says the CHUMP. I could SHOOT someone in NYC and NOT lose support. Make fun of the disabled and most illegals.

Insult women by Megan's ear blood comment, insult all military if they're ever captured, Call Romney and McCain losers, ban all Muslims. Don-So-Tough.

Anyone voting for Chump is an absolute fool to me (and CLEARLY does NOT value MORALS as much as political power). That is IDOLATRY (a sin), "Christians!" Just do it?

WWSDF? What would Satan do? Vote for Chump. NO problem with Christians doing so, right? In this Laodicean era, when in Rome sin as the Romans do, church!

Leave your religion at church and don't bring it to the voting booth. Vote for CHUMP, Christians. NO need to pray about it; that MIGHT get in your way of doing so.

Use the 'P' word, and bomb the 'Sh__' out of ISIS. Tell followers to beat people up. Hesitate to renounce the KKK. Favorite book is the Bible—"TWO Corinthians!"

NEVER asked God for forgiveness for anything, but don't question my "sincere" faith! 45 percent tariffs on China, and Mexico will pay for the beautiful wall! DELUSIONAL!

Look at Fiorina's face; MUCH material to work with in insulting Rand Paul's, as well. We're going to fix that/look into that; America great, "believe me." YUGE! Ha!

My hands are NOT small, or anything else. GO VOTE FOR THAT today Illinois, Florida, Ohio, North Carolina and Missouri. DUMMIES we are! #NeverTrump

EVERY Trump voter: Sit down with your kids today and explain to them you support arrogance, insults, public cussing, body part jokes and other Trump-isms!

Trump supporters: Tell your kids today winning at all costs is RIGHT, since your cause of supporting an arrogant rude pervert is SO right! #DumpChump

Trump supporters: LOOK in the mirror and mouth with me THESE words, please... "I am the problem!" Read our tweets from today if you get confused about that!

If NOT Chump-Cruz, how about Trump-Palin, PLEASE @RNC, @GOP! That ticket would for SURE fail, and show conservatives the HOLLOWNESS of their beliefs! Please do so.

Bob the builder ALL OVER AGAIN! Not Obama's 'yes we can,' but 'build that wall.' Trump insults the intelligence of any with intelligence! Are there many?

Pease don't scare Donnie at his rallies—he was born with a silver spoon in his mouth, and suffers from affluenza! He doesn't know he's as big a jerk as he is.

Vote for Donald Trump today. Make ignorance and immorality great again! #Trump #GOP #MegaTuesday #Republicans #Politics #NeverTrump #RNC #Vote

For me, at least, #NeverTrump never expected to beat Chump, but to RIGHTLY define the GOP for the FUTURE, when he's a loser we can ignore next time!

To balance earlier comments, RINO's ALLOWED Obama's budget expansions, Obamacare, executive amnesty and illegal immigration invasion! WRONG moves!

And liberals are BAD on abortion, gay marriage, HURTING business for ecology, taxing too much, too big government, and over-helping poor people. ALL groups have good and bad!

I AM still baffled RINO's NEVER apologized for giving in on Obamacare, executive amnesty and the debt increase! Doing it NOW only looks politically opportunistic, though!

A poll per via Chuck Todd says 27 percent of GOP'ers WON'T vote for Trump (when he's the GOP nominee). STAND FIRM AND DO NOT BACK DOWN! WE will win his loss. #NeverTrump!

.@RealDonaldTrump Have you signed the Giving Pledge as these REAL 'great guys:' @WarrenBuffett and @BillGates? DISCLOSE YOUR TAXES! What are you hiding?

GOP's BEST: I can shoot someone in NYC and lose no support; Megan's blood from wherever, mimic disabled reporter, 'P' word, bomb the 'sh__' outa ISIS; favorite book is the Bible—'TWO Corinthians,' never asked God for forgiveness for anything, but don't question my "Christian" faith, I'm really smart and rich (arrogance and idolatry); womanizer-in-chief (adultery), CAUSES the broken D.C. payoff system, then thinks we'll believe he can fix it too? Democrat positions ALL his adult life; MOST illegals are criminals and rapists—a few, I guess, are OK; POW's are losers (though I spent not one day risking my life in the military); daddy gave me $1M (AS IF he achieved his 'American Dream' by his own bootstraps alone; many failed businesses; used bankruptcy laws, which means you and I bailed out a "billionaire;" his own pastors says he's either NOT a member or comes rarely; look at that (Fiorina) face, and mocks Rand Paul's face (when his doo is partly fake); women as dogs; talks about his private part's size, and SO-CALLED Christians vote for him. Carnal or lost 'Christians,' at best! Get right with God, liar/fakes! ~Slow to disavow the KKK and wishes he could punch protesters in the face. NOT PRESIDENTIAL TEMPERAMENT, and RARELY offers details; mainly we're going to be great, believe me, huge, we'll fix/look into that, that's a real problem, we'll make a better deal; Mexico will pay for the wall. And 45 percent tariffs on China will pay America's bills?

The GOP is HYPOCRITICAL if it supports CHUMP and CLAIMS they are the party of thought vs. feeling, values voters and the 'religious' right. HOGWASH, and everyone will see it!

#MoralsMatter I KNOW Trump supporters CAN'T understand that concept, even and especially those claiming to know Jesus, but they DO! Wake UP, U.S.A.!

Any Christian who supports Trump, I NEVER want you to EVER tell me how serious you are about God (meaning, implicitly, morals too). Prophetic apostasy!

Oh, but Adolph promises such GREAT ideals! He's our savior, even though he's SO opposite our CLAIMED Savior, Jesus Christ. NO hypocrisy there, right?

And we believe he really does love God and our shared Bible. HOW DO Christians ever get any reputation for being just like the world—or dumb sheep? NO idea!

Dragging Jesus' name and reputation down as you naively and gleefully sin. If revival doesn't hit the church fir, we're ALL doomed in America. #PrayHard (II Chr. 7:14).

Any Trump supporter who claims they're Christians, CONTACT ME to go evangelizing and have a Bible study together! You're NOT "getting" church correctly at all!

Sheep off a cliff/sheep led to the slaughter. God's people manipulated so, and glorying in their shame of ignorance? #ChristiansForTrump? Anathema!

MANY GOP'ers slayed Bill Clinton for his wrongful adultery and womanizing, yet Trump is OK? You're HANDING an election victory to his wife by ignorant hypocrisy.

If the #NeverTrump crowd (at least 27 percent of the GOP, via Chuck Todd yesterday) CAVES in to Trump, you'd be hypocrites too! Have some core beliefs, and stand FIRM!

I personally believe MOST #NeverTrump folk will, indeed, NEVER vote for Chump. With or without that, a majority of Americans reject The Donald's deeds and words!

The ONLY other thing GOP heads can do is pressure Chump to tone down the evil and ignorance, and especially, to have a GREAT platform—even if it's OPPOSITE of Chump!

I'm sitting THIS election out, with CHUMP as the GOP nominee. #NeverTrump It will be the first time since ~1980 I haven't voted, and voted GOP. Won't go for Trump EVER!

And NO ONE can doubt my form of conservatism—I voted for Reagan, would have supported Rick Perry or Governor Walker this cycle, and prefer Cruz to Trump. What suckers we are!

The HARM Trump does to the GOP's reputation and ability to broaden support FAR SURPASSES any temporary Democrat cross-over votes to make him their rival against Hillary!

#NEVERTRUMP'S FINAL STAND?

(11/2/16)

Referent: <http://on.msnbc.com/2eDQoXV> (11/3/16)

[Per NBC Today Show] @SpeakerRyan would be weakened by his HONEST relationship with Chump ONLY if the GOP's NO LONGER the party of value voters, thinking or the religious right!

A Republican is evil for decrying THIS of a GOP nominee? #TrumpBrainToots
#HasDonaldTrumpChanged #TrumpIsAUniter #TrumpTricks #GOPgrandchildren @SpeakerRyan

There's not been ONE Trumpster able to or with any courage to be willing to refute these arguments against Chump. That's weakness of wusses:

1. Win at all costs is a lesson NO good parent teaches their kids; nor:
2. The end justifies the means; nor:
3. Reward bad behavior; nor,
4. Be for bad sportsmanship; nor:
5. You have what you tolerate, and we'll tolerate Chump antic'd politicians in the future; nor:
6. The GOP is NO LONGER the party of thinking more than feelings with UN-thinking Chump!
7. The GOP is NO LONGER the party of values voters or the religious right! Hillary (HRC) ran a MUCH more moral campaign, despite her several faults;
8. A HRC presidency can unite the GOP to unite for a WIN next time;
9. HRC acting as Obama's term three can WIDEN the GOP tent, as more voters see those policies FAIL;
10. IF HRC rules moderately you can THANK #NeverTrump, for it is the radical right who would inspire her to seek revenge, especially with liberals on the Supreme Court vs. Garland, et al!

If you can believe it, not one soul for Chump has DARED refute our argument and logic, because somewhere in their brain-washed minds, they know they CAN'T!

11. What Chump did and said 7/8ths of his campaign was the real deal! Faking presidential and knowledgeable is OTHER people controlling him, to be acceptable.
12. Chump's behavior in the primary IS his credentials for why he's the GOP nominee against 16 BETTER-qualified people. He CAN'T live down all he FREELY chose to do and say.

No one put a gun to his head and said act like a fool and buffoon, and shoot off both feet by being your true self! HE CAUSED #NeverTrump!!!

13. And if policy alone matters (i.e., not personal temperament), Kasich, Cruz, Rubio and Bush had policy down when Chump had FEW ideas (i.e., until his last three months)!
14. If policy is all that matters, you could vote for a trained chimp, robot or even Hitler, because he was wise enough to HIDE his evils until he got in power.
15. ALL Republicans vote ALL down-ballot GOP's to STOP any bad HRC policies; just not Trump, who HURTS the GOP's reputation with minorities (etc.) for awhile! I voted that way.

Believing Republicans ONLY voting down-ballot GOP's won't stop HRC's bad policies shows Chump made NO change to spineless RINO's. FAILED campaign, if so!

PLEASE refute my argument from this morning, Ben Carson @GovMikeHuckabee Rudy Giuliani @KellyannePolls @NewtGingrich @ChrisChristie #NeverTrump

This 15-point argument can't be assailed by any Republicans still having a conscience; many have buried theirs for power idolatry. POLITICAL OSTRICHES!

Please monitor if Trump surrogates EVER try to refute my 15-point GOP argument against Chump from this morning! @CNN @ABC @NBC @FoxNews @nytimes @CBS

"Sometimes you put your Christian values on pause to get the work done." –Ben Carson; THIS is Christian's and a few pastors' justification for Trump—NOT God's!

Let's cover the SUPPOSED Christian arguments, that you're bitter and unforgiving. Not at all. I evaluate the character pattern displayed for 1.4 years, and find Chump SO lacking, compared to ANY standard the GOP's ever had in my lifetime! (10/25/16)

You hold Chump's past sins against him. No! 1. He hasn't asked for forgiveness, though he's forgiven; 2. He crossed a line of offense in quantity that one can't recover from! (10/27/16)

Pro-party right or wrong is the message of any GOPs harming @SpeakerRyan, or any who oppose Chumps reputation-harming campaign! Power idolatry! (11/2/16)

If you believe there's more power in sin than righteousness, vote for Trump as a Republican voter. If you believe the opposite, only vote down-ballot GOP's! #NeverTrump (11/2/16)

Fight with right or sin to win. THOSE are the ONLY two voting strategies GOP's have Nov 8. ALL down-ballots ONLY—or vote for Chump. Re-read this until you get it! (11/2/16)

"Fall in line" was likely what the Hitler S.S. leaders said to any Germans with a conscience! The "just taking orders" statement tries to excuse any immoral edicts! (11/2/16)

Friends (and good parents) don't let friends vote for Trump, like the old ad campaign said... <http://bit.ly/2fI3mYV> And "Just say NO!" –Nancy Reagan (11/3/16)

Thank you to every #NeverTrump GOP for seeking to preserve the GOP's reputation, and chances to expand in the future from a hostile takeover! Winners! (11/7/16)

#NEVERTRUMP'S FINAL STAND (FOR 2016)

(11/13/16)

For any critic saying I don't concede #NeverTrump lost, they lost but the battles NOT over. America deserves better, as does the GOP. 16 others existed.

SAD day for the GOP, despite the win. They are NO longer the party of values voters, religious right, and thinking more than feelings, but power idolatry and Trump morals. That's a LOSS!

There's NO way I'd ever claim GOP with Chump as president! You don't care about the GOP's reputation—CLEARLY!

Integrity means NOTHING to you. You lost your moral bearings! Reagan and Lincoln would be rolling over in their graves! I am Ex-GOP. Democrats will be SO incentivized for Chump's one-term presidency!

GOP RINO's will likely agree with party bosses to go along to get along with Chump for party image. That image is already SHOT! Take a poll to prove it to yourself.

I see his face as a YUGE stain on all other 44 presidents! I can't believe my nation wanted that. They're REALLY angry jobs were shipped overseas! Scr_w D.C.?

Reputation! Read Proverb. It matters, even internationally. EVERY normal, reasonable head of state will be so wary and cautious. Great job, Trumpsters—NOT!

We have a nation to protect. Get angry that we screwed up the number one decision. FEEL something. Care. Give a darn. Defend her honor. Stand for something. Take a stand. Draw a line in the sand beneath which the U.S. can't fall! Love or leave America!

Chump's words will haunt his presidency the entire four years! YouTube exists! This ain't your grandpa's America, Donnie! You can't erase your free-willed CHOICES!

ON 'GOODNESS'

(3/10/17)

[Twitter account] None good versus some are good. I'll go with God's "opinion."

Let's boringly address this distinction. NO human is good before God, but our deeds are good or bad, Christian or non-Christian. "Good" is variously defined!

It's ridiculous to confuse secular and spiritual definitions of "good." Jesus even said He was NOT (good), though He was. It's all compared to perfection!

No one—religious or not—can say Trump saying grab women by the crotch is "good." Deeds can be good or bad, though no human is good before God on their own. Learn to make distinctions!

"Good" can refer ONLY to God in one definition. In another, God knows men act well or badly. It's NOT a sin to say colloquially, "he's a good man."

Man's definitions of "good" are RELATIVE. If you compare Romney to Chump, no one in their right mind can say they are moral equals on "goodness!"

PRACTICAL PROPHECY

(12/5/17)

Does anyone see the direction CHUMP is taking America? FAR right. Pure, extreme conservatism. ZERO thinking—just implementing political philosophy. Example? Government BAD, private sector is God. Give Utah land back that MIGHT be too scenic to need destroying, with ZERO mandates against destroying it for development. ZERO.

Could Trump's Middle East policies lead to the Rapture, relatively soon? <http://bit.ly/2jqMgis>
There's ZERO balance in CHUMP's brain, because there's [close to] ZERO decent thoughts in there (his entire campaign PROVED that), until OTHERS feed their lobbyist ideas into that VACUUM. In this case, alt-right. Favor the rich. Not all middle class will get a tax rebate, said McConnell. Seek to end the estate tax, so society as a WHOLE is screwed.

Make it IMPOSSIBLE for the math to add up in money in vs. money out, so entitlements get slashed later, to target the NON-white, NON-rich, and bless his NARROW constituency [which Chris Matthews says an insider to the bill's origins testified it was to 'destroy the Democrats']. There's NOTHING responsible about his choices... just un-do anything Democrats have achieved for the good of the whole vs. only individuals! And take America back to a time when there was NO safety net, all sex acts were ONLY for creating a family (i.e., overturn Roe), business could pillage and rape the worker, if for profits. It is an IMMORAL theory, and ANY person claiming to be a "Christian," who is for it, is living in outright sinful rebellion to God—PERIOD!

This DOESN'T mean their attempts to reduce the number of abortions is sinful, but their win-at-all-costs approach (even supporting an assaulter, molester, and/or racist—new laws of 1965—and the perv-in-chief) are the ANTI-CHRIST spirit, entirely! I AM saying ALL Christians for this system are serving Satan, or are tares!

You read me right! Any claimer of Jesus who supports pure conservatism is sinful, fleshly, carnal, NOT a disciple, in rebellion, apostatizing—however you want to state it, you are in the wrong before God, and God judges His people's sins. May He do so VERY soon!

You have ZERO concern for the land He has entrusted to mankind; ZERO concern for any but the white and rich, and business owners, DESPITE Jesus usually siding with the ones who DIDN'T have it made. You are for selfishness and greed and hoarding and pride and idolizing money, so-called 'Christian!' I HOPE when the world reads our book, your church visitorship LOSES!

I actually PRAY for a revolt in America against any and all claimers of Jesus who advocate this IMMORAL system, for it is due, deserved, just, and could be God's way of executing needed reproof, if not judgment, on your wayward ways, FAKE followers of Christ! You are the deceived Laodicean church (Rev. 3)!

To he_l with the poor, the workers, the immigrant, the land, society, government's bills—the ONLY thing in life that your DEEDS prove you care about is money/profit-making. Anything else is rubbish to you, and the Bible's God does NOT lead you to so think, but the Devil DOES, and he is who you are serving! PERIOD.

ZERO balance. I had a handful of self-proclaimed 'king makers' 100 percent buy-in to our ideas, until their impatience (a SIN) led them to revert to OLD, sinful alt-right beliefs, because they have ZERO firm convictions—just political opportunism, from power idolatry. I label them the Christian Cabal, and wrote a book about their evil deeds, and especially their immoral Christian church practices—all for fame and fortune! I'm NOT going to stay up all night adding to this message, so I'm calling on ALL NOT in that belief system to rise and oppose this FAKE version of Christian belief, spiritually and politically! It's a Devil-led warping!

I can name names! I DID in our actual FREE book, 'Christians For Trump.' JUST like the Devil entered Judas, JUST before he betrayed Jesus, these man got an unholy 'hankering' to destroy ALL spiritual credibility in the lust for temporary, secular power, about 1.5 years ago, and it's NOT from Jesus, folks!

They self-justify literally anyone and anything, in the name of abortion, as they DESTROY their reputations and image and credibility, all in the name of Jesus, while serving Satan. Deceived. Tunnel-vision. Soul-sellers. Idolaters and hypocrites! JUST LIKE those prophesied to come in the near future (John 16:2).

For sake ALL reason, morals, and Christian values, for power. Force your warped, old-fashioned 1940's view of the world on everyone, to recreate your childhood, just before you die. THIS is the Christian Cabal, and hyper-conservatism, and I know these folks SO very well. I renounce them 100 percent, and apologize to all for their deeds! Sinners (in practice, at least).

Bottom line (as I want to sleep; 3 am): This is NOT Christianity! Any who will read Wit and Wisdom (book) will see that I fully document ALL my beliefs with Scripture. These pastors can NOT do the same, as they do NOT know the Book amazingly well, or even care to—just promote the political philosophy favoring the rich! (which is 100 percent VIOLATIVE of Levit. 19:15).

But who cares? Throw out your Bible, and let ME sermonize to you what you are to be for, and pay me ten percent of your income to do so, and not one soul will EVER question such a self-serving, and biblically-warped system! Tithes are NOT mandated in the Christian's New Testament. GO LOOK and see for yourself!

And ANY layman (including me) who teaches you anything contrary to the Bible, in the name of Jesus, God, Christianity, or holiness, is a FALSE prophet HERETIC (wherever they err)! You have to start learning the Bible for yourself, and rejecting self-proclaimed men of God who do NOT follow His values, but sin!

The Bible PREDICTED this very event would occur in history. I believe, personally, the rise of the Christian Cabal in 2016 IS 'The Apostasy' of II Th. 2:3! I've written two books on Bible prophecy, and KNOW how serious a claim that is, so I don't make it lightly!

I am saying those 12 or so men have hastened prophecy, in a Satanic vs. godly way (II Pet. 3:12). And I will challenge any and all of them in any public forum in the future, when God leads me into politics, on any doctrinal subject, because their LACK of Bible understanding has caused them to severely stray in 2016, SADLY! #Apostasy

Please understand one thing about prophecy: On God's time-table, there is but one event left needing to happen, for all hell on earth to break loose... a 7-year peace deal for Israel's peace with her enemies. I PRAY Chump brokers that deal, for his LACK of character makes him fit the profile, excepting his NOT having the required wisdom!

He can get that from almost anyone else around him, as his entire cabinet is smarter, and I don't even know much about any of them.

I am saying the ONLY event between current state and Bible prophecy is Trumps son-in-law [potentially], as his 'partner' signing a 7-year deal!

I PRAY he does, but I do so being SAD for you, and warning you to be certain you are right with God, today (Jn. 3:16), for seven years of hell on earth transpire thereafter, then literal hell forever, for any who rejected God's FREE salvation (another heresy that bunch teaches—that salvation is difficult to obtain, and NOT FREE, called Lordship Salvation).

Before I nod off, my ONLY point of application is be VERY aware of the signs of the times, prophetically! You do NOT have as much time as you feel you do. I suggest as strongly as I humanly can... you had better be in right standing with God before prophecy starts!

RIGHT VS. LEFT EXTREMES

(1/26/17)

Right- vs. left-wing positives and negatives: Are you aware there is no perfect political party? I'm saddened to see that Chump's election is inspiring extremism on the left now, just as Chump inspired it on the right!

The CORRECT answers are NOT either extremes, where one extreme rules for awhile, then the opposite extreme un-does all that was done before, for the same thing to happen once they're gone. THIS IS BIPOLAR VOTING and ping pong politics! Fight all the time, take polar opposite sides on every issue, NEVER see any good in your opponent, and demonize all their views.

Am I the only one who sees this as a PROBLEM?

1. Other countries can NOT rely on a nation whose commitments vary and are opposite every 4-8 years!
2. NOTHING permanent gets settled, done, accomplished or fixed that way.
3. You the voter FOOLishly believe riding a different horse may make status quo better, when it's not a different horse, but a horse running in a complete opposite direction!

I realize Trumpsters and Michael Moore types will have a hard time initially seeing what I'm proposing, because we have stereotypes when you say you're GOP or Dem. I might be more an independent than anything else, but I am a person who wants ONLY the good from ALL sides, and I have a plan and details per issue on exactly how that's achievable.

I must associate with one party or the other in order to achieve such ends, but my loyalty is ONLY to principles—not any one party. Here is EXACTLY why, and what I'm referencing:

Liberal positives: They want a cleaner environment, less animal abuse, the poor not to severely suffer, minorities to have a fair shake at life, and social ills to somewhat be addressed, and not just by private means, only because humans are built to be so selfish, that will never accomplish much.

They are also for the worker. WHAT is evil about caring about U.S. citizens able to have jobs and make enough to survive, conservatives?

Liberal negatives: They often waste tax dollars, spend too much, can appease and be soft on warring enemies or crime, they can hurt business with their protection of animals and the environment, they can demand unsustainably high wages, and they can over-help poor people. This means liberalism is NOT perfect, extreme left!

Conservatism's positives: They Rare for a strong economy and military, the belief that you can earn whatever your abilities will allow, they support a controllable border, personal responsibility and business thriving. WHO can argue with the positives of either party?

Conservatives' negatives: They can poo poo diplomacy for hawkism, can bless the rich and business owners at the middle- and lower class' expense (Ex.: Over-outsourcing and over-immigrating), they teach make as much money as you can, but FAIL to balance that with any moral obligation for give back, taxes are always too high for them, even if there were none, and their theory TRULY teaches that if charities ever didn't exist or their funds dried up, too bad for the poor—government NEVER should help. Therefore conservatism is NOT perfect either.

I awakened this 5 am to rail on the current conservatives in charge of our nation, knowing the negatives of conservatism, but that is ONLY one aspect of the holistic story! There are negatives in their opponents and positives in their positions!

MANY policies Chump will STUMBLE on to I will agree with, because there are positives in every political wing, and he is NOT a pure conservative.

On any given issue, you're never sure what he is, or will be tomorrow vs. today! That, too, is NOT something other nations can place solid faith in. Wishy-washy ambiguity, double talk and confusion.

One more item: Moderate positions are no positions at all—just be less intense than the extreme wing you lean more toward.

That is NOT a position on an issue, or standing for anything other than the belief that extremes are always wrong.

You're still leaning one way or the other, but usually with little fervor, as it is mainly reactionary to bad policy proposals vs. proposing good policy from the start.

Relatedly, some WISE Republican in Texas told the TRUTH about Chump's Texas wall—our geography does NOT lend itself to a one-size-fits-all wall, and in many places it would be on private land or would hurt the environment. I will see that fact in about a month, where such a thing would HARM the beauty of one of great national parks in Texas.

You're a HERO! @HurdOnTheHill <http://wapo.st/2jifCN4> Common sense, fact-based analysis, smart, reasonable—WE NEED MORE OF your type in Washington!

And back to my Spanish message to Mexico's president—the English translation is... Good message, sir. Stand firm for what's right and legal. DT doesn't know the law, and is not very smart—you are.

So WHENEVER any politician proposes any good policy, support it (like Rep. Hurd). Anytime it's BAD, loudly oppose it.

SATAN SANTA CHUMP'S CHRISTMAS "HANDOUT"

(NO CONTRADICTION THERE?)

(12/22/17)

Final thoughts before our book closes—tax cut? GOOD for business (it SHOULD be 25-20 percent, with ZERO loopholes), and the middle class. NOT good for blessing mainly the rich, and the poor already have Section 8, Welfare, food stamps, Obamaphones, Obamacare, etc. NEVER over-help, or help too long. And $19 trillion+ debt is a CRIME against America! The GOP is NOT fiscally responsible!

NOW I see the GAME: The GOP's alt-right lowers taxes too low, so when RESPONSIBLE people raise them, to pay America's bills, they can be slandered as evil tax-and-spenders, to idiots! I DARE any alt-righter to tell any federal worker he/she is lazy, inefficient, needs to be fired, and can't make it in the real/money-grubbing world!

I'm convinced NO ONE cares that Social Security is running out, or especially that a $19 trillion debt is a PROBLEM! No D.C. politician cares if they can bribe/buy votes! And if you only knew the special interest payoffs in that tax bill! PAY YOUR FAIR SHARE, and quit selfishly screwing America. Taxes and government AREN'T innately evil!

I'm the world's most innovative man, and I don't have any idea how America will ever pay down the debt! Politicians know voters and lobbyists are self-interested, and FEW care about America's best interests! THAT selfishness sin WILL end America. Voters: You MUST out-smart self-interested D.C. politicians when you vote!

If $1,500 for the middle class makes your life great again, you need to earn more! I understand government making up for what big business did with over-outsourcing, but government needs to be the referee—NOT giving handouts to under-paid employees! Business needs to do the right thing, and pay a fair wage—legally enforced!

And the YUGE omission many will MISS is that these tax cuts MAINLY help the rich, but people are so desperate for crumbs, they praise an extra Christmas gift their grandkids will be paying off for decades! Any tax rebate to the rich, with $19 trillion in debt, is fiscal irresponsibility! The GOP no longer stands for values voters, the religious right (vs. wrong), or fiscal responsibility.

I will NEVER UNDERSTAND any person who is happy he gets a $1,500 loan (mainly via China), at interest, for Christmas, from Uncle Sam, when each of us owes ~$230,000 to pay off our debt! That's maxxing out ten credit cards, and rejoicing that you got another bank to let you open yet another credit card! Fiscal IR-responsibility!

The tax bill is an attempt to force the feds to downsize. I suggest the military, cops, Homeland Security and FBI NOT protect those who were 100 percent for that bill, and let terrorists know their address, because it is unpatriotic to under-fund legitimate government services! NOT all are legit—get rid of those!

One more suggestion for ALL voters: DO NOT WAIT, OR RELY on government to make your life better! We the people have GOT to make life better for ourselves, without government. The tax rebate is a PITTANCE for the middle class, compared to the rich, yet people think $1,500 will turn their lives around? IMPOSSIBLE, and delusional!

IMMORAL, sin-full, and any "Christian" for it serves Satan! CARNAL sinner-apostates, under God's judgment! <http://on.msnbc.com/2DUdW86> [More than 80 percent if tax rebate goes to top one percent] (12/26/176)

I pray God judges His church—SOON! (I Pet. 4:17) They're in the pocket of favoring the rich, they DON'T clamor for revival, and NO ONE seems to care there's ZERO plan to evangelize all lost people, ASAP. May our buildings and salaries be destroyed, and may persecution hit like in the days of the first century church—ASAP! (12/26/17)

SAVING A TRUMP PRESIDENCY
(AKA, How to Grow a Conscience)
(11/13/16)

There's NOT much that can save a Trump presidency, after the arrogance, meanness/rudeness, and stupidity! One SMALL chance is to do the following:

GET ALONE WITH GOD in a private place, and pray to have eyes to see how horribly (say, sinfully) you acted. WATCH past videos, and LOOK in the proverbial mirror.

Have a SINCERE reckoning, and IF God were to grant repentance, WE THE PEOPLE would see a SINCERE apologizing, and going to all the offended groups to say you were a schmuck, and you are SO sorry—you DON'T know why you acted so crazy and criminal; say you are ashamed, and you wish you had never done any of those things, and you never will again!

Say this to: VETS (POW's are NOT losers, but draft-dodgers with ankle pains are), Hispanics, women, the disabled, and Muslims. ADMIT your campaign was EVIL and wrong, Donald!

I'm NOT talking about photo ops or media one-liners (window dressing), or even token cabinet picks. Continually return to people in those groups, and do things for them that show repentance—SERVE people vs. servicing ego mania!

You are the MOST morally corrupt president-elect in my lifetime, and I can't teach you to feel this way if your heart is numb (or dead)! Wake UP, and fear God!

Visit a morgue, a maximum security prison, a boot camp, an orphanage, a hospital. FEEL something other than pride in your HUMILIATION! (Jas. 1:10)

Go to the slums, a war-torn battlefield (see the disabled in MASH units), SIGN THE GIVING PLEDGE, Donald. You are NOT many years from meeting your Maker!

DON'T listen to yes men kiss-ups, or priests who encourage you. LISTEN to your protesters! Go out to THOSE (vs. your own) rallies, and take the heat you rightly DESERVE! The buck stops THERE!

You NEED medications! It's either disassociative disease, schizophrenia, bipolar or megalomania. Go visit Kanye, and LEARN something! DO it before Jan. 20; get FIXED!

And RENOUNCE the Devil and HIS belief that 'it worked/I won,' so it had to be right! You FAILED before God, and He's the ONLY One who matters! He WILL judge you (as with everyone; Rom. 14:12; II Cor. 5:10)

How do you grow a conscience? It comes natural for most people; others mainly in childhood by good parents; some are psychopaths, and meds alone keep them under control.

Donald: GO TO CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY until Jan. 20, and read your Bible ten minutes a day (and pray). I pray God gets through to you—He may not. People can be beyond hope, you know. (Rom. 1:24, 26)

P.S.: Using a softer vocal tone, empathetic eyes, or sending women to speak for you is NOT repentance, Donald! HUMBLE yourself before God—THAT alone saves!

#DearMrPresident @POTUS Make America great again—RESIGN! <http://nbcnews.to/2k5kQ03> Pence is ten times the man you'll ever be; you're lucky he covers for your sorry butt. (1/20/17)

'S-HOLE NATIONS'

(1/23/18)

Larry Elder's solution to "S-hole countries:" I think it was him I heard yesterday, filling in (I listen SO infrequently, but he has a distinct sound)... entrepreneurial Capitalism. That is TRUE in the medium- and long-term, but let's deal with the here-and-now (i.e., REALITY).

He said about half can do it, and half may bring poorer African nations down. Does he have any suggestion who would help tip their balance in the right direction? U.S. tax dollars, to any extent? The U.N.? G-20 nations? U.S. political conservatives like him? (hardly!).

Let's assess his answer in the immediate term... Those who can need training and resources. What would you sell if you live where FEW have disposable income? Are they going to compete with Amazon, outside their national market? Is he suggesting micro loans, like Bill Clinton did, or mere hot air sluffing them off to excuse his political theory's LACK of concern?

And to endure the typical 3-5 year period to profitability, and average two years of NO salary for such owner-entrepreneurs... what's his solution? Or were those MERE words, with ZERO plans, or fleshed-out details? I suspect the latter. EVERY poor nation HAS to globally compete, and catch up FAST, if they are to do so.

What's Larry's plan for that? I, at least, suggest online FREE education, eventually leading to entrepreneurship college courses (like the EXCELLENT materials Baylor business offers, or my son's UTD notes), on the internet, with computers supplied to those who can't afford or don't have them there.

In the meantime, they still work or do their survivalist lifestyle, as the learning will take MUCH longer time. How about mentors, from compulsory civic service in every nation, where successful business owners from other nations spend a week conducting conferences there?

And where will inventories come from, and what products would be needed in Africa, that people can afford? Where would they come from? Who would pay for the inventory, and, more importantly, who would buy it? Remember, they're impoverished areas. Even in my very own Dallas, businesses REFUSED a multi-million dollar tax gift to open a grocery store in a poor area, and the idea ended.

No, Larry's words are James 2:16. TRUE in the medium-term, but USELESS without plans, and means of support. I'm SURE, Like Gingrich suggested for the U.S.'s poor, this solution is NOT met with any tax support suggested by such conservatives.

So HOW to do it, Larry and Newt? Talk is cheap. Words do LITTLE, without action! I would at least go so far as to suggest identifying existing successful entrepreneurs in Africa, having their governments be actively engaged and NOT corrupted, starting with the BASICS (like sustenance and farming needs), then infrastructure.

The internet is how they can sell elsewhere (where there IS money), and the U.N., G-20, and church and charity participation to get said nations on their economic feet.

There are MANY more detailed needs. For more, you should get our book, The Way Things Ought To Be: A Global Vision For A Better World; NOT just words!

And for any political conservative in America to opine on help for other countries is the epitome of hypocrisy! After all, isn't that putting America second? Isn't that JUST like the Jesus they cling to would have a so-called "Christian" nation do, DESPITE conservatives? YES!

#STOPTRUMP

(3/18/16)

I've said Trumpsters are ignorant, or dumb, in their support of THAT man, not necessarily in their overall IQ. I've even said it's for their support of the man, not necessarily of his policies—certainly not all of them. What do I mean?

It IS stupid to support one who HURTS the party and GOP's reputation into the future, who WILL lose to Hillary and gives GOP opponents ammunition and evidence for the GOP stereotype, NOT as a party of thinking vs. feeling, values voters or the religious right. THAT one decision of yours—NOT mine—IS stupid. It fails, hurts and emboldens, and loses the party more people than it temporarily may attract from the hyped drama. There's NO other word to use than STUPID! (not to mention IM-moral, supporting a rude, arrogant, OW/Hispanic/disabled and women-insulting bigot to represent you and your LACK of moral values)!

Mark Davis' guest used George Wallace, President Johnson and Hitler as moral precedents for Chump's behavior. Can't we AT LEAST discuss Reagan-forward societal morays?

Then he uses Bill Clinton as WORSE than speaking of Chumps privates. The GOP impeached him for lying about adultery; Trump's just another adulterer's sin JUSTIFIERS!

Chump ERRAND BOYS on talk radio are SO desperate to defend him there are NO moral standards with these power idolaters.

NEVER accept that they're moral, or values voters, or of the religious right, and especially representatives of core Republican values. They're ONLY political conservative fanatics! #TRUTH

THAT WAS MY IDEA!

(5/13/18, Unpublished)

Then I had a conversation with a gentleman who obviously liked FoxNews. I asked him if he was a big Trump supporter, and when he said 'yes,' I asked why, and nearly EVERY reason was policies I advocated for WELL before Trump ever learned about them, then 'stole' them through word of mouth from my pastor (his first evangelical council spokesperson).

Here they are, point by point (and the tweeted proof exists throughout this book): Closed borders (which never meant build a fifty foot wall, so the Rio Grande River is ceded to Mexico), drain the swamp (which I called throw the bums out), opposing Political Correctness abuses, $3,000 middle class tax rebate, helping the non-college-educated recover from over-immigration and over-outsourcing, defeating ISIS, speaking on a third grade level (NOT acting like a third grader), being exciting and interesting (as the media thrives on ratings), merit-based immigration (i.e., skills our economy needs), USA #1 (which he made into #MAGA), politicians not prioritizing their own selves and careers over the good of the nation, and a few other smaller topics.

I told him how six or more presidential candidates used our ideas, and several prominent pastors sought my run for office, until the day they concluded I was serious about 2020, and not 2016, and started getting on the Trump Train. Most of these issues are more fully document in our Indications of Influence and Impact sections, below.

TRUMP & PROPHECY?

(5/9/18)

Here's EXACTLY what you need to know WILL happen, and MAY happen based on Chump's hilariously stupid antics:

One day, enemy nations of Israel will engage a violent uprising against her so strongly (and violently), all will clamor for an end to the conflict. We're NOT there, yet, but Chump's three decisions got us much closer (embassy move, Israel capital re-naming, and now the Iran deal balking).

Before I continue, watch Israel. EVERY real prophecy expert will tell you that's how you know the timing is close (Lk. 21:28).

When those escalated events occur, the problem will have to be resolved! Who will solve it? The forever feared real Antichrist you hear of in movies. An actual man, likely from the EU. (or a related nation, historically), who will stealthily take over, or "uproot," three heads of state, to have the clout/authority to negotiate that 7-year peace deal (Dan. 9:27).

The problem is, it's a sham, and he consciously/intentionally breaks it half way through (can anyone say before his second term in office, in American terms?), though he also breaks it in less major ways, soon after it's signed (Seals 1-2, of Revelation; note, the bow has no arrow, indicating a more stealthy violence).

ALL I care to share with you tonight is that seven literal years of Hell on earth are coming to our world, relatively soon, and if you have never received Jesus, you will go through them! You may still have a shot at Heaven, but you'll likely become a martyr for so doing. Do it today!

I've written two books on this subject. Why would I waste any of your time with any lesser details, when you will witness them yourself, anyway? I wrote those two books so you'll know what you're going through, because MOST of you will REJECT this call to get yourself on the right side of eternity, until it's too late!

The Bible says there's a window of opportunity for salvation, after which God closes the door forever. When people repeatedly harden their hearts against that message, God gives them up! Has He given up on you? Are you too far gone in sin?

Are you freely, wilfully, consciously choosing a fiery Hell, FOREVER? Day, after day, after day in painful agony? Then you are a fool! The Bible, unfortunately, says most men choose to remain foolish, and to go live forever with Satan, in a fiery forever they never escape.

IF you want a preview of the highlights (better, lowlights) of major Bible prophecy events, READ @ProphecyForYou. I never charge one dime for you to know how NOT to end up in Hell, and go through those events first! Never have, never will. Your eternal soul is more valuable to me than that.

So do we know who that Antichrist person is, and is he alive today? I don't know, but for me, with forty years of intense Bible research, 1.5 earned seminary degrees, Trump is the closest thing we've seen in this generation, since the Beast precursor—Hitler!

In prophecy, Gog (i.e., Russia) wars with that man of sin, and her head of state at the time, which seems to be Putin, for several more years.

Eastern nations rise the second half of that 7-year period. We're already seeing a resurrection of North Korea, and the China tiger roaring back from pre-1980's virtual obscurity!

Nations are to rise against Israel. ISIS, and other groups and nations opposed to the 'small Satan' (by their definition) are already primed for a pounce!

Let me EDUCATE you (I'm NOT trying to convince you—the events you will experience can do that for you!) about how you know these events are close...

First, Israel had to be in her historic land (1948). You'd expect technology to be able to show everyone in the world this one-world leader's words and actions. Do the terms internet, smart phones, TV, and all things mobile make that prophecy very doable now? They do to me!

Read II Tim. 3. MANY traits of life in the last days are described, and if you're old enough to remember how life was in the 1950's, you'll quickly see the stark contrast that chapter describes.

Jude and II Peter describe ministers in ministry for the big bucks. Do you see any of those, like Joel Osteen? Knowing what I know from WillYouLiveForever.org's 667+ pages, I see many more than you likely do, because I know how things are supposed to be run; you, likely, accept status quo as optimal—unless you know the Bible well, which most do not.

What about Dan. 12:4? Men will go to and fro (Ex.: airplanes, SpaceX space travel, air taxis from DFW airport to my city starting next year?).

Knowledge will be increased. It doubles in less than every two years, now.

'Peace, peace' will be a cry heard often, and wars, and rumors of wars (Mt. 24). Sound familiar?

Half way through this 7-year period, that man will forcibly require every human to accept a mark on their forehead, or wrist. Can you say imbedded microchip, or bar code? You couldn't have in the 1970's!

No one will be able to be a consumer, or business owner, without his mark. Those who refuse will be killed, or have to live off the land—if they escape.

Control of every business transaction will come through government. We already have systems to do that, privately! Anytime I take a road trip out of state, and forget to inform my bank, they either call my cell phone, or cut off my debit card's buying power. All it takes is for government to perform that function.

How about smart phones with security technology scanning your index finger print, or eye iris? We already have those, and the author of the book of Revelation may have seen that, and considered such technology to be like the mark he described in Rev. 13.

How about the image of the beast? A.I., robotics and lasers, which GPS track people unwilling to worship that man, using that 666 bar code to specifically murder resistors?

My point is that Heaven and Hell are right around the corner, and you better be ready for one or the other. You can decide it's the right destination—today—or merely hope you go to Heaven, in which case I'll guarantee you you won't.

Donald Trump set off several initial dominoes to all these proceedings, yet IGNORANT Christians cheered him on! That was also prophesied. It's called "The Apostasy," or falling away from the true faith (II Th. 2:3).

I KNOW very few people see my writings, tonight. I put them in books, so more people will see them later. This one will end up in Christians For Trump, FREE, at <http://AmericanAnswers.org>.

As I add this message to that book, a few more signs that we're getting close: Mt. 24:12 Most people's love for God will grow cold. Did you know, MOST U.S. Christians already fit that description? For the past 35 years the statistic has been 90 percent, but at best it's only 70 percent (says Wikipedia). Half-hearted in their commitment.

Prophecy also hits MOST people unaware (Mt. 24:38). Business as usual events of life occur, with no sense of impending dread, for the majority. That's EXACTLY why our primer prophecy book's title is Practical Prophecy for an Unsuspecting World. Also see Lk. 13:25.

Finally, you'd expect the idea of a one-world government to gain traction before that time period, so it would be more easily accepted. Globalism has all but done that job for us. Some people even clamor for open borders, and use the term, 'global citizens.' The subconscious preparedness for accepting that coming system are in place! Are you ready?

Maranatha. Even so, come Lord Jesus! (Rev. 22:20) <https://bit.ly/2jJTNZn> <https://bit.ly/1fHRamx>
See also: Our prophecy chart, as the very last page of this book—as it should be!

Update #1: Anticipating Antichrist
(5/11/18)

In order to have the notoriety to broker peace with Israel, the Antichrist uproots three E.U. heads of state. I've always thought them to likely be Germany, France and Italy, as that would gain them such clout. But how would he pull that off? Kill them? Threaten them with the military's control through a coup? Dan. 7:8 seems to be violent vs. peaceful.

And was he in government beforehand? Maybe he's in the U.N., where he conducts a pact with those three nations? Why would someone aspire, or want to be him, or do his job, when Hell is certain? The sovereignty of God's plans! He's stealthy in how he takes over. A plotter, schemer, deviser in secret.

And what would make Israel's enemies unite together against her? Hatred of her opposition to Palestinians in the land? I'd assume she does unjust things that offend too greatly, or ignores disputed territories for apartment settlement expansion, or mistreats the displaced Palestinians.

Maybe she knocks out Iran's nuclear facilities in an excessive way; not just to deter, and sober them up. It's like what did the U.S. do to anger idiots to engage 9-11? It doesn't take a lot, and isn't always an overt act you know will do that to your enemies, apparently.

How would three heads of state be taken out, with all those security measures governments have in place these days? An insider would only work in one nation, vs. three, unless he received help, but the Bible doesn't indicate that. Russia goes after Israel's wealth, later in those seven years. What, specifically? Oil, manufacturing, technology, banks?

You can expect Russia to ally with Israel's enemy nations even before the Rapture. The effects of that event will cause all men to clamor for a savior, which is when and why the Beast arrives on the scene, though he's been on earth at least 20 or more years beforehand; likely 30 or more.

He has the answers, and knows how to fix the problems which that event causes; problems like missing loved ones, car and plane wrecks from absent drivers and pilots.

Millions of jobs unfilled, and families abandoned/orphaned, with no seeming explanation, and the fear that aliens abducted them, or some vortex sucked them away, and could it happen again? People will be fearful.

Enter a man who decapitates the governments of three E.U. states, and claims he can resolve the Israeli conflict. His powers, charm, charisma and miracles cause both sides to agree with his plan. I believe he secretly allies with the Arabs, beforehand, to lie that the deal lasts seven years, as it benefits them for it not to.

SOON after the deal gets signed, war breaks out, so the world quickly realizes he's an untrustworthy liar, and remaining heads of state either militarily and otherwise ally with him, or get targeted for crushing by his increasing military might. Famine, plagues, and death ensue (i.e., the seven seals, et al).

Do you read or hear—ANYWHERE—people asking these questions, speculating based on facts, or explaining these matters this way and in this detail, with not one book in their hands? Then you've got to follow better teachers! It's been 3-4 years since I've studied prophecy, but I have, and recall it pretty well, as just proved.

When God brings the seal and trumpet judgments, all will seek government to help them, and to solve the consequences (Ex.: destroyed infrastructure, topography, lives, water and food sources), so after three+ years, the idea of a one-world dictator won't be negative, but a life raft to them, as he promises lies and seems to be like God—a savior.

He even claims to be God! Then, when he has consolidated all nations into his evil pact, by real estate bribes (from lands stolen, then given as rewards), or having punished and defeated opposing nations, militarily, he seizes the ultimate prize... global control, 3.5 years after his lie of a peace deal.

He has a partner in crime, who works miracles, and who passes an edict that all will worship his boss, or be killed, and that no one can conduct business unless they imbue their bodies with a symbol of submission to that man of sin, either on the forehead, or wrist. Even the number of that symbol represents him, and images of him, everywhere, enforce his assistant's decree, by killing non-mark receivers, and non-worshippers of the Beast.

I take that as human-looking, acting and speaking robots, perhaps his look-a-likes, with AI and GPS and sensors and lasers, to kill detractors. Nearly half the world's population dies from God's three series of judgments on the earth. All water sources get severely tainted with blood, to the point they're not potable/drinkable. Desperation will be the name of the game of life.

There are so many more details, you'll simply have to buy our two books on prophecy! Until then, see @ProphecyforYou Good night.

Update #2: Three Kings Uprooted
(5/12/18)

I'm intrigued trying to figure out how the Beast takes down three kings, and why the Jews' enemies attack Israel. Possibly he allies with terrorists, and accesses nukes he uses to threaten their rule/reign? Jews' enemies must no longer fear U.S. defends Israel, for some reason. Perhaps a rift between the U.S. and Israel happens?

Maybe even the deal with Israel is involved, as the E.U. gets usurped in its leadership to be pro Israel's enemies? E.U. meetings could be where the Beast asserts himself, publicly. Israel's enemies are allied with this man of sin, so the E.U.'s support of Iran's nukes being contained gets overtaken by this man, by his power to do so?

I'd keep a watch on nations or terror groups (even new ones) seeking and getting nukes, and some politician, or political associate, making overtures to Israel's enemy nations, or terrorists, posing as an E.U. representative (if not a lesser E.U. executive, whose sympathies are with the Palestinians, more than the Jews). Watch the E.U. regarding Iran!

Maybe with all the E.U. immigration of Islamists, one rises to political power. The Beast abandons his religious upbringing for another god of war. He could be an ex-Christian. He's rich, boastful, and blasphemous. I'd watch for a person within E.U. leadership matching his description. I think he's alive, but I don't know.

Update #3: Israel's Messiah
(5/12/18)

MAYBE, just MAYBE these FOOLish celebrations surrounding the U.S. Embassy will unite Israeli enemies to end their in-fighting, and focus on their chosen enemy/enemies, which will cause MORE violence in the U.S.A. and Israel. I am NOT encouraging, but warning, as prophecy predicts an escalation. (Dan. 9:27)

The solution in Israel is receiving Jesus. Since most people choose not to (Mt. 7:13), the ONLY solution (until He returns), is brokered peace through win-win, which is brokered before the Antichrist arises. Our three political books detail what's needed.

I JUST thought of how Israel and American actions might trigger Dan. 9:27. IF Jeffress is correct that the land of Israel belongs to the Jews (a historic, biblical claim, but NOT realized until the Millennium), have the Jews build and occupy ALL the land! @RobertJeffress That would be consistent!

If this is staked claim is to be applied in OUR dispensation, Bob should call for the entire nation of Israel to be occupied ONLY by Jews! He won't, due to hypocrisy and timidity sins! (II Tim. 1:7) Robert Jeffress Says Israel Has Biblical Land Claim <https://bit.ly/2rHuBGF>

Robert Jeffress has NO comprehension of the Church age vs. Millennium, and maybe not even the Tribulation, as a recent sermon warned Christians of a coming, large persecution—then he references Tribulation passages about Tribulation saints—NOT church age Christians. STUDY BETTER! (II Tim. 2:15)

Jeffress said OBAMA's terms would usher in the Antichrist. Who'd have known Robert would have a direct part to play, well after Obama had left the White House? Pastor who linked Obama to Antichrist says stop demonizing politicians. <https://bit.ly/2rMdxAb>

TRUMP & SYRIA

(4/5/17)

.@POTUS You blame Obama's red line NOT acted upon. WHAT MILITARY ACTION WILL YOU TAKE AGAINST THE SYRIAN ARMY TODAY, you weak, pansy wussy LOSER? DO it! (5/4/17)...

I see Ivanka Trump's verified accounts here today. I thought I blocked ALL Chump's people; she just got blocked. Sorry I had that omission; I like her more than most. (5/7/17)

VP Pence here, as well. I really missed some of DT's people being blocked. They will be knocked down like the gopher game at Chuck-E-Cheese's!

Missed only one more (Don, Jr.), but he got taken care of, too. We KNOW they can still access our tweets by other people, but we WON'T intentionally help them!

I'm GLAD to see Chump decided to put action behind his tough talk. WE identified chemicals as Syrian, and called for military action WAY before the U.S. government identified such need.

Assuming those three Chump-related accounts were here in reply to my DM saying Chump was WEAK on Syria. Their being here proves nothing about Donald. I told you what was needed—you are UN-original!

I'm certain he feels his actions disprove my taunt, but the taunt could have influenced him to do what he did. Anything to get him to do right!

HE blamed Obama; WE blamed him as weak in blaming the past vs. taking action! The day afterwards, the news said he's rethinking his position. YEA! Success.

Even Savannah Guthrie just said Chump had a quick change of heart. WATCH the news closely, as major players watch this account—all praise to God.

SINCE they're watching, GO BROKER A 7-YEAR PEACE TREATY between Israel and her violent enemies, @POTUS Daniel 9:27, in the Old Testament (i.e., first half of the Bible)!

#DebateInMyMind Do I continue showing my insight capabilities here, or is it worse that Chump can benefit from it—and for free. I'll PROBABLY cut back.

<http://fxn.ws/2oKWSNo> I will probably comment ONLY after Chump takes actions, and NOT advise how I'd do things if he had a 'great brain' like the Scarecrow also needed.

TRUMP DOESN'T NEED TRUMP VOTERS? AMERICA DOES!

(12/10/16)

Trump tells thank you rally-goers, "I don't need your vote anymore." Rather than abandoning the struggling middle class, let's address their plight!

Let's address Trump the white un-college-educated's Savior complex hang-ups: You USED to have a good-paying blue collar job.

In the late 1980's, you started seeing less opportunities, and wages stagnate or go lower. Outsourcing and immigration allowed that pressure against you.

'Made in America' usually means you pay more, and U.S. consumers DON'T want to pay more, even if it means a fellow citizen keeps her job.

Big businesses will NEVER abandon the U.S. market with their products, but WILL with their jobs. Why? We're the number one consuming country in the world.

Economic recovery does NOT start with poorer areas of town! The City of Dallas offered $3 million for grocers to open in the South/poorer area, and none took the bait.

Economic recovery starts with those with disposable income—the middle and upper classes. And as Gene Simmons noted, there's only so many luxuries the rich have room for, or want.

Selling to the rich is a niche market. Selling to the HUGELY larger in number middle class is where it begins. But if their jobs are outsourced, or wages diminished by over-immigration, stagnation ensues, as it has the past eight⁺ years.

Trump voters can NOT get their good-paying blue collar and manufacturing jobs back. Here's why... Your $50,000 or more job function can be done as or nearly as well for MUCH less elsewhere.

The difference between what others cost to do your job and your former salary is PURE profit for executives and shareholders.

Business' number one problem is they ONLY focus on their business's needs for labor. As a whole, when they ALL do that (and they do), no one but politicians and voters (and 'liberals') deal with, care about or consider those implications for the American worker, unemployment and the economy, with a dead middle class.

Economies grow when MORE sales are had to people with money who DON'T hoard/sit on their nest egg, and don't just invest it to get richer without spending.

Investments help businesses expand, but they don't do so if there is no need, as when there are no optimism indicators that sales will increase (i.e., consumer confidence).

Businesses, families/individuals and government are all consumers. MOST importantly, so is every human on earth who has disposable income. Herein is the solution.

However, if ONLY the rich primarily get richer, the money pool shrinks into only a few elite hands. They are NOT usually incentivized to care how that helps or hurts workers or the economy—just how to invest it to make more.

That's why laws need to restrict their bonuses for layoffs, restrict out-sourcing, limit immigration, prevent tax avoidance mechanisms, etc.

The Giving Pledge needs to be clamored for by we—the majority non-rich! THEY have the money excess needed for the economy to grow to bless ALL, vs. the few, as with big business, and to improve society, but NOT so much they cease being rich.

P.S.: If voters made politicians restrict outsourcing, even if U.S. businesses closed shop and moved their headquarters elsewhere, the collective U.S. consumer STILL holds the power, for those businesses will NOT make it like they do today if we simply punish that traitorism by patronizing their competitors who did NOT leave.

You have the numbers and power, but if you continue to buy into the hyper-individualism conservatives and business wants you to, you have diluted that power!

P.S.S: Why do you think advertising in America is ubiquitous, peer pressure is to buy, buy, buy, and credit is made so easy to access? Business and the rich get even richer if you spend more than you earn!

TRUMP IS NO REAGAN!

(9/15/15)

I was around when Ronald Reagan was elected President. I voted for him. CHUMP is NO Reagan. Conservatives WANT him to be, but HE had intellect and CHARACTER.

May I, by God's grace alone, lead the 70 percent Republicans (who are non-hyper conservatives) to boycott a Trump vote. The GOP can win NEXT time and fight Hillary in the meantime.

BETTER to lose (as you'll do with Chump anyway) with the party reputation in tact than to risk a HUGE stain nominating an entertainer-in-chief, reputed party of THINK-ing!

The GOP establishment's chickens have come home to roost in UNDER-estimating the vitriol of conservatives being ignored, and your siding with Democrats constantly! That's DUMB!

Chump COULD win the nomination, but it would be winning the battle and losing the war! Wake UP, America. This is the MOST serious time in our history.

DON'T be deceived by publicized hysteria! CHUMP's negatives FAR outweigh his positives in polls for the general election, and GOP conservatives ONLY make up ~30 percent! #DumpTrump

Hillary: Not just a passing thought—perhaps the ONLY way to reverse poll numbers slipping is to use Bill more in campaigning. He has a statesman image now. [RE: <http://on.msnbc.com/1M6FLpm>]

@GOP @RNC It's TIME for @MittRomney-Powell or Romney-Rice to be pulled out of your magic hat bag of tricks, IF you want any chance to defeat Hillary. [Renewed calls for Romney to enter Presidential race get louder after debate; <http://bit.ly/1KWieax>]

Are there no internal rules of conduct or belief by which Chump could be excommunicated from GOP as not the real (art of the) deal? Foolish!

It would be premature to introduce Romney now! Wait to see how the top 4-5 do in the next three months with Chump. By January, you would NEED him if Chump is still number one in the polls! [News report: "A pollster is making calls in New Hampshire to gauge the level of support for Mitt Romney."]

I've predicted since January 2015 a Hillary victory. The BEST CHANCE to defeat her is with Romney and whoever polls next best to be his VP, GOP. Mark my words.

IF 1-2 candidates were consistently interesting, full of ideas, maybe even a bit funny (or dare I say entertaining for the non-academic majority), it would help.

UNFORTUNATELY, Boehner's (and even McConnell's) exit WON'T quell radical conservatives' desire to control the GOP via Trump!

Please contact Mitt Romney about a tag-team duo to win the White House! By process of elimination, you're number ONE of those running, for me. GOOD job! @MarcoRubio

*NONE of them seem Presidential to me—yet—but MAYBE Rubio. They expect you to accept them with VERY FEW IDEAS/plans? 'Like me, they really like me?'

I WISH I could run against Chump if he looks like the GOP nominee. Our ideas expressed here January to July TRUMP Chump. He's a HORRIBLE GOP representative! #DumpTrump!

Unfortunately, no ability, for now! @Pledgers2020; @ImMadTooEdwin; @PledgerARCHIVES; romney HAS those abilities—money, contacts, fame. #RunMittRun!

I already LONG before predicted Clinton likely winning, about the time someone Unwisely convinced Romney to drop out. The GOP shot themselves in the foot with that bone-headed move!

TRUMP “NEGOTIATING” NONSENSE

(5/20/18)

Here is tRumps "great negotiator" strategy—Demand one-sided things only in America's interests. You will concede, and give up things beneficial to your land, or there will be heavy, negative consequences. Then, if anything happens, even if it's negative, he calls that a 'break-through.' I call it MORONIC bullying threats!

tRump and Rudy are SO far removed from lawyerly professional negotiators and/or brokers! They wouldn't stay three minutes in a real arbitration or mediation. I'm guessing tRump has had a BUNCH of wusses and pansies bow to his tactics for YEARS in the Bob the Builder business. You empower arrogance and a bully, thereby.

Ex.: We have four toys in a sand box. tRump, as a boy, would tell all other kids, those are all mine. If you don't like it, I'm going to steal your lunch money, too, or kick sand in your face. I never have to give any reason why that's the case, I just have the g_nads to ask for it; better, the 100 percent lack of morality!

tRump has ZERO skills at win-win. He's SO backwards, I'm shocked his businesses have remained open. That concept has been around since the late 1980's. #EMBARRASSING. You can win battles, and lose wars. tRump could NOT describe what that idiom means on an IQ test! His deeds prove it. #IdiotInChief

The “‘Art’ of the Deal” seems to be to be crazy, or act crazy, and ask for crazy things, and if anything comes of it (be it good or bad), claim ‘progress’ from status quo. (5/21/18)

Mr. Trump's negotiating playbook is by now pretty obvious:

Start with a headline-grabbing demand, beat chest loudly, then accept whatever is actually practical and call it a win.

In negotiating parlance, such a strategy involves trying to “anchor” yourself to an extreme position, knowing that the real goal line is something much less than what you've said. But Mr. Trump seems to routinely unmoor himself, leaving him exposed to the whims of those on the other side of the negotiating table...

As I reread “The Art of the Deal,” I was struck by this line:

“I never get too attached to one deal or one approach.”

—Andrew Ross Sorkin (NYT, 5/21/18)

The tendency of inexperienced negotiators, often due to their insecurity, is to be too belligerent and inflexible. A little psychology is required on the part of the negotiator. It is therefore important to be reasonable, although not obsequious, and, ideally, to give the other side enough so that its advocates feel that they have made a positive contribution and do not feel resentful. —Bruce Wasserstein

Referents: <https://nyti.ms/2kh9APK>
<https://nyti.ms/2KNHXcd>

#TRUMPNEGOTIATIONSTRATEGY

(5/9/18)

CHUMP fancies himself a disrupter of status quo. That's QUITE a different "Beast" from a chaotic moron with no intelligence or moral compass. That type of disruption is the bull in the China shop type—NOT positive disruption, like Amazon and Uber. Yet, IDIOTS praise his "successes." Low IQ folk.

I do NOT know how many tweets this will take, as I haven't come up with a good analogy, so I'll rough draft it until I succeed... Trump's negotiation methodology is like a spoiled brat in a sand box—he throws sand in your face, then walks away crying to mommy that you were mean.

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy If you can't get perfection, go backwards and get even worse than status quo. #Iran Threaten, pressure, embarrass your opponent, then act skitzo, and say nice things, like Dr. Jeckyl's past words won't be remembered when Mr. Hyde speaks positively.

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy My way or the highway, then wonder why nations consider some Americans arrogant. If it ain't broke, break it. Win-lose, and unless I win, I'm taking my cookies and going home. Heads I win, tails you lose; sounds fair to me.

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy Ask for the earth; settle for an atlas. No such thing as a bluff—actually ask for the impossible, because you just might get it (if the world doesn't kill you beforehand). Fairness doesn't exist—the globe should bow to America; that's it—period.

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy Non-existent. Make accusations, name-call, make irrational demands, and if you act crazy enough, people will never know if you're joking, or serious. Use that confusion in your favor, though ONLY in your own deluded mind. NO lessons to pass on to my children!

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy There are not enough crises in the world, naturally, so start some more, by executive edict, just so your supporters will think you're actually working. Cause a problem, so you can try to fix it, so you can claim you're solving problems. Insult your way into the dog house with every world leader, because no publicity is bad publicity.

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy Make people know (vs. think) you're crazy, so they'll be scared to not tick you off too much, because you have a big nuclear football. None of these analogies are perfect, but they're sure getting close to an accurate description! No one uses these methods, nor should they! DUH.

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy Punch Arab nations in the face, and kiss Jewish butt, then claim you're still an even-handed broker. In fact, this FAILED strategy failed so well, CHUMP even had to pawn the task beyond Jared Kushner to anyone who would try, but himself! #WEAKNESS!!!

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy Insult nearly everyone IN YOUR OWN PARTY, then expect them to fall in line, because so many politicians are so weak-spined, they WILL, in order to get through the 2018 midterms. After that, all Hell will let loose in revenge against a man they felt they had to appease!

#TrumpNegotiationStrategy On the MANY occasions you are proven to be a HORRIBLE negotiator, distract the public and/or media by whacky statements, decisions or tweets. Since people's attention spans are so short, they'll forget, or you get more attention/ratings by being radical.

TRUMP TARGETS

(2/5/17)

Those who buy into 'image is everything' fall for the chilling effects of Carrier (Ex.: Ford), and signal-sending. HERE's what Jesus thinks of mere gestures: Col. 2:17; Heb. 10:1

MUCH of what Chump has done is appeasing diverse voter groups (Mexican wall—alt-right; Johnson amendment—pastors; Iran threats—Jews; Jew warning—Arabs; 2/3rds regulations cuts—big business; carrier—workers; rejects LGBTQ discrimination bill—LGBTQ; ban burning oil processing fumes—ecologists; oil pipeline—big oil).

A little for everybody to like and hate; MAINLY trying to be liked; sometimes doing what's best for America. NOT U.S.A. more than self, full-time!

TRUMP TARIFFS & GLOBAL ECONOMICS

(10/1/18)

Let's BRIEFLY discuss this, as it's BORING: Chump claims tariff threats caused the NAFTA re-do. I've complained that over-outsourcing is a problem for many years. IF NAFTA had a LONG end date, tariffs would be required, but it's NOT good public policy to breach contracts!

People trust you less, and start negotiating with other partners (Ex.: BRIC). Globalization is out of the toothpaste tube, and U.S. workers will NOT work for what Chinese laborers will, so it's GUARANTEED that any manufacturing jobs that returned to America would cause American (and other) consumers to pay MORE. Do you want to pay more to save jobs?

The ONLY reason America has any leverage, globally, in trade deals, is because we are the number one consuming nation! MOST nations have more self-constraint, and take advantage of our people buying so much, from their low-wage supply.

Ill-will at 45's bullying tactics will manifest less publicly, and over time. North Korea says nuclear disarming won't occur if sanctions continue; Iran sends missiles to Syria; Arabs rebuff 46-1 over favoring Israel. Russia isn't exactly pleased with Chump. ALL the players of prophecy are being set up, like dominoes, and it's an exciting time to be living on this temporary earth!

One more thought, however many posts it takes: It's common sense that if manufacturing jobs can be had at $2/day elsewhere, if they could be forced back to America, by the U.S. requiring it in trade deals, SOMEONE is going to pay that YUGE expense increase. That someone is consumers—NOT manufacturers/businesses!

The answer to over-outsourcing is NOT for American consumers to pay more, so more Americans have manufacturing jobs, but re-training laborers for jobs OUR economy can support! It's IDIOTIC for consumers to subsidize people whose skills didn't keep up with history! #BadTradePolicy Fair and free!

'Ugly American' bullying by Chump will lead to increased alliances against our interests, like BRIC, abandoning the dollar as the world's default currency, etc. ALREADY, China, Russia, North Korea, the E.U., and likely Canada and Mexico have just started the resentment phase, which manifests much later!

Free trade is valid when all parties participate! When they don't, fight fire with fire. Fair trade is excellent, and the U.S. should never accept any trade agreements harmful to U.S. interests. However, you can't force our priorities on others, as win-win is the only way to gain a non-resentful trading partner.

Open markets, when competitors are closed, is merely STUPID! With U.S.' huge consumerism, we have leverage to throw the world economy into chaos if we abandoned all suppliers for better deals. You don't alienate allies, nor do you let yourself get abused by others. Trade wars that last hurt everyone.

HERE's how political conservatives "think:" U.S. is exceptional (except in our morals). We should undo child labor laws (Gingrich), and if we're to keep up with our competitor nations, sweatshops, unpaid overtime, no breaks, no safety standards, and other U.S. advancements for workers must be abolished/abandoned... "to be fair."

With Chump's 'we're America' (arrogant were the BIG dog attitude), MORE nations will seek trade alliances to counter our influence! Were it not for our military, spread out globally, more of those alliances would have already occurred, or more intensely! 45 is alienating even our allies. DUMB!

As a Jordanian amigo told me, if Saudi Arabia ever decides NOT to accept dollars for their oil (or the Yuan, or Euro, get pushed as the world's default currency), U.S.A. is economically doomed to a YUGE depression! DON'T THINK Chumps belligerence toward China and the E.U. can't lead to these developments!

America does NOT have a competitive advantage in a low-wage, high quality workforce for manufacturing! THAT is the problem with Chump's renegotiated trade deals. You play to your hand/advantage/strengths, and we can't compete with $2/day labor. NO trade deals can ever overcome that U.S. disadvantage.

U.S. workers MUST become world-class in futuristic economic growth industry skills. I've said this ~40 times, and unless and until our school systems and government programs gear up for this reality, we will always have people earning much lower than they're used to, complaining to Uncle Sam and politicians for bailouts!

National competitive advantage. THAT is how America's economy works for ALL Americans! Skills unique to U.S. workers that can't easily be emulated elsewhere. Absent that, all U.S. workers compete with every other nation's citizens, and businesses will always go for the best quality for the lowest price! #CommonSense

The largest challenge in the next ten years will be to find good-paying jobs for non-college grads in U.S.A.! With automation, retail and trade skills will be even more pressed for lowering wages! Crying to tRump will NOT solve that, as that's on you, U.S. worker. Even labor-friendly Democrats can't turn back globalism!

The BEST way for a U.S. non-college educated blue collar worker to secure a good income is to have the best skills, a great work ethic, and a great interview personality, for industries of the future, like AI, robotics, STEM and service/information-based careers. You're competing with a global labor market, now!

From what I've read of Chump's trade deals, it's protectionism disguised as free and fair trade! WHAT WOULD YOU EXPECT from a serial LIAR? Protectionism hurts everyone, and as others adopt it, the global GDP shrinks. Free markets don't have government restrictions, except for forbidding crimes. LEARN economics.

America has no global competitive advantage in business, except hard work, innovation, colleges/brains, risk-taking, natural resources, being the number one consuming nation, and the U.S. military. Beyond that, any smart nation can emulate our advantages, over time, and many already have. #Parity, except concerning consuming!

And consumers SPEND. Producers SELL. If the U.S. reoriented itself to making products the world has yet to imagine, and was first to market, we could lessen our trade deficits. Over time, only the cheapest manufacturer or smartest innovators WIN, because everyone can always copy what you do, over time.

And so long as global laws don't severely penalize patent infringement, including intellectual property rights, the U.S. will remain at a disadvantage, leading the world as they steal our ideas. It's HARD to get competitor nations to agree to laws that protect our assets, when they want them, anyway they can.

First to market, best value for the price, retaliating when import barriers are erected against us. These are the way forward, in global trade, for America. MORE allies (win-win), countering BRIC and its future add-on nations, including ALL nations in our economic orbit, so none want to ruin us. Global win-win.

That takes natural resources the globe is short on! In short, there aren't enough raw materials for every nation to live at U.S. standards. FIND or invent them! Ocean mining, Moon, Mars, technology to stretch their use (like ply board vs. wood), and genetically-engineered substitute materials. #Innovate

IF the environment weren't severely damaged, and remediation of aesthetics followed, I'd be for almost any and all mining/drilling for all that lies beneath; NEVER endangering water or animal health, but replacing what's extracted with what's undesired, like landfill, etc.

Mining in space costs MUCH more, and the more the U.S. weans off oil, the less Arab nations' abundance of oil will cost Americans. You can only frack for so long. New technology is needed to make a gallon of gas go 300 miles, or green energy. Metals, iron, steel, wood, plastic, rubber, synthetics, chemicals... Scientists need new alternatives.

America must abandon the 'America is to be served by the world' attitude, in global business. When we adopt a SERVANT model, we can both sell to others (i.e., make money), but also open new markets for exports.

If they're NOT as materialistic as America, make products that make their lives better—not just more enjoyable or luxurious! Many nations need cheap essentials, like sewers, clean water, heat and air conditioning, electricity, roads (i.e., infrastructure), but have little to trade for it. FIND what they can offer, like land or natural resources or cheap labor. They also become allied with NATO (Ex.: Africa, Central and South America).

Natural disaster ameliorating technology would benefit ALL nations! America needs to be first to market. Same with discoveries to eliminate EVERY disease known to man. These are not often business' concern, but if you want to overcome globalization, you've got to open new markets, vs. revert to protectionism! #FreeTrade

You also need to be open-minded enough to think of business partnerships possible with your enemy nations! That can lessen barriers/walls, if both sides benefit. It's one way an enemy can become a friend. START with Russia, Iran, North Korea and China! Call it business diplomacy, where money is on the line, vs. lives and wars.

America's enemy nations want what America wants, like natural resources, oil, exports, jobs, etc. It's the finite nature of those assets that leads to war, besides bad rhetoric and bad foreign policy. The U.N. can't do as much about this as U.S. leadership entering deals that benefit our enemies and ourselves, by win-win!

Bias toward Israel is one YUGE reason many enemy nations won't engage such business diplomacy, but that barrier is easily overcome when the U.S. does the right thing, and starts treating BOTH sides of the conflict as equals (excepting terrorists). Chump's acts have done the exact OPPOSITE! DUMB policy.

WHAT do Russia, Iran, China and North Korea want that's morally valid (i.e., NOT annihilation of Israel)? Why do nations want nukes? For respect and international negotiating leverage. Give them that, without their need for such dangerous weapons. There are so many answers, I'm going to shut up, lest 46-1 learn something outside himself!

P.S.: The amount of junk, and especially packaging we throw out as trash could easily lessen the global pressure/burden on limited/finite natural resources, if technology were devised to reconvert/repurpose it into a new or re-use! Landfills, except for rotten food, are about as wasteful and stupid a thing as mankind has ever created!

Free trade, for some business folk, is what's best only for business. Fair trade, for some folk, is NOT what's best for America, but other nations. We've got to stop worshipping rhetoric, and start analyzing details and results. What's in America's best interests is what I'm for, without hurting partner nations. ONLY win-win wins!

You can't improve a trade treaty for America without signatory nations doing worse, unless your negotiators get creative. And if things like NAFTA simply dictate terms for other nations to deal with Mexico, Canada and the U.S., that favor North America, UN-negotiated with other nations, retaliation is CERTAIN! Window dressing.

HOW would you, or America, react, if a trade partner BROKE/breached a legal deal, and said they want to renegotiate another contract, or America will pay more for trading with them, when you've been following a freely-entered deal for years, not yet expiring?

To keep business flowing, temporarily, you may relent, but over time you will find ways around it, like entering other deals with other nations, lower quality for your exports, or just build resentment so the next go-round you don't give in like that.

Most effective would be to substitute new economic allies, and cut out the over-charging bully! 45 knows he'll be gone by the time these type ramifications ensue!

Any person, or nation, that breaks contracts becomes less trustworthy! And anyone, or any nation, who says 'my-way-or-the-highway,' because we're the big bad dawg, builds resentment that turns to actionable retaliation, when opportunities arise, and opportunities will be sought out by them until then!

IF America entered "unfair" trade agreements, SHAME on the fools who represented us! IF, instead, they dealt with the reality of a globalizing world, and got the best arrangement they could get, mainly from greedy U.S. businesses seeking cheap labor elsewhere, there was NOTHING any politician could have done to stop them!

I've said before, EVERY nation NEEDS to unite to stand against businesses from any nation who continually shop around for ways to screw the little guy, be it workers, or poor nations with mainly natural resources, but every nation is self-interested, so we often sell-out to our best interests, and let businesses run rampant, and run over us as willing doormats! That's DUMB.

EVERY nation NEEDS a law that when any business lays off employees, executives MUST undergo a pay CUT. QUIT rewarding them for (temporarily) ruining others! I have NO problem with businesses cutting costs, but when human lives are involved, that pain needs to be SHARED! Humans are not plants or equipment. FEEL IT executives and CEO's!

The nations of the world will NOT unite to standardized laws/rules, because we're all self-interested, and have competitive rivalries. Many nations would limit what the U.S. can buy, as an unfair acquiring of limited natural resources, which the U.S. would argue is fair because we paid for it. The old ability to pay argument favors rich countries, and has NOTHING to do with fairness!

Prophecy

Ultimately, ALL nations will 'soon' be forcibly united by threat of warfare or bribe of receiving conquered real estate/land, by the coming one-world leader, who arises when Israel's enemies can take no more, unite/organize, and attack her violently!

It'll take 3-3.5 years for total world domination, but it starts by him usurping three E.U. leaders, subtly. I'm assuming nuclear power access will also play a part. IF you want to learn more, see our two books on prophecy. If you don't believe it, just wait around until you experience it. John 3:16, the Bible.

Why would Israel agree to a 7-year peace deal, today, when violence against her is NOT severe? That's why I totally expect increased opposition and attacks. No one can debate that tRump has escalated Middle East tensions, with the U.S. embassy moving, Jerusalem named as Israel's capital, and the NYC Palestinian office closed. He's on his way!

And who knows how crazy he can get when his job is threatened for his second term? That anger, pride and violence could easily turn into The Revealing (II Th. 2:3), and since he's chummy with some mega pastors, when he enters their edifices, like modern-day Jerusalem temples, things could start happening! #Prophecy

You already have Gog rising (via Putin), kings of the East rising (China, North Korea, as with Japan's economy, enemies of Israel more incentivized to rise up, unite and attack in ways only this coming man of sin could stop, bolstered by his unique rise toppling three E.U. heads of state. #Prophecy

And since America is historically tied to the E.U. (England's offspring, of sorts; NOT voluntarily, of course), these events could happen in a matter of a few years (though they can miraculously start at any time, as soon as Israel agrees to a 7-year peace deal. Are you ready for what's coming?

That evil dictator is known to be arrogant, rich, religious in the past, stealthy, boastful, and many other specific traits we detail and document in our poster-sized prophecy chart, avail 'FREE' if you buy one of our prophecy books. All roads are heading to this end. It will hit most people unaware. #Prophecy

There's NO NEED to take my word on it. Just do nothing, and mankind will go through these events, meaning you, if you miss the Rapture. I have NO idea where you can bone up on these topics if you never attend church, read the Bible, or go to a church that teaches on this—FEW do. "Good luck," survivors!

Continuing

ABSENT any prophecy consideration, nations are already inclined to do LESS business with America due to Chump's words, attitude and behaviors! He fights with our allies, and chums up to our enemies. He breaks contracts, and demands his way or the highway. That's NOT how you expand our global trade! Duh 101

The 'Ugly American' is a stereotype you hear about ELSEWHERE—NOT here, much. People resent others thinking they're superior, or better, or even God-favored above the rest! I expect more anti-American alliances to rise, unless foreign leaders show restraint, and understand that Chump is a temporary U.S. anomaly.

We have to hope they recall history, and our Constitution, that he only serves one term of four years; two maximum. Regime change is imminent, and if they know America from about all our past years, they'll see that the reality TV show will end, soon. Relationships and alliances last longer than that, unless you're the one-night stand type, like tRump!

I HOPE our allies know how many in America do NOT support this guy, and how he does NOT represent the real America, and I pray for their patience to endure our temporary insanity, knowing the true character of the American people, as we've demonstrated in all the past five presidents but him! #Pray

Finally, Russia, ~China, Venezuela, ~Cuba, Iran, and several lesser nations are HIGHLY incentivized to arrange a competitor economic bloc of nations to counter the U.S., and her remaining allies.

Even our allies have good reason to question doing business with us, given Chump's arrogant America only attitude. Forgive the U.S.A.!

Even NATO could break up into two separate organizations, if 46-1 continues his international dividing and damaging! Russia is counting on it, and, to a lesser extent, China. These are no small potatoes competitors! BOTH have nukes, even if Putin's economy is only about half the size of California.

Arab nations have NOT grown closer to America under Chump, nor Britain (our number one ally), or the E.U. And the NAFTA re-do, if it hurt Mexico or Canada, further ostracizes/estranges/ alienates us through protectionism and arrogant domineering through bullying.

In short, the world has become much more dangerous under Chump! NO Nobel Peace Prize is expected to come America's way under this 'disaster,' as Jimmy Carter labeled him. Go it alone is a conservative value. Every man for himself. SAME goes for tRump's foreign policy. You do NOT get along well in the world with such foolishness. And if nations unite, we are in trouble!

The U.S. military may be the best and brightest, but EVEN NOW, in Syria, Russia and China's forces are uniting in war games. Does anyone really believe SYRIA is so strategic and important, that it merits that show of force? No, it's a SIGNAL to the U.S.A.!

And as our investment by China becomes less worthwhile, credit default or war could easily ensue! Do you think China has been building man-made islands to populate them, or build manufacturing plants there? Think again! Same with the space race, for which Chump started the 'Space Force.'

Do you think Russia and China just want to explore planets for the good of mankind and science?

And Russia is pursuing 'silk' trade routes to the Middle East, and China is trying to impact shipping lanes. KEEP chasing entertainment and money, and your mind NEVER considers what's going on in the world. And you trust tRump has a handle on these factors, or is doing what's right, in pouring gasoline on fires he initiated/started? America first, to the exclusion of others, is a near war cry! And deeds speak louder than words.

MOST nations see Chump at the U.N. general assembly meeting, and LAUGH at his claims that he's so good for America. Just work your job, and relax. The devastation will hit you blind. That's a fool's way to live! America is being harmed!

Heads of state have enough dignity to be in their positions to not insult Chump, publicly. But in their heart of hearts, I venture to guess none of them admire him, few trust him, many are disgusted with him, but since they're smart enough to never tell him, he's NOT smart enough to see it. Laughter at the U.N.!

When you know he's gone, soon, he's irrational, if not crazy like a fox, or senile, rudely arrogant and vindictive, you PRETEND to get along! A documentary by Tom Arnold said his dad was mean as he_1, and was scary to little Donnie, so now he has grown up to be like that, since his mom emotionally left at age two (in some way the details of which I can't recall).

An untrained monkey can hit a target some of the time. I EXPECT some victories for Chump, simply because smart people occasionally get through to him and anyone can hit a target sometimes.

This is NOT normal, world, and I pray people in all countries forgive the American people for hoisting him on us all!

IF you were an enemy of America, what would you do? Organize resistance! The U.S. military is NOT the U.S. economy, and the one competitive leverage America has is their people buy more stuff than anyone else. If I were that enemy, I'd encourage other nations to raise their standards of living, but buy from my economic bloc—NOT USA!

WHO fits this description? Russia, Iran, ~China, many Arab nations, Venezuela, Cuba, some African and Central and South American nations. BRIC already exists. I'd push for the dollar NOT being the world's default currency, and beef up all associated militaries. This is EXACTLY what's happening presently!

And with the U.S. favoring Israel over peaceful (vs. terrorist) Arabs, I'd secretly be organizing a resistance, militarily and economically. This secret/stealthy activity kept from the public and the media is EXACTLY how the coming world dictator will rise to power... stealthily. You will NOT see it advertised!

Even our trusted number one ally bloc (the European Union), is now incentivized to be less close to America, due to Chump! He has criticized them as lazy and needy for our NATO military support, his trade approach is every man for himself, to bow down to the U.S.A., and Saudi Arabia holds most of the oil cards, using the dollar.

IF the Saudis see tRump seeking American military protection as NOT our foreign policy priority, they can certainly fund their own military protection, then the dollar as default currency is seriously threatened, and the Yuan or Euro are poised to fill the gap/void.

Has Chump ever thought of these contingencies? Does he have any clue of the water ripples, when the U.S. sneezes, and Europe catches a cold, or the inter-dependency of all economies, post globalization?

He is LITERALLY setting up all the props of Bible prophecy! You couldn't do a better (or, better, a WORSE) job. Congratulations?

Nationalism and protectionism used to sustain the U.S. economy, pre-1980. But now that Chump has transformed into a political conservative, it shouldn't be surprising, with his many delusions, that he envisions the future from the past, with ZERO awareness of Bible prophecy, even in his new, signed/inscribed Bible!

And EVEN forgetting prophecy completely, does it surprise anyone that he has ZERO understanding of the inter-connectedness of nations, or impact of decisions he makes with MAGA blinders on?

I've said enough to even make myself discouraged about our immediate future, so I'm out of here.
@Pledgers2020 #Hope!

Update #1: Stretching Supplies

IF all natural resources could be enough for all, through science, technology and new finds/discoveries (wherever they can be found, even in outer space), FAIR access to them (vs. the highest bidder wins a disproportionate percent) could be had. Could atomic engineering duplicate natural resources?

Population explosion ONLY puts greater pressure on limited resources, and the need for land grabs! You want families to do as they want with family planning, but you also need less over-birthing! China has limited the number of kids citizens can have. That seems extreme, but something has got to happen to fix the problem.

If water, or air, could be converted into other natural resources, just like it does for sand, in the form of concrete, we have plenty of those resources. Man-made materials, like what Corvettes are made of, or plastic (from oil), or wood fiber, or Kevlar show we CAN design around limited resources.

WHO KNOWS what the ocean floor holds, as to natural resources? We've invented Hardi-Plank to replace trees. We've stretched how many miles a gallon of gas can take us. Technology and science are our hope for stretching what little we have, to be enough for us all, or finding new, underdeveloped reservoirs.

Bamboo is now used, as is ultralight super-material (10X stronger... than steel). Why couldn't non-developed lands be used to farm more needed product crops (trees, etc.), and we find filler material to replace what we extract from hills and mountains? We need all materials, though also aesthetics.

Underwater drilling for natural resources wouldn't hurt any aesthetics, if any is there(?), and wouldn't have to disrupt aquatic life, if done right. Moon mining would be very expensive.

Recycling is cheap, by comparison, with new machines needed to repurpose otherwise trash (Ex.: melt plastics).

Ocean mining: <https://bit.ly/2y7VTJp> Moon mining: <https://bit.ly/2NXE9eh> Mars mining: <https://bit.ly/2DRfiV0> We need filler materials to stretch limited resources, to do more with less. #Innovation Global vision.

HOW would you convince America's enemies that we can get along, like in the Gorbachev days? Goodwill actions. Conversations. Mutually cooperative business partnerships. Considering their needs and wants—NOT just ours. Accessing their citizens, as the politician are usually some of the most stubborn and intransigently ideological!

Update #2: America's Global Leadership
(10/2/18)

Related to yesterday's foreign policy message, is America's leadership role. Gorbachev was warmed up by the style, power, grace and charm of Reagan, and China opened up with Kissenger's diplomacy. Nations generally opposed to America have TIRED of our claim of continual leadership or dominance, and they sure aren't 'gonna respect a dude who simply asserts it as some life-given right!

Iran, Russia and China all have been world powers and even empires, in their day, and now want to re-assert that influence, CONTRARY to some MAGA claims. What the world has learned the past two years if that the presidential office and our nation are not the man or woman, meaning, the respect rightly due America and our White House/oval office are NOT the same if a child sits in the driver's seat!

Leadership is NOT arrogant ego, ignorant words and little thought before putting one's foot in one's mouth! It's NOT continually lying, or making one's self to be more than the naked eye of the observer beholds.

You cannot ride the coattails of the great America by not being (in some respect) great yourself, and expect many but your own followers to believe that act!... especially among world powers. The race (economic, arms, even territorial) for global dominance will continue to be run by China and Russia, perhaps in partnership, and orbiting Iran for Middle East power and influence.

NOTHING the U.S. or the E.U. can do will allay those aspirations, but things we do can exacerbate the problem, like splitting up NATO, or our historic ties, especially economic.

When leadership appeals to the majority good people of Russia, and somehow breaks through to the downtrodden and/or silenced people of China (including North Korea; often kept from knowing all that's going on, by internet bans, etc.), the people are how you influence more rogue regimes to conform to commonly accepted social norms of behavior.

But you LACK authority to so influence when you lack moral authority, and NO human has ever accused Donald Trump of having the character of moral authority! It is NOT how BIG your military might flexes its muscles, or demanding all nations bow to your economic interests. Even Communist leaders understand the power of charm and character, even if they gain power more by brute force.

Moral authority is why people rarely sought to confront Jesus, and never won with such attempts. It is a power, and a convincing one. WHO would deny the influence of MLK, Gandhi, Mother Teresa and Mandela, in our time?

And it is NOT a violent, non self-centered, or demanding of influence, but role modeling, in more quiet, peaceful—dare I say 'loving' fashion! #ServantLeadership It is not doormatism, but genuine service, never weak, or walking with a small stick (Ex.: Reagan), but peace through the strength of more than just a bulked-up military.

WHO can turn down or turn off to a nation concerned with the general welfare of other nations? EVERYONE can, with a nation boastfully pronouncing itself king of the world! It's the power of humility, couched in military prowess capability, but more so, the charm and character of true leadership, which is always modeled on those who serve others, and are not just self-served.

'Self-serving' is the best phrased used to describe DJT! Every move is calculated for re-election and self-promotion. IF America happens to benefit, it's a great booby prize and after-thought. The rhetoric doesn't match the actions, and all see it, for the most part.

So it is NO WONDER that rival nations are further asserting their role in global leadership, and bucking up to a man who rubs so many people the wrong way! And he is a reflection of us. I can't speak for his followers, but I don't like what I see in the mirror of that reflection!

America is greater than that. We have rallied behind Washington, Lincoln, JFK and Reagan! We need not STOOP to supporting a man of 46-1's ilk, even if he HYPOCRITICALLY changes to be more like he always was supposed to, if it will fake out a few more dummies to vote for him; it's all an act, a con job, a way of self-advancement, and that way is the way of destruction, because when you follow the great leaders of the world, your ego gets curbed at the door. DJT's ego NEVER does.

So world leaders interact with him, only because they have to deal with America, but never let yourself be fooled that any of them find the experience pleasant, little charms and humors of small talk conversations notwithstanding.

It is the greatness of our people, exemplified in leaders who exemplify character, that are our only hope for ever regaining our once prominent status in a changing world. And Congress, on the GOP side, allowing this reality TV and sick joke to continue unabated, has for a LONG TIME damaged a hallowed institution (i.e., Congress). I understand the midterms are right around the corner, but after you endure them, you've got to regain a conscience, and your voice!

TRUMP VS. AMERICAN EXCEPTIONALISM

(1/26/18)

I didn't hear chumps DAVOS speech, but here's what I know, despite any details from such speech. When you sloganize (Ex.: 'America first'), you get MIS-understood. Because CHUMP knows LITTLE about foreign affairs, ONLY this week did it dawn on him that other nations could see that as ONLY U.S.A., so he broadened his slogan to not just America.

Politics is NOT marketing! Had he had GOOD policy from before this week, he'd never have had to explain the slogan, or change his idea to realize other nations exist (just like 'build the wall' changed to not for the entire coast, then a virtual wall!), and could rightly take offense!

Dumb 'America is open for business,' and 'will you be investing in America?' are the STUPIDEST statements from any living president! It's salesman sleaze! And individuals and businesses of other nations are the ones who invest—NOT other governments, much.

Note to Donnie: Other nations' government officials care NOTHING about bowing down to the great U.S. of A. They have their own legitimated needs! Win-win is the ONLY way. NOT: We want to be number one, so help us be that.

There is NO incentive for THEM! Selflessness—NOT a trait ANYONE accuses CHUMP of understanding!

Talk radio slams Obama as a 'globalist,' but NO nation exists to bless America. ALL have their needs, and if you don't meet them, they have options from U.S. competitors. I've never been so embarrassed about America's foreign policy words!

Limbaugh's M.O. is 100 percent positivity, lies be damned. He ACTS, to his duped listeners, like all is well, and DJT did amazing. LIE! I JUST told you how his slogans and sales pitch was ANTI-American interests, as NO nation owes us economic loyalty!

FAR be it from me to argue that CHUMP agreed with our suggestion of business taxes at 25 percent (he went lower, which kills U.S.A.'s budget), but investors know these things, and invest accordingly—NOT politicians, on behalf of their business persons! And CHUMP's offer was ONE-sided. NOT win-win, but big bully trying to get followers behind the pied piper.

And does CHUMP know, from sales (which is the job he was pulling on our allies), that people act respectfully and say "yes" when put them on the spot, in public, to not cause stirs (like the question, 'will you invest in America?').

AMERICA HAS BEEN OPEN FOR BUSINESS SINCE ITS INCEPTION, sloganizer-in-chief! I am SO angry over how embarrassing this man is. This man is SO amateur, he's a danger to our national identity, and our reputation.

Let's cover a related topic: There are two main player groups, internationally... the U.S. and her allies (many E.U. nations, et al), and BRIC (especially Russia, China and Iran). For economics, there's a RACE to get South and Central America, and Africa on one side or the other, as with U.N. clout. And with LIMITED national resources, not every nation will get all they want or need.

And, historically, the U.S. has dominated, with her military and economic clout, and many nations resent that "imperialism," Donnie. We have a reputation for only caring about our interests, enforced by our military, and bribing smaller government's politicians. You do NOT erase that problem with slogans!

Any deal from other nations economically partnering with us must MUTUALLY benefit them, and such willingness is also tied to our behaving number one, morally. Otherwise, such transactions are just selfishness, greed, worldliness and pride/domination.

Let me explain what the life history of DJT shows to me a concept he has ZERO knowledge of: Win-win, and selfless humility. Nations are WARY of U.S. businesses using leverage to get unfair deals in OUR favor. That's NOT policy based in fantasy! And it's NOT being against America number one, to deal with that problem!

I promoted the 'USA#1' concept WELL before CHUMP even started his campaign. But it was ALWAYS tied to behaving number one, morally. Otherwise, it's just selfishness, greed, worldliness and pride/domination. You need to THINK before you speak, Mr. hoof-in-mouth! Put on someone else's moccasins, for ONCE!

All trade deals must be fair or good for another nation, or they'd be FOOLS to engage them. I can say no more; I'm too exasperated by 'America's open for business,' and 'will you be investing in America' FOOLishness! I hope every other head of state knows this is just a temporary insanity stage in U.S. history, and we're better than that!

It is EXTREME arrogance to think American exceptionalism (which is true, by God's grace alone, through hard work, innovation and risk-taking) means U.S.A. is superior, or deserves to be the world's top dog other nations need to be subservient to! LEADERSHIP is servanthood! (Lk. 22:26) LEAD, America!

To say America is open for business, with GLEE before world leaders, is to assume they receive that message as new information, and good news. It's NOT accurate (she never was closed for repairs), and nations DON'T sit around rooting for or hoping America defeats them, economically! I STILL can't get over the arrogance in DJT's words.

To MAKE UP 'border wall didn't mean where it's not needed,' and 'America first doesn't mean America alone' shows EVERYONE you're an UN-informed LIAR, who CHANGES his message to the audience, and only thinks through his policies TWO YEARS later, because his ignorance is showing so blatantly in Davos! #NeverTrump

TRUMP'S ECONOMIC PLAN

(12/11/16)

Though Chump never knows anything well, or sticks with it consistently, he has hinted at a conservative economic plan of cutting taxes and regulations. Is that GOOD for America?

Some regulations are good, some bad; all regulations burden a business with not 100 percent being able to be free to do whatever they pleased, like polluting at will or endangering consumers—anything that makes them more money they'd be able to do without any regulations. So more or less as good or bad depends on the topic on a case-by-case basis!

Less taxes? The THEORY is that money in the private sector is always better than in government's hands, and the more money a business has, the better they can do.

Generally, the private sector spends wiser, and wastes less. That could change with the right leadership. They also sometimes make failed investments, and have losses—something conservatives never bring up. Even so, you've got to have government functions, though the right less is better.

"Lower taxes." That phrase is conservative's favorite one-liner quasi myth, because everyone would love to pay less in taxes! How could anyone not love your political party when that's its mantra? More money for me!

1. Where would that tax rebate come from? We're already at $19 trillion in debt, and Chump proposes $1 trillion more for infrastructure! China!

Borrow more money so we owe more in principal and interest that we NEVER fully pay back—a DRAIN on the economy's chances to grow. Or we print funny money so everyone's dollars become worthless (not worthless). Great strategy?

They cite the Reagan years, but the top earners were at a 70 percent tax bracket, UNLIKE today's 35 percent! And we've already discussed how businesses are committed to immigration, outsourcing and robotics. More money for them may NEVER help anyone but rich executives and elites!

JUST LIKE every conservative politician parrots "grow the economy" as their ONE solution to fix an economy, they NEVER explain how that's done!

With the Exxon CEO in Chump's cabinet, 'drill baby drill' MAY become the way (as Sean Hannity recommends), so we frack and ruin any scenic venue, have oil spills galore, ruin waterways, all so a handful of oil companies can drain America dry of oil, then do what a local talk radio host said—if the world burns up with climate change, party like it's 1999.

A conservative book I read last year said wait until we're 100 percent out of oil, then U.S. ingenuity will take over (AS IF technologies to replace oil could be invented overnight, to keep the whole system going the day after all gas stations close down). It's VERY short-sighted!

I'm for drilling anywhere it's safe or can't ruin the local environment, but we HAVE to transition to green, and NOT wait until we run out of oil, and NOT 100 percent transition. We'll ALWAYS need oil, for it's used in so many other derivative products, like rubber, plastic and asphalt, etc.

So conservatives tout grow an economy by lower taxes and regulations. HOW exactly does an economy grow? Usually it's by macro impetuses. More money in the private sector's hands doesn't automatically grow it.

You've got to have REASONS to use that extra money to invest, because you expect more sales. In the recent past, the internet, outsourcing and M and A's served as major impetuses.

Does Trump know ONE such mega impetus that Obama hadn't tried? I want to hear what that is! And what's from keeping businesses from further outsourcing, robotizing, mergers and layoffs?

HOW do we know the elites won't just get richer, with more money from less taxes, and the rest just lose their jobs, get paid less, or have to work more part-time jobs?

Finally, how do proper/legitimate government functions get paid for when you are asking for LESS money to go to their causes? Not only are we in debt $19 trillion, you can't just END five federal agencies (i.e., Ted Cruz, Ron Paul and Rick Perry's idea), and have unemployment SOAR! Duh 101.

Never be afraid to raise your voice for honesty and truth and compassion against injustice and lying and greed.

If people all over the world would do this, it would change the earth. -William Faulkner

Please ask Chump EXACTLY how he'll grow the economy by less taxes. @CNN @ABC @CBS @NBC @FoxNews @NYTimes Have him explain it with DETAILS! CRICKETS.

TRUMP'S FIRST THREE MONTHS' POLICIES

(3/1/17)

No one can know how much taxes are needed until government is streamlined, and all waste cut out! If you've devised a fair system, NO loopholes should exist!

God says 'render to Caesar,' yet some Christians advocate rendering as little as possible because government wastes. IS that what God said? Be wise and be obedient.

Trying to pay the least in taxes using every loophole is legal, but doesn't that also indicate a heart that ONLY cares about society if it must?

No one likes taxes, but they DO like EMS and military protections and streets and a host of other services. QUIT demonizing an institution GOD designed!

Lower taxes grow an economy
y so MORE Treasury revenue was ALLEGED yesterday. Let's analyze that claim for the hard of understanding...

The middle class gets a rebate (~$1,500 under GWB). They spend or invest or save it (back when there WERE interest rates). For the Feds to recoup that $1,500 would take YEARS.

If the rich get their big cut, the THEORY is they'll invest it in their businesses, which somehow will grow jobs. Let's explore that belief.

It could JUST AS EASILY go into buying robots to replace human workers, as investment into their business! Or automation. NO tax rebate is guaranteed to help U.S. worker jobs increase.

Why would any lower taxes make any executive cease outsourcing or over-immigrating? The mantra's a MYTH! In Jimmy Carter days lower taxes DID bring growth, because taxes were EXTREME.

In our day, you can't argue that's an apples-to-apples comparison. And IF you cut them, put a legal stipulation on how they're used; namely, NOT to hurt workers. THAT's how you PROVE management's heart motive in seeking tax cuts. They'd cry like a baby!

All Chump's efforts to get U.S. businesses to re-hire Americans are based on MORAL sentiments, NOT economic considerations; conservatives have abandoned economic policy.

I'm NOT saying I oppose that, for I recommended it WELL before Chump started his campaign. But is it sustainable, or a fad to keep him in office?

You MUST address ECONOMIC reasons to keep jobs in U.S.A.! Incentives are one thing. Having the best-trained workforce, the MOST productive, and executives committed to NOT just the bottom line but patriotism must be part of the mix! So long as profit is the ONLY motive for a business, per one's philosophy, Trump's measures are window dressing.

IF you want to know economic solutions for how not to let America become a banana republic, with only the elites being blessed, see our business book. I'm not spilling the beans here!

Unless and until the rich and business owners in America have a TRUE heart change about selfishness and greed, justified as 'it's just business,' no change is permanent change.

Laws can help, but when even the church doesn't advocate for God's view on money, why does anyone believe the world would adopt such a position?

There's not one reason for anyone to ever think how their excess could help someone NOT their family or friend under pure Capitalism. That's a PROBLEM, folks!

Christians use the Old Testament Jews for SO many analogies, but RARELY for how their economic system tended to the poor, NOT just by personal whimsical charitableness!

MOST Americans ADMIRE mother Teresa and the Amish's barn-building community idea. It's ONLY sappy sentimentalism for most of us. We TRULY hope and pray someone ELSE will help—but DON'T tread on my wallet!

I read a quote yesterday that charity used to not be institutionalized. IF that's true, being for helping others DIDN'T used to be a way to a lucrative career. It should NOT be today. That's ONLY a charity wolf in sheep's clothing! Check their payout rates before giving one red dime!

Bottom line, America is too often selfish; NOT that she's NOT the most generous nation on earth, but her structures advocate get all you can, can all you get, and sell the rest.

We SAY we're incentivized by the profit motive, but HOW are we ever incentivized to be givers vs. only takers? Tax write offs?

You MUST see (or you are blind) that people like Bill Gates and Warren Buffett have LEARNED that their excess can be used for good vs. only selfishness.

"Freedom" will be the conservative's retort to that—freedom to be selfish and hoard, JUST the opposite of the God they claim to have a closer tie to than those 'wicked' liberals!

It's really just re-allocation of where we all are wicked—no one has a monopoly on sin. Conservatives idolize money and liberals often celebrate sex sins. There are NO purists.

If anyone believes Trump cult devotees acted MORAL in defending and encouraging all his massively sinful antics, you're smoking something!

You MUST admit BOTH parties are ONLY mainly secular now, and morals have been tossed out the window UNLESS they conveniently serve our purposes (i.e., to win power)! Corruption!

The smart Alec will say whose morals do we apply? In any given policy, the RIGHT way is usually not hard to see; your political biases make you blind to the good paths!

For instance, Chump is mainly if not solely trying to shore up a re-election! How? Cutting the EPA (a Democrat stronghold) to bless the military (a GOP voter block).

He brings in black educators to court their vote next go-round. It's ALL politics and self-advancement! It's rarely about what U.S.A. needs!

He'll only do that if he fears losing a supporting base constituency. Let's be 100 percent honest: THESE categories belong to each party, and mainly determine Chump's acts:

LGBTQ, minorities, workers, the poor, women pro-abortion, people concerned with pollution and other nations vs. only America are in the hip pocket of Democrats.

Rich white males (excepting Giving Pledgers), white (vs. black) Christians, business owners, and females against abortion are in the GOP's hip pocket. Politicians govern accordingly, AND THEY SHOULDN'T.

How can this BIASED pandering end? If it continues, every successor simply un-does all the opposite party's achievements!

Does anyone see how unstable and destructive and futile that pattern is? Instead of gridlock, it's serial gridlock by back-and-forth INACTION, medium-term.

It doesn't even take any thinking. Just list everything Obama did, and order it reversed. That's an embarrassing lack of wisdom or judgment in such a simpleton strategy!

And shore up your base until four years pass SEEMS to be Chump's main purpose. He's still trying to win over blacks; I'm sure he'll throw a bone to Christians soon.

And do you want to know the BIGgest hypocrites, second only to Chump? Conservatives who HATE increased federal spending allowing a wall and infrastructure increases!

Trump is neither conservative nor moderate, but an OPPORTUNIST who will pick ANY policy if it benefits Self. NO thought behind policies but that, for him!

TRUMP'S FIRST THREE WEEKS

(2/10/17)

I've been up completing final book editing for my business book, CHOMPING AT THE BIT to post today's mini message. It WAS going to be on ending education bureaucracy by competition, and real-world administrating schools like a business, but then I thought about Chump's hiring an anti-public education cabinet member and it got to a larger issue...

I, for one, am TIRED of the worn out strategy of Chump doing the following—extreme positions, then walk backs, so he claims victory (Ex.: Mexico will pay for the wall that's already overkill/ extreme to do the job); threats (against most opponents, like Bret Baier); lies touted as alternative facts; ambiguity and confusion and disorder/non-thinking sold as honestly speaking his mind; in short, I am tired of the clown and the side show!

Also add in edicts every day, AS IF none of his predecessors ever thought of that, or a single signature does anything!

Always the photo op, so proud he signed a document! THAT's neither leadership nor accomplishment! The GOP Congress is virtually sitting on the sidelines, and Democrats (via Elizabeth Warren) are doing EXACTLY what the GOP's did to Obama—only obstructing for obstructing's sake.

It ALL starts with a BAD commander-in-chief, and it's all centered on one extreme against the other, each extracting overkill and revenge when the other's toppled.

MOST regrettably, NO other nation can trust a man like the one we have in the White House! Is he a straight shooter, a liar, or a negotiator proposing outlandish positions to see what he might get accepted?

No one knows, no one can know, because even he doesn't know what he's doing. Sean Hannity said the GOP Congress is too slow for Chump's pace.

With such a rash/harsh and radical/unorganized and extreme policy agenda, that is ONLY wise, Sean. Governance is NOT a reality TV show or Lets make a Deal with Monty Hall at the helm.

You are a fool to buy into his honest man of his word claims when he takes every position under the sun on one day or another.

If you throw darts at a board often enough, you can claim you hit a bull's-eye, because your darts are all over the map! I'm TIRED of Chump, three weeks in!

China put Trump in his place—for right or wrong. He tried to separate Taiwan, but China (who IS smart) would have none of it. You back down bullies!

In short, confusion, ambiguity, double-speak, dictatorial, extreme, chaotic, self-absorbed, photo ops, symbolism and disorganization HURTS America!

The BEST way the @DNC and @GOP can deal with Trump's chaos is, together, do your jobs to propose and pass good policies at a cautious pace, and ~ignore the side show.

What you DON'T want to do is empower a bully—let them run over you. The danger there is the GOP doing little and Democrats ONLY obstructing. Work together and ~forget Chump.

I read an article that the radical left is getting inspired by the Tea Party and Trump. Will anyone ever see that extremes ONLY cause counter-reactions in the future?

The article said more people want more government services. Anyone accepts something for nothing, but that's morally IRRESPONSIBLE!

Compulsory civic service MUST be part of any future aid to strugglers. They can't pay more taxes, but do have sweat equity capability! Handouts vs. hand-ups breed laziness.

I'd have NO problem defining a minimum standard of acceptable U.S. lifestyle, but making others pay for that dream is unjust, if no contribution by the recipients!

Conservatives want NO money spent on such. Liberals want MUCH spent on it. We centrists have the answer, by avoiding BOTH extremes.

Continued

(2/10/17)

Have you noticed China, Iran and Russia (UN-like so many in D.C. and the GOP voters) are NOT intimidated by Chumps weak bravado? Then be more observant!

Even Mexico's president backed him off/down and said they would NOT pay for the wall. THAT is how you deal with a bully dictator, Democrats and RINO's! @RNC @DNC

IF Chump's ideas were sound, his pace of implementation wouldn't be extreme. However, CONGRESS being left out is a major Constitutional PROBLEM!

Obama waited quite awhile to start executive edicts, because he knew and respected the Constitution. Chump doesn't care about it unless serves HIS purposes!

"SO-CALLED" judge? Trump couldn't pass the bar exam, much less just the LSAT! He's no one to demean one MUCH smarter than him! (Cf.: Judge James Robart)

WHO wants our government ruled by court cases? That's NOT leadership! We pay Congress to pass laws—NOT Chump, then lawyers! #CommonSense

Thanks for inciting MORE terrorism, @POTUS. Buffoon and idiot! <http://ind.pn/2nrCtcw>
#NeverTrump #TheResistance #NotMyPresident #NeverMyPresident

I think there's a theme here: We are NOT impressed with Chump's first three weeks! Iran ONLY needed pressure if they broke the Obama deal and pursued military nukes.

TRUMP'S FIRST YEAR

(1/9/18)

Alt-right conservatism believes NO serious racism exists in America, and all effects from centuries of slavery have been erased, and every black American has 100 percent equal opportunities as every white person. Such delusion is taught as fact. Lies can NEVER be truths, people! NEVER; they're opposites!

I LOVE how talk radio uses "class warfare" and "race card" terms to discredit and discount serious issues about income inequality and white privilege, to more STUPID, undiscerning listeners, who are brain-washed.

I pledged to listen to three top talk hosts today, to see their tricks. I'm NOT looking forward to it.

When you surround yourself with people like yourself, and your experience mirrors theirs, and everywhere you travel insulates you from the poor or "bad" areas of town, you can develop a FALSE perspective on life for any people but your type. You start seeing normal as only how you live. Purposeful elitist myopia!

Then I saw a GIF praising Chump's "achievements." Let's address each one, to show the evils of alt-right conservatism. Climate change denied as a hoax, any and all regulations repealed is good, tax rebates even if it's unneeded and raises debt, stock market rise only benefitting rich elites is good, helping any with over-costly healthcare is evil (and ending the mandate, so costs rise, and costlier emergency rooms have to fix the uninsured), Jerusalem capital (so MORE violence, less peace, and will lead to Bible prophecy), stack the Supreme Court, as you claim to decry judicial activism by liberals, etc. These are successes? Only to the selfishly evil.

Pro-business and profits at all costs, trickle down (though it's a "flood up" to elites, rightly says Warren Buffett). The ONLY positive I see in 2017 is ISIS minimized, and less illegal U.S. entries (BOTH of which I recommended WELL BEFORE Chump even entered the presidential race). EVERY act was to appease his base, vs. serve America!

No matter if any good comes, ANYONE can change, and be a parrot of experts, and ACT presidential! That's NOT leadership! We ALL observed the real deal for two+ years!!! I'm not buying the fake president.

It would be a MIRACLE if some good didn't come from any president! Even stumbling fools have handlers and experts constantly advising and steering them to decide certain ways, especially Chump. If he ONLY made bad or stupid decisions, you could question his mental fitness, and love of America! 'Never' means #NeverTrump

You should be glad and thankful for any good that comes from the White House, but to support the occupier is to continue to condone THIS unrepented non-sense: <http://bit.ly/2fIESxj> You can even forgive it, though never asked for, but #NeverForget He disqualified himself on his own! No one forced it!

I've said before, two or three times, I'm NOT objective about him. (Rom. 13:7) He hasn't earned that! Yet, I HAVE praised the GOOD ideas I had before him, that he implemented: Defeat ISIS, controlled borders, lower business and middle class taxes, etc. If I can think of any more, I'll post them. BAD was the tax bill, and his Israel decisions. Half bad was the Paris accord withdrawal.

GOOD was the GOP (NOT Chump) NOT passing Obamacare repeal without replace. Reversed regulations all depends on specific regulations rolled back (if it hurts consumers, that's BAD!). Ending mandated insurance is also bad for healthcare prices, and there were better answers to it in the first place.

BAD was North Korea bravado, and there is NO point speaking with avid Chump lovers, because they believe everything he does is good, don't believe THIS disqualified him (<http://bit.ly/2fIESxj>), and if you agree on any good he does, they believe it justifies those disqualifying credentials! You can hardly argue with brainwashed people!

TRUMP'S TARIFFS

(3/2/18)

I heard HILARIOUS hypocrisy today. Talk jock Mark Davis (who ALWAYS preaches conservatism) was FOR Chump's steel and aluminum tariffs, saying his political opponents only care about cost. Isn't that the heart of economic conservatism? Business does whatever it can for the best profits? WHY slam consumers for buying being smart? He's now preaching economic Socialism!

Concerning STUPID tariffs, Mark Levin asked if U.S. steel manufacturers have done all they can to be globally competitive (an MBA question). Mark Davis criticized consumers for buying what's cheapest for the same quality (which is foolishness). Which one is more economically sound? And they're BOTH conservatives! Policy > party!

ONLY rich conservatives would blame the majority of Americans for buying things for the cheapest cost for the same quality! That's why I've said before, 'Buy American' is NOT an economic idea, but a]patriotism/political one, and why I've said that U.S. businesses have to be number one—NOT asking consumers to waste money out of 'patriotism!' That's economic non-sense!

ANY economic deal (Ex.: NAFTA) has to be win-win, to get buy-in from all parties. IDIOTS believe America can break their commitments, from arrogance that we deserve others to make concessions to us, for no reason, just because Chump promised his constituents he'd do that. IR-rational foreign policy!
#Mexico #Canada (3/7/18)

TRUMP'S TAX TRAP

(11/30/17)

As a lawyer with two business degrees, and a former Fortune 500 management consultant, I am ALL for a growth-oriented economy, and pro-business, but ONLY when business acts morally, and that growth helps EVERYONE—NOT just the rich. Trickle-down THEORY is just that—a method that sometimes works—other times NOT.

When taxes are too high, or the economy is in decline, tax cuts CAN work to stimulate those with disposable income spending vs. hoarding their excess in mattresses, etc. When U.S. businesses pay 18 percent, on average, the fact they SHOULD be paying the too high rate of 39 percent is used to TRICK the dumber among us, by politicians!

Tax cuts mean government cuts, and the rich benefit the most from them. If they were NOT allowed to use such for anything but investing in business expansion and jobs, and we didn't have $19 trillion in debt, trickle down MIGHT be prudent at this time. IT IS NOT—IT IS IRRESPONSIBLE selfish greed, and politicizing.

CHUMP says the economy will come 'roaring back' with his tax cut. Let's edu-ma-cate this moron on economics! Economies grow when sales increase, or expenses get cut, so profits rise. MOST good U.S. businesses have cut costs to the bone since the 1980's, so SALES are the main way our economy bounces back.

WHERE are the untapped markets which U.S. businesses haven't yet tapped, because their war chests weren't BIG enough to capitalize off of yet, though that's ALL they care about—profiting, Mr. Chump? Mars? Bangladesh? Tax cuts will MAINLY make the rich richer, and everyone else not much, with INCREASED debt for generations Z, and beyond!

Democrats SHOULD challenge CHUMP to have ZERO taxes and regulations, then tell him to come up with a plan to pay for cops and the military—the ONLY government functions the alt-right supports, as they protect their bodies and bucks, all else be damned! If less taxes and regulations are always good, make them ZERO! @POTUS

U.S.'s economic stagnation started with a STUPID sub-prime mortgage policy, and over-outsourcing has RUINED economic opportunity for MANY who aren't currently rich. Tax cuts will NEVER make middle or lower class AMERICANS able to compete with $2 a day jobs in China! And robots take their jobs.

REAL business people ONLY decide based on dollars and cents. If any robot pays for a humans job, over a reasonable payback period, business people will ALWAYS opt for hiring machines, who don't take vacations, get sick, or talk back. NO tax rebate can fix this, but if you define a growing economy as the elites alone benefit, believe Mr. Chump.

U.S. workers NEED job skills superior to all other nations! CHUMP's tax rebate has NOTHING to do with that! And it NEVER legally requires (with enforcement) that that money CAN'T enrich executives and CEO's, but will expand sales and jobs! Hence, the bill should NOT be passed—period!

HERE is why so many dumbed-down sheep BUY what politicians lie/speak: I'm going to get a $2,000 Christmas bonus from Santa (Uncle) Sam. They have ZERO idea what problems that causes them, longer term!

Economic illiterates—say "fools!" Get $2,000, so the rich get richer, you lose your job to robots and more outsourcing, and you strap your grandkids with increased debt, before they're even born, or have worked one day of their life.

WHAT will the rich and businesses DO with the tax rebate? THAT is THE issue, and Congress SHOULD mandate its use, if dead-set on passing a tax bill. They WON'T, because they DON'T care—just please lobbyists.

HERE, again, is pee on the little guy, explained: Lower taxes, so the rich and businesses have more money to work with, and that will stimulate economic "growth," which will, eventually, help the lower classes, with more charity, tax money and jobs. IS THIS TRUE? Often, NO!

The rich give a LOWER percent to charity than all others; government has LESS money to pay for current bills—until the policy "kicks in"—if ever (while still owing $19 trillion), and hiring minimum wagers, while seeking NO minimum wage? Why wouldn't they just put that money into robots, or illegals? Minimum wage jobs aren't usually living wages! They'll just work workers harder.

The SAME people lobby to END minimum wage and estate tax. Those policies ONLY benefit the rich! Make more money off the poor and benefit society even less (no death taxes). Is there any reason anyone should believe a party with those values cares about helping the middle or lower classes? It's FOOLish to do so!

HERE is the TRICK: If the public DOESN'T learn about longer-term effects of this policy, and even get a little Christmas "gift" from Big Brother, they FEEL positive. That FEELing is a delusion, deceptive, a lie, a farce, a mirage; all the while the rich make out like bandits, when they ALREADY ARE DOING WELL ENOUGH!

They are the LEAST needy in U.S.A. of any benefits from government! If we the people do NOT get educated, our country is SUNK! You are being played and lied to, and manipulated. Dumbness ALWAYS gets used by crafty evil people. Accept bread crumbs, and they become dead crumbs, economically.

Our economy is flat, because we have little risk, little innovation, little BIG ideas (like dot com, globalization), FEW new trade deals, NO leadership, and greedy business people who ONLY want to bless themselves. If you are a voter, and you believe God blesses sinful nations, VIOLATE this verse (Levit. 19:15).

Be FOR the rich mainly being enriched, and believe delusion, that that will somehow, someday help you. You get what you deserve when you are stupid. That belief is STUPID. I'm done here, because you can't fix STUPID!

Ezekiel is crying through the halls of history: "Like a roaring lion they have devoured human lives; they have taken treasure and precious things... destroying lives to get dishonest gain." (Eze. 22). —Rev. Dr. Barber (12/1/17)

Amos on #TaxBill: Woe to those who make unjust laws, to those who issue oppressive decrees, to deprive the poor of their rights and withhold justice from the oppressed of my people, making widows their prey and robbing the fatherless. (Isaiah 10:1-4) —Rev. Dr. Barber (12/1/17)

This is not hyperbole but the literal truth: Last night the Trump/GOP elected and supported by white evangelicals killed thousands of children by cutting healthcare so the super-rich can get richer. Evangelicals have sold America to the very people the ENTIRE Bible denounces. He who oppresses the poor shows contempt for their Maker, but whoever is kind to the needy honors God. (Pv. 14:31) —Frank Schaeffer (12/2/17)

David Certner, legislative counsel for AARP, put it mildly: “We create these large deficits and that will put pressure for cuts to Medicare, Medicaid . . . Everything will be on the table.” Just so. If you are older than 50 and voted for Trump’s GOP you just betrayed your family. –Frank Schaeffer (12/2/17)

TRUMP'S TAX TRICK

(11/17/17)

Stephanie Ruhle: Republicans want to say this is a tax cut for the middle class. But if you were going to approach the biggest issues that plague the United States: Student debt, healthcare, infrastructure, the debt crisis, housing foreclosures—how does it do that?

Brian Klaas: It doesn't... the biggest problem with the American economy right now is soaring inequality. In the twentieth-century, the median voter could expect to have their standard of living double about every 25 years. It happened like clockwork. That's stopped. That's gone. So now you have a bill that was written to increase the wealth of the people in the top 1% of people, and corporations... [RE: reasons people voted for Trump]... one of them that nobody can say is that people in rural America backlashed against Washington, because people thought corporations were getting a raw deal. Nobody believes that.

Stephanie Ruhle: Corporations don't think they were getting a raw deal.

Brian Klaas: ...The illogical argument being advanced by the White House, here, is that the stock market is going up in accordance to how it has for a long time. But job growth is slowing... [the] problem [is] that the stock market is the barometer by which we should judge this bill.

Stephanie Ruhle: ...The forgotten American said, hold on a second. I don't live in New York. I don't live in San Francisco. I don't own any stock... The stock market is not a direct reflection on the economy... By the way, you don't see Wall Street analysts, when you have investor calls, saying to these companies, 'are you giving your workers any raises?' No, they want to know when buy-backs are happening; they want to know what's happening with dividends...

Brian Klaas: There's a disconnect between the stats... but are a lot of people in America suffering to make ends meet, and this it totally lost from the conversation...

Stephanie Ruhle: None of this is going to address the skills gap, ...worker participation... women aren't going back to work because they cannot afford childcare. And we have to have cuts to our budget, you are going to have programs cut that care for children...

Brian Klaas: The long-term threats to America's economy are things like the long-term debt ...inequality... the skills gap, so you're going to have an investment in the workers for the future. Corporations are competitive, globally. That's why the economy is doing OK. So the idea that we have to have this massive corporate tax cut that will inevitably lead to spending cuts down the road... is a mistake. ...Trump said I'm going to solve that for you [rural voters], but that's the opposite of what this plan does. If you are taking this tax plan as a reflection of Trump's values and priorities, what he called the 'forgotten American' seems to be the Wall Street banker. .. It's extremely damaging to people [who put their trust in him]... There has been a rising inequality in America for three decades. So he tapped into that anger, which is a very real and justifiable anger, but he's peddling a tax plan that will double down on the drivers of inequality, and the actual aspects of the American economy that are not functioning for the overwhelming majority of Americans... ['let them eat cake'] His looseness with the truth, should we say, or his constant stream of lies, which I think is a much more accurate way of putting it, is indicative... There are people in rural America who are going to be duped by this plan... [but] the long-term consequences of that plan will not be felt—they will not realize this, probably before Trump is out of office, when they realize that this long-term trend has accelerated, and they are actually worse off than when he came into office. And that weaponization of partisan polarization and misinformation is what I think is a very damaging trend in American democracy, where people simply believe things based on the idea that 'Trump is my guy'—not on the facts, not on the basis of actual experts who tell you this is going to hurt rural America, it's going to hurt middle class voters, and in the long run taxes are going to go up on the poorest people, while corporations and the richest one percent get a massive tax cut.

—MSNBC

TRUMP'S TAX TRICKS

(4/30/17)

Perhaps it was Spicer who just said tax rebates are so businesses can "pass on the savings" so employees have more money in their pockets so they can pay for college and retire, like people USED to.

1. IF that's your intention, make it required that businesses do so! Many people ONLY do what's required, or what they can get away with.
2. That LITTLE rebate to the middle class will enable NO SUCH THING(s).
3. Businesses are incentivized to robotize all jobs they can, and gin up stock prices and reward executives—FIX THAT! Pass laws to that effect.

If you're not wise enough to NOT buy politicians' rosy words, and watch the DEEDS their policies incentivize, you are the problem, and you are NOT a good patriot! #CommonSense

WHY would businesses be incentivized to "pass on" tax rebates to their employees? @seanspicer If that's your REAL motive, force them to by making it the law!

IF it was Spicer, he said BUSINESSES would pass on savings. That's referencing the business tax rate reduction—NOT individual tax rebates!

That means the GOP argues the economy GROWS with lower taxes, by businesses expanding and hiring more, but he wants it to go to employees, instead. SUCH bull-honky political talk!

Please read my latest eight posts. You can NOT let Chump say business tax rebates are intended for employees' betterment, if laws don't require it! @TheDemocrats @DNC @NancyPelosi That's illogical.

That's MARKETING, sales, LIES. It's a tax break for those with already too much, to bless them and their businesses. They'd fire ALL employees if robotics were more advanced.

PLEASE read my latest ten posts—you can NOT let Chump say biz tax rebates are intended for employees betterment if laws don't require it!

.@NancyPelosi CHUMP says business tax rebates are to make them MORE competitive. If they passed those savings on to employees, they'd be LESS competitive. LIARS!

A competitive business has the LOWEST costs, and with over-outsourcing and over-immigration, businesses DON'T have to PAY competitively, as it's a ~permanent BUYERS market! @NancyPelosi

Let me tell you how things operate tween business' lobbyists-backed D.C. politicians and their businesses. Every business gets in on the deal until the public wakes up and it's too late!

For example: Over-immigration and over-outsourcing. Any company trying to do that as much now faces political disdain. Earlier actors got the benefits—take the money and run!

Then you simply say the cats out of the bag, and you can't put the toothpaste back in the tube, as you retire early, having SCREWED the U.S. public and employees!

Big business' D.C. lobbyists did NOT have Chump's ear to lower regulations and taxes to bless their employees. ONLY FOOLS believe such words! #StupidNation ?!

So, RIGHT NOW, forward-thinking companies will robotize as much as humanly possible until the public wakes up and tells politicians enough's enough. DO IT SOONER!

I noted Sam's Club reducing workers through automated check-outs two years ago, and a manager said NO... we're keeping the same workforce head count. LIE your way to profits.

And if executives retire rich, THEY DON'T GIVE ONE DA_N about laid off people from their immoral decisions. Why should you if you're sinfully selfish? You're having FUN!

EVERY middle and lower class U.S. citizen NEEDS to unite to fight business strategy decisions that hurt you in ways you can't detect until later! Frogs in a boiling pot.

DO NOT for one moment believe anyone in management cares about your interests, unless you can make them big money. You MUST unite and fight. Trump won't bring jobs back! He can't—nor can anyone.

I already predicted a riot on the rich. Occupy Wall Street WILL be resurrected when someone educates them what's going on. This doesn't take a PhD!

I am NOT against Wall Street, but I'm 100 percent against any who work there who are rich and haven't signed the Giving Pledge. Selfish people are ripe for God's judgment!

I want U.S. to have the best financial system—NO other country. I also want U.S. to have the best rich people, because they're socially conscious!

Robotics are the key. Automation of functions, like at Sam's Club check-outs' self-service. If you DON'T see the storm one cloud at a time, you'll be crushed.

I'm not even opposed to business tax rates at 25 percent (i.e., lowered). I AM against businesses profited by government when the little man gets stepped on in the process! I am for #Justice.

And I VEHEMENTLY oppose EVERY politician who LIES about what their policy will do for the average bear, like businesses "passing on" tax savings. Greed hoards!

If our public education system does NOT start educating the poor and middle class about the rich's use of politicians, they will remain. Ignorance kills!

One word misused or misunderstood can change everything. If you're an American, PRIDE YOURSELF on your knowledge's accuracy! FACTs.

As politely as people act and smile, business is in opposition to labor. You can say we work well together, we're a family, but this is economic REALITY!

SAME with business vs. consumers. Just try to offer lower than sales price and you'll see it's a polite front for 'give me your money.' Politeness deceives about motives, to fools.

The day you believe Trump wants tax rebates to bless employees instead of business executives is the day he makes that 'passed on' tax savings LAW. @POTUS

I'm astonished how stupid/dumb people can be, and politicians WANT them preoccupied with work and play/entertainment. The more you know, the less they get away with.

And so long as politics bores you, is over your head, or angers you into NOT paying attention, the more they get away with off your hard work, and to your ailing!

I WANT U.S. businesses succeeding! I DON'T want them doing so off the backs of hard-working employees for spoiled over-paid executives' benefit, and shareholders!

I guess you DO need an MBA and management consulting experience to know real business people ONLY-ONLY-ONLY care about saving money and maximizing profits, any way possible!

Employees and workers are "FTE's" (objects/numbers). They strategize ways to eliminate you, with ZERO concern what happens you in the future; that's emotional/human.

The ONLY reason any business would ever hire a human once robotics get established is to have someone to make money off of, as robots will have no bank accounts.

Conservative political and economic theory is SO individualized, they CHOOSE never to see the holistic impact of individual business decisions on society!

Let me outsource all jobs but mine; let me import labor for my business' jobs—except mine. Let me robotize all jobs, but mine. THIS IS CONSERVATISM.

And if EVERY U.S. business treats business that way (the MBA way), you either go survivalist or start a business that usually fails, statistically. OPPOSE THAT VIEW!

It's the IDIOT CEO's, executives, managers who act LATE, as their peers benefit before the public catches on. Then, all their peers benefitted, but they're restricted.

I BEG some1 to invent a general public website where we can all unite as voters, consumers and employees to EDUCATE us all what goes on. TRUTH!

The BIGgest expenses for a business are usually facilities and faculty. Absent a virtual/internet presence, you're THEIR NEXT TARGET FOR REPLACING, to reduce costs for self-profit.

It's the rats on the Titanic syndrome. Get all they can, then retire, as politicians kick problems down the road, and ALL retire rich, and don't have to deal with the negative consequences of their selfish decisions.

It's individualism gone amok. It's conservatism at its "finest," taken to its logical conclusion—SIN. CEO's are replaceable, outsourceable and immigratable. SAME with executives, managers and shareholders. The public MUST rise to demand business justice of politicians!

The CEO-to-average laborer rate went from ~5:1 to 350:1 in the past few decades. UNDESERVED and IMMORAL; NOT merit-based. Just how you can skew the market.

One lone wolf gets a deal through his over-paid Board of Director cronies, and EVERY other CEO tells their people that's what the market will bear.

You vote in a huge salary for me, and as CEO, I'll perk you handsomely to sit on my board—just ACT independent. Shareholders get screwed, but executives ensure none of them have a controlling vote interest to stop the ginned up salaries. They do this with stock prices, too, to gin up their bonuses. STOP IT!

Politicians get paid off to allow it, or look the other way, or get threatened with an election loss by such business people backing their opponent.

The system is both rigged and broken, in favor of the rich, who are usually business persons. THE PEOPLE MUST RISE UP. NO more sheep. NO more 'a mindless worker is a happy worker.'

NO more ignorance is bliss. NO more abuse. NO more sinful business practices. NO more status quo U.S.A. politics-with-business "sex." Pv. 28:8, U.S.A.

If you don't think most rich would renounce U.S. citizenship if we required the Giving Pledge be incorporated in their estate plan, you are moronic! SELFISHNESS reins!

In the conservative book, How To Grow an Economy, 'sharing the wealth' is depicted as an inventor willing to sell his product for a profit. Conservatives do LITTLE for free.

In that book, the author says the BEST investment of excess is in productivity improvement, which would be tools to make work get done faster at the same or better quality.

The problem is, America does NOT have a budget surplus, but a ~21 trillion debt. WHO CARES Uncle Sam's credit cards are maxxed out, and we're still spending more than our intake?

Economic growth requires MORE sales to NEW customers. Tax rebates that DON'T achieve that end only indebt us MORE, and enrich the rich MORE, BAD policy!

EXACTLY what I said today. A TRUE Christian tells the TRUTH—tax rebates increase our already too high debt! <http://nbcnews.to/2qn2I55> Quit deceiving!

Here we go again... HOW LONG until lower taxes cause higher Treasury revenues? YEARS if not decades, if ever. They're NOT guaranteed, but federal bills are!

AND WHAT ABOUT OUR $21+ TRILLION DEBT, AND RISING, @mike_pence You have NO federal piggy bank to take tax rebates from! Level with the people, or they're sheep-le to believe you.

IF Trump, via Spicer, wanted business tax rate reduction savings to go to employees, he should have just given it to employees in their tax rebate, with NO middle man! LIES!

Businesses are NOT going to give employees raises with the tax rate reduction savings money, @PressSec; and Trump... You need a lesson in business, economics and common sense.

When people (i.e., politicians) lie to you, they insult U, believing you to be too stupid to catch on to their tricks. America, show them you are not as gullible as they play you to be!

Let's say the average middle class citizen gets a $2500-3,000 Trump tax rebate. Over HOW many years would that pay for college and retirement, @seanspicer? #OutOfTouch

For the RICH, Trump's tax rebate might pay for college, over time. QUIT LISTENING TO PAID LIARS, America! The poor would receive little-to-nothing, as they paid in little-to-nothing! That pays little-to-nothing for their college and retirement!

How's that going to get the poor through college and to retirement, @seanspicer? You are peddling trickle-down, and no one buys your B.S.! The rich get richer and riper for judgment!

And the GOP is concerned about high debt and fiscal responsibility when they spend money we DON'T have, by borrowing even more? DON'T BELIEVE IT! Lying Trump administration!

NO D.C. pol has the ___'s to tackle our debt. IF there are any exceptions, they're sure sheepishly quiet this year. @TedCruz where's that lionhood? ~$21 trillion debt, and counting!

RATHER than Chump seeking to help businesses and individuals with more money, he's DIRECTLY underfunding necessary government functions, nearly bankrupting America. That's being responsible?

IF (or when) these tax rebates DON'T grow the economy to make up for the increased borrowing, with interest, until it ever did, make the GOP's who voted for it pay it back.

WHY NOT have ZERO taxes, @seanspicer. If having more money in people's hands automatically grows an economy, #JustDoIt! Flaws in your thinking are being revealed!

.@PDChina @ChinaDailyUSA @XHNews Please tell Xi Jinping NOT to loan any more money to U.S.A.! Your investments are losing value every time you do! That's irresponsible.

EXPECT QE3 on steroids, to make up for the tax rebate, and NO debt reduction! That means the dollars in your wallet become LESS valuable. Learn it!

Trickle-down is the rich peeing on the middle and poorer classes! The rich getting richer NEVER helps any others, directly; maybe a little more treasury revenues.

I'm ALL for U.S. businesses and any rich owners/managers/CEOs doing well! I'm NOT for making any rich richer if they DON'T sign the Giving Pledge. You have enough for yourself and your family to be spoiled and not have to work (i.e., irresponsibility)!

One more: @seanspicer MUST believe colleges cost $20,000, and the middle class can retire on $100,000, or so. SO out of touch. QUIT LYING TO THE PEOPLE, "sir!"

Maybe Spicer lumped both tax rebates into one confused statement about "passing on" business savings? If so, someone educate him what's going on on two fronts (i.e., business and individual tax rebates), please!

Hint: The business tax bracket reductions are NOT the same as individual tax rebates, @seanspicer Civics 101. I'm assuming the original radio voice was his; the station gave no identification while I was listening. Either way, it all traces back to trump's "great brain."

Trump's IR-responsible tax cuts mainly for the rich, then blaming Democrats for "wanting" to raise taxes is like someone bombing water flow dams, then claiming those who repair the damage of "wanting" to use tax dollars to build infrastructure! I LOVE Allred's middle class tax cut! (10/31/18)

TRUMPY DUMPTY (BUILT A GREAT WALL?)

(1/25-26/17)

[Chump signs bill transferring federal funds to build his wall]... DUMBEST idea! We NEED a 100 percent closed border, but this ISN'T North Korea, and Mexico will NOT pay 100 percent, as Chump LIED that they would.

If I build an add-on to my house, and mail the bill to my neighbor, NO court will say I have ANY legal standing to sue to make them to pay! @EPN

Si yo construir adición a mi casa y enviar la factura a vecino, la ley nunca permitir yo recibir dinero de vecino para mi construir @EPN

Translate from Spanish

If I build an addition to my house and send the invoice to neighbor, the law never allow I receive money from a neighbor for my build of @EPN

Remember, forgetful ones, a 50 foot high wall was promised that Mexico would 100 percent pay for— NOT hi-tech lasers, etc. It WON'T happen on BOTH counts! WATCH!

A wall with Mexico can stop most future illegal immigration, but NOT the 12 million here already, or who will then go to Canada to enter, or burrow under that wall, or VISA overstays.

REMEMBER: Diplomatically negotiating with Mexico in a deal that BOTH sides benefit from and pay for is NOT a beautiful 50 foot wall that Mexico alone will pay for! Track the details! (1/25/17)

Continued

(1/26/17)

HERO! No one dictates to another head of state! “Mexico's President Nieto says his country will not pay for Trumps wall.” <http://cnn.it/2jhpQgu>

MUY bueno mensaje, señor. Mantenerse firme por que es correcto y legal. El señor Trump no sabe la ley y no es muy inteligente—Tu es! @EPN

Translate from Spanish

VERY good message, Mr. Keep it firm by that is correct and legal. Mr. Trump does not know the law and is not very inteligente—Tu es! [...intelligent. You are!] @EPN

III-F6. OTHER

DISCLAIMERS

Though not retweeted often enough, the following posted Twitter disclaimers pertain to all of our tweets:

WELCOME to the hot seat of objectivity and TRUTH. IF you don't read our tweets bottom-to-top, you'll usually MISS their meaning and a doctorate in life! This is a personal diary, and book writer's note pad. We make typos we clean up later (i.e., hunt-and-peck with BIG hands and fast thoughts), and we abbreviate words intentionally!

Anyone who doesn't like our entertainment angle to serious subjects, and considers them to be "insults," doesn't know how you keep interest in the dry and boring subject of politics. We're all adults, here, and if you can't take any humor, irony or wit in your debate, go lecture sleeping Poly Sci students!

Like Rush Limbaugh, we may err up to five percent, here. I'm NOT going to take the time or effort to keep all tweets, in order and retweet those correctly. An edit button would SURE help, but Twitter DOESN'T seem inclined. Thanks.

I laugh out loud if anyone screenshots my posts that I edit and retweet. This is NOT a final form writing platform, for me, but an author's LIVE, rough-draft book writing diary. You will see the cleaned-up versions/finished product in one of our three political books, next year.

We retweet for four reasons:

1. Because we fully (or very closely) agree.
2. To show the ignorance of some people.
3. To educate you, or,
4. To oppose what someone posts.

It is YOUR duty to figure out our purpose, PER TWEET! I know, and will tell you, but you must ASK, or discern for yourself, over time!

Related Tweets

We DARE any politician to be as transparent as we are in these tweets. That's EXACTLY what America needs; HONESTY in that CORRUPT business; and I'm NOT writing for the fun of it. (11/2/13)

You find TRANSPARENCY and honesty here—NOT perfection. No goody two-shoes type of morality, just attempted morality by faith in Christ. Follow Him. (2/11/15)

My tweets are my calling card/business card/credentials. If they are accurate to the Bible, they speak for themselves; I need no further notoriety, and am not seeking any/anything. (2/21/15)

No one speaks for God unless their words comport with the Bible—myself OR the Christian Cabal! Test EVERY word ONLY by that source, then make distinctions! (6/26/17)

Our tweets FORCE engagement, as you never know if I'm serious, or joking, or the exact details, in many cases. (1/28/18)

UPDATES

The Christian Cabal continues its wicked ways, as we document here, as they arise:

You all probably know how this group aided and assisted tRump's strategically asinine decision to officially declare Jerusalem the capital of Israel, and move the U.S. embassy there.

<https://nyti.ms/2jUOpD>

Then Franklin Graham targeted the leading liberal Democrat state, California, for "evangelistic" crusades, where he told the crowd they needed to stop the blue wave which was potentially coming. Can you imagine a minister trying to sway politics to a biased, favoritism position, AS IF God has a political party? OF COURSE, when you know this bunch intimately! <https://bit.ly/2y6Rae2>

At Prestonwood Baptist Church, Jack Graham hosted Republicans Trey Gowdy and Tim Scott, saying the former would make a great Supreme Court Justice, and the latter a great president. The actual service is mysteriously absent on their Vimeo history of sermons (April 23, 2018). <https://bit.ly/2y9RR6w>

Many sermons from January to June, 2018, had sermon topics and innuendos encouraging my continued political pursuits (references to David, Nehemiah and this parable of faith enlisting others in the cause—Mark 2:1-12). Then, to feign support of myself, and to make claims that the NAMB finally did some national evangelism (as they had promised me some four years back)—and to show you exactly how political that church became, even regarding Southern Baptist matters—view the two men who preached there last weekend (the latter one elected president of that body a couple days later): <https://bit.ly/2l4Lfwl>
<https://bit.ly/2sSscdl>

Adding to the subtle efforts to mix politics with religion, while claiming no endorsing (to avoid losing tax-free legal status), the conservative NRA was showcased in a religious setting by Ed Young Junior (mirroring the method when then presidential candidate Mike Huckabee spoke at his father's church in Houston, which I witnessed, in the early 2000's). <https://bit.ly/2sUf9rQ>

And in mid-June, 2018, the annual Southern Baptist Convention showcased many black ministers (significantly more than in the past), along with black church choir music, then presented a sermon on unity, while allowing Republicans Greg Abbott (Texas governor) and Vice President Pence to address the group. Motions were raised to de-fund the outspoken department which challenged Trump's salvation and ethics (ERLC), to oppose social justice, as well as to ban any future politicians from speaking to the group (excepting the host city's mayor, and only to thank them for their arrival there).
<https://cbsloc.al/2JLsoVF> <https://cnn.it/2ygVIyT>

What you will never know (unless I tell you, as I do now) is that as I tweeted my doubt in my family's home pastor being for my political aspirations (as he had on at least five public occasions), asking God for evidence either way, suddenly a man we mutually admire showed up and stayed at my main Twitter site, for quite awhile, and Franklin Graham sent an email to my unpublished Juno account. This is all part of trickery and deception, seeking to quiet me down by believing these men have changed their evil ways. I am NOT deceived. Here is the exact tweet that prompted such antics (cleaned up from typos, of course):

Analyzing one's potential strategy: Why would a Christian feign support, to get you to run, then deny it ever existed? Only because they're NOT Christ-like. Why would they be obscure if they were really were for you? Concerns about potential law violations, or ticking off one [Trump] with temporary power to nominate an abortion banner. Await more evidence!

All these schemes and antics were spurred by the actions of this author, three years ago, regarding Christian leaders letting the Supreme court know not everyone in America was for abandoning state's rights regarding gay marriage. And my family's home pastor (I am a member of First Baptist, Houston) alluded to this book in a sermon, a few months back, and knows it will be public, which hastens his efforts to influence WASP Christians to vote Republican!

Then, late June, 2018, Robert Jeffress plastered Dallas billboards promoting his July 4th sermon, 'America is a Christian nation.' <https://bit.ly/2HOA5FC>

TOPICAL INDEX

A Day in the Life (MESSAGE).....	629
Abominable Antics.....	376
Abortion & the Christian Cabal (MESSAGE).....	1119
Abortion & TrumPastors (MESSAGE).....	1126
Abortion Advocates.....	1120
Abortion Anecdotes.....	710
Abortion Authority or Political Hypocrisy?.....	636
Abortion-Baiting Politics (MESSAGE).....	1127
Abortion Opponents.....	1120
Accusations.....	552
Allegations & Rebuttals.....	431
Alternatives To Pledgers (SPEECH).....	628
America In Prophecy?.....	792
America is a Christian Nation?.....	855
American Assimilation.....	870
America’s Global Leadership.....	1400
An Unholy Alliance (MESSAGE).....	1130
Anti-Abortion Antics (MESSAGE).....	1131
Anti- “Christian” Cabal.....	43
Anticipating Antichrist.....	1382
Apologetic Answers (SPEECH).....	628
Apology Tour?.....	937
Appendix.....	410
Are You Evil?.....	825
Assorted Issues (MESSAGE).....	1272
Attack on Fiscal Sanity & the First Amendment (MESSAGE)...	1314
Avid Trump Supporters.....	244
Baby Christian Trump (MESSAGE).....	1315
*Bad Bosses: Living Wage or Living Hell? (MESSAGE).....	646
Bannon & the Christian Cabal.....	1142
Bannon Backstabbed? (NO—Just a Show!) (MESSAGE).....	648
Bannon in Bed with Prophets or Profits? (MESSAGE).....	649
Bannon, the Alt-Right & the Christian Cabal (MESSAGE).....	655
Bannon’s Bull-Honky.....	1142
Bannon’s Bunch.....	523
Basic Needs of Trump’s Base (MESSAGE).....	1275
*Be Good (MESSAGE).....	659
Be the Best You Can Be!.....	929
Bet on Beto or Crash with Cruz? (MESSAGE).....	661
Bible Viewed From a Political Angle (MESSAGE).....	664
Biblical Church.....	676
Biblical Church? (MESSAGE).....	668
Biblically Hastening Prophecy (II Pet 3:12).....	979
Blue Collar Republicans (MESSAGE).....	1277
*Bombers & Mass Shooters (MESSAGE).....	686
Book Messages.....	255

Books.....	1440
Borderline Shooting: NOT a Borderline Issue! (MESSAGE).....	687
*Building a Better Business (MESSAGE).....	689
BUSTED: Cabal Political Shenanigans Exposed	381
Cabal Compliments.....	332
Cabal Messages.....	363
Cabal Methods.....	510
Cabal Origins.....	319
Cabal Rebukes.....	333
Calendar Conflict.....	545
California ‘Bible Ban’ (MESSAGE).....	693
Call to Politics.....	499
Challenged Chump (MESSAGE).....	1317
Changed Parties.....	504
*Character & Politicians (MESSAGE).....	695
Check Your Brains at the Church Doors?.....	1141
Childhood Memories.....	55
Christ & Culture (MESSAGE).....	697
Christian Cabal (See also: The Christian Cabal)
Christian Cabal (Part I) (MESSAGE).....	1132
Christian Cabal (Part II) (MESSAGE).....	1134
Christian Cabal (Part III) (MESSAGE).....	1136
Christian Cabal (Part IV) (MESSAGE).....	1138
Christian Cabal (Part V) (MESSAGE).....	1140
Christian Cabal & Abortion (MESSAGE).....	1144, 1146
Christian Cabal & Myself (MESSAGE).....	1151
Christian Cabal ‘Conservatism’ (MESSAGE).....	1163
Christian Cabal & Overturning Roe (MESSAGE).....	1154
Christian Cabal & Roy Less (MESSAGE).....	1156
Christian Cabal Calamities.....	364
Christian Cabal Collusion(s) (MESSAGE).....	1160
Christian Cabal Collusion? (MESSAGE).....	1162
Christian Cabal ‘Conservatism’ (MESSAGE).....	1163
Christian Cabal—Constitutional Scholars or Pundit Followers?.....	892
Christian Cabal Contradictions (MESSAGE).....	1165
Christian Cabal Crazy.....	370
Christian Cabal Criticism (MESSAGE).....	1166
Christian Cabal ‘Diplomacy’.....	964
Christian Cabal Jesus-Justified?.....	1213
Christian Cabal: Prophets or Profits? (MESSAGE).....	1173
Christian Cabal Rationalizations (Part I) (MESSAGE).....	1175
Christian Cabal Rationalizations (Part II) (MESSAGE).....	1177
Christian Cabal—Revive vs. Return to the ‘Good’ (MESSAGE).....	1178
Christian Cabal Speaking Circuit.....	1211
Christian Cabal VS. Christianity (MESSAGE).....	1181
Christian Cabal’s Biblical Justification?.....	881
Christian Cabal’s Clamorings (MESSAGE).....	1182
Christian Carnality & Political Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	699

“Christian” Chump? (MESSAGE).....	1318
“Christian” Community Organizer.....	1062
Christian Corruption.....	633
“Christian Country” Kroc (MESSAGE).....	1188
Christian Fear-Mongering (MESSAGE).....	701
Christian Issues.....	235
Christian Nation? (MESSAGE).....	1190
‘Christian’ Political Arguments.....	238
Christian Political Positions.....	915
‘Christian’ Political Issues? (MESSAGE).....	706
Christian Priorities.....	61
Christian Social Inaction? (MESSAGE).....	703
Christian Trump Supporters (MESSAGE).....	1278
Christianity vs. Conservatism.....	629
Christianity vs. Political Conservatism (MESSA GE).....	707
Christianity’s Crises.....	641
Christians & Abortion (Part II) (MESSAGE).....	709
Christians & Conservative Conundrums (MESSAGE).....	712
‘Christians’ & Political Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	716
Christians & Politics.....	218
Christians & Politics (MESSAGE).....	718
Christians & Taxes (MESSAGE).....	720
Christians & the GOP (MESSAGE).....	721
Christians & the LGBTQ Community (MESSAGE).....	1319
Christians & Worldliness (MESSAGE).....	722
Christians for Trump.....	240
Christians for Trump (MESSAGE).....	1280
Christians in the White House? (MESSAGE).....	1193
Chronology.....	492
Chump & Cruz: Conservative Collision (MESSAGE).....	724
Chump & 2016 Candidates (MESSAGE).....	1321
Chump’s Israeli Idiocies (MESSAGE).....	727
Chumpless Debate (MESSAGE).....	1325
Church & Conservatism.....	768
Church Changes.....	92
Church ‘Chew Out?’.....	798
Church Conflicts.....	77
Church Conflicts (MESSAGE).....	730
Church Contract.....	493
Church Division (MESSAGE).....	737
Church Protests.....	506
Churchianity.....	372
Churchianity vs. Christianity (MESSAGE).....	738
Clean The Barn (MESSAGE).....	741
Climate Clamorers (MESSAGE).....	743
‘Clown Prince’ & the Christian Cabal.....	952
Common Sense International Assessment.....	972
*Common Sense Morals.....	360

Common Sense Morals (MESSAGE).....	745
Comparisons.....	347
Conserve My Money!.....	1208
Conservatism Characterization (MESSAGE).....	748
Conservatism, Healthcare & Money-Saving Tips.....	1008
Conservatism's Clamorings.....	753
Conservatism's Crap (MESSAGE).....	752
*Conservatism's Credits (MESSAGE).....	758
Conservatism's Crud (MESSAGE).....	761
Conservatism's Negatives.....	349
Conservatism's Positives.....	351
Conservatism's Ugliness (MESSAGE).....	763
Conservative Economic THEORY.....	927
Conservatives & 'Freedom' (MESSAGE).....	1194
Conservatives & Welfare (MESSAGE).....	764
Consistent Conservatism.....	348
Constitutional Concerns.....	896
Constitutional Considerations (SPEECH).....	628
Constitutional Extremes (MESSAGE).....	766
Conversation with a Fellow Church Member (MESSAGE).....	768
Conversations with a Call Girl & a Dancer (MESSAGE).....	772
Conversation with God.....	795
Creationism & Conservatism? (MESSAGE).....	776
Credentials.....	611
Criminal Justice or Black Votes for Trump?.....	339
Critics & Criticism.....	412
Critique of the Christian Cabal (MESSAGE).....	778
#CrushTrump (MESSAGE).....	1330
Cultural Christianity.....	1099
Culture & the Christian Cabal (MESSAGE).....	1195
Currency & Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	788
Current Events & Bible Prophecy (MESSAGE).....	789
Cyrus & Daniel Analogies FEFUTED!.....	1069
Dates.....	291
Deal With the Devil (MESSAGE).....	1200
Defunding Planned Parenthood (MESSAGE).....	1332
Democrat Strategy for 2016 to 2020 (MESSAGE).....	805
Den of Liars (MESSAGE).....	1201
De-Programming Avid Trumpsters (MESSAGE).....	1282
Despondent Despair.....	794
Dictate to Dictators.....	827
Disclaimers.....	1425
Divided States of America?.....	255
Divider-In-Chief (MESSAGE).....	1334
Do Your Religious Values Match Your Political Values?.....	227
Doctrine of Sanctification.....	1252
Donald Trump (MESSAGE).....	1334
*Downing Dictators.....	987

Economic Sanity (SPEECH).....	628
EDBS Priorities.....	1170
EDBS vs. Preach-&-Be-Paid.....	836
*Education Extremism (MESSAGE).....	808
Evangelicals & Political Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	1283
Evangelism Errors.....	326
Evangelism Excuses.....	684
Evangelism is Job One, Pastors!.....	682
Even More Stories.....	58
Ever More Stories.....	59
Events.....	523
Evils of Evangelismlessness.....	596
Executive Summary.....	3
Extremes & Being Yourself.....	912
*Extremes in 2020 (MESSAGE).....	809
Extremist Errors.....	810
Facebook Speeches.....	628
Facts For Friendship’s Freddy.....	514
Faith & Favoritism (MESSAGE).....	811
Faith vs. Hope (MESSAGE).....	813
Faith vs. Sight.....	858
Fake ‘Good News?’.....	672
Fake News & Alternative Facts (MESSAGE).....	1338
Fake News Pews.....	814
Famous Drop-Bys.....	548
Famous Twitter Drop-Outs.....	436
Far Right Far From God (MESSAGE).....	817
Feeding the Homeless.....	848
Fix the System.....	258
Foreign Policy.....	972
Foreign Policy Cap Feathers, Flip-Flops (MESSAGE).....	1339
Forgive & Forget?.....	378
Forgive & Forget (MESSAGE).....	820
Frauds & Foolishness (MESSAGE).....	1202
#FreePalestine.....	947
Future Cabal CYA’s.....	917
Generational Sins?.....	1206
Get Rid of the Chump (MESSAGE).....	1341
Give a Fish or Give a Job?.....	847
*Global Vision (MESSAGE).....	822
Globalism or Nationalism?.....	975
God & Government (MESSAGE).....	828
God in Government (MESSAGE).....	831
God Will Judge His People (MESSAGE).....	833
God’s Personal will.....	577
God’s Political Bible (MESSAGE).....	664
GOP Hostile Take-Over (MESSAGE).....	1343
GOP Update (MESSAGE).....	1216

GOP's Extreme Wing (MESSAGE).....	841
Government as God.....	832
Gracious/Generous Giving.....	519
Greed, Selfishness & the Love of Money.....	756
Green Energy & Oil in Prophecy.....	977
Gun Control & Healthcare (MESSAGE).....	842
Handling Homelessness (MESSAGE).....	847
Harmony or Enmity? (MESSAGE).....	845
Headmaster.....	561
Healthcare & Hucksters.....	844
Healthy Healthcare? (MESSAGE).....	851
Heresy Hunter?.....	411
How Christians Influence Society (MESSAGE).....	855
How To Avoid Hell.....	607
How To Go To Heaven.....	606
*How To Have a Good Economy (MESSAGE).....	856
How To Obey God (MESSAGE).....	858
Human Rights (& Wrongs; MESSAGE).....	861
Humane Human Rights.....	982
I Am (MESSAGE).....	864
I Testify.....	18
"I Want Good-Paying American Jobs".....	928
I Won't Be Returning.....	198
Ideas Trump Followed On.....	200
Identity Politics & Millennials (MESSAGE).....	866
'I'm a Conservative' (MESSAGE).....	867
*Immigration Idiocies? (MESSAGE).....	869
*Immigration or Infiltration? (MESSAGE).....	873
Immigration Standards.....	869
Indications of Influence.....	201
Innuendos.....	534
Interactions.....	411
Interjection for All Religions.....	946
Introduction.....	66
Iran Deal (MESSAGE).....	1344
Is God a Conservative? (MESSAGE).....	875
Is Tithing Required?.....	685
Is Trump A Christian?.....	240
Israel & Arab Nations.....	824
Israeli-Palestinian Conflict Solutions.....	954
Israel's Messiah.....	1384
Ivanka Bombed Syria? (MESSAGE).....	1346
Japanese Health System?.....	854
Jeffress Jettisons Our Calls.....	1206
Jeffress Junk (MESSAGE).....	1218
Jesus is a Conservative?.....	829
Jesus' Constituency.....	1209
Judge Trump.....	559

Judgment (MESSAGE).....	878
Just Stop it! (SPEECH).....	628
Justice or Just Us? (MESSAGE).....	1220
Kavanaugh & the Evangelical White House Dinner (MESSAGE).....	881
Kavanaugh vs. Ford Hearing (MESSAGE).....	890
Khashoggi.....	527
Khashoggi as Sacrificial Lamb for WASP Votes!?......	958
Khashoggi Killer.....	529
*Labor Day Lessons: He With the Most Toys Wins? (MESSAGE).....	899
Less-Educated Republicans (MESSAGE).....	1286
Levi Lusko’s Lie?.....	1068
*Liberalism’s Liabilities (MESSAGE).....	901
Lie Detectors.....	562
Life of the Unborn, Liberty & the Pursuit of Happiness?.....	885
Living in Laodicea.....	632
Lordship Salvation.....	1168
Media Moments.....	438
Mega Church, Mega Success?.....	679
Meritorious Merritt Musings.....	491
Message For Millennials (SPEECH).....	628
Message to Critics.....	428
Messages to Politicians.....	293
Mexico-Paid Border Wall?.....	871
Middle Class Republicans (MESSAGE).....	1287
Middle East Realities.....	968
Mighty Mouse’s Military Dog & Pony Show (MESSAGE).....	1347
*Minority Matters (MESSAGE).....	907
Miserable Memory.....	640
Missing Missions (MESSAGE).....	1223
Missional Ministry (MESSAGE).....	1225
Moral Musings Regarding Government (MESSAGE).....	909
Morals & Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	1228
Morals Regarding Chump (MESSAGE).....	1348
More Stories.....	57
MOST IMPORTANT MESSAGE	959
Motivation to Maturity.....	671
MSB Not Slapped on the Wrist (with Handcuffs).....	529
My Ministry.....	94
My Sacrifices.....	615
My Sins.....	613
My Skeletons & Muscles.....	621
My Story.....	68
My Sufferings.....	619
Needed Buyer’s App.....	1288
#NeverTrump (MESSAGE).....	1350
#NeverTrump Summary (MESSAGE).....	1351
#NeverTrump’s Final Stand? (MESSAGE).....	1365
#NeverTrump’s Final Stand (for 2016) (MESSAGE).....	1367

New World Order.....	979
News Articles.....	450
News Nuggets.....	445
Non-College Educated Middle Class (MESSAGE).....	1288
Non-Sense to Champion.....	505
Oil & the Middle East Crisis.....	978
On Abortion & Gay Marriage.....	354
On Biblical Division.....	329
On Goodness (MESSAGE).....	1378
On Morals.....	358
On Stacking SCOTUS (MESSAGE).....	1230
On Taxes & Government.....	661
Open Letter to Avid Trump Supporters (Part I) (MESSAGE).....	1291
Open Letter to Avid Trump Supporters (Part II) (MESSAGE).....	1294
Open Letter to Non-College Graduate Trump'ers (MESSAGE).....	1297
Operation (CL) CYA (MESSAGE).....	914
Other.....	628, 1425
Partial Birth, Partial Truths (MESSAGE).....	919
Pastor Excuses.....	582
Pastor Job Descriptions.....	429
Pastor Messages.....	265
Pastor Messages (Continued).....	623
Pastor Priorities.....	594
Pastor Year(s).....	497
Pastors & Revival (MESSAGE).....	1234
Pastors Aren't Lawyers (MESSAGE).....	1299
Pastors For Trump (MESSAGE).....	1235
Pence, Moore, Davis Pawns (MESSAGE).....	1236
Personal Experiences.....	639
Personal Slander.....	437
Personal Stories.....	53
Pledged Politicians.....	628
Pledger Alternatives.....	628
Polarized Politics & Wealth Redistribution (MESSAGE).....	921
Policy.....	347
Political Parties' Good & Bad.....	236
Political Parties' Good & Bad (SPEECH).....	628
Political Results.....	124
Political Years.....	292
*Politics & Economics (MESSAGE).....	925
Politics & Prophecy (MESSAGE).....	932
*Poverty Problem (MESSAGE).....	984
Practical Prophecy (MESSAGE).....	1369
Predictions.....	524
Pre-Cabal Policy Tweets.....	340
Pre-Trump Policy Tweets.....	250
Preface.....	2
President & Prophecy? (MESSAGE).....	990

Presidential Plans.....	212
Problems With Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	994
Profiting from Prostitutes.....	775
Proof We Were For Middle Class WELL Before (MESSAGE)...997
Prophecy, & Christian Cabal ‘Achievements’ (MESSAGE).....	1237
Prophecy & the Christian Cabal (MESSAGE).....	1240
Prophecy Chart.....	1441
Prophecy Practicalities.....	934
Prophecy Scenarios.....	940
Prophecy Speculation.....	803
Prophecy’s Parts.....	802
Public Morals (MESSAGE).....	999
Rational Rebuttals.....	429
REAL Pastors & the Southern Baptist Convention (MESSAGE)1001
Recent Cabal Acts.....	322
Recent Church History.....	76
Reconciliation.....	549
Recruiting.....	539
Red Letter Christians.....	517
Red State, Blue State (MESSAGE).....	1004
*Relationships.....	823
Religion in Politics (MESSAGE).....	1241
Religion Rationality.....	586
Religious vs. Political Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	1006
Render To Caesar.....	828
Repeated (Summary) Testimony.....	263
Republicans & Religion (#ProjectAmerica) (MESSAGE).....	1245
Rest for the Weary? (MESSAGE).....	1007
Revival or No Survival! (MESSAGE).....	1019
Rich Get Richer (MESSAGE).....	1024
Riches on Earth, or In Heaven?.....	629
Right vs. Left Extremes (MESSAGE).....	1372
Roe Overturn Idiocy.....	1150
Roy’d Rage.....	1096
*Rules of the Road (MESSAGE).....	1030
Russian-Saudi ‘High Five’ Handshake.....	958
Saint Sean or Hannity Hack? (MESSAGE).....	1032
Salem’s Sins (NOT the Witch Hunts!) (MESSAGE).....	1035
Sanctification in the Bible (MESSAGE).....	1248
Satan Santa Chump’s Christmas “Handout” (MESSAGE).....	1374
Saving a Trump Presidency (MESSAGE).....	1376
Seeing Red Over Voting Blue (MESSAGE).....	1037
Sermon to U.S. Pastors (MESSAGE).....	1039
Shia or Sunni?.....	976
‘S-hole Nations’ (MESSAGE).....	1377
Signs of the Times.....	801
Sin & Your Future.....	799
Sin City U.S.A. (MESSAGE).....	1042

Sincere Open Letter to Trump’s Base (MESSAGE).....	1300
Skitzo Critics?.....	1211
*Slimy Salesmen (MESSAGE).....	1047
Socialism, Anti-Socialism & Capitalism (MESSAGE).....	1049
Southern Baptist Autonomy?.....	784
Southern Baptist Convention.....	330
Specific Action Steps.....	7
Spiritual Background.....	610
Spiritual Results.....	116
Status Quo Prophecy Scenarios.....	939
Status Quo, Status NO!.....	938
#StopTrump (MESSAGE).....	1378
Stretching Supplies.....	1399
Table of Contents.....	9
Talk Radio Trash Talk (MESSAGE).....	1051
Tax Dodgers & Despisers (MESSAGE).....	1053
Taxes & Votes.....	1085
Teacher Pay.....	1028
Ten Commandments in Courthouses.....	1186
Ten Commandments of Conservatism (MESSAGE).....	1054
Testimony.....	18, 111, 263, 299, 319, 550, 609
That Was MY Idea! (MESSAGE).....	1379
The American Dream (MESSAGE).....	1055
The Bible, Abortion & Homosexuality (MESSAGE).....	1057
The Bible, the Christian Cabal & Myself (MESSAGE).....	1059
The Case Against Donald Trump (SPEECH).....	628
The Christian Cabal (See also: Christian Cabal)
The Christian Cabal.....	299
The End.....	620
The Love of God.....	983
The Obama Challenge.....	224
The Past Three Years.....	73
The “Religion” of the Alt-Right (MESSAGE).....	1072
THE Solution (MESSAGE).....	5
The Supreme Court & Constitutionality (MESSAGE).....	1074
*The ‘Third World’.....	988
*The Trouble with Taxes (MESSAGE).....	1075
The World’s Greatest Crisis (MESSAGE).....	1077
*The Worth of Wisdom.....	1081
Theological, Fiscal & Social Conservatives (MESSAGE).....	1082
Three Kings Uprooted.....	1383
#ThingsYouShouldNotSayOutLoud (MESSAGE).....	1086
Todd Starnes is in the (Church) House (MESSAGE).....	1255
Topical Index.....	1428
*Traffic Troubles (MESSAGE).....	1087
Trey Gowdy & Tim Scott are in the (Church) (MESSAGE).....	1258
Tribute to Billy Graham (MESSAGE).....	1089

Tribute to My Mom.....	57
Tricks of the Trade.....	780
Trigger a Trumpster? (MESSAGE).....	1303
TRUE Christian Leaders.....	1203
Trump & Prophecy (MESSAGE).....	1280
Trump & Syria (MESSAGE).....	1385
Trump Doesn't Need Trump Voters? (MESSAGE).....	1386
Trump Evangelical Council (MESSAGE).....	1262
Trump Is No Reagan! (MESSAGE).....	1388
Trump "Negotiating" Nonsense (MESSAGE).....	1390
#TrumpNegotiationStrategy (MESSAGE).....	1392
TrumpPastors & Stacking SCOTUS (MESSAGE).....	1264
Trump Targets (MESSAGE).....	1392
Trump Tariffs & Global Economics (MESSAGE).....	1393
Trump Voters' Legitimate Concerns (MESSAGE).....	1308
Trump Voters' Truth & Errors (MESSAGE).....	1310
Trump VS. American Exceptionalism (MESSAGE).....	1403
Trump's Base (MESSAGE).....	1306
Trump's Economic Plan (MESSAGE).....	1405
Trump's Economy.....	857
Trump's First Three Months' Policies (MESSAGE).....	1407
Trump's First Three Weeks (MESSAGE).....	1410
Trump's First Year (MESSAGE).....	1412
Trump's Tariffs (MESSAGE).....	1414
Trump's Tax Trap (MESSAGE).....	1415
Trump's Tax Trick (MESSAGE).....	1418
Trump's Tax Tricks (MESSAGE).....	1419
Trumpster Truths (MESSAGE).....	1312
'Trumpster' vs. Trump Voter (MESSAGE).....	1313
Trumpty Dumpty (built a great wall?) (MESSAGE).....	1424
TURKEY Moves in Israel & Turkey! (MESSAGE).....	1090
Turned Political.....	498
Tweeted Messages.....	629
Tweeted Truths.....	563
Tweeted Theology.....	563
Twitterfest.....	495
U.N. vs. UN-Hinged (MESSAGE).....	1267
United We Stand, Divided We Fall (MESSAGE).....	1091
Updates.....	1426
Using Sheep as Parrots (MESSAGE).....	1270
VIP's.....	211
Voters & Economics.....	857
*Voters: Problem or Solution? (MESSAGE).....	1092
War on Christmas?.....	1100
We All Sin Like Trump?.....	1219
We The People (SPEECH).....	255
What I Believe.....	352
Weinstein, Roy Moore & the Christian Cabal (MESSAGE).....	1094

Which Party & Positions is God For? (MESSAGE).....1102
White House Dinner Dupes (MESSAGE).....1107
Who Applies the Bible to Your Heart?.....576
Why Conservatives Get Hated (MESSAGE).....1114
World Religions.....961
Would Jesus be a Political Conservative? (MESSAGE).....1116
'Yes, But' Trump For SCOTUS Picks (SPEECH).....628

OTHER BOOKS BY THE AUTHOR (ON AMAZON)

We welcome you to inform yourself on some of the most important subjects of life—Religion, Politics, Business & Innovation. With that aim in mind, feel free to check out any of these helpful reads:

- Wit & Wisdom: Don't Speak About Politics or Religion (A Voter's Manifesto)

Our blockbuster live-tweeted book, that significantly changed American politics and Christianity from 2014 to 2018 (and which many of the world's VIP's have already seen written, and warmly received).

- Dumb as a Donkey, Fat as an Elephant: Common Ground Through Common Sense for the Common Good

Over 2,000 unique, new products ideas inside—FREE!

Our landmark book on how “We the people” can change Washington for the good (and to do good, both in policies and practice), using common sense to secure unifying solutions, efficiently and within budget.

- The Way Things Ought To Be: A Global Vision for a Better World

Common sense solutions to most of the world's problems, both globally and domestically.

- Building a Billionaire Business: Proven Principles to Propel Profits

Over 500 unique, new products ideas inside—FREE!

Business and economy improvement primer, as well as aiding consumers and employees in maximizing their dollars earned and spent.

- Design Your Future: Innovation Strategies for the 21st Century

Over 500 unique, new products ideas inside—FREE!

The ‘magic’ behind our over 4,700+ new product ideas (strewn throughout four books) is explained, including the best speech to inspire and teach anyone (and any business) to become profitably innovative.

- Practical Prophecy for an Unsuspecting World

Over 500 unique, new products ideas inside—FREE!

Anyone interested in knowing the basics of coming/future world events will get simple explanations, as well as relevant predictions and trend analyses concerning prophecy timing.

- Advanced Prophecy Handbook

A more scholarly summary of most prophecy questions, including an encyclopedic covering of issues from A to Z, timetable and event detail explanations, etc.

- Idioms for Innovators & Immigrants

Anyone desiring to understand (or appeal to) America's pop culture, advertising and values, thousands of common expressions we use in everyday expression are defined in common usage.

- The Gospel According to God

The most thorough, Bible-based treatise on what it takes for a person to go to Heaven. Documenting and critiquing the two major views of the historic Lordship Salvation vs. Saviorhood Salvation controversy.

- New Testament Color Charts

These charts graphically explain the meaning and layout of God's latest Testament, using pictures, colors and text. It allows an easy understanding of context and perspective when studying the Bible.

For an excellent summary of the most important topics of the Bible (which recently turned around a leading U.S. mega church), see our FREE web site, www.WillYouLiveForever.org

For a broad treatment of common sense, common ground solutions to politics-as-usual, see our FREE website, www.AmericanAnswers.org

